

THE CEO'S RUN AWAY WIFE

Chapter 6 All men are not the same

"Why are you coming with me? Don't tell me you are also here for Sara's desk?" she asked, raising her eyebrows at him.

"Yes I have come here for her desk. I am also looking for something," Jackson said, and Mia panicked.

"What? It means you know that Sara is missing? If you know anything please tell me," Mia said, looking worried.

"Sara is with Daniel, and they are married," Jackson told Mia, and she looked at him with disbelief.

"What the hell? Are you joking with me? It will never happen," Mia said. Jackson noticed that she was angry to hear about the marriage.

"Why can't it happen? One day she will marry, right?" He said and she ignored him.

"I don't know what you are talking about. I just think that you are lying." She tried to change the topic and started to search her desk. Jackson noticed that she does not want to talk about this matter for some reasons. She was hiding something from him.

"What are you looking for?" Mia asked and Jackson found it. She saw that he clicked the photo of Sara's handwriting and her signature. He took a photo of her legal papers, passport, and sent it to Daniel. At the same time he was talking to him about something in the corner. After 2 minutes when Jackson came back he saw Mia was still looking for something.

"Now stop. Sara is married to Daniel, and she is with him. You have to trust me," Jackson told Mia. She closed her eyes. She stopped searching as she felt that he was saying the truth. Jackson saw that there was a cut on her finger. He made her sit on the chair and took her hand. Mia saw that he was wrapping a bandage on her finger.

"I want to ask you something," Mia said, and he nodded his head.

"Did I tell you about my past the day you came to my house?" Jackson looked up to her and found out that she does not remember anything, but she has a clue.

"Yes," he replied in a normal tone and Mia pulled her hand from him in a panic.

"Are you the one who beat him when he entered my house the next night? When he entered my house suddenly four men appeared from nowhere and they beat him to death. They did not let him rape me. Right now he is hospitalized and suddenly someone destroyed his business and his family. Are you the one who did it?"

"Yes," he again replied in a simple tone and took her hand again and properly bandaged it.

"But why? I remember very well, you said you hate my face. Then why did you do it for me?" She asked, and he pulled his chair too close and cupped her face.

"Yes, I hate your face because you look like my ex girlfriend who cheated on me. But everything that happened to you, you never deserved that. It was not like you did not try to save yourself. I also know you tried to change your home too many times, but he always found you. You went to the police, your parents, you tried everything to save yourself from him, but he was more powerful than you. But he did not know that you have me, who is the most powerful here.

I destroyed his family, his business and his life. Now he will never be able to come in your life again. Now you have become his nightmare, because I have very well told him why I am his enemy. If he tries to destroy your life again, he will fear being born again!" Jackson shouted dangerously. Mia cried as she heard him. In those days she could not understand who indirectly saved her, but she had doubts that that mysterious man who appeared in front of the club was the one who saved her, but she was never able to meet him. Jackson hugged her tightly and Mia buried her face in his chest.

"All men are not the same, Mia," Jackson said while caressing her hair. She nodded her head lightly.

"Do you hate me?" Jackson asked, and Mia heard his heartbeat. Suddenly he was nervous. She looked up to see his face. He wanted to know the answer.

Suddenly someone switched on the light.

"Wow... are you two making love? Did I come at the wrong time? If you are going to fuck that girl then you should be quick. I like porn, you know." Suddenly four men with masks on their faces appeared in the office. They were pointing their guns towards both of them and spoke to Jackson.

"If you like porn then why don't you use the internet. Maybe you will get your own video there," Jackson replied and the man got angry.

"How dare you do talk to me like this. I will fuck your girl in front of your eyes!" The man shouted in anger. Mia got scared to see all of them. She held Jackson's hand tightly.

"Yes," he again replied in a simple tone and took her hand again and properly bandaged it.

"What do you want?" She asked, hiding her fear and without looking at his dirty eyes.

"We wanted only him, but it seems like he has a girl. Now you will also come with him, or I will shoot him right in front of your eyes," the man said to Mia, and she looked back to Jackson who was not giving a fuck about their warnings.

"She is not my girl. Let her go, and I will be willing to come with you," Jackson said and pulled Mia back.

"What the hell are you saying? Can't you understand they are kidnapping you?" She yelled at him.

"I know. As I told you before, don't worry about Sara. She is with Daniel, and he will take care of her. You go to your home and get some rest. Don't worry about me," Jackson said, and Mia blinked her eyes.

"Who is worried about you?" she asked, looking away from him. He only chuckled handsomely and looked at them.

"Wow, she is not your girl, but you are still taking care of her? I just fell for your big heart," the man said sarcastically and Jackson got angry.

"She is not my girl. Let her go. I am willing to come with you jokers!" Jackson gritted his teeth in anger.

"No matter what, we can not let that girl go because we have orders from our boss that if someone sees us, then we need to take that person with us, or they would call the police. If she does not agree to come with us then we will kill her!" the man threatened Jackson, keeping the gun on Mia's head.

"Ok, now remove the gun. She will come," Jackson said, and they laughed.

"I already knew she was your girl!" They said and brought both of them out of the office. Now Mia understood why he came here like a thief. These people were keeping an eye on him, but they found him anyway.

"Please run away. You can call the police for me. Save yourself first," Mia whispered in Jackson's ears.

"No, if I run, then we run together. I will not leave you alone I promise you," Jackson said and smiled at her.

"Do you really want me to run away leaving you alone?" Jackson asked and Mia shook her head.

"No, please don't leave me with them," she said, and Jackson smiled. Mia felt embarrassment.

"What do you want?" She asked, hiding her fear and without looking at his dirty eyes.
