

No Escape From My Ruthless Alpha

Chapter 137

Chapter 137: Heats

Drexel POV

Penelope and I came back to our room and after that she had a few more questions to ask. In between all our sex sessions, I narrated her everything, hoping that she would forgive me, praying to the Moon Goddess that she forgives me. Her memories had returned and I was sure that she would be... bitter

Penelope didn't show her bitterness. She just said one thing, "I want to give us a fresh start, Drexel. If I see you behaving like a jerk again, I will simply—" she stared into my eyes and my heart started beating wildly. It was a threat

"You will simply—" I asked in a low voice

"Kall you." I gasped. My mate was too much

When I woke up in the morning, I found her curled in my chest and the air smelled of..

blood. I sniffed it again and the smell came stronger. Panic skittered down my spine as I got up with a jerk to check what was wrong. My first instinct was to check Penelope. I tossed the blanket away and touched her everywhere to see the signs of injury. She groaned when I touched her stomach and stirred a little

"What are you doing, Drexel?" she said with irritation

I turned her on her belly to check her back and realized that there was a blood spot on her panties. My chest vibrated with a rumble as my wolf growled. "Our mate is on heats. Protect her

She is unmarked.' Fuck

"Penelope you are on heats!" I rasped. This meant that she was going to be too lusty the moment her heats were full blown and there were high chances that she would become pregnant if I — "Whoa!" I pumped a fist in the air. However, a thought ruined my excitement

A she-wolf on heats meant she was going to attract other he-wolves. Which also meant that some of them may foolishly challenge me for her. Yes, wolves were dying to mate an unclaimed she-wolf. And if she was on heats— you can imagine

We were living in a packhouse that was testosterone charged. I had to protect my mate from the wolves. Thank the Goddess that I decided not to attend the office

She-wolves didn't come on heats as often as humans did. They menstruated not more than twice or thrice a year. But the fact that Penelope was a half human, meant that she was going to have human traits

Goddess! I was going to have at least four pups

Wait. No. That is less. I will have... six? Eight?

"What is heats?" she said, groaning in pain, and killing my imagination. "I need a bath. Ugh!" She got up holding her stomach. "And this had to happen now?" she lamented. "I am getting married in a few days!"

I chuckled as I pulled her in my lap. I kissed her temple and said, "Do you know this is good luck?"

"How can it be good luck? My stomach is aching, my back is having cramps, I feel irritated. So tell me, how can it be good?"

I peppered kisses on her face. "Because you can become pregnant now!" I squealed with joy

She jerked her head back and raised an eyebrow. "I don't think that would be good idea, Drexel."

"Why?" I said as my face crumbled. "Doesn't my mate want to have pups with me? Everyone's mate has pups with them." Suddenly the notion that she dislikes me pierced my heart like a thousand daggers. "Do you hate me? You haven't forgiven me? Goddess, you really do hate me!"

She smacked my arm. "Stop whining like a puppy! I don't hate you!"

"But you said you like babies!"

"I like babies! Just not mine. I mean not for now." After dropping that bomb on me, she got out of my lap and walked to the bathroom

Before she closed the door, she said, "Get some condoms."

What the fuck! I would never get condoms

Ever

I didn't let Penelope go to have her breakfast in the dining hall because I wasn't sure who would be foolish enough to challenge me for her. I just didn't want to take chances with my own members. While she had breakfast, she said nonchalantly, "Go, buy condoms, or else you will be sleeping on the couch."

Here I was thinking of ways of impregnating her. "This is not done!" I growled. When she shrugged, I understood the threat and found myself dragging to the pharmacy to buy condoms. How pathetic was it when the pharmacist stared at me as if stopping himself from laughing

When I returned, I saw that the gamma warriors that were stationed on my floor were restless

Their muscles were strained as they glanced at the door of my apartment every now and then. I understood their problem. They had sniffed that Penelope was on heats. A ferocious snarl left my lips and they all froze

"Alpha!" said one of them. "W- we—" "I want all of you out. Now!"

All of them scurried away, terror-stricken. I opened my mind link with Leo and said, "Get some she-wolves to guard this floor!"

When I walked in, I found Penelope in the bed, moaning in pain. Sweat broke on my forehead

"Baby, how can I help you?" I said as I rushed to her side

"Just massage me on the back," she muttered and turned on her belly

As soon as I started massaging her back, she made sounds like, "Ahhh... uhnmmmm... ohhh..

yaaa... Oooo..." My cock reacted fast to those moans becoming painfully hard. How was I going to survive these days? "How many days will you be on heats, Lippy?"

"Five days... wuhhh..." Fuck. Fuckity fuck

"Have you got the condoms?" she asked, closing her eyes

"T have," I growled

"Good," she murmured and soon went off to sleep

I tucked her in the blanket and got up to keep the packet in the drawer beside my bed, when I saw a safety pin over it. I poked my tongue in my cheek. Glancing at her, I picked up the pin and straightened it. I sneaked to the pool. There I took out every packet very carefully and then punctured it with the pin!

Don't judge me
