

No Escape From My Ruthless Alpha

Chapter 139

Chapter 139: Knelt

Drexel POV

Penelope was becoming... bolder. Her sexual urges were increasing. I needed to be there with her at all times. I was going to the office only to check out on things If Leo wanted me. On the fourth day, when Penelope was sleeping in the afternoon, I went to the office only to find Leo, Eric and Joey sitting over there. the moment they saw me, they burst out laughing. I rolled my eyes and adjusted my collar

“That collar goes against your personality!” Leo said as he laughed at me

“But that is what you need,” Joey added, wiping the tears out of his eyes. “Hasn't she given you a leash?”

“Penelope is going to be a superb Luna!” Eric said while clutching his stomach, as he sucked in gulps of air in between his laughing

My hand went to my collar inadvertently and I adjusted it again. I grunted at them and then asked them about the updates. It hadn't been over fifteen minutes when the door of the office opened and Penelope walked in. And when she walked in, the three wolves in the office growled dangerously. They had smelled that she was on heats

Joey was the first one to react. He got out of his chair, his claws and fangs lengthening. His wolf wanted to come out and fur rippled over his forearm and back as he let out a ferocious snarl as he looked at Penelope. Eric too jumped out of the chair and faced her, both staring at her intensely

I pushed the chair back. It glided on the wooden floor with screech and slammed against the glass wall. I darted towards Penelope and shoved her behind me as I growled at Eric and Joey

“Back down!” Leo ordered while he was also trying his best to contain his wolf. His fangs started to elongate

Werewolves were beasts instinctively. If they smelled a she-wolf on heats, their primal instinct was to mate with her. And the reason was that she-wolves got into heats twice or thrice a year. It was one of the reasons why the she-wolves, who were on heats, never stepped out of their houses until it was over

I had never had to face the same situation when I was with Freya. She knew what to do and stuck at home

“What is going on?” Penelope said, dumbstruck

“Why did you come here?” I said, anger laced my voice. “Go back to the apartment while I tackle them!”

“I came to find you,” she replied as she peeked from my side to look at the three wolves, two of which were stepping closer to me

I didn't want to kill these three men. They were important for my pack, but if they came a step closer, maybe I would rip them apart. I let out a menacing snarl, peeling my lips back to warn them, to show them who was more powerful

Wolves were all about power and I was their Alpha. Fuck, if they as much as touched my female, this place was going to turn so bloody that I didn't want to imagine

Leo was trying his best to control himself. His eyes flickered amber as the other two snarled back at me. “Eric! Joey!” he called them. “Back down before it gets out of control. This is our Luna!” He shook his head as if willing his beast to calm down, but I knew that the smell of her blood was too strong

“Penelope, run!” I shouted at her. Instead what happened next blew my mind

Penelope came out from behind me. “What are you doing?” I growled at her, grabbing her hand to pull her back, frustration and panic rising inside me. But she resisted me

She came to stand in front of me and looked at the three wolves. She put her hand forward and softly said, “It is fine.”

Leo, Eric and Joey stared at her for mere five seconds and then suddenly, all of them knelt before her, their growls turning into soft purrs

There were many times in my life that I was shocked by something. And the last few weeks have been one surprise after the other, but this..

I was speechless. The three most powerful wolves in my pack, after me, were kneeling in front of my mate as if succumbing to her powers or worshipping a deity. Goosebumps lined my skin as I watched them with wide eyes. My mind was unable to find words for the scene in front of me

“Penelope,” Leo said in a low voice. “We are

SOITY..

Her lips curled up. “Don't worry,” she replied

“Please get up.”

Eric and Joey's wolves calmed down and their heads were dipped in some form of submission

They were not even looking into her eyes. It was as if they were embarrassed

“You should go back to the apartment,” Leo said

Penelope took a deep breath. She turned to me, kissed my cheek and then left. And I— I was left stunned wondering as to what just happened

These three wolves were about to charge at her and I was going to turn this place into a bloodbath of sorts, but my mate not only stopped the situation from escalating, she made these three werewolves go down on their knees

When the door closed behind her, they all got up. The tension In the air was so thick that it could be cut by a knife. I narrowed my eyes and remarked, “What happened right now?”

Eric and Joey inhaled sharply. “We are very sorry, Alpha,” said Eric in a low voice filled with guilt

“Alpha Drexel,” Leo added with surprise etched on his face. “Penelope is too powerful. She controlled three werewolves who were going berserk. There is something more than what the eyes meet. Once you are married to her, we have to step up her training to make her wolf shift.”

“And we also have to protect her at all times,” Eric interjected. “She is precious for all of us.”

With a numb mind, I walked back to my apartment and was again shocked

Penelope with a spreader bar and leather cuff restraints. She looked lasciviously at me and said, “Come here, pet.”

Fuck. I was done for..
