Chapter 28

Chapter 28: Entertainment and Mayhem

I went and stood behind her, watching every drop of water touching her body. She had the most enticing body one could think of. So this was what the Moon Goddess had in store for me? She was so short, yet had generous curves

Her hips were rounded and so plump that I couldn't help grabbing them. As soon as I grabbed them, she let out a soft whimper and pushed her hips in my hands

"Torture is when you are taken without your will and sold an auction," she replied to me

"Torture is when you run away from your captors only to be brought back." He held the pipe of the faucet in front of her

"No," I said, as my fingers dug in the center curve of her hips. Fuck, she was so soft yet firm

I lowered my pajamas and tossed them out of the shower stall. I lifted my hand to her shoulders and wrapped my arm around it to bring her closer to me, to my erection. I pressed my erection against her belly and she whimpered again. I wanted her to feel it, wanted her to understand that this was the brand she should always remember. It was so hot between us. I began to rub myself against her back in between her hips. My other hand curled right over her waist and went to the thatch of curls in the apex of her thighs. There I found her swollen clit. I started rubbing it, as I ground my erection. "Torture is something you would never know," I rasped

She held the steel pipe tightly as I increased my pace and rubbed her clit harder. She let out that soft whimper again as I enjoying every part of what I was doing, as if wanting me to do it for her. Lusty little piece. She spread her thighs for me. I took my finger to her core and pressed it over there while I let my thumb on her clit. The greedy girl started moving and my chest rumbled with a growl of approval. There was never a day when Freya felt this wanton. My erection pulsed against her back. "Feel it, Lippy!" I said in a deep voice. "This is what you will get for the next few weeks." Or maybe more. I wanted to turn her around and make her see my shaft. I wanted to sit down, lift her like a bowl of whiskey and drink her juices. But the girl started moving her hips against my erection

Fuck. "Stop moving!" I grunted. Or I would come immediately. She didn't. She was riding my finger desperately, chasing her orgasm. And by doing that she moved her hips up and down against my shaft. The movement was so erotic that my cock swelled. Gods above. I felt like I was coming for the first time. Despite the water falling above us, I was sweating. Suddenly, I pinched her clit. She shrieked. A shudder passed through her and she came all over my fingers. A tremble passed through my spine. It traveled all the way down and reached my groin. With a bellow to the ceiling I released my seeds on her back as my eyes rolled back in my head. When I opened my eyes, I found that she was looking over her shoulder at me as my seeds came out are upon arc, marking her delicate skin

My chest was heaving by the time I finished and when it stopped, I wrapped both my arms around her bringing her closer and waited with my chin rested on head. When I steadied a little, I left her over there and walked out of the stall

"Good entertainment," I smirked as I walked away

"I hope the entertainment was good!" she said loudly

I closed the door of the bathroom behind me with my lips curled up. After that I dried myself with a towel, changed into pajamas, leaving my chest bare. I had ordered dinner to be brought to my apartment. Without waiting for her, I ate

And I ate a lot. Content, I went to the bed. She came out wrapped in a towel

"What do I wear?" she asked with a scowl

I pointed her towards my closet while resting my head on the pillow and watching her. She strode towards it, pulled out one of my polos with vengeance and wore it. She drowned in it

It reached her thighs and did nothing to cover her. It fell off her shoulders and stopped just above the upper swell of her curve. Good. She walked to where the dinner was, ate it with more vengeance and came to sleep on her side of the bed

Somewhere during the night, I woke up with a soft, squishy thing beside me. When I opened my eyes, I found her back against my chest, with my arm curled over her waist and me spooning her. I growled. How dare she come to this side? I was about to push her away when I realized that she was on her side of the bed. If I pushed her, she would have fallen. It was me who had rolled to her side. Damn it. I rolled back to my side of the bed. I had barely ever done this with

Freya

All at once, through my mind link I heard Leo

'Alpha Steven has attacked us with a large pack of five hundred wolves!'

I shot up. "What the fuck? Wasn't Freya with him? She was supposed to be meeting with him!" I said, as I tossed the sheets away and got up

"I have no idea!" said Leo. He sounded anxious

'I am taking a unit of wolves to the east borders.'

'I am coming,' I said and disconnected the mind link with him. What the hell was wrong with Alpha Steven? Freya was supposed to be in a meeting with him, then how come he had attacked us? Did the talks fail? And if he was here, where was Freya? She should have warned us about the failed talks. Or maybe she didn't know anything about it? It was possible that Steven hadn't said a word to her about this attack

But Steven was becoming an eyesore. He was one of the second largest packs in North America and wasn't bowing to me. I needed his submission, his territory. Attacking me with five hundred wolves was the stupidest thing he could do. I was going to kill all of them

As I got out and got dressed, I looked at Penelope. She was still sleeping. Quietly, I padded to the door and went out, closing it softly behind me. The moment I was out, I shifted, letting my wolf free. "Where are you?" I asked Leo. Eric was waiting for me downstairs

'I am already on my way to the east borders,' came his reply

I rushed there along with Eric and several others. We reached the east borders. I peered around and my heart began to thunder in my ears. I scanned the area for Steven. If I saw him, I was going to kill him on sight. The scene in front of me was bloody. Wolves were attacking each other. Fangs. Claws. Teeth. Blood. With a snarl, I leapt in the carnage and started killing all those who didn't belong to my pack. How dare Steven attack me? Didn't he know that I was the strongest Alpha in North America? Well, I had to teach him a lesson. More so because he had said that he was going to take Penelope from me

I leapt at a wolf near me and sank my fangs in his neck. The head came loose in a rush with crackling vertebrae. I gazed at his body impassively. I looked up at the next target, but the wolf was running away. I leapt at him and he met the same fate

Amidst the blood-curdling shrieks and howls, I continued my mayhem for the next one hour, until I reached Alpha Steven. He was fighting ferociously with my wolves. I shifted and upon seeing me, he shifted too. We glared at each other, panting, with our bodies covered in blood. All the wolves cleared around us as we started circling
