

No Escape From My Ruthless Alpha

Chapter 35

Chapter 35: Comparison

Drexel POV

I was so annoyed with the whole situation. My beta, Leo, had informed me already that there were hardly any progress and I was beginning to wonder what Freya was up to. However, after last night's tryst with Penelope, my mind was filled with her thoughts. The way she marched to my bathroom after the first time she got her orgasm. Which I gave her. And threw her lingerie at me. She had been particularly stinging towards me all this while. Yet when she was with me, everything happened naturally

The moment I woke up, I searched for her in the apartment and she wasn't there. I don't know why but my mind was full of rage. She just left without informing me. I took out my anger in my office and before I knew it, the office floor was littered with broken items

I was expecting Penelope to come to me and I wouldn't have minded listening to her acerbic comments, but what I never expected was that Freya would come to meet me in the midst of her one-month travels to form alliances with other packs. After what she said about Steven, I punched the table and yelled, "I don't like Steven! And there will be no alliance with him!"

I don't know what I was furious at. Was it because Freya didn't want to have my children or was it because I was finding Penelope irresistible. Or was it Steven who had come to fight with me for Penelope?

the sexy look in her eyes when she watched me licking her nectar..

She was so sensuous that I had never felt anything like this in my life. Around her, I was beginning to feel vulnerable. It was for time that I was between her thighs and came on her belly

The way she was squirming beneath me, it was as if she wanted me to come inside her

And right in front of me was Freya, who I was supposed to marry soon and who didn't want to have my children and who was more interested in using Penelope as the breeder

She seemed to wince when I punched the table, sending off small debris and some documents in the air. "Tell me what Alpha Vertis said."

She shifted in her chair and shrugged, "He is ready to be our ally on a condition."

I narrowed my eyes. "What condition?"

"He wants a hundred thousand dollars deposit in his bank within two days."

What a liar. I had already got the report from Leo that Alpha Vertis was not interested in an alliance with us. He demanded a meeting with me. Cracks started to form in my trust for Freya Vertis was not the kind of a man who needed money. He was an old Alpha whose son was about to take over after him. He just wanted to clear the path for his son and feared for his safety. Because if I took over, I would kill his son and declare myself as the Alpha of his pack

I placed my arms on the table and leaned forward. "A hundred thousand dollars?" I scoffed. "Is that all? Is Alpha Vertis demanding such little money?"

She licked her lips as if her throat had gone dry

"Well, that's what he wants. He has a small pack of only five hundred werewolves, so his demands are less."

"And you have got the details of his banks also, I guess," I said in a sarcastic way

"[have!]" She dug her skirt's pocket and took a small slip out. "These are the details. You can wire him money now and consider this alliance sealed! I just came to inform you of this." She smiled. "After this I will leave for the next part of my journey," she said, sounding important

I took the slip in my hand, read the bank details and placed it on the side. I noticed her getting slightly nervous when I placed the slip on the side. I got up from my place, rounded the table and then stood in front of her with my hips leaned against the edge of the table. "Now that you are here, why don't you spend the night with me?"

A flicker of nervousness appeared in her eyes. It was momentary. "Why? Isn't that little human helping you or is she throwing tantrums? Or is it that you can't compare her with me?" she said with her chin up in pride

I froze to my spot. Comparison? Penelope was much more... beautiful. Divine. All of a sudden, I realized that Freya and Penelope could never be compared. Freya was a bundle of lies and always running away from marriage. She wore these sexy dresses to seduce me, yet she wanted to run away from me. And I had never seen her walking the way Penelope walked. She swayed her hips excessively and they looked delectable when she wasn't wearing panties

I had thought that Penelope was a meek girl, but she turned out to be quite an opposite. I think I liked when she sparred with me verbally. Not when she picked up the weapons. I loved when she laughed. I loved when she was asleep

"T like her," I replied nonchalantly

She clenched her teeth and rose to her feet. She walked stiffly to the window. Shouldn't she be kissing me at least, after meeting me after a long gap? Instead she walked away from me?

"So what happens now?" she said, staring out the window. Her gaze turned into a full-blown glare and I half wondered if she was looking at Penelope. "I think you have made good progress with the human girl. You should quickly plant your seeds in her and then we can dispose of her. Or maybe I will use her as the nanny of your kids." She chuckled. "We need children only for them to be future heirs of the pack and nothing else!"

I was... shocked. Dispose of her?
