

No Escape From My Ruthless Alpha

Chapter 78

Chapter 78: Don't Trust Her

Drexel continued to speak as he secretly stroked my lower back and hips, "If you sign the trade pact with me, I promise that I will give you maximum profits and also keep you safe from human predators."

My already heated skin was perhaps looking like fried shrimps now when I realized that Leo and Eric must be looking at what he was doing and not uttering a word. His hand was so well hidden behind me that no one would have guessed what he was up to. And why was he doing this to me when he was going to marry Freya? God, I was so riled up that I wanted to punch him. Hard

"So what do you think?" Drexel asked, and stretched his legs in front of him, as if totally relaxed. "It's a great deal and win-win for both of us." His hand came to my waist and pretty shamelessly, dipped his fingers inside my belt

I became ramrod stiff. I wanted to smack his hand away, but all I could do was sit there and feel his fingers because I didn't want Steven to be alerted for something like this. His finger delved inside and he touched my skin over there. I clenched my buttocks. Uncaring about my discomfort, the louche began to move his fingers over there and it was then I realized that he was writing: M. I. N. E. on my ass

When there was silence from my brother, Drexel raised an eyebrow. "Hmmm? Don't you like my proposal?"

Steven and Kimberley and his beta and gamma were bamboozled. There was such long, stunning silence in the library that I thought we had turned into ghosts. Not me. I was focused on his fingers

Steven let out a rough exhale. I was sure that he was wondering what had gone wrong with Drexel. Just a few days back, they were complete enemies, and now he was extending his hand as a trade partner. And not just a trade partner, he was also extending his protection to the Gold Crest pack

"How am I to believe that you won't attack us again?" Steven asked in a guarded voice. His concern was natural because just a while back we were thinking that Drexel might kill him

But now the whole world has turned by 180 degrees

"You can write that in the trade pact," Drexel said. his chest vibrated with a delicious rumble when his fingers traced the curve of my hip

Steven was amazed. He licked his lips and looked at his Beta and Gamma who were equally bewildered. After a moment, he said, "Well, this is something that I need to think about. You have to give me a few days."

Drexel tilted his head. "I don't have a few days because I have something very urgent back in my pack."

"So you go back to your pack and I will let you know," Steven replied

"No," Drexel responded immediately. "This matter is very urgent and is on the top of my priority list. I will stay here until you let me know your decision."

My mouth fell to the floor. Drexel was forcing himself over to my brother's place to stay over? What was wrong with him?

Steven's eyes widened as the shock was too much to bear. "You will stay here till I come to a decision?" he asked, puzzled

"Yes," he replied coldly. "And since I don't have much time, I will be here only for a day. I will leave tomorrow. Having said that—" Drexel took a deep breath in. "—you won't get a better deal than this." His finger dipped a little more inside my track pants and were dangerously close to my sex Gods, this man was so pushy. I was having a hard time keeping my head clear of all the dirty things that he elicited from me. How could he have so much effect on me when we weren't even mates?

My brother was now completely flustered. His number one enemy was raising a white flag and that too on such fantastic conditions that it was simply unbelievable. He narrowed his eyes, trying to contain his amazement and said, "I feel that this is just the tip of the iceberg. What else do you have in mind, Drexel?"

A smile curled his lips up. "Now that we are on the same page, I will reveal everything, but for that these girls have to leave. I know that Kimberley is your mate, but still she is one of my pack members and other than my beta and gamma, I don't trust any of my pack members

As for Penelope—" he turned his face to look at me. He cupped my buttock hard and said, "I don't trust her one bit."

I clenched my teeth hard. "In that case, I will be leaving," I snapped. I got up with a jerk and he removed his hand just in time. I glared at him and he glared back at me as if hating that I got away from him

"T will also leave," Kimberley announced. She bowed to Alpha Drexel and got up. "T will leave you both for important discussions."

I strode out of the library and rushed to my room to gather my wits. And also to take care of the wetness that was coating my sex now

I heard Kimberley coming after me, but I was faster. I needed to go to my room to calm my thundering heart. He was going to stay here for a day? Oh. My. God. I just hoped that we didn't cross our paths in a day. But something inside me knew that he was going to see me soon enough

I removed my clothes and walked in the hot shower. As the steamy water fell on me, all I could think of was Drexel. I imagined us together with him in between my thighs. That made me clench my thighs and the need to have him with me went higher. I still couldn't believe that he was downstairs negotiating with my brother
