Chapter 41 Mack Zhou

Aaron looked at Jackson sitting on the sofa and asked curiously, "Why don't I see Carl recently?"

"He is very busy chasing after a female star recently," Jackson said casually.

Hearing this, Aaron raised his eyebrows, "Doesn't Ada mind?"

"He kept it from her." Jackson blinked his beautiful eyes and glanced at Aaron.

Aaron shook his head and thought that the relationship between Carl and Ada could only depend on themselves.

Ada was very upset recently. She hadn't seen Carl for a long time, and didn't know what Carl was busy with.

She sat idly in the cake shop, observing the customers who came one by one.

Seeing Ada's dull look, the shop assistant couldn't help but walk up to her and said, "Boss, if you keep on staring at customers like this, they will be scared away!"

Ada looked at the shop assistant aggrievedly, "What should I do? I feel so bored..."

Suddenly, Ada saw a little boy like an angel coming in, and showed an interest. She liked children the most!

Seeing him walk in alone, Ada went over to him, crouched down, looked at his eyes and exclaimed, 'Wow, his eyes are so beautiful.'

Then she said to this little boy, "Hi, kid, why are you here alone? Don't your parents accompany you?" After these words, Ada thought, 'The parents of such beautiful child were so careless. Weren't they afraid that their child would be carried away by others?'

Blinking his big eyes which looked like grapes, that little boy answered, "My father will be here soon. I'll wait for him here."

WOW! That little boy was so adorable when he spoke!

Ada's eyes were full of mother's love.

She got up, took the boy to a clean table and let him sit on the chair. She turned around and brought him some cakes.

"How old are you?"

That little boy inclined his head, stretched out four fingers and answered, "Four years old."

"What's your name?"

"Barrie!" That little boy answered loudly as he ate the cake. It seemed that he liked Ada very much.

Suddenly, the door was pushed open and a man came in. He looked around and saw Barrie Zhou and Ada sitting together. He was stunned and came over.

Looking at the man in front of her, Ada stood up in a hurry.

The man was dressed in a black suit, with his well combed hair, and his heroic eyebrows made him look very energetic. The corners of his mouth naturally curved up, making him look inexplicably kind.

"Did Barrie bother you?"

Hearing his question, Ada replied in a hurry, "No, no, Barrie is very good boy!"

"Dad, I'm a good boy!" Barrie took his father's hand and shook it.

"I had something to deal with just now. Thank you for taking care of him for a while. I'm glad that you're not bothered."

Ada nodded and said, "I'm okay. Barrie is very attractive, but you shouldn't do that next time. Such a small child needs to be looked after by adults at any time."

Hearing what Ada said, Mack Zhou nodded with a smile, "It won't happen next time."

Then he took Barrie to pay the bill and bought a new cake.

Ada looked at Mack, feeling strange. She always thought she'd seen him before.

After hesitating for a while, she said, "... Do we know each other?"

Mack looked back at her without saying a word.

Seeing him like this, Ada was a little embarrassed, because what she said just now was like accosting him. She waved her hand and said, "I'm sorry. I just have a feeling that you are familiar."

Looking at Ada's exploring eyes, Mack smiled and said, "Maybe I often come here to buy cakes."

Hearing their conversation, the shop assistant couldn't help but explain for Ada, "Boss, I also feel he is very familiar. He comes here to buy cakes every day."

Ada was stunned and asked: "Really?"

Mack looked at the shop assistant, then raised the cake in his hand and said, "Maybe so. I like this cake very much."

Looking at the cake in Mack's hand, Ada felt a little surprised. She nodded and said to him with a sweet smile, "This cake is made by me. Thank you for liking it."

"Really? You should work harder to make a better cake. I have been eating this for nearly a year."

When Ada heard his words, she touched his head sheepishly. She liked cakes very much, but her life was always under the direction of Carl, so only when Carl ignored her could this cake shop get her heart.

Mack left with Barrie, who kept looking back at Ada.

When Mack held Barrie in the baby chair, he found Barrie looking at the cake shop. He felt funny. Pinching Barrie's chubby cheek, he said, "Do you like that aunt so much?"

"Yes!" Barrie nodded vigorously. "I like that aunt! That aunt is a nice person! Daddy, you don't like that aunt?"

Barrie's question made Mack fall into a deep thought. He looked up at Ada in the cake shop and whispered, "I like her too..."

At the same time, Mack's words rekindled Ada's passion for making cakes. Ada took off her expensive dress and went to the kitchen to pick up her long abandoned the skill of making cake.

In fact, she also forgot when she liked cakes. She just knew that she liked cakes very much since she was a child. When she was in the orphanage, she hoped that someone could bring cakes to visit the children, so that she could have delicious cakes.

At the age of seven, she was adopted by Carl's parents. They treated her like their own daughter, which made her grateful.

Carl's parents were kind-hearted and different from other rich families. They didn't have any prejudice like a marriage between families of equal social rank. They liked Ada, so they wanted to make her and Carl be together.

It happened that Ada also liked Carl.

Thinking of Carl, Ada was worried, 'Why can't he be found?'

She shook her head and decided to concentrate on making cake.

At the Zhao Family Mansion

"Auntie, the case of the WH company has been taken away by Earl. What should we do?" Jessica's voice was full of anxiety.

Sara frowned, worrying about the same thing.

"We can't let Earl make it this time. Now Owen has a very deep prejudice against Aaron. If Earl had done better than Aaron did this time. Then it will be difficult for Aaron to defeat Earl in Owen's heart."

Jessica nodded. She agreed with Sara on this matter. That was why she came to talk to Sara about it.

All of a sudden, Sara patted the seat beside herself and asked Jessica to sit down.

Jessica leaned forward. Her eyes lit up when she heard Sara's words and she nodded with a smile.

Ada was eager to share the cake which made by her with Carl.

So, do it whenever you think of it!

After changing her clothes, she held the cake and went to the bar with an attitude of trying it.

However, when she arrived at the bar, although she did not see Carl, she saw that four people.

"You are here too!"

Irene let Ada sit next to her with a smile, "I didn't want to come at first. But Helen insisted on welcoming me, I only went abroad for seven days!"

Ada smiled. She knew that Helen was very active, so she said, "she must have wanted to play. By the way, how do you feel about going abroad?"

"Um... How to say, it's better to be at home, ha ha." After that, Irene took out a bag and handed it to Ada.

"I was thinking whether I would meet you today. Here, this is a souvenir I brought back for you. It's not expensive, but I want to share it with you!" Finishing that words, Irene blinked shyly.

Ada took it over and felt moved. She had few friends since childhood. And she didn't like that kind of rich young lady. She didn't expect that she could make two good friends through Aaron

She thought in her mind, 'A gift is a tie of friendship, no matter what it is! I am so moved!'

"By the way, have you seen Carl recently? I haven't seen him for a long time." Ada puckered her lips.

Irene turned to look at Aaron.

Aaron's eyes flickered and he said, "If you don't know, how can we know?"

Helen then said, "That's not necessarily. You guys come together and we don't know what you're going to say. Maybe you may have thought our women were annoying."

Jackson rolled his eyes at Helen and said, "I have never referred to you as an annoying person in private."

Before Helen could be moved by Jackson's words, she heard him say, "I always say these words face to face."

"....." Helen thought viciously, 'If I don't choke to death, you will feel bad, won't you?'

They were talking and laughing. Suddenly, Carl came in with a woman in his arms.

The woman was slender, fair skinned, wore a miniskirt and in high heels. She was wearing bright red lipstick. Yes, she was that female star.

When Ada saw them, her face turned pale.

Carl was also shocked when she saw Ada. He thought, 'Oh my god! I know that I can't bring her here!' Just now the star wanted to listen to him singing, so he coaxed her and sang to her at home!

But she was not willing to listen. And she said that she wanted to see him singing on the stage, which would make him the most fascinating one. Because he couldn't stand any woman throwing a tantrum like a spoiled child, so he took her here

Irene also froze when she saw Carl and that star. She thought to herself, 'Wow, did I see a star? Although she is not very famous, she is more or less a star. But now it's really embarrassing. Will Ada fight with this star? I'm afraid Ada will do that!'

However, Ada didn't get mad at this star. She gracefully stood up and made a smile. Then she looked Carl and asked, "Where have you been recently? I haven't seen you for a long time."

That little star had no eyesight and couldn't see the embarrassing situation. So she held Carl's waist and said, "He has been with me recently. We just got back from Maldives." Finishing these words, she looked at Carl, "Carl, why don't you introduce your friend to me?"

But Carl made no response. He looked at Ada in front of him. In fact, he didn't care about what Ada was thinking. He was afraid that she would say something bad to his parents when she went home.

At the same time, Aaron and Jackson just sit by and were lookers-on. They thought, 'It's time to change Carl's' rotten habits.'

Helen was also observing, and thought, 'If Ada fought with this star, how could I help Ada hit this woman...'

Hearing that female star's words, Ada's smile hardened. She thought, 'So he went to Maldives with this woman! He went with another woman to a place he didn't want to go with me!'

She turned around, picked up the cake on the table and handed it to Carl. "This is the cake I just made. You used to like it very much. I bring it to you on purpose."

Carl wanted to say something, but he frowned when he saw the cake. In fact he didn't like desserts.

So he said casually, "Put it over there."

After that, he did not see Ada do anything. She still held it up and insisted him to take it.

Carl also felt Ada's sadness for the first time. In the past, Ada also knew that he liked to play. Although she might have some control over him, she did not restrain him very much. It was the first time that he was caught with another woman. Although he thought that he and Ada were innocent, he felt it strange now.

He saw Ada hold the cake and took it helplessly.

Seeing Carl take it, Ada exhaled. She felt like he was not completely abandoned her.

Chapter 42 Go Home And Visit My Mom

Carl was sitting at their table with that female star. The star couldn't help being attracted to Aaron and Jackson. 'Wow! Indeed, a handsome man's friends are also handsome men!

Are people making friends based on their looks these days?' she thought.

Seeing that star talking and laughing like nothing had happened, Ada felt sad and couldn't stay for a while.

And then she said, "Well! I have something to deal with in the cake shop, so I have to go now." She then stood up and smiled at Irene and Helen, "If you have time, you can come to the cake shop to play with me."

Irene knew that Ada was uncomfortable, so she looked at that little star with a frown and thought to herself, 'Are these mistresses so arrogant now? This was all Carl's fault. He knew that we came here a lot, but he also brought this little star here to make us unhappy!'

So Irene stood up and walked Ada to the door.

"Oh, you should go back now. I'm fine." When they arrived at the door, Ada urged Irene.

Irene was a little worried about Ada, but she didn't know how to comfort her. Because Ada and Carl were not together.

So Irene signed to herself, 'Even the most upright judge could not settle a quarrel within a family!'

Then she just said to Ada, "Don't think too much."

Irene's deep concern warmed Ada's heart. She gave Irene a hug and said, "Don't worry. I have thought about this situation for many years. My heart is already strong!"

After saying goodbye to Irene, Ada went back to the cake shop by taxi.

In fact, she had already adapted to Carl's philandering. Although Carl had never molested her. Ada thought that Carl was very fond of playing, so she would wait for him to come back to her one day.

In the Xiao Family Noodle Restaurant

One day, Irene received a call from Nancy when she was checking the accounts in her restaurant.

"Irene, mom is sick. Come back to see her!"

Irene was stunned and immediately became worried, "What's wrong? Is it serious?"

"Just come back and have a look! How long haven't you been home! Besides, you are just in the neighboring city, not abroad. It won't take you long to get home." Nancy said impatiently.

"Okay, I'll go back today. Take care of mom!" Irene said.

As soon as she hung up the phone, she hastily went home, took her things and went to the B City by bus.

The B City was not far from where she lived. It was only two hours by bus.

After she got in the bus, Irene intended to call Aaron.

"Why didn't you tell me that? I could go back with you." Aaron asked with a frown while he was reading documents.

Irene explained, "Nancy seemed anxious at that time. So I was too hurried to tell you. Don't worry. I'm fine now. I will be back in a few days."

Although Aaron was a little annoyed, he said nothing, "Okay, then be careful."

"Okay, okay!"

Irene didn't think too much. Now she was only worried about how serious her mother's health condition was.

In the B City

Irene entered home, put down her bag and rushed into Bonnie's room.

But she saw Bonnie sitting on the bed, eating sunflower seeds and watching TV leisurely

Irene was speechless and thought to herself, 'Are you teasing me? Do you know how worried I am? !'

"...Mom, do you have a fever?"

Bonnie pinched her nose and said, "I have a runny nose."

"....."

Irene turned her head to look at the well-dressed Nancy and asked, "Didn't you say that mom was seriously ill?" 'What's going on now.' she thought.

Without taking a look at Irene, Nancy colored her lipstick in front of the mirror and lisped, "If I didn't say that. Will you come back?! You haven't come back for so long!"

Bonnie said with anger, "Do you have to wait for me to die to come back! It was okay if you didn't come home when you were at school, but why don't you come home when you're at work. I brought you up for so many years in vain!"

Bonnie and Nancy scolded Irene together, which made Irene feel a little overwhelmed and guilty.

She curled her neck and sat there, listening to their complaints.

Nancy was dressed and dashed out of the room. She thought that her mother was going through menopause and would make a fuss when she caught a cold. She had to stay with her at home. So she called Irene back.

It was more fun to go out with a hot guy for her.

Now that Irene finally came back home, how could Bonnie let her go. Bonnie sat on the bed and instructed her to wipe the room, the floor and wash the bowls.

Although Irene did her work without a word, she couldn't help complaining in her heart how her mother and Nancy would live without her.

After finishing the housework and cooked the dinner, she felt at ease and sat at the table.

It had been a long time since the last time she did housework, and she was not used to it at all. Knowing that she had been busy with the noodle restaurant recently, Aaron volunteered to do the housework.

So when she arrived at home, she usually didn't need to do the housework and just took a break.

Thinking of Aaron, she couldn't help but feel grateful for having so nice husband.

"By the way, haven't you found a job?" asked Bonnie as she watched Irene lowering her head and eating.

Hearing what Bonnie said, Irene thought for a while and decided to take this opportunity to tell her mother about the noodle restaurant.

"Mother, I have something to tell you."

Bonnie looked at Irene's serious face and also became serious. She put down the chopsticks and listened to Irene.

Irene was interrupted by Nancy when she was about to say something.

After Nancy entered the house, she shouted, "I'm back!" She had a very productive date today. That man took her to a fancy restaurant for dinner and even gave her a bag that she had been admiring for a long time.

Bonnie glared at Nancy and turned around to look at Irene. She raised her chin and gestured for Irene to go on talking.

Seeing the serious expression on their faces, Nancy also walked over and sat down. She raised her chin and also looked at Irene.

Irene suddenly felt that she was under a lot of pressure. She was afraid that when she finished talking about the restaurant, they'd yell at her again.

"Well, when I broke up with Jonny, he gave me 100, 000 dollars as the compensation. So I opened a restaurant with someone else..." Irene said, observing their reactions. She was afraid that they might say that she had hidden the news from them.

"...Do you mean that Jonny gave you 100, 000 dollars after you broke up?" Nancy asked excitedly.

"...Do you mean that you open a restaurant in the A City?" Bonnie asked excitedly too.

Irene was stunned and nodded her head. It seemed that the two persons didn't react as she imagined.

Bonnie burst into laughter and her face turned red, as if she had recovered from her illness suddenly.

Well, her illness wasn't that serious before.

"So you open a restaurant in the A City now! How's it? Can you make a lot of money?" Bonnie asked hastily. As soon as she mentioned the money, she felt refreshed immediately and her nose wasn't stuffed up.

"Not bad. I just started it and didn't make much money."

Then, Bonnie asked her about the details of the restaurant.

But at this moment, Nancy had her own thoughts, 'Jonny is so rich indeed and I can't believe he gave Irene that much money after he broke up with Irene. Now that he has taken a fancy to Irene, then he will like me. Even if we break up in the end, I can benefit a lot from it!'

In the evening, after Irene went to the bathroom, Nancy secretly took Irene's phone and found Jonny's number. Then she quickly typed the number into her own cell phone.

Chapter 43 Take Back The Case

In the meeting room

"It seems that we can't give the case of the WH company to Mr. Earl. The leaders of the WH company were not satisfied with the result." One of the shareholders said to Owen, who was sitting on the chief seat of the meeting room.

"Yes, today they have come here to advise that according to the knowledge of the case, it will be better if Mr. Aaron can take over it." Another shareholder whispered to Owen.

It would be fine if it was an ordinary case, but the case of the WH company was about whether their project can be approved by the LH Company for the first time. After all, they would cooperate with each other in the future. So Owen knew that the case of the WH Company couldn't go wrong.

He looked serious and imposing. All shareholders whispered to one another.

With one hand casually tapped on the table, Aaron sat there and didn't care who would get the case.

However, Earl's face was clouded over.

After Owen knocked his crutch to attract the attention of the public, he said, "Then let Aaron continue the case."

His decision was objected by the board of directors, which made him very unhappy. After saying that, he dismissed the meeting.

Aaron took the folder and walked out of the meeting room. All the shareholders passing by came to congratulate him, and he nodded at them expressionlessly.

Suddenly, someone stood in his way.

"Congratulations, Aaron." A fake smile appeared on Earl's face.

With a cold humph in his heart, Aaron forced a smile and said, "Thank you."

Watching Aaron going away, Earl contorted the documents in his hands. He should have been confident to complete this case, but yesterday the people from the WH Company changed his attitude and insisted on returning the case to Aaron.

He thought to himself, 'Well! It was not clear who should returned whom. That bastard had robbed me of a lot of things since I was a child. I was determined to make him give them back step by step.'

When Aaron returned to his office, he saw Jessica sitting on the sofa.

When she saw him back, Jessica immediately stood up and walked up to him. "Aaron, how is it going? Have you gotten the project of the WH company again?"

Aaron raised his eyebrows and looked at Jessica. He thought, 'Why was she so well-informed?'

"Yes."

Hearing this word, Jessica clapped her hands happily and took Aaron's arm to act like a spoiled child, "I knew it! Luckily, Aunt Sara told me the way. My dad knew someone in the LH company, so he found that person."

Hearing Jessica's words, Aaron thought, 'No wonder the case was transferred to my hand.'

In fact, he didn't care about who was in power in the Zhao Family. He despised all the people in the Zhao Family in his heart and thought everything in that family was dirty. Even Sara, who was nice to him in others' eyes. In fact, he knew that Sara just took use of him to control the Zhao Family.

However, he didn't know what Jessica wanted. She was always no different from those silly young ladies. He didn't expect that she was full of ambition.

"Why did you do that on earth?"

"I like you and I'll be your wife. Isn't it normal for me to treat you well?"

"Let me tell you once again, it's impossible for us to be together." Aaron didn't know why she was so confident.

"I know you are having fun now. You will know I am indispensable for you sooner or later," said Jessica casually.

Looking at Jessica, Aaron suddenly remembered a sentence. "Never try to wake a person who pretends to be asleep."

He didn't want to talk about it anymore. He was looking forward to seeing Jessica's response, when she knew he had gotten married.

Although Aaron didn't respond, Jessica insisted on staying here with him.

Then he continued to write the documents, ignoring her.

Jessica watched Aaron for a while and felt a little bored as he ignored her. Then she took out her phone and called her father.

Her father was happy to hear that the case was taken back by Aaron and asked her to take him home for dinner to celebrate.

She looked at Aaron and replied, "I will try my best..."

With the phone in her hand, Jessica looked at Aaron who was reading and commenting on documents. She couldn't help but feel pathetic for herself. She thought carefully that since she knew Aaron, he had never met all her requests.

"Aaron, would you like to go home with me for dinner?"

"No!" Aaron replied simply. He didn't even raise his head.

"..."Why did he refuse so quickly?

"My father said he wanted to celebrate for you..."

"What does he want to celebrate? I have something else to do tonight."

Jessica asked with a frown, "Are you going to see that woman again? !"

However, Aaron ignored her again. He just took his clothes and walked out of the room.

Seeing that he was leaving, Jessica hurried to follow him. "Aaron, my father even suspected that there was something wrong between us. Can you go home with me this time?"

"Do we have a good relationship?" Aaron asked.

When he arrived at the parking lot, he opened the car door and got into the car, paying no attention to Jessica. When he was about to go, he looked at the woman standing beside him and rolled down the window. "Woman, I advise you that there are many men in the world. You shouldn't so obsess with me. You can think about the other men around you!" Finishing these words, he started the car and went away.

Jessica stared at the direction where the car went and stamped her foot. It was the second time that she had been left in the parking lot. She thought, 'Aaron may think too highly of himself. Does he think my love is so cheap that he can easily trample it?'

Her good mood disappeared and she was not in the mood to have dinner at home. So she drove her car to a bar she often went.

She was wearing an over short dress, showing her slender and fair legs. Because of the high-heeled shoes, the muscles of her calves were more charming.

Seeing such a beautiful lady come in, men in the bar were all as eager as wolves and tigers.

However, Jessica didn't care about that. Because she had seen so many similar eyes since she was a child. Now she just felt annoyed.

So many men liked her, but in the eyes of the men she liked, she was very hateful. She sat in front of the bar counter and gulped down the wine one by one. Although her phone kept ringing, she didn't look at it at all.

When Earl came over, he saw that Jessica was lying on her stomach in front of the bar counter and her face was red.

He ordered a glass of whisky and sat beside her.

Jessica was dizzy. When she tried to open her eyes, she saw Aaron sitting next to her. She smiled and said, "Aaron, I know you won't leave me alone."

Upon hearing what she called him, Earl frowned. Although he and Aaron were half-brothers, they didn't look like each other. It could be seen that this woman was drunk.

Earl leaned over, looked into her eyes and said, "Open your eyes and see who I am."

When Jessica heard this, she blinked her eyes and became a little sober at once when she saw clearly who the person was. Earl was such a shrewd man that she couldn't ignore him.

Chapter 44 The Exposure Of Carl's Identity

"Brother, why are you here?" Jessica sat up from the bar counter and scratched her messy hair.

"I happened to run into this bar. What's wrong with you? Did Aaron leave you alone?"

"...That's impossible. We just had a fight." Jessica explained.

"Oh! I see it. But it's dangerous for you to come here alone and drink so much."

Hearing Earl's words, Jessica smiled wryly and thought to herself, 'Do I want to be alone?'

"So you came alone, too?"

"My friend happened to be busy." Earl swirled the wine in his glass and drank it up. However, he thought, 'The case of the WH company came back to Aaron because of this woman. I have underestimated her before.'

Seeing the expression on Earl's face, Jessica did not dare to say something. After all, she got the case from him today.

"What are you thinking about?"

"...I'm thinking about Aaron!" It was impossible for her to say that she was thinking about him just now.

"Aaron likes noodles recently."

"...?" Why did he mention the word "noodles" all of a sudden? Jessica didn't understand his means.

Earl shook his head. He shouldn't have said that. It was no fun to get Aaron out so early. And he just felt pity for the woman in front of him.

Then they drank a few glasses of wine together, and then Jessica began to talk nonsense because she drank too much.

Earl took her bag and helped her out of the bar. He drove her car to her house.

Jessica's mother was very worried when she saw Jessica was so drunk. She immediately took Jessica from Earl's arms. "What happened? She had promised to have dinner with Aaron, but why did she drink so much outside? !"

Earl didn't say anything, just explaining that he met her by accident in the bar.

After seeing Jessica in, Earl turned around and left.

Jessica's mother and the servants had spent a lot of time and energy to lift Jessica to bed. When she saw her drunken daughter lying on the bed, she immediately felt a little heartbroken. Meanwhile, she also felt that Aaron was becoming more and more unreliable. He had never visited them before, not to mention that he didn't send her daughter home this time. Instead, Earl sent her back.

In this case, Aaron was even inferior to Earl.

Irene stayed at her home for two days before she came back to the A City.

After she left, Bonnie and Nancy realized that Irene had hidden the things about restaurant from them. "Mom, do you also think that my sister has hidden from us? Hum, having stayed outside for so long, she is really thinking more."

"I didn't expect that she would hide it. I don't know if there's anything else she's keeping from me." Bonnie thought that Irene now had grown up and was emboldened.

But she didn't believe that she couldn't control Irene anymore.

Bonnie and Nancy discussed together and decided to sneak into Irene's restaurant these days and see how she was doing in A City.

Nancy felt that Irene was hiding something from them.

Irene specially took the bus back in the morning. Two days away from home, to be honest, she missed Aaron so much. And, she still couldn't sleep well on the bed which she had slept for nearly 20 years. She often missed Aaron's embrace.

When Irene went back home, it was only 7:00 am. She put down her bag and walked into her bedroom. As expected, her beloved husband was still sleeping.

Irene then walked up to Aaron quietly and squatted down beside him, looking at his sleeping face.

She couldn't help but admire the injustice of the creator. How could her husband look so handsome

She couldn't help but touch his face.

His two eyebrows were dashing and heroic. His eyelashes were long and thick, and the lips under the high nose were extremely exquisite. Irene put her finger on his lips and couldn't help swallowing. She suddenly missed the taste of his lips

Aaron suddenly bit her finger and licked it with his tongue.

Irene trembled like being shocked by electricity and thought to herself, 'How charming he is...I felt overwhelmed.'

Then Aaron opened his eyes and saw Irene squatting in front of him. He pulled her into his arms, pressed her against the bed and kissed her.

"Do you miss me?" Aaron then blew on Irene's ear.

"I miss you very much..." Irene replied in a low voice, putting her arms around Aaron's neck.

"Good girl," said Aaron as he kissed Irene's lips and looked down at her.

Irene suddenly felt that marrying him was the right choice she had made! Aaron gave her the feeling that it had disappeared since her father passed away.

It was like a small boat, which was swaying in the sea, finally found its way to the shore.

The days they spent together were getting sweeter and they were more like a real couple now. Irene felt that it was her another dream to be a good wife and mother step by step.

As usual, after dinner, Aaron drove her to the Xiao Family Noodle Restaurant in a taxi.

The moment Irene arrived at the shop, she saw the restaurant assistants were reading the newspaper and discussing.

"What's wrong? What big news? Why are you so interested in it?" Irene walked over to them and asked curiously.

"Boss, here you are. Look! It turns out that Carl is from a rich family! It's all in the papers" The restaurant assistant hastily pulled Irene away to read the newspaper.

Irene went over to get the newspaper and saw the big headline on it: Son of the leader in catering industry was meeting with a little female star in the midnight.

After seeing that, Irene thought, 'Well! What's going on?!

Isn't Carl just a bar singer?! Why does he become the son of the leader in catering industry?'

There was a photo on the top of the newspaper, which took up half of the newspaper's page.

Carl in the photo was in a Ferrari's car. He held that little star in his arms and she kissed his face, and they smiled sweetly.

Seeing this picture, Irene's first thought is Ada's reaction after seeing it.

But she thought it was necessary to ask Carl's identity to Aaron at the moment!

He picked up the phone. Before she could speak, Aaron had been asked, "Do you miss me so soon?"

"..... Have you read the newspaper?"

"What's wrong with the newspaper?"

"Carl and that little star are on the news! Just go and have a look. By the way, explain to me about his identity. Why does a bar singer become the son of the catering industry's boss? !" Irene was not fooled. So she knew Aaron must have kept Carl's identity from her.

"..... I will tell you after I have a look." Aaron felt that things were wrong, and then he hung up.

After she hung up the phone, Irene immediately called Helen to let her watch the news.

"Damn it! What's going on? Irene, I have a feeling that this man is not simple. You can see how rich Carl is just by clothes he usually wears Helen said loudly.

"..... So I am the only one who was kept in the dark?" Irene asked, feeling wronged.

At noon, Aaron came to the Xiao Family Noodle Restaurant for lunch.

Seeing that Irene ignored him, he felt a little guilty. He couldn't help thinking that Carl was not reliable.

"Honey, please give me another bowl of noodles." Then Aaron tried to pass the bowl to Irene, but she didn't take it.

He knew his wife was a good tempered woman, but she was also very stubborn in some ways. Holding Irene who was checking the bill, he whispered to her, "Honey, it's not my fault."

Irene felt a little shy when she saw the people around her making fun of her. She tried to push him away, but her strength was nothing to him!

She stamped her foot in anger and said in a flirtatious tone, "Then it's my fault?!"

Chapter 45 Ada Got Angry

"My wife is so virtuous. Of course, it's not your fault." Aaron lowered his head and whispered in Irene's ear, "It's all because of Carl. Although he has money in his family, he doesn't want to show off his wealth, so he won't let us make public. Think about it. If a rich man went to the bar every day, how could it be? It might have already hit the headlines."

Hearing his explanation, Irene felt a bit wronged for his concealment. But she thought what he said was reasonable.

Then she turned around and looked up into his eyes. She stretched out her finger and said, "Let's pinkie swear. You can't hide anything from me."

Aaron didn't hold her little finger, but stretched out his hand to smooth her hair. "What if it is a white lie?"

Irene frowned and hesitated. She felt like two lovely kids were fighting in her heart. One of them said, "If he tells a white lie, you shouldn't be angry." But the other one retorted, "Is a white lie not a lie?"!

She had always been suffering from selective phobia...

When Aaron saw Irene's irresolute expression, he smiled and gently held her in his arms. "Irene, as long as you believe in me, everything will be fine. You have married me for such a long time, but do you still think that I don't treat you well? You just need to remember that I will never hurt you."

Irene obediently leaned in Aaron's arms. Of course she knew that her husband was nice to her, but she dared not say that she knew her husband very well. She always felt that she could not see him clearly because he was wearing a veil.

In the cake shop, Ada read the newspaper in the shop assistant's hands. She grabbed the newspaper and saw a picture which occupied half of the page. Her eyes reddened. She tore the newspaper into pieces immediately.

The shop assistants were too scared to say a word when they saw their boss' fiery temper. They exchanged glances with each other and went on their own jobs.

Ada was sitting on the chair, trying her best to hold back her tears. Carl liked to play around, but it was the first time that he had made such a big trouble. This time, she was really angry.

For the first time, she was not sure whether her persistence was right or not. Her whole youth was around Carl, but the man never looked at her directly.

Should she try to get rid of him?

"When are you going to stop?! I turned a blind eye to all the fuss. But now, it has become a far cry on the newspaper!" Naylor Cheng, Carl's father, scolded Carl, who was sitting on the sofa and seemed not to care about it.

"Well, father, I don't know that the paparazzi in the entertainment circle are so hard to deal with. I'll be more careful next time."

His father hit Carl's head with the newspaper and said, "Next time?! Do you want it to happen again?! Do you know how the incident you put in the newspaper will affect your future career in the company?!"

Carl knew that his father was really angry with him, so he didn't dare to provoke him. He sat straight and listened to his father's advice.

"Start working tomorrow."

"...I need to go ..."

"Where are you going?! Don't go anywhere!" Carl was interrupted by his mother, who winked at him. At the same time, Lauren thought that he dared to refute. Did he want to be beaten?

Carl looked at his mother not standing on his side, flattened her mouth and stopped talking.

Naylor did not notice the news until the morning meeting. All shareholders implicitly said Carl had grown up, so it was time to restrain himself.

Naylor had never done anything wrong in his life! But his beloved son had ruined everything. He thought Carl should have stopped playing around after so many years. However, it went from bad to worse.

Staring at Carl, who was sitting there silently, he stood up and went to his study. Now he didn't want to see this bastard.

Lauren came to Carl when she saw Naylor leave. "You have made a mistake this time. The shareholders of our company have already seen the newspaper. We don't know what the company has been talking about. Just listen to your father and go to the company tomorrow."

Carl nodded his head reluctantly. Usually when he made trouble, his mother and Ada would put in a good word for him. But this time, no one seemed to be helping him.

Lauren was annoyed when she saw Carl's indifferent attitude. She scolded him, "When did you hook up with that star! Break up with her now! I don't know how sad Ada will be if she sees it."

Carl lied on the sofa casually. He didn't care about Ada's feelings at all.

Lauren sighed. She knew that she couldn't trust Carl anymore. She could only wait for Ada to come home tonight and explain for him. She didn't ask Carl to marry a girl from a rich family. She only hoped that Carl could marry a girl from a decent family. She watched Ada grow up from childhood, and knew

Ada was also a nice girl. So if Ada could be with Carl, it was just fine. But she didn't expect that Carl ignored Ada all the time.

Lauren was right. It was the first time that Ada didn't go home for three days. Lauren called her home these days. But Ada told Lauren that the shop was busy and she wouldn't go home.

Lauren was worried about Ada. The cake shop was not a place where people could sleep, so she asked Carl to pick up Ada.

"Well, mom, it doesn't matter if she doesn't come back! She was an adult, how could she not know how to take care of herself? !"

"You bastard! You pissed her off. If you didn't go and get her back, she wouldn't listen to anyone!"

Carl mumbled, "Then let her live there."

"What did you say?! That cake shop doesn't even have a decent room to live! Carl, think about it, Ada is also your sister who grew up with you. How can you not know how to take care of her?"

Carl lowered his head and sighed, "Okay, I'll go and find her tonight."

It was the second day that Carl came to work, but he did nothing. He just needed to stay in the Office.

He also broke up with that little star. He had only wanted to have fun with her. He didn't expect that their relationship would get so serious in the beginning. The star called him several times after she knew his identity, but he never answered. If she just loved his money, it would be boring.

After work, he was about to drive to Ada's cake shop. But when he got in the car, he found that he did not know the address of the cake shop at all.

He had to ask his mother, so he was told off by her.

He felt wronged. In fact, he had right to not know where her cake shop was!

It was dark when he arrived. Sitting in the car, he looked at the bright lights in the cake shop, which made him feel very warm. To be honest, he really admired Ada. She had liked him for so many years but never asked for return.

If he had to do it, he was sure that he couldn't hold on any longer.
