

The Substitute Bride Doted by My Billionaire Husband By Sumpto Midway

Chapter 1081

Chapter 1081 So he was Raven.

Raven hugged North and drove all the way to the hospital, then carried her into the delivery room.

Along the way, she looked at his handsome face, all her stress and anxiety were eased in his arms. He said, don't be afraid, I'm here, I'll always be there. North suddenly remembered that whether she was sad or happy, he was always by her side and never left her side.

North raised her small hand and slowly hugged his neck. Only he can make her feel safe.

Jeffrey... Jeffrey...

Find peace with blooming flowers, experience this life with light clouds and flowing water... His name is Jeffrey, and that's what it means, right?

North's delicate white fingers touched his handsome face. She was momentarily confused. Why did she feel like he was so familiar with her? Who is he?

Jeffrey, who are you?

In the hospital hallway, Raven shouted: "Doctor! Doctor!"

Doctors and nurses in white coats immediately rushed over: "It's not okay. Her amniotic fluid has broken. Please push her into the delivery room immediately and we will prepare to deliver the baby." Raven gently placed North on the stroller, suppressing the turmoil in his heart, not showing any emotion on his face. He was afraid of scaring her, so he bent down and placed his large hand gently on her bangs. He rubbed her back and gently said: "North, don't be afraid. I will join you. We will definitely give birth to a safe and healthy baby."

She will give birth prematurely, but Olive is not here, so she will definitely be in danger.

It was very difficult for this child to accompany them through the most difficult years, and neither he nor she could accept the slightest surprise.

Raven couldn't take any surprises. He wanted both her and the child.

She and the child are his whole life.

North felt very painful, her ears were ringing, but she still nodded strongly: "Okay!"

She will definitely bring the baby into this world safely and healthily.

At this time, the nurse brought the pre-birth consent form: "Sir, are you a family member of the pregnant woman? Please sign here."

Raven quickly took the pen and signed his name at the bottom.

A man who is always in a high position can show his approval even by signing a prenatal consent form.

"Sir, if you want to enter the delivery room, please put on sterile clothes first." The nurse gave Raven a dark blue maternity outfit. Raven put it on as quickly as possible.

The nurse placed the pre-birth consent form next to North, then pushed her into the delivery room.

North looked to the side and saw Raven's signature at the bottom.

The two words "Raven Dominos" were written like flying dragons and phoenixes, especially beautiful.

Raven Dominos...

Raven Dominos...

North was stunned, her mind dizzy. She was still looking for Raven, but it turns out he is Raven. He turns out to be Raven!

She searched for him thousands of times and then suddenly looked back at him in the dim light. It turned out that he was next to her.

There was an electric spark in North's head, and many images suddenly appeared in her mind. She remembered everything. She thought about ten years of living with Raven.

Being pushed into the delivery room, she seemed to have gone through the first half of her life. The first ten years of her life were filled with many tears and nightmares. All her love is given to the past. Leaving him became the only way for her to survive.

However, she still couldn't leave him.

The wedding ring he put on her finger was engraved with his name and his deep love - RlovesN. He held her in his arms all night, burying himself in her neck, tears streaming down his face. He cried like a child. He humbly and sincerely begged her not to leave him.

There are many delays in human affairs. The coming of age ceremony at the age of 18 created the greatest regret. He said he would never let go of her hand again. This statement is his lifelong promise to her. His pen name is Jeffrey. He will forever be with her and the child.

These are probably the reasons why she can't leave him or forget him. Because his love has been deeply rooted since their first sight outside Paulo's house many years ago, much earlier than hers. Because his love still exists and flourishes amid the thorns and blood along the way, much stronger and deeper than her love.

It's because of his love...

It's all because of his love...

North's clear eyes were red, filled with hot steam, her eyelids trembled, and big tears fell. Search the (f)indNOVEL.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

With a "click" sound, the light in the delivery room turned on. She felt dazzled and closed his eyes in panic.

The whole world was turned upside down and in chaos.

"Future mom, don't worry. Follow my rhythm. Take a deep breath."

"Breathe in, breathe out, breathe in... Go harder!"

North's delicate white fingers tightened the bed sheet under her. She used all her strength to give birth to the child. Her and Raven's child.

But she can't do it.

It hurts so much..

Gradually she lost all her strength.

TH

216071

"North! North!"

Someone was calling her.

North opened her eyes and saw clearly the person in front of her, Raven's handsome face appeared in her sight.

He was holding her hand, looking at her and calling her name: "North! North!"

Her vision became increasingly blurry. She suddenly didn't understand how she could forget him. How could she forget Raven, who loved her so much? How could she forget Raven, the person she loved so much?

North raised her red lips in tears and smiled stupidly at him.

She thought her smile must be very ugly now.

Raven feels that something is wrong with North's current state. Something is so wrong. Feeling worried and uneasy, he looked at the doctor, "How much longer? Is the baby about to come out?"

"The baby's head is stuck. She no longer has the strength to give birth. This can easily cause lack of oxygen for the baby and put the expectant mother in danger."

Raven's heart kept tightening. Not only did North give birth prematurely, but she also had difficulty giving birth. He looked at the doctor with a pale expression, "What should I do now? Should she have a cesarean section instead?"

"Well..." Faced with North's difficult situation, the doctors all hesitated.

Raven frowned deeply. Olive isn't here, and these doctors are all quacks.

When will Olive arrive?

At this moment, Raven felt his sleeve being pulled and lowered his head to see North looking at him pitifully. "North, what do you want to say?"

North's clothes were soaked with sweat. She looked at Raven with difficulty, "It hurts... it hurts so much..."

His heart immediately felt like it was being held tightly by a huge hand. She screamed at him that it was very painful. She said she was in a lot of pain.

Raven felt like he couldn't breathe.

"Did you hear her scream in pain?" He looked at the doctors with bloodshot eyes.

The doctor's scalp was numb and he didn't dare look anymore. Immediately after that he cried. out: "It's not okay. The mom is bleeding a lot!"

Search the Findnovel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1082

Chapter 1082 Raven became a father!

North was bleeding profusely.

It is said that a woman giving birth is like passing through the gates of hell. Raven always looked forward to the baby's birth but also dreaded the day the baby was born. The repression in his heart immediately burst out, he grabbed the doctor's collar and said: "Hurry up and stop the bleeding! Stop it! If anything happens to them, I'll bury you all in this hospital with them!"

The doctor trembled with fear, cold sweat broke out on his forehead.

Raven's eyes were red, his whole body looked dark and scary. At this moment, a faint call came to his ear, "Ra...ven..."

Raven suddenly stiffened, now he felt like he was hallucinating.

He slowly turned around, his eyes stopping on North's face. Her eyes were now filled with tears, sparkling like a bright galaxy. She looked at him and called his name again, "Ra...ven..." Raven...

Raven...

She has regained her memory!

She remembers him!

Raven suddenly froze on the spot, his bright red eyes filled with surprise, confusion, amazement, worry, fear...

These emotions were intertwined, causing him to momentarily forget his reaction. Her voice, Raven, was all that echoed in his ears.

At this moment, the delivery room door suddenly opened, and a surprised voice rang out: "Professor Hart is here!"

Olive is here.

Raven turned around and saw Olive. She was wearing a white coat. Even though she arrived in a hurry, she was still calm as always. Olive's appearance surprised everyone. The pillar finally arrived.

"Professor Hart, the pregnant woman is bleeding a lot." The doctor quickly reported.

Olive wore a white mask and came next to North. She held North's hand and said gently: "North, a normal birth is no longer possible, a cesarean section must be performed immediately. I will perform it myself. Don't worry. Leave you and the baby to me. I will keep you safe."

No matter the time, Olive, her best friend, is always by her side. North nodded forcefully: "Okay!" Olive raised her head to look at Raven, "Mr. Dominos, please wait outside."

"I..." Raven didn't want to go out.

"I'll let you in until the baby is born. Close the door." Olive firmly ordered.

Just like that, Raven was kicked out, and the delivery room door was slammed shut in his face. Raven was waiting. As time passed, he was on a knife's edge, extremely miserable.

He didn't know what was happening to her inside.

He didn't know why she suddenly remembered him.

He also didn't know how her sudden memory recovery would lead to his love in the future. 21620

He has never suffered like this.

At this moment, an "Ouch" sounded, and suddenly a loud cry came from the delivery room.

Raven's black pupils shrank. At this moment, the loud cry of a baby was like bright moonlight that suddenly penetrated all the fog in his heart. He felt like all the past was gradually leaving him. A new life and new hope have opened.

This subtle feeling germinated in his heart like a seed, then grew crazily, his heart suddenly filled to the point of overflowing.

Raven walked to the door of the delivery room and reached out to push the door open.

He saw Olive holding a baby in her arms. The new born baby was actually a little big. Olive was bathing and dressing her. The clothed baby opened her small mouth, emitting immature sounds, crying non-stop Olive handed the baby to him: "Mr. Dominos, congratulations. It is a little girl weighing 14.99 pounds. You are now a father!"

He is a father!

Raven knows he's a father!

This is his treasure, his and North's treasure. Their treasure was finally born.

This is a girl.

Raven reached out to hug his daughter. The baby, who had been crying non-stop, suddenly stopped crying, looked at him with wide eyes, then grinned with satisfaction.

Olive curled her lips and couldn't help but smile, "Mr. Dominos, they all say that the daughter was father's little lover in her previous life. This is completely true. She was crying but as soon as you hugged her, she smiled. She likes you so much."

Raven's heart was soft and full of strength. He took off the goose yellow blanket and looked at the baby's small face. Other people's babies were ugly when they were born, red and wrinkled like a little old woman, but his daughter wasn't like that.

His daughter was exactly what he had imagined countless times, just like her mother, with a rosy face and dark eyes that made people want to kiss her hard.

His daughter!

He finally has a daughter!

Raven hugged his daughter and placed her next to North. North was anesthetized and had both a vaginal birth and a cesarean section, so at this time, she was very tired. She looked weakly at her daughter, then placed a kiss on her face.

Baby, I love you~

Now that mother and daughter are by his side. He has another person to protect in this world. Raven couldn't help but reach out and touch North's face, "North, I have become a father, and you have become a mother."

"Yeah." North tiredly closed her eyes.

Raven's face suddenly changed: "North, North..."

"Mr. Dominos," Olive said quickly: "Don't be nervous. North was just too tired so she fell asleep. Now let her sleep well. Don't disturb her."

Raven worriedly reached out to touch North's small face: "Did she really fall asleep?"

11:15

Olive smiled, "Mr. Dominos, don't worry. She really fell asleep."

"Okay." Raven nodded.

In the ward. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Olive and several nurses gathered around the cart to watch: "Look at the little girl. Her face looks like her mother, but her eyes look like her father." "Haha, that's right. Her father's genes are much better than her mother's. She is very beautiful."

Raven is now leaning against the wall, one hand wiping on his pants pocket, looking through the gap at the stroller. The baby is wrapped in a goose yellow blanket. She is looking at him with dark, energetic eyes.

Raven looked at Olive and asked in a low voice: "Why isn't North awake yet? She's been asleep for two hours."

Olive smiled helplessly. In the past two hours, Mr. Dominos has asked this question no less than ten times. He was too nervous.

Olive said: "Mr. Dominos, North is really just sleeping. If you're really worried, you can wake her up."

Wake her up?

Raven looked at the hospital bed and saw that their daughter had been born. North no longer had that round belly, she was slim and shiny, sleeping just like their daughter in the hospital bed. Her long eyelashes were like cicada wings silently drooping, her soft little face was a bit lacking in vitality, and a tired look appeared under her eyelids.

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1083

Chapter 1083 Lydia~

Raven shook his head. Although worried, he still didn't wake her.

"Mr. Dominos, North needs to sleep now. Don't worry too much. No one will steal your wife."

Even though Olive said that, Raven still looked towards North. He was afraid that if he blinked, she would disappear again.

"North has recovered her memory, do you know about this?" Raven asked Olive.

She nodded: "I heard her calling your name."

"Is it a good thing or a bad thing? I'm just afraid she still can't pass the test in her heart. Then the nightmares will reappear, the terrible mental illness will sweep over her again." Raven frowned, showing some concern.

Olive thought for a moment, curled her lips and said: "Mr. Dominos, have you ever thought that this time North suddenly regained her memory because... she cured herself?"

Raven was startled.

Is that so?

Did she heal herself?

At this moment, there was a noise. North moved on the bed and slowly opened her eyes. Raven's body stiffened, his eyes lit up, and he stepped forward.

But it was useless, because there was a person faster than him. Just now, Olive told him not to worry but she suddenly rushed to North's bed.

Raven, "..."

Olive worriedly held North's small hand: "North, how are you? The anesthesia has worn off, do you feel any pain?"

North blinked weakly: "It hurts a bit..."

At this moment, Raven saw North's eyes moving, looking for someone in the hospital room.

He wanted to step forward. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

But Olive spoke first: "Julia, push the baby over."

Due to family reasons, neither Raven nor North had any elders to take care of them, so they hired a gold medal nanny, Julia. "..."

Raven,

Julia pushed the stroller in front of North: "Madam, the little girl is here."

North moved a little closer to it, happily and lovingly looking at her daughter. She reached out and grabbed her daughter's small, soft hand, brought it to her mouth to kiss, and said in a sweet, soft voice: "Hello, my dear. You have finally come to this world. I love you Raven's whole body was numb, his blood was boiling, but he couldn't exert any strength. He couldn't explain what that feeling was, in his heart there was only his woman and his daughter...

"North, have you decided on a name for the baby yet? Let's give her a nickname first, okay?" Olive suggested.

North looked at the baby, who was grinning at her.

"Let's call her... Lydia." She said.

21610

Raven felt this name was really good. Although Lydia was just born, she is active and energetic, and her smile is also very sweet. "Lydia, baby, from now on I will call you Lydia." North kissed her daughter's hand again.

At this moment, Julia smiled and said: "Madam, are you going to breastfeed Lydia?" North nodded without hesitation: "Yes."

"Okay. You just woke up, eat some noodles first. Try to feed Lydia later," the professional nurse said.

At this time, Olive opened the thermos and said: "North, you just gave birth to a baby, first eat some brown sugar noodles."

North walked over, held chopsticks and said: "Olive, I will do it myself."

"North, let me feed you. From now on, you will be in puerperium. During this month, you must pay attention to yourself. Women in puerperium are the most attentive. If you are not careful you will suffer from captive syndrome."

"I get it." North nodded.

Olive used chopsticks to pick up noodles and put them on North's lips. North didn't eat. She glanced at Raven. The handsome man was still standing there since she woke up.

Raven took off his thin wool coat, revealing a gray striped sweater and black trousers. At this moment, he used one hand to wipe his pants pocket, revealing his tall, handsome figure.

When Raven saw her looking at him, his abandoned heart suddenly came alive. He turned back to look at her with bright eyes.

eat.

His deep and bright eyes were filled with her reflection.

Sometimes, there are words that don't need to be said, just seeing is enough.

North turned her face away, opened her mouth, took a bite of noodles, and lowered her eyes to

Olive suddenly felt like she had become a third wheel. She seemed a bit... confused, saying, "Hmm, North, I still have to go to work. Mr. Dominos, come and feed her. When I'm done, I'll go back to making soup for her."

North quickly stretched out her fingers and pulled at the corner of Olive's shirt, as if hesitating to speak.

Olive immediately covered her mouth and giggled: "North, what's wrong with you? Did you become shy after giving birth?"

North was originally a red rose with thorns, but now after giving birth to her daughter, she has changed a lot. She has become as soft as water.

North was so embarrassed that she couldn't speak.

"Doctor Hart!" Raven walked over and took the thermos from Olive's hand, "Go do your job."

He glanced at Olive displeasedly, meaning stop talking and get out quickly!

Okay!

Olive disappeared as fast as possible.

Raven sat on the bed and looked at North. Her black hair was messy, a few strands fell down her beautiful, rosy neck, and her pretty little face was a little pale. Maybe it's because she just gave birth. 21617

She was a bit delicate and beautiful because her strength was exhausted, her thin shoulders under the pink hospital gown made men especially love her.

Raven felt weak all over. He lifted the chopsticks and gave her a mouthful of noodles. North opened her mouth to eat.

"Is it good?" He asked gently.

North looked up at him, tears in her eyes, and reluctantly shook her head: "No."

The brown sugar underneath had a strange taste.

Raven reached out to touch her head and said affectionately: "Be good. Be patient. After your puerperium, I will buy you ice cream." "Okay." North obediently nodded.

In fact, nothing seemed to have changed for them. Life was still the same in the small southern town. She was North and he was Jeffrey.

She didn't mention the word Raven again. He wouldn't mention it either.

Julia on the side laughed happily. She had served many wealthy families, but this was the first time she had seen such a good relationship. The husband almost treated his wife like a little girl. After feeding North the noodles, Julia carried Lydia to bed, "Madam, the first time feeding Lydia may be a bit painful. New mothers are like that. Madam, please try to endure." North gently glanced at Lydia and nodded.

Raven was still standing next to her. North reached out to push him away, her face red, and said sweetly: "Go out first."

He frowned and glanced at her plump curves, not sure whether accidentally or not. North quickly turned around, facing away from him.

Julia urged: "Sir, sorry. Just wait at the door. Besides, there's nothing interesting here. Go quickly."

Raven glanced at North's slender back. Even though his heart was racing with thousands of reluctant things, he finally pulled his foot out and actually stood at the door.

Search the (f)indNOvel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1084

Chapter 1084 Mom is still a little girl-

Raven wiped his hands on his pockets, his strong back pressed casually against the door, looking towards the quiet hallway, but his peripheral vision was still drawn to the rustling of clothes there. It wasn't that there was anything good about it, but it was very pretty.

His Adam's apple rolled up.

North lifted up her shirt to feed Lydia, but with a "hiss" sound, her legs immediately stiffened in pain.

"Lady, just bear with it. You'll get used to it." Julia comforted her.

But five minutes passed, and the nanny shook her head and said: "Lady, no. Lydia doesn't have enough milk. Please try to relax."

North squeezed Julia's hand, tears welling up in her eyes. She cried: "It hurts so much. It hurts so much..."

Julia saw her crying and quickly raised her hand to wipe away her tears: "Lady, during your puerperium, you are not allowed to shed tears. It's not good for your eyes. Stop crying."

Raven quickly turned his head when he heard North crying. She must have been in a lot of pain, her small body on the bed was shaking.

He was so miserable that he quickly stepped forward and said: "Forget it. If she can't eat, then feed her with formula. She doesn't need to breastfeed."

"Okay sir. I'll take Lydia and feed her formula first."

Julia took Lydia away. Raven walked over to the bed. There were still tears on North's face. She looked very pitiful.

Raven raised his hand to wipe away her tears, kissed her forehead, and gently said: "Forget it. Babies nowadays are mostly fed with formula and don't need to be breastfed."

North pouted and shook her head: "No way. It's just too painful. Wait until I get used to the pain, then I'll try again."

Raven looked into her brave eyes, feeling so soft, "Yes, you are the bravest and the best. You can definitely do it."

North pulled the blanket up and covered it under her shoulders, her small hand quietly covering her sore spot under the blanket. She felt like she couldn't open her eyes and wanted to continue. sleeping. "Sleep." Raven lovingly stroked her little head.

"Okay." North closed her eyes.

North fell asleep but Lydia started crying again.

Julia hugged her to comfort her but couldn't. The baby cried until she choked, her small face turning red.

Julia held a milk bottle in her hand, the bottle was filled with milk: "Sir, Lydia is so smart. I just gave her some of the lady's milk and now she refuses to use the bottle. I gave the bottle to her and she immediately spit it out. Now she's hungry again so she keeps crying."

"How about we tell the lady to try again and give the baby some milk?" The nurse on duty asked.

21060

in the rich world. She has been to countless women in low-status rich families who have to breastfeed after giving birth. After all, a mother is not as precious as her child, so she doesn't care whether the woman is in pain or not.

But Julia saw that this gentleman considered his wife as his beloved, so he couldn't bear to let her do it.

"North is sleeping. Don't wake her. Give Lydia to me. I will hug her." Raven walked over. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

"Sir, will that be okay?"

Raven reached out with both hands and carefully hugged Lydia in his arms, looked down at his sobbing daughter and nodded: "Yes."

Lydia cried until her whole body was drenched in sweat. Raven lifted the goose-yellow blanket a bit, hugged her and swayed in the hallway, softly saying: "Shh, Lydia. Don't cry so loudly. Mom is here. Sleep. Don't wake her up. Lydia, Mom have endured a lot of pain. Now that you have been born, you must be considerate and sympathetic to her. The powdered milk is good. Drink some powdered milk and wait until Mom wakes up, and she will feed you, okay?"

Raven looked at his little daughter, held her up high, reached out his finger to tease her soft little face, and whispered in a voice that only they could hear: "Lydia, your mom is still very young. She is still a little girl. This is her first time giving birth. In the future, she needs you to pay more attention. Mom is not used to breastfeeding so she will feel pain. You should be gentle, especially don't bite Mom... You just use a little force, Mom will cry."

"Lydia, can we cooperate to drink powdered milk now?"

Lydia, "...Boohoo..." She didn't understand.

At this time, two nurses passed through the hallway. Looking aside, they saw a tall, handsome man holding a baby in his arms, his arms stretched out manfully.

The man's sweater and trousers were both wrinkled, but this didn't affect his elegance. He lowered his eyes, looking intently at the baby, his face was as handsome as a statue, his coaxing sound was like the most beautiful and attractive song at night.

A monastic palace-style table lamp shined down on his head. As a father, his whole body exuded magnetism, the characteristic charm of a mature man.

The two nurses looked at each other and blushed.

"I heard this is Mr. Dominos, the richest man in Los Angeles. He's really charming."

"Hey, don't think too much. Mr. Dominos' wife is North the beauty. Their relationship is very good. Just now, she fell asleep after giving birth. Mr. Dominos was very worried because he was afraid that he would lose his wife after having a daughter."

"What can I think? We only admire a charming man like Mr. Dominos."

The two nurses argued and left.

Raven hugged Lydia and comforted her for a long time. She cried even more softly. The baby was hungry, so she turned her head away and stuck out her tongue to lick a corner of the blanket.

Raven smiled and walked into the hospital room, "Julia, Lydia wants to eat. Mix some powdered milk. I will feed her."

"Okay." The nurse on duty quickly prepared half a bottle of milk.

Raven brought the spout of the bottle to Lydia's mouth. She licked it with her tongue, finally taking it into her mouth and sucking vigorously.

2166.74

Julia looked at her, smiled and said: "Sir, Lydia has a very hot temper. We can't comfort her but you can. This is called the father-daughter relationship."

Raven was sitting on the chair. It was also his first time holding a baby, but he used his left hand to hold her so she could sleep peacefully in his strong arms, his other hand held the bottle and brought it to her mouth. His posture was very professional, the corners of his lips curled up, his usually calm eyebrows revealed an arrogant look: "That's right."

At this time, Lydia was so hungry that she desperately sucked on the bottle of milk. When she was full, she opened her mouth and smiled sweetly at her father Raven.

Lydia finished eating and went to bed. Nanny Julia was preparing the vigil.

"Sir, you've been tired all day, so go back to sleep. I'll be here tonight. Come back tomorrow morning." Julia whispered to Raven.

Raven shook his head, "No need. I'll stay here."

Chapter 1085

Chapter 1085

Raven placed the sleeping Lydia next to North, then lay down next to North.

He raised his hand to tease Lydia's small face, then lowered his eyes to look at North who was sleeping in his arms, wrapped his arms around her waist, and closed his eyes.

Julia smiled when she saw the family of three sleeping crowded together in a small room. She reached out to turn off the lights in the room, leaving only a little dim light. The next morning.

North felt something moving in her hand, she slowly opened her eyes.

Looking down, she saw that Lydia had regained consciousness. Lydia opened her eyes, her eyes were as big and bright as two black grapes, her two small hands stuck out from the goose yellow blanket and waved wildly in the air.

North immediately smiled cunningly, rolled up Lydia's sleeves, revealing her small, soft hand "Hello Lydia, are you awake?" North took Lydia's small hand, brought it to her mouth and kissed it. It smells so good, the smell of a newborn baby's skin.

Lydia didn't understand what her mother was saying. When her big eyes saw her mother, she let out babbling sounds and kept screaming happily.

North's eyes were filled with a gentle light.

At this moment, her waist tightened, and the man behind woke up.

Only then did North notice the man sleeping soundly behind her. His large palm still rested on her flat stomach in a protective stance, pitying her for the suffering she had endured.

The hospital bed wasn't big, the family of three pressed her into his arms. His arms were warm, his masculine embrace surrounding her.

At this moment, her small face was kissed.

"Are you

awake?" The man's voice was hoarse because he had just woken up, which sounded extremely sexy to North.

"Yes." North's face turned slightly red. She calmly moved away from him.

Raven used one hand to support his head, sitting up slightly. The morning sunlight was shining little by little. If people look closely, North is completely different from usual. Perhaps because she was a new mother, her facial features were delicate and graceful, filled with softness, making people's hearts soften.

North's hand was still holding Lydia's small hand. Raven reached out and held both mother and child's hand in his palm. He leaned to her earlobe and said softly: "North, you gave birth to Lydia, a beautiful little girl. I really like her."

North didn't answer, but she didn't reject him either.

Raven's cautious and hesitant heart finally calmed down a bit. He knew she had recovered her memory. After recovering her memory, she didn't seem to reject his intimate actions at all. Nothing has changed, they now have a more peaceful and happier life.

Raven gradually believes what Olive says about whether North will be cured or not.

11:1

2168.0

into North's lap, rubbing.

North felt itchy and giggled..

The happy time between mother and daughter made Raven smile.

At this moment, Julia's voice was heard outside the door. She came here.

"Julia is here, please go quickly." North pushed him.

Without hesitation, Raven slowly got out of bed and stood up straight.

Julia walked in and said, "Madam, are you awake? Sir, you've been here all night. Go home, take a shower and change your clothes. I'll stay here with Madam."

"Yeah," he nodded, looking at North on the bed, "I'll go home first."

"Okay." She nodded.

It was already noon when Raven returned. He stood at the door watching Julia holding Lydia and playing. In front of North was a three-course meal, one soup and one fruit. He walked in and said, "Give me Lydia."

"Okay." Julia hugged her and gave her to Raven. She could see that the boss loved his daughter so much, "Madam just fed Lydia. She is full. Please hug her and pat her on the back." Has she breastfed her baby?

Raven hugged Lydia and glanced at North.

North was using a spoon to drink soup. Noticing his gaze, she lowered her eyes, not paying attention to him.

Julia withdrew, making room for their family.

While North was eating, she looked up at the man. Lydia was hugged by him, her small, soft body lying on her father's straight shoulders. The man's generous palm patted Lydia's back. It was nice when she fell asleep with her little head on his shoulder.

He changed into a clean white shirt and black pants. When he walked in, he put the black vest on the back of the chair.

After taking a shower, his fatigue subsided, and he looked youthful and handsome.

North lowered her eyes and ate. Raven saw Lydia sleeping soundly and carried her into her crib.

He put one hand in his pocket, sat down next to North, and asked in a low voice: "Does it still hurt?"

Just now, Julia told North that Lydia cried so much last night but he didn't want to wake her up and fed her formula.

Julia also joked that she rarely sees a man who loves his wife more than his children.

She lowered her eyes and shook her head: "No."

Raven reached out and touched her small face, smiled and asked: "What's wrong? After giving birth to a daughter, why don't you dare raise your head to look at me? I don't bite."

His calloused fingers rubbed her delicate skin, making her face heat up.

"No," North hedged, pointing to a plate of kelp, "I just don't want to eat this."

"Does it taste bad?" he asked.

North used her chopsticks to pick up a piece of kelp and brought it to his mouth, "Try it."

Raven opened his mouth to eat and said, "It tastes okay."

"Really?" Why doesn't she like to eat? She picked up another piece of kelp and brought it to his mouth: "Then I'll give it all to you."

Raven frowned and opened his mouth to eat.

North lowered her eyes and continued eating, but half of her small face was held by his big palm, her red lips were blocked. Before she could react, he put in a small piece of kelp.

North said "Hmm", the man let her go, but didn't leave. He was still very close to her and said, hoarsely: "Don't be picky about food, just taste it and eat it." Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Her small face was still in his palm. She wondered what he was thinking when he fed her like this. North chewed a few times and then swallowed.

"Is it good?" He asked.

North reached out her small hand and pushed his big palm: "Yes, it is."

This girl looks docile and soft. Raven glanced at her soft red lips, took his large, cleaned palm out of his pocket and placed it on the bed, her other hand stroked from her small face to the back of her head. He firmly said, "Call again."

"What?"

"Raven, my name."

Her eyelashes trembled.

"Jeffrey is me. Raven is me, too. North, call me Raven."

North didn't know what to say.

At this moment, Raven bowed his head and kissed her.

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 1086

Chapter 1086 Puerperium-

Olive and Julia met in the hallway. They opened the door to the hospital room and walked in laughing.

Soon they were stunned, because Raven and North were....

"Sir," Julia said immediately in surprise: "What are you doing?"

This sound made him open his eyes, quickly let go of North and stand up.

"Sir, the lady is currently in puerperium, this is no joke. No matter what you think, you can't bully her right now."

Olive walked over, too and grabbed North's hand: "North, you must listen to Julia. Don't make trouble. The body is yours, just be patient, the month will soon pass." North was so embarrassed, "Olive..." She called.

Raven wiped his pants pocket with one hand, his Adam's apple rolled up, he was embarrassed, too. North had just been in puerperium but he couldn't control himself. Just after kissing, he was caught on the spot. He, Raven Dominos, has never done such an embarrassing thing before.

"Yes sir, this is your fault." Julia said angrily.

So the two people, one sitting on the bed, one standing, were honestly lectured on this shameful subject by Olive and Julia for a long time. Raven's handsome face darkened.

Olive dropped the topic, finally concluding: "Forget it. I can't be negligent about taking care of you. This month, you guys will sleep in separate rooms so North can focus on being alone." Raven brang North and Lydia back to the courtyard. Under Julia's careful care, she recovered quickly and Lydia was also growing.

Raven accompanies mother and child every day. Holding in his arms little Lydia who is growing. up day by day, his heart is full.

North soon finished puerperium. That day, Raven drove her and Lydia to the hospital for al checkup.

After the physical examination, he took the mother and child home.

Julia had left, so there were three family members in the luxury car.

In the luxury car, Lydia kept babbling.

Raven glanced in the rearview mirror. North was sitting in the back seat holding Lydia. Lydia must be hungry, her small mouth was constantly searching for her mother's scent. "Is she hungry?" Raven said in a low voice.

North nodded: "Yes."

"Then you give her some milk."

If she could feed her, she would have done it a long time ago. Going out to breastfeed is a problem for North. For example, if he is in the car, how can she feed the baby now? Raven looked at her small face. She had taken good care of herself these past few days, and her small face was becoming more and more delicate.

+

2170.04

He glanced at her clothes. She had regained her figure, her loose dress couldn't cover her waist, which was as small as the mouth of a porcelain vase.

North sitting in the back seat was already sensitive to his gaze. She looked up and immediately saw his eyes looking straight at her smooth curves. Her bust has grown a lot due to breastfeeding. North's small face turned red. Previously, because she was pregnant, he didn't dare to have unhealthy thoughts. Now that his daughter was born and her puerperium ended, he became even bolder and showed no hesitation.

"What are you looking at? Focus on driving!" North glared at him fiercely.

Raven was very calm, replying, "Don't worry if you breastfeed your daughter, I won't peek at you."

too.

She won't believe him.

Men's mouths are full of lies!

She insisted on not breastfeeding in the car. Lydia didn't cry, but she felt bloated and a little sore. Finally arriving home, Raven got out of the car and hugged Lydia, and North got out of the car, He quickly narrowed his eyes, focusing on her clothes: "You...."

North quickly covered herself with her hands: "I told you not to look, why are you still looking?" Raven's eyes darkened, his tall and handsome body slowly approached her, then he whispered in her ear: "North, you're wet."

What?

What did he say?

How could he say something so... shameless?

North raised her hand and pinched his arm hard.

Raven hissed in pain, but didn't avoid it and pinched her, "Are you sure... you don't want to go in and change clothes?"

North lowered her head and discovered that her shirt was all wet.

She was stunned. It turned out she had misunderstood Raven. He didn't mean that.

North was so embarrassed that she wanted to find a hole in the ground, put her arms around Lydia and said, "Give me my daughter."

Raven gave her to her, then suddenly approached her beautiful red face, "What were you thinking just now? Did you think of anything inappropriate for children?"

He reached out and pinched her cheek, "North, I noticed you've become bad."

." She turned around, hugged her daughter and ran into the room.

Raven returned to the room, too. He was thinking about what North was doing now.

He turned on his computer and began watching surveillance video. Very quickly, North's figure appeared in sight. 2170.74

In the room, she was holding search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Raven feels like he should turn off the surveillance cameras and be a gentlen he's a bad guy.

He's been sneaking around like this for half a year. If he could turn it off, he would have turned it off a long time ago. "Ouch-"

At this time, North in the surveillance video suddenly screamed because Lydia had bitten her.

Raven heard her cry, his waist immediately tingled as if an electric current ran through his body. When they were together before, North was always cold, never took the initiative, let alone shouted. Now that she had given birth, her whole body seemed to be soaked in peach essence, and even her voice was as delicate as a wind chime.

Raven's body was injured, North was pregnant, so he never paid attention to this, but now he clearly felt that his body had changed, getting better and better, becoming normal.

Raven feels that North is truly his poison. When she cried out like that, he actually reacted. He quickly entered the bathroom and took a cold shower.

In the next room, Lydia finished eating and went to bed. North also finished showering and came out wearing a baggy dress.

She was sitting in front of the dressing table drying her hair when she suddenly saw a flashing red dot in the corner of the wall. What is that?

North quickly walked over and discovered that the corner of the wall had been tampered with, and a tiny camera was hidden inside!

God, there's a camera in her room!

Is her every move being monitored?

North is a big star and often encounters things like secret filming, so she can't misunderstand the camera. There was really someone secretly watching her. Who is that guy?

Does she still have to think about the answer? No. It's definitely... Raven!

Besides him, who else could install such a thing in her room without any trouble?

Is he a pervert?

(2)

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.