Chapter 371

Chapter 371 As time goes by

Mr. Paulo was planning on taking the initiative to marry Nora into the Robert family.

When Mr. Paulo saw that Joyce was pregnant and her stomach was growing bigger by the day, he was every afraid. Afraid that Joyce would wake one morning and decide to find Damien. If Joyce did, then everything he had laboured for would be in vain.

However, Joyce had no intention of searching for Damien at all.

Joyce loved her daughter so much, and she also enjoyed her motherhood journey. Joyce cherished her daughter, but she didn't really like the man she had had a child with. Hence, she had never gone in search of him.

Of course, there was a time Mr. Paulo saw Anabelle. Joyce and Anabelle were friends, and Joyce had narrated to Anabelle what transpired that night. Although Mr. Paulo didn't hear the details, he still felt unhappy that Joyce had succeeded in getting pregnant with Damien's seed.

Mr. Paulo was also very worried about Damien. The entire city knew that Damien didn't like women, and he was afraid that Damien wouldn't want to take responsibility for Nora's pregnancy.

Mr. Paulo clearly remembered that day. Damien stood in front of the window. He stared at Nora for a long time. then he nodded and agreed to take responsibility.

Mr. Paulo didn't know what went through Damien's mind, but one thing was certain. Damien had never forgotten about that night!

Over the years, Mr. Paulo had devised multiple strategies and became the dean of the Academy Of Sciences. His daughter, Nora, became Damien's wife. Although Damien neglected Nora for many years, he singlehandedly supported the Paulo family to become one of the four wealthy families in Imperial.

Now, everything was about to become chaotic. Olive was actually the biological daughter of Joyce and Damien!

Mr. Paulo suddenly narrowed his cloudy eyes. He remembered the first time he saw Olive. He had a very familiar feeling. Olive was beautiful, smart and calm.

He had been looking for Joyce and Damien's biological daughter for years, wanting to eradicate the roots, because he knew that the biological daughter of Damien was capable of destroying everything that the Paulo family had acquired over the years.

“Olive!” Mr. Paulo was mulling over the name in his heart. She was indeed the biological daughter of Joyce and Damien.

In years to come, Mr. Paulo didn't know what Olive might do to them. Hence he needed to get rid of her right away!

“Nora, leave Olive's issue to me, I'll allow Houston take care of it. But remember, Crystal's background must not be exposed!” He warned.

Nora was not stupid. Crystal's background was a secret that she had to keep. She nodded, and replied, “Dad, I can't tell anyone, okay? But Olive's issue cannot be delayed. The more she lives, the harder it is to destroy her.”

“I know.” Mr. Paulo muttered calmly.

Mr. Paulo ended the call and went to Houston's room. Houston wasn't resting. There were several small bottles and jars on his table. He was doing some researches.

“Why don't you take a rest?” Mr. Paulo asked with concern.

Houston raised his head. He was very handsome, but his face exuded a sinister aura.

“Grandpa, I'm not feeling sleepy yet.” He replied.

Mr. Paulo nodded and stepped further into his room.

“Joyce Brown's daughter has appeared. Her name is Olive Hart.” Mr. Paulo initiated.

Houston who was holding a vial in his hands suddenly halted, and his blue eyes shone with a fierce light.

“Grandpa, do you mean Joyce Brown's daughter who has the blood of immortality?”

“Yes, Olive is Joyce's daughter. She must also have the blood of Immortality.”

Houston grabbed a small red vial and handed it to Mr. Paulo.

“Well, that's great. I've been researching the poison that can alter the blood of the immortal.”

Mr. Paulo had been obsessed with medicine all his life. He grabbed the vial, and asked,

“What's in it?”

Houston scoffed and slowly said, “Ingredients from Joyce's book.”

Hearing his response, Mr. Paulo revealed a satisfied and relieved smile.

More than twenty years ago, Joyce didn't only bring a medical book, but also a book of poison.

However, Joyce was of the opinion that medicine and poison could not coexist, so she wanted to destroy the poison book.

Mr. Paulo had taken the opportunity to hide the poison book.

Years later, he had given the book to his grandson, Houston. Even if Joyce was already dead, he still wanted to prove to Joyce that he was right. Poison could stir pass medicine and give people everything they dreamt of!

In the hospital.

Olive shuddered her eyelashes, then opened her eyes. She was now in the ward, and an IV was connected to her vein.

At this moment, Marvin walked over and held her small hand.

“Olive, are you awake already?” He asked tenderly.

Olive still felt weak. She almost drowned in the swimming pool. She was still very weak after escaping death. Marvin helped her up and placed a soft cushion behind her.

“Olive, you’ll be fine, okay? You’ll recover after a couple of days. All you need to do now is just have some rest.”

Olive stared gratefully at Marvin.

“Marvin, thank you. If you hadn’t arrived in time to save me, I might have really died.”

Marvin’s black eyes fell on Olive’s face, and then he said calmly, “Olive, it wasn’t me who saved you, it’s Elvis.”

Olive stiffened.

Marvin didn’t want to hide the truth from her. He was open and aboveboard.

“Olive, I was chatting with Mrs. Robert when you had fallen into the swimming pool. It was Elvis who jumped into the swimming pool to save you. I was told that you were already out of breathe when Elvis brought you out! Everyone thought that you were dead, but Elvis didn’t give up on you. He gave you a CPR, forcibly pulling you back to life.”

Chapter 372 It Was Always Him.

Olive remembered the voice in her dream. The voice was so paranoid that it was difficult for Olive to ignore.

That voice was Elvis?

Did he really save her?

But why did he save her?

Didn’t he hate her?

Olive lowered her eyes and looked at Marvin.

“Marvin, why are you telling me this? You don’t need to tell me.”

“Why am I telling you this? I’ll tell you.”

Olive didn’t utter another words, as she awaited his response.
is response.

“Olive, I don’t want to deceive you. It was Elvis that saved you. I hope that if one day you decide to stay with me, you’ll be with me because you want to. All I want to do is make you happy. I don’t want want to use marriage as a means to tie you to myself. I really just want to make you happy.” He replied calmly.

Olive felt some ripples in her heart. Marvin had always had a clean and pure heart.

Olive was discharged from the hospital. She wasn’t in a dire condition.

Moreover, she wanted to go the Academy Of Sciences as soon as possible. She needed to use the key to open the door of the forbidden place and find the second treasure bax that was left for her by her mother,

Olive was placed on the sofa in the living room and was not allowed to move.

Mia personally went to the kitchen and prepared a soup for her.

“Olive, you really have gotten into a lot of trouble recently. I think that you’re lucky to be saved by president Augustine.” Mia said to her, as she handed her the bowl of soup.

That’s right, Olive. I think you should rest at home for a while and stop getting into trouble.” Tom Hart concurred, as he walked over with a plate of fruits.

Olive ate some grapes. She knew that Mia and Tom cared about her, but she still had a long way to go, and couldn’t dare to stop herself.

At this moment, a maid who was ironing same clothes held a black coat and started to iron it.

Olive stopped eating the grapes for a while. She quickly stoop up and walked over to the maid’s side. She reached out and grasped the sleeve of the black coat.

There was a shiny silver bunon on the sleeve with the word ‘Augustine designed on it While sitted on the sofa, Olive had immediately recognized the black coat. It was Elvis’s cloth.

As a business tycoon, there was ‘Augustine’ designed on all his clothes, which was a symbol of status and power.

Withal, she couldn’t understand how Elvis’s coat ended up in her house.

Immediately Tom noticed that Olive had seen the coat, he rushed over and took the coat from Olive.

Olive diverted her gaze to Tom. “Dad, this cloth belongs to Elvis. What is It doing in our house?” She inquired.

Tom Hart was a dignified man, but now that he was interrogated by Olive, he scratched his head, hesitating to speak like a child who had made a mistake.

At this moment, Mia walked over and said, "Olive, since you've found out, then we won't hide it from you anymore. On the day of the academy's selection, you were taken to the car by some men. It was Elvis who saved you"

Olive's pupils shrank. Did Elvis really save her back then?

Tom added, "Olive, it was indeed Elvis who saved you that day. You were taken into the car by those men. Elvis drove after them, and he was able to rescue you. Elvis was seriously injured. I even heard that his right hand was disabled."

Olive froze. She didn't expect the truth to sound this way. When she was in danger, it was him who saved her time and time again.

It turned out that it was always him!

But why did he do all these?

Did he... like her?

If he liked her, then why did he always humiliate her whenever he got the opportunity, and why then did he also get engaged to Crystal?

Olive realized that he was probably conflicted, he rationally wanted letting her go, but his mind couldn't bear to let her go.

Olive went to the Academy Of Sciences and headed to the radio station.

She knew that Crystal and Nora had something to do with her falling into the swimming pool, but she believed that Mrs. Robert would handle the matter. She had more important things to do today.

After the day's radio broadcast, Olive planned to enter the forbidden area at dusk!

Tonight, Nora and Crystal were extremely quiet.

Olive knew that it was just the usual calm before the storm.

However, she wasn't afraid.

Radio A and Radio D started airing at the same time. Due to the story between Mr. Paulo and Alicia, Radio A had garnered more listeners. The hotline kept buzzing, but Crystal was reluctant to answer the call.

In contrast to Radio A, Olive's radio D station was very deserted, and there were no hotline calls.

At this moment, a knock landed on Olive's office door, and Crystal pushed open the door.

She stared at Olive arrogantly for a while, then she said,

"Olive, you don't have a single call today. Thanks to you, the listeners of my radio station is currently unbelievable. But you know that this development is really not good. Your station and mine are in a competition. You were sent by academician Bush. If you lose too badly, then it'll be a shame to academician Bush!"

Olive knew that all that Crystal said was the truth. Radio A and Radio D were in a competition. She couldn't dare to lose, else the shame would be on academician Bush!

Olive ignored Crystal. She spoke into the radio sweetly." Good evening listeners. My name is Olive Hart, and I'm your evening emotional anchor. I'll be your anchor throughout the show, how are you doing tonight?"

A Rolls-Royce phantom car was parked below the radio station. Olive's radio station was playing in his car.

Olive's sweet and soft voice slowly passed through his ears, and it was as if she was whispering directly into his ears.

Elvis pursed his lips. Then, he took out his phone and called Radio D's hotline.

Chapter 373 1 Just Like Playing With Her

Olive had received the hotline call on Radio D. This was the first time she had received an enthusiastic listener. Olive's eyes lit up and she quickly connected the hotline. She invested all of her enthusiasm on this caller. "Hello, I'm your evening romance anchor, Olive. May I ask if you have encountered anything recently? And if you're emotionally confused, I'm here to help you."

There was no response.

There was silence.

Why didn't the caller speak?

"Hello, are you still there?"

Elvis who was in the luxury car listened to Olive's voice. Her voice was so tender and professional, but she had never spoken to him with such a sweet voice,

Elvis pursed his lips, but remained silent.

Olive quickly noticed something. Her eyes widened, as she looked at the caller ID, it was Elvis,

Was he so bored?

Was he so idle and lonely, that he had to call an evening romance host?

"I'll hang up now if you don't want to speak." Olive said impatiently.

When she was about to hang up, a deep and magnetic voice suddenly sounded from the other end.

"As an evening anchor, is this your level of patience with a caller? Aren't you here to converse with the caller who wants you to chat with me. I'm not feeling too good tonight."

Sure enough, he spoke in his usual arrogant and domineering tone.

Olive really wanted to make Radio D a success. Before so many people, she couldn't afford to offend him, so she smiled and replied,

"Sir, can you tell me why you're not feeling good tonight?"

"I met a girl sometime. This girl injured me on my cro tch, causing me to have no sexual feelings for any woman. As a matured man, even if I wanted to have some fun at night. I really can't. Do you think I can get better?" Elvis questioned shamelessly.

Olive really didn't expect that he would bring such a private matter to the radio. Olive concluded that he was crazy! Because only a lu natic would be that shameless!

"I'll suggest you carry out a personal examination, sir." Olive responded calmly.

Elvis snorted coldly, and said, "That girl, when I first saw her, she was staring at my car at her school gate. The second time I saw her, she was in the bar, and she had bumped into my arms. And the third time, she wore my t-shirt and laid on my bed. Anchor Hart, do you think that she is deliberately trying to seduce me?"

Olive remained quiet, as she didn't know what to reply.

"Since you were seducing me, why then did you give up halfway? I had already taken the bait." Elvis added. Olive didn't understand what he implied by taking the bait.

"Anchor Hart, what do you think the girl think about me? There are many men around her now, and they're all fascinated about her. Why does she have to deal with so many men? Could it be that she thinks that I'm out of her league? If so, then I'll tell her now that I'm already h ooked. Do you think she can cut off contact with those men and seduce me wholeheartedly?" Elvis questioned. Olive was speechless. The more she tried to draw a clear line between herself and Elvis, the more she became entangled with lum.

"Sir, I'm sorry, the signal here isn't very good. What are you saying, sir? Hello? Are you still there?" Olive pretended to not hearing him, and ended the call.

In the Rolls-Royce phantom, Elvis heard the call got disconnected. He was so angry that he wanted smashing his phone against the window, but he had restrained himself.

At this moment, his phone vibrated indicating several messages.

Because Elvis wanted speaking with Olive, he had downloaded the radio's station app and registered an account. Now his account was public, and many netizens left him ton of messages.

"Who are you? Are you a per vert? If you're sick, why not go to the hospital?"

How can you play a rogue with the anchor?"

*I know a doctor who can treat your impotence, bro, I can contact him to help you."

"Hello, sir. I'm Genevieve, an eighteen years old nursing student. I want to be your friend."

Tons of messages flooded Elvis's phone.

A frown appeared on Elvis's face. He was born into a wealthy family, and his circle of friends consisted of other wealthy kids, like Raven and Harry.

Elvis's phone was used only for business, and personal affairs.

Today, in order to call Olive's hotline, he downloaded and registered an account.

Instead of uninstalling the app, Elvis went on to reply the messages that were sent to him.

"Well, I'm just teasing her. What's the problem with that?"

"I'm fine. Thanks for your help!"

"Have you seen how beautiful the anchor is? Are you as beautiful as she is? If not, where do you derive your confidence from?" Elvis replied the messages one after the other.

Just after he replied the last message, countless messages flooded into his phone.

Elvis felt reluctant to respond to more messages. He threw his phone into the passenger's seat, then he opened the car door and walked out.

After Olive ended the call with Elvis, she excused herself to the bathroom. In the hallway, she happened to meet Nora and Crystal who were about to get off work.

Nora turned to Crystal, and praised, "Crystal, your performance in the evening emotional program was very good today. The audience rating will be out in two days. Then we'll see your total score."

Crystal smiled happily and replied proudly.

"Well, I'm very happy. I'm certain that our radio A will win over any other radio station." She turned and eyed Olive.

Nora kept to Mr. Paulo's instruction and didn't want cause any trouble. She stared at Olive coldly, then she pulled Crystal away.

"Crystal, let's go home."

"Okay, mum." Crystal happily followed Nora

Olive stared at the mother and daughter who were exiting the radio station. She felt a little worried about Radio D's audience rating.

However, she quickly diverted her attention to what she had to do.

Everyone was off work. As night fell, Olive was about to enter the forbidden area!

Chapter 374 If I Die, You'll Die with me.

After everyone got off work, the entire station was turned off. With the key in her hand, Olive headed to the station's backyard and stood in front of the dark, red door.

Her heart was pounding fast, as she could already feel a terrifying and mysterious force calling out to her.

Olive inserted the key into the door lock and turned it gently. With a click, the door lock opened.

Olive pushed open the door and walked in.

It was cold and chilly, and there was an endless darkness lingering inside.

Olive walked in tensely, and she was on high alert, guarding against any danger that might happen to her.

But she walked all the way and found nothing.

Olive continued walking, and it seemed to her as the road had no end.

She wondered where she was heading, and where the second treasure box was.

At this moment, Olive suddenly halted because she saw something under the big tree in front of her. It was a small treasure box made of a red sandalwood!

She found it!

She found the second treasure box that was left behind by her mother!

Olive quickly ran over. Seeing that she was getting closer to the box, she reached out to get it.

Suddenly, a big hand swiftly grabbed her wrist from behind.

A low and angry voice sounded in her ears, "Olive, what are you doing?"

Olive halted, then she turned around. Elvis's handsome face was before her.

Olive was a little bewildered. "Why are you here?" She found herself asking.

Elvis scoffed, as he stared at her unbelievably.

"If I didn't come here on time, you would have jumped off the cliff, and you would have been dead by now!" He answered furiously.

What cliff?

Olive raised her eyes and saw that the big tree and treasure box that she had just seen had disappeared. Before her was a bottomless cliff.

Now standing at the edge of the cliff, the soil under her feet cracked, and a piece of it collapsed immediately.

"OMG!" Olive let out a cry of surprise.

A fountain of sweat had instantly appeared on her forehead. She swiftly smuggled into Elvis's arms, holding tightly to his waist.

"I'm afraid." She whimpered.

"I'll pull you down, you won't fall, okay?" Elvis assured.

Olive was shocked. "But I didn't see the cliff just now. I clearly saw a big tree, and beneath it was the second treasure box. She whispered to him.

"Where is the treasure box now?" Elvis questioned.

"I...I don't know." Olive replied, her face still buried in his warm chest.

She had clearly seen the treasure box.

Olive felt that what had happened wasn't ordinary. Could it be that there was some mysterious power here? One which made anyone who entered the place see what their heart longed for, hence tricking them into jumping off the cliff?

Olive's heart was agitated for a moment. There was something weird in here.

She knew that the trip down there was a dangerous one.

Feeling Olive's body surrender in his arms, most of Elvis's anger subsided. He stretched out his long arms and

Chapter 374 [Die, You'll Die with hugged her body, protecting her in his arms.

"Olive, why do you like to cause trouble so much? Can you stop for a while?"

A thought suddenly crossed Olive's mind. She raised her eyes to look at Elvis.

"What did you see when you came over just now?" She inquired.

If she could see the illusion of what she longed for, what then did lie there?

Elvis lowered his eyelids and stared at Olive.

"What did I see? It was you who I saw, I saw you running towards the cliff.

Olive was shocked. What Elvis saw was her. Could it be that he yearned for her the most?

"What are you thinking about? Don't tell me you're still fascinated by me at this moment." Elvis stretched out his hand and held her face.

Olive quickly realized that she was still clinging to him. She quickly let go of him, and took some steps sideways.

"That's not what I meant. You can go back now. I still need to find the treasure box." Olive said to him, then she turned around and left.

However, Elvis quickly stretched out his arm and hugged her waist, pulling her into his embrace.

Olive was caught off guard, and she fell into his arms.

"Elvis." She made to protest.

"Shut up!" Elvis interrupted her fiercely.

Olive quickly noticed an abnormality. She took a deep breath, as she stared firmly at the two pair of green eyes in the darkness before her.

Suddenly, two wolves howled terrifyingly and appeared before them.

This was the first time Olive had seen a wolf. She was so frightened that her legs wobbled.

Her two hands were tightly wrapped around Elvis's waist. Elvis threw his arm around her shoulder and hugged her tightly. "Elvis, are we going to die here?" Olive asked in fear. Elvis stared at the two wolves warily. "I don't know. If you die, I die. If I die, you die with me." Elvis replied calmly. Olive raised her head and stared at him. "Why isn't there a third possibility? Is that how you want to die? Can't you be the hero and save my life?" "I, Elvis Augustine, have never been a hero. I won't start now, Olive. If I die, then you must die with me!" Elvis replied domineeringly. Olive chuckled. Her two hands hugged him tightly, and she suddenly felt at ease. When he was present, all the fear and anguish that was in her heart disappeared leaving no trace. At this moment, the two wolves rushed over like lightning, trying to tear them apart.

Chapter 375 I've endured for too long. Elvis pursed his lips and was a little unhappy, "I'm a doctor. I know my body. There's a cave over there. Take me to rest. I'll treat the wound first." Olive insisted. Elvis didn't say anything else. He obediently carried Olive into the cave. Olive looked back over Elvis's shoulders. The two wolves became extremely obedient. The wolves stared at them quietly. Olive frowned, and asked Elvis. "What do you think made those two wolves stop attacking us?" Elvis's narrow eyes fell on Olive's face. "Because of you." He replied, "Me?" Olive asked in disbelief. "Yes, you." He nodded, and his eyes trailed down from her face to the flower tattoo on her shoulder. "What's this flower?" He inquired. Olive stared at her shoulder for a while, then she stretched out her hand and covered Elvis's eyes. "Don't look!" She ordered. "I've already seen it." Elvis replied.

Olive's pale face immediately turned red.

Staring at her shy face, Elvis's heart overflowed with warmth. He was convinced that the two wolves had stopped attacking because of her. But he wondered what the mysterious flower in her shoulder was. Her secret she was hiding..

From the look on Olive's face, she also probably didn't know.

Could it be that she didn't even know how powerful she was?

Thank you, CEO Augustine." Olive whispered to him.

Hearing her call him CEO Augustine', Elvis felt particularly flattered by her sweet voice.

Elvis stared at her condescendingly, and then asked, "Why does my name sound so romantic in your mouth?"

"I don't know, but what I know is that you have a fiancée, and you want to cheat on her! Olive reminded him.

Elvis smirked. He lowered his eyes and glanced at the precious steel watch on his wrist, then he responded, "My fiancée should be nearby. Speak gently, lest she'll find us."

Olive couldn't believe his response. She picked up a small rock and threw it on him.

"Mr. Augustine, you really don't understand, do you? You should respect your fiancée, and stay away from other Women!"

Elvis stared at Olive as if he was staring at a delicious food.

Olive turned around and ignored him.

Elvis stared at her again, and then he went out to get some herbs.

Elvis returned after a while. He handed a purple herb to Olive. "Here it is."

Olive reached out and collected it, Thank you." She muttered

Elvis didn't still leave.

Olive raised her dark eyes and looked at him.

"President Augustine, look no further, will you? Please turn around."

"Should I help you?" Elvis offered, as he stared at her injury.

Olive's face clouded in anger. She thought that he was trying to take advantage of her.

"No, thank you." She refused.

Elvis saw that she was determined to carry out the treatment without his help, so he turned around.

"Mr. Augustine, you know that you shouldn't be peeping, right? Olive's soft voice said behind him.

Elvis tucked his hands into his trousers pocket, and replied, "I'm not sure."

Olive also turned back. She took off her clothes, then chewed the herb in her mouth, and then she applied it on her wound.

It was very quiet in the cave. Elvis heard her undressing from behind him. He swallowed hard, and his Adams apple rolled up and down.

He soon heard her cry. It was probably because of the pain from applying the herbal medicine.

Olive hit her red lips, as she applied the wound. But the pains was unbearable that she let out a cry.

Elvis couldn't stand hearing her cry, so he walked out.

Olive healed the wound, and wore back her clothes. But soon, she realized that something was wrong with her body. Her body was so hot that her face starting burning.

Olive stretched out her hand and pulled back the collar of her dress, revealing her shoulders.

At this moment, a deep and magnetic voice sounded in her ears,

"What are you doing?" Elvis questioned.

Olive looked up and saw that Elvis had returned.

Elvis had gone to get some woods. The sleeves of the black shirt that he wore were rolled up, revealing his strong forearm.

Inexplicably, Olive felt a little hotter.

Elvis lifted his legs and walked over to her. He squatted on one knee and grabbed her hand, preventing her from taking off her clothes.

"Mr. Augustine, am I hot?" She questioned weakly.

Elvis felt her skin, and then replied, "I think you have a fever."

Olive's eyes squinted. "What herbs did you pick for me a while ago?" She inquired.

"The purple one you mentioned." Elvis pointed to the herbs with his eyes.

Only then did Olive realized that he had picked the wrong flower.

There were two kinds of purple flowers there. In addition to stopping the bleeding and inflammation, the one he picked also had aphrodisiac effect.

It was understandable why she suddenly felt very hot!

"Elvis, you picked the wrong herbs. Can't you see properly?" Olive scolded him angrily.

Elvis, who was scolded was not angry either. He had roughly guessed what happened.

Elvis reached out and covered her red lips with his rough thumb.

"Do you want me or not?" He questioned.

Olive's lips ached for his touch, and she wanted him to continue rubbing his hand on her lips.

Olive's stunning face quickly covered with an intoxicating blush, but she was still conscious of what was going on. hence she restrained herself from being bewitched by him.

Olive reached out and slapped his off.

“No! I don’t want you!” She replied with a glare.

“Oh, that’s fine.” Evis didn’t want to force her. He stood up and walked over to lit the trees branches that he had gotten. Soon, the burning woods brought warmth to the cave.

It was already dusk. Elvis’s body was hidden in the darkness. The sparks from the woods made his handsome face Jook magnificent.

Olive was originally not fascinated by him, but now, she was completely seduced by his charm and aura.

Each second was a torture to her.

Olive stood up and walked to his side angrily. She stretched out her right foot and kicked the woods until the light

You’re doing this on purpose, right? I’m already very hot, but you went on to lit a fire up

Elvis stared at her and suddenly said. “I’m hurt

Olive swiftly remembered that the wolf had bitten his right arm.

“Really? Show me. Til help you treat it.”

“Okay.”

Elvis stretched out his hand and unbuckled the belt around his waist. With a click, the belt was released.

Elvis pulled his shirt out of his trousers.

Olive was dumbfounded as she watched him.

“What was he doing?” She thought.

Was he doing that on purpose?

Men and women were the same. Men liked beautiful women. Similarly, women were also attracted to handsome.

“What are you doing? Why are you taking off your clothes? Olive questioned impatiently.

Elvis glanced at her and then he shook his head. “Olive, all you think about in your mind are bad things. Can you be pure for once? How did you intend on seeing my arm if I don’t take off my shirt?”

Elvis was really plausible. He actually said that Olive wasn’t pure.

Olive knew that he was obviously using his male superior masculinity to seduce her.

Olive bit the tip of her tongue, as she tried to keep herself rational But her body was really hot. She quickly ran over and hugged Elvis’s waist.

Elvis paused for a second, then he swiftly reached out and pushed Olive against the wall.

Before she could utter a word or even change her mind. Elvis's body shrouded her in a strong posture,
"Olive. I've endured you for so long!" Elvis firmly sealed her lips with his.

Chapter 376 I Was Married.

Olive's legs softened. She couldn't stand his hot and powerful kiss. Her breath was filled with Elvis's healthy breath. Elvis didn't close his eyes. He just stared at her face.

After kissing her for a while, Elvis let go of her. But his nose was still pressed against her face.

Olive used her strength to push him against the wall. They had switched places. She raised her head and stared at him provocatively.

Elvis chuckled lightly. He used his right hand to cup her face.

"Who made you like this? Is it Derrick Rodriguez? Marvin? Or some other man that I don't know of?"

Hearing his question, Olive's mind dawdled. She couldn't believe that he saw her as someone who had been with different men.

"Why do you say that?" Olive's senses had returned, and she probed.

"Isn't it? At the private reception that day, I stood outside your door and heard you and Derrick Rodriguez on bed." Olive's eyes narrowed slightly. Elvis had just admitted to being outside the door that day.

"You misunderstood. Nothing happened between Derrick Rodriguez and I. In order to get rid of Derrick Rodriguez, I had given him a little injection, which caused him to hallucinate." Olive explained.

Elvis halted. He didn't expect that nothing had happened between Derrick Rodriguez and Olive. Because when he stood outside the door that day, he was certain that they had made out.

"Then, you and Marvin have slept with each other, right?"

"No." Olive shook her head.

"Really?" Elvis released her face, and pulled her into his embrace.

"Are you lying to me?" He asked.

"Nope, I'm not lying to you."

"Then let me check if you're telling the truth." Elvis's hands slid down her soft waist.

Olive shivered and quickly held his hands.

“What do you want to check?”

Elvis was an adult man who couldn't resist a sexy lady like Olive. His thin lips fell on her eyes, and he kissed her slowly.

“You haven't had sex with Derrick Rodriguez, neither have you slept with Marvin. It seems like I misunderstood before. That means that you're still a virgin, right?”

Elvis was obviously in a good mood. He didn't deliberately pick the wrong herbs, but now the opportunity presented itself to him..

Elvis had always wanted to have her, and now he could have her at his fingertips.

At first, Olive was still a little rational and insisted not to. He deliberately took off his clothes to tempt her.

Sure enough, she fell for his seduction and threw herself directly into his arms. you

What happened next should have been logical, but he unexpectedly learned that she had never had anything to do with Marvin and Derrick.

All along, her virginity hadn't been broken. And she had even told him that she was pure.

Elvis's feelings were engendered. He was really nonchalant, but also very jealous. As long as he thought that other men had gotten her, he would go crazy.

He wanted to be her only man.

Now he asked her if she was still a virgin.

Olive froze for a moment, she suddenly realized a very important problem.

She had been with a man before, and that man was lum.

Chapter 377 Elvis cares about her.

Elvis left angrily after he finished speaking.

Olive froze. She did not expect that he would react so violently when he found out that she had been married.

However, she could not tell him.

Olive looked at Lu Hanting. La Hanting was already sitting by the bonfire. He was in a bad mood and his face was gloomy.

Olive was still very hot, and the waves of heat made Olive feel ticklish when she saw Lu Hanting.

After a while, Olive raised her legs and walked out.

Olive had left the cave. The night in the forest was extremely cold.

Where is mum’s second treasure chest?” She questioned inwardly.

The forest looked boundless, vast and mysterious. Looking for something in it was like searching for a needle in a haystack.

Olive came to the edge of the cliff again. This was the place that saw the treasure box.

What secrets did this cliff hide?

At this moment, the wolf howled. Olive's heart skipped a beat. Her entire body was instantly alerted. Her heart was still aching because the wolf's sharp claws had grabbed it.

Olive looked back and saw that the two wolves had walked out of the darkness.

The wolves looked at her and restrained their animal nature.

Olive witnessed a shocking scene. The two wolves slowly knelt down on one leg.

The wolf knelt before her!

Olive bright eyes widened. She looked at the two wolves kneeling in front of her. She could feel their piety and respect, as if they were saluting her.

What's going on here?

Olive turned her head to look at the cliff again. At this moment, the shocking thing happened again. A layer of immortal mist formed on the cliff.

Olive saw the most magnificent scene in her life. In front of her was a rolling sea. The sea was so mysterious that it had no end. The end of it seemed to be somewhere, but nowhere.

At this moment, the forest was silent, the two wolf kings knelt in front of her reverently.

Suddenly, a deep and anxious voice sounded in her ears, "Olive, Olive, Olive!" The voice called out.

Olive was quickly jilted back to reality. It was Elvis's voice.

Olive stared at the two wolves. The wolf king had already stood up and left with the other wolf. They soon disappeared into the darkness.

Olive looked at the sea in front of her again. The sea had also disappeared, and it had once again become a cliff. It was as if everything that just happened was just an illusion.

Olive was shocked beyond words. What she saw today could not be explained by common sense. She had to go back and read the ancient books in search for clues.

"Olive!"

"Olive"

Elvis's voice was getting closer to her.

Olive quickly turned around and searched for Elvis.

Soon, she saw Elvis. Elvis had already left the cave. He kept calling her name and was looking everywhere for her. Olive saw the frown between his eyebrows. He looked gloomy and cold, but he was more nervous and concerned about her.

Olive stood calmly, her clear eyes focused on his crisp figure, watching him frantically search for her in the vast darkness.

Olive's memories seemed to have gone back to a few months ago, the last day at the suburbs. He was so kind and humble to climb a tree and retrieve a birdnest for her, so they could hatch the three eggs together.

Olive was speechless back then and didn't know how to react.

Only at this moment did she understand the present Elvis. The present Elvis was conflicted. He clearly liked her, but was also afraid of showing it to her.

Olive suddenly felt that her Mr. Augustine had never left. Elvis was her Mr. Augustine, and her Mr. Augustine was Elvis!

This knowledge made Olive feel emotional. She ran over and hugged Elvis's waist from behind.

The moment Olive's soft body came up against him, Elvis's tall body froze.

He stared at Olive, and scolded her. "Why did you leave? Just because I had said some things to you, you decided to be petty and run away. Do you know how dangerous it is here?"

A while ago, Elvis was so angry when he found out that she was a divorcee. But when he looked up, he found out that she was gone.

She was always so uneasy!

Olive looked up at him and smiled. "You care about me, right?" She asked

It was then that Elvis realized that his reaction was a little extreme. He pursed his thin lips and his handsome face suddenly clouded in a frown.

"No, I don't." He denied.

Olive stood on her tiptoes and wrapped her two small hands around his neck.

"You do! You care about me!" Olive wasn't asking a question, but she was informing him of his feelings towards her.

Elvis couldn't stand the way she took the initiative to seduce him.

He reached out and pulled her slender arm off. "Olive, don't touch me!"

"Then, can I kiss you?" Olive moved closer and kissed his thin lips.

The sweet fragrance from Olive's body invaded and lingered under his nose.

Her mouth was sweet as if she had eaten some honey.

Elvis disliked sweet things, but he liked sweet girls.

Olive could sense his reaction.

Originally, the cold wind blew away the heat, but when she met him, she was ignited again.

Olive held onto his handsome face and deepened the kiss.

She had been married to him and had done intimate things with him, but usually, he was the one who took the initiative and controlled the rhythm.

Now, it was her who took the initiative. She followed his example and kissed him.

Elvis really wanted to refuse.

He only stiffened and kissed her.

At this moment, Olive let go of him. Her beautiful eyes stared seductively at him.

“Do you want me to kiss you again?” She asked in a sweet voice.

Chapter 378 She Does Big Deals.

Olive asked him if he wanted her to kiss him again.

Elvis narrow eyes stared lustfully at Olive, as though he wanted eating her up.

“Do I still need to answer this question?” He replied unhappily.

Olive instantly received his answer. Her red lips slowly moved down and landed on his protruded Adam apple. After some seconds. Elvis pushed her away.

Olive looked at him in a daze, and inquired, “What’s the matter with you?”

Elvis scoffed, and replied harshly, “Who taught you all these? Did you also do this to please your ex husband?” Back in Los Angeles, Elvis particularly liked it when Olive kissed his throat. And from his reaction, he still liked it.

Seeing that Olive was extremely skilled in kissing his neck region, he knew that her ex-husband must have loved it too.

Elvis’s impression of Olive was that she was smart, calm, firm and brave. He didn’t know that Olive had such a soft and seductive side.

Elvis was convinced that Olive was once innocent and pure, and that all she knew was taught by her ex-husband. Elvis felt angry as the thought flowed through his mind. He was angry with her ex-husband, but was even more angry with himself.

He lifted his legs and walked away without uttering a word to Olive.

“Elvis, what’s wrong with you? Why are you being so uncertain?” Seeing that he was to leave, Olive ran forward and pulled his arm.

Elvis halted. ‘Let go!’ He ordered.

“I won’t let go!” Olive refused adamantly.

Elvis stretched out his hand, and tried to forcefully release her grip on his hand.

Olive stared at the arrogant man before her. She bit her lips and swiftly took out an injection from her pocket and stabbed it into Elvis’s wrist.

Elvis halted, unable to move his entire body.

“Olive, what did you do to me?” He asked weakly.

“I didn’t do anything. She denied.

With that, she stretched out her fingers and grabbed his chin with a smile on her face.

“Elvis, you’re way more cuter this way, don’t struggle anymore, just obey me and do whatever I say, then you’ll be fine.” Olive stretched out her hand and pushed him, causing the two of them to fall directly into the grass.

Elvis closed his eyes and opened them again. His handsome eyes overflowed with a terrifying and murderous aura. “Olive, don’t you dare! If you dare to touch me, then I won’t let you go! Elvis muttered through gritted teeth.

Olive boldly sat on his body, then she stretched out her hands to the black belt around his waist. She slowly unbuckled it.

“Elvis, I’ve literally unbuckled your belt, what can you do about it now?”

Elvis laid weakly and couldn’t push or hold Olive.

Olive lowered her head and kissed his face.

“Elvis, stop resisting, okay? Your body is more honest than your mouth.” Olive whispered to him.

What was Olive talking about?

Wasn’t that his line?

Everything was messed up tonight. Elvis was the one getting bullied. It was really a shocking scene to helvold.

“Olive, get off me! I’ll warn you for the last time, don’t touch me, or I’ll hurt you and your entire family for your action!” He threatened angrily.

In the middle of the night. Olive returned home.

Since it was already late. Olive tiptoed upstairs, not wanting to wake anyone up.

But before Olive reached her room, a door opened and Tom and Mia stepped out. “Olive, why are you back so late? Did you enter the forbidden area to find the treasure hox?” Mia inquired. Olive thought that Mia and Tom were already asleep. But they couldn’t sleep as they were worried about her. Olive halted.

She was wearing Elvis’s black cardigan. Her hair was messy, and some strands were entangled with her neck.

“Mum Mia, why are still awake?” Olive asked.

“Olive, whose cardigan is that? Does that belongs to Elvis?” Tom questioned.

Olive nodded. The silver button on the cardigan was shinning brightly, and one could see the ‘Augustine engraved on it. It was clearly his.

“Olive, you didn’t return his other coat. Why then did you bring back another of his cloth?” Tom probed, his eyes focused on Olive’s face.

Mia suddenly gasped. “Olive, did Elvis bully you again? We’ll go find him now!”

Olive quickly stopped Mia, then she said, "Mum Mia, it's not like that. Don't go to Elvis. He didn't bully me, bullied him!"

but I

"What?" Mia stared at Olive in disbelief.

"Mum, Mia, it's very late. Tomorrow, I'll tell you all about the forbidden area.

Let me have some rest, okay?" moved past them and hurried into her.

-?" Olive

When Olive entered her room, she went into the bathroom to take a shower.

She stood under the shower, allowing the hot water flow down her body.

A while ago, she had lost her mind because of the herb.

Now that she had fully regained her senses, she was shocked to realize what she had done.

She was really crazy to actually force Elvis.

She quickly shrugged off the thought. She had already done what she did, and there wasn't any reason why she should feel afraid.

Moreover, it wasn't the first time she had done something like that.

It was in the exact way that she had taken away Elvis's virginity months back.

Although Olive convinced herself that it wasn't a big deal, she still felt uncomfortable, because Elvis was not her Mr. Augustine anymore.

Olive let out a sigh, and shut her eyes tight, allowing the water flow down her skin.

Chapter 379 Trends again.

This time, she wasn't able to find the treasure box in the forbidden area. It was a failure.

Olive narrated what had happened to Tom and Mia.

"What I don't understand is why there would be wolves in the backyard of the academy. Wolves are very ferocious and terrifying beasts. Except they were vigorously trained, that's the only way one can subdue them." Tom expressed his thoughts.

Olive's heart skipped a beat. "Dad, what's the secret method of training wolves?" She inquired.

It was the first time Olive heard that wolves could be trained, and that left her shocked.

"Well, I only heard about it. I heard that there was a girl who was skilled in training wolves. She rode on the wolf's back and all the wolves obeyed her and made her their king.” Tom replied.

Olive remembered that the two wolves had bowed before her, as if they were worshipping her as their master. However, she didn't know the techniques to training a wolf.

Olive pondered for a while. “Mum, dad, there's actually a question that I've been curious about. Do you know where my mum is from?” Olive asked. Mia shook her head, “Olive, we are just oblivious as you are. We don't even know where she is from. She had showed up in Canada, and she didn't tell us where she was from.”

Olive frowned and sighed.” The mystery is getting bigger and bigger. But I've always felt like I already know something. As long as I can grasp a single clue, i can personally unravel all these mysteries.”

Olive pondered for a while, then she asked,” Is there anyway I can buy information here?”

Olive knew that every city had people who specialized in selling informations about people, she felt that Imperial should have it too.

Sure enough, Tom nodded. “Yes, there is someone. We call him him the seventh g od.”

“The seventh g od?” Olive's eyes lit up.

“Who's he?”

“We don't know who he is either. He has never surfaced before. But it is said that he knows the secrets of everyone in Imperial. Tom replied.

Alicia suddenly crossed Olive's mind. Alicia liked Mr. Paulo. That was a hidden secret in her heart. No one in the world should have known about that, but Derrick Domino did.

Olive trembled for a moment. She knew that Derrick Domino was perfect at manipulating people's heart. He was a mysterious and powerful being. But did Derrick Domino have something to do with the seventh g od?

A bold thought quickly swept past Olive's mind. She wondered if Derrick Domino was the seventh g od.

After her mother arrived at Imperial, she took in a few apprentices. These apprentices were all talented in medicine. Derrick Domino was Joyce's close student. He was not so good at medicine. But what would be know?

“Mum Mia, since this seventh go d is selling information, there must be a way of contacting him, right? How can we contact him?” Olive inquired.

Tom shook his head. “We can't contact him, because he always take the initiative to contact the people he has some informations for.”

“What?” Olive questioned in disbelieve.

“Olive, you heard that right. He always take the initiative to contact whosoever he has information for. If you want to buy information from him, you just have prepare your money and wait for him to contact him.” Mia added.

Knowing that she wouldn't be able to find the seventh god, Olive felt a little discouraged.

The last time she had tried finding Derrick Domino, it was a total failure.

Olive felt convinced that the seventh god was definitely Derrick Doming

Olive stood up. "Mum, let's end today's chat here, okay? If there's any

"Hang on, Olive!" Mia quickly grabbed Olive's wrist.

"I want to tell you something. You haven't watched today's entertainment headlines, right?" Mia inquired. "No, what's wrong with it? What big event happened recently?" Olive asked nonchalantly. She really didn't care about the entertainment industry, so she was oblivious of whatever happened in the entertainment industry. Olive immediately handed an entertainment newspaper to Olive. "Olive, today's entertainment headline is about you and Elvis."

What? She and Elvis made the headline?

Olive swiftly collected the newspaper. She lowered her eyes and saw that

Elvis's call to the radio station had gone viral.

The topic of the entertainment headline was that Elvis, the president of the

Augustine cooperation, had fallen in love with Radio D's beautiful anchor,

Olive.

Olive's eyes widened in shock.

All the netizens knew that the girl Elvis was referring to was her. It was now public information that she was trying to seduce him, even when that wasn't the entire truth.

Olive quickly took out her new phone and went online. The first post she saw was that of her and Elvis.

A vast number of netizens left comment on the issue.

"What the hell? I can't believe that our CEO has fallen in love with Olive. The dreams of millions of girls are shattered!"

"I can't believe Olive is engaged to Marvin, and continued to seduce Elvis.

Womanhood is proud of you, Olive!" "Go get that bag. Olive!"

"Olive should really publish a book, and the title should be 'Olive and her men."

Olive stared speechlessly at the comments. She quickly clicked on a comment which had multiple reply, and her lips were thrown apart as she realized that

Elvis was replying to the comments, and was scolding the netizens.

Chapter 380 Radio's report.

In Olive's memory, Elvis would definitely not start a verbal war with the netizens.

In the second page of the newspaper, Elvis was regarded as a pe rvert, who was trying to hit on a radio anchor on duty.

Olive placed the newspaper on the table. She hastily returned to her room. She wore a sunglasses and a facemask. With such news, she had to find a way to disguise herself, so as not to attract the public's gaze.

Olive headed to the radio station of the Academy of Sciences. Although she felt like she was perfectly disguised, everyone recognized her at first glance, and they started gossiping about her.

Olive was at loss for words. She couldn't explain herself at all.

Olive ignored the glaring gaze, and walked into her office.

Soon, a knock landed on the door, and a staff said from the outside, "Olive, we re starting the meeting. The live broadcast and local audience rating for the first show is out. Please come to conference room for the meeting, thank you."

"Got it" Olive replied. She stood up and went to the meeting.

When she arrived at the conference room, Olive saw the furious Crystal. It was obvious that Crystal had also seen the entertainment news, and was severely provoked.

"Olive, you're so shameless!" Crystal cussed angrily.

Olive scoffed. Miss Robert, that call was made by Elvis. Shouldn't you call him shameless?"

"How dare you!" Crystal half-yelled.

Nora quickly stopped her." Crystal, sit still!"

Crystal reluctantly sat on her seat and didn't utter another word.

Olive's eyes met Nora's. Nora was particularly confident today.

Olive let out a smile, as she patiently awaited what the Paulo family were planning.

At this moment, all the executives of the radio station walked in, and the meeting began.

Nora took out the listening report of Radio A. She nodded with satisfaction, and shared the duplicated file to the executives. "Here, have a look."

The executives went through the listening report and exclaimed, "We all knew that Radio's A listening rate would be the highest, but we didn't expect it to be so massive. This has literally set a new record for our station."

"Miss Robert, you really deserve to be the director's daughter. You're beautiful and sweet. And most importantly, you're a beautiful host."

Everyone in the room flattered Crystal.

Crystal particularly loved compliments. As long as she heard people praising her, she felt buoyant and more confident.

Crystal's provocative eyes stared at Olive. "Well, we have a competition." She muttered.

Since Crystal had diverted the topic to Olive, one of the executives said contemptuously, "Well, I guess today's news is quite unbelievable. While Crystal was busy working hard to get her radio station to the peak, Olive here was busy seducing Crystal's fiancee."

"I think Mr. Augustine was temporarily fascinated. I'm certain that by now, he would not even want to see her face." Everyone started to ridicule Olive. Olive was used to it, so she could only sit calmly. She didn't want to pay any attention to what they said about her, and she immediately treated them as invisible.

Olive's face was blank, and devoid of emotions. Realizing that Olive was indifferent and calm, the executives hastily kept quiet in embarrassment.
