Chapter 641

Chapter 641 He hugged her and called, "Olive"

A slim body fell into his arms.

Elvis lowered his eyes and saw a familiar little face in his arms, and now this little face was covered. in crystal-clear tears.

It was Olive.

Turns out it was her!

She was crying.

Olive didn't expect to be discovered so quickly. Before she had time to wipe the tears from her face. she was pulled out by him, and at this time, she bumped into his lap again. She immediately raised her wet, transparent eyes to look at him.

Elvis looked at her too, and saw her slender, butterfly-like eyelashes quiver with panic. Her eyes were teary, extremely pure and seductive, Elvis's heart shook violently. He asked in his deep voice: "Why did you come here? What are you doing?"

When a person is wronged, it is not possible to say hello. Because the grievances were magnified, the crystal tears in Olive's eyes fell down like pearls.

The more she cried, the more Elvis felt like his heart was being squeezed by a big hand, extremely painful. He looked outside: "Is it because someone bullied you? Did your young lady make it hard for you?"

Everly was standing aside. She recognized Olive. Isn't this the little maid? Now Olive and Elvis are standing together. There was a certain height difference between the two of them. Elvis with his handsome eyes drooping whispered to her, his voice seemed to reveal a bit of softness and charm. Olive just cried, shedding tears in front of the man. Everly suddenly had a hallucination, as if the two people in front of her were in their own world and no one could enter.

Everly was shocked. She had seen all kinds of Elvis flirting, but she had never seen such a gentle Elvis when coaxing a girl.

It turns out that he can be gentle, but his tenderness is only for that person.

Seeing that she was still crying. Elvis raised his large hand and wiped the tears from her face with his rough fingertips. He said, "Don't cry, or else, don't be a little maid anymore..."

Olive suddenly laughed as she was coaxed by his clumsy words. He thought she was being bullied by Clara and cried.

Olive looked at his flawless handsome face and suddenly reached out, wrapping her small hands around his waist.

She knew.

She knew it all

She finally found out.

The fragrance in his chest was as soft as jade, and Elvis' tall body suddenly stiffened. He slowly raised his hand, wanting to embrace her slender body, but his fingers curled up, and his big hand dropped, hanging at his side.

Chapter 441 He hugged her and called. "Olive"

Elvis pursed his thin lips, "Let go. Someone will see soon."

She didn't want to!

Not only did Olive not let go, she hugged him tighter. She buried her face deeply into his arms and nuzzled him like a kitten was seducing him.

Elvis's whole body was itchy and softened. He slowly closed his beautiful eyes, thinking. "Elvis, admit it. You just fell in love with this little girl."

Everything about her was so familiar, as if it were compatible with his soul, that he couldn't resist.

This time, Olive stood on tiptoe and boldly kissed his handsome cheek.

She actually kissed him again.

Elvis looked down at her.

Olive wasn't afraid. She stood on tiptoe and kissed him hard on the cheek.

This time she stamped both his cheeks, and he was hers.

Olive winked mischievously, briskly, and gently looking at him. Elvis saw her as incomparable, and he arched his thin lips.

Everly monitored the whole process. The two were doing intimate things, completely oblivious to her existence, but she witnessed their intimacy with her own eyes, like being stabbed in the heart with a thousand arrows.

She had never kissed Elvis before because he didn't let her get close, and he wouldn't let women he didn't like to touch him.

And now, what about him and this little maid?

Everly knew she really lost this time. She didn't lose to anyone but... Elvis.

Everly ran away with red eyes.

Olive watched Everly run away. She just wanted to chase away all the women who seduced him, and would never give him up to someone else.

Olive stretched her small arms around Elvis' neck. This time, she stood on tiptoe, shyly daring to kiss his thin lips.

She didn't close her eyes but observed his reaction.

Actually, Elvis didn't close his eyes either. He opened his handsome eyes to look at her, neither avoiding nor taking the initiative, he just let her kiss him.

After all, Olive didn't have much experience in this, her little face gradually reddened, then she slowly retreated.

Forget it...

But the next second, her slender waist tightened. Elvis's strong arm reached up, pulling her violently into his lap.

He lowered his eyes, kissing her red lips.

Olive's eyes widened, surprised and frightened, at him. This time he closed his eyes, and his kiss was more intense than ever.

Olive's small hands clung to his strong arm. She felt his muscles stiffen. Very quickly, she felt her brain lack oxygen. He had stolen all of her fresh air.

Elvis' long and narrow eyes were covered with a layer of crimson lust. The girl in his chest made.

His thin lips fell to her small snow white earlobes. He whispered someone's name, "Olive..."

He called out to Olive in his deep voice.

The girl in his arms quickly froze.

Elvis stopped kissing. He opened his eyes and saw the girl in his chest looking at him in surprise.... Elvis quickly pursed his thin lips. He didn't know why he called her "Olive". The one he loves, wants and desires is always his Olive. The feeling he was about to melt made him feel Olive in his arms.

Elvis's feelings were swept away by his reason when Clara's voice suddenly rang in his ears: "Elvis, where are you? Elvis!"

It turned out that not long after Elvis was out, Clara came looking for him.

Elvis quickly released Olive, his voice hoarse. "Sorry."

Then he turned around and left.

Olive stood there bewilderedly watching him leave. Just now he hugged her and called "Olive", which meant he was about to break the mermaid's bell charm and recognize her true face.

Chapter 642 Life is not only about jealousy

Clara was looking for Elvis but she couldn't have him, and soon she saw Olive's figure leaving. At this point, Clara was very sure that these two must be together.

Unbelievable! Now these two are openly having an affair in front of her! Clara was furious, but she had no choice but to take out her cell phone and dial the number.

Soon, the other side was connected, and Molly's voice came: "Hey, Clara, how've you and Elvis been doing lately? Is everything okay?"

"Mom, I have had a hard time here. Elvis was very indifferent to me, and he was attracted to Olive again."

"What? Aren't you using your love bell with Elvis?"

"Mom, I used it, otherwise Elvis would have recognized me a long time ago. But he's harder to control than we imagined. Although I have changed faces with Olive, our bodies and temperaments couldn't be changed. Elvis always likes Olive. His eyes are always on her. Now that I think about it, we were wrong. Back then, we shouldn't have let Olive follow me. This is absolutely not to torture her but to torture me." Clara said, stamping her feet.

Molly on the other end of the line said very seriously. "None of our mermaids can break the hell's spell. Would Elvis be the first?"

"I don't know. Anyway, Mom, let's think of a solution. We can't just wait to die."

Molly thought for a moment and replied, "Okay. There's no need to keep Olive. If she dies, Elvis will be yours."

Clara's eyes lit up. There would be no real or fake Olive at all. She wanted her to be the only one Olive in this world!

This way, Elvis will forever be hers!

"Mom, I think so too. Then we have to think carefully. It's best to borrow Elvis's hand to destroy Olive, so even if he breaks through the demon bell's barrier, one day when he finds out he killed Olive with his own hands, it will be painful."

Molly nodded, "Okay."

At this time on the private yacht, Nathan didn't go out. All that time he was in the room, plotting and controlling everything outside.

Lil' Nathan was sitting in a black leather office chair. In front of him was a laptop, filled with video surveillance footage.

Every corner of this private yacht was fitted with surveillance cameras. Nathan could completely grasp the situation outside here.

Aiden stood behind Nathan, his little boss, looked at Clara through the phone on the screen, and quickly said: "Little boss, this person has finally revealed her true face. She isn't the real Miss Hart."

Nathan snorted, his jade-like face looking cold and cruel, "Now this fox is worried. I am afraid she will jump out and bite people.”

“Little boss, for the sake of the future, let’s deal with her now!”

Lil’ Nathan raised his small hand, “No, Mom is still in a passive position right now. We don’t know the situation, she might be in danger. Don’t you realize? All plots are with God’s help and Dad-ean-quickly recognize Mom. We should quietly watch them juggle.”

Aiden’s eyes twitched. If Clara and Concubine Molly knew that their plans were being juggled by Lil’ Nathan, he didn’t know what would happen. Surely they would... cry bitterly.

At this, “ding”, Lil’ Nathan’s cell phone rang, and there was a call

Lil’ Nathan pressed the connect button, and the other end quickly came in a playful, young voice, “Hello.”

That was Levi.

Two big bosses started talking on the phone.

Nathan leaned his milky body against the soft back of the chair. Although he was only three years old, he looked like a domineering president. He said, “Things of Mom and Dad are under control Don’t worry.

“Okay, if you take action, I will rest assured.” Levi smiled sweetly.

Lil’ Nathan quickly snorted, “Don’t make a funny face at me. Remember, after I wipe out those bad guys, I will pick you up, and the next step is to bring you home.”

“Big brother, you and Dad need to pursue some goals in life. Life is not only about rivalry and jealousy but also about peace and love-”

Nathan pursed his lips. “Who’s your big brother? Stop barking.”

“You’re my big brother. Big brother! Big brother!” On the other side, Levi called out several times.

Aiden felt his little boss’s entire aura cool down. Lil’ Nathan said that he would put up with him for a few days, then hung up the phone.

The private yacht party was over and everyone was heading back.

Soon Clara brought Olive to the Gold City Palace. Now Olive is the future wife of the King of Gold City, Liam, and they have come here for dinner.

Liam personally greeted: “Princess of Visionary, please come in”

Clara generously said. “Thank you, King of Gold City.”

At this moment, Liam saw Olive behind Clara, his eyes fixed on her for a long time.

Clara calmly watched this scene. Olive’s appeal is truly immense, and she will attract men just about anywhere. The King of Gold City, Liam, must like...

Olive, right?

Clara suddenly thought of a clever plan to destroy Olive. She immediately smiled and said: "King of Gold City, this is my maid, Sadie. Don't you know her?"

Liam looked at Olive and said, "Yes, I know her, but I haven't seen her in a few days. Miss Sadie seems to have changed a lot."

Liam was famous when he was young and was dubbed the Prince of the nine provinces. He is a very wise and visionary man. He could see the difference in Olive at a glance.

Clara hastily said: "King of Gold City, don't tell me you like my maid. If you like her, I promise to let her room with you."

Staying in the same room means warming up the bed. After growing up, the princes of the royal family of Greenland all have their own bed warmers.

Aaron is obsessed with women, but Liam doesn't take sex seriously and there are no women in his house.

Liam withdrew his gaze and said, "Princess of Visionary, you must be joking. How can I keep you and your servant apart? Let's go in."

"Okay." Clara followed Liam into the room.

Olive looked at the figures of the two of them, really speechless for Clara.

Clara wants to find a man for her everywhere. She is more worried than her mother!

Chapter 643 Her tricks

The Gold City Palace is very lively tonight and the chef has already started preparing dinner. Liam went backstage. One person came out, who was Trixie.

Trixie has stayed here since the Arthurs returned to the Royal Palace of Gold City. Now Trixie looks at Liam and asks, "King of Gold City, do you like the Princess of Visionary?"

Liam said, "Why do you say that?"

"I once dealt with the Princess of Visionary. She has a pure heart and she is exceptionally good at intrigue. She is probably as smart as any man.

Moreover, she is beautiful. This makes me afraid that any man in this world won't be able to refuse her.”

Liam clasped his hands behind his back, and looked up at the full moon overhead, “That’s why the Princess of Visionary is dangerous. We shouldn’t touch her.”

Trixie looked at Liam, a man who held so much power and overwhelmed the whole of Greenland. He only said that the Princess of Visionary was dangerous but he didn’t say whether he really liked her or not.

After the Princess of Visionary arrived in Greenland, she confronted Liam several times. Liam certainly appreciates her.

Not wanting to say much. Trixie changed the subject: “King of Gold City, we’ve always been looking for the true owner of the chosen child’s blood, but last time the clue was broken and we couldn’t find anything. Do you still want to wait like this?”

There was a sharp glint in Liam’s dark eyes, he curled his thin lips, “The story of the old palace maid last time was very strange. This is what she made.”

“Who?”

Liam slowly spat out one’s name, “Princess of Visionary.”

Trixie showed a surprised expression, “Why would the Princess of Visionary interfere in the old lady’s business?”

“I’m afraid... The real Princess of Visionary used the blood of the chosen child to interfere in the affairs of Greenland. I doubt she knew in advance of the whereabouts of our true king, or that he was at her side,”

Although Liam has teamed up with Olive, he is always wary of her. Anyway, Greenland and Visionary have confusing origins.

“King of Gold City, if that’s the case, what do you plan to do? Is... the party tonight a trap? And you came here to challenge the Princess of Visionary?”

Liam nodded, “That’s right.”

Trixie didn’t continue to ask. Tonight, Liam has invited Princess Visionary to have a plan, and she can only wait and see.

At this moment, a delicate voice resounded, “King of Gold City, so you are here.”

Clara brought Olive here.

Liam stepped forward, “Princess of Visionary, are you looking for me?”

“Yes, I am, but it’s actually nothing. It’s just that my little girl’s voice has a problem. Suddenly she can’t speak. King of Gold City, do you have any remedy that can help her speak?” Clara smiled and asked.

Chapter 13 Her tricks

Liam’s gaze fell on Olive, “You can’t talk?”

Olive looked at Liam with her bright eyes and nodded.

“Yeah, in my study, there is a medicinal pill specially used to treat the voice.

Let me lead you.”

Olive didn't have time to speak, Clara hastily nodded and said: “Okay, then I'll bother you, King of Gold City. Little girl. hurry up and follow the King of Gold City.”

Olive looked at Clara, her bright eyes quickly flashing a sharp and cold glint. Clara was very unusual tonight as if she was in a hurry to chase her and Liam away, Clara was up to something.

At this point. Liam said: “Miss Sadie, follow me.”

Olive has no choice but to follow Liam.

As soon as the two of them left, Clara quickly pursed her red lips and turned back to the living room. In the living room, the maidservant made two cups of tea, which she was about to bring to the study upstairs. Clara stopped the maid, asking. “Is this tea for the King of Gold City?”

The maidservant nodded: “Yes, Princess of Visionary.”

“Oh, then leave it to me. I'm going upstairs to find him.”

“Okay, Princess of Visionary.” The maidservant gave Clara tea and left.

Clara quickly went to a secluded corner. She raised her head to probe, surreptitiously looking around. There was no one around. Clara immediately took out a packet of medicinal powder, opened the teacup, and poured all the powder into the tea.

This is their mermaid tribe's charm potion, and she wants to give it to Liam.

Liam seems indifferent towards Olive, so she will be a matchmaker for once, and help bring up a relationship between Liam and Olive.

Once they slept together, she wanted to see if Elvis still wanted Olive.

Clara, feeling really smart, took the tea upstairs.

In the study upstairs.

Liam handed the pill to Olive, saying, “Miss Sadie, take this and your throat will soon recover.”

Olive took the pill and looked at Liam gratefully.

Liam couldn't help but look at Olive more. He remembered Sadie, but today's Sadie was very different, with an intelligent temperament.

“King of Gold City. At this moment, Trixie entered.

Liam took a step forward, and Trixie whispered in his ear, “Just now, the Princess of Visionary downstairs poured a packet of powder into your teacup.” Liam immediately pursed his thin lips.

Olive couldn't hear what the master and servant were talking about, but she could sense that it must be about Clara, Clara certainly wouldn't be stupid enough to do something in the Gold City Palace. Liam has become famous and holds great power. If she commits a crime under his nose, she's looking for death.

At this time, the office door was pushed open. Clara came in with two cups of tea proudly, saying, “King of Gold City, please have tea.”

Trixie quickly retreated out. Liam looked at Clara calmly, then his eyes fell on the two cups of tea,

Chapter 644 Real and Fake Little Maids

Olive stood by, watching, quickly frowning, because she had roughly guessed the problem was about two cups of tea.

Did Clara do something with the tea?

Clara proudly sat on the sofa. She was waiting for Liam to strike, but she waited forever, Liam still sitting like a mountain, not reacting at all.

What was happening?

Clara began to doubt. Their mermaid's charm potion is quite powerful, like an enchanting bell charm, and even men can't resist it.

Over time, the medicinal properties in Liam's body must have worked.

Clara felt very strange. Only then did she realize that she wasn't normal because it was too hot. She didn't know why she felt so hot, her body temperature kept rising, extremely hot.

Clara couldn't help but reach out and pull her collar. Liam's deep voice reached her ears: "Princess of Visionary, what's wrong with you? Do you feel hot?"

Clara met Liam's dark eyes. He was looking at her calmly as if he had seen through everything.

Too bad.

Clara's heart was pounding. Those two cups of tea were swapped, and she drank the drugged cup!

Oh, G od.

Clara opened her mouth wide in surprise. She didn't think she would drink the drugged tea. Now it seems that Liam has already guessed that this is the Gold City Palace and she can't go after coming.

"King of Gold City, I find this place too boring. I want to go out and get some air." Clara quickly stood up, didn't even look back, and went out.

Olive was speechless. She also guessed that Clara's drugging of Liam didn't work out. On the contrary, she herself was attacked. This was really her opponent and her teammates!

Liam knew everything but he didn't expose it, instead silently changed tea, then coldly observed.

Olive followed her.

Clara and Olive had both left and when Trixie entered, "King Gold City, what kind of drug did the Princess of Visionary take? I was shocked when she used indecent means like drugs."

Liam gracefully took a sip of his tea, replying, "I just saw Princess Visionary's expression. This doesn't look like any serious medicine."

"She really drugged you with this drug. What was her intention?" Trixie said.

She didn't know this Princess of isionary anymore. She stretched out her slender hand and removed the black hood of her cloak from her head, revealing a face of admirable beauty and elegance.

"Don't worry. We'll soon know what she wants." Liam said softly.

Clara quickly ran outside, her face red like a tomato, her whole body getting hotter and hotter.

Now that she has been drugged, what should she do?

Clara's legs went limp and she fell to the ground.

At this moment, Olive came in. She looked down on her, and looked at her with clear eyes, "Clara, what stupid thing are you doing again?"

112

"Olive, can you talk now?"

Olive reached out and touched her throat. The pill the King of Gold City had just given her was truly a panacea. She could speak right after drinking it.

In recent years, the King of Gold City, Liam, has grown in popularity throughout the world. It isn't surprising that there are countless rare treasures in his house.

"Clara, you drugged the King of Gold City, trying to harm us? We're fine now, and you're harming yourself. Let me see how you end up. Do you know how you will die? You will surely be killed by your stupidity!" Olive said maliciously, "..."

Clara wanted to retort but couldn't. She thought carefully for a moment. She was really stupid and could only reluctantly accept this reality. "Olive, don't stand here and sarcastic me. We're both at the Gold City Palace. If I can't go, you'll die too!"

At this moment, Liam's voice came from outside, "Princess of Visionary, are you okay?"

Liam arrived at the door.

Clara immediately showed a confused expression, looking at Olive like a life-saving straw. "Olive, What should we do? Hurry up and find a way."

Olive didn't want to take care of Clara at all, but she'd made plans with Liam for a long time and she couldn't let her ruin her plans.

Olive squatted down. She reached out her hand, ripped off Clara's human skin mask, then swapped faces with hers.

Very quickly, Clara transformed into Sadie, and Olive returned to her pretty little face.

"Stay here. I will deal with him." Olive decided, then went out.

Clara was still sitting on the ground, soon heard Liam and Olive outside talking, then the two left together.

She was safe at last.

Clara let out a long breath. She felt ashamed now.

Now Clara raised her head. In front of her was a large mirror, in which she saw her present face, Sadie's face.

Clara had an idea. This time she really came up with a clever plan.

Wasn't Elvis mesmerized by this little face? Then she can continue to pretend, now she will pretend to be the little maid.

Elvis has no physical reaction to her Olive face, but he does have a strong reaction to the little maid. If the fake Olive doesn't work, then she will play the fake maid.

This time, Clara doesn't believe Elvis can recognize her,

Now she's drugged and in need of help. When Elvis arrives, she will enthusiastically embrace him. Can he refuse?

Clara quickly took out her cell phone and dialed Elvis' number.

A melodious cell phone rang, then it was slowly connected, and Elvis' deep and magnetic voice slowly sounded: "Hello."

"Elvis, save me now. I'm at the Gold City Palace right now. I've been drugged. It's hot!" Clara cried out in panic.

The Sabouute Bende: Dated by My Billionaire Husband

Elvis on the other end of the line took a deep breath and said, "I'll be right there."

After hanging up the phone, Clara thought for a bit. She dialed another number, which was Molly. Molly quickly answered. "Hi, Clara."

"Mom, listen to me. Right now I have a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. You should immediately send someone to sneak into the Gold City palace and use the demon bell spell on Liam. I'm with Elvis, Olive is with Liam. It'll be fun when something good happens over there too!"

Chapter 645 Charming Technique

When Molly heard this, her eyes lit up.

After everything was arranged, Clara felt like she was a genius. It should be the biggest torture and pain for Elvis and Olive to be apart from each other. Clara was becoming hotter, but she already had a firm belief. Her belief was Elvis.

Although this was the Royal Palace, as long as he wanted to come in, he could definitely come in. At this moment, there was a creaking sound, and the door was pushed open, and the light seeped in.

Clara quickly raised her head. The ray of light quickly entered her line of sight along with a tall body. Elvis had arrived.

Clara's eyes radiated. Elvis suddenly arrived, and brightened up her entire world. Her heart pounded violently due to his presence.

Clara resisted the urge to say something, since Sadie couldn't speak, and she was now Sadie, she had to keep mute.

Elvis walked in. He did not see Olive, but he saw Sadie, the girl who had once made him lose control.

"What's wrong with her?" he questioned inwardly.

Elvis raised his legs and walked towards her, then he squatted on one knee. His narrow and deep eyes fell on her red face, and then he asked in a low voice,

"What about your master, why are you here alone, what's wrong with you?"

Clara slowly reached out and grabbed his big palm, then she pressed it against her flushed face.

Her face was hot.

Elvis felt her body temperature, it was scorching hot. He frowned. "Did you eat something that shouldn't be eaten?"

Clara could now feel the tenderness in Elvis's tone. It was completely different from the usual indifferent attitude towards her.

Clara pretended to be weak, hence she nodded slowly. She grabbed Elvis's big palm and refused to let go. She even pressed her hot face against his palm.

Elvis was not stupid. Not only was he not stupid, but he was also quite wise. She had already conveyed a flirtatious message when she rubbed his palm against her face.

The last time on the private yacht, he had kissed her. Although he had endured it at that time, he had been thinking about her for the past few days. He liked the girl before him very much, and it was hard to resist her.

Clara was even bolder when she saw that Elvis did not stop her. She raised her hand and grabbed the collar of Elvis's shirt, then she slowly made for his lips.

She wanted to kiss him!

Elvis watched as her red lips slowly approached, but it was strange that his heart was calm.

In no time, he could smell the rouge on Clara's body.

Elvis squinted his narrow eyes. He looked at Clara's face, which was so ugly. He immediately reached out and pushed Clara away.

Clara froze. She blinked her eyes and stared at Elvis in confusion.

Elvis didn't know why he pushed Sadie away. It was as if Sadie was not the girl his heart pounded for.

At this moment, there was a sound from the room next door.

Elvis was quite alert. His eyes immediately glanced at the wall beside him.

Clara knew that Olive and Liam were next door. She was afraid that Elvis would find Olive, so she softened and fell directly into Elvis's arms.

Elvis looked back indifferently. He glanced at Clara, then he picked her up, and took her away. Clara, whose eyes were closed, basked in excitement. She wished that Elvis would hug her forever. Olive was with Liam now, but Elvis hugged her and protected her. To Clara, she had won.

At this moment, Elvis passed by the room next door. The door of the room was tightly closed, so he could not see inside.

Clara secretly glanced at the closed door.

"Goodbye, Olive!" She muttered inwardly.

In the next TOOL

Olive was indeed with Liam. Liam looked at Olive, and said, "Princess Olive, what game are you playing tonight?"

Liam watched Olive drink the cup of coffee with his own eyes, but now that Olive stood before him safe and sound, Liam was even surprised Olive couldn't explain it. Her clear eyes gazed at Liam, and she winked mysteriously at him.

"I've already told you the answer to the riddle, so it's not interesting anymore." Olive replied. Liam felt that the Olive before him was completely different from the previous Olive.

Liam pursed his lips and smiled.

At this moment, two maids walked past. The maids had a string of demon bells hanging on their bodies. The bells immediately made a clear and pleasant sound.

Olive naturally heard the mermaid's charming sound, her delicate eyebrows quickly turned cold, "King Liam, quickly cover your ears, don't listen!"

Liam had obviously heard it. He stood still

Olive quickly stepped forward and covered Liam's ears with her small hands. The sound from the bell quickly faded.

"King Liam, your home is not clean. I suggest that you immediately block the palace and Investigate all suspicious people!" Olive said swiftly, as she withdrew her hands.

But in the next second, Liam's hands directly held onto her hands.

Olive's heart skipped a beat. She raised her head and met Liam's black eyes. Liam had been hypnotized.

Liam's eyes were staring at her.

Olive's heart pounded heavily.

Liam stared seductively at Olive, as if he wanted undressing her.

Olive took a step back and quickly grabbed the pepper spray from under her dress.

The pepper spray was pulled out, and she raised her hand and pointed it at Liam's face.

However, it was a pity that Liam was the number general in Greenland, one who fought in many battlefield. How could he be attacked so easily by her?

Liam grabbed Olive's slender wrist and pushed her back. Olive's slender back was immediately pushed against the cold wall

With a bang, the pepper spray in Olive's hands fell to the ground.

Liam's black eyes were now filled with lust. He raised his hand and touched Olive's beautiful face with his fingertips.

"King Liam!" Olive quickly avoided him. She looked at him with a clear gaze.

*King Liam, you have fallen for the seductive trick of the mermen. You must stay rational now. Let me go! I have an injection which can make you rational again!"

Hearing Olive's clear voice, Liam's rationality quickly returned to his senses.

He forced himself to let go of her, and he said hoarsely, "Princess Olive, hurry up!"

Olive quickly dipped her hand into her pocket, and took out an injection.

"King Liam, we are allies now. I won't abandon you. Hurry up and close your eyes. Get rid of all distracting thoughts. I'll give you the injection. Thank God I took this with me."

Liam sat on the sofa and obediently closed his eyes.

Olive began administering the injections.

Liam felt the fire in his body slowly been extinguished.

As a man who held a high position in the society, he had never lacked the temptation of women. Many women had used different tricks to get on his bed. But with his superb medical skills, he had survived.

At this moment, Liam could smell a sweet girly fragrance. It was the scent on Olive's body.

Olive's eyes stared down at him, as she was focused on healing him. She lowered her head, and her long black hair seemed to brush his handsome face.

Liam stretched out his arms and pulled Olive over, hugging her into his embrace.

Olive shivered and quickly struggled, "King Liam, have you forgotten what I said? It's a critical period now, hurry up and get rid of all distracting thoughts."

Liam tightly hugged Olive in his embrace. He buried his handsome face in her hair and said hoarsely, "I don't need the injection now. I want you!"

Olive's pupils shrank. If he allowed her, the merman's seduction techniques could be resisted.

Liam became famous as a young man, and he fought in the wild. He was a very determined man. Just now, she could feel his desire.

Olive was very smart and decisive. She knew that once Liam started to waver, she would be in danger. She had to get out of here first.

"King Liam, let me go!" Olive ruthlessly plunged the needle into Liam's neck.

Immediately the needle pierced through Liam's neck, he instantly became weakened.

Olive took the opportunity to forcefully push him away and then she ran away.

But after taking two steps, Liam chased after her. He grabbed Olive and hugged her into his arms. again.

"Somebody, help!" Olive called out for help.

The window in the room was not closed tightly, there was a slit left. Olive who was being held by Liam looked up, she saw the outside through the slit. She saw a tall body in the hallway. It was Elvis. Why was he here?

Olive did not expect to see Elvis in the palace. Elvis did not hear her cry, and there was someone in his arms, it was Clara.

Elvis passed with Clara in his arms.

"Elvis..." Olive wanted to call Elvis again, but Liam had already covered her mouth, he went on to carry her up and throw her on the bed.

Olive watched as Elvis held Clara in his arms, and disappeared from her line of sight. He hugged another woman and left with her.

Olive panicked, as Liam got on the bed.

Olive's hand casually touched the bed, and soon she found something. It was her phone.

Olive immediately picked up her phone. She instinctively wanted to call Elvis. When she was in danger, the first person she thought of was him!

However, Olive hesitated again. It was quite dangerous for Elvis to appear in the palace. Not only would he have a conflict with Liam, but most importantly, his background would also be exposed.

Liam had been looking for his master who truly possessed the blood of a child. She could not expose

Elvis to Liam.

Olive's mind was filled with thoughts about Elvis. She absolutely couldn't let him risk it.

Olive immediately dialed someone else's number. She called Alpha.

Before the call could get through, Liam's hand reached out and took the phone away.

"King Liam, hurry up and wake up. Don't fall for the intrigues of the Mermen. I'm Princess Olive. I can't be with you. I already have a man I love live made to get out of the bed. However, Liam pushed her and Olive fell back onto the bed. With a thud, her head slammed into the wall.

Bumping into the wall, Olive's eyes slowly turned black, as the pains engulfed her. She felt like she was about to faint.

Liam's hands reached for her dress and he began to unbutton her.

Olive gripped the sheet tightly, as she tried to keep herself awake, but her eyelids were getting heavier and she slowly closed her eyes.

Could it be that she wouldn't escape?

Could it be that she was about to sleep with Liam?

"Elvis..." Olive's weak voice called out.

In the hallway outside, Clara was very proud, but she soon realized that Elvis's footsteps had slowly stopped and he did not move.

Clara's heart skipped a beat. She looked at Elvis with a questioned expression.

Elvis turned around. His narrow and deep eyes landed on the closed door. Just now, he seemed to hear someone calling him.

Elvis raised his legs and walked to the closed room.

Could it be that he had discovered Olive?

Clara felt like a bucket of cold water was being poured down on her. No, she had to stop it. She must not let Elvis ruin Olive and Liam's pleasurable moment.

Clara immediately hugged Elvis's neck tightly. She rubbed against Elvis's handsome face.

Clara attempted to get back into his arms, but Elvis immediately avoided her, not letting Clara touch him.

Clara was disappointed. What was wrong? When she was Olive, he liked Sadie. Now that she was Sadie, he liked Olive again. Why did fate like to play with her?

Clara was not convinced that Elvis had indeed avoided her. She felt that she hadn't fully demonstrated her feminine charm. She immediately tore open her collar, revealing her snow white skin, and then she rubbed against Elvis.

Elvis felt that the woman in his arms was annoying.

Clara's enthusiasm was extinguished by the cold water..

After finally getting rid of the woman in his arms, Elvis immediately raised his legs and walked to the closed door. He reached out and pushed open the door.

In the next second, he saw the scene inside.

Olive was already unconscious on the bed. A few buttons on her dress had been unbuttoned. And her beautiful skin was revealed

Olive's eyes were closed, and her pure black hair scattered on the bed.

Liam knelt on the bed as he unbuttoned Olive's clothes.

Understanding what was happening, Elvis's deep eyes exuded violence.

Elvis stepped forward, he reached out and grabbed Liam's collar, then he forcefully pulled him off the bed.

Before Liam could stand still, Elvis had smashed his strong fist into his face.

Liam lost his balance, and slammed into the wall. The movement here quickly attracted the attention of the people outside. The staff of the Palace rushed in. "Who are you? Quickly take him down!"

"King Liam, are you alright?" His men stepped forward to help Liam. Liam spat out a mouthful of blood. His senses slowly returned to him. He sat on the ground and panted.

He had just been hypnotized, and he didn't know what he had done. However, he seemed to be belittling Princess Olive.

Liam raised his head and looked at Elvis.

Elvis had already walked up to the bed. He quickly took off his coat and wrapped it around Olive's body, obscuring all her beauty.

"Olive, Olive!" he called her twice.

However, Olive did not respond.

At this moment, Elvis found her phone on the big bed. He picked it up and looked at the call log.

Olive had made a call at the time of the crisis. However, she didn't call him but Alpha!

Elvis looked at Olives's stunning face. At this moment, all the seductive charms of the Mermen had dissipated in his eyes, and he found her.

No matter what she became, he still found her.

Elvis carried Olive and wanted to take her away.

"Stop! Who the hell are you? You broke into the Royal Palace of Gold City and seriously injured the King. Quickly put down Princess Olive. She is the King Liam's wife to be!" Someone quickly blocked Elvis's path

The King's wife-to-be?

Elvis had forgotten that Olive had another identity now. His gloomy narrow eyes immediately swept towards Liam.

Liam had already stood up. He looked at Elvis. Elvis broke into the palace alone. Even in the face of the heavy siege, he remained calm. His behavior was contemptuous and domineering,

Elvis couldn't help but stare at Elvis a few more times, and then he said, "You all should retreat, Mr. Augustine, please go ahead."

Liam gave way and allowed Elvis take Olive away.

Elvis walked up to Liam. He said to him calmly, "Olive is my woman and my son's mother. King Liam, you'd better not get involved."

With that, Elvis hugged Olive and disappeared from sight.

Liam stared at Elvis's handsome back. It was the first time he had seen such an arrogant man. Moreover, he had long suspected that there was a story between Olive and Elvis. It turned out that they even had a son.

"King Liam, the leader of the Red Mafia is really arrogant. Are you just going to let him go?" Thomas asked in a low voice.

Liam reached out and wiped the blood from the corner of his mouth. Elvis's punch almost cost him. life. Fortunately, nothing had happened to him and Olive.

"Mr. Arthur, don't you see that there's something about Elvis?"

"King Liam, what do you mean?"

"Send someone to investigate Elvis's family background, especially...his mother!"

Olive felt that she had slept for a long time. When she woke up, her face changed back to Sadie's face.

As a doctor, after examining herself, she knew that no one had slept with her. Nothing had happened to her.

But who saved her?

Olive couldn't remember what had transpired. She only vaguely remembered that someone was calling her name.

Was it Elvis?

Did Elvis save her?

Before Olive could get an answer, she saw Elvis and Clara paired together. She grabbed her phone on the table, and went online.

Olive recognized the mysterious man. The mysterious man was Elvis. What was he doing?

Olive had a feeling that Elvis should have recognized her, but he was messing with Clara instead.

In the past few days, Clara did not come to trouble her anymore. She had probably forgotten about her.

At this moment, Olive's phone rang out. It was a call from Clara.

Olive pressed the answer button, and Clara's proud voice quickly passed over, "Hello, Olive, are you feeling bri

They hadn't seen each other for a few days, and Clara was already so kind.

"Is there something you need me to do?" Olive asked impatiently.

"Of course there is something I need you to do. In two days, it will be the Augustine Cooperation's annual meeting. There will be also be a grand annual party. Elvis has already invited me as his girlfriend. But how can I go alone? What about my female official?"

Olive knew that Clara was planning to show her affection for Elvis before her.

Actually, she didn't want to go, but she had to see Elvis.

She had a feeling that Elvis was weird and unusual.

"Okay, I'll be there on time." She assured.

The Augustine cooperation's annual party.

Olive arrived at the Augustine cooperation. As the leader of the Red Mafia, the Augustine cooperation controlled the economic lifelines of several continents.

The low key luxury made Olive impressed

Olive knew that Elvis had become synonymous with money and power. She knew that he was rich, but she never thought that he was so wealthy.

Olive arrived at the elevator door and was waiting for the elevator.

At this moment, approaching steps sounded in her cars. It was Clara.

Today, Clara wore a diamond evening dress with makeup and high heels. She was proud as a peacock.

"Sadie, you've arrived." Clara greeted her cheerfully.

Olive's bright eyes fell on Clara's face. She could tell that Clara was really happy. It seemed that Elvis was really dating her now.

Olive's eyes were cold and she did not utter a word.

At this moment, Clara took out her phone and dialed a number.

Clara said in a coquettish voice, "Elvis, I'm already here. You don't need to pick me up personally, my driver sent me over. Okay, I'll wait for you then, come over quickly."

Clara hung up the call.

She was talking to Elvis on the phone.

“Olive, you can see that Elvis is doting on me very much now, so he treats me like you. No amount of love can resist the seductive tricks of our mermen. It’s impossible to resist. You pinned all your hopes on Elvis and made a huge gamble with us. Unfortunately, you are destined to lose this gamble.” Clara walked over to Olive, and laughed softly beside her.

When Elvis had pushed her into the pool, she was very embarrassed. At that time, Clara thought that she had lost. She was about to discuss with her mother on what to do next. But Elvis had started dating her.

Clara was overwhelmed and overjoyed.

Hearing Clara’s provocative words, Olive’s face was blank, but she gently frowned.

At this moment, approaching footsteps were heard, and a staff’s extremely respectful voice said, “CEO.”

Olive raised her eyes and saw Elvis before her.

Elvis had just gotten off the Rolls-Royce business car. Today, he was wearing a customized black suit. He was tall and handsome. Elegant and indifference.

Clara was overjoyed when she saw Elvis, “Mr. Augustine, you’re here!”

Elvis walked over. His narrow and deep eyes fell on Clara’s face and he nodded “Yes, I am.”

“CEO, the VIP elevator has already opened.” At this moment, the private secretary opened the VIP elevator for the CEO.

Elvis glanced at Clara, “Let’s go in.”

Clara immediately reached out and grabbed Elvis’s strong arm, “Okay.”

The two of them walked towards the VIP elevator.

Olive froze. She was still waiting for the ordinary elevator, when he arrived, he took Clara to the VIP elevator and left.

Originally, she wanted to have a talk with him, but now that she saw how intimate he was with Clara, she was not interested anymore.

He didn’t even look at her, he treated her like she was invisible.

Clara suddenly seemed to remember that there was still someone named Olive. She immediately turned her head, and said to her, “Sadie, come over too.”

Clara turned and stared admiringly at Elvis, “Mr. Augustine, she’s my female official after all. Just let her ride the VIP elevator with me. You shouldn’t mind, right?”

Elvis raised his head and looked at Olive indifferently. “It’s fine.”

Olive walked over and the three of them entered the elevator together.

Inside the vip elevator.

The elevator was ascending. Olive stood quietly in a corner. Elvis and Clara stood together. Clara said tenderly, "Mr. Augustine, I heard that today's annual party will be very lively. And a game will be played."

Elvis nodded and said in a low and indifferent voice, "That was all arranged by my subordinates."

"However, I heard that today's annual party finale is your first dance. As the CEO of the Augustine Corporation, you will choose a lucky number amongst the female guests to dance with you."

The news about Elvis's first dance had spread across the entire city, and all the famous female celebrities wanted to be the lucky one, who would dance with Elvis.

But Clara wasn't bothered. Of course, Elvis's first dance was hers.

Tonight, she was going to become the brightest star in the audience, making everyone jealous.

Chapter 649 The Two Boys Took Turns To Trouble Him.

Elvis slowly placed one hand in his trouser.

Olive did not say a word.

Her head was lowered, and she stared at her toes. She looked a little sad.

Elvis's heart softened, he felt like pulling her over to himself.

In fact, he didn't know what spell she had placed on him. She had become Sadie, and he could still recognize her at a glance.

Clara was very noisy. Elvis resisted the thought of throwing her out and lightly snorted, "Yes."

The finale of the annual party was indeed his first dance.

Clara immediately looked at Elvis eagerly, and then she said, "Mr. Augustine, we will get the same number cards, right? Will you dance with me at your first dance?"

Elvis's first dance was up to him to decide. He could give the same number to whoever he wanted to dance with. Now, Clara was taking a shortcut.

Elvis did not respond to Clara.

Since he didn't reply, could it be that he wanted to give her a big surprise?

It must be so!

Clara was very excited.

The VIP elevator door finally opened. Elvis walked out first. He needed to deal with some things, so he entered the CEO's office.

The President's Office.

Elvis walked in. At this moment, Andrew, his private secretary, walked over with a box in his hand.

"CEO, someone sent this courier to you just now."

Elvis glanced at the courier box. "Who sent it?"

Andrew shook his head, "I don't know."

"Take it away and take a look."

"Yes, President."

Andrew quickly opened the box, and when he saw the contents, he quickly opened his mouth, and his face exuded shock.

www

Elvis walked over. He was now a little curious about what was in the courier box that caused his secretary to react in such a way.

Elvis walked over

Soon, Elvis saw the content of the courier box. It was a bottle of eye drops.

"CEO, this is a bottle of eye drops.

There's also a note." Andrew handed the note to Elvis.

Elvis glanced at it. There was a small but beautiful line on the note. "Mr.

Elvis's eyes will finally see. Congratulations." The note read.

Elvis was speechless. He had already guessed who sent the eye drops. It must be Olives's son, Levi.

1316.04

The little boy actually gave him a bottle of eye drops to celebrate with him.

Elvis looked at the bottle of eye drops.

Two drops each night." Was the prescription on the bottle.

Elvis wanted to throw the eye drops out, but he slowly raised his lips and laughed.

His reaction was very strange. He should have hated and disliked Olive's petty child with another man, but he just couldn't hate Levi, and he even liked and petted him a little.

Elvis felt like he could accept Levi. And then, Nathan and Levi would be friends.

In the next second, Elvis's heroic eyebrows quickly frowned. What was he thinking?

He really didn't understand what he was thinking!

Elvis walked forward and wanted to sit on his executive chair for a while, but then, the executive chair was turned around. There was already a little boy on it.

It was Nathan!

Nathan's handsome face was cold. He looked down at his father and said, "Daddy, did you bully my mummy again? I think I've had enough of you!" Elvis raised his hand and touched his forehead. When had he bullied Olive? Why did the two little boys come to trouble him one after another? "Nathan, I didn't bully your mummy. Three years ago, or presently, it's your mummy who bullied me."

Nathan glanced at his father, "Daddy, bullying isn't only by using abusive words or physical hitting. Kissing is also considered to be bullying!" Nathan informed.

The father and son were silent for a moment before Elvis asked, "Did you find where Molly is hiding?"

When he was in the palace, Elvis had broken the charm of the mermen. He had already guessed that Clara had disguised like Olive, but in order not to startle the mermen, Elvis had to pretend to be oblivious of their actions.

Nathan nodded, "I've already found it, but Molly is smart. Aunt Sadie has not been found yet,

If they could not find Sadie, then they were always in a passive state. Elvis frowned, and asked, "Nathan, what do you want to do now?"

"Daddy, I need you to lead Molly out, so that I can rescue Aunt Sadie." Nathan said in a serious tone.

Elvis nodded, "Okay, I'll let you know once I've been able to lead her out."

The father and son ended their conversation, and Nathan jumped off the executive chair, "Daddy, then I'll go ahead."

"I'll have the driver take you."

"No need, grandfather sent me here."

It turned out that Nathan had a dedicated driver. Damien was his driver!

"Why is your grandfather here?" Elvis hadn't seen Damien for a long time.

Nathan sighed, "Grandfather may have ran into a little trouble."

Elvis found Nathan's reply a little weird. Elvis furrowed his brows, "What trouble?" he asked.

"Greatgrandma forced Grandfather to go on a blind date."

Elvis immediately chuckled. Old Mrs. Robert had actually forced her son to go on a blind date?

Old Mrs. Robert smiled and said, "Son, don't refuse this blind date. You have to trust your mother's vision. Mother knows that you should like gentle, elegant and knowledgeable women, so, the person on the blind date is from the Elijah family. It's Catalina, Elijali's daughter."

In the extended business luxurious car, Damien leaned his stiff back against the seat. He was wearing a black suit, and there was a folded square scarf in his suit pocket. The son of Imperial had honed his profound experience in the precipitation of time. His entire aura was elegant and alluring. Damien held the phone in his hand. He already displayed an expression of impatience, but Old Mrs. Robert continued to speak, "Son, Catalina is a classy lady. She has a PhD in her major. She has been obsessed with studying for many years, so major events in her life were delayed. Let me tell you a secret, she's still a virgin."

"Mom," Damien said in a low voice, "I'm not interested in blind dates. I still have something to do. I'll hang up now."

Damien was about to hang up.

"Damien!" Old Mrs. Robert quickly called out, "You always do this. As long as I mention blind dates. and women, you're impatient. Why did I suffer so hard to give birth to a son like you?"

Immediately she said that, Mrs. Robert began to cry.

Damien was used to this routine, but he was very filial.

Damien frowned, but his tone had softened, "Mom, didn't you say that you wanted to a grandchild? Now that you have a great-grandson, why are you still bothering about this? My mission of

“I...” Mrs. Robert was stunned, and she quickly retorted. “Of course, Nathan is my favorite, but you are not a good son. Do you know what the ladies that I hang out with says to me? They make fun of me because my son isn't close to women.”

Because Damien had not been close to women since he was a child, Mrs. Robert was really heartbroken. Other rich children changed girlfriends like clothes. But her son was different!

Over time, there were some bad rumors that he was sick.

Damein was indifferent to this. “Mom, Nathan is about to come out. I'm going to pick up Nathan.”

At this moment, the driver respectfully opened the rear door. Damein lifted his legs, and got out of the car. He decisively hung up the call.

“Damien, don't hang up. I have something else to tell you. Catalina has already gone over to look for you...” Mrs. Robert's words were cut off.

Damien put the phone back in his trousers pocket. He was about to find little Nathan.

But at this moment, a gentle female voice came from behind him, “Mr. Robert, is that you?”

Damien looked back indifferently, and then he asked, “Who are you?”

“Hello, Mr. Robert. My name is Catalina Elijah. Mrs. Robert should have mentioned me to you, Catalina said with a soft smile.

Damien really did not expect his mother to be so fast. The blind date had already been arranged in front of him, and the blind date had already found him.

Mrs. Robert's vision was still very good. Catalina was wearing an elegant long dress. She was in her thirties, and she was very gentle and calm.

Catalina looked at Damien, and there was a shy smile on her red lips. “Mr. Robert, I've admired you for a long time. Do you have time? Let's go to the coffee shop next door.”

At this moment, a taxi stopped and a graceful and charming figure walked out. It was Joyce.

Joyce was here!

Joyce got the information that the Augustine cooperation was holding an annual party, so she came over to celebrate with her son-in-law, Elvis.

Today, Joyce wore a red dress. She seemed to particularly like the color red.. Joyce raised her head and looked at the Augustine Corporation's building.

She nodded in satisfaction. It seemed that her son-in-law was quite rich. Joyce's aesthetic taste for men was consistent. They had to be handsome and rich. Whether she was choosing a man for herself or her daughter was choosing a man, this requirement had to be met. Besides, she wanted to start a career, it would be great if she could find herself a sponsor.

Joyce wanted to go in, but in the next second, she saw an acquaintance in front of her. It was Damien. Joyce quickly raised her hand and took off the sunglasses from her face. She was not mistaken, it was Damien.

Joyce still remembered how Damien arrested her some time ago. He even sued her for rape claiming over ten billion from her.

Why was he here? And who was the woman beside him?

Joyce looked at Catalina and saw that Catalina was shyly and lovingly peeking at Damien. It was obvious that the lady liked Damien.

Could it be that this woman was Damien's girlfriend and the two of them were dating?

Joyce quickly raised her legs, which were clasped with a pair of high heels and she stepped forward. She reached out and grabbed Damien's strong arm.

"My husband," she called out tenderly,

Damien quickly diverted his eyes to the side. He suddenly met Joyce's gaze. Now, she tilted her head and stared at him.

Damien halted for a moment. He did not expect that she would suddenly surface. Also, what was she doing now?

"Who's your husband? Damien asked in an unhappy tone. In his opinion, the woman before him was really shameless. Did she call him husband casually, or did she call other men her husband? Joyce tutted in her heart. She smirked, and said, "You're my husband. Have you forgotten? Have you suddenly forgotten how you called me your sweetheart last night at my place?"

Damien immediately pursed his lips. He had never called any woman his sweetheart!

At this moment, Joyce looked at Catalina in surprise. "Husband, who is she? Could it be that she's your new female secretary? Why haven't I seen her before?"
