The Substitute Bride: Dott

Chapter 816 She was waiting for him

North was taken aback. Why did he come?

Didn't he go with Carla?

Tobias wanted to grab North's small hand, but this time couldn't. His hand froze in the air. He turned his head to look at his son, asking: "Raven, why are you here?"

Raven shoved one hand in his pocket, his eyes darkening, "Dad, are you sure you want to talk to me here?"

Tobias frowned, then turned to follow Raven.

North stood in place and watched the backs of father and son leave. She didn't expect them to come here tonight. Their father-son relationship wasn't good, and now she doesn't know what they will talk about. She frowned slightly.

In the dark hallway, Raven and Tobias stood together. Tobias pursed his lips and said, "Raven, why are you here?"

The corner of Raven's lips curled into a curve that looked like he was half-smiling. He asked, "Dad, should I ask you this too?"

"You..." Tobias looked at his son. He married Raven's mother, the daughter of a wealthy family, without any affection. Moreover, he always thinks about his first love, North's mother, so he has disliked his son Raven since childhood. But Raven from a young age was arrogant, an heir with the status of a rich family. Tobias gradually discovered that his son grew colder, more profound, his eyes sharp and cold like X-rays, leaving him nowhere to hide.

He is his father but he speaks to him in such a tone of voice!

Tobias clasped his hands behind his back and said, "Raven, North is a grown woman now, not a child anymore. She's not your real sister anyway, so don't come to her in the future lest others speak ill of her and damage her reputation!"

"Oh," Raven let out a low laugh, "Dad, I thought you didn't know North was your adopted daughter. You came here at night to look for her, wouldn't you be afraid of other people's rumors?"

Tobias was stunned speechless, his face turned extremely ugly, immediately rebuked in a deep voice: "Raven, are you influenced by your mom? She is crazy. Don't believe what she said."

"Don't believe what my mom said, that you really cheated on North's mother that year? That you really have other plans to bring North home? That you secretly coveted North, your adopted daughter? That sooner or later you'll let her sleep in your bed?" Raven moved his thin lips, each word so cold that it unintentionally and directly embarrassed Tobias.

"You!" Tobias' expression changed dramatically. Without hesitation, he raised his hand and slapped Raven's handsome face hard.

Raven didn't dodge. "Bam", he received a slap that made his entire handsome face tilt to one side.

Tobias trembled with anger, pointed at Raven, and scolded: "Raven, are your wings stiff now? Let me tell you, I'm not dead yet, I haven't delivered the Dominos family to you yet. I could have let you become the heir of the Dominos, and let you be the president, but now I can let you down from these positions and leave you nothing!"

"Your mom has been a psychopath for years. She's crazy. Don't be like her. Otherwise, you both-will____ have to go!"

There was no emotion on Raven's handsome face. He just pressed the tip of his tongue to his beaten right cheek, then slowly turned his face to look at Tobias. What does his mother look like now? Didn't his father make her like this himself?

The Dominos family is crazy.

No one is normal.

"Haha." Raven shrugged, his deep voice carrying a slow, disdainful laugh:

"Once you've torn your face off, there's nothing more to say."

At this point, he put one hand in his pocket, walked over to Tobias' side, and said in his deep voice, "Drop your disgusting fatherly pose. I know better than anyone what you think about North. Don't touch her, or else... I'll destroy the entire Dominos family with my own hands."

Tobias' pupils shrank. He was surprised to see Raven standing in front of him. How... How dare he... threaten him?

It was at this time that Tobias realized that the son he had always hated had quietly grown up in a certain corner, and matured into... the appearance he feared.

Tobias remembered one thing, that more than ten years ago, North was taken to the Dominos family. Her beauty was blooming more and more, making everyone want to take her away.

One night, she was taking a shower and his wife was away so he kicked out all the maids and went into North's room.

He surreptitiously pushed open the bathroom door and looked inside....

Before he could see anything, there was a knock on the door. The knock was so strong that he immediately turned his head and saw Raven at the door.

Then Raven stood like that at the door, looking at him with cold black eyes silently, as if seeing the filth and ugliness in his heart through his eyes.

He quickly left. Raven didn't tell anyone about this either. Father and son seem to have changed the story of that day.

But Tobias knew that between him and Raven, his son, there was a deep rift. Before long, Raven took North away from the Dominos family and never returned.

Now hearing Raven's cruel and aggressive words, Tobias was even more embarrassed, like the scene that day when he peeked at North bathing, being caught by his own son.

Tobias wanted to say something, but under Raven's cold and indifferent gaze, he could only snort and leave.

Tobias left.

Raven stood alone in the dark corridor, his expression unchanged but covered in a thin layer of gray. "President." At this moment, his personal secretary Jasper arrived, handing him a clean handkerchief.

Raven neither took it nor noticed the slap in the face. He said in his deep voice, "Send someone to watch over Tobias."

Jasper understood and nodded. He remembered Tobias' words just now that he defiantly wanted to leave his president with nothing. He felt this was the biggest joke he had ever heard.

"President, I don't think your father will let Miss Paulo go easily. Why don't you tell her what your father thinks, so that she can be on the lookout?"

Raven narrowed his beautiful eyes slightly and replied, "No. Don't let this get her ears dirty." After saying that, he turned around.

Raven went to the hallway. From a distance, he saw North in front of him. She didn't enter the apartment but stood there waiting for him.

Chapter 817 So he looked down on her too

She lowered her head, her curly brown hair slightly damp falling over her shoulders, losing her usual grit and charm. Now she is so cute and soft.

Before, she was always obedient, and soft, with a very sweet smile, later she changed.

Roughly on the night of her 18th birthday, he plotted to take over her and destroy her. That night, she dragged her suitcase and left. When she returned, she looked like this.

Raven slowly stopped. He stood there, watching her from afar. He remembered the first time he'd seen her years ago.

At that time, she was the crown jewel of Paulo's family. Once his father, Tobias, took him to the Paulo family's house as a guest, and North came home from school with the kids in her neighborhood.

That day, she wore a pair of small black leather shoes with a round toe, her long hair was slightly curly, her face was small and delicate, and her smile was bright.

Around her were children who adored her and were eager to talk to her. One of the children, seeing him, quickly pointed out, "North, take a look quickly. You have guests again. I guess they're asking your dad to do something again."

North turned her head and immediately saw him.

She was different from those children, with no innate sense of pride and aloofness. She ran over, looked at him with her big round eyes, and sweetly called to him: "Hi, brother. Let's eat candy."

She handed him a colorful lollipop with her small hand.

Years later, Raven learned that they weren't from the same world, just as the distance between them is now separated by thousands of mountains and rivers.

He could only stand here and watch her from afar.

She grew up in the sunshine since childhood, like a tenderly cared-for rose. And he grew up in the dark and trash from a young age. The person he wants to destroy the most is her, but she is who he wants the most, too.

At this moment, North looked up to see him.

They looked at each other. Raven withdrew his thoughts, then walked to her side with his long legs.

Her gaze fell on his right cheek. Tobias had slapped him hard just now, a faint red mark could be seen on his cheek. She asked, "Did Uncle Dominos hit you?"

Raven pursed his lips, "You saw it and still ask?"

"Why did he hit you? Were you arguing?" North stepped forward, raising her small hand to touch the red mark on his handsome face.

Raven reached out a large palm to take her small hand, his thin lips curled in an evil curve: "My dad doesn't want me to harass you."

"You deserve it! Your dad should beat you to death!" North gave him a sharp glance and immediately retracted her small hand.

At this point, he noticed her body. A small part of her pink neck was exposed from the collar of her black coat, her skin was so delicate and fragrant, and there seemed to be no clothes inside.

Raven's handsome face was cold. He asked, "North, did you run out with no clothes?"

Chapter 17 So he looked down on her too

What does he mean?

North looked at him.

Raven stretched out his fingers and touched her collar.

"Bam," North swatted his large hand away, "Raven, you should be honest.

Don't mess around all the time. Don't forget you're married now."

She turned to go into the apartment.

But he grabbed her shiny shoulders, forcibly pulled her back, and pushed her against the wall.

His movements weren't gentle. North's slender back was bumped against the wall, she winced in pain, her soft expression also cold. She asked, "Raven, if you want to take off my clothes, just say it!"

Raven's handsome face was gloomy. Completely ignoring her, he reached out and pulled the collar of her coat open. On her glossy shoulders was a thin black strap.

"North, you're really not wearing any clothes!" He gritted his teeth.

"..." She was speechless. This man is crazy. She wears a double-strap nightgown! Could it be that in his eyes, a double-strap nightgown is not clothing?

"Raven, what makes you mad? I'll wear whatever I want. It's none of your business. Why are you so angry? Did I let you run around naked?"

She had just finished taking a shower when, heard someone knock on the door, so she put on her coat and went out. Is something wrong?

What age is she? Do women have to wrap themselves around when going out? If men have free time, they should learn more about morality and lock their lower bodies.

Raven felt like if he were naked, he wouldn't be so angry. He pressed his two big hands on her shoulders, his handsome face darkened. He said, "North, how many times have I told you? Don't go out and show off. Don't attract the attention of other men. What exactly do I have to do to make you obedient?"

North lifted a hand to tuck a lock of hair from her cheek behind her ear, her lazy voice revealing a deadly cold, "Raven, being beautiful is my business. I am only responsible for beauty, not for those men. Not every woman needs a man. Let me go as far as I can."

With that, she pushed him away.

It is said that a woman is most beautiful when she isn't in love with anyone.

This saying is really true. Raven's Adam's apple rolled up and down. He stared at her, saying, "Do these men include my dad?"

What?

North suddenly froze, looking up at him.

Raven lifted his thin lips cruelly, telling her in a voice only two could hear:

“North, you know what I’m saying, don’t you? My dad is so obsessed with your mom. You look a lot like your mom. You’re even prettier than her. My dad is also a man. What are you dressed like this for at night when you meet him?”

“Let me think about it. If I didn’t show up, you would hold his hand, hug him, or take him into your apartment. You used the name of an adopted daughter to make yourself his real family member. right?”

Raven emphasized the word “adopted daughter”, with a sharp and ironic connotation.

North’s small face instantly turned white.

She didn’t know when the word “adopted” became such a dirty word. Her childhood memories were filled with all kinds of vicious abuses from Mrs. Dominos, saying that when she grows up she will climb into Tobias’ bed. For years she had covered her ears, not wanting to hear this kind of words again. Sometimes, covering her ears is also a way to protect herself from getting hurt. But now Raven said exactly what Mrs. Dominos had said.

Turns out he thought the same about her.

It turned out that he despised her, too.

“Bam!”

The crisp slap sounded again. North raised her hand and slapped Raven hard.

He got slapped on his handsome face again.

She saw that the hand mark on his left cheek was in harmony with the hand mark on his right cheek. She raised her red lips, showing an extremely seductive smile: “As expected, seeing you like. this is much more pleasing to the eyes,”

With that, she opened the door of her apartment and went inside.

“Bang”, The apartment door closed, leaving Raven outside.

His two large hands at his side clenched into fists. In fact, he really wanted to restrain himself so as not to say those unpleasant words. He knew she noticed.

Her father, her mother, and her brother are all the people she loves the most.

When she was young, she had a family accident and became an orphan, which was the biggest pain in her heart. She went from a high-class girl into the Dominos family in just one night. She was scolded at a young age and grew up in curses. He often saw her bewilderedly curled up in the corner of the bed...

He knew she would be in pain.

However, he couldn't contain himself. His calm and restrained self control crumbled immediately when he saw her run out wearing nothing.

He had always known how possessive he was for her. It was sickly strong. Raven slammed his fist into the wall.

Since that night, he never contacted her again. She no longer appeared in front of him. Raven and Carla's wedding date has been set, just half a month later.

That day, North and Olive went shopping together and met an acquaintance, Carla.

Carla happily looked at North, saying, "North, what a coincidence. I'm trying on a wedding dress. Please help me see if it looks good."

Before long, Carla came out in her wedding dress, lifted her wedding dress, and twirled it in front of North. She asked, "North, how do you feel?"

North was stunned for a few seconds as she looked at the wedding dress. Long ago, her dream was to marry Raven in a white wedding dress and be his bride.

He took care of her for many years. Everyone knew how much he loved her. She always thought that he was her whole world.

However, he personally destroyed her world.

Now another woman is about to marry him in a wedding dress.

Before North could say anything, Carla happily said, "Raven, here you are."

North looked up and saw Raven after a long time no see.

Today, he wears a black fitted suit. The high-class outfit makes him look cool and classy.

Carla quickly walked over to Raven, circling around in her wedding dress, her eyes filled with admiration and anticipation, "Raven, am I looking good?"

He wrapped his arm around Carla's slim waist, nodding softly, "Yes, you are."

She immediately smiled like a flower.

Only then did Raven look up at North.

North pursed her lips and called out generously, "Bro."

He nodded. The two of them looked like two innocent siblings, and it seemed as if nothing happened that night.

At this point, Olive smiled and said, "Mr. Dominos, Miss Foster, sa North and I won't bother you trying on wedding dresses anymore. We'll go first. Goodbye.” Olive took North's small hand and pulled her away.

The two girls left. Raven watched North's beautiful figure disappear from his sight, a bit dejectedly pulling back the arm around Carlh's waist.

Carla felt her waist loosen. She froze for a moment, but she was very smart and didn't cause trouble. Because she didn't want to repeat the shame of being thrown on the highway last time.

“Raven, I'm going to change my wedding dress. Wait for me.” She said and entered the changing room.

A few minutes later, Carla came out, but Raven was gone. She didn't know where he went.

“Miss Foster, are you satisfied with your wedding dress? That was specially designed for you by Mr. Dominos. Miss Foster, Mr. Dominos really loves you. We really admire you.”

Hearing the compliments from the staff, Carla was extremely pleased saying, “Wow, I'm very pleased. The dress Raven designed for me is definitely the best.”

“By the way, Miss Foster, Mr. Dominos even ordered a custom princess dress.”

What?

A princess dress?

Carla didn't know about this, nor did Raven tell her.

“That's right, Miss Foster. Look, it's this princess dress.” The staff reached out and opened the floor-to-ceiling window curtains, and a pink princess dress caught Carla's eye.

This princess dress is all crocheted with extremely luxurious gold thread, but the princess dress design is light, fashionable, and very feminine. This is probably the dress every girl dreams of wish to have in her princess wardrobe.

“Miss Foster, Mr. Dominos is so nice to you. You have a wedding dress and a princess dress.”

Carla was speechless because she knew this princess dress wasn't for her. If she guesses correctly, it is for... North!

Raven actually made a princess dress just for North!

Would a woman choose a wedding dress or a princess dress?

Carla jealously dug her nails into her palm.

Raven went looking for North, but he didn't find her but saw Olive in front of him.

Olive had come specifically to wait for him, now her shining eyes were on his handsome face. She smiled and said: "President Dominos, are you looking for North? She went to the bathroom."

Raven came over, replying. "It's fine. I want to see you off."

Olive looked at him, saying. "You really enjoy being a driver."

-A daily little story of Alpha and Anabelle

After his 18th birthday, Alpha's life became extremely busy. As a new-generation business aristocrat, he was invited to visit Wagon Wheel University one day.

Reaching the large Wagon Wheel window, he stopped slowly, because he was attracted to a design. of jewelry hanging from the window.

"Mr. Augustine, haven't you heard that recently a new girl has appeared that has shocked the jewelry industry? This design drawing is hers."

"A girl?" Alpha asked.

The principal of Wagon Wheel nodded: "Yes, a girl. Her name is... Anabelle. In this life, Anabelle became famous earlier than her previous life. She was only 14 years old and had become famous in the jewelry world, blooming brilliantly.

This was also the first time Alpha heard the name "Anabelle", and the second time he heard it at a drinking party.

A mysterious, excited second-generation rich man said to him: 'Alpha, you haven't been to Imperial. for a long time. Let me tell you, right now all of Imperial is gossiping about the Midas family having a daughter, and the Imperial is covered in her crowns.'

Chapter 819 Knocking on his door

Raven looked at Olive, asking, "What do you want to tell me?"

Olive smiled, her eyes extremely bright, "Mr. Dominos, you're getting married, so what's North to you?"

Raven, expressionless, replied, "My sister."

"Your sister? So this is the first time I've seen you act like a big brother. You're so kind to her, considerate, and strong. You've almost fulfilled your duty as a boyfriend in the name of a big brother," Olive laughed.

Raven wore a pair of gold-rimmed glasses over his handsome face, making him look handsome and elegant. He looked into the distance, with mocking indifference on his thin lips, "I don't understand what you're talking about."

“Mr. Dominos, you’re so smart, so you must know what I’m talking about. There’s no shortage of strong loving boyfriends around her. The point is you block here and no one else can’t get in.” She looked at Raven, and gently asked: “Mr. Dominos, you risked your life to protect her and at the same time wanted to destroy her, how do you feel?”

Raven pursed his thin lips, his cold black eyes fixed on Olive’s face. Everyone said that Elvis’s woman had incomparable intelligence. It was as expected. Raven shoved one hand into his pocket, his demeanor still as elegant as ever. He slowly raised his thin lips, his voice deep and indifferent: “Do you feel there is any difference between being her brother and her boyfriend?”

Olive shivered.

The smile on the corner of Raven’s lips was very weak as if nothing was there, “I’m still standing at the bottom of my brotherhood, never taking a step forward. This mercy is my greatest kindness to her.”

After saying that, he turned to leave.

Olive stood still, watching him disappear from her sight. This time her and Raven’s conversation ended without issue. Raven’s last thought is probably to tell her to accept it, or else don’t bother him next time!

“Mr. Dominos.” This time Olive stopped him.

Raven stopped.

Olive said slowly, “The person who loves first will be the eternal loser. Why don’t you consider taking a step back and letting North go? You and the Dominos family took over her life before. She should be grateful for your adoption, but what you put pressure on her also left a hole in her heart, and you made her suffer so much.”

Raven said nothing and left.

At this point, North came over and said, “Olive, let’s go.”

Raven and Carla’s wedding day is getting closer and closer. Tomorrow is a big wedding party. North, as a sister, also had to attend the wedding, so she flew back to Los Angeles.

According to custom, the night before the big wedding, North had to go home, but North hadn’t come home for many years, so she didn’t come back either.

Carla was standing upstairs in Domino’s house. As she passed the office, she heard the sound of arguing inside.

It was Tobias and Mrs. Dominos, Zhuri.

Zhuri was sitting in a wheelchair with a very bad face. She looked at Tobias with her hateful eyes and said sarcastically, "What's wrong? You seem to be very disappointed that North won't come back tonight and you're so desperate."

Tobias frowned and said, "Zhuri, what are you mad about? Get out. I don't want to see you!"

"Tobias, did I say something wrong? Don't think I don't know your dirty thoughts. North's cheap hooves are already bewitching you. I'll see how long you can hold out!"

"Zhuri, get out!"

Carla at the door opened her mouth in horror. God, what did she just hear? Did Tobias have that feeling for... North?

Carla knows that the relationship between Raven and North is not normal, but she doesn't know that the relationship between Tobias and North, adoptive father and daughter, is abnormal too. She didn't expect that he and his adopted daughter, North, had an unusual relationship. Does he like North? This explosive news made Carla's heart immediately beat faster as if she knew a big secret.

North is currently doing very well in the entertainment industry. But if this news gets out, it will probably be flooded with entertainment headlines tomorrow, Given North's current popularity, public criticism will quickly mount and it will only grow louder.

Now, no matter how tall North stood, she would fall heavily.

The current policy is very strict. Everyone knows that North is the adopted daughter of the Dominos family, but now loves her adoptive father and brother. Once she got involved in such a sensitive topic, she would surely die and soon be banned.

She would turn into a rat in the street, people would scream and beat her, and the tycoons would frantically rush at her. And then she will truly become the men's toy.

After the shock, Carla quickly raised the corner of her lips. She came up with a clever trick. She wanted North to die without a burial ground!

On the wedding day, North returned to Domino's house.

The last time she left the Dominos family was on her 18th birthday and she never returned.

Returning to the old place, her heart was a little numb, but her face showed no expression.

In the bride's dressing room, Carla affectionately took North's small hand, saying, "North, finally home. I'm so stressed out today. Raven has urgent business to take care of before he comes back, you have to be with me." you're

Today is the day of the big wedding. Raven has some urgent business to deal with, but the distinguished guests have come outside. The wedding between Raven, the richest man in Los Angeles, and Carla, the daughter of the Foster family, is very hot news. All media reporters were present.

North nodded: "Okay."

"North, please sit down."

North sat on the sofa. The make-up artist was doing Carla's make-up. North was bored, so she picked up a magazine and read it, suddenly smelling a faint fragrance.

What was this smell?

North's black pupils rapidly lose color, becoming numb and mechanical. She got up and walked out like a puppet.

Walking alone in the hallway, she came to the door of a room as if someone had manipulated her, raised her hand, and rang the doorbell of that room.

"Who is that?" The door opened, and it was Elio, the butler.

Elio is Tobias's confidant.

Elio's eyes lit up when he saw North because this was Tobias' room. North went to Tobias' room and her intentions were clear.

As a confidant, Elio fully knew what his master, Tobias, was thinking. He was surprised and asked: "Miss, why are you here? Hurry in."

Elio leaned over and meekly invited North in North lifted her slender legs and mechanically stepped in

"Miss, the master is taking a shower. He'll be out soon."

As soon as he finished speaking, there was a "click", the bathroom door opened, and Tobias put on his pajamas and came out.
