Chapter 820 Pretend to be a virgin

Tobias glanced at North in the room, his eyes shining, "North, why are you here?"

Hearing someone talking, she looked at Tobias with her clear, empty eyes.

Elio hastily smiled and said, "Master, you should talk to Miss North. I'll go first."

In the quiet room, only the two North and Tobias remained. North was still bewildered, without spirit.

Tobias took a step forward, asking. "North, what's wrong with you coming to see me? Or is someone bullying you?"

She didn't have any expression at the moment, but she was beautiful, and her bewildered look at Tobias was all the more pitiful Tobias trembled. This is his room. North came looking for him and gave him a hint long ago.

He walked over to North's side, then slowly reached out, tentatively touching her small hand.

North made no objection. Tobias seemed to be greatly encouraged, immediately clutching her small hand in his palm.

"North, do you have something to say to me? Don't worry.

I will definitely decide for you."

North was dumbfounded and didn't move.

Tobias felt the small hand in his palm soft and smooth, like silk to the touch. The evil thoughts in his heart boiled to the point of fire.

When North was very young, he sneaked a peek at her bathing but failed.

Now that she took the initiative to come to his room, how could he endure it?

Tobias tugged, and North fell onto the soft bed.

The sudden feeling of weightlessness startled North, her chaotic mind cleared, her black pupils regaining focus. She looked at Tobias in surprise.

Why is Tobias here?

And why is she here?

“Uncle Dominos, what’s wrong with you?” North said, hastily getting up from the bed. This room belonged to Tobias. She was still lying on his bed, standing up like an electric shock

She didn’t have time to think about what had happened. Her whole mind was a mess and she had a very bad premonition.

“North, you’re here, where do you want to go?” At this time, Tobias rushed forward a little impatiently.

North’s pupils constricted. She looked at Tobias who was rushing towards her in surprise. She deftly dodged him.

Tobias said with a bit of displeasure, “North, what do you mean? Did I misunderstand you?”

North was taken aback for a moment, raising her eyebrows slightly. Although she didn’t know what happened, Uncle Dominos in front of her was no longer Uncle Dominos she knew.

North said calmly, “Uncle Dominos, what do you think I mean?”

“North, do you still call me Uncle Dominos? I don’t want to be your Uncle Dominos. I want to be your man!” Tobias said.

North’s breathing stopped. She just looked at Tobias in front of her, feeling her ears ring. She didn’t know what she heard just now.

It was he who brought her back to the Dominos family.

She was always grateful and respected him.

Although Tobias couldn’t compare to her father, at least in North’s heart, he was like a father. But now he’s telling her that he wants to be her man!

“Uncle Dominos, you...”

“North.” Tobias said fondly, looking at North’s small face, “You’re really getting more and more like your mom. Every time I watch you grow up. I love you a little more. When I brought you home, I raised you like a daughter. I’ve been waiting for you to grow up.”

“North, you may think I’m a bit old, but an older man will be even more powerful. As long as you! agree to stay by my side, I’ll immediately divorce the mad woman Zhuri. I’ve had enough of her. North, I love you. The one I love forever is you.”

Hearing these words, North’s sense of nausea surged. She wanted to vomit

These words were definitely the most disgusting words she had ever heard.

It turned out that Tobias had been hiding such dirty thoughts under the guise of a loving father all these years. North thought about how foolishly she'd called him "Uncle Dominos" all these years and felt ridiculously stupid.

"North, as long as you promise to stay by my side, I can't wait any longer." At this moment, Tobias came over to hold her hand.

She quickly struggled, not letting him touch her. Her charming soft face turned cold. She said, "Tobias, you really make people... lose interest!"

After saying that, she turned and left.

Tobias' face changed, revealing a ferocious glint. He immediately blocked her way.

"North, do you still like my son, Raven?"

North stopped walking.

The story between Raven and North was an obstacle that Tobias couldn't overcome.

That year when he sneaked a peek at North bathing, he was caught by Raven.

"Am I wrong? North, you've slept with my son. Since you became a whore, why are you pretending to be a virgin? Why don't you sleep with another man?"

"Not to mention, if it weren't for me that year, you would have starved to death in the street. I have adopted you for so many years, you should take this as a return. You should sleep with me for once too!"

North's whole body was cold. She looked at the person in front of her, couldn't recognize Tobias, and scolded in a low voice: "You animal!"

She was leaving.

But Tobias hugged her tightly, then pushed her onto the bed, impatiently pinning her down.

"Let go of me! Tobias, even if I starved to death that year, I'd be better off now!" North shouted, her eyes red. She wished she had never been to the Dominos family in her life.

Because the woman under his body was struggling like crazy, Tobias didn't get any benefit either.

"Bam!", he raised his hand and slapped North.

Her face was slapped to the side, blood stains appeared at the corner of her mouth, and she felt dizzy.

But taking this opportunity, she escaped from Tobias and ran away.

She just ran out, a series of bright media lights came, and a large number of reporters appeared.

In the room.

North sat clumsily on the bed, her face as pale as a sheet of paper, without a trace of blood.

It was very noisy outside, all the bodyguards were mobilized, reluctantly stopping the frantic reporters outside the door. Her assistant, Miss Jones, put the notebook in front of her, and said solemnly, "North, it's not okay. Bad things happened. It's about you running out of Tobias' room, and being caught by the reporters. I guess all the press is working overtime now, preparing to cause a storm."
