The Substitute Bride Doted by My Billionaire Husband Chapter 853

Chapter 853

Marvin was dead.

When Nathan found him, he had collapsed on the red bean plant. He was wearing a clean white shirt and black trousers. Marvin had never changed. He was still the second son of the Augustine family. His fair and clean hands were born for medical skills. He walked very peacefully, and there was a smile that seemed to exist on the corner of his mouth. Nathan noticed that his fingers were curled up, and he was holding something in his palm. When he opened his palm, he saw that it was a bright red wishlist.

According to Marvin's wish, Nathan organized a simple funeral without notifying anyone. Iris came.

Iris stood quietly in front of the tombstone.

She knew that she would never be the heroine in his life's story. His love was only for Olive. Iris's eyes reddened. She looked at Nathan beside her. "Your uncle has handed over this supreme imperial position to you, but you are still young. Do you want to appoint an auxiliary minister?" Nathan looked at Marvin's tombstone, and his tender voice revealed a little indifference, "No, you just need to know that in the future, I will follow uncle's wishes and let the Randy family enjoy the full glory and wealth. However, there are some things that shouldn't be touched. This throne is like a coffin, which can bury many people."

Iris's breath froze for a while, and she looked at the child beside her in shock. He was only four years old, and he could actually say such things.

Iris's eyes revealed a sense of awe and fear. She had a feeling that the child beside her was all grown up.

"Master, let's go back." Gael respectfully said.

Nathan retracted his gaze and took Gael away.

Iris spread out her palms. Her palms were already sweaty. She knew that a new King had just been made.

Visionary.

After Olive washed her clothes, she sat in front of the dressing mirror. At this moment, a cold wind blew through the room and blew open the room's window.

Olive stood up and walked to the window. She wanted to close the window, but she soon stopped because she saw the golden maple leaves falling on the ground in front of her.

Olive felt that her body was cold for some reason. Olive suddenly remembered Annabelle and Alpha. And inexplicably, she felt somewhat sad.

At this moment, Sadie walked in. At a glance, she saw Olive, who was clothed in a thin dress standing in front of the window in a daze. She did not know what was going through her mind.

"Miss, the weather is so cold, why are you in a daze?"

Olive was jilted back to reality. She pulled the corner of her lips and shook her head, "I don't know what's wrong with me. I feel like I've lost something important in my life."

Sadje reached out and closed the window. "Miss, you must have been too hard on yourself-recently.

Don't think about it."

Olive smiled gently.

Everything was calm, and the days passed by. While Olive managed Visionary, she searched for Elvis.

She had always believed that Elvis was not dead.

Perhaps, not receiving any news was the best news.

Soon, Olive received an invitation letter. It was from Joyce.

Joyce invited Olive, alongside North, to the opening of her new business.

Looking at the invitation letter, Olive really didn't know whether to laugh or cry. It happened that she had not contacted North for a long time, and she did not know what happened to North and Raven.

Imperial City.

Damien had been busy recently. He had just returned from a business trip.

When he got off the plane, he walked through the airport in a thin black suit. He was a handsome, elegant and noble man that attracted everyone's attention.

The reason he returned was to search for Joyce.

The last time he saw her was at the Robert family's home. She had left a note which informed him of the best hospital that treated Kidney deficiency. She did that in a bid to tease him, and after that, she disappeared.

Damien had been looking for her, but she seemed to have vanished from earth.

Damien walked steadily through the airport. He asked the private secretary indifferently.

"Is there any news about Joyce?"

The private secretary shook his head. "CEO, not yet."

At this moment, Damien's footsteps suddenly stopped because he saw a very large billboard in the airport lobby.

Damien walked over. As he stared at the billboard, he immediately became angry.
