

Strongest Mage with the Lust system

Chapter 381: Experience the heavenly pleasure*

Belen and Leticia instantly focused their attention on him.

"I'm going somewhere for a few days and during this time, you won't be able to contact me." Max said.

"Where are you going? Can I go with you?" Leticia immediately asked. Belen also had an expectant look.

Max, however, shook his head. "No, you can't. It's too dangerous. We might lose our lives there."

"Then why are going to such a dangerous place? No, don't go." Leticia's eyes became moist when she heard how dangerous the place where he wanted to go was.

"Yes, Max. Since it's this dangerous, if you don't have a very important reason, you shouldn't go." Belen also advised. However, her words were more sensible because she knew, sometimes, people had to take the risk even if they knew they might lose their life.

Hearing their words filled with concern, Max's heart warmed. But, remembering system's 'threat', Max laughed bitterly, "I've to go. My future depends on this."

"Oh?" Belen and Leticia went silent after hearing this.

A while later, Belen and Leticia almost simultaneously opened their mouth and said, "I'll go with you then."

Max looked into their eyes and he could see that they had made the resolve to accompany him, even if they were to die there.

He sighed and walked up to Leticia, held her in his right hand and then walked to Belen and held her in his left hand and hugged both of them tightly. Belen and Leticia also wrapped their hands around him, rested their heads on his left and right shoulder, and waited for his answer.

After staying silent for a while, Max smiled and gave both of them a peck on their forehead. "Let's talk about that after we are done doing important things, shall we?"

Hearing this, blush crept up on both ladies' cheeks and they nodded, "Mhm."

Max smiled before capturing Belen's lips into his and started kissing her while his right hand started massaging Leticia's round and petite ass.

Seeing him kiss Belen first, Leticia's eyes flashed with envy. Then suddenly, her eyes flashed, and she crouched in front of him before loosening his pants and scooped his little dragon out.

Noticing her actions, Max inwardly nodded in satisfaction before focusing on enjoying Belen's delicious lips and her juicy tongue.

Meanwhile, Leticia started to slowly and gently stroke his cock. Because he had wrestled with Jasmine in bed for three hours, his cock was tired. So, even he like her gentle touch very much, it took his cock some time before it slowly started to twitch and harden.

However, Leticia thought her hand job was not effective. So, to give him more stimulation, she started to use her mouth.

When Max felt her warm and sticky tongue licking around his glans, waves of pleasure hit his nerves, causing him to shiver.

The pleasure didn't end there. A few seconds later, he felt a warm sensation envelop his cock bit by bit. First it was glans, then half of his shaft, and in the end, his entire cock was enveloped in that wondrous sensation.

Max couldn't help but wonder why her mouth was feeling so heavenly today.

When he focused his senses on her, he finally knew the reason, and he couldn't help but be impressed by her ingenuity.

She had concentrated a layer of wind elemental mana inside her mouth and was constantly controlling its intensity and that constant change of intensity was making him feel good.

Although Leticia wasn't the most beautiful one among his woman and still had some childish traits, she was the one who put most efforts into pleasing him and he had to admit he was starting to like her more and more.

Because she was making him feel so good, he felt he was going to cum any second now, and because he needed to earn a lot of LPs tonight; he planned to ejaculate inside their pussies only. Therefore, before things went out of his control, he stopped kissing Belen and then stopped Leticia from continuing.

Just when they were wondering why he stopped, he lifted both of them in each arm and took them to the bed before throwing them down.

Thud! Thud!

He then climbed on the bed, lay down and, while pointing to his bulging cock, he ordered Belen, "Lose your clothes and help yourself with it."

Seeing that despite her best efforts to please him, he was still favoring Belen, Leticia couldn't help but snort in dissatisfaction.

Noticing this, Max smiled at her, "You also undress and come here. I'll let you experience something amazing tonight."

Excitement surged with her when Leticia heard this and, while guessing what he was going to do, she hurriedly stripped and crawled over to him. Her not so big titties jiggling in a hypnotic manner as she moved.

Whoosh!

As she reached near him, he suddenly moved and lifted her up and then made her sit on his face.

"Kyaa~ What are you doing?" Leticia cried out in panic.

"I'm going to return the favor and make you feel good with my mouth." Max smiled and before she could react, he started rubbing her clitoris with his nose and then gave her flower petals a lick that made her shiver.

"Ahng~! No, don't lick there. It's dirty and smelly there. Hnn~" Leticia became flustered upon seeing him lick her pussy and tried to get up from his face.

However, Max had a tight grip on her and didn't let her budge from the spot.

He then continued to lick and sometimes bite her pink petals and the flower bud. Sometimes he would shove his tongue inside her pussy and twirl it around, making her experience pleasure so unimaginable that she felt as if she was in heaven.

Gradually, her eyes glazed over, and she stopped resisting and started moaning wildly..

Watching her body convulse with each movement of his tongue, Belen, who had just undressed, couldn't help but rub her pussy as she imagined how good his tongue must feel to make her react this way.

[Important Announcement: Hey guys! I've finally started writing my 2nd novel [Rise of the Strongest War God] It is an apocalypse based novel. I hope you will like it. (For those who want to know, Yeah, there will be enough Mature or R-18 stuff for you to enjoy along with amazing storyline.) So, please check it out and don't forget to add it in your library.]

Chapter 382: Stamina drained*

She could only imagine because she knew Max was rewarding Leticia for her best efforts. If she also wanted to experience his tongue, she needed to work for it.

A moment later, she snapped out of her trance and moved toward his cock, that was eagerly waiting for her.

She could see it was ready to pierce her. So, she wasted any time, sat on his thighs and, using her hand, she directed his rod to her pussy entrance. Then all of a sudden, she sat down, her ass slapping his thighs.

Ahng~

As his bulging rod stretched her warm, moist and soft insides and hit the end of her canal, waves of intense pleasure hit her pleasure nerves, a loud and satisfied moan escaped her lips.

"Good!" Max also grunted into Leticia's pussy, making her tremble in pleasure.

After a brief pause, he once again started teasing her pussy with his tongue while his hands snaked upwards. Grabbing her petite boobs, he started kneading them into different shapes while also not forgetting to rub and pinch her pink buds from time to time.

Squelch! Squelch! Squelch!

After thoroughly savoring the sensation, Belen started moving her up and down, her large milkers jiggling along with her body's movement, creating a mesmerising scene. Unfortunately, Max's face was buried in Leticia's pussy, so he wasn't able to witness it.

After a while, Leticia started showing signs of climaxing. But how could he let her waste her precious yin energy? Therefore, he started taking short breaks while pleasuring her and started moving his waist, trying to make her climax first.

However, this proved to be a tough task because Leticia was feeling so good that she didn't want him to stop even for a second. Therefore, whenever he tried to stop, she would start moving her lower body and rub his pussy against his face.

But as they say, those who persevere shall succeed no matter how difficult the task is. So, he eventually helped Belen reach her climax before Leticia.

"Ahhhngg~ It's comingggg~" With a loud moan, Belen climaxed. Max was already waiting for her so, when she started climaxing, he also shot his load inside her.

Flop!

After they finished, Belen fell on his chest and started heaving deep breaths.

Phew!

Max also heaved a deep sigh and then pushed Leticia, who was still trying to use his face to finish, down his face that was drenched with her nectar.

After wiping it away, he patted Belen's head and smiled. "You did a good job. Now rest while I finish her, then it will be your turn again."

"Okay." Belen nodded and moved to a corner where she sat cross-legged and started to regulate her breathing and assimilate the nascent energy in her womb.

After sending her off, just as Max turned to face Leticia, he found her hovering above his nether region and then, in the next instant, she grabbed his cock and shoved it inside her pussy. She then started jumping up and down.

When Max looked at her face, he noticed it had turned a bright shade of crimson at some point. Not only that, her eyes, which had lost focus, were also intermittently flashing with crimson colour.

"What's happening?" Max found this extremely strange. They had sex so many times, but it was the first time he saw her acting like this. Concerned, he tried calling out to her, but it was as if she couldn't hear him and continued to move her ass up and down, her speed increasing a little every time.

'Something is wrong with her.' Max became even more concern. Lifting his upper body up, he grabbed her by shoulders to stop her, but despite him using more than half of his raw physical strength, he couldn't stop her. Moreover, he discovered that her body's temperature was extremely hot.

"Strange. Her body is burning hot, but the temperature of her pussy is normal." He murmured.

Not knowing what to do, he could only call Belen, "Hey, Belen. I think something is wrong with Leticia."

Hearing him, Belen opened her eyes and looked at Leticia. She then said, "She is alright. Don't try to wake her. Just continue doing her. After she ejaculates, she will turn normal."

"But what's happening to her?" Max asked.

At his question, Belen shrugged her shoulders. "I don't know."

"Then how do you she will turn normal after finishing?" Max frowned.

"She told me about it yesterday."

"What did she say, and why didn't she tell me?"

"Only that if she acted strangely while having sex, I was to tell you not to worry about her and she will turn normal after you help her release. As for why she didn't tell this you herself, I don't know." Belen replied.

She then gave Leticia a strange look and closed her eyes once again.

After hearing she wasn't in any danger, Max relaxed but felt unhappy that she told Belen about her 'condition' but not him.

'It seems I need to discipline her a little.' He thought, 'But let's help her get normal first.'

Thinking this, he held her waist and started moving from below.

Squelch! Squelch! Squelch!

'How come it's taking so much time?' Max thought. He had been doing her for more than half hour and had tried changing position several times but strangely, Leticia showed no signs of climaxing.

Belen had assimilated all the nascent energy by now and was watching them fuck in deep thought.

'Let's see how long can you endure.' Although Max knew she was finishing because of her strange condition, he still felt his pride hurt. So, he continued.

Squelch! Squelch! Squelch!

Huff! Huff! Huff!

Soon, another half an hour passed and by now and Max was panting. Even though his stamina was at the absolute peak of the two-star mage realm, he still couldn't take it because he had exhausted a good portion of his stamina at Jasmine's and now he was nearing his limit.

Since he couldn't stop and his stamina was about to bottom out, he willed and a pill appeared in his hand. 'I better get more LPs this time.' Shouting inwardly, he gulped the pill down and circulated his mana to digest the pill.

Immediately, a cooling sensation spread all over his body and his exhausted body started recovering at a fast speed.

The pill he just ate was a grade-three 'Stamina restoration pill'. He bought a few of them in the Ninam city when he was buying supplies for his demon continent visit.

They were meant to be used when his stamina emptied while fighting. However, how could he have imagined that he would need to use one while having sex?

Chapter 383: Awakening

As Max digested the pill and absorbed its medicinal effects, he felt rejuvenated.

He then opened his status window to check how many stamina points got replenished.

[Stamina: 70/100]

'Hm, it was pretty effective considering it was only a low-level grade-three pill.' He nodded inwardly and thought, 'Maybe the mid-level ones can replenish complete 100 points.'

He then turned to look at Leticia and was given a shock.

"Am I imagining things?" He couldn't help but rub his eyes. But nothing changed.

For some reason, Leticia had become cuter and more beautiful than before.

Not only that, she had developed more curves in all the right places and her breasts seemed larger and fuller. Her previously shoulder length hair had become longer, almost touching her hips.

However, the thing that had shocked him most was that she seemed to have an eerie vibe around her, although it wasn't noticeable if he didn't focus on her enough, but when he did, he would feel chills run down his spine.

'It's too strange.' Max gulped down his saliva. No matter how hard he thought, he couldn't think of any reason for her sudden changes.

'Maybe that damned old man could explain this, but he isn't responding.' He cursed the system for vanishing at a wrong time.

In the end, he could only turn toward the knowledgeable Belen. When he looked at her, she was staring at Leticia in astonishment and a hint of... envy.

Noticing this, Max knew she must have found out the reason behind Leticia's changes. Therefore, while continuing to pound Leticia roughly, he asked Belen, "You know the reason, right? Tell me."

Belen took a breath and said in a slightly shaky voice, "If I'm not wrong, she possesses a bloodline and, because the certain conditions of its awakening have met, it's going to awaken."

She then thought, 'I wonder what kind of bloodline it is that it needs to have this kind of stimulation in order to awaken?'

"A bloodline?" This time Max didn't need to ask what a bloodline meant thanks to 'previous Max's' memories.

It is said that after one became a supreme mage, he or she could pass their special traits, such as their elemental affinity, to their descendants.

Although other traits, such as their trademark spell, their knowledge, comprehension and other things, could also be passed on, only the strongest supreme mages could do that.

Therefore, the most common type of bloodline was an elemental affinity bloodline.

Once someone awakened their bloodlines, they would immediately awaken the corresponding element.

If someone had awakened the same element before their bloodline awakening, their elemental affinity would experience a huge jump and, sometimes, it would increase their natural talent, too.

And even though such bloodlines were the most common type of bloodlines, presently, only a handful of families had them and, without exception, all of them were top families of their respective regions.

One such family was the Dalton family that had an earth affinity bloodline even though it was just a low level one.

However, one shouldn't underestimate a bloodline, no matter its level.

Why? Because no matter how low levelled, if it was something related to a supreme mage, it would certainly be something extraordinary.

What made a bloodline extraordinary wasn't just their special traits, but something else too. It was the trace of the supreme mage's aura. After one awakened their bloodline, this trace of aura would integrate with them and help them progress many times faster compared to other people.

People had a theory that the main purpose of a bloodline was to pass on this trace of the supreme mage's aura and other things were only a side benefit, not the other way other around.

But no one knew it was true. However, what everyone knew was that those who were lucky enough to have awakened a bloodline would have a solid chance of breaking past the mortal boundary where countless failed usually.

"It's great. Now she could wouldn't have to worry about being left behind." Max said with a smile. He knew Leticia was always worried about it because her progress speed was the slowest in their group. So, now she had gotten such a great opportunity, he was naturally happy for her.

"Yeah. Both she and Rima are almost sure to break past the mortal boundary." Belen nodded with a smile.

Max, however, could notice the concealed bitterness in her eyes.

He smiled at her and asked, "What are you being worried about with me around?"

Belen's eyes flashed when she heard this and revealed a happy smile, "Um.'

She then glanced at Leticia, who still seemed lost and said, "Let me help you a bit." Saying this, she came behind Leticia and started rubbing and pinching her nipple while simultaneously nibbling on her ears.

Max also tightened the muscles in his lower body and started thrusting harder and faster.

Thanks to their collective efforts, after another ten minutes, Leticia reached her climax. At the same time, Max also shot his load that he was holding back inside her.

Zing~!

Suddenly, his head started ringing, and he collapsed lifelessly on the bed.

"Wh...at happen...?" He could mumble these two words before he fainted.

His sudden collapse shocked Belen.

'Is it because he depleted all of his stamina? But he wasn't even sweating.' She thought.

When she checked his body, she shockingly found that he seemed to have lost most of his vitality. His body had turned pale and his breathing had also slowed down. She immediately took a grade-three vitality replenishing potion from her storage ring and fed it to him.

However, when he didn't show any sign of recovering, she fed him a few more one after another and used her mana to help him digest it.

A while later, color returned to his face and his breathing gradually stabilized.

Phew!

She took a breath of relief and fell back onto the bed. When she glanced at Leticia, she found her covered in purplish haze.

'Is this how it looks when people awaken their bloodline?' She wondered as she watched all the changes around Leticia.

Boom!

Chapter 384: Returning from death's door

Boom!

Suddenly a wave of malefic aura burst forth from Leticia's body and sent Max, who was on the bed near her, flying.

Whoosh!

Belen reacted instantly and stopped him from crashing.

She then chanted a spell under her breath and sent forth a wave of mana into the ground.

Crack! Crack!

Ground cracked and a flower plant grew out at lightning speed. Within a second, it had reached five feet height. Under Belen's control, its surface became smooth. Then gently, she placed the still unconscious Max onto it before turning to look at Leticia.

After the initial mana burst, nothing out of the ordinary happened, and the reddish-purple haze surrounding her silently retreated into her body, making Leticia visible to Belen.

'What?' Belen almost shouted in surprise when she saw Leticia.

Right now, she seemed a completely different person from before. She had become more beautiful. No, just saying 'more beautiful' would be an understatement.

In terms of the raw beauty, she was now comparable to Flavia, or little Arya's mother and In terms of charm, she had completely overtaken Rima and was comparable to the Elvin auction host, Siana.

However, Belen, with her keen perception, noticed something amiss. Her charm was somewhat... devilish. Even as a woman herself, she couldn't help but become mesmerised for a moment. If not for the fact she was already on guard after seeing her emit such an intense malefic aura a moment ago, she might have lost her mind right then.

Siii!

'Is this her bloodline trait? It's too terrifying.' She sucked a cold breath, her forehead glistening with droplets of sweat. 'What kind of bloodline has she awakened, after all?' She thought in frustration.

For her, who was secretly proud of her seemingly 'vast' knowledge, not knowing something was too frustrating and left an unpleasant taste in her mouth.

'Maybe apart from teacher, no one in this kingdom would know about it.' She consoled herself.

'But seriously, this is quite an amazing bloodline. If she can control her charm properly, she would become an absolute killing machine against those in the same realm.' She was left aghast at this thought.

'Good thing I won't be her enemy.' She sighed in relief and couldn't help but smile bitterly. From the beginning, she had been the strongest among the group if we don't count Max, but soon, she would be the weakest.

While she was thinking all this, Max regained consciousness and opened his eyes.

When he wanted to sit, he couldn't muster any strength the first time and could barely sit up on the second try. "Strange. Why do I feel so tired and sick?" He muttered in confusion.

"She seemed to have sucked your vitality to awaken her bloodline." He heard Belen's voice from the side.

Hearing this, he recalled what had happened before he passed out. Just as they climaxed, a strange force had entered his body and siphoned his vitality away.

Suddenly thinking something, he willed and his status window appeared in front of him. As he scanned it, his expression turned extremely ugly.

[Name: Maxwell Garfield]

[Age: 18]

[Strength: 100, Agility: 100, Stamina: 5/100, Vitality: 1, Intelligence:100]

[Element: Fire (Concentration: 70%)]

[Lust points: 155,000]

'Damn it. My vitality is almost gone.' He gnashed his teeth in anger. However, when he realized he could've been dead if not for this last bit of vitality, his heart palpitated violently and he started sweating.

Noticing his abnormal behaviour, Belen asked in concern, "What happened? Are you feeling unwell?"

"I'm alrig... cough! cough! Blergh!" As he tried to speak, he had a coughing fit before he spat out a mouthful of blood.

After a while, he stopped coughing and wiped the blood from the corner of his lips. Then he noticed Belen stare at him in horror.

"What is it?" He feebly asked.

Belen pointed at him with her trembling hands and said, "B-Blood. You are bleeding."

"Yeah. Because she has damaged my vitality, I feel sick. Don't worry. I'll recover soon." He casually said. He didn't want her to be worried as he will be alright after he increased his vitality.

Although Leticia's awakening had almost killed him, he got something good out of it, too. Maybe her awakening affected it somehow, he got a little over 47,000 LPs from her unlike the usual 2000-2500.

After adding the points he got from Belen and the ones he already had before coming here, he now had 155,000 LPs. After putting the 150,000 LPs he needed for the teleportation, he still had 5000 LPs, which can boost his vitality by 50 stat points.

"No. You... you are bleeding from everywhere." Belen said.

"What?" Max didn't understand what she meant. However, in the next second, he felt an intense pain in every fiber of his being. He felt like he was being melted from the inside out and his mana core was about to burst.

He looked at his hands and noticed they were all bloodied because blood was oozing out from his pores and cracked skin.

His eyes widened in horror as he could feel the sensation of death engulfing him.

Strangely enough, the closer he was to death, the calmer he became and his mind quickly figure out the problem. 'It's because my body has become even weaker than a mortal, it cannot bear my power.'

Wasting no time, he started crazily tapping on the plus sign beside the vitality stat. With each tap, the sensation of death would become a little weaker and when his vitality stat became 20 plus, it completely disappeared. But Max didn't stop until his vitality had reached 51.

Phew!

He released the breath he hadn't realized he was holding. Immediately after, he flopped on the flower bed and passed out, a small smile hanging on his lips.

Belen stood frozen on the spot, her eyes still dripping with tears of grief.

When she saw him bleed all over, she knew what was happening to him, but she couldn't do anything to help him because what he needed was some miraculous medicine which could restore his vitality within seconds.

However, not mentioning she didn't have such legendary medicine, even if she had, she knew he couldn't be saved.

Why? Because medicine capable of increasing vitality within seconds was too violent.

Even a healthy person might not be able to endure its effects without some special measures in place, not to mention Max, who was on the verge of death.

As she watched him bleed and shed his melted skin, she felt her heart clench in grief, and tears flowed down her cheeks uncontrollably.

But to her pleasant surprise, after he started tapping his finger in the air, his skin gradually stopped cracking and his bleeding also stopped.

Chapter 385: Love and devotion

'Just how... what did he do?' Belen was speechless at the turn of events.

Then, thinking about her emotions went on a rollercoaster ride and she even cried, which she hadn't done in a very long time when he already had means to prevent himself from dying, she annoyed, "I cried in vain. Hmph!"

However, the happiness and relief in her teary eyes told another story.

After her thumping heart returned to normal, she wiped her tears, walked near him before and waved her dainty hand in the air where he had been tapping to see if she could find anything.

'That's strange,' She thought after not finding anything amiss.

A moment later, she shrugged. 'I shouldn't pry into his secrets. After he acknowledges me, maybe he'll tell me about it himself.'

'But will he acknowledge me now that his every other woman is many times better than me?' Her mood became downcast, and she couldn't help but sigh.

'Oh no. I need to heal him.' She suddenly realized and took a healing pill and fed it to him. Although Max wasn't in danger of dying any longer, the injuries he got thanks to this ordeal were still there.

After she helped him digest the first healing pill, his wounds started recovering, but after a few seconds, pill's medicinal power was exhausted. Belen wasn't surprised. She already knew healing him won't be a simple task since there wasn't any part of his body that wasn't seriously injured.

She continued to feed him all the grade-three healing pills she had one by one. Unfortunately, after some of his minor wounds were healed, the pills stopped taking effect.

"No, no, no! This can't be happening.' She panicked. "What should I do? How do I heal him?"

She knew given the seriousness of his injuries, if isn't healed in time, his injuries would rebound and leave permanent damage to his organs. It wouldn't be too surprising if he couldn't use his mana after that.

Creak~

Just then, she heard the broken bed creak. Turning around, she found Leticia had woken up and was rubbing her eyes with a satisfied and excited look on her face.

This ticked her off.

Whoosh!

She lunged at her while shouting, "You shameless bitch! Are you happy after almost killing him? How dare you smile!"

Slap!

Leticia, who had been feeling pleased after noticing a strange yet extremely terrifying power coursing through her bloodline, was caught off guard and was slapped squarely on her face.

It was as if the slap had flipped a switch. Her bloodline raged out of her control and her eyes took on a reddish-purple hue. Then,

Boom!

A malefic aura, although not as strong as it was before, burst out of her and sent Belen flying.

After stabilizing herself, Belen glared at Leticia and said through clenched teeth, "Good! Good! Good! Let me see how powerful your bloodline is."

Boom!

She unleashed her mana and many vines sprouted out of the ground before shooting toward Leticia like some deadly spears.

After she sent Belen flying, Leticia was already panicking because it was her bloodline that got triggered. Although she didn't know why Belen was angry at her, it was never her intention to retaliate against her, because she respected and treated Belen like her big sister.

So, when she noticed Belen strike at her without holding back, wind elemental mana enveloped her and she dodged to the side, her breasts jiggling hypnotically because of the sudden movement.

"Oh?" Belen exclaimed in surprised. She had attacked without warning and since the distance wasn't much to being with between them, she was sure Leticia wouldn't be able to react in time given her capabilities.

But because she couldn't hit her, her anger surged, and she sent her vines toward her again.

Seeing her continue attacking, Leticia yelled out loud, "Hey, hey, Belen, calm down! I don't know what you are talking about. What did I do wrong?"

Swoosh!

When Belen heard her shout, she stopped her vines mid-air and laughed out of anger, "Hahaha... Are you really asking me this?"

She then pointed at Max on the flower bed and coldly asked, "Tell me you didn't know your bloodline awakening would kill him, but you STILL chose to sacrifice him. How can you be so ruthless to the person you love?"

Tears appeared in her eyes as she continued to shout hysterically, "You cheap woman, you don't know how lucky you are! Even though you weren't good enough, he still accepted you and I know, although he doesn't show it, he cares about you more than he cares about Rima or worthless me. But how did you repay him? By almost killing him?"

When Leticia saw Max lying lifelessly on the bed and heard Belen, she paled and muttered in confusion, "I did that?"

Then, information related to her bloodline appeared in her mind. When she read the condition of its awakening, it was as if an explosion went off in her mind and she acted as if her soul had left her body.

Awakening requirement: Need to have extremely stimulating and satisfying sex that can make you lose your mind with the person you love more than your life. But remember, your awakening will suck him dry and he will die.

Thud!

She dropped to her knees, a heart wrenching pain filling her heart. Tears started streaming down her cheeks as she mumbled incoherently, "Why? Why? Why did it happen? If I knew the price I would have to pay would be this big, I would never have tried to awaken it."

When she had sex with him in the Ninam city, she could feel something trigger within her ever so slightly and she felt if this thing triggered completely, her future would change and she would soar through skies. Then yesterday in the inn, she felt the same sensation again, this time more strongly.

Today, while waiting for him to come, she started feeling the same thing again, and she distinctly felt 'it' was going to trigger completely. This is why she asked Belen to tell him not to freak out if she acted strange and would become normal after climaxing.

Seeing her act this way, Belen could faintly guess she really didn't know something like this was going to happen. However, she didn't try to console her, as she was still angry.

'Wait?' Suddenly, Leticia realised something. According to her awakening requirement, Max would certainly die after her bloodline awakened. However, Belen never said that he was dead. Each time, she used the word 'almost'.

Whoosh!

Realising this, hope flashed in her eyes and she appeared next to Max in the next second. Her speed was so fast, Belen didn't even see her move.

Then Belen heard her say, "I know you won't believe me, but I really didn't know this was going to happen, nevertheless, I almost took his life. So, I'll let him decide my punishment. If he wants me to die, I'll immediately kill myself."

Hearing this, Belen sighed and shook her head, "To do that, we need to heal him to wake up first. Unfortunately, ordinary grade-three healing pills doesn't have any effects on his injuries and he won't be able to handle grade-four pills' potency even if we had some. If we want him to wake up, we need something that has extremely potent healing effects but is mild in nature. Something like a grade-four life nourishing pill."

She then turned to walk out of the room while saying, "You take care of him while I try my luck at the trading peak."

"No need. Since I'm responsible for his condition, I'll be the one to heal him." Leticia calmly said.

Hearing this, Belen frowned in displeasure. Turning around, she angrily said, "Didn't you hear me? I said grade-three pills aren't..."

Before she could complete her sentence, the sight in front of her rendered her speechless and in shock and disbelief.

Chapter 386: Healed in an instant

Leticia closed her eyes for a moment to concentrate before suddenly her body started glowing with a beautiful purple light. She opened her eyes, brought her face closer to his and gently placed her savory lips on his broken and battered ones.

Then something strange, which if any normal people witnessed, they could call it... demonic, happened.

Max, whose injuries had barely seen any improvements after Belen fed him more than a dozen grade-three pills, started healing at a rate visible to naked eyes.

In just a few seconds, the layer of his broken skin shed and a new layer of babylike skin replaced it. His organs, which had suffered even more damage than his outer body and most difficult to heal, his battered mana core also healed, although it took more time.

But on the other hand, as Max's injuries healed, the glow around Leticia's body faded and her face turned sickly pale. It seemed as if all the vitality in her body was gone.

However, there was a satisfied smile on her face. She removed her lips and took a step backwards.

As Belen watched Leticia kiss Max and then witnessed his injuries heal at a visible speed, she was stunned and even though she was happy for Max, she couldn't help but be worried about Leticia because she knew to achieve something like this, she would have to pay some price as nothing comes free.

Just like she expected.

Blergh!

Leticia suddenly spat out a mouthful of blood, and the luster in her eyes dimmed. Her body swayed like a withered leaf in the storm before she lost her consciousness and fell lifelessly to ground.

Whoosh!

Belen appeared beside her and supported her. She had a pained look in her eyes as she gently stroked her hair and muttered, "I'm sorry for being harsh on you earlier. You are really many times more worthy of his love than me. I hope you won't hate me."

She then took out a dress, dressed her and then placed her on the flower bed beside Max while she sat down on the ground. She wanted to try feeding her some healing pills to recover, but she had exhausted her supplies trying to heal Max.

...

After recovering, it wasn't long before Max opened his eyes.

Feeling someone's presence beside him, he turned his head in their direction and found Leticia lying there; her face was sickly pale and seemed too fragile, as if she would break if someone touched her.

"Just what happened after I passed out?" He asked while sitting up.

Seeing that he was awake, Belen stood up and explained everything that had happened without leaving out a single detail.

Max didn't say anything after everything, but his eyes had an extra layer of love and care for Leticia when he looked at her.

He then looked at Belen, who still had tear stains on her cheeks, and gently said, "I'm sorry for worrying you." Then he extended his right hand and pulled her into a hug.

Belen trembled in his embrace. Then a gratified smile appeared on her face. However, when she thought back to how she blamed Leticia without thinking, she was filled with guilt and started sobbing quietly. "I'm sorry I didn't believe her, blamed her and said those cruel words to her."

"Shh! It's alright. Don't worry about it. Everything's alright." Max said, gently caressing her back to comfort her.

Belen raised her head to look at him and asked, trying to suppress her sobs, "You... you don't blame me?"

"Do didn't do anything wrong. Why would I blame you?" Max smiled at her.

Belen became dazed for a moment before she placed a soft kiss filled with gratitude on his lips and murmured, "Thank you."

His words eased the guilt and self-blame weighing on her heart. Feeling relieved, she slumped into his embrace and quickly fell asleep.

Max placed her on the bed and then turned to Leticia before taking out his grade-three healing pills. He then placed one pill in her mouth and used his mana to quickly dissolve it.

After he fed her five pills in a row, some colour finally returned to Leticia's face and her tightly closed eyes gradually relaxed. Now she seemed to be asleep peacefully.

Phew!

He breathed in relief and lay on the bed, too. Although things had taken very surprising and dramatic turns, everything turned out to be alright in the end.

He had the required 150,000 LPs and could go to the demon continent. He had also affirmed his feelings for Leticia and Belen and knew no matter how many more women he had in the future, these two would always have a place in his heart.

Extending to caress Leticia's pale face, he said in his mind, 'Now I only hope healing me doesn't leave any negative side effect on you.'

It was as if she could feel his concern for her, her lips lifted into a small smile.

At the same time, in his room, Anna was rolling around in bed, hugging her soft pillow.

"Argh!" She pouted in dissatisfaction and threw the pillow away. "Why hasn't he returned yet and why am I constantly feeling that Elder is bad news?"

"I think I need to warn him about it. Also, I will also tell him not to be away at night. Hmph!"

...

After three hours, Leticia opened her eyes.

Just then, she heard the voice she loved the most ask, "How are you feeling?"

She turned to her side and saw him lying beside her, looking at her with a loving smile.

"I-I'm alright. How about you?" She asked. Feeling guilty, she looked down.

"I'm perfectly fine. You don't have to feel guilty about anything, understand?" Max smilingly said, lightly flicking her forehead.

Leticia raised her head and looked at him after some hesitation, her eyes moist as she said, "But... I almost k-killed you."

"It's because you didn't know it was going to happen. So, it's not your fault. If you knew, I'm sure you wouldn't have tried to awaken your bloodline, right? Moreover, you've already healed me, haven't you?" Max said, trying to make her comfortable.

"Okay." She nodded, biting her lower lips and trying her hardest to hold back her tears.

Seeing this, Max sighed. He knew she would always have this guilt in her heart.

Chapter 387: Godly Witch Bloodline

Hearing them talk, Belen also woke up.

When she noticed Leticia was awake, she drooped her head low and apologised, "I'm sorry, Leticia. I'm sorry for saying all those hurtful things to you."

Leticia feebly turned her head to look at her and smiled lightly. "What are you saying? You didn't say anything wrong. If I was in your place, I would've reacted the same. So, don't worry about it, alright?"

"Mhm." Belen nodded.

Seeing them patch up, Max smiled.

Then his expression became serious as he asked, "Leticia, tell me, the power you used to heal me, it was your bloodline ability, right? Does it leave any permanent negative effect on you?"

Hearing his voice laced with worry, Leticia smiled sweetly and lightly shook her head. "No, it doesn't."

"Then your current condition...?" Belen asked from the side.

"Hmm, although this healing ability doesn't leave any permanent damage, after I use it, I'll be powerless for a week or more, depending on my mage realm. In this duration, even a one-star mage can kill me. But you see, this trade is totally worth this price as my healing ability can heal almost any injury." Leticia answered excitedly.

"Yeah. This ability is really miraculous. But don't use it unless there is no other way, alright?" Max warned.

"Mhm. If it's not someone close to me and it's absolutely necessary, I won't use it. In fact, I don't really want to use it on anyone besides you." Leticia said, her face reddening slightly.

"Hm? Why is that?" Max and Belen asked.

Leticia looked at Belen and asked, "You saw how I healed him, right?"

Belen recalled and nodded, "Yeah. You... kissed him."

"No." Leticia shook her head and bashfully said, "Well, technically, I did. To heal someone, what I need to do is... let them drink the essence blood from... my lips and I don't want to touch anyone's lips."

"Oh? That's a weird condition. If healing needs your blood essence, you should be able to take it out from your fingers etc. and the results should be the same." Belen raised her brows in puzzlement.

Leticia smiled wryly and pointed to her head, "Well, even though it's weird, this is the information in my head."

"Hmm. If that's the case, then it must be true. But from this, we can conclude your bloodline ancestor wasn't someone ordinary." Belen said and then asked, "What's the name of your bloodline?"

"It's called Godly Witch bloodline." Leticia answered.

Belen's brows twitched when she heard the name. Not because she knew what this bloodline was but because of the word [Godly] as prefix.

To name their bloodline Godly, either the person must be powerful beyond common sense or he should be an unparalleled narcissist.

Since the most powerful people that ever existed were only peak Supreme mages, it was clear her ancestor belonged to the second category.

Seeing Belen not respond, Leticia asked, "Is something wrong, Belen?"

Of course, Belen wasn't going to tell her thoughts. So, she shook her head, "Ahem! No, nothing's wrong."

Suddenly, she recalled the evil aura from before and asked, "Leticia, are there any other changes in you after the bloodline awakening?"

Hearing this, Leticia giggled, "Hehe, yes. There are."

She then raised her hand toward the ceiling and opened her palm. "See this."

Max and Belen focused their gaze.

Fwoosh!

Her bloodline churned, and a small black orb appeared above her palm. Then the black orb expanded and enveloped her completely. In the place where Leticia was lying just now, there was only a black shadow.

"You... you've awakened the darkness element?" Belen asked in astonishment.

Max was equally shocked.

Elements such as fire, water, wind, earth, wood etc were the most common ones. After them came some rare elements such as metal, shadow, lightening or thunder etc. Very few people could awaken them.

Then there were some elements even rarer than the previously mentioned elements.

Because they were almost impossible to awaken, but were the strongest, people named them legendary elements.

Not even one out of a million people could awaken one of the legendary elements. As for the lucky ones that could, they would be crowned as the king or queen of their respective realms, completely unparalleled.

In more cases than not, they could even kill someone of a stronger realm in a head-to-head fight.

Their advantages don't end here. These people don't experience much difficulty when rising to the higher realms if their comprehension and understanding of their respective element is deep enough.

If their understanding could keep up, even reaching the supreme mage realm isn't too difficult. Unfortunately, increasing the comprehension of an element is easier said than done.

Darkness was one of these legendary elements. (A/N: Dark element mentioned earlier in the novel is just a rare element and doesn't fall in legendary category. So don't confuse that with the Darkness element.)

From what they both knew, no one in the Green leaf kingdom ever awakened a legendary element.

Whoosh!

The darkness retracted into the small black orb, revealing Leticia, who wore a satisfied grin on her face as she watched their shocked expressions. Then the orb fell onto her outstretched palm and vanished.

"Hehe, surprised, right?" She laughed contentedly.

Max quickly recovered from his surprise and patted her head. "That's good. Now your future achievements won't be small." He was genuinely happy for her.

Belen also smiled distractedly, "You girl... are very lucky." Right now, there was one question that kept repeating in her mind: Which bloodline can pass down a legendary element?

'It seems I've yet to learn many things about bloodlines.' She sighed.

"Hehe..." Leticia giggled. She was ecstatic right now. Before today, she was always worried about being left behind.

But now, she had the confidence to keep up with them, even if they eventually became supreme mages. Why? Because she could feel her bloodline was even more mysterious and stronger than what was revealed now.

After a while, Belen sighed lightly, "It's good you have awakened Darkness element, but the problem is, you won't find any darkness element-based spells since they are countless times rarer than the sonic element spell Rima needed."

Hearing this, Max frowned and opened his system shop. Surprisingly, he didn't find any Darkness elemental spells.

"This is going to be a problem." He muttered, his brows knitted together.

Leticia's was unconcerned, however. She revealed a big grin and said, "Let me tell you another amazing thing about my bloodline."

'Don't tell me...!' Seeing her grin, Belen suddenly thought of something and her surprised became bigger.

Chapter 388: I'll burn the world for you

"Hehe. This bloodline is too amazing. I've many spells of darkness element in my mind. I won't have to worry about spells in the future." Leticia proudly announced.

"That's really amazing." Max nodded. Inwardly, he was very surprised.

Even the system didn't have any darkness elemental spells. This signified how rare they were since a supreme mage like the system's creator couldn't find any in all his life. But her bloodline gave her more than one such spell. Ignoring everything else, just this point made her bloodline extraordinary.

Belen only nodded. She had too many shocks and surprises today, and all that almost made her lose her mind.

After that, Max kept Leticia and Belen company for one more hour. Then, under Leticia's pleading gaze, he returned to his room.

Knock! Knock!

He knocked on the door.

Silent~

Even after he waited for a good while, the door didn't open.

'Is she asleep already?' He thought and then smile wryly. 'Well, it's past midnight already.'

'Sigh, I should've stayed at Belen's.' He sighed before knocking the door once again.

Creak~

As soon as he knocked, the door opened and Anna, wearing a sulking expression, appeared in front of him.

"What took you so long?" She asked snappily.

'Ahh, now I understand what those married men always complained about.' He thought.

"Nothing. The Elder has assigned me a special mission. We are just discussing the details because I've to depart tomorrow." Max said tiredly while entering the room.

Anna was prepared to scold him a little to vent her frustration, but when she heard he would go away tomorrow, her expression changed.

Closing the door, she ran after him and angrily asked, "What do you mean? You just returned from the mission. You need to rest for a few days at least. How could that Elder assign you another mission?"

"I don't know why she picked me, but the mission is very important and the reward is quite high. So, I accepted it. Okay, let me take a bath first. Then we will talk." Max said and quickly entered the bathroom before Anna come near him.

He didn't want to go near Anna before he washed off Belen's and Leticia's scent from his body. After everything that happened, he forgot to take a bath before returning.

"Oh-okay." Anna nodded before going back to sit on the bed and murmured, "So, this Elder is really a woman."

...

After a few minutes, Max came out wearing a loose night robe and flopped beside Anna.

Anna looked at him in a daze. Maybe because he just took a bath, he seemed more handsome to her.

"Do I look handsome?" Max teasingly asked.

Hearing this, she snapped out of it, and her face reddened slightly in embarrassment. She snorted softly and uttered a cute 'Hmph' sound before asking, "What's the mission and couldn't you stay and rest for a few days more before going?" Worry and reluctance to part with him were written all over her lovely face.

Max gently caressed her face with his right and apologetically said, "I also want to spend more time with you, but the mission is urgent. So, I have no choice to depart tomorrow."

Hearing this, Anna's eyes became moist, but she didn't ask him to stay again. "Mhm, I understand. But you didn't tell me, what's the mission and why is it so urgent?"

'What's the mission?' Max thought for a moment before saying, "Although I'm not allowed to share the mission details since it's a secret mission, I can tell you, but you have to promise not to tell anyone. If the Elder finds out I told you about it, I'll be in trouble."

Hearing that he was willing to tell her even though he was forbidden from doing so, Anna felt help and vigorously nodded. "I won't tell anybody."

Max smiled lightly and said, "The Elder had buried some treasure a few years ago in a forest a few thousand miles away from here because she was being chased by her enemies. She can't go out herself because those people are still keeping tabs on her through their connections. Therefore, she asked me to bring her that treasure since she trusts me for some reason."

"Oh! What kind of treasure is it?" Anna curiously asked.

"Well, I don't know that. I'll know after I find it." Max said.

"Hmm." Anna went silent for a while before she said in her lovely and gentle voice, "Since you have to go, you can go, but remember to take care of yourself and watch out for her enemies. Maybe they already know about your meeting with her and guessed her motives."

"Don't worry. The Elder ensured they won't suspect me and I'll be careful too." Max said. He was a little apologetic for lying to her, but he couldn't tell the truth since she would never allow him to go. Moreover, he would have to tell her all about the system and all. It would be troublesome.

"Mhm." Anna nodded before she moved her body and put her head on his chest, her hands circling his shoulders.

"Please return as soon as possible. I... I'll miss you..." she softly said.

Max took a deep whiff of her fragrant scent before his hands held her waist, lifted her from the bed, and made her lie on him. Her legs were on his legs, her crotch right above his, and her upper body on his chest.

"Ah~ What are you doing...?" Anna cried out in alarm. She thought he wanted to... take her.

"Don't worry. I won't do anything. I just want to feel your body's warmth since I won't be able to feel it for a long while." Max said, squeezing her tight against his chest.

Anna stopped squirming when she heard this. After a long while, when she thought Max was asleep, she murmured in a low voice, tears pouring out of her eyes, "Little Max, I know you love me as a woman and even if I were to agree, our relationship won't be accepted by anyone. We'll be treated with scorn."

"If we love one another, it doesn't matter what the world thinks. If the world tried to stop us, I'll just BURN IT DOWN."

Chapter 389: Going to the demon continent

"You... weren't sleeping?" Anna asked, her face reddening slightly.

"I was about to." Max answered.

"Hmm."

"So, what do you say? Are you going to keep worrying about others and not listen to what your heart says?" He asked,

After a moment of silence, Anna sighed, "You said you'll burn the world down if they don't approve of us. What about our parents? You know they will never agree. Are you going to do the same to them?"

Hearing this, Max became silent. Although he didn't care about anyone else, he cared about his father, Ashton. Maybe it was because of the original Max's influence or maybe because Ashton showed him genuine fatherly love, he couldn't think of harming him.

Well, hypothetically speaking, even if he did harm them, Anna would hate him forever, and he didn't want that at all.

Seeing him stay silent, Anna didn't say anything either. Both stayed silent in each other's embrace before eventually falling asleep.

Next morning, Anna woke up first.

'Hmm? What poking me?' She thought after she felt something hard and thick stabbing into her crotch area. Unable to think clearly since she just woke up, she directly grabbed it. 'Hmm? What's this? It's thick and feels nice. But I can't feel it because of these clothes. Wait...!'

She fiddled with it and moved her hand on it, up and down, feeling it. Suddenly, she realised what it was and jumped away from him like a frightened rabbit.

When Max woke up, he saw Anna making breakfast. He wished her good morning and went to the washroom.

After that, they sat on either side of their small dining table to have their breakfast. But strangely, the atmosphere was awkward. Max thought it was because of what they talked about yesterday, so he ate in silence.

When they finished, Max stood up, circled the dining table, and gave Anna a hug. "Take care of yourself while I'm away and don't feel pressured because of what we talked about yesterday. You also don't need to complete your mandatory monthly mission. I've asked the Elder to exempt you. So, stay in the academy and train. Okay?"

"Mhm." Hearing this, Anna nodded, her eyes becoming moist.

"Okay. I'll be going now. Bye." He said, releasing her from the hug and walked toward the door.

Anna watched him go with reluctance, silent tears falling down her cheeks.

Just as he was about to open the door and walk out, Anna stood up and ran toward him all of a sudden.

Thud!

She hugged him from behind and cried out,

"I also love you, Max. So, please don't think I was making excuses yesterday. I really want to be with you. When I think you would have many women in the future but I can't be one of them, I feel pain in my heart. But I can't do anything about it. I've also thought to not care about anything and just do what my heart says, but I can't see my mother and our father hate me. I hope you understand."

Max didn't speak and just stood there while she hugged him from behind and continued crying.

"M-Max, why aren't you saying anything?" She asked after calming down. She became scared when she didn't hear him speak.

Then she heard Max taking a deep breath before he turned around and looked at her. Just when she was expecting to say something, he leaned his face toward her face and placed his lips on hers.

Shing~!

It was as if she was struck by lightning. She couldn't move or even blink her eyes. She just stood there, frozen.

After a few seconds, she thought, 'He... he is kissing me just like before?'

However, in the next moment, she was proven wrong. He wasn't kissing her like before, but was going a step forward.

After kissing her lips, his tongue pried open her mouth and slithered inside. Anna was totally stunned. She wanted him to stop, but as soon as his tongue intertwined with hers and he started sucking on it; she felt all her energy leave her body. She would've fallen to her knees, but thankfully he was holding onto her.

Her mind had gone blank and she couldn't think of anything else but the current moment now. She couldn't help but feel this sensation was too beautiful, too wondrous and too... addicting. Without her knowing, her hands had gone around his neck and she was already kissing him back.

She didn't know how long they kissed, but she was left breathless when they were done. Which meant they kissed 15 or maybe 20 minutes because she could hold her breath for 10 minutes. So, for her to become breathless even when she could breathe while kissing meant they did it for way longer than 10 minutes.

When she looked at Max, she could see his eyes were ablaze with lustful fires, which made her shiver.

"Max... I... we..." She took a step back and opened her mouth to say they shouldn't go beyond this, but she couldn't even speak coherently.

"Shh!" Max put his finger on her lips, stopping her from speaking, and smiled. "I'll be back in a month or so. Wait for me."

Saying this, he planted a kiss on her forehead, turned around, opened the door and walked away.

Shua~ Shua~

Anna watched him disappear from her sight as the morning chilly wind entered the room from the opened door.

After a long while, she came back to her senses and ran out, wanting to see him one more time. She ran until she reached the transportation beast platform, but she didn't see him.

She stood there until afternoon before she lifelessly walked back to her room. But halfway, she stopped and turned around. She knew if she stayed alone in their room, she would miss him to death.

After a while, she reached Flavia's room and knocked.

Fortunately for her, Flavia was still in her room, cultivating. Hearing someone knock, she stood up and opened the door.

Seeing Anna standing there with a wooden expression on her usual lively face, she worriedly asked, "What happened Anna?"

Anna looked at her and spoke in a low voice, "I think I love someone who I shouldn't."

"Why? Just because he is your half-brother? Just because people wouldn't accept it?" Flavia asked lightly before she grabbed Anna's hand and pulled her inside.

Anna looked at her in disbelief, "You... how do you know it's him?"

Flavia smiled. "Just like how you could tell I like him after spending time with me. Well, it was even easier for me to tell, since it's always written all over your face."

Anna blushed and lowered her head.

Flavia extended her hand and made her look at her before she said, "I know people disapprove of the forbidden relationships such as yours, but let me tell you a secret. It's applicable only for the weak."

"What do you mean?" Anna didn't understand.

Flavia smiled, "Don't you know many Royal families or bloodline families doesn't marry outside of their families to keep their bloodline pure and no one dares to say it's wrong to their face. No, no one even dares to talk behind their back about it. You know why?"

"It's because these families are strong and they would kill anyone who dares to gossip." Anna muttered.

"That's right. As long as you are strong, no one would dare say anything. In fact, they would even flatter you guys." Flavia said, "So, if you really want to be with him, become strong. Stronger than everyone else."

"But... isn't it morally wrong?" Anna asked.

"You stupid girl. Do you know why it was forbidden to marry someone from your own family in the beginning?"

"Because there used to be complications when the women birthed the child?" Anna answered.

"Right. As you said, there used to be complication then because people didn't know how to use mana to strengthen themselves. But now, it's different. The stronger you are, the less anomaly there will be in your genes. If you surpass the mortal boundary, it won't be a problem, even if he was your blood brother, much less half-brother."

"The people who are mages don't mind these things too much. Even in my family, there have been many cases where a pair of siblings loved each other and wanted to marry. My family didn't obstruct them. They simply said that if they wanted to do it, they can but only after surpassing mortal boundary so their offspring would be 100% healthy. So, don't worry about all that forbidden crap if you love him, as that is the most important thing there is." Flavia explained.

"But what if my parents don't agree?" Anna still wasn't convinced.

"How do you know they won't when you haven't asked them yet?"

Anna went silent and after a while, she said, "After I become a three-star mage, I'll tell my parents."

"Good." Flavia smiled.

Anna then asked, "What about you? What are you going to do? Would you tell him you love him?"

"Of course. Didn't I just say that love is most important of all? I'll tell him, but I might not be able to be with him openly before I'm strong enough to kill some people." Flavia said, her eyes flashing with coldness.

...

While the girls sorted out their feelings, Max had flown down the academy's main peak and then went to the forest where no one could see him.

"Hey, system. I'm ready. Let's go." He said.

[Good. Remember to be on your toes at all times.] System's voice sounded in his ears and then 150,000 LPs vanished from his status screen.

Zing! Zhing! Zhing!

All of a sudden, the space in front started distorting before it split apart and he was sucked inside.

(A/N: I thought to split this chapter in two but I didn't like the idea since it's better this way. I hope you enjoyed this super long chapter. Don't forget to Vote, comment and send some gift if you like, haha.)

Chapter 390: Blood wing demon tribe [Bonus]

Rumble!

Whoosh!

Thud!

Sky rumbled above a gloomy forest. Then a crack opened in the space and Max was ejected out of it like a cannonball and crashed into the forest, creating a small crater.

Because of the impact, he felt as if his bones were crushed and he cried out in pain.

Argh! Blergh!

However, as soon as he cried, the sweet taste of blood filled his throat before he involuntarily spat it out.

"Argh! Damn it. Couldn't you warn me beforehand it's going to be so turbulent?" Max cursed angrily, wiping his blood away from his lips.

[Did you think travelling through space was going to be a cakewalk for a weakling like you just because I was teleporting you? Be real.] System scoffed.

"Wasn't teleportation supposed to be safe regardless of the person teleporting?" Max asked angrily.

[For that kind of teleportation, you need to first stabilize the space nodes connecting two places. Do you think I'm in a condition where I can do that?]

"At least you could warn..." Max grumbled. However, he couldn't complete his sentence when the system interrupted him.

[If you don't want to die, move your ass and escape in the southeast direction right now or you'll be caught. Some demons are coming over.]

"Damn. I can't even recover in peace." Max cursed. He then circulated his three-star mana and bolted out of the crater and zoomed in the southeast direction.

Whoosh! Whoosh!

Two minutes after Max ran away, a group of three people arrived at the crater. Although they had the same features as humans, just one look at them and anyone could tell they weren't humans.

They had a strange, chilling, and dark aura about them. The most distinctive feature of these three were their blood-red eyes and a pair of blood-red bat wings on their back. They were from the blood wing demon tribe.

Two of them were males, while the last one was a female. If we ignored her ghastly red eyes and hideous bat wings, she was quite a beauty with a sensual figure.

"It seemed someone crashed here." The one in the middle spoke. If Max was here, he wouldn't understand their language, since it differed completely from the human language.

The one on the left closed his eyes and uttered a strange cry. A moment later, his red eyes glowed before he pointed in the southeast direction. "There was a human here. He went in that direction."

"Human? What is a human doing out here? Shouldn't they be in their pastures?" The one in the middle frowned.

"Maybe it's a stray?"

"It doesn't matter. Let's capture it first." The female demon said indifferently. The other two nodded in agreement.

Flap! Flap! Flap!

Whoosh! Whoosh! Whoosh!

They then flapped their wings and took off in the air before shooting in the southeast direction.

Meanwhile, Max was still running through the forest at his top speed. He then asked, "I've travelled quite far. Am I out of danger now? I need to rest for a while."

[Remember one thing, kid. A human is never safe in the demon territory unless you are stronger than the strongest person there. As for your question, no, you are not out of danger. Those three kids are chasing after you and for your information, all of them are equivalent to early stage three-star mages.] The system informed.

Hearing this, Max's heart clenched. He gritted his teeth and took out a talisman. It was a middle-tier, grade-three escaping talisman. He only had a dozen of them because he couldn't find more in the Ninam city.

[Right decision, but unfortunately for you, they have wings and I'm guessing their top speed should be slightly faster than what yours will be after you use this toy. Moreover, they have someone who can easily trace you. So, no matter how fast you run, they will still catch up to you.] System poured cold water on him.

"So, how am I going to survive now? I'm not strong enough to fight them." Max asked in frustration.

[That's for you to think about.] The system curtly answered.

Swoosh!

Since running or hiding wasn't going to help, Max stopped running.

His mind raced, trying to find a way to survive. In the end, he could only think of using his grade-three talismans.

"Tell me, how long is it going to take them before they come here?" He asked the system.

[30 seconds at most.]

"Okay." Max nodded before he sat down, leaning against a tree. He acted as if he was asleep. However, in his clenched fists, he was hiding three mid-tier grade-three offensive talismans and that escaping talisman from earlier.

Swoosh! Swoosh! Swoosh!

Exactly 30 seconds later, three figures stopped in the air in front of him, looking down at him curiously.

"Hey, human. What are you doing here? Did you escape your master?" The male demon in the middle asked aloud.

Although on this demon continent, the demon race was dominant, there were other races such as humans, present but they were in minority and were all enslaved. That's why they didn't think of him as an outsider and asked whether he had escaped from his master.

Max, however, didn't respond and continued to act asleep while thinking that their language was indeed different from the human language, like the system had told him before.

Although he immediately wanted to throw the talismans at them, he knew it would be useless because they were still over twenty meters away from him. From this distance, it would be effortless for them to escape his surprise attacks.

"Hey can't you hear?" The one of the left shouted. His piercing voice caused his eardrums to buzz and some blood also flowed out.

'What are you shouting for, bastard?' He cursed in his mind before opening his eyes. To begin with, he knew he wouldn't be able to lure all three of them in his range just by acting asleep, but at least it would make them lower their guard a bit.

Seeing them, he acted scared and backed up a little more against the three but didn't speak because the moment he opened his mouth, he would be exposed as a non-native of this land and they would immediately capture him.

"Tch, these humans are really too cowardly. They can't even answer a question without peeing their pants." The demon in the middle clicked his tongue in disdain. He then ordered the other male demon, "You go bring him with us. He can at least reproduce with other humans and give us more slave and food."

"Yeah. Can't let human resources go to waste." The other demon laughed evilly and neared Max to capture him.

Seeing this, Max revealed a smirk and threw a one of the three offensive talismans at him. At the same time, he crushed the escaping talisman, which increased his speed by many folds and dashed toward the demon leader. As soon as he was in the range, he threw another offensive talisman at him.

But as they say, not everything goes according to the plan. As soon as Max threw out his first talisman, the remaining two demons in the back put up their guard.

This bonus chapter is sponsored by Echelon_5.

Chapter 391: Helpless

Boom! Boom!

Both talismans exploded one after another.

Whoosh! Whoosh!

The talismans' energy took shape of two extremely lethal wind blades which shot toward their target, their speed so fast that they appeared almost instantaneously in front of the two demons.

Ahhh!

The demon trying to capture Max a moment before didn't have his guard up at all, since Max was just a weak animal in his eyes. Therefore, he couldn't react at all before one of the wind blades cut through his waist, cleaving him into two parts.

Unfortunately, by the time second wind blade reached the demon in the back, he had reacted. He flapped his wings and took off high in the air, completely dodging the attack.

"You filthy lowlife, you dare?" He shouted in anger and prepared to attack.

'Tch, he dodged.' Max clicked his tongue in annoyance. He finally realised how difficult it was to take someone who excels at the speed by surprise.

But seeing that he took down one demon successfully, he nodded in satisfaction. Then, taking advantage of high increased speed thanks to the escaping talisman, he moved toward the female demon while deliberately showing the remaining talisman in his hand.

Heh...

The female demon scoffed in mockery and flew twenty meters higher in the sky. However, when she glanced down to see Max's helpless expression, her eyes narrowed because Max had disappeared.

Boom!

Just then, she heard another explosion from the side. When she looked in that direction, she saw her demon companion falling to the ground in two pieces.

"What? H-How?" She couldn't understand what had happened. Wasn't the punny human coming at her to attack? Then how come her companion died suddenly? From the circumstance of his death, it seemed he was also struck by the punny human's magic talisman.

Suddenly, she realised something and looked around. However, the punny human was nowhere to be seen.

"Are you looking for me?" Just then, she heard a voice from behind her and an expression of horror appeared on her pretty face.

Whoosh!

She didn't think about how he appeared behind her without alerting her, nor did she turn around to face him. Her first reaction was to fly away from her current spot at her top speed in order to dodge the attack she believed would come at her.

Indeed, before Max spoke, he had crushed another grade-grade offensive talisman.

Boom!

Another wind blade appeared as the talisman exploded and shot toward her. Unfortunately for Max, she managed to dodge it by a hair's distance.

Max's eyes widened in surprise. This female demon's reaction speed was a lot higher than the demon who dodged before.

"It seems I got overconfident." He smiled bitterly before he started falling downwards.

[Hehe kid. Although you only relied on the powerful talismans, I have to say I'm impressed.] System's laughing voice echoed in his mind.

Then it continued, [Even if you hadn't gotten overconfident and spoke, she still would've dodged the talisman attack. Be as soon as you crushed the offensive talisman, your stealth talisman had lost its effect.]

Thud!

Max fell to the ground, sending dust and debris flying around.

"Cough! Cough! What do you mean? The stealth talisman was supposed to work for 30 seconds and not even 10 seconds had passed?" Max coughed and asked.

The only reason he could kill the second demon who was preparing to attack him and then successfully snuck behind the female demon was because he had used two talismans one after another.

First, he used a grade three illusion talisman which created a scene of him running toward the female demon to attack her, completely ignoring the raging demon on the side.

Because the female demon thought little of him, she just flew higher. She wanted to let her companion, who was furious because she dared to attack him, kill him.

As for Max, as soon as he created the fake image of himself, he used a stealth talisman, snuck behind the demon who was preparing to attack his false image and unleashed another offensive talisman which successfully killed him.

After killing him, he moved and snuck behind the female demon. However, the challenging part was to jump twenty meters high without making any sound.

After everything went according to the plan, he thought he could easily take her out too. This made him overconfident, and he laughed, which caused the female demon to react quickly enough to dodge the otherwise 'sure-kill' attack.

[When a stealth talisman is in effect and you use another talisman or cast a spell, the special stealth energy concealing you would be affected and quickly lose its effects. Therefore, after you used the talisman to kill the second demon, your stealth talisman had already lost more than half of its efficiency.] The system explained.

"Ahhhh! Puny human, I'm going to kill you." The female demon shrieked in fury.

Whoosh!

She then flapped her wings and vanished from her spot and appeared in front of Max. Before Max could react, she punched him in his gut.

Bang!

Puah!

Whoosh!

Max's eyes rolled upwards before he spurted out a mouthful of blood and was sent flying backwards, crashing into and breaking the trees.

"Argh... cough! cough! That hurt like hell."

He cried out in pain, coughing out more blood.

[Watch out! She is coming!] The system warned.

Hearing this, he tried to move his battered body, but before he could; the demoness had arrived. Her eyes glowing a menacing red as she stretched her long leg backward and kicked him in the chest.

'Fuck!' Max cursed in his mind and hurriedly put his hands in front of his chest.

Crack! Bang!

Whoosh!

As soon as her leg touched his hands, his forearm bones cracked. Then her leg continued forward and strongly connected on his chest, breaking his ribs before he was sent flying once again.

Thud!

After Max crash landed this time, he felt faint and blood continued to gush out of his mouth, nose, and ears. His eyes had also turned bloody.

Whoosh!

The demoness once again caught up to him but this time, she didn't immediately attack and something in her language which Max didn't understand.

Max was furious right now. He had never beaten this badly by someone before. He really wanted to shred this demoness into pieces right now.

Unfortunately, his injuries were too serious and he couldn't even muster enough strength to move, let alone fight her. Although it wasn't like he could do anything to her, even if he was uninjured.

[Need help kid?] The system asked at this time.

"Y... yes." Max uttered weakly.

Chapter 392: Who allowed you to speak?

[Alright then. I'll help you in exchange for that demonic essence you got me from that king mage.] The system cackled.

On hearing this, Max didn't say anything and just nodded. Although he knew that demonic essence should net him many shop points in exchange, his life was worth much more.

Furthermore, it wasn't as if his miserly system was going to reimburse for the demonic essence. Why? Because ever since they extracted it, he had been asking for shop points, but the system always gave excuses like I'm busy or I'm calculating your shop points or sometimes it would just play dead. So, he had lost any hope of getting anything in return for that essence.

Now that the system was offering to help me in exchange for that, he didn't have any problem accepting the deal, even though he faintly felt he was losing out quite a lot here.

"You puny human. You killed my two companions. I'll take you back from where you came from and slaughter all of your family and friends before killing you." The demoness said, her red eyes glinting with ruthlessness.

"Let's first check where are you from?" As she said this, she grabbed toward Max's head. She wanted to use her demonic arts to check his memories. But before she could touch him, a strong sense of death filled her heart.

Whoosh!

Without hesitation, she flapped her bat wings and shot backwards.

[Keke, little lady. Where are you going in such a hurry?] An eerie laugh rang out in her ears as soon as she moved.

Hearing the voice, she knew she was in immense danger. Her demonic energy burst out and she turned into a streak of black light, escaping into the distance.

"Fuck. Why is a demon helping that human?" While running, she couldn't help but curse.

Boom!

Just then, a demonic energy, many times more powerful than hers, burst out from behind her. Feeling this, the unease in her heart grew.

'I've to use blood escape.' She thought. The blood escape was a demonic technique which would increase the user's speed by several fold when they burned their demon blood.

Just as she started igniting her blood, a voice sounded in her ears and all the blood and demon energy in her body froze.

[Little girl, you won't be able to escape even after using blood escape. Then why burn your precious blood essence, which can help my little guy here? Come here.]

As soon as the voice finished speaking, she felt an invisible energy envelop her. It immobilized her completely and flung into air before taking to the place where Max was lying, unconscious.

"Se-senior... please forgive me. I didn't know this human was your toy. I'm willing to compensate you." She gathered her courage and apologised.

[Hehe, such a nice doll! Since you are from the blood wing tribe, I won't kill you.] The system laughed.

The demoness became ecstatic when she heard this and hastily said, "Thank you, senior for sparing my life. I'm sure my tribe will be grateful."

[Hehe, grateful? If they knew my identity, I'm sure they would want nothing more than to burn me alive.] The system cackled evilly.

Upon hearing this, the demoness shivered. Could it be this monster was her tribe's enemy? If so, why would he spare her life?

[Don't be afraid, little girl. Since I said I won't kill you, it means I won't kill you.] The system said, assuaging her worries before it added, [However, I'm not sure about this kid here. You thrashed him so badly that he would want to kill you at any cost.]

"This weakling? If senior doesn't interfere, I can kill cough. I mean, I can handle him easily." The demoness said with disdain.

[Hehe, you are right. You can easily kill him. But the problem is, if he asks me to immobilize you, I'll have to do it and once you are immobilized, can't he can easily kill you then?] The system asked, laughing.

The demoness paled when she heard this. Just as she was about to speak, the system said, [It's useless pleading me. I'm not in charge, he is. However, I can persuade him to spare your life if you agree to become his sex slave.]

"NEVER." The demoness shouted in anger. She was the proud daughter of a six star elder of the blood wing tribe. How can she be a human's sex slave? It would be a disgrace to her, her tribe and the whole demon race.

[It's alright. You can wait for your death then.] The system nonchalantly said.

After that, none of them spoke and waited for Max to wake up. Because the system had already fed him a healing pill, his injuries slowly recovered and his eyelashes trembled, indicating that he was about to wake up.

Thump! Thump! Thump!

The demoness' heartbeat quickened. She knew death was near.

As if the system knew her state of mind, it said, [You can still save your life if you put your useless pride aside.]

"I..." The demoness clenched her jaws before reluctantly saying, "I agree."

[Hahaha. Good decision girl.] The system laughed.

The demoness didn't respond and stood there woodenly.

A while later, Max opened his eyes.

Rustle!

When he tried to move his body, he felt severe pain in his chest, hands, and inner organs.

"Argh! That bitch did me good." He hatefully said and then asked, "Did you kill her?"

[Nope. I just immobilized her. You can decide what you want to do with her.] The system answered.

Max glanced around and saw the demoness standing a few meters away from him, looking at him with deadpan eyes.

Seeing her, his anger flared, and he just wanted to charge and break her head with one punch, but he stopped himself.

First, he took out some healing pills and threw them into his mouth. After a while, his broken bones and injured organs started healing.

After half an hour, 70% of his injuries were healed completely.

He slowly stood up, walked to her with slow step before stopping in front of her. This demoness was half a head taller than so he had to raise his head slightly to look into her eyes.

Calmly, he stretched out his hand and then suddenly,

Slap!

He slapped her beautiful face with all of his physical strength. The crisp sound of his slapped reverberating through the forest.

Buzz!

The demoness felt her head buzz and was disoriented. When she came to her senses and realised what had happened, her blood-red eyes blazed with immense fury. She wanted to tear him limb by limb, but unfortunately, she couldn't even move and only glare at him hatefully with her half-swollen face.

Seeing her become angry, Max smiled sadistically. "Hehe, feeling angry now? Didn't you enjoy pummelling me just a while ago, huh?"

Slap!

Saying this, he slapped the other side of her face, causing it to swell as well.

Puah!

The demoness become so angry that she spat out a mouthful of blood. "Human, if not for the senior backing you, I would've killed you." She shouted, unable to hold back.

Slap!

"Who allowed you to speak?" Max asked, slapping her face once again.

Chapter 393: The tempted demoness

"Arrghh! You bastard!" The demoness was thoroughly enraged. Her demon energy started thrumming inside her body and was about to charge out. But,

Shing~

All of a sudden, it was suppressed. The demoness was helpless. If she could be free, she could kill him with every breath, but now she couldn't even move and could only be humiliated.

"You have quite the temper, don't you?" Max grinned. He then raised his right hand slowly and deliberately. He then stretched it backward and,

Slap!

He once again slapped her.

"How was it? Was it any help in controlling your temper?" Max asked, turning his ear toward her as if he really wanted to know her answer. But the next instant, he broke out in laughter, "Hahaha. My bad! I forgot you can't understand what I'm saying."

Puah!

The demoness was so angry that she spat out another mouthful of blood and her pretty face was completely red and swollen.

She knew becoming angry at this petty human wasn't going to make things easier on her. So, she shouted, "Senior. You said you'll save me if I agree to become his sex slave. Can you stop him now?"

[Little doll. Don't worry. I'll certainly save your life since you agreed to my offer. For now, let him vent his anger.] The system's voice sounded in her head.

Hearing this, she felt even more helpless. First, she had to destroy her pride and agree to be his sex slave to save her life. Now, her remaining dignity was also going to be destroyed by this bastard.

She let out a rueful sigh and closed her eyes.

Slap!

Max slapped her before asking, "Who said you could close your eyes, huh?"

To his surprise, the demoness didn't open her eyes, nor did she shout in anger upon being slapped again.

[Hehe, she seems to have accepted her fate. What are you going to do now? Are you going to kill her?] The system's amused voice sounded in his head.

"Kill her? How would that benefit me?" Max cackled maniacally. It seemed his anger had affected his rationality.

However, the system wasn't bothered by this. It asked curiously, [So, what are you going to do?]

"I remember you told me there is a spell in the system shop that can forcefully extract a woman's yin energy, right?"

Hearing this, the system almost cheered loudly and said, [Yes. There is. I can even give it to you for free.]

"How long do I need to train in it for it to work?" Max asked.

[If you were to train in it, you'll take a few weeks to months to achieve initial mastery. But with my help, you can use it right this instant.] The system offered.

"That's good then. Give me the spell and help me use it on this demon. I'll extract all of her yin energy before killing her." Max said, his eyes glinting.

[Kid, are you sure you want to do it? I remember you told me not to mention it ever again the last time I suggested?] The system asked.

"I just didn't want to use it on humans. As for her, she is a demon who almost killed me and I'm sure if she wasn't restrained by you, she would've tortured me to death. So why would I not want to use her to become stronger? From the recent happenings, I realise I'm too weak even with the help of grade three talismans. If I don't become stronger sooner, I don't think I'll survive here." Max said. Although his anger contributed to him making this decision, he was still sane and knew if he didn't take some drastic measures, he would be forever buried in this demon land.

[It's good that you can see the reality.] The system said in approval and then added, [Alright. I'm going to transfer the spell.]

Whoosh!

As soon as it spoke, a spell named 'Pure Yin extraction and assimilation skill' appeared in his mind.

It took more than half an hour for Max to read it completely. It was a very complex spell to execute as the user had to be conscious of each step while having sex or it'll fail.

'It's no wonder the system said it will take me weeks to months to achieve initial mastery of it.' He thought.

"Hey, old man. Can you find a safe and secluded place for me to start?"

[Sure. You take her and continue moving in south east. You'll soon reach a deserted valley. It's a safe place devoid of all life.] The system immediately replied.

"Alright." Max nodded before throwing the demoness over his shoulder. As he held her supple thighs, he felt good and couldn't help but give them a firm squeeze.

The demoness flinched but didn't say anything. After feeling her thighs, he ran in the southeast direction.

"Where are you taking me?" The demoness asked.

Max didn't understand what she was asking, so he just ignored her.

[He is taking you to a safe place where you need to perform sexual activities with him. Don't worry, little lady. You just have to do your best to satisfy him and I'll make sure he doesn't kill you afterwards.] System's voice sounded in her ears.

The demoness didn't answer and just sighed in regret. 'Maybe I shouldn't have come to check the disturbance. If I hadn't, nothing like this would've happened.'

...

After two hours, Max arrived at the deserted valley the system had mentioned. It was really deserted. The ground here was black, and there was no sign of any vegetation.

"Hey, have you gone mad? Why did you come to this accursed place?" The demoness on his shoulder shouted out when she noticed where they had arrived.

Slap!

Max slapped her round and plump buttocks and shouted, "Keep quiet!"

The demoness knew Max couldn't understand her, so she shouted to the system, "Senior. Quickly tell him not to enter the valley. This valley is very dangerous and anyone below king rank who enters it would slowly lose their life force."

[You don't have to worry about this. You'll be safe with me here.] The system nonchalantly replied.

"This... senior. You... are above king rank?" The demoness asked in disbelief. What was a demon above king rank doing with a human weakling?

The system didn't answer. Max, who was clueless that the demoness and the system were talking, entered the valley.

Whoosh!

As soon as he stepped on the black soil, he felt himself getting weaker by a bit, but this feeling lasted only for a brief moment before everything became normal.

The demoness was surprised when she didn't feel her life force vanishing and confirmed that this invisible senior was at least an emperor rank demon. Her father, who was an elder of the blood wing tribe, was just a peak king rank demon.

'Wouldn't my life would change if I can become his disciple?' She thought.

Although she belonged to a powerful tribe and family, because she was a female, she didn't have as many opportunities as her male siblings. She didn't even have a king rank demon as her master.

That's why when she realized this senior could be an emperor rank demon or above, the thought of becoming his disciple appeared in her mind.

'Maybe If I can satisfy this human enough and make him addicted to my body, I can stay with him and learn from this senior.' She thought. 'Yeah. That would do. These humans always fantasize about having sex with us beautiful demons. He surely would love me after doing it with me. Especially since I'm still a virgin.'

Chapter 394: The treasure trove (1)*

"Hm? This place is strange." He murmured, after feeling the anomaly.

[Of course, it's strange. From what I can tell, it was a battlefield of two monarch ranked mages or demons in the past and one of them was quite abnormal, as he seemed to have used the death energy spells. That's why this place is devoid of any vitality and no one below an emperor rank could stay here without being affected by the remnant of the death energy.] The system explained.

"So, what am doing here? Shouldn't I find another place?" Max asked, already taking a step back.

[Don't worry. You won't be affected with me protecting you. Just go. Dig a cave and do your thing.] The system reassured.

"Alright." Max nodded and walked into the valley. He knew the system wouldn't purposely harm him. Moreover, after the initial anomaly, he didn't feel anything out of the place so, he knew he was safe.

After walking around, he found a cave, which was most probably the result of some powerful attack. 'It's good enough.' Max thought, then took the demoness inside.

Thud!

He threw her on the ground and started taking off his clothes.

The demoness looked at him nervously. She couldn't believe she was going to lose her virginity to a human weakling.

Looking at her, Max frowned and asked, "Hey old man, can you stop immobilizing her while making sure she doesn't harm me during the process?" Although he was going to fuck her for the lust points' sake, he still didn't want to have sex with a bounded woman as it wouldn't feel good.

A moment later, the system responded, [She can move her body now and to make sure she doesn't pose any danger to you, I've suppressed her demon core. Now you can freely do her.]

"Okay." Max nodded. After a moment, he raised his brows and said, "I know you are going to help me operate the spell and extract her pure yin energy, but can you not watch while I have sex?"

[Tch, you little bastard. Do you think I enjoy watching people fuck?] The system angrily asked.

"Who knows?" Max shrugged.

[Just do what you need to. I promise I won't watch and will just help you operate the spell, alright?] The system sighed in resignation.

"That's good." Max nodded before completely stripping in front of the demoness. He then pointed at her and then his flaccid cock. "Suck it and make it hard."

Although she didn't understand human language, she easily understood what he wanted and her face became red in embarrassment and humiliation.

When she lowered his gaze and saw his cock, she couldn't help but cringe and thought, 'Do I really not have any other choice but to obey his orders and watch helplessly as he violates me? Do I really have to lose my virginity to his filthy thing?'

As soon as these thoughts crossed her mind, answers also appeared. Yes. If she wanted to live past today and hopefully get under the apprenticeship of the 'senior', she didn't have any other choice but to satisfy him.

Thinking about this, she gritted her teeth and slowly crawled in front of him. Then she extended her right hand and grabbed his cock.

"Oh?" When her hand touched his rod, Max let out a low, surprised exclamation because he found her hands were extremely soft and felt pretty good on his cock.

'It's soft and doesn't feel too bad.' The demoness thought. Immediately after, her face turned an alluring shade of crimson as she scolded herself. 'How can I think like this? I must've lost my mind.'

After a moment, she calmed down and thought, 'Next I have to take it in... my mouth?'

Max was watching all this. When he saw her became all flustered after touching his rod, he thought, 'She seems completely inexperienced? But aren't the demons supposed to be a promiscuous race that starts indulging themselves in sex from a very young age?'

He carefully observed her expression and determined that she wasn't acting. 'It seems we can't always believe in rumors.'

Sighing lightly, he grabbed her hand and guided it up and down onto his shaft. "Do it like this for a while."

The demoness understood and started stroking it. After a while, he put his hands on her head and pushed it toward his cock. The demoness knew what he wanted, so she parted her blood-red lips and took the tip in her mouth.

Then she hesitantly licked it, which made Max shiver slightly in pleasure. Noticing this, she started slowly licking and sucking his shaft.

In the beginning, she felt repulsed and was just doing it because she had no other choice. But after a while; she started enjoying it and her movements became more natural. She would sometimes gulp half of his cock and lick it all over with her slippery tongue and sometimes she would shove it down her throat, which would make Max groan in pleasure.

After a few minutes, he suddenly let out a loud moan, "Argh! You are good! I'm cumming!"

Saying this, he grabbed her head and shoved his cock all the way down her throat before filling it with his thick spunk.

Argh! Ghhh!

Because of his sudden action, the demoness' rhythm broke, and she choked on his cock, his cum coming out of her nostrils.

"Yeah~!" After Max emptied his balls, he took his rod out of her mouth, groaning in the after pleasure.

Cough! Cough!

The demoness, on the other hand, started coughing violently.

After she calmed down, she glared at Max with a mixture of anger, humiliation and... passion?

Seeing this, Max smiled. "Since you worked so hard to please me, I shall now reward you by fucking you." Saying this, he grabbed her by her neck, lifted her up and, with his other hand, he ripped her clothes apart, revealing a tantalizing body.

Her skin was fair and tender. Her pair of breasts wasn't too large or too small, and they were perky and full, with two alluring red nipples adorning them. She had a slender but curvaceous figure and a pair of long, sexy legs. Her buttocks were round and plump and looked very inviting. A small bush could be seen on her crotch, which only made her look sexier.

Max couldn't take his off her mesmerizing body for a while.

Seeing him stare at her body in a daze, the demoness felt a strange sense of pride and subconsciously pushed her assets out for him to admire.

Chapter 395: The treasure trove (2)*

"You are good." Max said, looking at her up and down. His anger seemed to have vanished after he ejaculated.

"Now, turn around and push your ass up." He gestured her with his hand to turn around.

Gulp!

The demoness gulped nervously before turning around. She then bent down, her hands touching the ground.

Slap!

Seeing her plump ass in front of him, Max couldn't help but give it a crisp slap, making it ripple.

After that, he started feeling her ass with his hands, kneading it roughly and occasionally slapping it. When he finally stopped, both her ass cheeks had turned red and looked even more alluring in his eyes.

He then grabbed his bulging rod and started rubbing it at her pink pussy's entrance.

Feeling his cock grinding against her labia, the demoness shivered. This moment had finally come. She was going to lose her treasured virginity any second now.

A few seconds later, Max felt her pussy become slightly moist. Noticing this, he didn't wait any longer. After adjusting the tip of his cock on her entrance, he firmly clasped her slender waist and, all of a sudden, Thwop!

He thrust forward. His cock piercing her tight canal like a sharp spear, easily breaking her hymen.

"Ahhnngg~!" The demoness' body jerked violently and she let out a loud, pained moan when she felt his thick cock's pierce her pussy and forcefully stretch her pussy walls.

"Argh. This feels good." Max also moaned, but he did it in pleasure. The feeling of a virgin pussy was magical and very addictive. But this wasn't all. He felt another strange feeling. This feeling differed completely from the sexual one. It was the feeling of dominating someone.

Thwop! Thwop! Thwop!

After pausing for a moment to savour the pleasure, he started thrusting in and out of her warm pussy. He started with some slow and gentle thrusts, which became fast and rough as time went on.

Ahnngg~ Ohh~ Hnngg~ Umm~

The demoness also continued to moan aloud. In the beginning, it was because of the pain and the sense of helplessness and humiliation, but after a while, when the pain subsided, the pleasure took over her senses. She no longer felt any helplessness or humiliation. There was only pure ecstasy, and after tasting it, she wanted it even more.

This continued for a good twenty minutes before both of them climaxed with a loud moan.

Ahhnnngggg~

Arghhh!

After filling her womb with his thick milk, Max unplugged her pussy and started heaving deep breaths.

Initially, he had planned to finish sooner, but the demoness possessed high stamina and she wouldn't finish no matter how good she felt. So he continued to fuck her for twenty minutes before she climaxed.

In reality, the demoness was close to climax five minutes after they started, but because she wanted to feel that heavenly pleasure for longer, she continued to hold back. Finally, when the pleasure reached its acme, she couldn't hold back and climaxed.

However, what she hadn't expected was that, as soon as she started climaxing, she started feeling weaker. It felt as if she was losing her energy. By the time the human behind her ass took out his thick cock out of her pussy, her face had turned sickly pale and her head started spinning.

Thud!

She lifelessly fell on the ground. Turning her head around with difficulty, she glanced at Max with resentment in her eyes and asked in a feeble voice, "Wh-What... have you done... to me?"

Max, however, didn't pay her any attention and was dazedly looking at in front of him.

[The pure yin extraction and assimilation has been successful. You've gained 200,000 Lust Points.]

"T-Two hundred thousand? Doesn't it mean I can enhance another 2000 units of mana to the three-star level? Isn't she a treasure trove?" He mumbled in disbelief.

[Hehe, kid. It's amazing, right? If you had used it the first time I told you, you would've reached the three-star realm by now.] The system's smug voice sounded in his ears.

Suddenly remembering something, he glanced at the demoness, who was glaring at him hatefully with a pale face.

"What's her condition right now?" He asked with a frown.

[Tch, why do you care about her? Didn't she want to kill you a while ago? I'm telling you kid, you should stop being so soft.]

"Just tell me." Max asked again, completely ignoring its words.

[She is alright and is only feeling weak temporarily because she has lost a third of her total yin energy. After she recovers it, she will be as good as new.] The system answered before adding in a suggestive tone, [I say, you should use yin extraction one more time. That way, you'll gain another 200,000 lust points while she would still be alive since she will still have a third of her yin energy left.]

Max was silent for a while before asking, "How difficult is to recover the yin energy?"

[To be honest, if it was any other person, it would have taken them years, if not decades, to recover, even if they only lost one third of their yin energy. Of course, this estimation is without taking the natural yin treasures into consideration.]

[But this little girl, she is an exception because she belongs to the blood wing demon tribe. The blood wing demon tribe is a branch of blood demons who used to reign over the continent in the ancient era thanks to their superior affinity with blood. They could use the blood of any creature to nourish themselves and become stronger quickly without any side effects.]

[As a descendant of the blood demons, she should have a high blood affinity. If she were to consume enough female blood, she can easily replenish her yin energy.] The system said.

Hearing this, Max's expression turned cold, "This is why you didn't kill her and only restrained her because you wanted me to use yin extraction on her, right?"

[Hehe, kid. Don't try to blame me. I never told you to use the yin extraction on her. It was your decision.] The system cackled, amused.

Max went silent upon hearing this, his eyes flickering in deep thought.

[So, what are you going to do now? Will you use yin extraction and become stronger or be stupid and kill her?] The system asked.

"It depends." Max revealed a smile before he squatted down beside the demoness.

Chapter 396: Learning the demon language

Hearing system's question, Max smiled indifferently, "It depends."

[Depends? On what?]

"On her choice." Saying this, he squatted down beside the demoness and looked directly into her blood-red eyes.

"Can you translate my words so she can understand what I am saying?" He asked the system.

[Yes, I can. But I won't.] The system chuckled after refusing.

A vein on his forehead popped up when Max heard this, but he calmed himself down since he knew the system won't ever help him for free. So, he asked, "What do you want?"

[Hehe, I see you've become a little intelligent. Good. As for what I want, it depends on your choice.] The system snickered, repeating his words.

"Just say it clearly."

[Okay, okay. If you want me to just translate your words to her, I'll charge you 1000 LPs for one time. However, I have a better deal. I can just give the all the linguistic knowledge of the common demon language to you so you won't need me to translate at all. But it'll cost you only 50,000 LPs. I say, kid. This is an excellent deal.]

When Max heard he could learn the demon language, he was about to nod his head since learning the language himself would be quite convenient. But his expression stiffened when he heard the price.

He then laughed sarcastically, "Hehe, 'only 50,000'? Isn't the price too cheap this time? When did you become so generous?"

[Cough, kid. I've always been generous. If you think this price is too high, I can give a little discount and make the price go down to 40,000. This is my limit as you should know learning a language is a very difficult and long process, but here I'm offering to help you learn in a matter of a few seconds. So, no matter how you think, this is a very reasonable price.] The system coughed and lowered the price by 10,000.

"I'll give you 20,000 max." Max said with a stoic expression on his face.

[20,000? Are you kidding me, kid? 20,000 won't...] The system became hysterical when it heard Max's offer.

"So, do we have a deal or not? If not, you can just take 1000 LPs and translate for me this time. I don't think I'll need the demon language apart from this time." Max casually cut the system's grumblings short.

[Hehe, do you think I'm stupid? You'll stay here more than a month to repay your more than a million LPs debt and you would certainly need the demon language. Not only that, even after you went back, the knowledge of this language would still be useful when the demon army attacks.] The system laughed and counted the benefits of learning the demon language.

"So?" Max asked with a light smile on his face.

Hearing this, the system remained silent for a moment before speaking. [Sigh, kid. You win. I'll charge you only 30,000. Now, shall we start?]

"Hmm? It seems the mighty supreme mage is having some hearing problem. I said I'll pay you 20,000, not 30,000." Max scoffed at the system's obvious attempt to swindle him.

[How about 25,000?] The system asked.

"20,000. I won't pay even a single point more. It's your decision." Max firmly said.

[Tsk. So miserly! Okay. It's 20,000 then.] The system finally resigned.

"Mm." Max nodded in satisfaction. It wasn't easy to earn LPs, and he also needed for his mana enhancement. So, he didn't want to let the system let take advantage of him by charging unreasonable price even if he knew learning the demon language would prove quite beneficial down the line.

[Don't resist. I'm transferring all the knowledge related to the common demon language.] The system said. Max nodded and relaxed his mind.

A moment later, he felt a surge of a lot of information in his mind. While he assimilated this information, the system took away 20,000 LPs.

All this while, when Max was haggling with the system, the demoness was looking at him with hatred and killing intent in her eyes.

'This bastard stole my vital yin energy.' She had already realised why she was feeling so weak and sick so suddenly. 'It was no wonder this bastard wanted to have sex with me. It wasn't for humiliating me or to fulfil his lustful desires, but to absorb my vital yin.'

When the 'senior' said that she could keep her life if she had sex with him, she was puzzled because just a moment before, she almost killed him. So why would he be willing to spare his life just for sex? It didn't make sense to her. But now she understood and became immensely angry at the shameless duo. Unfortunately, she couldn't do anything about it.

After a few minutes, Max opened his eyes. He then checked if the system had taken more LPs than agreed, but it hadn't done such a thing.

[You little twerp, if I wanted to steal your points, was there any need for me to make a deal with you?] The system angrily asked. It didn't like the fact that Max wasn't trusting it at all.

"Yeah. Sorry for being overcautious." Max offhandedly said before shifting his gaze to the demoness.

The demoness tensed, feeling his predatory gaze on her.

Seeing this, Max smiled and spoke in the demon language, "Relax. I won't harm you as long as you are obedient to me. Now, tell me. What's your name?"

The demoness' eyes widened in surprise. "Y-You can speak the demon language."

"What do you think?" Max asked.

The demoness didn't answer. After a moment, her surprise also receded when she thought about the mysterious 'senior'. For someone of his calibre, it wasn't at all surprising if he could teach this weakling their demon language through memory transmission.

She then looked at Max and feebly said, "My name is Amara. Amara Bloodwing."

"Amara." Max nodded and asked, "So, tell me Amara. Do you want to live or do you want to die?"

(A/N: Amara's reference picture is in the chapter comments. You can check it out.)

Chapter 397: Expensive slave

"Heh. Of course, I want to live. Isn't that why I agreed to suffer such humiliation in the first place? But I had never expected you to be this cruel and extract my vital yin." Amara hatefully said.

"Agreed to?" Max raised his brows in confusion. A moment later, he realized the system must have made some deal with her.

Extending his hand, he slowly caressed her now pale face and asked with a smirk, "How it is cruel? You are my enemy. If not for someone protecting me in time, you would've killed me. I believe no matter what I do to you, it won't be cruel, but only right. Isn't this the unwritten rule of the magic world? Or, am I wrong here?"

Hearing his question, Amara was tongue tied. She knew he was right. If you couldn't kill your enemy, you should be prepared to face a life worse than death.

In the end, she could only glare at him and ask, "So, what do you want now?"

Hearing this, a smile appeared on his face. He stopped caressing her face and said word by word, "I want you to become my slave. If you agree, I'll spare your life. Don't worry. I won't ask you to betray your tribe or do anything that's against your beliefs. Think about it carefully before you answer, as your life depends on it."

"Huh?" Amara's expression worsened as soon as she heard this and hysterically shouted, "Senior, didn't you say you'll save my life if agree to satisfy him? Why do I have to become his slave now?"

[Little doll, I did say that and as a result, aren't you still alive? However, I never said you'll be able to escape. Kekeke.] The system's cackled evilly.

Max's brows scrunched up together when he heard their exchange, but didn't say anything. He just waited for her decision.

Amara had become so angry after hearing 'the' senior's reply that she almost spat out a mouthful of blood in anger.

After a while, she glanced at Max and angrily asked, "If I agree to become your slave, won't I still die when you extract my remaining vital yin energy? So, isn't is better for me to die right now?"

"Mm? Don't you have the blood demon's powers? Can't you just consume other female's blood and recover your yin energy?" Max asked, confused. Was she trying to deceive him and gain some more benefits?

"Hahahaha. You really aren't from here. You don't know anything about us demons." Amara laughed. She had already suspected that Max might not be a native of the demon continent because he didn't even know the common demon language before and now, he was proving it by saying that she had blood demon's powers.

She then continued, "The blood demon's power that you speak of is a bloodline ability and very few people in my tribe can awaken their bloodline. If not, why do you think my tribe isn't even in the top ten demon tribes right now? So, tell me, how am I supposed to recover when I haven't awakened my bloodline?"

"Old man, don't tell me you forgot to tell me this?" Max asked the system.

[So what if she hasn't already? I can help her awaken it.] The system indifferently said.

"Huh?" Amara's body jerked in surprise when she heard it and she asked in disbelief, "S-Senior, can you really do it?"

[Heh, I'm capable of doing things that others can't possibly hope to imagine. Awakening dormant bloodlines is just a small thing for me.] The system proudly declared.

Amara started trembling in excitement when she heard the confirmation. If she could awaken her bloodline, her tribe would pay special attention to her and pour more resources for her development.

She could even compete for the tribe leader's position. Most importantly, she could request the higher ups to pardon her loving big brother and free him.

Thinking all this, her heartbeat quickened as she hurriedly asked, "T-Then can you really awaken my bloodline if I agree to become his slave?"

[Of course.]

Hearing this, Amara looked at Max and resolutely said, "I agree to become your slave, but as you promised, you are not to ask me to betray my tribe or ask me to do anything that is against my beliefs."

Max didn't answer her immediately, but spoke to the system instead. "I believe I will have to pay you to awaken her bloodline. Is that right?"

Hearing this, Amara was surprised. What can a two-star weakling pay to an emperor or maybe a monarch level demon?

[That's right. If you want me to awaken her bloodline, you've to pay me a million lust points. If you agree, not only will I help you awaken her bloodline, I will also give you an ancient slave spell which will help you control any person or beast, irrespective of their power level. Of course, the target shouldn't resist even a slight bit when you cast this spell or it'll fail and you'll receive a severe backlash.] The system said.

"I appreciate your goodwill for offering me such an amazing spell for free." Max calmly said. He knew there wasn't any spell that could help you control a person or beast if they were a major realm above the user. Therefore, the spell the system offered was certainly a legendary spell that people would become mad for if they knew of its existence.

Saying this, he continued, "However, 1 million LPs are way too much. If you offer a reasonable..."

[Hey, hey. Stop right there.] The system interrupted before he could say anything and transmitted its angry voice into his head.

[You think 1 million is too much? How laughable! She gave you 200,000 when you've only extracted one third of her yin energy. This means she is worth 600,000 LPs as of now. So, you can easily imagine how much would she be worth after her bloodline is awakened and she can easily recover her yin energy. Tell me, is a million still seem too much to you?]

Hearing this, Max shrugged, "Alright. I agree." He just wanted to try his luck again to see if he could lower the price.

He then asked, "Can I also pay this one million in the demon cores?"

Chapter 398: Mystical slave spell

[No! You can't. Only the things you buy from the shop can be paid in demon cores.] The system denied.

"Alright." Max sighed and then asked, "Tell how many demon cores I need to collect to pay the previous debt?"

[Hm? Let's see. The demon cores of an early, middle, late and peak stage two-star demon are worth 1000, 1500, 2000 and 3000 shop points or lust points, respectively. In the case of three-star demon cores, they are worth 10,000, 15,000, 20,000, and 30,000. As for the four-star cores or higher, I believe telling that to you now would just be a waste of time.]

[Now, since you bought a grade four vitality pill for that little girl Rima which was worth 400,000 LPs and agreed to pay double, it's 800,000 and a Foundation healing pill which was worth around 100,000 after doubling the price, it's 200,000. So, in total, you need to pay a million SPs.]

[You can convert these million SPs to the demon cores according to the exchange rate I just told you.] The system explained everything like an experienced debt collector before it added, [Oh, right? I've already collected the cores of those two demons you killed before. Both were only early-stage three-star demons so now you've to pay 20,000 less.]

"Okay." Max distractedly nodded. In his mind, he was calculating how many demons he had to kill to pay back all the debt. No, only paying back wasn't going to suffice. He needed to have some extra SPs to use when needed since he couldn't afford to buy things on debt.

'But I'm not strong enough to face three-star demons and killing enough two-star demons to pay this colossal debt would take at least a few months, which I don't want or afford to waste on this damned continent.' He thought.

After a while, he snapped out of his thought and looked at Amara with shining eyes.

Amara felt shivers run down her spine under his gaze. 'What is this pervert planning to do now?' She thought.

"Hey, old man. Hurry and give me that ancient slave spell now. Let me first enslave her so she won't think of betraying me." Max said.

[Alright.] The system said.

Phew!

Max breathed out and relaxed his mind.

Whoosh!

After a slight headache, a new spell appeared in his mind. Although it had a lot of information, it wasn't too complicated.

After comprehending it, he ordered Amara, "Relax and don't resist. I'm going to brand your soul with the slave seal."

Amara's expression flickered, and the light in her eyes dimmed.

Even though she knew after becoming his slave, she could awaken her bloodline, become strong, do and achieve things she always dreamt of, she didn't feel any happiness at this moment because she won't be free and her life would be his hands.

"Don't worry. If you are obedient and honest with me, you'll realise I'm an excellent master to serve." Max said, after seeing her downcast expression. However, his words only got him a hateful glare from Amara.

"Ahem! Get ready. I'm going to start." Seeing that his words didn't have intended effect, he coughed lightly, extended his hand toward her head, closed his eyes and started casting the spell according to the instructions.

Whoosh! Whoosh!

As he circulated his mana, the mana in surrounding churned and started gathering in front of his palm.

'To cause so much disturbance, it's indeed an ancient spell.' Amara was shocked.

As the mana continued to gather in front of his palm, Max's hand started trembling and beads of sweat appeared on his forehead. The spell was taking a toll on him.

"Argh!" Suddenly, he felt a stinging pain in his head, as if something had pricked his soul and he started losing focus.

Just then, the spell was completed and a small, strange looking golden seal hovered in front of his palm.

Gulp!

Amara gulped nervously. Just the presence of the seal was making her feel uneasy. Strangely, Max also felt some pressure from it.

He then controlled it and sent it flying toward Amara's head.

Swoosh!

"Ahhhhhhh...!" As the seal entered her forehead, Amara let out a loud, pained cry. Her body started twitching violently and her already pale face became even more deathly pale.

Seeing her in so much pain, although he was still angry at her for trying to kill him, he couldn't help but feel bad.

"Hey, old man. Is there any way to lessen the pain she is feeling somehow?" He asked the system.

[Hehe, you don't want her to feel pain? Sure. There is a way. You can just stop the spell.] The system laughed.

'Mm?' Max flinched when he heard this.

Interrupting a spell midway always had consequences. The stronger and more complicated the spell, the more severe the consequences. Given how difficult it was to cast this slave spell, he knew the consequences would be quite severe.

He glanced at Amara and said in his mind, 'Sigh! You just have to endure it then.'

After a few seconds, he suddenly had a strange feeling. He felt as if he shared a strange bond with Amara and felt closer to her.

At the same time he had this feeling, Amara stopped struggling and her pained cries also subsided.

"Are you alright now?" Max asked while taking out a healing pill and feeding her, even though he knew it wouldn't make her feel better.

Amara looked at him in silence for a moment before nodding her head lightly. "I... I'm fine."

When she looked at him now, her eyes didn't have the same resentment and hatred she had for him a while ago.

Noticing these anomalies, Max couldn't help think, 'This spell is really mystical.'

Amara lay weakly on the ground and, as she closed her eyes in exhaustion, she murmured in a low voice, "Senior... can you... awaken... my bloodline now?"

[Little girl. Don't worry about it. I'll certainly help you awaken your bloodline, but first, you need to rest for a while.] The system said.

Right after the system spoke, Amara felt a strange energy enter her body, which made her feel comfortable. Her wrinkled brows loosened and her pale face regained some colour.

"Thank... you. Senior..." she softly said before falling into a deep sleep.

Chapter 399: Master Max

Seeing her pass out on the ground, Max sighed and took out a bed from his inventory before placing her on it and covering her naked body with a blanket.

He then wore a loose robe, walked to a corner, sat down cross-legged and took out a few bottles of top-tier grade two foundation strengthening liquid before opening his status screen and chose to enhance 600 units of mana.

Swoosh!

60,000 LPs vanished from his status screen and the 600 units of his mana started changing slowly.

As the enhancement finished, the additional 600 units of three-star mana exuded their pressure on his mana core, but fortunately, his core was quite sturdy since he had strengthened it previously and handled the pressure without much difficulty.

Despite that, Max still drank a bottle of top-tier foundation strengthening liquid and reinforced it using some of the enhanced mana. After he was done, he once again enhanced another 600 units.

He repeated the same cycle once more, used the last 60,000 LPs and enhanced another 600 units of mana.

[Mana: 9,970 (6270 three-star mana)]

'Now, I only need approximately 370,000 more LPs to enhance the whole 10,000 units. After that, I'll only need to reconstruct my core and I'll be a full-fledged three-star mage.' Max thought, clenching his fist in excitement.

Half a day later...

Amara's eyes lashes fluttered gently before she slowly opened her eyes.

'Mm?' She frowned when she noticed a thin blanket covering her body. 'That pervert covered me?' She thought, surprised.

"You're up?" Just then, she heard Max's voice from her side.

When she saw him sitting on the ground while she was lying on the bed, her heart stirred for some reason.

She nodded and said lightly, "Mhm. Thank you for... covering me and letting me sleep in your bed."

Hearing this, Max stood up, walked up to her, caressed her smooth cheek with his fingers gently, and smiled. "No need to thank me. You are my property and I like to take care of my things."

Amara stared at him with her blood-red eyes without saying anything. She was supposed to feel angry since he called her 'property' so blatantly, but she didn't.

Max also looked into her eyes and said, "Your eyes are... intoxicating."

Hearing his compliment, a small blush crept up on her cheeks, but she snorted softly and said, "You find them intoxicating? All the other humans dread looking into our eyes."

Max shrugged at her comment and asked with a smile, "Now then, shall we start your bloodline awakening process?"

Amara's eyes twinkled when she heard this and immediately nodded. "Yes, m-master. Please ask the senior to help me."

'Hm? Master? It doesn't sound bad.' Max mused when he heard her call him master.

A moment later, he snapped out of his thoughts and said, "Okay. Old man. Let's start the awakening process now."

Just like Amara, he also wanted to awaken her bloodline as soon as possible, since he could only use her when she had her bloodline powers.

[Okay. Little girl, sit down in cross-legged position.] The system ordered.

Amara immediately threw her blanket away and sat up, her beautiful breasts jiggling.

When Max saw her sensual body again, his thoughts stirred. He coughed lightly and said, "How about you wear something first?"

Amara wasn't in the mood waste any time dressing up, but she had to obey him. So, she hurriedly took out a blood red gown and wore it.

The system then spoke. [Now, listen carefully. In a while, you will feel as if all the blood in your body is boiling and you'll also feel a lot of pain. But remember, you have to endure it and not pass out, or the awakening will fail, understand?]

"Yes. Senior." Amara solemnly nodded.

[Alright. Kid. Put your hand on her back.] The system instructed Max.

Max nodded and touched her back with his palm.

Whoosh!

As soon as he did that, waves of energy burst forth from his body and vanished into Amara's body.

"Mm!" Amara trembled when she felt the energy merge into her blood and marrow.

"Ahhhhhh!" Just when she was wondering why she wasn't feeling the pain the system had warned her about, she suddenly felt her blood boil, literally. Her body temperature soared. She tried to endure it by clenching her teeth, but just in a few moments, the pain crossed her endurance limit and she started crying out.

"Mm?" Since Max was touching her, he could feel her temperature and her body convulse in pain. Seeing how painful the process was, he let out a sigh and murmured, "Fortunately, I don't have any bloodline."

However, just as he said this, the system's laughter sounded in his ears. [Hehe, kid. Who said you don't have a bloodline?]

"What? Do you mean I also have a bloodline?" Max asked in surprise.

[That's right.]

"But how could this be? Neither my father nor any of my siblings have awakened a blood... wait... Could it be that I inherit from my mother?" Max murmured after hearing the confirmation.

Thinking this, his eyes shined, and he asked in excitement, "Since I have a bloodline, can also help me awaken it?"

[I can. But not right now.] The system answered.

"Why is that? Is it because I'm already in debt?" Max frowned. "If that's the case, rest assured as I will certainly repay..."

[That's not the true reason.]

"Then what is it?" Max impatiently asked.

[Well, let's put it this way. I'm currently not strong enough to trigger its awakening. If you want me to help awaken it, you need to help me recover faster.] The system said.

"Tsk!" Max clicked his tongue in annoyance but didn't say anything.

...

While they were helping Amara awaken her bloodline, the branch of the bloodwing tribe to which Amara and the other two demons belonged was in an uproar.

Bang!

"Who dared kill my son?" Two houses exploded, one after another, and two middle-aged demons flew out.

"Keritch! Your son is dead too?" The demon who charged out later asked the first one.

"YES!" Keritch growled. He was the father of the demon who could track Max.

Hearing the commotion, other demons came out of their homes.

Keritch glanced down and asked angrily, "Who can tell my where my son went?"

"I-I know, my lord." A young demon timidly spoke up.

Whoosh!

Keritch extended his hand toward the young demon, who uncontrollably flew toward him.

Clasping his neck, Keritch asked, "Tell me."

"My... my lord. Your son and lord Seriath's son went to the dead forest with young lady Amara." The young demon said.

Hearing this, both Keritch and Seriath exchanged a glance, their expression changing.

"We need to inform the Elder. Since our sons are dead, maybe the young lady Amara is too. I hope he doesn't blame us." Both said at the same time.

Whoosh! Whoosh!

Then they flew toward the centre of the city.

After a while, they arrived above the city centre and flew down into the mansion.

Whoosh! Whoosh! Whoosh!

"Halt!" Many demons flew over with long spears in their hands and blocked their way.

However, when they recognised the two, their expression became respectful. Their leader, however, frowned and asked, "My lords. How come you came charging in unannounced?"

- Chapter 400: Osmont

Chapter 400: Osmont

"Commander. This isn't the time to waste time on such things. We need to meet the branch leader as soon as possible. Young lady Amara's life might be in danger." Keritch said before moving deeper into the mansion. Seriath followed behind him after nodding at the guard commander.

(A/N: Amara's father is being addressed as branch leader here because he is the leader of this branch of the blood wing tribe. In the , Amara called her father an elder because he was also one of the elders of the entire tribe. I hope it's not confusing.)

Seeing that their commander didn't stop the duo from entering, a demon guard spoke up, "Lord commander, shouldn't we stop them? The branch leader had ordered us not to let anyone in unannounced."

Slap!

The commander slapped him as soon as he spoke and said in anger, "Do you think I don't want to? But they are five fucking star demons. Given how urgent they seemed, if I had tried to stop them even after their 'explanation', it would've enraged them. What if they killed me in anger? Who is going to be responsible?"

The guard who just got slapped wiped the blood from his lips and apologised, "Forgive me for speaking without consideration, lord commander."

"Hmph!" The commander harrumphed and said, "You guys return to your posts. I'll follow them inside."

Whoosh!

Saying this, he flew behind the duo. If he was present with them when the branch leader met them, his punishment would not be too serious. If not, he would be charged with the dereliction of duty and his punishment would be harsh, which he didn't want.

After he left, the slapped guard spat out a mouthful of blood and resentfully said, "Such a coward! Wait until I become a four-star demon, too. Then I'll whoop your ass."

"Hehe. You'll only be an early-stage demon while he is already a mid-stage. How will you achieve that right after breaking through to the four-star? Could it be that you've awakened your bloodline?" Someone mockingly asked. Hearing this, others also started laughing.

"Tch! I meant after becoming stronger than him. Now, stop showing your teeth and let's return to our posts or he will cry about it, too." The first demon hurriedly changed the topic before flying away.

...

Whoosh! Whoosh!

Keritch and Seriath sped toward the enormous hall in the centre.

However, before they could barge in, they were stopped by the two guards standing outside the hall. "Halt!"

Seriath was about to shout at them, but when he saw their faces, his words stuck in his throat. These two guards were also five-star demons, and they were stronger than Keritch or him, so he had to show them their due respect.

"Old sirs, we need to meet branch leader urgently. It's related to young lady Amara's safety." Keritch said with a light bow.

"Oh?" The two old demons raised their brows. After exchanging a glance, they nodded. However, just as they were about to take out their communication crystals, a laughing voice sounded from the side.

"Hehe, why are you guys in such a hurry?"

When the two old guards, Keritch and Seriath, glanced in the voice's direction, they saw a handsome man walking toward them. He was wearing a dazzling blood red robe and had a relaxed smile on his face.

(A/N: It's a male demon but constantly addressing them as male demon or female demon is weird so I'll call write them as man or woman.)

Seeing him, all of them knelt down on one knee and saluted in unison, "Greetings, young Lord Osmont." This was the branch leader's son and Amara's half-brother.

"Please rise and tell me what's the matter. Why do you guys seem worried?" Osmont asked.

One of the two old demons glanced at Keritch and Seriath and said, "They are our branch elders, Keritch and Seriath, respectively. They want to meet branch leader urgently because they have some news related to young lady Amara's safety."

"Oh? What happened to my dear sister?" Osmont asked with interest.

"What happened was..." Seriath took the chance and told him everything he knew.

After hearing everything, Osmont sighed, "I grieve your losses."

"Thank you, young Lord. However, that's not important right now. Young lady Amara's safety is the most important concern right now." Seriath said, faking his concern.

He was constantly praying that she should be alive because if she was also dead, the branch leader might blame her death on their deceased sons and it would create a lot of trouble for their families.

Even though Keritch was furious and saddened by his son's death, he had to suppress it and show concern for Amara's safety, too.

Osmont looked at them with the same relaxed smile and said, "Alright. I'll go and talk to father. You guys wait here."

Saying this, he pushed open the giant gates and walked inside.

Seriath looked at Keritch and spoke through telepathy. [It seems the rumours are true. Young Lord Osmont doesn't like young lady Amara. He didn't seem concerned at all.]

Keritch glared at him and replied coldly, [It's good you finally know. Now shut up. Although your useless son's doesn't affect you much, it's not the same with me. If you speak another word to me, I'll chop your wings off.]

Hearing this, Seriath became angry and shouted back, [I dare you to touch me, you cheap bastard? And it's your son who was useless. He must be the reason my son and possibly lady Amara are dead.]

Boom!

When Keritch heard this, his anger flared, and his demon energy burst out uncontrollably before he punched toward Seriath.

Boom!

Seriath didn't back down. He also released his demon energy and threw his fist at the incoming punch.

Thud!

However, before their attacks could collide, an even more formidable demon energy burst out from the one of the old guards and froze them in their place.

"Where do you think you are right now? Behave or I won't mind teaching you both a lesson." He coldly said.

Keritch and Seriath glared at each other before apologising to the old man and stood silently.

Meanwhile, Osmont walked to the end of the hall, respectfully kneeled down on one knee and looked at the wall in front of him and said, "Lord Father. It seems little sister Amara is in trouble, or perhaps she has already..."

Before he could complete his sentence, an apathetic voice sounded in his ears, [Don't be happy. She is still alive. Now it's your duty to bring her back unharmed.]

Hearing this, Osmont's eyes flickered, and he let out a disappointed sigh, and he nodded, "Yes, lord father."