Strongest Mage with the Lust system Chapter 640: Alex and The Old Blind Man

Meanwhile in a far away place...

A young man in ragged clothes carefully walked down an empty street, constantly looking around.

When he was about to walk by an abandoned house, he stealthily took a disk shaped artifact, took a look at it and relaxed.

Suddenly, he took a step to the side, toward the abandoned house.

Woop!

The air rippled in front of him and he disappeared, leaving no trace behind of his presence.

"You are here again..." Right then, an aged voice sounded out in his head.

The young man raised his head and saw a blind, white haired old man, sitting in an old reclining chair.

He smiled and jogged over to him, and knelt down on his side, "Hello, old man. How are you?"

gently ruf ing his hair. The young man named Alex became awkward when he heard this and said somewhat defensively, "What do you mean, old

"I'm ne, kid. Tell me, why have you come here this time? Someone was chasing you down again?" The old man asked, man? I just came here to check up on you, to see if you were still alive."

"Haha. I still have many years to live, kid. Still, thanks for worrying about me." The old man gave a good natured laugh.

ADVERTISEMENT

Alex's face fell when he heard this and he said through gritted teeth, "Damn old man! Do you really have to make me feel

The old man stayed silent.

The old man just smiled, causing Alex to sigh, "Alright. I came here because I needed your help."

Emperor's lineage has awakened the Imperial Bloodline." The old man's hand paused for a brief moment before he continued caressing Alex's hair.

Seeing this, Alex continued in a hushed voice, "I got wind of a fantastic piece of news. It seems someone of the Domain

"However, what is surprising is that he isn't from the main or any of the branch family. People from the Domain Emperor Family have tried to locate him with the bloodline beckoning compass but with no success." Alex, suppressing his excitement, said, "The Domain Emperor Family tried to keep this news under wraps but it came out and when it did, their enemy, the Silverthorn family, has issued a bounty." "Whoever brings them the head of this person with Imperial bloodline, they will reward him ten million High Grade Mana

After he nished speaking, the old man remained silent for a while before he sighed and removed his hand from Alex's Stones, one suitable Tier Nine cultivation technique, and a chance to cultivate in front of their Law Comprehension Stele."

head and asked, "So, you want me to divine his location?" Alex hesitantly nodded, "If you did that, it would be a tremendous help to me. If I can nd this guy and kill him, I'll be able to break through into the King Mage realm with a sturdy foundation." The blind old man turned his head in his direction and looked at him, which sent shivers down Alex's spine.

"You are willing to become the Domain Emperor Family for just some minor gains?" He asked, his voice calm.

ADVERTISEMENT

help him, but now he was asking him questions?

Alex, although a big risk taker and a bit greedy, wasn't stupid. Even though he couldn't sense the old man's cultivation level and the old man had himself told him he was nothing but a small-time diviner—a profession that had almost vanished from

Alex felt uneasy because he had rarely seen the old man act so strangely. Normally, he would just make some jokes and the world in its long history-he was de nitely a very wise, worldly man, even if he wasn't an expert. So, if he was asking this seriously, he couldn't take it lightly like he usually would. So, he gave it a deep thought and eventually nodded.

"Yes. I'm willing to. If I don't take this risk, I won't be able to break through with a good foundation, and my future would be limited. So, for my future and..." Alex took a deep breath, "Anyway, If I have to become their enemy, so be it."

The old man was silent for some time before he shook his head, "Alex boy, I have always liked your fearlessness and boldness, but I have to say, your decision is very... stupid."

"You don't know what the consequences of making an enemy of a family with a long history and deep foundation like the

"So, I advise you to think again."

Alex shook his head, "There is no need to think again. I want to do it."

Domain Emperor family are."

"Very well. Give me a moment." The old man sighed and closed his eyes. Zoom!

cant. But he was used to this as he would always feel the A strange sensation swept past Alex, making him feel insigni same whenever he asked the old man to divine something for him.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Old man, don't tell me you couldn't divine it?" Alex asked, nervous. The old man didn't respond for a while. When he did, he said, "Remember, the situation is ever changing. But no matter what happens, make sure to always follow your heart even if it seems detrimental to you." Saying this, he waved his hand and Alex found himself on the street, out the abandoned house.

As he watched him with anticipation, the old man's brows furrowed together before he opened his eyes.

Just then, the old man's voice sounded in his head, [Forsaken Land.]

He was stunned for a moment before he shouted, "Damn it, old man. You didn't tell me his location."

doing there?" "Forget it. I have to nd a way to go there."

Swoosh!

Meanwhile, inside the pocket space, the blind old man murmured, "I can only help you this much, Kid. Now, you are on your "Forsaken land?" Alex murmured before his brows knit together, "Fuck! What's a member of the Domain Emperor family

Swoosh!

ADVERTISEMENT

nished speaking, he vanished along with his decrepit, reclining chair. A moment later, the pocket space shook and... it was no more.

The next time Alex came, he would nd nothing but the abandoned house.