

Sold To The Scarred Alpha Chapter 31

XANDER

“Alpha, you have a visitor,” a maid came to announce while I was busy working in my study room. I wasn't expecting to see anyone, which made me confused

“Who is it?” I frowned. If there was anything I hated, it had to be having people interrupt my day, especially when I was not expecting them

“He claimed to be Alpha Maxwell, sir. Should I let him in?” She asked and I nodded.

The maid left the room immediately and Alpha Maxwell came in with a smile on his face.

“Alpha Xander, I'm sorry to trouble you without any prior notice hope you don't mind?” He said with a smile as he took his

“Will you leave if I said I do? I frowned at the hypocrisy and he cleared his throat. He was here on his own accord so why bother to ask if it was okay when he was already interrupting my day?”

Would anyone be okay with an unnecessary interruption when they are in the middle of something? I don't like people who pretend. I wasn't one with such an attitude and I won't condone it

Just then, a maid came in and brought a tray with her that contained two cups of tea. She served Alpha Maxwell and I before disappearing again. I bet he was here to talk about the business idea he wanted to tell me at the party before things ended the way they did.

“First. I'd like to apologize once again for what happened at my birthday party. I was the one who invited everyone over. I should have ensured that my guests were all protected,” he said and I grunted in response.

“Maybe you should. I mean, you did invite a fool to your party, Isnarled and he cleared his throat..”

“I'm sorry. I hope you can forget what happened, Alpha Maxwell pleaded.

I can forgive anything, but this isn't one of them. Alpha Maxwell crossed the line. He tried to force his way on the woman who was carrying my child. As if that wasn't enough, he still couldn't bring himself to apologize for what he did when I clearly told him to stay away from her. Of course, I cannot forgive such an attitude.

He is going to pay for it. By now, I believe everyone already knows that I do not have a forgiving heart.

“Alpha Xander, Alpha Maxwell called again and I snapped at him.

“Why do you care whether I forgive him or not? This has nothing to do with you.”

“I feel partly at fault for what happened and it would only be fair if I apologize for how the party went down.”

“If what you are worried about was me attacking your pack alongside his, then I have no plan on doing such. I don’t fight. without a reason.

“Even if that is the case-

“This is between Alpha Luxwell and me. Did you see him here begging for my mercy? No. Do you know why? Because he believes he can fight me man to man so let us deal with it. This is none of your business.”

I was starting to get mad from the way kept on trying to prolong the conversation. This is not up for discussion and I’d appreciate it if he just kept his mouth shut.

“I know you are pretty angry about what happened, but Alpha Laxwell is my friend. I know there is no excuse for what happened that night, but Lagi begging you to forgive him and put everything behind us

He takes a sip out of his tea and could feel a rise of anger inside me I never understand why anyone would take their precious time to beg for a man like Luxwell. Even if they are friends like he claimed, Luxwell has nothing to do with me hence, nothing would stop me from ruining him when the time comes

No one crosses me and gets away with it. I believe that is something everyone is now aware of “No amount of pleading would change my mind. Do you want to talk about something else? I furrowed an eyebrow and he seemed to consider his options before he spoke again.

“This is the first time I’d be asking you for anything Can’t you at least out of respect pardon Alpha Luxwell?”

My stomach churned at his words and I scoffed in disbelief. This is exactly why I do not entertain anyone in my pack. Once you welcome them, they start to feel entitled and start making unrealistic demands.

Who does he think he is? Respect him? Why would I do that? I simply went to his party because I wanted to go out after a long period, not because he was important. I allowed him to corbe in without prior notice because I felt like he had given me a heads-up at the party, and now, he dared to speak of respect

I owe you no respect, Alpha Maxwell. Quite frankly, you are starting to cross your boundaries here. I do not want to talk about Alpha Luxwell so mind your business and do just that or I'd be forced to include you in my payback, I hissed, and he cleared his throat.

I'm sorry, Alpha Xander, I didn't mean to annoy you. I was merely looking for harmony among every pack. You know the rumours about you."

"What rumours?" I cut him off rudely and he cleared his throat. He swallowed the lumps in his throats as his eyes met with my burning gaze and he looked away for a second.

"Alpha Xander, my point is-

"Alpha Maxwell, I asked a question. What rumours?" I frowned, cutting him off once again. He shifted uncomfortably in his seat and I dared him to say something stupid, but he merely let out a nervous smile, composing himself.

"Pardon my manners, I do not mean any kind of disrespect, I just thought we could really-

"There is no 'we' Alpha Maxwell. I think you have overstayed your welcome. You should be on your way now," I said and he hesitated for a while.

"Alpha Xander "

"Do you want me to call the guards instead? Leave this instant or you'll be forced to leave, I warned, and he finally learned his place.

"My apologies, Alpha Xander" He stood up to take his leave and I hissed as soon as he left my study room.

Does he think we are suddenly friends because I attended his birthday party? This is what I get for mixing with those low lives.

Just then, Madam Rosalie walked in and once she noticed my mood, she hesitated for a while before commencing to say what she wanted to say.

"Erm.. Alpha, should I come back?" She asked.

"Go ahead. What is it?"

"The seers are here to see you. Should I let them in? If it's not the right timing, I can ask them to come back though," she said.

"It's fine. Let them in."

Rosalie went outside and came back with two men in their mid-forties, maybe? They looked slightly older than around their age and a woman who seemed to be in her late thirties or early forties.

I wondered if they knew what they were here for. I won't hesitate to throw them behind the cell if they have no answers to my questions.

I looked between all three of them and I wondered if they would really have answers to my questions

They bowed to show their respect and I nodded in acknowledgement. Just then, Madam Rosalie broke the silence

"Alpha, these three seers are the best in giving predictions and I am sure they will have answers to your questions," she finished with a smile.

"Good job," I praised Madam Rosalie and she grinned. "Take all three of them outside and let them in one after the other. I'd like to discuss it privately with all three of them," I announced and they all looked at each other.

Sold To The Scarred Alpha Chapter 32

XANDER

I found it hard to understand what the seer was saying and all I could do was stare at her. This doesn't make any sense. Why were her words contradicting the words of the first seer I spoke to?

Shouldn't they be saying the same thing? I knew there was going to be a slight difference which was why I asked them to come in one after the other in the first place, but I didn't expect things to be that different.

"Can you clarify what you are saying in case of a misunderstanding? Because I do not understand how the woman carrying my child would bring any kind of harm to me," I pointed out.

The more I thought about it the more confusing it became. Why would a fragile woman like Maliya be a threat to me? Her life is at my mercy and all it would take was an order from me to get rid of her completely. What harm could she possibly bring?

"That was why I said everything is complicated in the first place. You see, this woman possesses a special power. Perhaps, she is not aware of it yet, but it happens."

"This harm you are talking about. Is it going to be on me or on the unborn child?" I asked, still trying to comprehend what she was saying

“I don’t know how exactly it’s going to happen, but what I am seeing right now is blood. Death is hanging around her neck and it might not end with her alone, she paused and I waited for her to continue.

There is a chance that she is going to endanger your life too,” she finished and for a moment, I want to believe this woman, had no idea of what she was talking about.

“What are they talking about?” I gave her a confused look as she continued. This doesn’t make any sense. Why would Maliya be a threat to me?

“She will bring a lot of chaos and destruction to the pack. Don’t get me wrong though, I cannot guarantee you that what I am saying is one hundred per cent sure, but the chances that the vision will not come to pass is very slim.”

I wanted to ask questions but I can’t even think of anything right now. This was far from what I was expecting and I suddenly became tongue tied.

In a nutshell, is she trying to tell me that Maliya is a stroke of bad luck? If she isn’t, why else would there be a high chance that her presence would be chaos and destruction?

All these while, my worries hadn’t passed the possibility that the child wasn’t mine or maybe she wasn’t even pregnant, and now this?

“How about you confirm if she is really pregnant and if it really did belong to me? If I am going to make any decision, I need to know what is at risk,” I pointed and the seer smiled.

“It is true that you are impotent, and no miracle has happened to cure your illness,” she said. I knew nothing had changed.. but I wished my ability to conceive wouldn’t lay in the hands of a particular woman

“If you get intimate with any other woman it would have been like a mere exercise with no result,” she said and I watched her to see where this was going

All I needed was a yes or no.

in

If I am still impotent, is Maliya really carrying my child? I need an explanation to make sense of everything that is happening.

|||

Chapter 33

“Does that mean the child is pot mine? I asked impatiently and she shook her head.

“Like I said earlier, she is a special one so yes, she is indeed pregnant with your child, but it doesn’t really matter, not when she is disastrous.”

I have heard what I wanted to hear, but I can’t tell if the other eyes that comes with it was something I was looking forward

10

“You can leave for now,” I ordered and she gave me a polite smile before turning to leave.

I was left to myself when the last seer came in and at this point, wasn’t sure if I wanted to listen to the same story once again, but I didn’t ask him to leave either.

He bowed to show his respect and I acknowledge him with a nod

“Have a seat,” I said and he smiled gracefully before coming to sit the exact place the other seer sat down.

“Thank you, Alpha. I am honoured to be here today. If you don’t mind me asking, can I know how to be of help to you?” He asked

“I am infertile and as we speak, a woman claimed to be carrying my child. I need to know if truly the child is mine and what miracle happened because she isn’t the first woman that I have been with, but this is the first time something like this is happening” I explained.

At this point, I don’t know if I should be excited about the baby or worried about Maliya anymore.

After listening to the second seer, I had any doubts, but since the words of the first seer were a bit different, I wanted to hear what this one too would say.

The seer nodded and I wondered if he knew what he was doing as I watched him chant his incantation.

He went on and on, taking longer time than the other and each time, he would look at me as if he couldn’t understand what he was seeing, and shake his head before he would continue to chant some incantation again.

I was starting to become impatient as I tapped my feet on the floor waiting for him to speak up but each time, he kept frowning his face.

I wanted to snap at him and tell him to go ahead and say whatever he was seeing but I don't know if it will affect his divination if I distract him so for once in my life, I learned to be patient.

After what seemed like forever, he finally stopped chanting his incantation and heaved out a deep sigh.

"What is going on? What did you see?" I frowned.

"This woman in question and yourself are quite similar, Alpha, he started and I gave him a confused look.

"Similar in what way?" I frowned.

on

I hate how slow he was and not getting straight to the point like the others. If he sees anything out of the ordinary, he should just speak up without trying to be dramatic. We are not doing do drama here.

"All your life, you have always wanted to belong but were never accepted and in return, you were always treated badly," he said, reminding me of my past.

"Okay. I pushed, getting impatient to know where this was going.

"She was exactly the same. She has to struggle every day of her life, moving from one problem to the other. The cycle was. like an unending one."

16:28 Sun, Aug 4 G

Chapter 33

He paused for a while as if he was still communicating with his spirits before he continued to speak.

Just like you have prayed to the moon goddess in bitterness, asking for power, this woman also prayed for strength when she was at her lowest, he explained.

I understand what he was saying so far. I prayed for power and the moon goddess answered my prayer and today. I am the most powerful Alpha that lives.

What I still don't understand is the kind of strength a weak worn like Maliya possesses.

"Can you explain so that I can understand?"

“This woman was born on an auspicious day, the day of the lunar eclipse and that is why she is a child with a special effect. Do you finally understand now?” He asked as if that explained everything.

To an extent of does, but the words of the seer that just left were still ringing in my head. She is disastrous. She is going to bring chaos and destruction to everyone around her.

What I was yet to understand was how such a fragile girl would bring harm to anyone.

The seer was oblivious to my thoughts and he continued with his words.

“Truly, you might be impotent, but sleeping with that woman changes everything. She is your cure, but..

He trails off and I send him a look, urging him to continue.

“But what?”

The Seer went quiet again and released a sigh, making me anxious. Maybe the second seer wasn't wrong after all. Seeing how he was hesitating, I could tell that whatever it was he wanted to say wasn't good enough.

“Don't keep me in the dark. But what? Is she someone I can keep close or not?” I asked again and his eyes fell on mine.

“All I see around here is darkness, Death surrounds this woman and it is inevitable. He announced.

Sold To The Scarred Alpha Chapter 33

XANDER

I found it hard to understand what the seer was saying and all I could do was stare at her. This doesn't make any sense. Why were her words contradicting the words of the first seer I spoke ?

Shouldn't they be saying the same thing? I knew there was going to be a slight difference which was why I asked them to come in one after the other in the first place, but I didn't expect things to be that different.

“Can you clarify what you are saying in case of a misunderstanding? Because I do not understand how the woman carrying my child would bring any kind of harm to me,” I pointed out.

The more I thought about it the more confusing it became. Why would a fragile woman like Maliya be a threat to me? Her life is at my mercy and all it would take was an order from me to get rid of her completely. What harm could she possibly bring?

“That was why I said everything is complicated in the first place. You see, this woman possesses a special power. Perhaps, she is not aware of it yet, but it happens.”

This harm you are talking about. Is it going to be on me or on the unborn child?” I asked, still trying to comprehend what she was saying

“I don’t know how exactly it’s going to happen, but what I am seeing right now is blood. Death is hanging around her neck and it might not end with her alone, she paused and I waited for her to continue.

There is a chance that she is going to endanger your life too,” she finished and for a moment, I want to believe this woman, had no idea of what she was talking about.

“What are they talking about?” I gave her a confused look as she continued. This doesn’t make any sense. Why would Maliya be a threat to me?

“She will bring a lot of chaos and destruction to the pack. Don’t get me wrong though, I cannot guarantee you that what I am saying is one hundred per cent sure, but the chances that the vision will not come to pass is very slim.”

I wanted to ask questions but I can’t even think of anything right now. This was far from what I was expecting and I suddenly became tongue tied.

In a nutshell, is she trying to tell me that Maliya is a stroke of bad luck? If she isn’t, why else would there be a high chance that her presence would be chaos and destruction?

All these while, my worries hadn’t passed the possibility that the child wasn’t mine or maybe she wasn’t even pregnant, and now this?

“How about you confirm if she is really pregnant and if it really did belong to me? If I am going to make any decision, I need to know what is at risk,” I pointed and the seer smiled.

“It is true that you are impotent, and no miracle has happened to cure your illness,” she said. I knew nothing had changed.. but I wished my ability to conceive wouldn’t lay in the hands of a particular woman

“If you get intimate with any other woman it would have been like a mere exercise with no result,” she said and I watched her to see where this was going

All I needed was a yes or no.

in

If I am still impotent, is Maliya really carrying my child? I need an explanation to make sense of everything that is happening.

“Does that mean the child is not mine? I asked impatiently and she shook her head.

“Like I said earlier, she is a special one so yes, she is indeed pregnant with your child, but it doesn’t really matter, not when she is disastrous.”

I have heard what I wanted to hear, but I can’t tell if the other eyes that comes with it was something I was looking forward

10

“You can leave for now,” I ordered and she gave me a polite smile before turning to leave.

I was left to myself when the last seer came in and at this point, wasn’t sure if I wanted to listen to the same story once again, but I didn’t ask him to leave either.

He bowed to show his respect and I acknowledge him with a nod

“Have a seat,” I said and he smiled gracefully before coming to sit the exact place the other seer sat down.

“Thank you, Alpha. I am honoured to be here today. If you don’t mind me asking, can I know how to be of help to you?” He asked

“I am infertile and as we speak, a woman claimed to be carrying my child. I need to know if truly the child is mine and what miracle happened because she isn’t the first woman that I have been with, but this is the first time something like this is happening” I explained.

At this point, I don’t know if I should be excited about the baby or worried about Maliya anymore.

After listening to the second seer, I had any doubts, but since the words of the first seer were a bit different, I wanted to hear what this one too would say.

The seer nodded and I wondered if he knew what he was doing as I watched him chant his incantation.

He went on and on, taking longer time than the other and each time, he would look at me as if he couldn't understand what he was seeing, and shake his head before he would continue to chant some incantation again.

I was starting to become impatient as I tapped my feet on the floor waiting for him to speak up but each time, he kept frowning his face.

I wanted to snap at him and tell him to go ahead and say whatever he was seeing but I don't know if it will affect his divination if I distract him so for once in my life, I learned to be patient.

After what seemed like forever, he finally stopped chanting his incantation and heaved out a deep sigh.

"What is going on? What did you see?" I frowned.

"This woman in question and yourself are quite similar, Alpha, he started and I gave him a confused look.

"Similar in what way?" I frowned.

on

I hate how slow he was and not getting straight to the point like the others. If he sees anything out of the ordinary, he should just speak up without trying to be dramatic. We are not doing do drama here.

"All your life, you have always wanted to belong but were never accepted and in return, you were always treated badly," he said, reminding me of my past.

"Okay. I pushed, getting impatient to know where this was going.

"She was exactly the same. She has to struggle every day of her life, moving from one problem to the other. The cycle was. like an unending one."

He paused for a while as if he was still communicating with his spirits before he continued to speak.

Just like you have prayed to the moon goddess in bitterness, asking for power, this woman also prayed for strength when she was at her lowest, he explained.

I understand what he was saying so far. I prayed for power and the moon goddess answered my prayer and today. I am the most powerful Alpha that lives.

What I still don't understand is the kind of strength a weak worn like Maliya possesses.

“Can you explain so that I can understand?”

“This woman was born on an auspicious day, the day of the lunar eclipse and that is why she is a child with a special effect. Do you finally understand now?” He asked as if that explained everything.

To an extent of does, but the words of the seer that just left were still ringing in my head. She is disastrous. She is going to bring chaos and destruction to everyone around her.

What I was yet to understand was how such a fragile girl would bring harm to anyone.

The seer was oblivious to my thoughts and he continued with his words.

“Truly, you might be impotent, but sleeping with that woman changes everything. She is your cure, but..

He trails off and I send him a look, urging him to continue.

“But what?”

The Seer went quiet again and released a sigh, making me anxious. Maybe the second seer wasn't wrong after all. Seeing how he was hesitating, I could tell that whatever it was he wanted to say wasn't good enough.

“Don't keep me in the dark. But what? Is she someone I can keep close or not?” I asked again and his eyes fell on mine.

“All I see around here is darkness, Death surrounds this woman and it is inevitable. He announced.

Sold To The Scarred Alpha Chapter 34

XANDER

“This doesn't make any sense. She is going to give birth to my child, yet, death surrounds her, I said, repeating his words in my interpretation and he waited for me to continue. I need to know if it is likely that she would die after giving birth or could it be during delivery?”

“That, I cannot assure you, Alpha Kander. From what I am seeing, she is surrounded by blood so it is likely to be after she has given birth or could be in another way. That, I am not certain of, he confessed.

If I was being honest with myself, I don't care whether she lives or dies as long as she delivers my child in good health. It has been said that she was the only one who could bear my child which means the child she is carrying is going to be my only heir

I need to protect her with whatever it takes just until she gives birth. I cannot stop her fate because she was destined to die young, but she needs to have a safe delivery first.

The words of the second seer that I spoke to were still ringing in my head and I could still recall her emphasis on how she was going to bring destruction into the pack.

I don't care if she does before bringing it, I just need her to have a safe delivery.

I wasn't one to care about others and it's no longer a secret. Maliya and I both knew the only reason why I cared for her presently was because she was carrying my child and now that I know if anything were to happen to the child. I'd be barren for life, I am not going to risk it

The fact that I can still be a father after everything that has happened. After losing hope as far as I can remember excites me so much and I am not going to allow anything to ruin that joy for me.

All I cared about right now was just to have the child in my arms and be a father, not just by mouth, but one that everyone could see.

The maid can die after safe delivery, I don't mind. I'd probably discard her anyway because I wouldn't want her to start feeling entitled or thinking she can do however she wants just because she gave birth to my child.

At the end of the day, she is still a slave. I own her life and her body and until I am done with her, I won't allow her to ruin anything for me.

The seer kept looking at me as if he was meaning to ask if I had any more questions but he couldn't bring himself to interrupt my internal thoughts, not when I had a smile plastered to my face.

"Ah, before I forget. I need you to confirm that no harm would happen to her before she gives birth. You see, this child means a lot to me, I pointed and he nodded.

He chants his incantation once again and when he is done, he begins to speak,

"It is still the same thing I have said. All I can see is that the woman is surrounded by death. I can't tell exactly when it would happen but we can avert it for a while, even if it is unavoidable, he finished, and that was all I needed to hear.

Avert. If her bad luck is going to affect my child, we are going to do whatever it takes to avoid it just until she gives birth. "Thank you," I said with a smile and he nodded. "That will be all. You can take your leave now,"

The man bowed to show his respect before taking his leave and it felt like a weight had been lifted off my shoulders. I finally understood what was happening. Although all the news was a bit surprising, I have always known that Maliya was different.

She

e always gave this as aura that made me know she wasn't like the other girls I had been with in the past,

Everything was different with her from the muset, Maybe that is one of the things that attracted me to her in the first place. but everything finally made sense now.

Just then, Madam Rosalie canse indslle and I gave her a questioning look.

"Is there a problem?" I asked and she shook her head.

"No. Ljust see the seers out so I thought I should come and ask you got your answers or if there is anything else you wouldd like me to do," she asked and I smiled.

"I got all my answers, thanks to your help," I sanded.

I have been in a pretty good mood since I spoke to the seers. I don't w if it was because they confirmed that I was indeed. going to be a father or if it was the fact that I was lucky to come is that woman, it doesn't matter what the reason was, but I can't contain my joy.

Madam Rosalie smiled too before she spoke. "Tiu glad I could help," she said before turning to leave.

I went out to take a stroll, unable to contain my joy and I was suddenly in need of a fresh breath.

I don't know how long I stayed outside for, just enjoying the beautiful sight and it made me feel somehow relaxed.

The weather was starting to get chilly and I thought it was time to go back inside. I went back into my room and was surprised to see Maliya standing by the balcony.

It is going to take a while before I get used to sharing my room with someone else. I walked into the room when I noticed what she was wearing

It was a mini dress with a chiffon material. She didn't have anything thick on despite the cold weather and I flared up immediately.

I stormed over to her side, unable to contain my anger. "Are you crazy?" I snapped at her, jolting her out of her trace.

She seemed to be taken back from my sudden outburst as her eyes widened in shock but that was the least of my concern.

Who the hell does she think she is to reveal my unborn child to risk?

W—what did I do?" She stammered, and my stomach clenched in disgust.

Oh, she is questioning me now.

"Why are you standing here indecently?" I snapped, and she swallowed the lumps in her throat.

"I... What I mean," she stammered.

"What do you think you are doing standing here in the cold? Do you want to harm my unborn child?" I hissed as I glared at her.

"N—no, I... Was," she inhaled sharply and I could hear the sound of her ragged breath.

"Do you think you can do however you wish because I have been easy on you? Your body no longer belongs to you. Until you are going to deliver the baby growing in your safety, everything you do should be placed under consideration or I'd be forced to put you in your place." I hissed.

Her face fell on the floor, unable to meet with mine and I glared at her again.

"Am I clear?" I snapped at her but she couldn't bring herself to look at me.

"Did I make myself clear?!" I snarled and she jumped at the coldness in my voice.

"Yes, Alpha," she said in a low voice.

I turned to leave when her voice stopped me in my tracks.

"You made a promise to me, remember?" She said with a hint of confidence in her tone and I turned back to look at her angrily.

"So what? I asked you to ask for whatever you want in return for listening to my orders. If you keep on defying my orders, I might rethink my decision," I warned.

"I have been doing everything you asked so far, and I don't have plans on defying your orders, so I think it's about time I make my request." She said,

I thought about it for a while. I could tell that I wasn't going to like what she would ask without her even asking yet, but I made a promise and I am going to honour my words.

"Go ahead," I ordered.

"If you want me to continue living here under your order, it will be best for you to treat me with respect and speak to me nicely or I'd be forced to do otherwise."

I scoffed in disbelief at the sound of her words and for a second, I wished I could snap her head and bring her to her place. My muscles tensed and my stomach churned from the disrespect but I heaved in a deep breath.

This is all a matter of time. She will give birth soon and I won't think twice before getting rid of her lowlife. Until then, she can enjoy it while it lasts.

"Kindly go back into the room, it's cold, I said, trying to keep my anger in check and she finally left the balcony.

Sold To The Scarred Alpha Chapter 35

XANDER

I was going through the report that was sent in earlier when Lord Williams came into the room. I looked up from the reports and gave him a questioning look.

"What is going on?" I asked as he strolled into my study room.

He leaned his back on the wall as he stared out through the window as if he was watching someone and I glared at him. I couldn't see who he was looking at from the angle I was sitting, but I could sense th: something was wrorig.

"I just got a word from the man you put on Alpha Luxwell," he said and I nodded, waiting for him to continue.

You were right. He said Alpha Luxwell has been making secret arrangements, but he couldn't report earlier because he doesn't know what he was planning"

"And" I furrowed my eyebrows

"Turns out that Alpha Luxwell and his men have been preparing for war. They planned to attack us when we least expect it." he said and I felt a surge of anger course through my veins from the news.

Who the hell does he think he is to even dream of attacking my pack?

That idiot is so predictable. I knew he would do something since he had been too quiet since the event happened. Alpha Luxwell is a lousy person and everyone knows how he does his things

He must have felt insulted from the humiliation and wanted to retaliate. Not that I wasn't expecting it though. His choice was pretty obvious when he refused to apologize. I just didn't think he would be brave enough to attempt to go on a war with me

He is begging to be killed.

I knew how he always ran his mouth and I wouldn't be surprised if I heard he was spreading the news around, but now that he was about to take action. I was surprised by his gut and sudden confidence, and also thrilled to teach him a lesson

Never in his life would he dare to insult me like that ever again. I am going to teach him an unforgettable lesson

"Alpha, why are you not saying anything! We shouldn't take this with levity hands. We both know Alpha Luxwell doesn't stand a chance against us, but even at that, they will have the upper hand if we fail to prepare ourselves, Lord Williams pointed.

"Who said I'd allow him to invade my pack without paying for a I raised an eyebrow as he cleared his throat.

"My apologies, but we do not have time to waste. According to the man, there is a probability that they would be attacking today. If they want to take us by surprise, it will definitely be in the night. We should do something to stop them"

I gave Lord Williams a look as I thought about how to counter back those bastards. It's not just about protecting my people. They'd be crossing the line the moment they stepped their feet on my territory. They can not leave in one piece.

"Gather our men. I want to have a word with them" I command

Lord Williams gave me a questioning look but he didn't say anything instead, he nodded and went ahead to gather the men as I had ordered

I paced around the room angrily, too angry to even continue with what I was doing when Lord Williams came back

"They are waiting outside, Alpha"

Lead the way I ordered as 1 stormed out of the room.

True to his words, the guards were already waiting outside. They owed as soon as they noticed me and I went straight to the point

Prepare for defence. Our pack would be under attack soon, Larounced, and they looked at each other nervously

I can see the shock on their faces as they begin to murmur in didelief.

“I want every single member of the pack to be protected. Be well guard and be at alert. No one goes in or comes out of here today” I said.

“Yes. Alpha” The chorned.

I looked between every one of them and I reminded myself of why everyone feared me. It was because no one dared to cross me and make it out alive.

I am going to deal with Alpha Luxwell and his men.

MALIYA

All I have been doing since I moved into Alpha Xander’s room was sleep and wake up. Boredom was killing me and I was starting to feel suffocated in here. It felt like I was in a prison and I honestly don’t know much was worse

I can’t breathe without having eyes around me. If it wasn’t Alpha Xander, then it was one other person who was already waiting outside to tell me to go back inside because the Alpha had ordered for it.

At least I have Claudia to speak to on different occasions while I was in my previous room, right now, I have no one and I have never felt so lonely in my entire life.

He thinks he is protecting me by keeping me here, but I might just end up dying of loneliness before he even realised what he was doing.

I lay on the bed, as I stared at the ceiling when I began to hear voices from the hallway and different footsteps. It was strange because it felt like the footsteps belonged to a group of people from the continuous match but guards are not allowed to walk around except from the maids and they rarely move together.

Something feels wrong.

I stood up and went to the balcony to see what was happening outside when I saw soldiers gathered outside.

What is going on?

They all had serious expression on their faces and I could tell whatever was happening must have been serious to have all of them looking so worried and at alert.

My curiosity got the best of me and I went out of the room to find out what was happening. I stepped out of the room and saw everyone running, around, which made me even more curious. Something is definitely wrong “Hey, I called a maid who walked past me at that moment and she stopped to look at me. “Do you know why everyone looked so tensed? What is going on? Is there a problem?” I asked as I looked down the hallway to see everyone rushing to do one thing or the other.

“A war is about to break down and everyone is trying to ensure their safety,” she said, taking me by surprise.

“A— a war?” I stammered and my heart skipped a beat at the sound of the news. I have never witnessed a war before in history, I knew it never really ended well and seeing how everyone was a complete mess right now, I bet this isn’t going to be a simple war or maybe they are not the ones who have the upper hand.

Fear gripped down on me and I tried to control myself when the maid’s voice snapped me out of my truce.

“Everywhere is in chaos so I think it’s best for you to go back inside. The Alpha seems to be in a pretty bad mood,” she said and I nodded.

I went back to the room anxiously but I couldn’t bring myself to relax. I couldn’t think straight while I was with the maid and now, I suddenly have so many questions.

Which pack are they going to war with? Are we under an attack? What is with the sudden attack? Everything seems to be fine just yesterday. What the hell happened overnight?

I had so many questions ringing in my head but there was no one to give me any answer. War has been predictable and I don’t know what to expect.

What if we lose? What is going to happen to me? Will another pack take me as a slave again? That is if I didn’t even get killed before then.

My body trembled with fear as different vicious thoughts erupted in my mind.

I paced around the room nervously, unable to think straight when Alpha Xander came in with two other men.

I wanted to rush over to his side and ask him for a proper explanation of what was going on, but I knew that would be crossing my boundaries.

His expression was stoic and he looked unapproachable at the moment and the look was enough to send chills down my spine

The situation must have been pretty bad if he was looking like this.

He looked at me for a split second with a cold face before turning to his men.

“Watch over her and protect her with your lives. She is carrying the pack’s heir and nothing is to happen to her. Do not let her out of your sight for a second, am I clear?” He frowned and they nodded.

I knew I meant nothing to him but a burden he had to look over until I gave birth to his child, but that doesn’t make me feel any better.

I hated how was treating me like an object, even though I knew that was exactly what I meant to him.

He turned to leave without another word, making me worry about what the outcome of the war would be.

Sold To The Scarred Alpha Chapter 36

AUTHOR’S POV

upper hand “Do not spare anyone that tries to get in your way. Wipe every single one of them out like an ant. We have the tonight because this is going to be a surprise attack, hence, we can not come with nothing but victory, Alpha Luxwell said to his men and they nodded their heads in agreement.

“Yes, Alpha. They chores.

“You have five minutes to take whatever you might be forgetting We are leaving then and be rest assured that this victory is ours. We shall take down the mighty Alpha Xander and take over his pack, Alpha Luxwell announced with a proud smirk, as he was already thinking about how he would make Alpha Xander watch him while he took over everything that had ever mattered to him.

The soldiers scooted around as they grabbed different weapons they would be needing for the night. Alpha Luxwell watched them with a proud grin, and he couldn’t wait to see the look on Alpha Xander’s face once he was defeated and for the first time in his life, he was going to have a taste of victory.

The war was personal to him. Alpha Xander disrespected him publicly. He was humiliated because of a mere woman and none of that would have happened if he had gained enough power in the first place.

“Alpha Xander looked down on me and treated me like I was nobody. It’s time to return the energy and give his medicine, Alpha Luxwell thought to himself.

He checked the time on his watch and five minutes had passed

“Let’s go soldiers!” He yelled as he took the lead.

him a taste of Alpha Luxwell left in the middle of the night to make sure that he was going to catch everyone off guard when they least expected it. He was determined to win and he would do whatever it takes to win the war.

Alpha Luxwell and his men soon arrived at Alpha Xander’s pack and a huge smile spread across his lips. He didn’t want to cause an alarm or attack like a rogue by setting fire everywhere.

He tried to sneak into Alpha Xander’s mansion but the security was lost and they got inside without any issue.

He found it a little suspicious knowing how guarded Alpha Xander usually is, there is no way he and his men would put themselves in this position.

“Or maybe the moon goddess was just behind me, he smiled at the thought.

He signalled his men to go inside while he stood outside with a few more soldiers. The way everywhere was dark and there was no light since he got there, which got him a little worried.

He knew something was off b

“but at the same time, he has never been to the pack at this hour before so he can’t possibly know how things are being done here.

He checked the time and his men were gone for fifteen minutes. He ought to be hearing screams by now, but there was nothing

“What is going on? The night is too silent for my liking. He whispered to himself when the men who went in came outside with a confused look on their faces

“Alpha everywhere is empty. Isn’t that strange? One of the soldiers said.

Alpha Luxwell immediately knew something was not right. Everywhere cannot be empty. Even if Alpha Xander was not around, his maids and guards should be.

Something is fishy, stay at alett, he commanded and just then, the light came up at once,

Alpha Luxwell wondered what was going on when he looked and to figure it out when Alpha Xander's men came out of nowhere and sounded Alpha Maxwell and his men.

Alpha Nander's men were twice Alpha Luxwell's men. He looked round to watch how the soldiers came out from different comers and angles and he scoffed in disbelief.

He had come here with twenty of his men. The plan was to rate them unguarded bat now that things have changed. They would have to fight with their last neatly Alpha Luxwell men charged, and formed a circle, protecting the Alpha as he was kept in the middle. They were equally prepared to fight and Alpha Luxwell wondered why Alpha Xander's men had attacked them yet.

Just then, Alpha Xamler showed up with his dominating presence, and a smirk spread across Alpha Luxwell's face.

"Nice to see you again, Alpha Xander," he chuckled.

"The only thing that would be nice tonight is sering your head all apart from your neck, Alpha Xander said flatly and Alpha Luxwell erupted in a loud laugh.

"My goodness, Alpha Xander. You think so highly of yourself. We came here prepared so be rest assured that I am not leaving this place without a victory, Alpha Larxwell said with an amusing smile, while Alpha Xander's expression remained stoic.

"I haven't reminded anyone of how brutal I can be in a while. You are going to serve as a good lesson, and Fd be more happy to put you in your place, he hissed,

Alpha Xander was still boiling inside from the disrespect. "How are he try to attack me? On top of that, he came with twenty men. Only I can take down the twenty men at once, not to talk of now that they are all surrounded by my guards, this idiot must really have a death wish."

Alpha Luxwell continued to grin at Alpha Xander. A part of him knew that there was no way they could win against Alpha Xander in this situation. Running away would be a bigger humiliation. And trying to fight them would be him begging for his death.

Alpha Xander's men looked just as prepared as his men and the only difference here was that he was outnumbered.

He wondered if he should put his fate in his strength and his men and just get rid of that arrogant bastard or if he should retreat.

“But will Alpha Xander even allow me to retreat? Since we are here already, I think it’s best to just do what we came here to do, he concluded.

Alpha Xander was staring at him the entire time when he broke the silence again.

“The only person that would be falling off his high horse tonight’s you. And guess whose reputation is going to change? Mine. I’d go from being the Alpha you humiliated a couple of times to becoming the Alpha that got rid of you and took your place, Alpha Luxwell announced and Alpha Xander shook his head

“I have never seen someone as dumb as he is, but I am putting an end to this headache right here, and right now.” Alpha Xander thought to himself.

Their men looked at each other, challenging themselves on who would first make a move, but none of them dared to do anything, not when the Alphas hadn’t said a word.

“You are not worth wasting my strength over, Alpha Xander announced, and Alpha Luxwell’s blood boiled with anger.

Alpha Xander was doing it again. Belittling Alpha Luxwell and making him feel worthless. He knew all about Alpha Luxwell’s insecurities, but he didn’t care one bit, instead, he only saw only saw it as his chance to humiliate him further.

Alpha Luxwell shook his anger for being disrespected in the presence of his men and he brought out his weapon, ready to fight when Alpha Xander spoke again.

Look around you, Alpha Luxwell. Anyone with a head would know that they do not stand a chance. Like I said. I won’t waste strength on you, so I will give you two options, he announced.

Alpha Luxwell glared at him but he watched him speak without interruption anyway.

“First option, surrender and I might consider giving you an easy death. But of course, you can try to attack us like you have planned, but that will only make things worse for you. Pick your poison, but use your brain, Alpha Xander finished.

Alpha Luxwell burst into laughter again and Alpha Xander just gave him a day’s look.

“Go to hell. Alpha Xander. No matter how intimidating you try to be tonight, it’s not going to work. I came here prepared. and I’d never surrender to our shitty ass he hissed.

“You really want to push your luck, huh? If that is the case, who am I to stop you?” Alpha Xander said and Alpha Luxwell grinned

“Get off your high horse. You are not as important as you think You got your reputation because of people, not because you deserve it, and I’ll prove it to the world tonight.”

Without another word, Alpha Luxwell signalled for his men to attack, and a war broke out.

Alpha Luxwell attacked Alpha Xander and both of them decided to fight like a real man and fight with their fist instead of weapon

It was a bit heated as everywhere was in chaos. The soldiers fought with their lives and the two Alpha wasn't ready to back down either

They kept on throwing punches at each other, using their claws as they fought brutally.

Alpha Luxwell didn't plan on giving up and put in all his energy but Alpha Xander was stronger. He was beaten to a pulp and his men were now covered up in bruises just like their Alpha.

"Why am I not surprised? You are all talk no action," Alpha Xander spat before throwing him to the floor. "Arrest the fool for wasting my time," Alpha Xander ordered and Alpha Luxwell clenched his fist.

He looked around to see that almost all of his men were dead and only five were alive who were badly injured.

He felt so irritated from how the night turned out. It wasn't supposed to be like this. It was supposed to be him going back home with victory.

He coughed out blood before he could even say a word but it didn't stop him.

"You are a bastard, Xander. You are nothing but a blood-hungry killer. You killed your family and think you can suddenly rise to power by putting fear in people's minds. You are a monster and no matter how much you try, nobody will ever accept you for who you are," he spat out before the guards dragged him away.

Sold To The Scarred Alpha Chapter 37

XANDER

I watched how Alpha Laxwell called me names out of spite but couldn't care less. He was just a pained asshole who wanted everything that I have.

He called me a monster for killing my family and rising to power, but all I could see was a coward who wished he had the boldness to do the same thing

I almost laughed at him when he said he would take over my pack. The idiot can not even keep a pack and he wants to rule over two packs? His greediness amused me.

“Get him out of my sight. I hissed and he struggled to get out of the guard’s grip.

“This is not the end! Don’t rejoice just yet! I am going to get back to you. I’ll make you regret your actions. I am not your family, you cannot get away with this!” He yelled as they dragged him away and I fumed in anger.

I can’t believe that bastard made me spend the entire day, preparing for his arrival. I thought he would come prepared. I thought it was going to be a big war yet, he came with only twenty men.

I was more than disappointed and hated how the war ended so fast. I wanted to teach them a lesson. To make it worth the time I spent on the preparation

I even gave the bastard an easy way out but he chose to fight. His arrogance did not only amuse me but also annoys the fuck out of me.

I’m going to teach him a lesson he is never going to forget in his miserable life.

“Alpha, what do you plan on doing to him?” Lord Williams asked, snapping me out of my thoughts.

“I haven’t thought of it yet, but whatever it is surely would be interesting,” I said as I thought of different ways to torment him. “I don’t want to see those bodies by morning. Send them to their families. That is what they get for having a pathetic Alpha.” I hissed before storming back inside.

He ruined all my plans for tonight, but I’d ensure he never gets to make any more plans in the future.

I went to the bathroom and ran the shower while I just stood there, allowing the water to wash the blood off my body.

I didn’t know how long I stood there, as I allowed the water to calm my nerves. My mind went back to Alpha Luxwell’s words as he was being dragged away. “You will never be accepted. Never has and never will.”

I scoffed at the thought and burst out laughing at his words. Acceptance? That was something I thought I needed as a child. Right now, I don’t care whether anyone accepts me or condemns me. They will still bow to me and follow my orders.

That idiot can never make it far in life because of his pathetic ways of reasoning

I came out of the shower once the water ran cold and got dressed before going into my room.

I opened the door and found Maliya sleeping peacefully on the bed. She hugged the pillow tightly as if her life depended on it and I couldn't help but stare at her face.

She looked beautiful when she was not trying to annoy me by fighting for her rights or defying my order. The dress she was wearing had shifted up from her sleeping position, revealing her long legs and all I could do was stare.

Her hair was covering half of her face, but I didn't miss the cute pout she had on her face. She looked so fragile. Easy to make and break and every time I look at her, I feel the urge to break her until she can't even put the pieces together

The words of the three veers resurfaced in my head and I whispered to myself.

"She is a blessing and a curse."

She didn't know this and I hoped it remain that way or she would start feeling important and entitled.

Right now, the body is a vessel. She is carrying my child and I won't allow the slightest harm to befall her because I don't know when her ill luck would take her life, not to talk of making another baby.

I stared at her tiny stomach and wondered how a baby could be growing inside from how flat it was. I made a mental note to feed her more than she had been eating lately as I began to think about the child's gender

Having a female child sounds interesting, but I'm not sure if that is what I want. I want a male child. A son I can teach everything I know. Shower him with all the love and attention I could never get. I'd do everything I've always wanted for him. Spoil him, and teach him how to be a man because he is not only going to take after me, he is going to be my heir.

I could already picture everything in my head and for some reason, the thought of being a father excites me so much.

"Tim going to protect you, little one," I whispered.

Maliya stirred in her sleep, and just then, she opened her eyes,

She looked a little surprised to see me as her eyes snapped open after trying to adjust them to the light just moment ago.

She sat up on the bed and yawned before breaking the silence. How long have you been standing there?" She asked, still trying to rub off the sleep in her eyes.

"I just got in," I said, without breaking eye contact with her and she nodded her head.

I noticed how unbothered she seemed about me watching her. My presence doesn't seem to scare her anymore unlike when she first got here. She couldn't even breathe in the same air with me and she would flinch at the barest touch from me.

I recalled how she demanded that I start speaking to her politely too and I could tell that so much had changed.

I was aware of how much she used to be scared of me, but I couldn't care less. She would never dare to make an eye contact with me or speak first. Even when I asked questions, she would stammer before answering me and now she looked so calm.

I wondered if she was doing it on purpose. Could it be because she is tired of living and wants me to get rid of her? I know how much she wanted to be far away from here. Would she rather die than continue to stay here? Is that what she has been trying to get on my nerves? So that I can flare up and punish her

I wondered if she was like this because I pushed her too hard. My intention was to break her wings from the onset and I have succeeded in doing her. The fire in her eyes despite her silence is gone but with this new attitude, I wondered if I pushed her this far or if she just got tired of everything

I don't care what state of mind she presently was in or if I pushed her this far. I cannot let anything happen to her. Why? The answer was simple.

She is the only one who can bear my child and until she gives birth to him in good health, I'll have to treat her nicely and grant her wishes so that she won't self harm herself or do anything crazy.

She is a stubborn one and I need to be cautious around her.

I smiled softly at her and I didn't miss the way her eyes widened in shock. She stared at me with an unreasonable expression as if she had just seen something she had never expected.

"Did. did you just smile at me?" She looked..

in disbelief and my lips curved up in a smirk from the look on his face.

"What? Is there a problem with that?" I asked and she looked at me as if I had just grown two head,

"You smiled at me?" She asked again as if she couldn't believe her ears. "Tin shocked. I have never seen a smile on your face before and seeing you smile all of a sudden looks like a... a taunting nightmare?" She furrowed her eyebrows as if she was trying to find the perfect word to use for it.

“What do you mean?” I asked amused by her statement and we close the curtain as the room was starting to get too coll.

I mean, have you seen your face!” She laughed and her smile was so beautiful.

I couldn’t stop staring at her beautiful face when she changed the topic.

“How did the war end?” She asked. “I couldn’t leave the room because our men and nobody would tell me what is going on,” she said with a frown.

She must have been worried.

“We won,” I said flatly, and she released a balls of diet Alpha Luxwell is currently locked up and he would never cause any trouble again” I assured her and she nodded.

I could tell just how pleased she was with the news when an idea popped up in my head.

Would you like to inflict pain on him just like he took advantage of you?” I asked and her lips curved up in a smile before she nodded her head.

Yes she whispered and I could hear the excitement in her voice

Sold To The Scarred Alpha Chapter 38

MALIVA

I spend the time worried at different things. The guard in the room won’t tell me anything and my patience was wearing thin. I tried to check what was happening through the Salcony a couple of times, but they stopped me before I

“I’m cool,

I’m sorry, but you cannot stay in an exposed area, the guard is stepping in my way.

Can you at least tell me what’s going on? I snapped out of frustration.

My life was on the line here. A lot would change if it turned out our Alpha Xander lost the fight, I can’t believe no one would tell me anything

My only request was for Alpha Xander to treat me more humanely, but I guess even that is too much to ask

I sighed for the umpteenth time as I kept on pacing around. The guard's presence was starting to make me feel unsettled but I knew that no amount of persuasion would make them leave, so I gave up trying.

It was night already and everywhere was dead silent. I don't know what was going on as no one was allowed to go in or out of their room. I sat on the bed, waiting patiently for the guards to leave so that I could sneak out, but my eyes soon got heavy and I slept off.

The thought of the war kept on lingering in my mind and I couldn't sleep deeply. I opened my eyes and felt a presence in the room. I snapped my eyes open immediately, only to find out it was Alpha Xander.

I didn't miss the way he was staring at me but he had a straight look on his face, making it impossible to know what was going on in his mind.

"How long have you been standing there?" I asked as I rubbed my eyes.

"I just got here," he said simply and I nodded.

The room fell silent and I wondered if it was a good idea to ask him how the war ended. He didn't look angry but then, with Alpha Xander, one can never tell.

I can see a few bruises on his hands that need proper attention. I'm sure it would sting a bit for a normal person, but he was standing a bit too calm for someone who was supposed to be in pain.

As if he could read my mind, a small smile spread across his lips, and I couldn't help but wonder what was going on in his head.

"Did you just smile at me?" I gave him a questioning look, but his smile did not crack.

For a monster like himself, he has a beautiful smile, I must confess,

I have never seen Alpha Xander smile for once, not even when he was talking to the others. He was like a robot. His expression is always stoic which made the sudden smile surprising.

I bet he had something up his sleeve.

"What? Is there a problem with that?" He asked flatly.

"You smiled at me?" I asked again to confirm if I was the one seeing things but the look in his eyes confirmed it once more.

“Wow, I’m shocked. I have never seen a smile on your face before and seeing you smile all of a sudden looks like a... a taunting nightmare?” I said, trying to think of the exact words to use way, just like yours was far fetched too”

“Guards Alpha Xander called out, and two guards came to his sle

“Bring me the torture equipment. Id like to have fim with this one,” he said with a sadistic smile and I couldn’t believe my eyes.

The guards came back with some fire and iron and my heart began to beat rapidly. I wasn’t the one that was about to be tortured but I’m not sure if this was what I was hoping to see.

“Come on, try to be creative at least. I am not some lowlife criminal so this won’t be enough. If you really plan on torturing me, perhaps, you can do better,” he laughed out loud, challenging Alpha Xander with his eyes.

Alpha Xander ignored him and turned to me instead. “Tie’s all yours,” he said and I suddenly found it hard to comprehend words..

He is not expecting me to torture someone with an fron, is he? This isn’t what I meant when I agreed to come here with him. In fact, I don’t know what I meant but this definitely wasn’t it.

I can not hurt anyone. I have been treated harshly a couple of times and I am well aware of how crazy it feels. I won’t do that to someone else. No, it’s not possible.

As much as I wanted to see if I had a crazy side to myself and watch him suffer for what he did to me, I just couldn’t take a step closer or bring myself to carry that iron, talkless of placing it on fire before pressing it on his body. It’s just too cruel No, that is not going to happen.

“What are you waiting for?” Alpha Xander said and I remained frozen in my spot.

As much as it sounded interesting in my head, I couldn’t bring myself to do it.

Aloha Xander noticed my hesitation moved closer to the fire and grabbed the iron. He placed it on fire for a couple of minutes, before turning back to me.

“Watch how this is being done,” he commanded, and I watched him every moment.

He moved closer to Alpha Luxwell who was trying to compose himself despite the heat that was coming out from the iron

Just then, Alpha Xander pressed the iron on his chest, making him scream out in agony and a satisfying smile spread across Alpha Xander’s face.

He was enjoying his pain.

At this point, I can't tell if he was even a human again. How can anyone derive joy in watching others suffer? What kind of a messed up thing is that?

He kept on adding more pressure and Alpha Luxwell cried out in pain. Each time he did, Alpha Xander's smile grew wider and all I could do was stare.

This is traumatizing

Sold To The Scarred Alpha Chapter 39

MALIYA

I went straight to the bathroom to take a long shower after watching Alpha Xander torture Alpha Luxwell like a lowly criminal. I thought the water would help me calm down but all I could hear was Alpha Luxwell's screams as they replayed in my head.

I can't believe Alpha Xander does all of that without batting an eye. He was cold and brutal and the way he smiled each time Alpha Luxwell screamed sent shivers down my spine.

I knew he was scary, but I had never seen him like that before. It was nothing I could ever imagine. The way everyone always spoken of him was nothing compared to his brutality. Just thinking about it once again was enough to make me had shiver in disgust.

The water soon ran cold and I knew it was my cue to leave the bathroom. I stepped out of the shower and dried my body but I still felt dirty and evil as I recalled how blood gushed out of his body while Alpha Xander tortured him.

It's going to take a while before I can finally move on or forget what happened tonight, that is if I ever will.

A lot has happened today and I just wished I could forget about it all. It went from the sudden war to seeing Alpha Xander smile at me, to seeing the monstrous side of Alpha Xander. Everything was enough to give me a nightmare, but staying awake while I continued to think about how the events played out was even more taunting

I went back into the room and met Alpha Xander sleeping peacefully on the bed, taking me by surprise. I left him at the cell earlier when I couldn't bring myself to watch any more of those cruel acts.

My stomach stirred and it felt like I was going to throw up. I wasn't even the one hurting someone, yet I felt that way. How Can he sleep like nothing ever happened?

How can one look so calm after almost killing another person? The mere thought sent chills down my spine but I shook it off

You are not going to think about what happened in the cell. You will only worry about yourself from now on. A voice said in my head.

Where does he expect me to sleep now that he is lying on the bed? There was no way I'd be able to sleep beside him, knowing what kind of a person he was.

Sharing the same room was enough, but sleeping beside him? That is something I'd never be able to do.

I never had anything to worry about since I moved into his room since I was always asleep before he came back or still fast asleep when he woke up.

To be honest, I don't even know if he sleeps at all if he spends the night here, but seeing him lay there before I sleep makes me feel uncomfortable.

Looking at him while he sleeps reminds me of all the things he made me do. I could still remember how he took my virginity forcefully. How he would cuff my hands as he fucked with me without any emotions.

The crazy punishment he gives me each time I try to defy his orders, they all come rushing back into my head and my eyes glint with tears.

I threw my head back as I sniffed back my tears, stopping them before they could slip out. I thought I had gotten accustomed to everything, but it hurts like everything happened yesterday.

I used to think my first time would be remarkable. That I'd make love with the man that I love, but he changed my opinion about sex. They went to bad memories and I never wanted to go through it ever again.

I took one last look at him and concluded that I was going to sleep on the couch.

I went to the couch to sleep but before I could lie down to sleep, he broke the silence.

"What are you doing?" He asked, taking me by surprise. I thought he was fast asleep when I came into the room. Did I wake him up

"I want to sleep," I said when I noticed that he had yet to open his eyes. Maybe he wasn't even sleeping all along Come and sleep on the bed." he tapped the space beside him and I shook my head.

"I'd rather sleep on the couch. I cannot share a bed with you," I said as politely as I could even though what I really wanted to do was to yell in his face and tell him to never ask me to do such a thing ever again.

I am still trying to deal with the damage he has done to me. How can he expect me to sleep in the same bed with him!

"Why not?" He finally opened his eyes and I swallowed the lumps in my throat.

He really wasn't expecting me to tell him the reason why I could not sleep beside him, right?

Ill be more comfortable here, I lied through gritted teeth

"As long as you are carrying my child, you can not sleep on the couch. What if you harm a child? Will you be able to handle the consequences? Come to the bed at once," he commanded.

"If you insist, can you sleep on the couch instead!" I asked and he sent me a glare. He looked at me as if I had gone mad and I was beginning to think maybe I was really mad for asking the question.

"Don't make me repeat myself, he warned. "It's either you come here by yourself or I drag you over and tie you to the bed. The choice is yours, he threatened me and I knew that he wasn't bluffing,

He would really tie me to the bed if I tried to resist.

"I will only sleep on the bed if you promise to leave some space between us. I don't know where my confidence was coming from, but I refused to sleep on the same bed with him or close enough to feel his closeness around me.

"*Tll appreciate it if you can sleep at the side of the bed and I'd sleep at the other edge too," I breathe out

"You are being too funny," he said flatly, and I could tell that he did not find this a bit amusing.

Good thing because I wasn't bluffing either.

I went to join him reluctantly knowing that there was no way I'd w

Sold To The Scarred Alpha Chapter 40

AUTHOR'S IOV

Prince Kane paced around the room angrily as he kept on thinking about what could have caused the radio silence from Alpha Xander. He had sold his mate to him to gain his support but he still hasn't heard from him.

It was starting to get on his nerves and he had been having sleepless nights about it.

Raya came into his room and saw him in a bad mood. She didn't need to ask what was going on before she knew what was bothering him. He has been acting like that for a couple of days, and it was starting to reflect in his attitude.

"You need to relax. Alpha Xander is a busy man, you of all people should know that. There is no way he would ignore you after selling your mate to him in return for his support. I want to believe that something must have happened. Why don't you try to reach out to him once again?" Raya said, trying to calm Prince Kane as he kept on pacing around the room, but he wasn't having any of it.

"What are you talking about? It's been months! Haven't I done enough? I'm starting to look like a nuisance. I've sent countless letters to him, asking for his feedback but he won't reply or at least show any signs that he was going to keep his word." he hissed as he continued to pace around the room angrily

You still need to relax. I know you are angry..."

"No, you don't!" Prince Kane snapped, cutting Raya off angrily. "I was your idea to sell Maliya in the first place. You were the one who said it was a good idea and it would give me the kind of power I crave... that I deserved," he hissed.

"You know that I was only looking out for you. A word from the Lava pack would change everything. Everyone will support you without thinking twice if they find out that Alpha Xander has your back. I was only thinking about the betterment for the of us," Raya tried to calm him down but he wasn't being reasonable.

"It's been months already. We had a deal, Raya. I did my side and gave Maliya to him without taking a dime. She might be useless but if she was here, she would still be able to do a few things. I should at least see the reason why I sacrificed my mate.

Prince Kane's breath raged as he thought about all the promises they made for him, and how they won't even acknowledge him, not to talk of keeping to their end of the bargain.

"Could it be that foolish girl is the cause of all of this? She couldn't have tried to talk Alpha Xander out of helping you, can she?" Raya raised her eyebrows as she thought about it.

“Why would Maliya influence Alpha Xander’s opinion? Do you even think before you talk? Maliya is a slave. A naive girl who couldn’t even impress me, a prince. Tell me, how will she influence a man like Alpha Xander?” Prince Kane rolled his eyes and Raya nodded in agreement.

Maliya was her stepsister so she knew her better than anyone. If her guess was right, she was already imagining how Maliya would keep getting into trouble because of her inability to follow orders.

“So what do you plan on doing now?” Raya asked and Prince Kane went to sit down while he thought deeply about it.

He raised his head up to look at Raya as an idea popped into his head.

“I am going to visit the Lava pack and remind Alpha Xander of his promise. That is the only way I’d know where I stand in all of this. If he planned on keeping his promise, he would say it if not, I will also know how to re-strategize, he announced.

Raya thought about it for a while before shaking her head.

“I’m not sure that is a good idea. What if he gets mad? We all know how Alpha Xander cherishes his privacy. Going there without a prior announcement might annoy him,” Raya tried to reason with him but Prince Kane only flared up wanting my efforts to be vain is that ” He said, as he sleekly inhaled and Maya apedegled to mandarely

“I didn’t mean to annoy you, I was just looking out for you?”

Prince Kane sighed and as he continued to think of how to hand the station when Maya spoke up again

You really need to relax. After all, your banther is to be crowned the heir. We will have plenty of nine de cured him

“You don’t get it, do you? My father is this chose to crowning him he said, touching the tip of his hands to show how d

“The tus hates me and my mother and she would bully us on any opportunity she gets need to rise to peer or this richicule will never end, he groaned

I know, baby, let me share you up she said as she moved close to him

She began to kiss Isis face, the side of his lips, his neck, trying to distract him from his worries and he groaned.

Tim not in the mood, he said and she nodded.

"I know, and that is why I plan on getting you in the mond," she grinned.

She sat out his leg and began to kiss his neck, niddling on the ski, as she brought his hands to her breast, squeezing them lightly, She oned into his neck, fanning his skin with her breath as she ground her ass against his cock

"You know how to get your ways, don't you?" Prince Kane said as he took control. He claimed her lips impatiently and pressed her against his body. His hands went into between her skirt as he rubbed his hands on her wet clit, making her melt into his mouth.

"So wet, he grunted before thrusting a finger inside her core. Kaya threw her head back as she grinded his fingers, making, them hit exactly where she needed him to be.

"Take off my pants," Prince Kane ordered and she fiddled with his zip. He thrust his fingers deep inside her before pulling out and her body trembled with desires

Just then, he placed the finger into her mouth, making her lose her senses as she took off his pants.

Without waiting for his order, she sat on his cock and gave him a good ride, making their bodies slam into each other continuously as they both pants out breathlessly.

"Go faster!" Prince Kane ordered, and Raya put more pressure on his dick, riding him as she kept on slamming her ass up and bouncing it on his cock until she squirt all over his cock.

She pants out heavily, and just then, the door was pushed open, making her jump to fix her clothes.

"What the hell, Lucas? Can't you knock? Prince Kane yelled at his stepbrother as Raya turned red.

"You don't have a say in this house fool, you are just an illegitimate son, Lucas hissed.