

Schoolgirl 1011

Chapter 1011: Why Does He Have So Much To Say Today?

Little Yun Zhu's head swayed as he spoke like he was reciting a classic poetry.

The boy had started elementary school and was beginning to gain budding understanding of certain matters—not that he knew what was an appropriate situation to use the phrase “abduct an innocent girl”. They were just new vocabulary he had picked up in recent days, so he used them.

Children were usually the most innocent before they went to school. Once they had been schooling for some time, they understood certain things naturally.

It was just that not too long after Yun Zhu spoke, quick-witted Duan Li quipped, “That’s not right. You’ve phrased it wrongly.”

Duan Li then cleared her throat and said seriously like a teacher, “It should be like this! Cough, cough... Si Yi-gege hugged Yun Jian-jiejie who’s just come home in this free and lawful country in broad daylight to do shameful things!”

What Yun Zhu said just now might not have caused too big of a misunderstanding but what Duan Li said was incredibly suggestive.

The reality was, Si Yi had hugged Yun Jian as a gesture when she ran into his embrace. How could he not when the woman he loved threw herself into his arms?

What Duan Li said, however, claimed that he was hugging Yun Jian and doing something shameful... These two kids, Yun Zhu and Duan Li, had completely veered off course regarding the new vocabulary their teachers had taught.

Standing at the door, Yun Jian and Si Yi could clearly hear the conversation between two of the three heads sticking out of the staircase. Yun Jian blushed immediately while Si Yi glowered.

Yun Jian felt like she would influence the children negatively when the three of them caught her, so she tried to wriggle herself out of Si Yi's embrace only for the young man to press her back down.

“Three of you, come down,” Si Yi told the three little heads popping out upstairs without turning around, still keeping his arms around Yun Jian.

To the kids, Si Yi had never talked to them in an angry tone, so their subconscious mind had always thought that their Si Yi-gege had the best temper.

They were merely children, mischievous and playful in nature, who sometimes got carried away; little Yun Zhu was a boy, it was almost a given how he was full of mischief as well. Duan Li was another high-spirited one.

Therefore, when they heard Si Yi's slightly dark voice, the three of them acted like they were going to be caught and scrambled to hide themselves shouting, “Oh no! Si Yi-gege's going to abduct children next! He's going to get us! We're rocks, we can't move, Si Yi-gege won't be able to see us!”

Yun Zhu, Duan Li and Duan Ya completely lost themselves in the game, soaked in sweat from running around. Yun Jian who stood downstairs, however, was rather embarrassed.

In spite of it, snuggling in Si Yi's embrace gave her a sense of security. It was like she was truly home and did not have to be bothered by anything else.

With a soft smile, Yun Jian wrapped her arms around Si Yi and stayed close to him.

"Your mom's gone out, Ya Dang and others too. We're the only ones left at home, plus those three upstairs." When the three children were mentioned, Si Yi scowled a little recalling the scene just now.

"Mn." Yun Jian nodded and wanted to shuffle out of Si Yi's hold, speaking as she did, "It's already noon. You guys mustn't have eaten yet? Let's take them out for a meal."

Si Yi engulfed her back into his arms once she tried to worm her way out.

"Ya Dang's recovered from his injuries," Si Yi continued to say.

It puzzled Yun Jian slightly. Why did he have so much to say today?

What the girl did not see was the upward curl of Si Yi's lips. Her front was completely molded against his with her mounds pressing up under his chest. Si Yi could even feel her softness through his thin clothes.

Hmm... they felt really soft.

Chapter 1012: Where To? The Amusement Park

Since Yun Jian had pressed her cheek against Si Yi's chest and her head could only reach his chin, she would not be able to see Si Yi's little smirk without raising her head.

Although she was skeptical, she ultimately pressed her lips together and listened to Si Yi ramble on. She was perplexed. Why was Si Yi who never said an extra word in the past running his mouth like a chatterbox today?

Coincidentally, Yun Jian who responded with another hum espied the clock nearby and saw both hands of the clock pointing at 12, indicating that it was noon. She interrupted Si Yi who was still prattling. "Let's take Xiao Zhu and the girls out for lunch. I'm feeling a little famished too."

Yun Jian stroked her lean and flat stomach as she spoke.

The ring of her soft, endearing voice made Si Yi's heart bloom with affection. He did not even know when the hum slipped off his lips as he assented to Yun Jian's request.

He let go of Yun Jian's tempting body and held her hand to go upstairs.

Little Yun Zhu, Duan Li and Duan Ya actually thought that Si Yi was going to play hide and seek with them, and their giggles and squeals filled up every corner of the villa. When it came to Si Yi, however, he was precise and swift, catching the three children downstairs like he was catching little chicks.

Yun Jian passed Yun Zhu, Duan Li and Duan Ya towels for them to wipe themselves down when she saw how much they were sweating from running around. She then held Duan Li and Duan Ya, one on each hand, while Si Yi put out a sinewy hand for Yun Zhu to drag him away.

It was only then the five of them slowly made their way toward the restaurant.

Little Yun Zhu, Duan Li and Duan Ya ordered their favorite dish respectively before Yun Jian made another four orders. For five people, there were seven dishes—four meat dishes and three vegetables dishes. The children dug in in delight and had sauce smudged all over their faces.

“Eat slower,” Yun Jian said softly after swiping at the rice sticking on the corner of Yun Zhu’s mouth.

The three kids were not gobbling down in hunger. They were in a competition of who was eating faster and who could get their hands on more food, barely having the time to speak.

Such was the joy of being children. Fighting for food with their friends made what they ate tastier. Without friends fighting for food, one would lose appetite even if it were world-class delicacies or the most luxurious ingredients.

Si Yi confirmed that Qin Yirou had gone out shopping with Mrs. Yang. Qin Yirou knew that Si Yi was a responsible young man, so she was not worried about leaving the three kids under his care. The woman would only come back around nighttime.

With the information considered, Yun Jian thought about taking Yun Zhu, Duan Li and Duan Ya out to play in the afternoon.

“Xiao Zhu, anywhere you want to go? Jiejie and Si Yi-gege will take three of you out this afternoon,” Yun Jian said with a smile as she rubbed each of the kid’s head.

Yun Jian’s smile was the most genuine during then. The tug of her lips came from the bottom of her heart.

“The amusement park! We want to go to the amusement park we went last time!” Yun Zhu told Yun Jian immediately with a hopeful gaze.

During the Qingming Festival break, Yun Jian and Si Yi had already brought Yun Zhu, Duan Li and Duan Ya to spend the entire day in the new amusement park in Longmen City. All three of them were still longing for the games there, so three anticipating faces stared at Yun Jian in unison.

Chapter 1013: Got Stepped On. Apologize

At the receiving end of three pairs of anticipating gaze, Yun Jian pressed her lips together before flashing a smile and nodding. “Sure.”

She even patted Yun Zhu’s head softly and urged, “Hurry up and eat if you want to go to the amusement park. You won’t get much time to play if we get there late.”

Amusement parks usually closed around 8-9pm. This one in Longmen City was new, so its business hours were longer in recent days, only beginning to usher the visitors out at 10pm.

“Yay, yay, yay!” Little Yun Zhu cheered continuously in ecstasy and quickly gobbled down the rice in his bowl, wiping everything in the bowl right into his tummy.

A while later, Yun Jian and Si Yi, holding hands with Duan Li, Duan Ya and Yun Zhu, took the bus to the new amusement park in Longmen City.

The year 1999 did not have as many amusement parks as we did nowadays. This one in Longmen City was established pretty early in comparison and a lot of people from neighboring cities came traveling here for it. Hence, there were relatively more tourists here.

Yun Jian and Si Yi had gotten here with the three children and made their way inside shortly after purchasing the tickets.

It was currently the Labor Day break where students were on a long break, meaning that there were exceptionally more parents who took their kids out for a trip. As for kids, they liked places they could play and have fun like the amusement park, so said place was teeming with visitors today.

“Jiejie! We wanna go on the bumper cars!” Yun Zhu, Duan Li and Duan Ya were huddled together excitedly the moment they stepped into the amusement park. They had also led the way toward the bumper cars ride.

This playground in Longmen City was more established in the sense that the visitor only had to pay for tickets to enter and could play any facility or game they had inside. It was just that they had to line up and enter following the sequence.

The three kids held Yun Jian and Si Yi’s hands as they fell into line at the queue area. There was a large crowd here, looking like a long snake, while some people lost their patience from waiting for so long.

Duan Li stood on the spot looking around with her hand being held by Yun Jian.

At the same time, a group of teenagers around Yun Jian’s age snuck in through the railing where they were lining up by. Since the queue was so long and there was a lot of people, there were inevitably those who cut queues when the amusement park staff was not paying attention.

It would have been fine if they had only cut the queue but when the teenagers went over the railing to sneak in, one of the girls landed and stepped on Duan Li’s little foot.

Duan Li was only a small girl. It was imaginable that her foot was still delicate. Once she got stepped on, she cried out at once, “Ah! Ow! Ouch!”

As Yun Jian turned to check on her, she caught the girl who was going over the railing stepping on Duan Li’s foot. The teenage girl had even rolled her eyes at Duan Li muttering “F*ck, stupid kid. P*ss off!” under her breath and went to catch up with her friends.

Duan Li crouched down and curled in on herself from the pain. Fat tears rolled off her eyes from being stepped on.

“Chessie, what’s wrong?!” Little Yun Zhu reacted the fastest as he dashed to Duan Li to check where she had gotten hurt.

Seeing that the girl was leaving, Yun Jian looked down and grabbed her wrist just as the girl was shoving other visitors to move forward.

Yun Jian’s cold voice rang icily, “Hold it there! Apologize!”

Chapter 1014: An Insolent Girl. One Word—Apologize

Yun Jian saw Yun Zhu slowly helping Duan Li up from the ground, so she did not rush to help her but went to catch the girl who was leaving after she stepped on Duan Li.

“Jiejie, it doesn’t hurt...” Duan Li had suffered from abuse since a very young age, so when she saw Yun Jian grabbing the girl’s clothes because of her, she tugged the edge of Yun Jian’s clothes to tell her timidly.

Duan Li was worried about Yun Jian getting into a conflict with others over her.

When Duan Li used to get beaten up by her alcoholic father, a middle-aged woman who was their neighbor had come to stop him but her father actually hit this kindhearted woman as well.

Although Duan Li was young, what she had gone through was something a lot of people would not experience all their lives.

Duan Li was afraid that she would cause Yun Jian to get into unnecessary trouble. She was scared of putting Yun Jian in harm because of herself.

Due to her childhood trauma, even when Duan Li seemed lively, active, and would be up to mischief, the loneliness and fear hidden within her was something no one could understand.

Yun Jian crouched down. She could see Duan Li turning pale from being stepped on just now.

Children’s feet were soft and delicate; they could not take the least bit of damage.

Moreover, when the girl went over the railing from the outside just now, she had hopped off said railing that was around half a meter tall directly.

Jumping off that height and stepping on Duan Li’s foot, it was akin to springing up and stomping down on the girl’s foot.

Forget that Duan Li was only a child. Even if it were to happen to an adult, the adult would grimace from being stomped so hard on.

When Yun Jian watched Duan Li tugged her clothes to insist that it did not hurt for her, she felt a certain part in her heart jolt.

“What the f*ck? Are you crazy? I haven’t done a thing to you. Why are you asking me to apologize out of the blue?” The girl had a head of permed wavy hair; one look at her was enough to tell that she was the delinquent kind.

Being a delinquent was not a big deal. If one must compare, Yun Jian was surely the biggest delinquent among the students in Longmen City. She was the boss of Zhe Province’s top gang, after all!

As a person, it was not horrible to join gangs. What was horrible was not admitting things you had done. Denying what one had done was not rare—a lot of people must have done something similar too.

What was repulsive was that not only was this girl not admitting it, her aggressive tone was as if she was right.

“Let go of me, let go! I’ll get someone to beat you up if you don’t let go of me!”

Some people spoke brazenly like they knew some invincible people just because they were delinquents and knew some local thugs.

Such was the girl. She regarded Yun Jian in disdain out of the corner of her eyes and struggled to pry Yun Jian’s hand off from grabbing her wrist.

People around them saw the scene just now and they thought that Yun Jian was right.

“Young lady, we kept quiet when you cut the queue just now but it’s unreasonable now when you refuse to apologize after stepping on her young sister.”

A tall young man with a beer belly who was lined up in front told the girl on behalf of Yun Jian as he, too, had witnessed what happened.

Before he could finish, however, the girl cut him off. “P*ss off, fat *ss! What does it have to do with you?”

The girl turned back to look at Yun Jian as she cursed, “Are you letting go or not? I’ll ask my friends to catch you and beat you up otherwise!”

The girl’s insolent words, in exchange, had only gotten the same single-worded demand from Yun Jian.

“Apologize!”

Chapter 1015: Does This Feel Good?

The girl froze and was about to say something when her attention was pulled away by the voices of the teenagers who had already jostled their way to the front.

“Yang Caidie, what are you doing? Why aren’t you coming over?” A taller guy shouted when he managed to spot the girl being held back by Yun Jian.

Apparently, the girl’s name was Yang Caidie.

Yang Caidie grew more annoyed when the guy shouted at her. All her friends had already cut the line and went to the front but she was being blocked by Yun Jian who prevented her from following her friends’ pace.

In addition, two people could fit in a bumper car and Yang Caidie was supposed to go on the ride with her boyfriend.

Her boyfriend was the real gangster. The reason she was in such a hurry to catch up with them was to get into the same bumper car with the guy—only for Yun Jian to ask her for an apology?

Yang Caidie held a lot of pride and ego for herself, especially when she got to know numerous gangster friends after dating her current boyfriend. She felt exceptionally proud of herself—and she thought that it was impossible she would apologize to Yun Jian.

“Get yourselves here, guys! This b*tch here is insisting I apologize! D*mn it! I haven’t done sh*t to her!”

With their surrounding crowded with the queuing visitors, Yang Caidie grew more impatient and yelled at her friends who had jogged to the front.

Hearing her holler, her friends who had already gone up front to cut the line ran back to her.

Yun Jian was standing in front holding Duan Li and Duan Ya while Si Yi stood behind her. The latter was tall but he had intentionally slouched to stay touching Yun Jian. Due to their position, Yang Caidie did not see Si Yi.

At the same time, Yang Caidie's friends had come to her side, each of them hopping over the railing like they were going to start a gang fight as they surrounded Yun Jian as well as others who were lining up around her.

"F*ck! Cutie, you're quite the eye candy. Are you trying to bully my girlfriend?" A roguish guy raised his chin at Yun Jian and spoke arrogantly standing outside of the railing.

This guy was Yang Caidie's gangster boyfriend. It was just that once he appeared, he was staring at Yun Jian blatantly with a suggestive expression.

Si Yi who noticed it moved to stand behind Yun Jian quietly and wrapped his arm around her thin waist from her back.

"You're not apologizing, are you?" Yun Jian's tone was icy. With her squinted eyes, the vibe she was exuding changed.

At the sight of Yun Jian's aloofness, Yang Caidie's boyfriend, Yu Hui, felt tempted.

Yun Jian's current demeanor made her look like an ice princess. It made blood flow south and stirred a reaction somewhere within Yu Hui. For a moment, he even thought that his girlfriend, Yang Caidie, was plain and boring.

"Oh ho! Cutie's got a temper huh!" With his friends around him, Yu Hui teased Yun Jian with squinty eyes.

Just as he said that, however, Yun Jian grabbed and pulled Yang Caidie over while her other hand flew up to slap the girl's cheek. The loud slap resounded while Yang Caidie was hurled toward the railing from the impact.

Before she could erupt in wrath, Yun Jian stuck a leg out to stomp it down on her foot.

Yang Caidie cried like a slaughtered animal immediately. She could not even bring herself to curse Yun Jian.

The latter was basically putting all her weight on the single leg she used to step on Yang Caidie. With the hard stomp, Yun Jian ground her sole into the girl's foot.

"Does it feel good?" Yun Jian's cold, unfeeling voice sounded next.

Chapter 1016: A Flying Kick. My Girl

There was a short pause that took place before...

“Looks like you quite enjoy it!” Yun Jian added and went harder—she was almost pressing down on Yang Caidie’s foot with her entire person.

A grown teenager, there was no way Yang Caidie willingly allowed Yun Jian to step on her foot. She struggled the hardest she could but once she did, Yun Jian slapped her.

The scene baffled both the queuing visitors as well as Yu Hui and his friends. It came unexpected to all of them that Yun Jian was so aggressive! Yun Jian looked so slender and weak but that was only how she seemed externally. Yang Caidie could not even touch the hem of Yun Jian’s clothes with her hand stretched—forget being able to hit her.

As for Yun Jian who was stepping on Yang Caidie’s foot, she shifted her entire weight onto it. Yang Caidie flushed red instantly as the pain engulfed her like a tidal wave she could not fight back.

“Ah! Yu Hui, drag this d*mned girl away! Save me!” Yang Caidie was unable to throw Yun Jian off her, so she flailed her arms frenziedly to try and grab Yun Jian’s hair in order to yank her away.

Yun Jian made sure things did not go the way Yang Caidie wished.

Whenever Yang Caidie stretched her hands out, Yun Jian would raise her hand to slap her despite the narrow space she had to maneuver herself. It made Yang Caidie convulsed in further agony.

Yu Hui and his friends were dumbfounded.

Girls usually liked grabbing and yanking each other’s hair when they fought but why was it different when it came to Yun Jian?

While Yun Jian beat Yang Caidie up, Si Yi tucked Yun Zhu, Duan Li and Duan Ya behind him and prevented the three of them from witnessing it.

“Sh*t, cutie, what are you doing? Let go of my girlfriend’s hands! Don’t make me hit you!” Yu Hui wanted to get physical with Yun Jian when he saw his girlfriend being beaten but he considered the fact that Yun Jian was a girl—and more importantly, she was much prettier than his girlfriend.

Yu Hui thought that he was catching feelings for Yun Jian fast. He even felt like dumping his girlfriend to get to know Yun Jian. But if he did not save his girlfriend, he assumed it would make him look bad in front of Yun Jian.

Subconsciously, Yu Hui thought that girls would think less of him as a man if he did not even attempt to save his girlfriend.

And Yu Hui wanted to look more like a man to Yun Jian, so he went to her with the intention of stopping her from stepping on his girlfriend’s foot.

Of course, the guy was just thinking to touch Yun Jian’s supple skin when he would pull her away.

Yun Jian had naturally realized Yu Hui’s intention while Si Yi, who stood behind her and was also a man, was even more aware of Yu Hui’s action.

Just as said guy came and tried to go closer to Yun Jian, Si Yi who was behind Yun Jian and had taken care of the three kids lifted a long leg to step on the railing without even holding onto it. He hopped out of the queueing area right away.

That was not all. After he stepped onto the railing to spring off from there, he pulled his other leg up—without using his hands that were coolly kept in his pants pockets—and kicked Yu Hui whose hand was stretched toward Yun Jian.

Yu Hui went flying from Si Yi's precise and powerful kick.

When he landed with a loud thud, he felt like his internal organs were almost crushed from the impact. It was during the same moment that he heard Si Yi's glowering voice.

“Don't touch my girl!”

Chapter 1017: I Didn't Hear It. I'll Cripple Your Leg

Yu Hui had a hand over his stomach. He felt like Si Yi's kick had shattered his internal organs and it felt worse than death.

“Cough—cough—cough...” His hand flew to his chest as he hacked a rough cough.

Going over the railing meant that one was no longer in the queue. Amusement parks usually had long winding railing set up for lines and the outside of the barricaded area was just space where one was not queueing up.

To run back and help Yang Caidie just now, Yu Hui and his friends had gone over the railing to get to her. Si Yi, too, had gone over the railing before he threw a flying kick to Yu Hui who wanted to lay his hand on Yun Jian.

Yun Jian's eyes flitted down for a second and she wore a small smile. She felt warmth gushing within her because she had Si Yi behind her.

Slap!

Once she thought of Duan Li's little foot that must still in pain now, however, Yun Jian raised her hand to give Yang Caidie another slap.

Duan Li was only a child. She was so small and was still growing. Parts of the body like her feet were fragile. Even Yun Jian's feet were still delicate, what was more, a child like Duan Li.

Therefore, Yun Jian slapped Yang Caidie several times without a care once she was reminded of what the latter had done to Duan Li and how she refused to apologize. Ultimately, she yanked Yang Caidie's hair and pulled her head in front of her, keeping her foot on Yang Caidie's.

“Are you apologizing or not?” Yun Jian questioned and gave the girl another slap.

Yun Jian was already being incredibly merciful. If she had done things like how she would in her past life, Yang Caidie's throat would have been slit.

They were in the amusement park right now, however, and Yun Jian did not want to cause a scene.

Even then, what she was doing was already baffling to the regular people.

If it had been a regular person, they could only let it slide even if they saw their friends or family's foot being stomped, or the other party refusing when they asked them to apologize, or even when the other party got defensive like Yang Caidie. Whatever could they do except chalking it up as bad luck?

After all, an ordinary person would never dare to act like Yun Jian, hitting and berating the culprit and even demanding an apology. Not only was it an act inviting controversy, a typical person would feel embarrassed to hit someone in front of so many people—girls, especially, who cared about their image.

Who would act as aggressive as Yun Jian? There was also the consideration if an average person had similar ability like Yun Jian.

“Apologize—I’ll apologize... Argh! Please let me go! Ow, ow, it hurts...” With her hands being restrained and her hair being yanked mercilessly by Yun Jian, Yang Caidie was drenched in cold sweat from the pain.

As brazen as she had been earlier, as meek as she was right now. She was shaking like a leaf.

The visitors who were standing around them felt a sliver of terror. How was this young lady acting so brutally despite her age?

“I didn’t hear it,” Yun Jian said coldly just when everyone thought that she would let the girl go upon hearing the apology.

What followed after her aloof statement was another crisp slap.

Yun Jian slapped Yang Caidie once more and raised her voice, her tone blaring with dominance. “I’ll cripple your leg if you’re still not apologizing!”

It was only now that Yang Caidie felt the terror wash over her as she shuddered. All that ran through her mind was that Yun Jian was a devil—she was the devil itself!

Yun Jian’s action had taken Yang Caidie’s fear to another level.

Chapter 1018: Say Sorry. Defeated The Meanies

She apologized! She had already apologized!

But what did Yun Jian say? She said she did not hear it?

Was it because she had spoken it so softly that Yun Jian discounted it?

Yang Caidie could not help scowling—in her mind—how there was someone so unreasonable in this world. Yun Jian was tricking her!

It was just that the girl had forgotten one thing as she thought about that—how she had responded to Yun Jian just now and how unreasonable she was when she did not admit what she had done to Duan Li.

“Sorry! I’m sorry! I was wrong! Please let go of me! Let me go!” Yang Caidie begged for mercy.

The girl was only acting so insolent because she had a boyfriend.

Yu Hui was a hooligan and knew quite many of them as well. He often got into fights and liked calling his so-called bros to them too. Any time one of the bros got into a discord with others, these other bros would all swarm to the scene; even if it were just something petty, they made it out to be a whole big drama and thus broke out into a gang fight.

Yu Hui was a frequent participant in such affairs.

Gang fights were not all. Digging deeper into the matter, a guy like Yu Hui was all about making an impression in front of the girls. He got into a group fight—then? What was it for you ask, it was so he could flaunt it to the girls.

As for the girls, some of them had never come close to this side of life. When they heard guys like Yu Hui exaggerate and make themselves out to be the superman, they really thought that these guys were invincible.

Girls like Yang Caidie, for example, inevitably fell for Yu Hui and was so blinded by infatuation that she really thought that Yu Hui and his bros were indomitable.

The outcome?

When she ran into someone like Yun Jian and failed to receive help from her boyfriend, Yu Hui, Yang Caidie had to beg Yun Jian like the loser she was now.

The girl was really shouting herself hoarse to beg for Yun Jian's mercy, afraid that the latter would tell her "I didn't hear it" again.

When Yang Caidie realized that her boyfriend was not as good as he made himself out to be, she could only dampen her pride to beg Yun Jian for forgiveness.

All Yun Jian did was wear a smirk and free Yang Caidie's hands with a flick, actually stopping from doing anything more to her.

Yang Caidie whose hands and foot were freed from Yun Jian's grip felt like she gained a new life as she crawled over the railing like she was avoiding the plague.

Yu Hui was also intimidated by Si Yi's earlier kick. As for the others who came with Yu Hui, they did not even dare step forward when they saw how savage Yun Jian and Si Yi were.

Ultimately, Yang Caidie and her group of friends did not dare risk it to take the bumper car ride anymore as they fled swiftly.

"Yay! Jiejie and Si Yi-gege defeated the meanies!" Little Yun Zhu held hands with Duan Li as he cheered cutely.

The crowd around them was shocked by the agility and physical skill that Yun Jian and Si Yi had just shown.

Both of them then went back to lining up with all three kids. Yun Jian had also checked Duan Li's foot carefully and carried her when she spotted a bruise on her foot.

Although Duan Li's foot hurt, she refused to go home. Children loved having fun. In the rare occasion that she got to visit the amusement park today, Duan Li would play on even if she was in pain.

Chapter 1019: The Untruth, Evil Si Yi

Duan Li remained in Yun Jian's arms. The girl was so light it felt like she weighed nothing, so Yun Jian was not at all worn out from carrying her.

The young girl wore her hair in two tall braided pigtails and looked incredibly adorable. As Yun Jian carried her, the two tall pigtails rubbed against her skin sometimes. Yun Jian did not mind it, though, smiling softly instead of looking peeved.

Si Yi went over the railing and went back to stand behind her.

"Young lady, your boyfriend's very cool just now!"

When Yang Caidie stepped on Duan Li's foot and wanted to leave without an apology earlier, everyone around them merely kept watching. This beer-bellied young man was the only one who stepped up to defend Yun Jian.

Now that he saw Yun Jian and Si Yi returning, he could not help making a comment to Yun Jian.

This beer-bellied young man was a typical big guy who looked rather heavy. He meant nothing else by his comment except wanting Yun Jian to know.

Yun Jian, too, admired someone like him who could lend a helping hand to a stranger during a trip, so she nodded at him with a smile after what he said but did not make a verbal reply.

Nonetheless, her smile could be considered a silent admission to the beer-bellied young man's comment—Si Yi was her boyfriend.

As if having no one to chat with him, the young man looked at Duan Li who was being carried by Yun Jian, Duan Ya who held hands with the latter, and Yun Zhu who was in Si Yi's clutch as well, and could not help commenting again.

"You two look very young, especially you, young lady. I thought you're 16 or 17 years old! Haha! If I didn't see your three children, I'd have thought both of you are a young couple in school!"

The big-sized man was obviously skeptical about the children being Yun Jian and Si Yi's but come to think about it, some people just did not look their age. Yun Jian and Si Yi seemed young but the man thought that young couples who usually came for dates or travels would never bring their younger siblings along. If they did, their parents would at least come with them.

Although it was unbelievable, the beer-bellied man would rather assume that they were the parents than to think in that direction of thought.

Yun Jian froze the moment she heard what the man said and was going to say something—possibly to deny—when Si Yi spoke up. "It's not good to keep the children at home constantly. We ought to spend some time and take the kids out more."

His answer was admitting to the man's claim.

The corners of Yun Jian's lips twitched. She wanted to speak up to explain but Si Yi had wrapped an arm around her slim waist and looked at her fondly, saying, "There, there. Make sure you don't drop the child."

Yun Jian was speechless. She could even feel the burning gazes of the people around them on her.

"Hahaha! I can see that you husband and wife are very loving!" The big guy did not doubt Si Yi's reply as all. At the same time, his term of address for Yun Jian and Si Yi went from "young couple" to "husband and wife".

Yun Zhu, Duan Li and Duan Ya looked young enough that they could pass as kindergarten toddlers since all three of them were on the smaller side physically. Relatively, Yun Zhu had grown much taller recently—which was a good thing—but he looked like he was six or seven years old at most.

If Yun Jian and Si Yi were actually a little older, it did not sound exactly unbelievable that both of them got pregnant earlier and gave birth to the three kids.

The beer-bellied man chuckled.

"Very nice."

Si Yi merely flashed a cool smile.

He was completely at ease saying an untruth like this because he wanted to mislead everyone into thinking that Yun Jian was already his. Others could forget about laying their hands on her—not even on a strand of her hair!

Chapter 1020: Boat Ride In The Amusement Park: Running Into Ge Xuan's Mother

In the end, Si Yi actually chatted with the beer-bellied guy even though all he mentioned, from start to finish, was a boast of his relationship with Yun Jian.

If it were put in Si Yi's own words, he was dying for everyone in the world to know that Yun Jian had already belonged to him—she only belonged to him! He strictly prohibited anyone from harboring any intention for Yun Jian!

The long line passed by swiftly. It was Yun Jian's turn in a blink of eyes. Since they were with Duan Ya, Si Yi did not plan to go on the bumper car like the kids.

A bumper car could only fit two people, so Yun Jian took the same one with Duan Ya. As Yun Zhu and Duan Li were a little older and more developed now, Yun Jian was not worried about them sharing a car.

Si Yi stood at the side as he watched Yun Jian together with Duan Ya, and Yun Zhu with Duan Li, had the time of their lives. He felt happy as well as he took in how the corners of Yun Jian's lips were curled up in genuine joy throughout the ride.

Si Yi had his eyes on Yun Jian the whole time. The overflowing affection in his gaze could even be felt by the middle-aged women who were in the queue.

Yun Zhu, Duan Li and Duan Ya loved bumper cars. Some dangerous games in the amusement park were not appropriate for the three of them yet, so they pulled Yun Jian along and kept going back to bumper cars the whole afternoon. Once they were done, they dragged Yun Jian and Si Yi to line up for the second time—again and again without fail.

When dinner time came, Yun Jian and Si Yi took the three children to a restaurant in the amusement park. The dishes there were generally much more expensive than restaurants outside but even then, Yun Jian ordered plenty of food for them.

She also texted Qin Yirou during the meal, telling her that she and Si Yi had taken Yun Zhu, Duan Li and Duan Ya out and would not be home for dinner.

It was the last day of the three-day break due to Labor Day today and there was supposed to be an evening revision session tonight, but the school had cancelled it since it was the last day of holiday and the weather forecast reported bad weather for the day.

Of course, no one had expected today to be bright and sunny. It was common for weather forecast during this era to be faulty anyway.

“Jiejie, let’s go on a boat ride after dinner, okay?” Little Yun Zhu asked Yun Jian as he ate from his bowl, after having a discussion with Duan Li and Duan Ya.

“Sure.” Yun Jian patted his head, feeling that her younger brother was getting cuter.

After the meal, nightfall draped over the land as the sun had completely set. The amusement park was swiftly lit up by neon lights.

There were still plenty of people who were staying in the amusement park. Needless to say, the boats by the river were operating too.

The boats here charged an additional fee, which Yun Jian knew as Si Yi had just paid to rent the paddle boat for an hour.

Yun Jian was going to guide the kids into the boat when she espied a familiar face not too far away at that moment. The familiar face oozed affluence and pride, and was holding a boy around Yun Zhu’s age, as they were escorted by a group of people coming toward where Yun Jian was.

Yun Jian’s brows locked into a frown the moment she saw the wealthy woman. How was it that she could run into Ge Xuan’s biological mother, Hua Yun, here of all places?

Just as the thought struck her, Hua Yun saw Yun Jian too. She could not help scoffing and took large strides to Yun Jian.
