Chapter 1241: Put On the Swimsuit, It Matches You

Si Y's temper rarely flared but since meeting Yun Jian, the number of times he seethed was gradually increasing.

Out in the society, there would always be certain people in this world who thought that they were superior and gave unsolicited comments to others. Perhaps, a man who wanted to pick up a girl when he saw a pretty one; perhaps, regular girls would be picked up when the guy came to her and showered her with praises.

Despite that, something like this would never happen with Yun Jian.

Si Yi's kick was powerful, nearly making the man chum out what was in his stomach. Si Yi was quick to reel in his gaze and refocus it on Yun Jian.

"Don't let me see you again. Scram," he ordered low in volume but cold in tone while his eyes stayed on Yun Jian.

He spoke to the man but his gaze on Yun Jian was affectionate and pampering.

It took the man some time to get up, spending a while on the floor, before he hauled himself up with much difficulty. What was odd was that when the man scrambled up from the floor and wanted to fetch the cruise staff to be the judge of the situation and extort Si Yi by the way so the painful kick he suffered did not go to waste, he did not feel any discomfort.

How was it possible? He was in so much pain when Si Yi kicked him just now~so much so that he could not stand up! Why did he feel nothing at all after he got up?

While the man frowned in skepticism and wondered why this was the case, Si Yi had already held Yun Jian's hand to sit themselves down on the seats that the man and woman had occupied just now.

Of course Si Yi would never injure the man with that kick. They were on a vacation; Si Yi was not going to cause any sort of trouble that would interfere with their holiday. He had yet to spend alone time with his Xiao Jian.

Yun Jian had no idea about what Si Yi thought as she and Si Yi got comfortable on the seats that the man and woman had snatched just now.

The ship was still cruising. Other than the initial quake, the journey had been smooth after that. As they sailed smoothly, it was eight to nine in the morning when they arrived at Zhou Island.

The sun was already high and bright at this hour in a summer day.

Arriving and going off the cruise, Ning Xia led her guests to a shore nearby.

Zhou Island had a huge stretch of sandy beach, all yellow beige powder as one looked toward the sea from one end to another.

The weather was slowly warming up to a sticky heat in July. The two months that the students had for their summer break were no doubt the hottest period in Zhe Province.

'When they came to the beach, Ning Xia went to the women's changing room with Qing You and Yun Jian while Qin Yirou went with Mrs. Yang.

Before they came to the island, Ning Xia's mother was nice enough to have prepared swimsuits for the women. She had also prepared the same for the men but guys usually just jumped into the water at the beach with their underwear—boxers, not briefs.

There were changing rooms for men and women specifically set up by the beach and Qing You was excitedly nudging Yun Jian into one. Once they were inside, Qing You thrust a set of sexy black swimsuit to Yun Jian and goaded, "Sister Jian, put on the swimsuit.. I think this set matches you very well!"

Chapter 1242: The Bewitching Swimsuit and His Physical Reaction

The black swimsuit that was stuffed to Yun Jian's hands was not exposing. She would not flash herself wearing it, not even baring too much of her lady parts to others. Despite that, the black swimsuit could show off a girl's figure perfectly, fully accentuating the curves and dips of the body. Yun Jian could sense that just from holding the swimsuit and could not help blushing.

It was not like Yun Jian had never worn swimsuits but whether it was her previous or current life, she had never worn clothes that explicitly highlighted her curves and even vaguely showed private bits—what was more, a swimsuit.

Although Yun Jian was a famous secret agent in her past life, she had never used her beauty to achieve her goals being a female secret agent.

This was simply not the case with Yun Jian.

She had killed multiple male assassins who had international fame and were known for their strong abilities in her past life and sexual seduction did not exist in Slaying God's world.

If one had to ask why, there was only one answer—she did not need to seduce anyone because her abilities sufficed to let her kill anyone instantly!

That was why Yun Jian now blushed when she saw this swimsuit with a top that was as short as a bra and a pair of shorts that barely covered one-fifth of her thighs—and she had to wear this in front of him

"Sister Jian, hurry and change into them. Heh, the color really matches you! I've never seen you wear a swimsuit in the past. You've got to fulfill my dream today!" Qing You urged again with a gleeful tone.

Holding the black swimsuit, Yun Jian ultimately changed into it.

When Yun Jian took off her clothes, Qing You had to suppress her shriek when she saw how perfect the former's body was. It took her some time to keep the screech in before she squealed with a hand over her mouth as she stared at Yun Jian like a little girl.

"Whoa! Sister Jian, you have such a great figure! I've eaten so much these days and I have a tummy already!" Qing You exclaimed and pinched her stomach.

"Oh, oh!" It was only then Qing You changed into a pink swimsuit that Ning Xia's mother had prepared for her.

While Qing You's figure was not as voluptuous as Yun Jian's, dipping in and filling up where it should, her figure was still wonderful.

Si Yi and the rest of the guys had already gotten changed and were waiting at the door.

Si Yi did not take off his top. He wore a pair of board shorts that went over his knees and a casual black top. He did not like feeling exposed in front of a lot of people, so he had never taken off his top before outsiders.

As Si Yi stood rooted waiting for a while, there were many men around him who had bared their upper bodies with some trying to show off their solid muscles with that. There were also girls who were blatantly staring at him but he ignored them all.

It was then a lean figure walked out of the women's changing room.

Without the fitting clothes as the person was changed into a black two-piece swimsuit with short top and bottom, a pair of fair, flawless legs that were straight and beautiful greeted everyone first.

Si Yi felt blood rush south the moment he saw the pair of fair legs. A certain part of his lower body had a physical reaction.

Chapter 1243: Careful Not to Catch a Cold—Too Obvious

Yun Jian was slender and lean. The moment she walked out, the men around her shifted their gazes to her.

The swimsuit Yun Jian wore would not flash her accidentally as it fitted tight like a glove. It allowed endless space for imagination but fully showcased the bodyline to others at the same time.

"sister Jian, you look so pretty!" Qing You came out as well. With the pink swimsuit that she had changed into, it was brighter than Yun Jian's and slightly more exposing; despite that, the pink made it look more girly.

Qing You called out standing behind Yun Jian. They were a family with a friend's family who had gotten together for a vacation. It was to relax themselves basically, so there was no need for strict formalities.

Yun Jian was lined right up to meet Si Yi's gaze as she looked up slightly and looked down again. For some reason, she could remain unfazed in front of others but before him, she felt like she had to think over everything she did.

It was rare for Si Yi to get distracted before he broke out of the daze, walking toward Yun Jian once he came back to reality. Her beauty was only for him to admire!

Si Yi held Yun Jian's hand and made his way to a rockier part of the beach.

It was then Qin Yirou exited the women's changing room and saw Si Yi leading Yun Jian away to the beach, so she asked, "A-Yi, where are you taking Xiao Jian to?"

"We're just walking around," Si Yi replied softly without turning around and continued pulling Yun Jian to the rockier side.

"These two kids look better together day by day," Ge Junjian could not help nodding at Yun Jian and Si Yi's backs as he told Qin Yirou standing beside her.

Yun Jian was not exceptionally tall, standing at a little over 160 centimeters, but her height felt perfect with her gorgeous face and proportions. She also looked lovely and pliant standing next to Si Yi who was 185 centimeters as her head could only reach above his shoulders.

Both of them exuded the feeling like they should belong together innately. They matched each other extremely well.

Si Yi had already gone some distance away with Yun Jian while Qin Yirou and others who were still standing around did not go after them.

As her children grew up, they should have their own sky to fly in like birds. Qin Yirou took comfort in that fact.

Si Yi took Yun Jian to the part of the beach where there were more rocks. As they arrived at the area, Si Yi took off his jacket to drape it on Yun Jian.

"You're wearing so little and your stomach is exposed too. Careful not to catch a cold!" Si Yi said and draped his jacket on Yun Jian before buttoning said garment up.

Yun Jian was speechless. It was at least 37-38 degrees Celsius right now and the temperature could go up to 40 degrees Celsius if the sun shone bright enough during noon.

Some people would take off everything to feel cooler in such sweltering weather but what did Si Yi say? Careful not to catch a cold? His intent was too obvious!

Just as Si Yi's long fingers had buttoned up the men's jacket on Yun Jian, a middle-aged man came over suddenly from the many yachts docked nearby the rocky shore and told them, "Hey, you youngsters, wanna take a ride in the yacht? I have a few guests looking for people to rent a yacht together. I'll take you guys around Zhou Island once. It'll be a steal if you come together. It's only 30 yuan a person!"

Chapter 1244: Putting on Life Jackets, Wait for Your Knight in Shining Armor

The middle-aged man who made his way over suddenly wore a casual top with a loose greyish brown pants that went over his knees. He walked with a limp, like his legs were not quite fine.

As the man stood in front of them, he interrupted what Si Yi was doing. He seemed a little awkward but he braved himself to speak up in order to get some business, "Hi, I'm Hang, you guys can call me Master Hang. I've driven boats around here for decades and I have one right now which can fit ten people. There are already eight passengers now."

"If you both come together and share the boat, I can charge you guys as part of the group and make it cheaper. Young lady, young man, are you interested?"

The middle-aged man was Master Hang. He was currently making a simple introduction to Yun Jian and Si Yi.

There were various beach activities at the seaside, so there were many people who were selling their services or products. Some people worked like that; their day-to-day life might not be sustained if they did not get enough customers a day, so it was only understandable that they had to be slightly more shameless to approach potential customers.

Yun Jian squinted at Master Hang's words while Si Yi did not look at the man, stroking Yun Jian's hand fondly after hearing him and asking with his deep buzz of a voice, "Do you want to go?"

Needless to say, Si Yi was asking if Yun Jian wanted to go on the yacht.

Master Hang who saw Si Yi's affectionate gaze could not help wearing a small smile.

"MM," Yun Jian agreed with a hum as she gathered the jacket Si Yi had made her put on to cover the swimsuit she wore closer to herself.

"For two." Si Yi smiled as he held Yun Jian's hand to walk in front of Master Hang.

"Sure thing!" Master Hang spoke with a thick local accent but what he said was still comprehensible. As he spoke holding a life jacket, he could not help praising Si Yi as he led them toward where the yacht was, "Young man, you have a bright future, haha!"

What he meant with that was clear without saying.

Si Yi smiled and followed holding Yun Jian's hand.

Master Hang took both of them to the yacht where a few people around their age stood next to. These young people who looked to be Si Yi and Yun Jian's peers greeted them when they saw them, seemingly quite friendly.

It was obvious as Si Yi and Yun Jian were here to make up for the group. Initially, each person needed to pay around 50 yuan to rent the yacht but with the addition of Si Yi and Yun Jian, meaning that there were more of them, each of them got to pay less after the division.

"Hi! I'm Lin Huiyi!" a girl greeted Yun Jian and Si Yi warmly.

"Mn." Yun Jian nodded but Si Yi made no response.

The group of young people who were taking the yacht with the couple were not angered by that as they seemed rather amicable and mild. After all, not everyone wore their hearts on their sleeves.

"Put on the life jacket first!" Master Hang brought ten orange life vests with him and passed them to the group.

Although no one in the group of peers was hostile to Yun Jian and Si Yi, peers were bound to compare among each other to see who was better when they hung out together. Some might even throw in a few jargons in their conversations to show off how knowledgeable they were.

“How do I wear this life jacket?” a girl asked after failing to wear said life vest despite fiddling it for some time.

“Heh, you don’t even know how to do it? Chill, I’ll wear mine first and teach you guys one by one! You didn’t know but my uncle used to be an expert in driving speedboats, so I’ve learned it from him as well. You guys can’t even wear a life vest properly.. Hold on, let the knight in shining armor come to your rescue!”

Chapter 1245: Fainting in the Middle of the Sail

The person who spoke was a young man who looked quite decent. As he talked, he looked down to buckle up his life jacket, not forgetting to boast, “My uncle used to be a famous yacht expert and joined some kind of yacht contest before—and won the first prize”

“There was a pause from the young man before he blew his own trumpet even louder, “I went to stay with my uncle for some time during the summer break when I was 16 and he taught me how to drive a yacht. The maneuvering is quite easy. I could operate it and go off on my own after learning for a day!”

The young man’s boastful tone was off putting.

Obviously, it was not the first time for Lin Huiyi and others who were with the young man to hear him talk big like this.

As for the young man’s ultimate purpose of laying it on thick, it was only to see surprise and astonishment on Yun Jian and Si Yi’s expression. It was as if crowing and seeing the shock from the two of them could grow his ego.

The young man did not mean harm. He just wanted to see the surprise when others knew about his capability. It was too bad that he did not manage to see any bewilderment on Yun Jian and Si Yi’s face. On the contrary, the both of them looked normal.

It was the young man himself who paused wearing his life jacket as he was flummoxed that the two of them were not dumbstruck like he had expected when they heard how cool he was.

Yun Jian and Si Yi put on the life jackets familiarly and buckled them up within seconds. It was not just the group of young people, even Master Hang was momentarily stunned by their ease of wearing the vests.

“Cough, cough... Get on the yacht after you’ve worn the life vests.” Master Hang pulled on the docking rope purposely to alleviate the awkwardness in the atmosphere.

It was only then the young man winced and helped the others put on their life jackets while Yun Jian and Si Yi got up the yacht first. When Lin Huiyi, the young man and their friends got up, Yun Jian and Si Yi were already seated on one side of the yacht.

As the other youths came up, a guy beside the young man who had tried showing off his ability told him,

“Yushu, you said that you’ve learned driving the yacht for the summer break. Ask Master Hang to let you drive it later!”

The young man who had been shooting his mouth off just now was Xiong Yushu. He had yearned to prove his capability since the beginning.

Now that another guy who was in his group played along with him, he immediately replied, “Heh, no, no. I’ve just learned it for one summer break but my uncle did compliment me on being good at it.”

Xiong Yushu said and scratched his head.

Master Hang had then started the yacht and took the group to cruise around Zhou Island following the perimeter of its beach.

Zhou Island was ginormous. It would be impossible for one to finish going around the island in a day’s tour, so spending some money below 100 yuan to take the yacht and cruise around the island was an excellent choice.

Yun Jian sat next to Si Yi as she enjoyed the thrill that was brought by the high speed of the yacht sailing across the sea with a squint.

They had already made half a trip around Zhou Island by now.

It was then Master Hang who was steering the yacht suddenly held a hand over his chest. He felt a pang in his heart before his hands that were holding the wheel fell limp.

“Mas-Master Hang? What’s wrong?!” Lin Huiyi was the first to react as she cried aloud seeing Master Hang who had been sailing passed out on the floor abruptly.

Chapter 1246: A Heart Attack. Hold On Tight

Lin Huiyi was the first to discover Master Hang passing out.

Yun Jian and Si Yi had their back diagonally facing Master Hang while the rest of them had their back against him. Lin Huiyi had screamed the moment she saw the man fainted.

When Master Hang fainted with a thud on the floor, Yun Jian and Si Yi were actually already aware. The others had only realized it after Lin Huiyi screeched.

‘What happened to Master Hang? Why had he fainted? These were the first thoughts all of them had. Due to how abrupt it had happened, everyone was stunned, too in shock to react.

“Yacht—the yacht... Who can sail the yacht? Send him back to the shore! Will Master Hang...” one of the guys cried in panic.

After all, they were nearly halfway around Zhou Island in cruise now and required over ten to twenty minutes to return from here.

No one knew what happened since Master Hang had fainted out of the blue, so the best solution right now was to send him back to the beach they came from and call for rescue there.

The problem, however, was who would sail the yacht since Master Hang was now unconscious?

No one dared to lay a finger on Master Hang as well since he had passed out. What if something else happened when they nudged him or something? Who was going to be held responsible?

“Yushu, hurry! Didn’t you learn how to drive a yacht from your uncle during the summer break? Drive it back to the beach now! He might not make it if we drag this on longer!” the guy who played along Xiong Yushu’s boast just now told him,

As he had never encountered similar situations, the guy’s voice was shaky and hoarse when he spoke.

“L.. don’t know where to sail it to. I’m not familiar with this area, II...” Gone was Xiong Yushu’s bragging superiority just now as he began to tremble and was hesitant with his steps, not daring to drive the yacht.

The bluster just now was one thing as he grew afraid when it was currently a critical moment. After all, he had been alone when he drove the yacht in the past. Now that he had to do it with so many people in the yacht and there was someone who had just passed out with his life at risk anytime... He—he was scared.

“Yushu, what are you doing dilly-dallying? You’re the only one who knows how to sail the yacht. If you don’t do something, we’ll...” the guy urged again.

They could not possibly let the yacht stop there. Would it sink if they spent too long resting?

The more they thought about it, the more terrified they were. Not only were they worried about Master Hang, they fretted over their own safety.

It was when these people froze in fright not knowing what to do next that a crisp female voice rang, “I’ll drive the yacht.”

Yun Jian slid onto the yacht’s helm seat right after she said that. With her back against the rest of the group, she told the panicking young people behind her, “He has a heart attack. Don’t touch or move him if you can.”

Yun Jian was not raising a question but making a statement. She then started the yacht’s engine and accelerated it to the highest speed available while the rest watched her in shock.

“How do you know that he has a heart attack? Have you studied medicine? And you can sail a yacht too?” Lin Huiyi asked in surprise.

What it got in return was Yun Jian’s decisive reply. She did not answer Lin Huiyi directly but told all of them, “Hold on tight!”

Yun Jian let go of the clutch then. The next second, in everyone’s gasp, the yacht sped toward the beach they came from like it was flying..

Chapter 1247: Intentionally Wishing Death Upon Old Hang?

The billowing wind was all they could hear as they clung to the handles and dropped their jaws with widened eyes.

Yun Jian was extremely fast in sailing the yacht that the speed drained colors off of everyone's face. They would probably be blown away if they had not gripped onto a pole. She was that fast!

"Oh my god! This is not what a beginner could do! My uncle hasn't even been this fast in driving a yacht before! And he's driven one for almost 20 years!" Xiong Yushu exclaimed in terror as he clung to a pole in fright.

Right after what he said, his friends standing around him—Lin Huiyi included—looked terrified. They had heard Xiong Yushu swaggering about his uncle like the latter was invincible but now?

This girl who had been quiet since she got on the yacht together with them was actually so proficiently skilled in sailing a yacht? That was until Xiong Yushu could not help claiming that his uncle who he admired so much had never driven one as fast as Yun Jian did today.

How masterly must she be to force such a statement out of Xiong Yushu?

The sea wind billowed. Si Yi stood next to Yun Jian without doing anything else. He did not even hold out a hand to clutch the pole on the open-air yacht but he stood securely.

Yun Jian was able to shorten the sail that needed ten to twenty minutes to five minutes.

Lin Huiyi, Xiong Yushu and others were thoroughly dumbstruck. They were simply stunned at the situation—all for Yun Jian's jaw-dropping ability.

She knew how to sail a yacht and she was so young!

Just as they thought about it, they heard Yun Jian speaking again in a low tone, "Hold on tight now!"

The group clung to the yacht's poles with two hands at what she said before they felt Yun Jian steering the yacht and charging for the shore.

"ah! The yacht will capsize!" Lin Huiyi blanched and clamped her eyes shut as she clung to the yacht's pole for dear life.

Like Lin Huiyi, the others did not look much greater. All of them had their eyes screwed shut as they tensed up in fear. They listened well to Yun Jian, though, clinging onto the yacht's poles like their lives depended on it.

Boom!

The next second, the yacht sped up the shore. Due to the waves and the strong momentum, the yacht took a powerful bump before it stopped securely on the beach.

To be honest, the yacht did not jolt too badly. At least, Master Hang who lay in the yacht was not shaken and the boat was already docked securely.

It was obvious that Master Hang was not the only one sailing a yacht as there were many of his friends at the beach. When they saw Yun Jian coming back to the shore driving the yacht, they ran over barefooted.

“What’s the matter? What’s wrong?” Master Hang’s friends slash coworkers were anxious and pale when they saw Master Hang lying unconscious in the yacht but they did not know what to do.

‘There was an older middle-aged man who wanted to grab Master Hang up from the floor and carry him to the hospital when they saw a pretty girl walk out from the helm seat and stop the man calmly, “Don’t touch him!”

‘The older middle-aged man was startled and actually stopped what he was doing.

“Young lady, he’s already unconscious and you’re not letting us send him to the hospital. Are you intentionally wishing death upon Old Hang?!” one of Master Hang’s coworkers came over and berated Yun Jian sounding incredibly righteous..

Chapter 1248: Things Would’ve Have Gone South if Not for Her

This person who came over did not even care about anything else. He came and berated Yun Jian directly, and even looked a little nonchalant about it. He did not look like he was doing it for Master Hang but was gloating about the situation.

Moreover, he was leisurely in his action as he looked at Yun Jian, seeming more like he wished something bad would actually happen to Master Hang. He sounded hostile when he talked to Yun Jian too.

In spite of it, this man spoke like he was speaking for the sake of Master Hang and made the others think that Yun Jian was purposely trying to harm the latter.

The bystanders began to accuse her as well.

“What’s up with you, young lady? You wish something bad happen to Master Hang, don’t you?”

“Yeah! Master Hang is such a nice man and this young lady is vicious! Come on, hurry! Carry Master Hang to the hospital to get him checked!”

Master Hang’s coworkers began to lambast Yun Jian and some even called her heartless.

These were blurted in an instant but Yun Jian merely narrowed her eyes and smirked coldly, saying, “He has a heart attack. Call the ambulance right now. You guys aren’t medical professionals. If a heart attack isn’t treated in time, the patient will usually die two hours within the attack.”

“Don’t move or help the patient to walk, or the condition will only worsen faster. None of you will be able to bear the responsibility if something happens!”

Yun Jian’s icy words rang promptly and successfully stopped the group of people who wanted to put their hands on Master Hang.

Yes, Yun Jian was right. No one would be able to bear the responsibility if another accident were to happen when they moved or helped the patient to walk.

“Til go get the doctor!” Someone sprinted for the hospital nearby the beach.

It was lucky that the shore was not too far away from the hospital. When the doctor came with the person and completed a series of safety precaution, he wiped away the cold sweat drenching him after he safely sent Master Hang to the hospital.

Watching the medical staff send Master Hang to the hospital he worked in, the doctor dabbed the sweat on his brows and told the crowd, "Phew, he'd be fine as long as he's sent to the hospital in time and receives medication."

"The patient's condition is very serious just now. It's fortunate that you guys have called for us and didn't try to help him up or move him. Otherwise, he might die on the spot based on the situation today."

Even the doctor had made a sigh out of luck—what was more, the others, especially Master Hang's coworker who had dramatically rebuked Yun Jian just now.

The person was unreasonable but he did not wish death upon Master Hang at all nor he dared to. Hearing what the doctor said now, this person looked at the doctor in disbelief and shakily asked, "Doctor, we really can't move Old Hang just now?"

It was obvious that the person had no medical knowledge just from what he asked.

The doctor glanced at him and answered, "That's right. In laymen terms, if you guys have moved him, it's highly likely to cause a sudden death to the patient having a heart attack, which means a death on the spot."

"This means that the young lady just now is really medically knowledgeable!" someone said looking at Yun Jian in surprise.

Everyone then shifted their eyes to Yun Jian and was shocked when they saw that she was only 16-17 years old—barely even legal!

Did this young woman know about medicine despite her young age? If it were not for her just now, Master Hang might really have

Chapter 1249: To Have Ice Cream. What a Coincidence

Others were horrified. That was a life! If it were not for Yun Jian, Master Hang might have already,

The thought of that made them all shudder. There was no doubt that what happened just now felt like a huge blow to them. Even the old masters were frightened, so Lin Huiyi, Xiong Yushu and their friends were understandably even more terrified.

The group of young people, including Lin Huiyi, were still in a daze. They looked like they had become statues and were frozen in place, unable to move.

"Young lady, it's all thanks to you!" When the doctor found out that it was Yun Jian who stopped the men from moving Master Hang, thus saving him just now, he thanked her formally on behalf of Master Hang.

“No need to thank me. It’s nothing,” Yun Jian replied indifferently. She then turned to leave the place with Si Yi.

“Hey, can you two hold on!” It was after Yun Jian and Si Yi went quite far away that Xiong Yushu caught up to them.

He looked at Si Yi then at Yun Jian before asking Yun Jian with admiration lacing his tone, “You were so good in sailing the yacht! I don’t mean much, I just want to ask you which master did you learn from? As in where did you learn such fantastic yacht sailing skill from?”

Whether it was Master Hang, Xiong Yushu, or Lin Huiyi, this group of people were only passersby in a journey. Everyone had their own living space and world; one would not meet a passerby like these in one’s journey when they returned to the world that they lived in.

It was not too much to ask for to help a passerby in one’s journey who they could only meet once in life when they were fated to cross path.

Yun Jian smiled.

Si Yi could sense that Xiong Yushu was not romantically interested in Yun Jian; he only wanted to ask about her ability. Hence, he did not stop the interaction from happening other than preventing Yun Jian and Xiong Yushu from being too close to each other, and stood aside quietly.

He saw Yun Jian smiling before it cracked into a grin directed at Xiong Yushu. There was a two-second pause before she spoke jokingly, “I learned it myself without a teacher.”

She hooked arms with Si Yi and tugged him along to where Qin Yirou and the rest were.

Xiong Yushu stood rooted and watched Yun Jian’s retreating back, stunned for a few seconds before he murmured in a daze, “Isn’t that a prodigy...”

Xiong Yushu actually believed it because his uncle had been learning about yacht sailing for around 20 years but he was weaker than a teenage girl. What else could Yun Jian be if not a prodigy?

By now, Xiong Yushu was willing to listen to whatever Yun Jian had to say as that was his admiration toward someone masterly!

Yun Jian tugged Si Yi by the hand back to the shallow shore where Qin Yirou, Ge Junjian and others were at.

The shallow area was the children’s paradise as the sea here was shallow enough that even if they went to play in the water, the adults could make sure they would not drown as long as they kept an eye on them. It was basically a safe and fun area.

As Yun Jian held Si Yi’s hand and walked back like a teenage girl at the prime of her youth, she saw Yun Zhu sprawled on the sand with Duan Li and Duan Ya holding a plastic cup and crouching from a distance away.

“shh, don’t talk or the crab won’t come out!” Little Yun Zhu took charge of the situation like a small adult, causing Duan Li and Duan Ya to shush each other as well.

As Yun Jian went over with Si Yi, Yun Zhu who was about to speak with his head lifted up saw the two of them. He had just found a crab’s hole on the sand earlier but after seeing them, he stepped on the crab's hole right away. Poor little crab's hole was blocked from his step just like that. Yun Zhu ran over with Duan Li and Duan Ya, calling out cutely, "Jiejie, Si Yi-gege..." Little Yun Zhu knew well enough to charge into Si Yi's arms while Duan Li and Duan Ya ran into Yun Jian's embrace.

Yun Jian stroked the girls' hair, sounding soft as well at the sight of such a harmonious scene, "Are you guys having fun?"

"Yes! It's my first time to the beach, jiejie. We're so happy!" Duan Li held Yun Jian's hand as she answered gleefully.

"Heh, Si Yi-gege, take us to have ice cream, will you? We're so thirsty!" Yun Zhu shook Si Yi's hand and pleaded cutely.

"Sure," Si Yi agreed right away.

After they informed Qin Yirou and Ge Junjian, Yun Jian and Si Yi held the three kids by their hands and went to a nearby ice cream parlor.

This ice cream parlor was known to be pricey but it was the only ice cream shop available within the neighborhood.

'When Yun Jian and Si Yi took the three of them into the shop and sat down, another group came in. Yun Jian did not pay attention to them but heard someone in the group calling out to her suddenly, "Hey, it's you guys! What a coincidence!"

'When Yun Jian turned around, she saw Lin Huiyi's beaming face..

Chapter 1250: As Sweet and as Tasty

Lin Huiyi, Xiong Yushu and their friends did not expect to run into Yun Jian and Si Yi at the ice cream parlor. They had just been stunned by Yun Jian's excellent yacht driving skill and her grasp of medical knowledge, thus they currently saw her as an idol.

Although Xiong Yushu wanted to act like he was amazing in front of Yun Jian and Si Yi in the beginning, he felt embarrassed now in hindsight. It was just that his admiration had surpassed his embarrassment.

Lin Huiyi, Xiong Yushu and others came over and stood before the couple. Lin Huiyi had both her hands behind her as she grinned at Yun Jian playfully and asked, "You guys are here for ice cream too? Mind if we sit together?"

Lin Huiyi said and glanced at Yun Zhu, Duan Li and Duan Ya.

"Wow, your younger siblings are adorable!" Lin Huiyi even crouched down to take a proper look at the three children as she praised.

"Mn." Yun Jian did not reject her because she saw that the three children seemed to be curious seeing the group's arrival. It was not a bad thing to have Yun Zhu, Duan Li and Duan Ya meet more people and broaden their horizons.

"We'll make ourselves comfortable then, hah!" Lin Huiyi said and took the lead to sit down.

It was after chatting that they knew Lin Huiyi stayed in the north, and she and her friends had all come from the northern part of the country.

Xiong Yushu's uncle was a southerner and Xiong Yushu had visited south, which was where his uncle's home was, during the summer break when he was 16 years old and learned how to drive a yacht during then.

As they got to this part, the ice cream they ordered were served.

This ice cream parlor was generous in its servings but it was incredibly expensive.

It was evident that Lin Huiyi and friends must not have come from poor families when they had come here. Otherwise, they would not have traveled here all the way from the north either.

Spoons were used to scoop and eat ice cream here. Yun Jian had accidentally smeared some ice cream on the corner of her lips when she sent a scoop of it to her mouth.

Si Yi did not say anything, stretching his hand to softly wipe away the ice cream hanging off the corner of Yun Jian's lips when he saw it.

'What he did warmed Lin Huiyi and friends' hearts that the girl could not help commenting, "You guys are so loving! Also, I think you two are a match made in heaven from the first glance I saw the two of you, haha!"

Lin Huiyi did not mean anything but to express what she thought. It was just that when her words went in Yun Zhu's ears, the boy shook his head left and right before speaking seriously blinking his black beady eyes at her, "Jiejie and Si Yi-gege always play kissy kissy and they won't let us see! Xiao Hui from our class says that they're being lovey-dovey behind our back!"

Little Yun Zhu pouted and said that in an incredibly innocent tone.

The atmosphere had been nice but it turned extremely awkward with his interruption.

Yun Jian's hand froze halfway through eating her ice cream as the spoon she used to scoop the ice cream with fell to the floor when her grip went lax.

'What little Yun Zhu said left a little too much for imagination.

"Cough, cough!" To alleviate the awkwardness, Yun Jian could not help coughing.

Yun Jian and the three kids had ordered ice cream but Si Yi did not since he had never liked having these treats.

Seeing the spoon that Yun Jian held slide to the floor due to Yun Zhu's "scandalizing" statement, Si Yi caught it without even looking.

Lin Huiyi, Xiong Yushu and their friends who sat across Yun Jian and Si Yi gasped. They thought that Yun Jian was the only one skilled but this guy had caught the spoon she dropped without even a glance.

While they were astonished, Si Yi used Yun Jian's spoon to scoop some ice cream and ate it. With a smile, he turned to look at Yun Jian with a fond gaze and said something that would only deepen the misunderstanding even more, "The ice cream is sweet and tasty..."

It was after a pause that he continued to say, "As sweet and as tasty as Xiao Jian."
