The Second Act 281

Chapter 281

At that time, a servant ran over in a hurry.

He almost fell to the ground because of his fast speed.

Fortunately, he stabilized at the last minute.

"Mr. Bane, Mr. Jackson Bane is here!" The servant widened his eyes and looked flustered and shocked.

Ruth's eyes lit up. She immediately asked with a smile, "Jack is here?"

Lionel frowned and asked unhappily, "Why are you so hurried? Is there any ghost?"

The servant clenched his fists and thought, 'Indeed!'

However, the next second, footsteps came from far to near.

Then, Jackson's tall figure appeared in front of Lionel and Ruth,

He had a straight posture and an outstanding temperament.

Without the wheelchair, Jackson showed a more naturally domineering aura.

Seeing this, Lionel and Ruth were stunned.

Lionel, who had encountered many things, was shocked when he saw Jackson.

For a moment, no one spoke.

Lionel and Ruth were both in great shock for a long time before they came back to their senses.

Finally, Jackson spoke first.

He raised his thin lips slightly and said to them, "Grandpa, Grandma."

Ruth stared at Jackson, took a deep breath, and then involuntarily walked forward. She fixed her eyes on his slender and straight legs, unable to look away for a long time. Shock and joy were mixed on her face.

"Jack..." Ruth said in disbelief. "Your legs..."

"They have been recovered." Jackson looked down at her and answered indifferently.

Ruth's eyes suddenly turned red.

Then tears gathered in her eyes.

"Since when? Why hasn't there been any news?" Ruth was about to cry with joy. She pulled Jackson's arm and asked excitedly.

Jackson replied calmly, "I've been receiving treatment and rehabilitation these months. They have been recovered gradually. I didn't tell anyone because I don't know if it would be cured completely." This was just an excuse Jackson had prepared in advance.

His legs were completely healed years ago.

Ruth finally couldn't help but burst into tears.

She only felt that everything was like a dream.

She couldn't believe that Jackson's legs were recovered.

Lionel also came over, with the same look of surprise and joy of his face.

"Jack, are you really cured?" His voice was a little trembling. He asked it again as if he wanted to confirm it.

Jackson nodded solemnly. "Yes."

"Jack..." Lionel sighed with mixed feelings in his eyes. "I've been waiting for this for so long..."

"I've always wished I could see you stand up again," Lionel said as if he thought of his memories. "What I like most is your high-spirited appearance before the car accident." "Now, you are back!" He patted Jackson on the shoulder with look of relief in his eyes.

Just then, there was a sound of panicked footsteps at the door again.

Roderick, Wonne, Karen, Claude, and Bella all rushed over after hearing the news.

When they saw Jackson, a tall and handsome man standing in the middle of the hall, their expressions changed.

They had different expressions, all of which were wonderful.

Roderick widened his eyes, and a look of disbelief flashed across his face.

He was like a frozen sculpture, stiffening in place.

He couldn't say a word for a while.

The son he hated the most, who had always been regarded as a shameful one, was now standing in front of him with dignity and well-dressed.

His legs were no different from those of normal people.

His aura and the breath he emitted seemed to be suppressing himself violently, which made Roderick unable to breathe.

Roderick couldn't help but clench his fists, frowning. He looked almost collapsed and unbelievable.

Yvonne on the side showed a different expression.

She subconsciously stretched out her hand and covered her mouth tightly. With tears welling up in her eyes, she was instantaneously excited. "Jackson..." Yvonne called her son's name in a trembling voice, feeling that everything was so unreal.

She finally saw Jackson stand up again.

Her greatest wish finally came to an end at this moment.

For a long time before, she had been desperate, crying, and sad because of Jackson's legs.

However, in order not to affect Jackson's mood, she had to hide her emotions and pretend to be indifferent.

Now, her dream came true.

Yvonne was afraid that she might have been dreaming.

"Jackson, your legs have been healing? Since when?" Karen was also very happy. She grinned and smiled brightly. "You are very handsome now!" Nevertheless, Claude showed a disappointing face.

Jackson, who was regarded as the biggest threat to him, was not disabled anymore.

He stood up, upright in front of Claude!

Moreover, he was like a king as he stood, outperforming Claude in an instant.

Claude wondered, 'He is no longer disabled and useless. What should I do then?!'

Claude stood straight, rarely revealing a devastated and helpless appearance.

Bella stared at Jackson obsessively.

In her mind, Jackson in the wheelchair was already very charming. At that time, he was calm and indifferent with an incomparably awe-inspiring temperament. Now, he stood straight, which made him look even more refined

He was like a natural luminous body, attracting the attention of everyone, including Bella.

Bella liked Jackson and was infatuated with him, especially the tall and straight man standing in front of her.

At this time, Jackson cast a cold and deep gaze on Roderick, who was in the lead.

He looked down at Roderick coldly.

"Well, since your legs are cured, you don't take me seriously, do you?" Roderick said provocatively as he looked back at Jackson.

There was disgust and coldness in Roderick's eyes.

"So what? You're still a guy who can't do anything!" Roderick narrowed his eyes and said hoarsely.

He looked a little ferocious, showing a natural resistance to Jackson.

The Second Act 282

Chapter 282 0091%

"Roderick Bane!" Hearing the words of Roderick, Yvonne shouted hurriedly. She stared at him fiercely and wanted to fight him desperately. "Shut up! Do you know what you're talking about? He is your son. How could you say that about him?" Yvonne was eager to protect Jackson. She almost got mad because of Roderick's reaction!

Jackson didn't change his expression. He stared at Roderick coldly and said in a cold voice, "Do you know why I came to the Bane manor today?"

Roderick sneered and said ironically, "What? Are you here to show off in front of me?"

"I hope you can hand over the control of the Bane family."

Jackson narrowed his eyes and said so seriously.

His voice was very firm. Every word hit Roderick's eardrum.

Hearing his words, everyone changed their faces.

Extremely shocked as they were, they all thought they had misheard.

Jackson wanted to take back control of the Bane family from Roderick?! That was right.

Actually, the current control of the Bane family was in Roderick's hands.

When Roderick was young, he did not listen to his parents' arrangement and insisted on being with his first love. He even gave birth to two illegitimate children. Later, he changed his mind and chose to follow his parents' wishes and marry Yvonne.

He was willing to marry Yvonne because Lionel promised him that as long as he married Yvonne, he would be given the actual control of the Bane family. For the sake of that power, Roderick compromised.

Because of this, Roderick could do whatever he wanted in the Bane family.

It was also because of this that his beloved Claude and Jonas had great power in the Bane family, while Jackson whom he disliked became a powerless outcast.

Lionel and Ruth felt sorry for Jackson and wanted to help him.

However, the control of the Bane family has been handed over to Roderick. It was almost impossible to get it back.

Therefore, Lionel and Ruth could only try their best to make Jackson live less miserably.

However, Roderick hadn't cared about the family affairs for several years. He liked to go on the racket and did things unruly. The actual control of the Bane family had fallen into the hands of Claude and Jonas.. This time, the actual control that Jackson wanted from Roderick was actually that of Claude and Jonas.

"Jackson, are you crazy? What nonsense are you talking about?" Roderick was surprised at first, and then widened his eyes and became furious. "You want to control the Bane family? In your dreams! Do you deserve it?"

Claude was also surprised and almost furious.

"Jackson, are you out of your mind?" Now Claude and Jonas were almost in full charge of the Bane family, Claude wondered, How dare Jackson rob it? Is he out of his mind?

"Do you think you can handle the affairs of the Bane family like us just because your legs have been cured?" Claude's face was flushed with anger.

Others were also surprised.

Lionel and Ruth were stunned, with complicated expressions in their eyes.

Jackson was their favorite grandson. Of course, they hoped that Jackson could become the heir of the Bane family and gain control of it.

However, they thought Jackson was too powerless to compete with Claude and Jonas as Jackson had just stood up.

Claude and Jonas had been running rampant in the Bane family for many years. All members of the Bane family were their forces.

It was not easy for Jackson to regain control.

Hearing Jackson's words, Yvonne was shocked and then calmed down.

Since Jackson wanted to control the Bane family, Yvonne supported him!

No matter how difficult it was, she would stand by his side as long as he wanted it!

Jackson ignored Claude's words and just stared at Roderick with deep eyes.

"In recent years, the Bane family has invested in seaside villas, central plaza, Internet, and competitive sports," Jackson said methodically with an indifferent and cold look "These projects have invested a lot of money in the Bane family." Hearing this, Roderick was in a trance.

He had been out of business for a long time, so he didn't know anything about it.

However, Claude ruthlessly widened his eyes.

He wondered, 'How does Jackson know it?'

'Jonas and I made these investments. How could Jackson know it so well?'

"Jackson, what are you talking about? You are just jealous of us and peeping at us secretly!" Claude clenched his fist and roared unceremoniously.

Jackson smiled slightly and showed a bitter sneer on his handsome face.

"I know it well because I'm involved in these investments."

He said so in a strong voice, frowning.

"Besides, I'm the biggest investor," Jackson added in a trembling voice. "What will happen if I suddenly withdraw my investment?"

Jackson had been secretly paying attention to the investment direction of Claude and Jonas.

The large-scale investments that Claude and Jonas participated in had been followed by Jackson, too.

Jackson did everything just for today.

08:26 Wed, Dec 4

Chapter 282

If he withdrew the investment, Claude and Jonas would definitely fail to invest. Then they and the Bane family would face a great crisis.

"Nonsense!" Claude felt it was ridiculous. "You participated in the investments? Do you have any money? Do you have a company? The companies we invested with are all large ones. How could you invest?"

Claude mocked Jackson coldly and even sneered in the end.

Roderick naturally didn't believe that Jackson would be so capable.

Others couldn't believe what Jackson said, let alone Claude and Roderick.

In their eyes, Jackson had been staying in the Garrison Mansion for a long time, totally neglecting worldly affairs.

They felt it impossible for him to participate in these investments.

It was unbelievable.

They wondered, 'Could it be that Jackson not only cured his legs without telling us but also did something we didn't know about?'

Jackson turned around and glanced at Victor beside him.

Victor immediately understood it and handed a stack of documents to Jackson.

Jackson took the documents and handed them to Roderick and Claude.

"They are copies of the contracts. See if I'm talking nonsense." Jackson looked down at them coldly.

He was like a born king, making Roderick and Claude suffocate for a while.

Claude took the lead in grabbing the documents from Jackson.

Claude opened his eyes wide and read carefully.

They were indeed formal contracts.

Every contract was for a project which Claude and Jonas had invested in.

Claude read them quietly, and his fingers trembled inexplicably

yours? Jackson, stop joking!"

"You... you..." Finishing reading all the documents, Claude raised his eyes to look at Jackson with a ferocious expression on his face. Claude said, "These contracts are signed by famous companies in Jeahron. They did participate in our investments... Are these all Hearing this, Victor smiled coldly and replied in a deep voice, "You're right. They are indeed owned by Mr. Jackson Bane."

Then he turned his head slightly and clapped his hands at the door of the hall.

A group of elite men in suits walked in from the door.

They were of different heights and shapes, yet all of them had a superior and awe-inspiring temperament.

Claude immediately widened his eyes in shock.

"Mr. Walsh, Mr. Larson, Mr. Wheaton..." Claude shouted in a daze. His whole body stiffened in an instant, and even the blood was about to flow backward.

These people were all the CEOs he invested with back then. But now they appeared in front of him one by one.

Claude wondered, 'What's going on?!'

"Mr. Claude Bane." A tall and thin man in a gray suit smiled at Claude and said politely, "Actually, I'm just the manager of the company. Our real boss is Mr. Jackson Bane."
"What did you say?" Claude's eyes widened as if they were about to fall out.

His facial features were even distorted, and he couldn't say anything for a moment.

He wondered, 'How's that possible?

Jackson is the real boss?!

"Mr. Claude Bane, our company also belongs to Mr. Jackson Bane. However, it is a trade secret. We didn't tell you at the beginning," another elite gentleman said. Claude had completely lost his voice.

His investment partners were all Jackson's men!

The biggest investment in the projects he participated in was actually from Jackson!

These famous companies in Jeahron were also Jackson's!

Claude had never thought that Jackson was so powerful.

Roderick was also in great shock.

His most useless son suddenly came up with such a shocking fact that he had such strong assets and backing.

How could Roderick not be surprised?

At the same time, he also had a strong sense of crisis.

Jackson, who had been suppressed and regarded as an outcast, suddenly rose like a beast lurking in the dark with sharp claws, trying to kill Roderick. Chapter 983

The others were also ton surprised to calm down for a long time

Yvonne was both surprised and delighted. To her surprise, her son had become a big boss. To her joy, Jackson not only didn't give up on himself but also secretly developed his power Now he could take charge of companies alone Most of the working capital of the Bane family is trapped in the projects. At this moment, Jackson, who had been silent, continued with a cold look on his face. "You know what will happens once I order to withdraw my investment Jackson, how dare you?" Roderick couldn't help but raise his head and look straight at Jackson with his face flushed with anger.

"Jackson, you are a member of the Bane family!" Claude also angrily roared, his voice sharp and his eyes fierce. "The investment failure of the Bane family has no benefits to you. We're a family. We will rise or fall together." Hearing this, Jackson raised his eyebrows slightly and showed a look of disdain in his eyes. "Did you take me as a member of the Bane family?"

His eyes were clear and his face was handsome. Standing in front of everyone, he looked perfect.

"It's your Bane family. Does it have anything to do with me?"

Jackson asked back coldly, his eyes piercing.

Both Claude and Roderick were shocked by this momentum. For a while, neither of them had the courage to speak.

Lionel also kept silent while watching this scene.

He naturally supported Jackson unconditionally.

Even if Jackson wanted to destroy the Bane family, it didn't matter.

Jackson was right. Now the Bane family was of Roderick, Claude, and Jonas.

It had nothing to do with the others.

Just then, another footstep came.

At the entrance of the hall, a tall and handsome figure slowly approached.

He was dressed in a dark suit, looking handsome and gentle, with his beautiful eyes full of carelessness.

"Jonas, you're here!" Claude cried out excitedly and happily. His eyes lit up as if he had seen the savior.

Jonas was smarter, more assertive, and more thoughtful than Claude.

In this situation, only Jonas could compete with Jackson.

Therefore, when Claude saw Jonas' appearance, he seemed to be alive.

With a polite and distant smile on his face, Jonas approached him step by step.

"It's really lively here today," he said with a half-smile, but his tone was flat and cold. Seeing Jonas approach, Jackson suddenly darkened his eyes."

He frowned and tightened his fists silently.

Jonas was also looking at Jackson.

Their eyes met tensely.

"I heard that you want to take back control of the Bane family?" Jonas smiled coldly.

Jackson just stared at him indifferently.

"How about we talk alone?" Jonas took a step closer and asked tentatively.

Without hesitation, Jackson replied directly, "Okay."

Hearing this, Victor glanced at Jackson worriedly.

Jonas was insidious and cunning. Victor feared that Jonas would hurt Jackson when they talked alone.

However, Jackson seemed to have made up his mind.

Thus, Victor couldn't say anything more.

In the blink of an eye, Jackson and Jonas had walked into the small hall next to them.

There were only two of them.

The two tall men in suits looked at each other sharply.

"Jackson, you want to take back the control of the Bane family like this." Jonas' smile disappeared and his eyes were cold. "Don't you care about your wife?"

"You must have guessed it. Oneida was kidnapped by me, and she is now in my hands." Jonas was confident and looked fearless. "Don't you care about her? If you dare to withdraw your investment and cause my loss, believe it or not, I will kill her immediately." In an instant, his tone became fierce like a bloodthirsty lone wolf

Jackson stared at him indifferently.

In fact, when he came to the Bane manor, another group of people had secretly gone to Jonas' private house to rescue Oneida.

The Second Act 284

Chapter 284

Up to now, Jackson hadn't received the news that the mission was completed.

Jackson was worried.

Jonas laughed, and his eyes were full of wanton coldness. "Well, are you wondering why your subordinates haven't rescued Oneida?"

Hearing this, Jackson didn't change his expression but clenched his fingers silently.

Jonas said, "My house was well-designed by me. Even if your subordinates are all elites, so what? It will take them at least a whole day to find the basement where Oneida is kept."

"I guess they are circling now!" Jonas suddenly burst into laughter, seeming to be very proud.

Suddenly, a sound came from the invisible earphones in Jackson's ear.

"Mr. Bane, the internal system of Paragon Group has been seriously attacked!"

Only Jackson could hear the sound from the earphones.

Hearing this, Jackson was still calm, but he frowned slightly.

The Paragon Group was suddenly attacked!

The internal system of Paragon Group had always been invincible, having only been conquered once by the legendary hacker Zero.

Jackson wondered who it would be this time.

"Jackson, why are you silent?" Jonas' handsome and gentle face was full of arrogance.

He was so proud of himself.

He thought, 'So what if Jackson has stood up?

'What if he's good enough?

'He is still beaten by me!

'After all, I have too many chips.

"By the way." Jonas tilted his head and said with a smile, "Have you received the message? I asked my top hacker to attack Paragon Group's system..."

Jonas added, "I don't know what the relationship between you and Paragon Group is. But..."

Jonas raised his chin and continued coldly, "Since you and the Paragon Group are a community of shared interests, I can't let it go.

"Well, you tell the Paragon Group to give up resistance and let my hacker get something useful. Otherwise..."

Jonas' eyes instantly turned cold. "I am afraid your wife will be tortured."

Jonas took out his phone, opened a live-streaming app, and clicked on it.

It happened to be a live broadcast in his basement.

Chapter 284

He flipped the phone and turned the screen towards Jackson.

In the live shot, Oneida was still tied to a hard iron frame with her head down, looking depressed.

Jonas ordered to the microphone in his hand, "Show her something interesting."

The words seemed to go straight into the basement.

Soon, a man in black walked to Oneida with a strange tool on the channel.

At this moment, Oneida was staring at the ground with her eyes down.

Ever since she was locked up in the basement, she hadn't eaten any food or drank a mouthful of water.

Her lips seemed to be dry.

Her body seemed to have lost all the nutrients.

She had no strength at all.

However, she could feel that someone was approaching her unhurriedly.

Immediately after that, a metal product was attached to her wrist

In an instant, electricity rushed through her body.

Oneida thought she was going into a convulsion!

Jonas should use electricity!

Oneida suffered an indescribable pain all over her body, which forced her to grit her teeth, frown, and clench her fists as if this was the only way to keep her awake.

At this moment, the scene had been broadcast to Jonas' phone.

Likewise, Jackson watched this scene helplessly.

On the screen in his hand, Oneida's loneliness and pain seemed to empathize with him.

Jackson pursed his thin lips tightly, and there was a layer of coldness in his deep eyes.

He clenched his fists. Although he didn't show it on his face, he was incomparably painful as if his heart was torn by a blunt knife.

He said in his heart, 'Ida...'

"Tell the Paragon Group to give up resistance, or your wife..." Jonas knew that he had achieved his goal, He threatened Jackson unscrupulously as if watching a good show.

"Let her go." Jackson closed his eyes and said gently, "I'll do as you wish."

"Very good!" Jonas suddenly laughed in an incomparably harsh voice.

"Jackson, you've finally stood up, but all your efforts are going to be wasted for a woman! People like you are still not cruel enough. A real ruthless man shouldn't be sentimental or disregard the whole situation for a woman!" Jonas said it sarcastically, with an air of arrogance in his eyes.

At this moment, a voice came from the earphones.

08.28 Thu, Dec 5

Chapter 284

Jackson heard the one saying, "Mr. Bane, are you really going to give up resistance

A second ago, Jackson had input his commands through the mobile rafter at his fingertips

So now, the entire Paragon Group received from Jackson an interior: Give up resistance and let the attacker do whatever he wants.

"Mr. Bane, in addition to the forces from Jonse, the Aphotic Group also took advantage of this opportunity to attack us. Are we really going to give up resistance and do nothing"

Soon, another message came to Jackson's ears from the invisible earphones

Jackson frowned and his eyes were deep.

Unexpectedly, the Aphotic Group joined in the fun, too.

The Aphotic Group and the Paragon Group were two giants in the current world.

They were powerful and, to some extent, competitive.

After all, as the world's two richest and most powerful blocs, they certainly wanted each other to be weakened and themselves to become number one.

In fact, there was also much friction between the two groups in terms of competing interests.

It was reasonable that the Aphotic Group took advantage of this opportunity to loot when the Paragon Group give up resistance and defense.

After all, the Aphotic Group had hated the Paragon Group for a long time.

They wouldn't lose such a good opportunity to benefit from Jonas

Jackson didn't withdraw his order, even though the Paragon Group was being wiped out by two forces

For Onedia's sake, Jackson was willing to suffer heavy losses.

***

After being punished by a man in black with an electric tool, Oneida became more and more depressed.

She hadn't had the strength to move, and now, she felt too numb to move.

The iron chains on her wrist were still tied tightly.

Her slightest struggle would cause a tingling pain.

Oneida cursed in her heart, Damn it!

Oneida clenched her fists. Her deep and cold eyes seemed to be dyed with frost, which was extremely intimidating

Just then, the iron door of the basement was suddenly pushed open by a strong force.

Then, an extremely familiar face appeared in front of Oneida

It was Simon!

"Boss!" The moment he saw Oneida, there seemed to be a strong light in his eyes. "I finally found you

Seeing Simon appear, Oneida couldn't help but breathe a sigh of relief

The Second Act 285

Chapter 285

Oneida thought, 'Simon is here!

He must have found out about my disappearance and then found this place!

"You came later than I thought." Oneida looked up and said indifferently.

She looked weak, but her voice was still strong.

Simon smiled with embarrassment, "Boss, I've tried my best to speed up... The owner of this house is quite powerful. It took me a lot of effort to find here." Immediately, Simon walked over quickly and kept saying, "I've dealt with those men in black and the cameras. We won't be found for the time being." With that, he took a special knife from his pocket.

This knife was made of special materials.

It was so sharp that it could cut iron like mud.

With this knife, Simon cut off all the chains on Oneida's wrists and ankles.

When the chains broke, Oneida was finally free again.

In fact, the real obstacle to Oneida's escape was these chains.

If it weren't for the chains, she couldn't be trapped in this small basement at all.

"By the way, on my way here just now, I found another group of people. Their destination should be this basement too."

Simon looked serious and said it in a serious tone.

Oneida wondered, 'Another group of people?!'

Oneida frowned slightly.

"We don't know whether they are friends or enemies. We'd better leave as soon as possible."

After a brief thought, she said so to Simon.

Hearing this, Simon nodded obediently.

"Boss, you're right. Let's go quickly!"

After saying that, he took the lead in walking towards the iron door.

"Hold on." Oneida stopped him at this time and said in a light voice, "We can't go this way. Maybe we will meet someone."

Hearing this, Simon couldn't help but turn to look at Oneida. He asked in confusion, "Then where should we go? There seems to be no other out..." way

Oneida didn't speak, but walked to the wall and gave it a gentle push.

The wall was pushed open!

Behind it, there was a long dark passage.

Chapter 285

"How could there be... Simon's eyes lit up. This secret passage was definitely unexpected to him.

Oneida was at least kept there for a few days. She had carefully observed every corner of the basement. She found this trap by accident.

"Let's go." She didn't explain anything but took the lead in entering the secret passage.

Simon hurriedly followed her. They soon disappeared into the basement.

As soon as they left, the iron door of the basement was opened again.

This time, there came a group of tall men in black.

They were Jackson's men to save Oneida.

Unexpectedly, when they finally found the basement, it was empty.

They did not see Oneida.

Just then, the iron door was slammed shut.

With the only exit blocked, the men in black looked tense.

As the smell of danger pervaded, they were all nervous.

E* 84%=

"How dare you come here? Then we won't let you leave!" Outside the iron door, Jonas' subordinates said viciously to these people.

Jackson and Jonas had already returned to the hall.

At this time, Jackson got the news.

The people he sent to rescue Oneida not only didn't find Oneida in the basement but also was trapped there!

Jackson immediately ordered them to escape without any hesitation.

Jackson wondered, 'Oneida isn't here...

'Where the hell did she go?'

At the same time, Jonas also got the news that Oneida suddenly disappeared.

At first, he had suspected that she was saved by the people Jackson had sent.

But soon, he denied this possibility.

Jackson's men were trapped in his basement. How could they save Oneida?

Therefore, there was only one possibility.

Oneida escaped herself.

Jonas cursed in his heart, 'Damn it!

Jonas clenched his fists in anger, and displeasure suddenly appeared on his face.

Chapter 285

At this moment, everyone was still in the hall.

They were curious when they saw Jonas and Jackson, who looked indifferent and emotionless, coming out of the small hall.

"I suggest you leave here," Jonas suddenly said to the crowd unhurriedly.

Then, he smiled again and looked at Jackson inadvertently. "Jackson has agreed with me that he won't take control of the Bane family for now..."

Then he glanced at Jackson meaningfully and asked, "Am I right, Jackson?"

Although Oneida disappeared in his basement, he knew that Oneida was not rescued by Jackson.

Moreover, Jackson's men were in his possession. There was no news about them.

Therefore, Jackson probably didn't know that Oneida had disappeared and escaped.

In that case, Jonas pretended to know nothing.

He continued to use Oneida as a chip.

As long as Jackson thought that Jonas still had Oneida, Jackson wouldn't go against him.

After all, just now Jackson was willing to let the Paragon Group suffer attacks for the sake of Oneida.

Therefore, Jonas guessed that Jackson must have agreed to give up control of the Bane family.

Hearing Jonas' words, everyone was surprised.

They wondered what exactly Jonas and Jackson discussed in the small hall, and why Jackson suddenly changed his mind to give up the control of the Bane family.

At this moment, Jackson pursed his thin lips and said nothing.

He looked indifferent and calm.

Jonas didn't know that Jackson had been getting messages from the invisible earphones.

Jackson had already known that Oneida had disappeared, although he didn't know where Oneida was.

However, he guessed that Oneida was more likely to be out of Jonas' control.

Jackson preferred to believe that Oneida was safe.

Even in the worst case, Oneida was just transferred and was still in Jonas' hands, Jackson didn't think he should continue to give in unconditionally.

Since Jonas threatened him with Oneida, it meant that he would never kill Oneida.

If Oneida died, Jonas would lose a very important chip.

So, Oneida's life was not in danger.

Jackson stared coldly at Jonas in front of him.

"I still want the control of the Bane family!"

Jackson said so in a strong voice, with an air of domineering and nobility between his eyes.

Chapter 283

Jonas was completely stunned when he heard this.

He compressed his lips and did not speak for a moment.

Jonas thought, Jackson, how dare you go against me?'

The Second Act 286

Chapter 286

Did he not care about Oneida?

"Jackson..." he sneered with disbelief.

He subconsciously approached Jackson and said through gritted teeth, in a voice audible only to them. "Jackson, I still have Oneida. Do you care about her safety?"

Jackson was still indifferent. He glanced indifferently at Jonas. "How about I show you someone?" he spoke coldly.

Perhaps Jackson's expression was too intruding. When he heard this, Jonas trembled slightly.

"Who?" His expression was a little stiff.

Instead of looking at him, Jackson turned to look at Victor beside him.

Victor was stunned when he saw Jackson's eyes.

He understood what Jackson meant.

"That person, it's time to use her," he thought.

He immediately nodded to Jackson and walked out of the hall.

Gazing intently at Victor's back, Jonas clenched his fingers subconsciously.

His intuition told him that Jackson might have some Unconnected chips.

Soon, Victor led a person into the hall.

They were shocked when the people in the hall saw the person beside Victor.

Roderick was shocked and froze.

The brothers, Claude and Jonas, stopped breathing, their faces etched with incredulity.

Shocked, Yvonne clenched her fists, bit her lips, and gritted her teeth.

Seeing the visitor, Lionel and Ruth's eyes widened in surprise.

This person Victor brought was a plump middle-aged woman.

She wore a long purple dress, delicate makeup, and blond hair tied high behind her head.

It was just that her mouth was taped.

Her wrists and ankles were wrapped with iron chains.

Although the woman's hair was slightly messy and her expression was a little embarrassed, it could still be seen that she exuded an elegant temperament. Suddenly, Victor tore the tape off the woman's mouth.

As soon as the woman's mouth was free, she immediately opened her mouth and shouted in the direction of Jonas and Claude, "Claude, Jonas, please help me!" She couldn't move her hands or feet, and Victor clamped her.

Claude and Jonas were frightened when they heard this.

This woman was Wendy Langley, the biological mother of Claude and Jonas.

After breaking up with his first love, Wendy, Roderick gave her a lot of money.

Later, Claude and Jonas gained a firm foothold in the Bane manor. They became more powerful and even gave Wendy a lot of money. Moreover, they promised to take Wendy into the Bane manor when the proper time came.

Despite their heartlessness and viciousness, Claude and Jonas, the brothers, were very filial to Wendy.

For them, their mother was a significant person in their lives.

Because they grew up in the Bane manor and lived far away from their mother, they missed their mother more and wanted to be good to her.

Now, Jackson had got their mother who they loved most.

Claude and Jonas were shocked.

"Mom!" Claude immediately called Wendy, his voice trembling.

At the same time, Wendy was trembling in Victor's hands.

She had stayed well abroad, but unexpectedly, a group of people suddenly came and took her away.

Initially, she thought they were criminals. Unexpectedly, it turned out that they were Jackson's men! She knew little about Jackson except that he was Yvonne's son.

It was said that Jackson's legs had been disabled for many years, and he couldn't stand up at all.

She had felt a sense of schadenfreude for quite some time when she first heard about it, thinking, 'So what if Yvonne can be the wife of a wealthy family? Roderick doesn't like her at all, and his son is just a useless disabled person! She's pathetic and ridiculous. Who would have thought that this disabled young master would suddenly lose his temper and tie me up?'

"Claude, help me quickly. These people are not good intentions. I'm uncomfortable in their hands!" Wendy screamed with a harsh voice.

Roderick was staring at Wendy in a daze.

He hadn't seen Wendy for a long time.

Since she chose to go abroad, he had not looked for her.

When he saw this woman again, the first love, who gave birth to two sons for him, a faint flutter of emotion still arose in his heart.

At this time, Yvonne also stared at Wendy angrily. The woman she hated the most was right in front of her. Wendy was Roderick's first love, whom she hated so much! Even though they hadn't seen each other for years, she still hated her so much. Wendy... To their surprise, even Lionel and Ruth had never expected to again encounter Wendy, the troublesome woman, in their lifetime!

"Let go of me!" Wendy's loud voice still echoed in the hall. She struggled with discontent and looked unusually impatient, "Let go of me! My sons are here. How dare you?"

However, she was firmly controlled by Victor.

No matter how hard she struggled, it was all in vain.

Moreover, she was wearing iron chains that only Victor could unlock.

As Wendy dwelled on it, her grievance deepened, and she burst into tears immediately. Her eyes were brimming with tears as she didn't hesitate to complain, "That's not a kind or considerate way to treat a woman!"

Claude and Jonas looked at her, feeling unusually anxious. Wendy got a special place in their hearts. They certainly did not want their mother to be threatened or in any danger.

"Jackson, if you have guts come at me! What's the point of targeting my mother?" Claude shouted, completely losing control.

Jonas couldn't help but clench his fists and shout at Jackson, "Jackson, what kind of man are you? It's shameless to use a woman as a bargaining chip!"

Upon hearing that, Jackson retorted indifferently, "Jonas, we're equals. You use my wife; I use your mom."

"You can kidnap Oneida, but why can't I kidnap Wendy?"

"What? You've kidnapped Oneida, Jonas?" Lionel's eyes widened in shock as he glared at Jonas.

Ruth was also stunned and couldn't speak.

Chapter 287

For a moment, everyone's attention fell on this matter.

Jonas, why did you kidnap Oneida? What's wrong with you?" Yvonne was stunned. Jonas had kidnapped her daughter-in-law... She was naturally anxious and angry.

"Jonas, how did you..." Karen was also extremely shocked. She almost exclaimed and looked at Jonas with resentment.

Jonas, who was stared at by everyone, didn't change his expression.

He lowered his eyes slightly and sneered, "Why are you so surprised?"

"I just invited Ida to my home to visit," Jonas explained with a smile as if nothing significant had happened.

"To visit? Jonas, do you think I'm a fool?" Yvonne was the first to retort excitedly. "Ida is Jackson's wife. Why did you invite her alone?"

Hearing this, everyone's face darkened.

Jonas's expression also froze slightly.

He thought, "My secret actions have been exposed by Jackson, making everyone aware of them. And my mother is now in his hands... Damn, Jackson! He immediately put me at a disadvantage. Just then... Victor took a black pistol from his pocket and pointed it straight at Wendy's head.

"Ah!" Wendy shrieked with a distorted expression, struggling futilely as she was too feeble to escape Victor's grasp.

"Claude, Jonas, help me! I don't want to die! Her squeaky voice was heard all over the hall.

Seeing this, Claude's face turned pale instantly. He clenched his fists and roared at Jackson, "Jackson, let go of my mother! Quickly!

Jonas also frowned and stared at this scene motionlessly.

He thought, "Damn it, Jackson. He was crafty and cunning. He seized my weakness at once!

That was right. Wendy had always been a soft spot for Jonas.

His mother was the person he valued most in the world.

"Jackson...." he was silent momentarily and finally said indifferently, "Let her go. I'll give you what you want."

"Really?" Upon hearing this, Jackson narrowed his eyes and said flatly, "Then you should know what I want."

Jonas was stunned, and his eyes were filled with anger.

He knew that Jackson wanted the whole Bane family.

Jackson was well-prepared this time and would not give up until he achieved his goal.

"I know," Jonas sighed imperceptibly. "You want the Bane family, the company's shares, and everything of the Bane family.."

Jackson pursed his lips indifferently and said, "It's good that you know."

"I'll give them to you" Jonas glanced at him with disdain, and his eyes were intense.

13

"If you want the Bane family, I can give it to you," he said indifferently and sternly.

After saying that, Jonas immediately took out his mobile phone and called his right-hand man.

Two young men in suits soon arrived at the hall of the Bane manor.

"Felipe Morris, Sean Foster, Jonas shouted their names with a solemn expression.

Felipe and Sean were the best subordinates of Claude and Jonas, as well as their confidants.

"Mr. Jonas Bane, what you want has been brought," said Felipe.

Felipe politely greeted Jonas and handed him thick documents.

Jonas took it over immediately.

Standing aside, Claude couldn't help but look at the pile of documents curiously.

He almost fainted because of anger.

This stack of documents turned out to be a Share Transfer Agreement!

"Jonas, are you going to..." His eyes widened in astonishment.

Jonas turned his head, glanced at his brother, and said in a light voice, "Claude, you'd better sign it quickly!"

"But... Claude is very unwilling; he clenched his fist, tangled and resentful.

"But what? For the sake of mother, we can only..." Jonas sighed and said. He said so, but his eyes blinke slightly.

It seemed to be implying something.

Claude looked and immediately understood.

He knew that this must be Jonas's plan.

He knew that Jonas would not give his shares to Jackson for no reason.

"Okay, I'll sign it too," Claude suddenly changed his mind and nodded.

After the two signed, Jonas returned the Share Transfer Agreement to Felipe and said, "Give it to Mr. Jackson Bane."

He commanded meaningfully, staring straight at him.

Felipe also looked at Jonas and silently took over the Share Transfer Agreement.

Only Jonas, Felipe, and Sean knew the Share Transfer Agreement was fake among the many people present.

Jonas would not easily surrender his stake or control.

Even if Jackson threatened Jonas with Jonas' mother, Jonas would never give up the power of the Bane family easily.

So, Jonas came up with a makeshift solution.

First, to confuse Jackson with a fake Share Transfer Agreement.

And then, he would rout Jackson.

At this time, Felipe had walked up to Jackson and handed him the Share Transfer Agreement.

Jackson took it slowly, but he didn't even look at it. His indifferent eyes suddenly turned to Jonas and said harshly, "Jonas, is this your attitude to deal with me with a fake thing?"

Upon hearing this, Jonas kept calm but widened his eyes slightly, thinking, 'A fake thing?'

Jackson didn't even take a look at it. How could he know it was fake? He made this Share Transfer Agreement very realistic. A non-professional couldn't recognize it if he didn't look carefully. Jackson didn't even look at it. How did he know?" "You..." he said in disbelief, his eyes deep.

Jackson looked into his eyes and said coldly, "Are you curious about why I know this Share Transfer Agreement is fake?"

Jonas clenched his fists and didn't speak for a moment.

"Because I told Mr. Jackson Bane about it before I came to the Bane manor." At this moment, Felipe, who had been silent all the time, suddenly made a sound. He looked at Jonas indifferently as if he was an irreconcilable enemy. "Felipe, you...?" Jonas couldn't stand it anymore this time, and his face was slightly distorted. He thought, 'My trusted subordinate, my close confidant, has betrayed me?! How could this be?!'

Others were also shocked. They thought, 'Felipe worked for Jonas. How could he get involved with Jackson?!'

"Felipe, how can you do this?! Haven't we treated you well enough? Why did you sell us out to Jackson?" Claude was so angry that he gritted his teeth, and his eyes were red.

It took Jonas a long time to regain his composure.

At the same time, Sean also stood beside Jackson.

The others thought, 'Claude and Jonas's two most proud subordinates are Jackson's forces! It is shocking!'

In fact, Jackson had done many things secretly in the past few years.

For example, he sent Felipe and Sean to infiltrate Claude and Jonas's ranks and groom them to become the trusted confidants of the two brothers.

For example, he bribed many forces under Claude and Jonas.

Therefore, to some extent, Claude and Jonas had lost their power and infli, for a long time.

Because most of their forces had been nibbled away by Jackson!

Just then... Jonas suddenly received an emergency call. The person on the phone told him that his shares had long been transferred and the company had changed hands. More and more calls were coming in.

All the companies of the Bane family came to inform Jonas that his and Claude's positions in the cor removed, and their shares were gone.

A new CEO had entered the company.

'What's going on?!' Claude and Jonas were shocked and frightened by these phone calls.

Suddenly, the situation took a turn for the worse.

Claude and Jonas looked at Jackson in disbelief.

They looked at the tall, handsome man.

At this moment, Jackson was weighing down on them so heavily that they could hardly breathe. "Jackson, you...!" Jonas muttered, his face paling. Almost gritting his teeth, he demanded, "What have you done?" Jackson met Jonas's eyes and appeared indifferent. "I have already secretly transferred your shares. Every company in the Bane family has my loyalists. There are also my forces among your subordinates. With Felipe's assistance, I can effortlessly transfer your shares. Ever since I arrived at the Bane manor, I have sent people to occupy all the companies of the Bane family. From now on, I will be the CEO of the company."

That was right.

Jackson never wanted to use Wendy as a bargaining chip./

He didn't even bother to use women to get what he wanted.

He had arranged everything before his arrival at the Bane manor, and the shares and the actual control had been successfully transferred.

He dealt with Roderick, Claude, and Jonas like this to divert their attention.

Chapter 288

They were stuck in the Bane manor and didn't have time to care about the company. In this way, Jackson's men could quickly occupy the group companies and strongholds of the Bane family.

Jonas's face was indifferent and stiff.

"Jackson," he remained silent for a long time before speaking slowly and questioning his half-brother, "So it seems you have already taken the entire Bane family under your control. Then why did you come to the Bane manor and pretend to let us hand over the reins? Why did you arrest my mother and treat her like this?"

Hearing this, Jackson replied indifferently, "Capturing your mother was to give you a taste of what it feels like to be threatened. After how you treated Oneida, of course, I would retaliate in kind. The humiliation Oneida endured will be repaid to your mother." After saying that, Jackson turned his head and glanced at Victor

Victor nodded and pulled the trigger. "Bang!" Violent shots rang out all over the hall.

"Ah!" Wendy suddenly cried out in fear.

Wendy felt her life was ebbing away, and her legs almost gave out. But surprisingly, the bullet missed her and slammed straight into the wall behind her. Her life was no longer in danger... Immediately after that, there was a sharp pain behind her.

It turned out that Victor kicked her hard. Wendy felt like her back was about to be broken, and she couldn't help but rush forward.

"Ouch!" Wendy let out a cry of pain and fell to the ground.

Claude and Jonas came forward and immediately helped Wendy up.

"Mom, are you okay?" Claude saw this and, naturally, was very distressed, holding his mother's hands trembling.

Jonas was relieved.

He knew that his mother's life was no longer in danger.

Jackson didn't do anything to a woman after all.

But...Jonas also understood, 'Everything was settled, and the overall situation was decided. Jackson also got everything he wanted.'

"Claude, Jonas, take your mother and leave the Bane manor as soon as possible." Jackson's indifferent voice sounded. "The Bane family will never have a place for you."

"Are you going to drive us away? Jackson, we are Banes. What right do you have to make us leave? You've family. Must you be so relentless?" Claude heard this and immediately became agitated.

He certainly had no intention of leaving the Bane manor. How would he manage to survive if he was no longer the privileged son of the Bane family?

His voice had no trace of warmth, sounding almost like a dismissive remark.

"What did you say?" Roderick was slightly stunned. "Are you going to drive me away? I'm your father!"

Jackson didn't change his expression and directly ordered Victor to bring another group of people here.

This time, they were a group of women.

They were all very pretty and in good shape.

However, they all had bruises on their bodies, looking pitiful and embarrassed.

A few of them even came on crutches.

Who... who are these people?" Claude furrowed his brows in confusion, completely bewildered.

When Roderick saw these people, his eyes widened in an instant.

His eyes dodged, and his face stiffened.

Hearing this, Roderick subconsciously clenched his fists. He felt embarrassed, his face pale and flushed, looking quite uneasy. "These women were all his lovers... Unexpectedly, they were brought home by his son. How was that even possible?" "Jackson!" Roderick finally couldn't help but burst into a rage. He glared at his son and said, "What the hell do you want? Why did you bring these people home?"

"These people?" Hearing this, a woman's face immediately darkened. "Mr. Roderick Bane, you promised to bring me into the Bane manor and give me a good life. Now you're turning your back on me?"

As soon as these words came out, other women couldn't help but complain, "Mr. Roderick Bane, I didn't expect to see you again! When you disappeared without a trace, you found a new love..."

"Mr. Roderick Bane, you beat me up and left. You haven't given me the compensation for mental damage!"

"It turns out that Mr. Roderick Bane has so many women. All these people are considered my sisters; a scumbag had bullied us all!"

When these women said such words, what else did others not understand?

Roderick was a playboy. They didn't know how many love debts there were outside!

Jackson brought all his lovers here!

Seeing this, Yvonne didn't feel bad.

She had long given up on Roderick and no longer admired him. Now, she felt ashamed and even disgusted by seeing his various lovers.

Lionel and Ruth had complex expressions, their gazes displeased as they stared at Roderick, as if wanting to see how their son would handle this large group of people.

"I don't care about your emotional entanglement with these women," Jackson said again. He looked at his father indifferently and said calmly, "But I have already proven the fact that you used violence against them." Hearing this, Roderick couldn't help but widen his eyes.

That was right. Roderick was outside the romance, often unable to control his temper and violence against women. He was clearly prone to violence.

That was why these women have apparent scars.

These were all beaten up by Roderick!

"And," Jackson said with no emotion at all, "I also have evidence of your illegal gambling."

"Violence and gambling," he said indifferently, "What will be the legal consequences for you?"

As soon as Jackson finished his words, Roderick trembled all over

His cheeks were pale and his eyes shook with absent-mindedness

Claude certainly didn't want Roderick to go to prison. Roderick loved him and Jonas the most daily and had always been towards their two brothers. If Roderick fell, he and Jonas would suffer heavy losses!

"It has nothing to do with you," Jackson glanced at him indifferently. Then he looked at Roderick and said in a deep voice, "You're right. I do want to send you to prison to be punished."

"Jackson!" Roderick clenched his fists, feeling a little crazy. He was on the edge of complete madness now. "How dare you? How could you do this to me?"

Then he turned to look at Lionel and Ruth and said softly, "Dad, Mom, please persuade him... I'm your only son. You can't spoil Jackson and make him crazy like this!" Roderick could only ask Lionel and Ruth to put pressure on Jackson.

He didn't want to go to jail.

Who would have thought that Jackson, who usually stayed at the Garrison Mansion and looked unimpressed by power or money, would suddenly act resolutely? 'He's really scheming. He secretly collected so much evidence!

'He was waiting for this day!

'What a vicious man!' Roderick thought.

Hearing this, Lionel and Ruth were slightly stunned.

Indeed, the two men in front of them were their only son and their most beloved grandson.

Now, their grandson wanted to send their son to prison....

It was rare to see such a thing anywhere.

"Dad, Mom, are you going to let Jackson put me in jail?" Seeing that the two older adults had been silent with indifferent faces, Roderick became increasingly flustered.

"Enough," Lionel frowned and replied impatiently. He looked at his son with complicated and deep eyes, but finally, he sighed helplessly.

"Roderick," Lionel called his name sincerely, and his eyes showed an intense disappointment. He said, "We turned a blind.

"Whatever you do, you will have to pay for it eventually. Some things are bound to be settled. I can't continue to shield you unconditionally just because you're my son."

Lionel's attitude was apparent.

He would stand on Jackson's side and not help Roderick.

"Your father is right," Ruth concurred, with a profound sadness etched between her brows.

After all, Roderick was the child she gave birth to after ten months of pregnancy.

No one wanted to see this scene if they hadn't been forced to do so.

Roderick suddenly raised his eyes and stared blankly at Jackson, the son he had always hated and ignored.

Jackson was also looking at him, and his deep eyes were indifferent. "Later, someone will take you to the police station," he said slowly. Hearing this, Roderick immediately trembled.

He was stunned for a moment and then rushed to Jackson.

Jackson was half a head taller than him, so he could only look up at him.

"Jackson....." After a moment of silence, he called out his name softly.

This was the first time Roderick called Jackson's name and the first time he spoke to him so gently.

However, Jackson was unmoved.

His handsome and unparalleled facial features were extremely indifferent.

He was right before Jackson, but there was a strong sense of distance.

Roderick's heart sank utterly.

He was a little scared.

Jackson was determined to punish him...

Suddenly, Roderick's knees buckled, and with a thud, he fell in front of Jackson, losing all dignity. He knelt before Jackson in such a manner.

Everyone was shocked.

Roderick's lovers all widened their eyes as if they had seen something rare,

This was Roderick.

He was all arrogant and powerful before them, but now he knelt to his son.

This was simply unheard of.

It was embarrassing. It was ridiculous.

and their faces were full of disbelief.

Lionel and Ruth didn't expect Roderick to act like this suddenly Roderick had knelt to his son.

Yvonne also widened her eyes in surprise.

However, after being surprised, she felt a little happy, thinking, Roderick, I can't believe this would happen to you one day!

She had been hurt deeply by Roderick. For this man, she had lost her love long ago and only felt profound hatred.

Now, her son personally taught Roderick a lesson for her. He not only sent him to prison but also made this man abandon his dignity and kneel in front of so many people... Yvonne only felt pleased.
