

The Second Act Revenge (Oneida and Jackson)

The Second Act 401

Chapter 401

Jennifer just glared at him, unable to make a sound.

For the first time, she was in despair.

She thought Oneida wanted her dead.

She thought, 'How dare she?'

Jennifer wanted to struggle and call for help but it was just delusion.

She couldn't move or make a sound at all.

She could only wait for her death.

After doing all this, Oneida clapped her hands and walked slowly to the door.

She said, "For the sake of fairness, you have to suffer a little bit."

Oneida turned her head around and glanced coldly at Jennifer.

If Jennifer could have moved or talked, they would have been noticed by someone outside the storage room very quickly. Then the game would be boring.

Blood was still flowing out of Jennifer's arm.

She could neither move nor speak. She leaned against the wall in depression and tears streaked her face.

She stared fiercely at Oneida's back as if she wanted to kill her.

Oneida did not stay any longer. She directly opened the door and left without looking back.

Jennifer was left alone in this small storage room.

It was dim and dry.

Jennifer was desperate.

The cuts on her arm were still bleeding.

There was already blood on the ground.

Jennifer could do nothing. Her hands were tied up with strings and she couldn't even stop the bleeding.

She thought, 'Am I going to die in this place?'

Jennifer raised her eyes and looked at the door in despair, hoping that someone would find her soon.

At this moment, Oneida walked out of the storage room and strolled around leisurely

The reason why she did this was to make Jennifer know how it felt when blood slowly flew out of her body while her body gradually lost its vitality. Because in Oneida's previous life, she died in this way.

She still remembered how desperate she was back then.

Her body seemed to have lost something very important and she no longer felt any energy.

And finally, she died.

Oneida didn't care if Jennifer would die.

She just wanted this woman, who had given her endless pain in her previous life, to experience how it felt.

Suddenly, Edmund walked over to her. "Oneida."

The young man's eyes were beautifully glistening. He stared at Oneida blankly and said her name in a pleasant voice.

When Oneida saw Edmund, the gloom in her eyes disappeared in an instant.

She smiled softly, "What's wrong?"

Edmund glanced somewhere behind Oneida and did not find Jennifer.

He frowned slightly and asked in confusion, "Where's Jennifer?"

Oneida didn't answer it directly but asked meaningfully, "What? Are you worried about her?"

Edmund immediately shook his head and said, "I just think it's a bit strange."

Oneida narrowed her eyes slightly and said lightly, "I chatted with her for a while and then she left."

She told him a lie calmly and Edmund believed it. He said, "I see."

Edmund quickly changed the subject without thinking too much about it. "By the way, Oneida, would you like to eat with me? The kitchen is ready."

Oneida had nothing urgent in the evening so she agreed with it.

After all, she was not in a hurry about the bet with Jonas.

She needed to make a plan for her next visit to the Paragon Group.

Edmund asked servants in the kitchen to make a lot of dishes.

Oneida and Edmund were sitting opposite each other.

Oneida looked at Edmund and told him what she had been thinking about. "Edmund, no matter what happens in the future, you must remember that you are the backbone of the Chaser family. Grow up, okay? "I can't help you for a very long time. You have to do it on your own in the future. I don't want you to fail to keep everything that belongs to the Chaser family. Mateo won't give up. He might come back one day." Edmund thought Oneida's words made sense but somehow he felt something weird.

He thought his sister sounded like they were her last words.

Edmund couldn't help saying, "As long as you're with me, I have nothing to be afraid of."

Hearing this, Oneida was stunned.

After a moment of silence, she said slowly, "But I won't be with you forever."

These words shocked Edmund.

His heart jolted and he asked subconsciously, "Why?"

Oneida didn't know how to explain it.

But she had an unshakable premonition that she would be in great danger on her next visit to the building of the Paragon Group.

Oneida was always confident in herself but the Paragon Group was different from any of her previous opponents.

It was not only powerful but also mysterious.

Evan, the leader of the Paragon Group, was tough.

Oneida was not sure of anything right now.

She thought she might die in the building of the Paragon Group.

But for Jackson, she had to do it.

She had to take the risk.

"Okay." Oneida found the atmosphere too grave so she said, "Let's eat now. I don't want to talk about this."

Edmund didn't give up. He asked, "Are you worried about something?"

Oneida shook her head and pretended that it was something very elusive. "You won't understand it."

In the evening, Oneida returned to the Garrison Mansion.

She received no messages from Quakersville so she didn't know if someone had found Jennifer.

If no one found Jennifer tomorrow, she might soon be informed of Jennifer's death.

Thinking about this, Oneida was very calm.

She thought whether Jennifer was alive or dead didn't matter at all.

As soon as Oneida walked into the door, she saw Jackson walking toward her.

His face was still so handsome. Everything seemed normal.

No one would think he was poisoned.

But Oneida knew when Water Death attacked him, it was the most terrible thing in the world.

Now was just the calm before the storm.

Jackson said, "Welcome home."

Jackson stared at her gently. His voice was calm and pleasant.

Oneida nodded then trotted to Jackson. She threw herself into his arms.

Oneida wanted to hug him as much as possible.

She wrapped her arms tightly around him and her cheeks were pressed against his snow-white shirt.

Jackson liked this a lot.

He felt like she was dependent on him.

He reached out to her and hugged her too.

But, Jackson suddenly frowned and asked lightly, "Ida, do you smell blood?"

Oneida thought, 'Blood?'

Oneida's heart jolted.

It must be Jennifer's blood.

She stiffened subconsciously and didn't know how to answer this question.

She had so many secrets that she hadn't shared with Jackson.

She wondered what Jackson would think of her if he knew who she was and what she had done.

The Second Act 402

Chapter 402

Oneida froze for a while.

Her lips compressed into a thin line and she was silent for a while.

Jackson looked at her in confusion and asked, "Ida?"

Oneida's sudden silence made him frown.

Oneida frowned slightly and said indifferently, "I cut my hand. It bled."

Jackson's eyes suddenly darkened. He said, "Let me have a look at it."

Oneida looked away and shook her head. "I'm fine. It's not a big deal."

"By the way, how are you doing?" She changed the subject to Jackson's condition. "Do you still feel dizzy?" Jackson narrowed his eyes and asked in a low voice. "I am not that weak."

Seeing that he was feeling okay, Oneida felt relieved.

However, she didn't feel completely relaxed.

The poison inside Jackson had not been completely cured.

If it attacked him again, he would be in great danger.

Oneida looked calm but she was doubtful.

She was not sure whether her next visit to the building of the Paragon Group would be a success.

She was afraid that she couldn't tell Jackson the truth before she solved what she had to solve.

The next day.

Oneida met Simon in a café

Hearing Oneida's plan, Simon couldn't help but widen his eyes in disbelief. "Boss, are you going to...?"

can't go alone? The Paragon Group is a dangerous place, even for you. "And you want to frame Evan? It's impossible." Simon said sincerely, "Anyway, you can't go there alone."

Oneida's expression didn't change much.

She lowered her eyes and said, "I want to go there alone."

It was a very risky decision to go to the building of the Paragon Group.

Oneida thought the probability of success would not increase if she went there with her men.

They were more likely to be a burden on her rather than an aid,

Oneida only believed in herself.

She would come and go more freely if she went there alone.

Simon frowned with a grave look, "But are you sure that Jonas will give Water Death to you if you get Evan's key?"

Hearing this, Oneida looked confident. "You don't know Jonas. For all his craftiness and sinister cunning, he is reliable in this respect. He's ambitious and he will do anything to get what he wants. When I have the key to the treasure vault, he won't reject it." Seeing that Oneida had made up her mind, Simon knew he couldn't persuade her. But he still begged her. "Boss, how about I go with you?"

"I promise I won't be a burden."

Oneida shook her head gently. "Stay here."

"If anything goes wrong..."

"No! No!" Simon became anxious and quickly interrupted Oneida. "Boss, stop the nonsense."

Going to the building of the Paragon Group must be very dangerous but Oneid Aphotic Group.

It would be like a collision between Mars and the Earth, breathtaking and exciting.

Simon sighed and said slowly, "Boss, I hope you won't do anything risky. If there is any danger, just leave even if you can't get the key. I don't want you to die there."

Oneida smiled mildly, "I won't be that stupid."

If she realized she couldn't get the key, she would give up..

"During my visit there, you stay in the Aphotic Group Oneida raised her eyes and said seriously, "If something goes wrong, you will take charge of everything."

Simon kept silent.

If possible, he didn't want Oneida to go to the building of the Paragon Group for the key.

But stopping Oneida from doing it was impossible.

He knew Oneida was not only decisive but also very stubborn.

It was very hard to change her decisions.

Simon knew her well and had realized that she had made up her mind.

Oneida would do what she decided to do.

"Okay." Finally, Simon figured it out and nodded solemnly. "I'll stay here."

Hearing this, Oneida smiled softly.

Oneida's phone suddenly rang.

She lowered her eyes and took out the phone from her pocket. There was a strange number on the screen.

Oneida answered her phone.

She heard a voice. "Hello, this is Fairworld Hospital. Are you Jennifer Chaser's family? She insisted that we call you." Hearing this, Oneida's face darkened.

She thought, Jennifer?

'So, someone found her. I guess she was lucky.'

But Oneida was not going to admit that she had lost.

She said a few words and hung up.

Oneida lost the bet and said to Simon, "I have something else to deal with in the hospital. I'll call you later."

Simon also stood up, reluctant to watch her leave.

He said, "Okay, Boss, be careful."

88%

It didn't take long for Oneida to arrive at the Fairworld Hospital

She rushed straight to the emergency room. The doctor had given her the address.

Unexpectedly, she ran into Edmund at the door of the emergency room.

The boy's eyes widened in surprise. It seemed that he didn't expect to see Oneida here. He said, "Oneida!"

Oneida glanced at the door of the emergency room and asked in a low voice, "I heard the doctors were saving Jennifer inside this room?"

Edmund nodded.

Chapter 402

After Oneida left yesterday, everyone soon found that Jennifer had disappeared.

The Second Act 403

Chapter 403

Although Edmund hated Jennifer very much, he still found it very strange that a human being just disappeared for no reason.

So he asked the servants to look for her.

They looked for her all night but failed. The next day, some servants found blood on the ground outside the door of the storage room.

The servants opened the storage room and saw Jennifer, who was about to die.

The servants were frightened. They had never seen things like this.

When Edmund arrived there, he was taken aback too.

He rushed to the hospital to save Jennifer.

Although Jennifer was not a very good person, she didn't deserve death after all.

However, Edmund didn't intend to tell Oneida about this.

He thought there was no need to bother Oneida with things about Jennifer.

So he didn't expect to see Oneida here.

Oneida glanced at Edmund and said lightly. "Jennifer asked the doctor to call me in the emergency room so I knew."

Hearing this, Edmund goggled.

He said, "Why?"

He wondered why Jennifer wanted Oneida to be here.

There was a trace of coldness in Oneida's eyes. She said indifferently, "For my blood, of course."

Oneida and Jennifer had the same blood type, which was an extremely rare type.

Fairworld Hospital didn't have blood of this type in stock.

Jennifer desperately asked the doctor to call Oneida so that Oneida could donate blood to her. Jennifer's blood was almost drained after what happened yesterday.

If she didn't get a blood transfusion soon, she would be dead.

Jennifer knew that Oneida had the same blood type as her so she asked the doctor to make the call

At such a critical moment, she had to forget their grudges. The most important thing was to survive. Oneida undoubtedly was her last hope for survival.

When Edmund heard Oneida's words, he looked surprised for a very brief moment.

He, almost forgot that Jennifer and Oneida had the same blood type.

Oneida had been forced to give Jennifer a blood transfusion before. 08:57 Tue, Dec

Chapter 403.

This time, Jennifer wanted a blood transfusion from Oneida again.

However, this time, Jennifer needed a very large amount of blood.

To give Jennifer the amount of blood that she needed, more than half of Oneida's blood had to be drawn out of her.

Oneida would probably die if she lost that much blood at once.

Thinking about this, Edmund shook his head immediately. "No

He added, "You can't give her a blood transfusion or you will also be in danger."

Edmund knew what was more important to him.

Oneida was his beloved sister while Jennifer meant nothing.

It was the best he could do to send her to the hospital.

He couldn't watch Oneida sacrifice anything for Jennifer.

Edmund said sincerely, with deep concern, "Oneida, leave this to the doctor. Even if your blood type is the same as hers, you will suffer if so much blood is taken out of you." Oneida couldn't help rubbing Edmund's head.

She said, "It seems that you care about me a lot."

Edmund narrowed his eyes and smiled, "Of course, I care about you. You are my sister."

He thought Oneida was the most important person to him.

Now, he only had Oneida.

Oneida withdrew her hand and said lightly, "Don't worry. I have a plan."

Edmund stared at her, curious.

Edmund suddenly remembered something.

Yesterday, Oneida should have been the last person who saw Jennifer,

Soon after that, Jennifer disappeared and then she was found locked in the storage gagged. There was a huge wound on her arm.

room with her hands tied and her mouth

On the ground, there was a large pool of blood.

Edmund narrowed his eyes and glanced at Oneida subconsciously.

He thought it was probably Oneida who did all this.

He knew his sister was never just an innocent and soft girl.

She was decisive and courageous.

He would not be surprised if she did this kind of thing to Jennifer.

Edmund didn't think Oneida was wrong.

He was always on his sister's side.

Oneida did at this time confused him.

He wondered why she came to the hospital if she had done all this to Jennifer.

Wasn't it the best if Jennifer couldn't get a blood transfusion in time?

Seeing that Edmund was looking at her in confusion, Oneida couldn't help but chuckle, "What's wrong? Why are you looking at me like this?"

Edmund shook his head. "Nothing."

A nurse suddenly walked out of the emergency room.

She shouted in the direction of Edmund and Oneida, "Oneida Chaser! Is Oneida Chaser here?"

Oneida turned to the nurse and nodded slightly. "I am Oneida."

The nurse urged. "Come with me. The patient inside needs a blood transfusion."

Hearing this, Edmund frowned and felt very unhappy.

He asked, "Why did you ask her to give the patient a blood transfusion?"

The nurse glanced at him coldly and said angrily, "Because she is the only person who can save the patient! We don't have this kind of blood and the patient has anemia. The patient will soon die if she doesn't get a blood transfusion!" Edmund turned to Oneida, who was beside him and frowned, "Oneida, if you don't want to do it, just don't do it. You don't owe Jennifer anything."

Hearing Edmund's words, Oneida was pleased.

Oneida said, "I know. But..."

Oneida suddenly turned to the nurse and said, "I'll go with you."

Edmund's eyes widened in surprise.

He thought, 'What the hell does it mean?

"Why is she willing to save Jennifer?

'Besides, doesn't she know that a blood transfusion is bad for her health?"

Oneida smiled at Edmund to comfort him and said, "It's okay."

After saying that, she went straight to the nurse.

The smile on Oneida's face soon disappeared. She only looked cold now.

Soon, she walked into an office with the nurse.

The nurse immediately took out the tools, ready to draw her blood. "We need a bit more than we usually do. The patient has lost too much blood."

She shouted to Oneida, who was standing at the door, "Come and sit down. Roll up your sleeves."

But Oneida did not move.

08:57 Tue, Dec 17

Chapter 403

The nurse frowned and said angrily, "What's wrong with you?"

Unexpectedly, the next second, Oneida closed the door.

She moved to the nurse at an extremely fast speed and slapped her on the neck.

The nurse didn't even have a chance to resist. She immediately fainted, falling to the ground.

Oneida watched this very calmly.

She never even considered giving Jennifer a blood transfusión.

She thought, 'My blood is precious. Jennifer doesn't deserve it at all.

She wouldn't make the mistake that she had made in her previous life again.

Oneida took out a bottle of red liquid from her pocket.

It was the color of blood.

This was artificial blood developed by Oneida.

It could be a substitute for human blood.

However, it also had great side effects.

Oneida looked at the blood in her hand with a cold look.

She poured the artificial blood directly into the container prepared by the nurse and then looked down at the nurse, who was lying on the floor. Oneida thought about something for a while.

Then she slowly squatted down.

She opened her mouth slightly as if she was whispering something in the nurse's ear.

Oneida was hypnotizing the nurse.

She was going to hypnotize the nurse to change her memory.

So her plan would be foolproof.

When it was almost done, Oneida stood up and sat on a chair beside her.

After about a minute, the nurse slowly opened her eyes and frowned. It seemed that she was in a trance.

She looked around subconsciously and then turned to Oneida. "You..."

She couldn't remember what just happened.

She felt something was strange.

Oneida just sat quietly and said calmly, "You were drawing my blood and suddenly, you passed out."

The nurse felt a little bit confused. She got up from the ground. "Did I pass out?"

The nurse asked, "How did I pass out?" She couldn't remember what happened but she subconsciously thought what Oneida said was right. She turned to Oneida and asked in a low voice, "Where is your blood then?"

Oneida shook her head. "I've pulled out the needle."

After saying that, she pointed at the blood beside her and said, "This is my blood that was just drawn out of me. Hurry up and save the patient." Oneida looked very composed.

The nurse glanced at her and didn't say anything more. She picked up the tube of blood and left directly.

Oneida looked at the nurse's back and smiled.

She walked out of the office.

Seeing that Oneida was back, Edmund couldn't help but run to her and ask her worriedly, "Oneida, how are you feeling? "Are you feeling okay?"

Edmund said hesitantly, "You..." In the end, he bit his lips and said, "Why did you save Jennifer? Don't you hate her?" Hearing this, Oneida froze.

She was silent for a moment before she said with a convincing smile, "Yes, I hate her. But why do you think I saved her life?"

Oneida thought Edmund must have noticed something.

Otherwise, he wouldn't have asked her this question..

But it didn't matter if he knew the truth. After all, he was her brother.

Hearing Oneida's questions, Edmund was confused.

He wondered if his sister was saving Jennifer or not.

However, he didn't ask more questions. He forced a smile. "Whatever your plan is, I will support you."

Oneida glanced at him with a glimmer of a smile in her eyes.

Soon.

Jennifer was pushed out of the emergency room.

She was lying on the snow-white hospital bed and was pushed out by the doctors and nurses.

It seemed that the operation was a successful one.

A doctor in a white lab coat walked up to Oneida and said, "Thanks to your blood, the patient survived. She is no longer in danger. You need to take good care of her." Oneida nodded slightly.

Soon, Jennifer was pushed into a ward.

Seeing this, Edmund couldn't help but look at Oneida and ask her worriedly, "Oneida, how much blood did you give her?"

Oneida replied with an unconvincing smile, "Not much."

Not even a drop, to be precise.

She glanced at the ward and said with a meaningful smile, "Let's go check up on her."

After saying that, she followed the doctors and nurses into the ward.

Seeing this, Edmund hurriedly followed up with her.

After the doctors and nurses did everything they were supposed to do for Jennifer, they left the ward.

Only Oneida, Edmund, and Jennifer were left in the room.

Jennifer lay quietly on the bed with her eyes closed and her face pale. She looked extremely weak.

Oneida said lightly, "Give us a moment alone."

Edmund froze for a moment.

He knew his sister was going to do something that she didn't want him to know.

Thinking about this, Edmund nodded. "Okay, I'll be waiting for you outside."

After Edmund left, Oneida and Jennifer were the only two people in this ward.

Oneida stood upright, looking down at Jennifer who was lying on the hospital bed.

She waited patiently for a minute.

She guessed that Jennifer would wake up soon.

Sure enough, Jennifer suddenly slowly opened her eyes.

Her eyes were empty and unfocused. She stared at the ceiling for a while and then slowly came to her senses.

Jennifer realized she wasn't dead. She was still alive.

Instantly, joy overwhelmed her.

But soon, she saw the person standing by the bed.

Jennifer looked up at the person beside the bed.

Jennifer made out Oneida's face. She frowned slightly with trace of surprise in her eyes. "Oneida."

She didn't expect Oneida to be here.

When she was extremely weak, she asked the doctor to call Oneida but she was not sure.

She didn't think Oneida would save her.

After all, she knew Oneida hated her so much.

To her surprise, Oneida not only came here but also saved her.

Jennifer wondered why.

Oneida just stared at Jennifer with a fierce and scary look.

Jennifer was in so much pain that she almost couldn't hear anything. She could barely hear what Oneida just said. She mumbled, "What is it?" She asked again, "What is it?"

She felt the pain was getting more and more unbearable so became very agitated.

Oneida was still composed.

Oneida narrowed her eyes and said coldly, "I can control you at any time."

After Oneida received the phone call, she planned it carefully in her mind.

She had two choices.

First, she could refuse to go to the hospital to save Jennifer. Jennifer would probably bleed to death.

Second, she could go to the hospital to save Jennifer. She could do something to make her life worse than death.

In the end, Oneida chose the second one.

She thought it wouldn't be interesting if Jennifer just died. It would be more interesting to torture Jennifer and make her feel worse than death. Therefore, Oneida chose to go to the hospital.

Her plan went very well.

Hearing this, Jennifer's eyes widened and she was speechless. "You!"

Obviously, she was shocked.

She couldn't believe it!

"Oneida!" Jennifer gritted her teeth against the pain. "How could you... how could you do this to me?"

She roared like a madman, "What kind of blood did you give me" Her voice was so harsh that it could probably pierce people's eardrums. Oneida tilted her head to the side and said calmly, "I told you it was carefully prepared by me. It is something amazing."

Hearing this, Jennifer thought Oneida was creepy.

Jennifer thought; Oneida is so scary!

Before she could think about it more carefully, she felt another sharp pain attacking her..

Jennifer said, "Please."

Jennifer couldn't hold on anymore. She cried out in pain. She even wanted to die.

She became anxious. She groaned in pain, "Oneida! Help me!",

She found it interesting to play with Jennifer.

Jennifer said to Oneida, "Stop the pain... it hurts..." Jennifer used up all her strength to open her mouth.

Oneida looked extremely cold. "I'm afraid I can't do it."

She said firmly and cruelly, "I saved you to torture you, Jennifer

Jennifer shouted, "Oneida, you bitch!"

Jennifer couldn't stand it anymore so she cursed.

She didn't understand why Oneida was such a sinister and cold-blooded woman.

As soon as she finished speaking, the pain seemed to get worse in an instant.

Jennifer's lips went pale and her face twisted.

Oneida said, "Jennifer, stop struggling."

Oneida said lightly, "This is your destiny. You can't shake it off."

After all, this was a grudge between them that began in their previous life.

No matter what, Oneida had to put an end to it.

Suddenly, Jennifer's eyes widened and then she fainted the next second.

Without any signs, Jennifer closed her eyes and stopped talking

Her face was still pale and she looked like a broken glass doll.

Oneida looked at Jennifer who was lying on the hospital bed with a grave and cold look.

The most significant side effect of the artificial blood was that it could be controlled.

It was like there was a special and strange power in Jennifer's body that could be controlled by Oneida.

Oneida made Jennifer unable to speak.

The blood started to flow inside Jennifer to wherever Oneida wanted it to be.

Oneida knew Jennifer wouldn't wake up in a short time.

The blood made Jennifer fall into a deep sleep. At this moment, he was no different from the living dead.

That was what Oneida wanted: to torture Jennifer.

He was just curious. He didn't mean anything else.

Oneida glanced at him and smiled, "Nothing. I just want to know when Jennifer will wake up. I had something to say to her."

She pretended to feel sorry. She shook her head. "But it doesn't seem that she will wake up soon. Please take care of her." Edmund nodded subconsciously.

He couldn't leave Jennifer alone here.

If she couldn't wake up soon, they had to take her back home and look after her.

Oneida soon left the hospital alone.

The matter about Jennifer was over but she still had a lot of other things to do.

The most important thing was to get the key from the Paragon Group.

Instead of going back to the Garrison Mansion, Oneida went to a high-end apartment.

This apartment was the Aphotic Group's property.

Chapter 405

There were a lot of things that Oneida needed.

For example, some black clothes, black hats, and some other necessary tools.

Oneida had to be prepared for everything that might happen.

She changed into the familiar black suit, put on a black hat to cover most of her face, put a black backpack on her back, and went out.

It was already very late at night.

As night fell, the darkness seemed to be swallowing everything on the planet.

Oneida was not in a good mood.

She stared at the dark sky with her deep eyes.

She didn't know if it would be a success this time.

No matter what, she would fight hard for it.

The Second Act 406

Oneida came to the secret headquarters of the Paragon Group.

From the outside, it was just another incomparably luxurious building.

The external facade was made of low-key glass with a solemn and mysterious atmosphere.

The building was very high and it climbed gracefully into the sky

There were many companies from different industries in this building.

However, few people knew the headquarters of the Paragon Group was also located in this building.

The other companies were owned by the Paragon Group.

But very few people knew this.

A lot of people who knew this were dead.

It took Oneida a lot of time and energy to discover this secret.

Now, she was standing in the woods across from the building.

She quietly stared at the towering building opposite.

She was dressed in pure black with a serious look.

For Oneida, it was a very risky challenge.

She had sent people to break into the headquarters of the Paragon Group before but they all failed.

Of course, the Paragon Group also sent people to break into the headquarters of the Aphotoc Group.

She stopped them from succeeding without exception.

The Aphotoc Group and the Paragon Group were like a pair of opponents who couldn't defeat each other.

It had always been a long and close competition.

There was a subtle balance.

They both knew the other party was very strong and it would be very difficult to take advantage of anything so they would not launch a serious attack against each other. This was the tacit understanding between the Aphotic Group and the Paragon Group.

But now, Oneida was about to break this subtle balance.

She might have to fall out with the Paragon Group.

Oneida lowered her eyes slightly and adjusted the black brim of her hat.

Then most of her face was covered by her hat. Only her flat lips were visible.

Oneida did not go through the front or side entrances.

She was not dressed in a very low-key way. She would be noticed by the Paragon Group as soon as she entered them.

Chapter 406

So it was undoubtedly safer to enter through the underground parking garage.

Oneida hurried into the underground parking garage of the building which was full of expensive luxury cars.

Oneida walked into the dark parking garage, moving rapidly like a ghost.

How fast was she?

She was so fast that even the surveillance cameras could hardly capture Oneida's figure.

Oneida walked through half of the parking garage and went into an elevator.

There were tens of thousands of rooms in this building.

But no one knew which room was Evan's office.

Evan's whereabouts were always mysteries. No one knew where and when he would show up.

Oneida met Evan several times before by pure coincidence.

So she was not sure whether Evan would show up there today either.

If Evan didn't show up today, she had to collect more information and make a long-term plan.

Oneida took the elevator, especially for the cleaning staff, which was the most remote one.

She observed that most members of the cleaning staff were resting at this time.

So, she was alone in the elevator and no one joined her.

Even if someone else walked in, Oneida would not be afraid. She would just knock them out.

Ding!

Finally, the elevator stopped. Oneida walked out of the elevator expressionlessly. She took a turn and then went along the passage.

Oneida was still walking very fast. She was so fast that she flashed across the corridor like lightning.

She didn't see anyone else along the way.

Oneida walked to the door of an office and squinted slightly with something cold flashing across her eyes.

In the blink of an eye, she unlocked the door with a tool.

She quickly pushed the door open.

The people in the office all turned around as soon as they heard the noise.

Before Oneida could see the faces of these people, she quickly moved to them like a gust of wind and knocked them out.

Before they could even start to think, they closed their eyes and fainted.

Fearing that they would wake up soon, Oneida took a bottle of liquid from her backpack and put it down the tip of their noses for a while one by one. The smell soon permeated the room.

This kind of liquid would give off something hallucinatory with distinct smell.

These people would stay unconscious for a day or two.

Oneida dragged them to a corner of the office. Then she looked around.

This was the central monitoring room of this building.

Every corner of the building could be seen through the screens on the wall.

At this moment, Oneida was standing in front of the screens.

These high-definition screens recorded everything happening on each floor and every corner.

Oneida couldn't come up with another way.

She thought if she wanted to know whether Evan would show up today and where he showed up, she had no choice but to find out some clues in this room. Oneida quickly ran her eyes over the screens.

She found that the order of the screens corresponded with the floors.

The number of rooms on each floor was the same.

Oneida's eyes narrowed slightly and her face darkened suddenly

She found something strange.

There seemed to be no surveillance cameras in some places.

Every corner of the building was under surveillance except for a few special areas.

Oneida thought perhaps these areas were where Evan might show up.

Oneida had a plan.

She quickly imprinted the locations of these areas on her mind and then left the room.

To prevent what happened in this room from being discovered, Oneida found the keys to those people and locked the door.

Then she rushed to the corridor like a gust of wind again.

Oneida's speed was so fast that people could barely see her clearly.

She hurried to the blind spots of the central monitoring system.

She studied these areas carefully.

They looked like ordinary office rooms with nothing special.

But they were all located in secluded places and there were few people around.

They were dark without much sunlight.

It had a slightly spooky atmosphere.

Oneida continued to observe the surroundings as she walked.

Finally, she found the strangest office at the end of a corridor.

Chapter 406

The office, though closed, was unlocked.

Yes, there was no lock on the door.

Oneida thought that there might be something wrong with the door. It was probably controlled by something else.

That way, there would be no need to worry that the lock would be picked.

The color of the door was dark iron black.

It looked heavy and suffocating.

From Oneida's point of view, people could only see the door. There was no window or anything else.

She had a strong intuition that there must be something weird behind this door.

She subconsciously stepped forward.

Unexpectedly, someone suddenly flew towards Oneida.

This person was dressed in black and Oneida found his face familiar.

Oneida's eyes darkened and she instantly dodged him.

His face was fully covered. Seeing that Oneida could dodge him so agilely, he frowned slightly.

The man in black said warily and extremely coldly, "Who the hell are you?"

The Second Act 407

Chapter 407

As soon as the man finished speaking, he attacked Oneida again.

Oneida didn't answer his question. She just fought back decisively with a cold look.

A fierce fight instantly began.

Although the man in black was much taller and stronger than Oneida, Oneida moved more flexibly.

At first, the two seemed evenly matched.

But soon, the man in black was at a disadvantage. Oneida's movements and pace seemed more calm.

Oneida's movement was brisk and fast.

The man in black felt like he was being played by Oneida.

Oneida predicted every movement of his correctly.

What was more, Oneida's movements were fast and unpredictable so the man couldn't defend against her attack at all.

Oneida's offensive was getting more and more fierce and rapid.

The man in black gradually retreated.

Finally, Oneida kicked hard in the man's stomach.

The man in black grunted in pain. Obviously, he suffered a lot.

Oneida moved forward, grabbed the man by his neck, and banged him hard on the wall.

All these movements were done in one go.

The man in black could hardly breathe.

The two of them looked into each other's eyes. One was standing upright and the other leaning against the wall with his neck strangled.

The man was in black with severe pain all over his body. He almost fainted.

He couldn't figure out who the woman in front of him was.

He found her too impressive.

He knew she was way more powerful than him.

Although he was not the best fighter in the Paragon Group, he was at least better than most of them.

Unexpectedly, she defeated him so quickly.

He was amazed.

He felt resentful but he had to admit that he admired her.

He narrowed his eyes and looked at Oneida in front of him enduring the pain.

He couldn't see Oneida's face clearly so he could only make out her outline.

Chapter 407

He thought, "The guy in front of me now isn't tall but slim! Why was I defeated so quickly?" Oneida was also staring at the man in front of her.

After staring at him for a few seconds, she finally understood why she found the man familiar.

He was dressed exactly like Knight, the sniper who once saved her.

Oneida instantly looked shocked.

She immediately asked, "Do you know Knight?"

She said it in a falsetto so that people could not tell if the voice was a female's or a male's.

Hearing this, the man in black was stunned. "Knight?"

he thought, 'How could this person know Knight's name?'

Knight and he were from the same department. So, they were both snipers.

But Knight was much better a sniper than him. Not only that, Knight was also an amazing killer.

But Knight was very willful. He came and went without telling anyone in advance. He was a mystery.

But even though Knight was not very devoted to his work, the superiors seemed cool with it.

T

So the man in black couldn't help but wonder if Knight was a close friend of someone in the management hierarchy.

He thought; 'But why did this person ask me about Knight?'

He said, "No, I don't know him."

He denied it decisively.

He didn't want to tell this strange guy the Paragon Group's secrets.

Oneida smiled sarcastically, "Really?"

Her voice sounded a bit terrifying.

After that, she tightened her grip on the man's neck.

The man turned pale. He couldn't breathe.

He thought, 'Damn.'

He became more and more curious about the background of the person in front of him.

He thought, 'He has extraordinary fighting skills and managed to find this place.'

"This is the most secluded and important place of the headquarters.

The door over there leads to the boss's office.

This guy found this place! He is not just an ordinary man.'

The man in black managed to open his mouth. "Who the hell are you?" He subconsciously squinted his eyes. He was in a lot of pain.

No one would feel better if his neck was strangled.

"Tell me, where is Knight?"

Oneida said firmly, looking unusually calm.

When Oneida was in Starr Training Camp, Knight saved her.

Back then, she didn't think much about it. But now, looking at the familiar clothes, Oneida knew the man in black was probably Knight's colleague.

She suddenly came up with an idea.

She wanted to see Knight.

She wanted to thank him first and then inquire about the Paragon Group.

She always felt that Knight, as a member of the Paragon Group, treated her in a strange way.

She didn't understand why he saved her.

This was something like a mystery to Oneida.

She desperately wanted to know since she couldn't figure it out.

She had an intuition that Knight was most likely a key part of the Paragon Group. If she could get to know more about Knight, she might get a glimpse into the Paragon Group. The man in black shook his head in pain. As a well-trained killer he would never betray the Paragon Group.

He thought today was his unlucky day. He was just patrolling around the boss's office just now. He didn't expect to bump into such a monstrous guy.

Seeing that he refused to tell her the truth, Oneida knew this guy had tight-mouthed.

Her

eyes

darkened and then she forced the man in front of her to look into her eyes. They just stared at each other.

Oneida's

eyes were deep like there was a maelstrom of churning emotions.

The man's eyes gradually became empty. They suddenly became lusterless.

He was hypnotized by Oneida.

Soon, the man in black closed his eyes and he lost consciousness

He slipped into a coma, hypnotized by Oneida.

Oneida dragged him to a secret corner and removed his coat and mask.

Then she put them on.

It was like the symbol of the Paragon Group. She thought this outfit could greatly reduce the risk.

Then Oneida returned to the door, fearless.

Now, she just had to wait and see if Evan would show up.

She was confident if he showed up, she could find a breakthrough.

Oneida paced back and forth outside the door, observing everything around.

Suddenly, she felt that someone was opening the door.

Oneida rushed over to it immediately.

As expected, the door was open.

There must be some kind of special controller that could open the door without a traditional lock.

The door was wide open now. Oneida squinted and looked inside.

It was so dark inside so she couldn't see anything.

She wondered who had arrived.

Who opened the door?

A tall man dressed in the same way as Oneida walked out of the room.

His eyes met Oneida's. He said directly, without the slightest suspicion, "Hurry up and clean the things up. The boss will be here soon."

Oneida thought, 'Evan's coming?'

Oneida immediately became joyful.

She thought she was lucky.

The man in black in front of her was obviously deceived by her disguise so he didn't suspect anything. Now he even asked her to enter Evan's office:

Everything went more smoothly than Oneida had imagined.

Oneida nodded silently and the man in black just left directly.

And that large door stood wide open, directly facing Oneida.

Oneida stared silently at it for a while before slowly walking inside. After she walked in, she slightly pushed it back, leaving it ajar. Inside, it was very dark with no sunlight or other lights. Oneida thought it was necessary to find the light switch first. She fumbled on the wall for a while but failed to find one.

She guessed the light switch wasn't on the wall.

Where would it be then?

Oneida narrowed her eyes slightly with a grave look.

She had good night vision.

In the darkness, she could still move deftly.

But to get a full view of the office, she still needed the light switch.

After pacing around the office for a while, she finally found something.

She made out the outlines of a table.

On the table, there was a medium-sized vase.

There was nothing in the vase, no flowers or water.

But there seemed to be two ropes hanging on the vase.

These two ropes didn't match the verse.

Oneida stepped forward subconsciously and pulled the rope downward.

Bang!

The office suddenly was lit up.

The light over Oneida's head was on.

Oneida withdrew her hand and looked around silently.

This was a very spacious office.

However, the decoration was not as monotonous and serious as a random office. It was very tasteful.

There were flowers, fish tanks, and golden lamps with warm light

The desk was made of beautiful purple wood.

There was a pure

The office was spacious and neat.

There was just a simple desk and a reception area.

However, there were no windows.

Yes, it was a spacious office without a window.

So it was quite dark.

However, the warm light overhead was unexpectedly too bright and even a little harsh.

From the moment Oneida walked into this office, she immediately checked whether there were surveillance cameras.

As she expected, there were no surveillance cameras.

It seemed that Evan was a very private person. There were no surveillance cameras in his office.

Rumor had it that Evan carried the key to the treasure vault at all times.

However, this was not necessarily true.

Oneida quietly looked around.

She thought maybe Evan had hidden the key in this office.

It was possible.

It could only be inside the drawers of the desk or the cabinet by the wall.

Oneida didn't hesitate. She directly walked to the desk, opened the drawers, and then the cabinet. She rummaged through them.

She didn't care if she would leave a trail.

At this moment, her top priority was to find the key.

Unfortunately, Oneida rummaged through them but failed to find the key.

She didn't find anything useful.

The drawers and cabinet were just like ornaments.

Oneida lowered her eyes with a solemn look.

She pinched her fingers with mysterious emotions churned inside her.

She thought, 'Actually, now think about it.

'If I were Evan, I wouldn't hide such an important thing here,

'So, he carries the key around all the time?

'If so, it will be much more difficult to steal it!'

Oneida didn't want to do it when Evan was present.

After all, he was extraordinary.

But Oneida wouldn't give up so easily.

She decided she must find something useful since she was already here.

Suddenly, her eyes were focused on the vase on the desk again.

This vase was unique.

The patterns on it were characters that Oneida had never seen.

The light switch was on this vase. Could there be something else hidden in it?

Oneida wondered if the key was hidden in the vase.

Oneida slowly approached the vase with a calm and face.

She was about to reach out her hand.

However, at this moment, Oneida heard that someone was walking toward the office.

She heard heavy and rhythmic footsteps.

It was completely different from the footsteps of the man in black just now.

Oneida's heart sank suddenly. She thought the person who was walking toward the office might be Evan.

In a flash, Oneida withdrew her hand and turned around.

The footsteps became louder and louder.

The person was getting closer and closer to her.

Oneida knew that it was impossible to leave now.

There was only one exit.

The best solution was to pretend to be a member of the Paragon Group again.

At least in terms of the clothes, it was a flawless plan.

She wondered if Evan would be as gullible as the man in black just now.

At this moment, the man had already walked through the door.

The footsteps became louder and louder.

Oneida lowered her eyes, about to turn around to look at the person's face.

Unexpectedly, before she raised her head, she heard a cold voice. It was a falsetto but it sounded pleasant.

The

person

asked, "Who are you?"

Oneida froze.

She didn't expect this person to see through her disguise so quickly.

Chapter 409

She thought, 'Well, it must be Evan.

'Only Evan could be so observant.'

Oneida immediately raised her eyes. She wanted to see what Evan looked like.

After all, she hadn't seen Evan's face yet.

However, the moment she raised her eyes, all the lights in the room went out.

In a flash, Oneida felt that someone moved quickly toward her like a ghost.

The next second, a pair of extremely cold hands reached out to Oneida's neck as if they would crush Oneida's neck.

Of course, Oneida wouldn't let him get away with it.

She quickly turned around to dodge this fatal attack.

Unexpectedly, Evan was fast too. He immediately moved toward her again.

This was the first time Oneida and Evan were face-to-face. They had never been closer.

Although Oneida could only see darkness, she could feel that he was right beside her.

She seemed to be surrounded by a cold and unique aura.

She found it both strange and familiar.

But Oneida had no time to think about it because Evan swung at her again.

She fought back fearlessly.

Inevitably, it was a fierce fight.

Oneida clamped her lips together with a solemn look. Her heart jolted.

Evan was the toughest rival she had ever met.

She had to be focused all the time because she knew Evan would find a breakthrough even if she slacked off for a brief moment.

They fought for several minutes but it was an even game.

The man was silent and calm. His moves were fatal, fierce, and brisk.

Oneida knew he was absolutely a master.

Oneida had the advantage of being agile and fast.

Because of this, she dodged several fatal attacks of his.

However, if it went on like this, Oneida knew she would lose the game.

Because, as long as she failed to dodge him once, she would be defeated.

She thought, 'It's no surprise.'

So this the power of the leader of the Paragon Group?

She hadn't fought such a close opponent for a long time. The previous rivals were all very boring but the one in front of her now was quite interesting.

Just when she was thinking about this, Evan launched another attack.

Oneida dodged him quietly and the next second, she jumped to the wall of the office.

Evan caught up with her and swung a punch at her.

Oneida thought he was going to hit her in the face. When she was about to dodge him, his fist smashed against the wall.

Oneida was pressed against the wall.

The man asked, "Who are you?"

His deep and pleasant voice echoed in her ear.

It was strange to her but it put

Oneida into a trance.

It seemed that the man didn't want to fight with her anymore.

He directly trapped Oneida between himself and the wall and asked her a question.

Somehow, Oneida felt like he was staring at her earnestly.

Oneida was silent.

Of course, she wouldn't tell him who she was.

She and Evan were so close to each other that she could even hear his breath.

Most of her hostility toward him suddenly disappeared.

She felt like the man in front of her was not an opponent or the one who wanted to kill her but a close friend.

Oneida frowned in confusion.

The man asked, "You're not going to tell me?"

Oneida seemed to hear the man's sneer, which was a bit creepy.

The man said, "I'll make you

talk."

Hearing this, Oneida was shocked.

This was a harbinger of great danger.

She thought this man was going to take the brutal way.

At this critical moment, Oneida quickly took out something from her pocket and sprinkled it on the man.

The thing Oneida took out from her pocket was powder, which would immediately turn into gas if it was exposed to the air.

A thick white mist surrounded the man. Oneida seized this great opportunity and escaped. She went straight toward the door like a fast whirlwind.

Chapter 409

The white mist could make people temporarily senseless so it gave Oneida a breathing space.

This was Oneida's most secret weapon.

She expected that Evan would be difficult to deal with. If she couldn't defeat him, she would naturally retreat.

Although she didn't get the key, she was afraid that there wouldn't be another chance as long as she escaped this time.

Oneida and Evan had a close fight so Oneida had a rough idea of his skills.

Next time, she would be well prepared.

That was right. Oneida never thought it would work in one shot.

After all, he was Evan, with the Paragon Group.

Oneida rushed out of the door quickly, leaving a deafening alarm.

Her face darkened and her eyes narrowed slightly.

She thought Evan probably wanted to close every exit in this building so that she could not escape.

The alarm was like an order from Evan.

Although Oneida escaped the office, she needed to think about how to escape this building unharmed. SEND GIFT

Chapter 410

And now.

Back in the office, the light was turned on again.

Jackson stood alone at the desk with a cold and solemn face.

He was wearing an elegant black suit. He looked noble and aloof like a king.

At this moment, he was not only Jackson but also Evan.

It was the first time someone broke into his office since he took charge of the Paragon Group. He was angry and curious.

He knew this person was very smart. Otherwise, he couldn't have found this office.

Jackson knew he was good at fighting too. After all, he was not at an advantage just now at all.

He thought if he hadn't been taller than that person, it would have been much harder to deal with him.

He thought, 'Who is this guy?'

Jackson frowned, lost in thought.

Jackson would normally kill anyone who broke into the Paragon Group.

But Jackson just wanted to catch the person and find out who he was just now.

He wanted to keep this person alive for now.

Jackson didn't even know why he had this idea.

Perhaps, the moment he saw that person, his curiosity overcame his urge to kill.

He wanted to know this guy.

He thought this person was really impressive.

He was surprised by the secret weapon. When Jackson was surrounded by the white mist, he temporarily lost his sense of sight, hearing, and feeling. So, he naturally couldn't catch that person.

Chapter 410

Oneida walked into the elevator and it went all the way down.

The elevator suddenly stopped at one floor and the door opened

Unexpectedly, she saw a group of men in black.

Oneida knew she had no other way out of there.

There was only one solution now.

She had to fight with them.

Oneida jumped up and directly kicked most of the men in black to the ground.

The others rushed straight toward Oneida. She narrowed her eyes slightly and punched them hard.

Before they turned back, Oneida quickly escaped.

In just a few seconds, the group of men was far behind her.

However, Oneida knew all places where people could get in and out of the building must be heavily guarded.

If she wanted to leave this place through these exits, she had to survive a lot of fierce battles.

She thought maybe Evan would fight with her in person again.

This was the last thing that Oneida wanted.

She turned around and saw the window beside her.

It seemed that she had to find an unconventional method.

She jumped on the windowsill without hesitation. The next second, she jumped out of the window like a strong black eagle

The building was hundreds of stories high. When she jumped out of the window, she felt like she was flying in the sky. She was far above the ground but very close to heaven. Oneida closed her eyes, ignoring the outside world.

What she needed to do now was overcome gravity.

Yes, she was now standing on the facade of the building, on the glass window.

This was an action against gravity.

But for Oneida, this kind of flat glass was a relatively easy "path"

She held her breath and suddenly rushed downward at a very high speed.

A lot of people outside the building noticed this strange thing.

Many of the residents of nearby buildings, pedestrians on the street, and people working in the buildings around saw this shocking scene.

A man in black was stepping on the glass wall of the building and walking down along it.

They wondered what was going on.

one was stunned. They couldn't help but stop walking or working to watch this shocking scene. 09:18 Wed, Dec 18

Chapter 410

They all wondered how-this person managed to overcome gravity to not fall off the building.

They couldn't believe that someone could walk on the wall.

They thought this was a miracle.

People started to talk about it in excitement. "He's like Spider-Man? It's so incredible."

"I am not having an illusion. This is happening! Oh my God, that is amazing! I am witnessing a miracle!"

"This man is crazy! No, is he a human being?"

"I think I am dreaming. This is totally against common sense and science."

"This is something that happens only once in a lifetime!"

"Am I crazy? Or is this person crazy?"

Someone was screaming. Someone was exclaiming. Someone called their friends to come here to watch this miracle.

There were more and more people and the sound of their discussion became louder and louder.

Many media outlets heard this and rushed here as quickly as possible to record it first-hand.

Oneida had walked down a little bit. She stopped somewhere she found suitable.

The next second, she jumped out and landed firmly on the top of a shorter building.

Oneida landed on the roof of another building.

Then she subconsciously looked back.

As expected, in the building behind her, she saw the angry faces of several men in black through a window wide open.

They never thought that Oneida would escape like this.

Oneida turned around and waved at the group of people arrogantly.

It was like a provocation.

She seemed to be saying "Catch me if you can".

Oneida knew they couldn't get her. There was a bright smile on her face under the mask.

She turned around and left.

She knew that she couldn't stay there any longer. Or Evan would find a way to catch her.

Oneida rushed down the building.

This time, she didn't leave through the gate either.

When she arrived at a lower floor, she jumped out of the window

To her surprise, she saw a black Maybach parked outside the window.

Suddenly, she heard a voice. "Boss, it's me."

The window of the Maybach was rolled down, revealing Simon's face.
