Read The Second Act 71

The Second Act 71

Chapter 71

Oneida returned to the Quakersville mansion again after many days.

As soon as the door opened, she was greeted by Edmund.

"Oneida." His eyes shone brightly, and a hint of joy flickered in his eyes.

He hadn't seen Oneida in a long time.

"Edmund." Oneida smiled at him and walked inside.

But Edmund stopped her in front of him.

"Oneida." He pursed his thin lips and hesitated. "Mom and Dad are a little angry now... Don't mind what they say." Edmund continued with a firm tone, "Anyway, I will always stand by your side." Oneida patted his shoulder and smiled. "I know."

She felt that Edmund was becoming more and more adorable.

The two of them walked into the hall together.

The atmosphere there was cold and heavy.

Tatiana sat on the couch with a grim face, while Lucas also furrowed his brows, looking troubled.

Jennifer, on the other hand, stood at the side silently, appearing indifferent to the situation.

When she saw Oneida come in, she gave her a cold glance.

With a bang, the door closed.

Tatiana didn't say anything. She simply picked up a vase at hand and hurled it straight at Oneida.

Fortunately, Oneida was agile and dodged the dangerous attack with a swift sidestep.

The vase crashed onto the ground and shattered into pieces.

"You, jinx!" Tatiana gritted her teeth and glared at Oneida as if she was about to rush over and tear her apart in the next second.

Oneida felt nothing but irony.

Tatiana was her biological mother, yet she treated Oneida as if the latter was her greatest enemy.

If it were Jennifer who had angered the Lindt family, would she be that angry?

In her past life, Oneida realized that Tatiana had not given her a single bit of maternal love.

Therefore, in this life, she wouldn't hope for any change in Tatiana's attitude toward her.

"Mom, can't you speak nicely?" When Edmund saw Tatiana hurl a vase directly at Oneida, he couldn't help but clench his fists and scowl. "What if she gets hurt?"

"It's better if she does!" Tatiana replied calmly, "I can take that as an explanation to the Lindt family."

"Okay. Just calm down. You can't resort to violence regardless," Lucas urged. Then, he sighed and frowned at Oneida. "Ida, how did you get involved with the Lindt family? I don't even know if I can protect you from them..."

Just then, a phone call came in.

Tatiana picked it up immediately.

As she listened to the voice on the phone, her face grew darker and darker. Finally, she responded, "Okay. I'll bring her over immediately." With that, she hung up the phone.

Tatiana's gaze was as sharp as a blade as she stared straight at Oneida. "Mrs. Lindt has arrived at the manor, and she said she wants to see you..." "Really?" Lucas' eyes widened in disbelief.

The fact that Hailey had personally come made the situation even more serious.

"Now, no one can protect you!" said Tatiana with a resentful expression. "Your only option is to beg Mr. Lionel Bane. If he can help, the Lindt family won't be a threat to us anymore..." Tatiana didn't care about Oneida's safety. She was only afraid that Oneida's actions would cause trouble for them.

"No need to beg anyone," Oneida said coldly with a bleak expression. "I'll go see Mrs. Lindt myself."

"You're pretty brave!" Tatiana glanced at her and sneered. "You'll cry later!"

Soon after, Lucas and Tatiana prepared to take Oneida to the manor. Edmund wanted to follow them.

However, Oneida stopped him. "Edmund, you just stay at home.

"But..." Edmund's eyes were filled with worry. He was afraid that Oneida would suffer in the manor. "I'm afraid that you..."

Oneida smiled lightly at him and said, "I'll be fine. Don't worry."

In the end, Edmund could only stay at home with Jennifer.

"Edmund, when did you get so close to her?" With only the two of them left, Jennifer couldn't help but ask, "Why are you so worried about her? She has caused big trouble. Of course, she has to take the responsibility..."

Edmund pursed his lips and said with a deep gaze, "She wouldn't just pick on someone for no reason. There must be some hidden situation."

Jennifer snorted coldly. "Why would you believe her? You even defend her actions. You've only known each other for..."

Before she could finish her words, Edmund walked up to her. His gaze was icy cold; it was like his eyes were coated in frost. "I'm starting to feel like I know nothing about you. I understand that you don't like her, but she is my own sister." After saying that, Edmund walked past Jennifer without looking back.

Jennifer stood frozen in place. Her face darkened with anger.

Her fists clenched.

She wondered whether Oneida had given Edmund some kind of magic potion to make him trust her wholeheartedly.

That was when she realized that she had underestimated Oneida's ability to win people over.

Oneida followed her parents to the manor.

Meanwhile, in the main hall, Hailey sat in the VIP seat with an elegant posture and a slightly impatient look in her eyes.

"Is she here yet?" she asked coldly, glancing at the door.

Nathan immediately replied with a smile, "I just called and asked. She should be here soon."

Hailey sighed and pretended to act helpless. "Nathan, there's nothing I can do. Dad has heard that Michael was being bullied in school, so he has persuaded me to come to demand an explanation. You know he loves his grandson the most..."

"I see." Nathan became increasingly anxious upon hearing that as he was well aware that Tobias was not a man to be crossed. "As an ascendant, he will certainly cherish his descendant..."

While they were talking, they heard footsteps outside the door.

Lucas and Tatiana walked into the main hall.

Oneida followed them from behind.

Hailey immediately stood up with an unkind look. "Where is Oneida?"

Tatiana glanced back and urged in a low voice, "Hurry up."

-Oneida walked into the main hall calmly, looking unperturbed.

"So, you're Oneida?" Hailey squinted her eyes and looked at Oneida with a hint of fierceness in her eyes.

It was that little girl who had sent someone to beat up her son.

Upon thinking of Michael's pitiful appearance, Hailey's face grew colder and darker.

"Mr. Tobias Lindt has said that he wants to teach you a lesson for your parents." Hailey raised her chin slightly and displayed a slight arrogance. "Teach Oneida a lesson?" Upon hearing that statement, Lucas, Tatiana, Nathan, and Hazel felt humiliated as if they had been slapped in the face.

They couldn't believe that their own child would have to be disciplined by someone else.

But even if they felt uncomfortable, they could do nothing.

The Lindt family was powerful and influential. Naturally, they would not dare to openly defy them.

Lucas couldn't hold it any longer and said, "I don't think that's a good idea... If Ida really did something wrong, I'll make her apologize to you. We'll educate her when we go back..."

"That's not what I mean." Hailey lowered her head and gazed lightly at the expensive ring on her hand. She then continued in an arrogant tone, "Mr. Lindt has always been a tough-minded man. He insists on meeting Oneida. If I don't bring her to him, he'll probably come and ask for her himself..."

Upon hearing that, everyone's expression became even more dismal.

Tobias was a dreadful guy to deal with!

Chapter 73

If he came in person, it'd be even harder for them to handle him.

Tatiana was the first to compromise. "Bring her home with you then. She needs to be taught a lesson."

With that, she glared at Oneida angrily.

Nathan and Hazel thought the same way.

They wanted this matter to be resolved quickly and things could be settled as soon as possible without causing any further commotion.

It wouldn't be a big loss if only Oneida was sacrificed to calm the Lindt family's anger down.

The elderly couple didn't have much affection for Oneida.

After all, she didn't grow up with them and didn't have any outstanding talents or qualities that set her apart from their other granddaughters.

Nathan sighed and said, "If that's the case, then we'll do it your way."

Hazel didn't object either.

Lucas was the only one who was in a dilemma.

He didn't want his daughter to be taken away.

However, there was no better way at the moment.

Oneida, on the other hand, was completely calm.

She stood there like an outsider with a nonchalant manner and a faint expression on her face.

It was as if the matter had nothing to do with her.

Lucas pulled his daughter over and said in a low voice, "Why don't you go to Jackson and tell him about the situation? After all, he's your husband. He'll definitely help you." The Chaser family might fear the Lindt family's influence, but the Bane family was a different story.

After all, the Bane family was the most prominent family in Jeahron. No matter how powerful the Lindt family was, it couldn't surpass the Bane family.

This matter could only be resolved if the Bane family stepped in

However, Oneida shook her head.

She didn't want to trouble Jackson.

"Dad, I'll go to the Lindt residence. It's okay." Oneida had already made up her mind, and she decided to follow Hailey to the Lindt residence. Upon hearing what Oneida said, Lucas didn't know what else to say.

"What are you two whispering about? Are you done yet?" Hailey cold voice sounded from behind, and her tone was a little impatient.

Oneida walked past Lucas and went straight to Hailey. She replied faintly, "I'll go with you." With a smug smile, Hailey thought to herself, "They finally realize who they're dealing with." Oneida was thus taken to the Lindt residence by Hailey.

As she expected, the Lindt family's mansion was extravagant, grand, and magnificent.

As soon as she entered, she bumped into Michael who had just returned from the hospital.

He was sitting in a wheelchair, covered in plaster. If it weren't for his face being exposed, Oneida wouldn't have recognized him.

However, that exposed face was bruised, swollen, and extremely ugly.

Oneida sneered inwardly.

She wondered how brutal that person was for beating someone so badly.

However, she found it oddly satisfying.

As soon as Michael saw Oneida, his eyes immediately widened, and his face contorted in anger. If it weren't for his broken leg, he would've charged toward her in an instant. "Oneida, you finally showed up! I'm going to settle the score with you!" Hailey immediately stepped forward to comfort him, "All right. You should go back and rest well to recover. Your grandpa and I will help you get justice."

However, Michael was still too furious to calm down. "Mom, you can't go easy on her! Otherwise, I would've suffered for nothing..."

Upon hearing his words, Hailey suddenly felt sorry for him. "Don't worry. I won't let you get beaten up for nothing."

After the servant had pushed Michael away, Hailey glanced at Oneida coldly and said in a cold tone, "Come on. He's waiting/ for you."

Oneida was taken to a small hall.

Tobias was sitting there with a serious expression.

His hair was as white as snow, his facial features were tense, and his eyes were sharp like those of a hawk. Just sitting there, he exuded a dominant and oppressive aura. Next to him, there lay a wooden stick covered in fine thorns.

The Second Act 75

Chapter 75

Oneida stepped aside with agility and avoided the attack of those people!

She took a huge step and went toward Tobias with a cold expression in her eyes.

Tobias was startled by her eyes and subconsciously took a step back.

"Don't be afraid, Mr. Lindt." Oneida looked at him with a faint smile. "How about I show you something? After watching it, you should reconsider whether to punish me or not."

"What are you up to?" Tobias held the stick in his hand tightly, wanting to beat the girl in front of him up immediately.

Oneida took out a golden object from her pocket and handed it to Tobias.

Tobias was naturally attracted by the thing and subconsciously narrowed his eyes to look at it.

After he had seen the details of the incident clearly, he seemed to be stunned.

His eyes widened, and there was a strong shock, fear, puzzlement, and doubt in his eyes.

Bang!

The stick in his hand fell to the ground.

"You..." Tobias could not even say a complete sentence, and he was so scared that he took several deep breaths. "You... Why... How?"

"How could I have this?" Oneida curled her lips slightly and tilted the object in her hand. "Because this is mine."

"Impossible..." Tobias' eyes were empty, and his whole body stiffened.

What did he see?

He had seen a genuine first-grade elite medal in Oneida's hand!

The elite medal that all Hestryaians dreamed of was a symbol of identity and talent!

The ninth-grade elite medal was highly uncommon, to the extent that possessing one would prompt even wealthy and influential family leaders to flatter the recipient.

The first-grade elite medal, which was the highest tier of medals was a rarity throughout the entire country with very few recipients.

Those who could win the first-grade elite medal had to be super-geniuses who were rare and protected in the country. They were worshiped and admired by everyone.

It was not a ninth-grade medal but a first-grade one!

Oneida was the owner of the first-grade elite medal!

Tobias was so old, yet he had never seen a first-grade elite medal

The elite medal could not be falsified.

The fingerprint information of the holder would be engraved on the medal, and if someone falsified it, they would be arrested and held accountable.

"Have you seen it clearly?" After saying that, Oneida put the elite medal back in her pocket as if nothing had happened.

"You..." Tobias looked at her in a daze. "You put such a noble thing in your pocket casually?"

"Well? Should I place it in a safe?" Oneida asked coldly.

She had a lot of such medals and did not desire them at all.

"Ms. Chaser..." Tobias finally came to his senses. He immediately changed the way he called her and showed a deliberately flattering smile on his face. "Just now, I was blind..."

"Stop talking nonsense." Oneida did not want to hear his polite words, so she said coldly, "Your grandson hurts others at will and even does bad things to try and kill people. Are you going to sit by idly and watch?"

"Michael... Did he really do such a thing?" Tobias' eyes widened in disbelief.

Oneida sneered and said, "Do you still think that I am lying to you? You can do whatever you want! If you keep doing nothing, I'll handle it myself..."

"Ms. Chaser, please don't worry!" The elderly man was visibly frightened, his entire body trembling and his face turning pale. "I will take strict disciplinary action against Michael and arrange for his transfer to another school immediately to spare you any further distress."

"By the way, I've really offended you today. I'll go to your house in person and apologize later. Tobias' gesture at that moment was very humble.

Oneida glanced at him and said lightly, "Don't tell anyone about the medal. It's our secret."

Tobias immediately nodded. "I understand."

Then, he suddenly thought of something and asked, "Ms. Chaser, why did you conceal your identity and go to Imperial Star University to study? Isn't it a waste of time?"

The ultimate goal of the students studying at Imperial Star University was nothing more than to get an elite medal.

Oneida, someone who had obtained a first-grade elite medal, had run to Imperial Star University and started from scratch. What were her intentions?

Oneida answered perfunctorily, "I'm happy to do so."

Tobias could not say anything more when he heard her words.

He proceeded to send Oneida home and walk to the door.

Just then, Hailey wheeled Michael over. They happened to bump into each other.

Upon seeing that Oneida was unhurt and that she was walking out with a relaxed expression, they were both surprised and confused.

"Grandpa!" Michael almost jumped out of the wheelchair. "Why didn't you teach her a lesson? At least, beat her up and injure her such that she needs to go to the hospital so that I can settle my scores with her!" Hailey frowned and said unhappily, "Dad, why..."

After hearing that, Tobias immediately became furious. He stared at her angrily and roared, "Do you know what you're talking about? If you dare to say anything, get out of the Lindt family right away!" Michael and Hailey froze for a moment.

The elderly man had never spoken to them so gravely before, leaving them frightened and in a state of shock.

They were so frightened that they did not dare to breathe, and their faces turned pale.

Oneida glanced at them and then calmly walked out of the door of the Lindt residence.

Tobias immediately chased after her. "Ms. Chaser, I'll send you home." He spoke earnestly.

Oneida was about to speak when she inadvertently caught a glimpse of a Rolls-Royce parked at the corner of the street. That was...

"Ms. Chaser..." Tobias looked at her respectfully, waiting for her answer.

"No need." Oneida waved at him. "I'll go back myself." After saying that, she went straight to the pure black Rolls-Royce. As soon as she approached, the rear door was instantly opened.

Before she could react, a hand suddenly reached out from the car and grabbed her wrist.

She was pulled in, and she sat on the soft seat in the carriage.

Jackson's voice in the car was strikingly beautiful, despite its cold and hoarse tone. "Why didn't you inform me?" he asked.

If he had not received a call from Edmund for help, he would not have known that Oneida had been taken to the Lindt family alone.

She did not want to say anything to him and ran over without saying a word.

"Jackson..." Oneida called him subconsciously.

"Be quiet," Jackson snapped, not wanting to hear her address him so intimately. He wondered if she thought it would somehow soften his heart. "Oh, no!" Oneida thought. She did not expect Jackson to be angry.

It was the first time she had seen Jackson's angry face.

Did he have to be angry about that?

She merely did not tell him about her visiting the Lindt family.

"I just felt that..." he said after a moment of silence. His tone was a little soft and coaxing as he continued, "Since we're a married couple, you should tell me if you encounter any Oneida's eyes flashed as she stared, dazed, at the man in front of her.

She had always been alone all along, and she was used to being alone as well.

Oneida would solve everything by herself, even facing all difficulties and hardships alone.

Right then, Jackson had told her that he would protect her.

"Jackson!" With a touching smile on her face, Oneida spread her arms out to hug Jackson as if she was a little girl.

Throwing herself into his arms, she caught a whiff of the refreshing scent on him and murmured, "Thank you, and I'm really sorry... I won't let you worry about me in the future." Oneida didn't dare to tell Jackson anything. It was obvious that she held a lot of secrets, but she tried not to let Jackson get angry at her, just like how he had been mad at her that day. Although Jackson was caught off guard, he allowed Oneida to hug him without any resistance.

Without even realizing it, his hands moved upward as he embraced the girl in front of him subconsciously.

"You're just like a child..." Jackson thought Oneida was particularly childish at that time.

"That would mean I'm your little child, too," Oneida replied sullenly.

Jackson's eyes darkened as if he had been struck in the heart by her casual words.

"Ahem..." At that moment, Victor, who had been sitting in the driver's seat, couldn't help but pretend to cough and said, "Mr. Bane and Mrs. Bane, should we return home now?" It was utterly embarrassing for Victor as he had become a gigantic third wheel inside the car just then.

With that, he couldn't hold it back any longer and had to interrupt their moment.

Oneida's cheeks flushed as if it was on fire.

Instantly, she retracted her arms and withdrew herself from Jackson's embrace.

She had forgotten that there was another person in front of her

At that moment, her phone suddenly rang.

It was from Tatiana.

Oneida picked up the call.

"What did you do in the Lindt family? Mr, Lindt has told us that he will be coming to our house personally. Did you him again?" Tatiana questioned her angrily as soon as she spoke offend

"What did I do? You'll know soon when he comes over." Oneida frowned slightly, looking a little impatient.

After hanging up the call, she turned to Jackson and said, "Jackson, I'm going back to the Chaser residence first."

There were some issues that she had to make clear to them.

Otherwise, the entire Chaser family would think that she had really done something evil.

"Okay." Jackson didn't say anything but nodded.

At that moment, Tobias was in a bad mood.

He had just called the Chaser family a while ago, informing them that he would be heading there later. However, he didn't expect to receive another call as soon as he hung up. The call came from a big shot from the Bane family.

Being the most prominent family in Hestrya, two of the Bane family's most high-profile members were illegitimate children, namely the first and second born of the family.

It was a confidant of the Bane family's first son who had called him.

The person informed Tobias that it was he who had sent someone to attack Michael, and no one else was involved. The confidant also reminded Tobias to discipline Michael properly or face the repercussions himself.

Upon hearing those words, Tobias' heart sank immediately. He didn't understand why his grandson would mess with the first son of the Bane family.

What he didn't know, however, was that many powerful subordinates and confidants of the first and second sons of the Bane family were actually under Jackson's control.

Jackson, the mysterious and low-profile fourth son of the Bane family, had long infiltrated his power into every corner of the Bane family.

In fact, Jackson was the one who had ordered the call.

The Second Act 78

Chapter 78

After pondering for a long time, Tobias eventually had to send someone to summon Michael there.

Michael was wheeled into the room by Hailey since he was unable to walk.

"Grandpa, what exactly were you thinking?" Michael assumed that Tobias had summoned him to offer him an explanation, so he entered the room as he spoke furiously. "How could you let Oneida strut away just like that? Did I suffer through all this pain for nothing?" "He's right, Dad..." Hailey also began to speak up for her son. "Michael was beaten up like this by someone else..."

Frowning heavily, Tobias roared angrily, "Shut up, both of you!" Furrowing his eyebrows heavily, Tobias continued in a firm tone, "The reason you were beaten up like this has nothing to do with Oneida. Furthermore, I finally understood that she was the real victim. You almost killed her by attempting to tamper with her race car. I had no idea about this from the start!" "Grandpa..." Feeling a bit guilty, Michael pursed his lips. "I-I was just..."

"Just admit that what you've done was wrong!" Tobias took out the wooden stick with metal spikes and glared fiercely at Michael. "As a result of your wrongdoing, you must be punished!"

As soon as he finished speaking, the wooden stick landed heavily on Michael's body.

"Ah!" Michael cried out in pain and rolled down from the wheelchair.

"What are you doing, Dad?" Hailey was utterly shocked and reached out to help her son. "Don't you dare to interfere in this!" Tobias glared fiercely at her.

Hailey didn't dare to move anymore. All she could do was watch as Tobias punished her son.

As a result, Michael was hit by the wooden stick that had initially been prepared for Oneida. Soon, blood gushed out quickly.

Michael was badly beaten to the point where his skin had been ripped apart, and blood was all over his cast.

It was so painful that he couldn't utter a word, so he had to lie on the ground and wail, seemingly weak and pitiful.

Nevertheless, Tobias didn't intend on stopping his beating at all. The stick in his hand was raised again and landed on Michael's body!

"My good-for-nothing grandson has messed with so many people at one time! Besides Oneida, he messed with the Bane family, too!" Tobias cursed inwardly.

If he didn't do something about it or discipline Michael well, he wouldn't be able to explain it to Oneida and the Bane family.

"Please stop hitting him, Dad. That should be enough to punish him." Hailey was shocked to tears by what she saw. Her face was pale and awful as she said, "Michael has already realized his mistakes..."

However, it seemed that Tobias did not hear her words. Shaking the wooden stick in his hand, Tobias roared angrily, "I'm doing this for your good! You'd be too ashamed to continue studying at Imperial Star University. I will handle the school transfer procedure for you tomorrow. You better leave as soon as possible so that you don't have to disgrace yourself any further!"

Once everything was over, Tobias recollected himself and brought some expensive gifts before rushing over to the Chaser residence.

Meanwhile, Oneida had also returned to the Chaser residence.

Jackson's legs made it hard for him to move around, and it was inconvenient for him to show up as well. Thus, he decided to wait inside Rolls-Royce.

As soon as they walked into the manor, Nathan, Hazel, Lucas, and Tatiana all looked at Oneida, who had just entered the house.

"Oneida!" Somehow, Edmund and Jennifer also arrived at the manor. Upon seeing Oneida return unscathed and safe, Edmund breathed a sigh of relief in secret and greeted Oneida cheerfully. Oneida nodded at Edmund.

However, Jennifer still had a cold and complicated expression on her face as she scrutinized Oneida.

"Did you get into trouble in the Lindt family again?" Nathan frowned as he lashed out at Oneida first. "I almost fainted out of anger when Mr. Tobias Lindt told me he was coming to see us personally!"

The Second Act 79

He thought that it would be best to let his granddaughter visit them and apologize to them so that it could subside the Lindt family's anger and get their forgiveness. Unexpectedly, Tobias had decided to come in person.

They were worried that Tobias would not want to let things go.

"Why don't you apologize?" The more Nathan thought about it, the angrier he became. He frowned and rebuked, "What an unfilial grandchild!"

Tatiana also questioned Oneida, "Why didn't you say a word? Your grandfather is asking you! Tell us what you did. Did you annoy Mr. Tobias Lindt?"

Just then, hurried footsteps came from the door. A maid ran over anxiously and reported, "The Lindt family is here!"

No one had expected them to arrive so soon.

While everyone was still in shock, Tobias strode into the hall.

He subconsciously glanced at Oneida respectfully.

Oneida looked back at him faintly and did not say anything.

Tobias's assistant followed him into the hall and put some expensive gifts on the table.

"What..." Nathan looked at all those in a daze, and he was confused.

The others were also puzzled.

"Here are some antiques collected by our family." Tobias smiled and said in a particularly kind tone, "These are all for you." Nathan's eyes widened and he was bewildered again.

Those antique collections were all valuable. Some of them were even no longer for sale and became priceless.

He completely had no idea why did Tobias give them such generous gifts.

The others were also surprised. They did not know what was going on.

They thought that Tobias should be angry and would ask them to settle the debt when he came to the Chaser residence.

No one had expected him to come with gifts and a smile.

"Let me explain," Tobias said with a smile. "It was all a misunderstanding before. I misunderstood Oneida. These antiques are my gifts to apologize."

He sighed and continued, "It was my grandson's fault that caused me to wrong Oneida. In fact, it had nothing to do with her." With that, he looked at Oneida aside and praised her. "Oneida is an excellent child. It opened my eyes when I met her." Then he looked at Nathan and said meaningfully, "You are so lucky to have such a granddaughter... You should love her more in the future."

Nathan and Hazel's eyes widened in disbelief. They were so surprised that they were at a loss for words.

They did not expect Tobias to come there in person to apologize.

Moreover, he admired Oneida very much!

All this was so unreal that they found it unbelievable.

Lucas and Tatiana were also surprised. They did not know what was going on.

Everything seemed to go the other way around suddenly.

It was different from what they had thought.

"Really?" Nathan was momentarily stunned before he came to a sudden realization of what had happened. He smiled warmly and said to Tobias, "Thank you for loving my granddaughter." Tobias waved his hand and said, "I really like Oneida, and I also admire her very much. She is a young and promising child. She will have a great future!"

Everyone was even more shocked when they heard that.

They found

hard to believe that Tobias, who had always been harsh, praised Oneida.

Oneida, however, looked calm as if she was not the one who had gotten the compliment.

After saying that, Tobias was ready to leave.

The Chaser family wanted to keep him for dinner, but he did not want to stay longer and left quickly.

After Tobias left, Hazel could not help touching those precious collections. Nathan also smiled brightly. "I didn't expect it to be a blessing in disguise..."

Oneida suddenly stepped forward and grabbed those antique collections.

"You!" Nathan's eyes widened, and he was furious. "Put it down! As a child at such a young age, you have no manners at all. Are you allowed to take these things?" Oneida did not let go of them.

She smiled and said, "He came to apologize to me in person, so these gifts are for me."

"Nonsense! Nathan could not help shouting, "Since these things have been sent here, how could they belong to you alone?"

Oneida parted her lips and replied, "Okay, let's ask Mr. Tobias Lindt again if these gifts are for you or me?"

Nathan's face darkened after he heard that.

He did not expect his granddaughter to use Tobias to suppress him.

What she had said made sense.

Nathan was speechless.

Of course, he would not fight with his teenage granddaughter for stuff.

Oneida managed to take those antiques away eventually.

She was not interested in those things.

However, she did not want the rest of the Chaser family to get all those for nothing!

When everything was over, she was going back to Garrison Mansion with Jackson, and Lucas and the others were leaving the manor and going back to the mansion in Quakersville. "Oneida, are you okay in the Lindt family? Did you get bullied?" Before leaving, Edmund ran to her and looked at her worriedly.

Oneida could not help rubbing the short hair on his head and said with a smile, "I'm fine."

"I'm glad you're fine." Edmund breathed a sigh of relief. "When I heard that you were taken away, I had no choice but to call my brother-in-law and ask him to save you..." Oneida paused and asked, "Did you call Jackson here?"

Edmund nodded. "What's wrong?"

Opeida shook her head and smiled. "Nothing..."

She did not expect that what Edmund had done would almost make her overturned by someone's anger.

Then, Edmund got in the car and followed Lucas.

Jennifer did not go home with them.

She had a date later. She would go to the exhibition with Christopher.

Therefore, she stayed in the manor and waited for Christopher to pick her up.

Just as Oneida walked out of the gate of the Chaser residence, a luxurious Maybach drove over and stopped in front of her.

The door of the car was opened.

A tall and handsome man came out of the car.

It was Christopher.

He wore a dark gray trench coat and looked elegant.

An indifferent look was shown on his handsome face.

It seemed that he had noticed Oneida in front of him. His unpredictable gaze landed on Oneida through his gold-rimmed glasses.

Oneida's footsteps halted, too.

For the first time in her current life, she met Christopher face to face.

Christopher, the man she once loved and hated, was standing in front of her now.

Oneida clenched her fists subconsciously.

Christopher also looked at Oneida intently.

After the welcome party, he still had some strange dreams.

In the dreams, there was no longer a strong fire, but a girl lying on the bed. He could not see her face clearly, but he could hear her clearly. The girl begged him with an unusually sad voice, saying, "Christopher, stop drawing my blood. Don't..." The voice was very similar to Oneida's.

Perhaps, that was Oneida's voice.
