

My Husband Is A Secret Billionaire By Wiuu

Chapter 12

Chapter 12

After dinner, Jane cut some fruit and brought it over. Then, she sat next to Dan.

The man had been looking at his phone. Jane went over and took a look curiously. She thought that he was playing a game, but he was browsing a foreign website. The people in suits in the picture all looked like successful people.

Jane was stunned. At this time, Dan suddenly turned his head. Jane was so close to him that she almost touched the tip of his nose. They looked at each other blankly. Her face was hot, and her heart was beating fast.

"What's up?" Dan asked in a low voice.

"No... nothing." Jane sat awkwardly next to her, twisting her hands in a panic. She smiled and said, "Are you reading the news?"

"Yes, financial news."

"You know finance?"

Dan turned around again with a faint smile in his eagle-like eyes. "Then what do you think a person who has fought and been to prison should know?"

"I didn't mean that!" Jane's face turned red. "I was a little surprised. I didn't expect you to know so much."

The atmosphere suddenly became awkward. Jane was a little nervous, but when she looked at Dan's calm expression, she felt that her nervousness was unnecessary.

They were a legal couple, but they were so unnaturally getting along. They couldn't even have a pleasant conversation.

Jane patted her head and wondered if she was too stupid.

Dan noticed her behavior.

A smile that even he did not notice flashed across the corner of his mouth.

Dan put me?"

down his phone, ate the fruit with a fork, and asked casually, "Do you have something to tell.

"Hmm?" Jane replied and then shook her head. "No."

"Oh." Dan looked at her. "Do we lack money?"

"Why are you asking this all of a sudden?"

"Nothing, just asking." Dan's voice was flat. "Is that what couples are supposed to talk about?"

Jane bit her lip and said nothing.

"Or... shall we talk somewhere else?"

The man looked at the bedroom; his low voice was slightly ambiguous. His warm breath approached her little by little. Jane looked up and met his deep eyes, which seemed shimmering with sparks.

She leaned to one side, but he held her waist big hand. She fell into his arms.

Jane's entire body froze.

Dan's eyes burned even more fiercely.

He tightened his grip on her waist but did not do anything else. He looked at her. Her eyes were closed. Although she tried her best to relax, her trembling body still revealed her fear of getting along with a man for the first time.

Dan's heart was filled with love.

He didn't want her to be with him under such circumstances. This kind of thing should have happened naturally.

"You must be tired today." Jane heard his hoarse voice. "Good night."

She was stunned. She felt that the force binding her body had disappeared, and the boiling temperature in the air had slowly dropped.

She couldn't tell how she felt.

This man should be the closest person to her in the world, but she had only known him for a few days.

Moreover, there had always been a knot in her heart. She had been betrothed, and Dan probably did not know this....

She had once plucked up the courage to admit to him that she was not Fiona but Jane. But every time the words came to her mouth, she hesitated. If Dan thought that the Fallon family had lied to him, what would he do? He had a bad temper. What if....

She looked at the sandbags and gloves in the yard and immediately gave up the idea.

"I said good night. What are you staring at?" Dan said softly.

Jane suddenly came to his senses and walked into the bedroom. At this moment, she received a call from Bailey.

"Jane, you don't have to worry. Mom's medical expenses are settled!*

"What?" Jane couldn't believe her ears. "Where did you get the money?"

"Fiona sent it here today," Bailey said with a smile. "She sent a diamond necklace over and said it's your father's dowry, worth 50,000 dollars!"
