

My Husband Is A Secret Billionaire By Wiuu

Chapter 171

Chapter 171

Jane's heart was in turmoil and she clutched the blanket tightly in her small hands. During this time, she was also seriously considering her relationship with Dominic, then she remembered what the old fortuneteller had said outside the hotel- Within 10 feet, he was her husband, but beyond 10 feet, he was not.

There was a sudden bitterness in her throat.

The old lady had said that they would be separated sooner or later...

She glanced at Dominic and saw through the faint light that the red rope was still wrapped around his wrist. At that time, she even laughed at him for believing this.

But in fact, he was not a person to believe easily,

The reason why he chose to have it was because he was too afraid of losing her.

Jane took a deep breath. She was the same, afraid of not having him in her life, afraid of losing him.

If fate had to separate them by ten feet, then she would do her best to walk within ten feet!

She slowly stuck her head out of the blanket, and her voice was as soft as the night,

"Dominic." Dominic's heart trembled fiercely.

"In a few days... I should be going to London."

"What did you say?"

Jane smiled lightly. "Are your ears not good anymore?"

Dominic pinched himself to make sure that he was not dreaming, then he suddenly stood up and looked at her.

"Really?"

"Yeah." She whispered, "Bailey is going to college, and mother wants to live in another place, so we decided to go to London."

He immediately wanted to tell her he would arrange everything, but Jane seemed to see his thoughts and took a step forward and said:

"Don't worry about this. I've already found a place to stay and submitted a few resumes. I should be interviewed by a company soon."

"Jane..."

Her voice gradually lowered, "We're just going to live in London."

Dominic understood what she meant. She just wants her mother to change living environment. It happened that Bailey was admitted to London University.

None of this had anything to do with him. It wasn't because of him that she wanted to go to London.

He was a little disappointed, but he quickly smiled in relief.

At least the distance between them had narrowed. She was willing to live in the same city as him.

As long as they were together, he would be able to take care of her and protect her.

At this time, Dominic gently called him again.

His instinctive response: "What's wrong, wife?"

12:23

My Huslund

In the shadows. Jane's face turned red as she whispered, "Give me your phone."

"Huh?" He was stunned. Does his wife want to check the post?

If she was checking up on him, it would prove that he still had a very high status in her heart...

He was overjoyed. He quickly handed over his phone and told her that the password was her birthday. Then, he adjusted to a comfortable position and laid his head on his arm. He watched her flip through his phone and smiled contentedly.

The dim light from the screen illuminated her face and illuminated her watery eyes.

He also reflected her gentle and charming appearance into the bottom of his heart.

"Um..." He coughed lightly. "Don't just look at the information, you can also look at the emails and call records. The people who contact me more often are my cronies in London. Recently, it was Tristan and Bailey, oh yes, and Aaron, before him..."

"Here." Before he could finish, Jane returned the phone to him,

Dominic was stunned. So fast?

Jane's voice was low, "I didn't look through your phone."

"Then what did you do just now?"

She pointed to the screen, and he noticed that the date on it had changed.

Became a year ago.

"Didn't you say you're going back to the beginning?" Jane said softly, "This time last year was our wedding day."

It was their first time meeting. Jane braved the heavy rain to the small village house. Her white wedding dress was stained with mud.

The old people in the village said that in that weather, marriage would not bring happiness.

However, they did not expect that the two of them would be the happiest.

Dominic's heart moved, and he slowly leaned towards the bed. Through the starlight, he saw her soft white hands on the outside of the quilt.

He reached out and held it. Jane struggled to pull her hand back, but she couldn't compete with the man's strength. In the end, she gave up the struggle and obediently let him hold it.

His palm was thick and warm, making her feel particularly secure.

His low voice came from the darkness:

"Since we're back a year ago, let's get to know each other again."

"My name is Dominic Campbell. Although my family has some money, I'm not very promising. I just want to guard my wife and let my wife support me for the rest of my life."

"Wife," he smiled dotingly, "I don't want to go out to work. After returning to London, you st to support me, okay?"

have

Jane was silent, her eyes warmed, and she felt like she wanted to cry, but the smile on her face was like ripples.

There was a voice in her heart that was shouting, Alright, I'll take care of you. Even if you don't go out to work, I'll take care of you.
I will support you for the rest of my life.

HATTE

Jane laughed, a tear slowly falling down his face.

Before leaving, Kate hugged Jane tightly and was reluctant to let go.

The two of them had walked all the way from their student days, and their relationship was deeper than that of those of sisters. After Jane left, Kate felt that her heart was empty, and her eyes were still red at the airport.

"You must take good care of yourself when you get there!" Kate held her hand and whispered in her ear, "Don't be afraid to trouble Dominic, at least you two have been husband and wife for a year, and I think he is eager to serve you!

"Yeah, I know." Jane chuckled, "You don't have to worry about me!"

"How could I not worry? Ah, speaking of which, I might as well tell you, no matter what happens, you must make Dominic do everything for you!, Jane, don't be stupid. He lied to you for a year. Now I'll give it to you. Picking the stars and picking the moon is right!"

Jane laughed and clenched her hand, his eyes full of reluctance.

"You should also treat Aaron better. You two have been together for so; it's time to think about lifelong matters! I'll be back when you two have a wedding banquet!"

"Right, right!" Aaron heard this and ran up to the two of them. "Look Kate: I told you, Jane is the most sensible, right?"

"When did you say that?" Kate frowned and looked at him with disdain.

"That's what I just said!" Aaron smiled and hugged Kate, "I know, honey, you can't hear to be apart from your good friend, and I'm very sad. How about this, you quit your job, and we both go to London too!"

"What are you going to do in London?" Kate laughed. "Are you going to be a gangster over there? The local mafia in London will eat you alive!"

"Actually, that is a good idea." Aaron winked at Kate. The two of them walked to the side.

Dominic lowered his voice and said to him, "You have a part of the property under your name that can be transferred to London for serious business. I've informed the relevant people in London. If you want to come, you can come anytime."

"Really?" Aaron's eyes lit up.

Dominic smiled and nodded.

"But this matter can't be rushed. The procedures are cumbersome. It has to be done step by step. If there is anything you don't understand, just ask Tristan. He is a lawyer and can definitely make the most appropriate arrangements for you."

Okay!" Aaron looked at him gratefully.

Although the two of them often tease each other, they were absolutely unambiguous about serving each other at critical moments.

Dominic smiled and whispered, "When the business is on the right track, you can also save some private funds."

"Huh?" Aaron frowned.

Dominic patted him and said earnestly, "So you would have some money to buy a pack of cigarettes in the future!"

Aaron's expression changed, "...

My Husband Is A Secret Billionaire

"Can you stop bringing that up!"

Dominic smirked, "Don't worry, I'll keep it a secret for you, and I won't tell Kate!" "Dominic!"

Aaron gritted his teeth. "Hurry up and get on the plane, get out of here!"

02

12:0

Formi Dillin

D(0)

Chapter 172

After Jane settled in London, she received an interview notice from a company.

The interview process went smoothly, and she soon went to work at the new company. After work, she would go home to take care of her mother. On weekends, she would go to school to visit Bailey and bring him some daily necessities.

The days went on and on, as if returning to that simple and quiet time.

Dominic had been silently accompanying her, never disturbing her life, but often going to her house to help her with housework.

Most of the time, he was not a "helper" because what he had done, Jane often had to do it all over again.

When she was in a good mood, it was fine, but if she encountered a lot of pressure from work, stayed up late, or visited by her aunt.... Even the gentlest of people would become thorns all over their bodies.

When Jane yelled at him, it was Kassie who would intervene.

"Why are you shouting? You can't talk to him properly?"

Or else - "The time you use to yell at him, you can do it yourself. Why are you being so cruel to him?"

Or - "Don't rely on our knowledge to be like you, you can be unscrupulous! I'm not happy when you yell at him like this!"

Jane's face was full of questions. Whose real mother is this person?

Dominic always refers to Jane's mother as "Mom," making it seem like he was her biological son Jane helplessly shook her head and laughed lightly

She worked in a newspaper, and her boss told her on her first day, "Young people should exercise. more, bear hardships and stand hard work, and have dedication!"

In fact, everyone took this as a deaf ear. Only Jane was serious and really worked hard.

As a result, everyone thought that she was cheap and easy to use, so her job was not limited to writing press releases, but also as an editor, layout artist, and countless chores in the office. Even when the radishes were about to wither, her colleagues had to call her to water them.

Not to mention helping them send and receive documents every day.

What troubled her the most was that all these colleagues in the company had a natural sense of superiority as a London person.

It was like sometimes in the pantry, if she just poured a glass of water, she would be surrounded by the talkative women in the company.

"Hey, Little Jane, do you have a boyfriend?"

Jane's mouth almost burned, and she smiled embarrassingly. Just as she was about to leave quickly, she was pulled by the fat woman.

"You don't have to rush to work? Come over and chat with us for a while! Ha...Jane, if you don't have a boyfriend, we'll introduce you to one!"

"No need, really..."

"Hey, what are you fussing about, Fatty !" Another woman chipped in, munching on melon seeds while looking Jane up and down. "Hehe, does Jane really need help finding a boyfriend?"

"It's hard to say!" Another one chimed in. "If I were picking a daughter-in-law, I wouldn't choose an outsider!"

"That's right! Outsiders are hard to get along with; their lifestyle is different from ours! If you marry someone from a less fortunate family, it would be like "poverty alleviation"!"

"Jane, I heard you still have a mother and a younger brother at home?"

Jane took a deep breath. How did these people know so much? They were incredibly well-informed! "Oh, you have a younger brother... This looks like a bottomless pit! Someone looked at her with contempt, "Oh, if someone married such a foreigner, it would really help the poor!"

Jane's small hand clenched tightly into a fist, then clenched it and let it go. She even took a few deep breaths.

She slowly walked to the door and turned her back to them. Just as she was about to leave, she seemed to feel those arrogant eyes staring at her from behind her....

From the moment she joined the company, she had become a talking point for these people. In their eyes, outsiders did not seem to be people,

Jane sneered and turned around. Her cold eyes swept across everyone's faces.

"Eldest sisters, you're right." She said softly. "I also think there are too many people from outside the city."

The women looked at each other, not knowing what she meant.

"Heh," Jane continued, "Outsiders really shouldn't come here, let alone make this city so good! Some of the dirty and tiring work should be left to you locals to do. You may feel more accomplished. !"

It took a while for the old women to understand what she meant.

Jane had this kind of ability, and she could scold people while smiling.

The women's expressions changed almost at the same time. They rolled their eyes and were about to walk out of the pantry when they heard Jane continue:

"London is an international city and a place with a high degree of tolerance. I really can't believe that such an inclusive city has such narrow-minded thoughts!"

"Hmph, what's so great about it!" The chubby woman shook her head, trying to dismiss the matter, "Outsiders are outsiders; they can never compare to our local girls

"Hey, the courier has arrived!" Someone looked at his phone.

Usually, the courier was left at the front desk, and her colleagues sent her to get them back. At this moment, these old women could not change their words. They shouted in unison, "Little Jane. go get it....

"What?" Jane sneered, "None of these couriers are mine, why should I pick them up?

"We're colleagues!" Another woman stepped forward to mediate the situation. "Aren't colleagues supposed to help each other?"

"When you need me, I'm a colleague. When you don't need me, I'm just an abominable 'outsider!" Jane smiled and looked at everyone,

But the smile didn't reach her eyes, and those people couldn't help but shiver.

"I'm sorry." Jane said coldly, "It's better for you locals to pick them up! The non-locals can't help with "The

"Also, save your good intentions, I don't need a boyfriend!" She repeated every word, "I have a husband!"

With that, Jane turned his head and left, leaving the other women dumbfounded.

Sometimes, one shouldn't be too accommodating; otherwise, it gives others an excuse to bully you.

Jane did not eat at noon. She went to a small park not far from the company, bought a bag of bread, and sat on the bench to feed the pigeons with bread crumbs.

Before long, a pair of black leather shoes appeared in front of her.

She looked up and saw a gentle smile on her angular face.

O(1)

Chapter 173

Jane was stunned. She straightened up, not knowing where to put her hands.

Dominic sat beside her, took some bread crumbs and sprinkled them on the pigeons, then turned his face and smiled at her.

"You're in a bad mood?"

Jane lowered his head slightly. How did he know?

"I don't think I told you about my childhood."

Dominic said calmly. "My parents divorced a long time ago. Although I follow my father, I have to often go to the UK to visit my mother."

"My mother has a strong personality, so of course she doesn't allow me to be weak. On the Campbell family side, my grandfather raised me as an heir. Everything I did, even the posture and movements. of eating, drinking, walking, were strictly regulated...'

"Not only that, but we also have to face the battle within the family at any time."

"The more Grandfather values someone, the more likely that person will become the target of public criticism. He is the target of everyone."

Jane's heart tensed. At that time...he was just a little boy of six or seven years old.

"I spend most of the winter and summer vacations in Manchester. There's a very famous Albert Square there. When I'm down, I go there alone to feed the pigeons."

Jane looked at him. The man's cold profile showed a shallow sadness.

Perhaps in the eyes of outsiders, people like him who were born with a golden spoon in their mouth did not understand the sufferings of the world, but in fact, children who had been hurt by their original families had the same misfortune.

Jane silently moved closer to him.

The two people's silhouettes were covered by the sunlight on the ground.

"Jane," he whispered, "You're having trouble at work, I can...."

"No need." She simply refused.

Dominic frowned.

Jane raised her eyes, her eyes were as clear as water, and she said softly to him, "I know that you are well-intentioned, but I hope that my troubles will be solved by myself."

"Coming to London is a brand new beginning for me. I want to see how my viability is."

His eyes were deep and focused, and he said in a deep voice, "With me here, you don't need to be so brave."

own."

"It's not that I'm trying to be brave." She said softly, "It's that I want to have a world of my

"Dominic, I know that I can rely on you. You are also a reliable man." She looked at him, "But as a woman, you can't lose the ability to make money at any time."

Dominic was a little moved and raised his hand to touch her hair. This time, she did not refuse,

There was no expression on his face, but it was like a flower in his heart.

"Jane, I just don't want you to work so hard."

"I have to learn to walk by myself." She chuckled. "Besides, I heard what you say that just now. I don't think your Campbell family will be easy to deal with....

Chapter 173

"If I can't even stand the wind and rain outside, how can I have the confidence to face them in the future?"

Dominic was startled and stared at her for a while, "What did you say?"

"I said, I have to get ready to walk into your world."

Dominic's heart was pounding, and the bottom of his deep eyes made waves.

Jane turned her face away and smiled at the white dove in the distance. The sun hit her face, and her pure and beautiful face suddenly illuminated the gloomy sky in his world.

She looked at him for a long time, sincerely and frankly.

When I found your true identity. I planned to leave you. I just wanted to live an ordinary life, and I did not want to marry a rich person.

Dominic nodded. In fact, he had already made plans. If she still could not accept him, then he would give up everything in the Campbell family and become an ordinary husband and wife with her.

"Then why did you change your mind again?" He took the opportunity to move towards her. "Because I found out later..." She looked up and looked at him with her big beautiful eyes. "I can't do without you."

Dominic's heart trembled.

Jane's eyes drooped, and her long eyelashes trembled, like the wings of a butterfly.

"Later, I also understood," she said softly. "Identity and name are just a label for a person. It doesn't matter whether you have money or not, whether you are Dominic Campbell or Dan Murphy, these are not important."

"The important thing is that you haven't changed from the beginning to the end...and neither have I

Dominic looked at her and gently held her hand. She smiled at him and intertwined his fingers.

"Jane, have you forgiven me?"

"I didn't blame you. It's just that I couldn't accept the change in your identity for a while."

She pursed her lips. "But I still need some time... Can you wait for me?"

"Yes! Of course!" He was willing to wait for her for the rest of his life.

Dominic hugged her tightly, afraid that it was a dream.

"Jane, you're not leaving me anymore, are you?" he repeatedly confirmed uneasy.

Jane smiled, "No way."

"No matter what I become, you won't leave me?"

She was startled. Why did she start asking silly questions again? Just like the time he asked in church!

"Dominic, didn't you record it all at that time? The evidence is in your hands, why are you still asking me?"

Dominic took out his phone and smiled.

However, at this moment, the surrounding pigeons were frightened and flew away!

Suddenly, a strange sound came from the bushes.

Then there was a thud.

12:17

Chapter 173

A person jumped out from the bushes and knelt right in front of the two of them!

Jane was startled, and Dominic was instantly alert and fiercely protected her behind him!

When they saw the man's face clearly, they were even more surprised.

"Hector?"

Young Master White rubbed his knees and got up from the ground. There were a few leaves on his hair, and he smiled awkwardly at the two of them.

"Third brother oh, sister-in-law, are you two feeding the pigeons?"

Dominic's face was terrifyingly dark.

Hector smirked.

Tristan walked over from not far away. He sighed and said helplessly, "Third Brother, Old White called me 20 minutes ago and said that Jane was sitting here alone and seemed to be in a bad mood... he was afraid that something might happen, so he asked me to come and keep an eye on her."

"Then when I got here, I found that you were already here, and I tried to drag him away, but he insisted on staying to watch..."

"I couldn't drag him away at all!"

"You...." Hector's eyes widened, as if you weren't looking!

Dominic didn't want to pay attention to them, so he turned his head and held Jane's hand, for fear of scaring her.

However, Jane was very calm.

She looked at Hector and then at Tristan. She rolled her eyes and suddenly laughed, "I've seen Lawyer Tristan before. He's a lawyer who specializes in helping criminals with lawsuits?" Tristan's expression was twisted, he didn't know whether to laugh or cry.

"As for this Young Master White..." Jane looked at Dominic playfully. "Isn't he the inmate who often borrows money from you?"

"What?!" Hector's eyes

"What?!" Hector's eyes were about to fall out.

He's reputation was ruined by Dominic's few words!

What a sin!

Con

Chapter 174

"Since we've all gotten to know each other again, I'll officially introduce you." Dominic chuckled, "Lawyer Tristan is well-known both in London and Cardiff. His lawyer fees are calculated in seconds."

"As for this Young Master Hector..." He looked at Jane. "Back then, you memorized his information and even had a car accident. I don't need to introduce him anymore."

Hector's expression changed as he said innocently, "Why!"

"The information on the Internet is nonsense! I'm not that kind of person at all!"

"Little sister in law, you have to get to know me again! Although I may look like a flirty person, I'm actually very single-minded! And because I'm so handsome, some people are jealous all the time, including your Dominic

"Ouch!"

Before he could finish his sentence, he was slapped on the head by and met Dominic's disdainful gaze.

Hector looked wronged; it seemed that being handsome had become his original sin, making everyone target him!

—

Miranda came to Yan garden and ignored the bodyguards barging in.

As soon as she entered the living room, she saw the scattered clothes. A pink sexy underwear almost tripped her over.

She sank her face as her high heels stomped on the marble floor.

On the large sofa, Kevin was pressing down on a woman.

Miranda felt nauseous coughing loudly. Kevin lifted his head from the intimate embrace, squinting his eyes to look at her calmly. After finishing the last few strokes, he stood up and raised his pants.

"Eldest Young Master..." The woman still did not know what to do as she reached out to pull him.

Kevin picked up his clothes and threw them on her, a smile on the corner of his mouth.

Miranda wrapped her arms around her chest and heard a rustling voice behind her.

"Okay!" she roared.

Fiona had just put on her clothes when she heard the voice.

Just now, she and Kevin were interrupted by this slut! Who the hell was this woman who could enter and leave Kevin's yard at will?!

Fiona bit her lip and stood up abruptly. She squinted in front of Miranda and looked at her. Hmph, not much to look at! She just knew how to dress up, and she wasn't sure if all these big brands she was wearing were real or fake...

Miranda also glanced at her. The anger in her heart was instantly drawn out by her arrogant expression. Her eyes were fixed on her, and she let out a cold snort.

Fiona held a glass of water to drink, but "accidentally" the entire glass of water was poured on Miranda!

"What are you doing!" Miranda screamed, "You did it on purpose!"

Chapter 174

"Yo, I'm really sorry." Jane dragged her voice. "Is this young lady alright? Tsk tsk... This dress is wet. I wonder if it will fade. "

"YouL.."

Miranda had never encountered anyone who dared to step on her head like this!

"This young lady, you barged in without even saying hello, ruining our fun, and not even apologizing? Truly uncultured!"

"What are you, anyway! You dare to yell in front of me!" Miranda was so furious she wanted to kill her.

"You're despicable and shameless!"

"I'll teach you a lesson!"

Fiona raised her hand to strike, and Miranda also didn't hold back, grabbing Jane's hair and delivering two slaps!

The two women fought, and screams filled the living room as the bodyguards rushed in, dumbfounded.

Meanwhile, Kevin sat on the sofa, smoking, watching the two women fight, a wicked smile on his face.

Finally, Fiona was no match for Miranda and had her face scratched.

At that moment, Kevin signaled, and the bodyguards immediately stepped in to pull the two apart, escorting Fiona outside.

Fiona struggled and shouted, "Big Young Master, why didn't you help me! Big Young Master..."

Soon her voice disappeared from Yan Garden.

Miranda spat at her retreating figure and took a clean towel from the servant. She glared at Kevin, seething with anger.

"Are you a dead person?" The fire in her heart burst out again, "Just watching that little bitch beat me?"

"Miss Miranda," Kevin grinned, "Your fighting ability is not bad, why bother with her!"

"Kevin!"

"Okay, don't be angry!" Kevin asked someone to bring a good Longjing tea, "Drink some tea to reduce the fire."

Miranda rolled her eyes at him and did not move.

She came to see Kevin today to discuss something

Kevin had always said that he would help her get rid of Jane and retake Dominic, but after so long. not only did he not get rid of Jane, but instead, he let her run to London!

Miranda was almost mad.

Her scarlet eyes stared at Kevin as she gritted her teeth. "Young Master Kevin, our yeager family has given you a lot of good things! You guys don't take money and do nothing, right?"

"What nonsense are you talking about, little sister?" Kevin stretched lazily, leaning back on the sofa, "Heh, ever since my dad was stripped of his position by grandpa, we have lost our say in the board meetings!"

"Then you can't do it?"

"Anyway, Dominic is watching closely now," Kevin sneered, "It's impossible to kill Jane!"

Miranda's face was pale, and she wanted to kill him.

"But... Kevin looked at her, "Isn't your ultimate goal to be the Third Young Mistress? As long as you behave well in front of Dominic, it's not impossible for him to marry you!"

"What do you mean?"

"Sister, think about it with your head. Now, to Dominic, whose business is the top priority? Of course it's Jane!"

"Once Jane is in trouble, you help her solve the trouble again. Isn't this showing your virtue and virtue in front of Dominic?"

Miranda clenched his fists tightly and suddenly realized.

Although he didn't like this roundabout way, it seemed like the only way to get Dominic back.

Showing generosity in front of him and taking the initiative to befriend Jane, Dominic would let his guard down.

Coupled with the support of the Campbell family and the Yeager family..

She still had a good chance!

When she became the third young mistress of the Campbell family, it would be easier to kill that Jane than to tr ample an ant to death!

Miranda showed a cold smile and took a sip from the teacup in front of her.

"Big brother," she said with a smile, "but now if something happens to that little b itch, the third master will not blow up the entire central city?"

How could something really happen to her? Kevin glanced at her, "Tm just looking for: some painless trouble for her!"

"Like what?"

"I heard that she has a younger brother who was admitted to London University. Why don't you put some effort into this kid? Anyway, there are people from your family on the board of directors of London University. It's not difficult to cause him some trouble?"

Then you will come forward to solve it, making Jane grateful to you, and Dominic puts his guard down on her...

Miranda laughed. "Thank you for your guidance. After this is done, our Yeager family will do our best to help Second Uncle regain his position on the board of directors!"

Com

Chapter 175

When Jane returned home from work, she saw Dominic playing cards with her her.

The way that cards are played is very strange and the rules are cumbersome, which especially tests people's logic and patience. Her mother taught her to play since she was a child, but she could never grasp it, so they had stopped using that deck of cards.

Unexpectedly, the two of them were having a lot of fun.

There were bursts of laughter from the living room. Dominic was smart enough to lose every game, but it took Kassie hard work to win.

Kassie was overjoyed. Now it was the mother-in-law who looked at her son-in-law.

After the game was over Dominic was about to shuffle his cards when he suddenly noticed Jane standing not far away. He quickly got up and chuckled. "You're back?"

"Yo, you get off work so early?" Kassie laughed as she drew the cards. "Dominic played cards with me all afternoon. I think he's exhausted. llurry up and make him something to eat!"

Jane: "..."

"Mom," she smiled and deliberately tried, I have been working all day, and I'm really tired!"

"Are you tired of knowing and doing?" Kassie raised her voice. "Do you know how brain-burning this card is? I taught you eight hundred times when you were young, but you still can't learn it. 1 taught him once and he remembered it!"

Dominic was a little proud, but when he glanced at Jane, he immediately suppressed his smile and followed her into the bedroom.

Jane put down her bag and sat in front of the writing desk, looking tired.

Dominic walked behind her and gently rubbed her shoulders. His large hands, which usually seemed powerful, became gentle as they rested on her shoulders.

Jane took a deep breath and felt that the strength was just right and very comfortable. She closed her eyes slightly and enjoyed the feeling.

"You should rest for a while, don't rush to cook." He said in a low voice, "I'll ask someone from the hotel to bring dinner over."

"What about you?"

"I'm not here tonight."

Jane was stunned. She stood up and looked at him for a while. Suddenly, she felt that something was not right.

"Why are you wearing this?"

Dominic smiled. This was the suit she had bought for him.

"And this..." Jane realized again that he was still wearing the belt she had given him!

"What are you doing tonight?"

"There's a family dinner tonight." Dominic explained softly, "I have to go back to the Campbell Family Villa and go to the old mansion."

Jane nodded.

My Glusband Is A Serret Filling

Dominic held her hand in the palm of his hand and stroked the back of her hand with his thumb. "If you agree, of course I want to bring you. But I know you won't go."

"So I'll just wear the clothes you bought for me and treat you as if you were by my side."

Jane smiled gently.

But he was going to a family dinner, so how could he dress like this?

It was enough that she didn't know about it before. Now she realized that the suit that she had bought with tens of thousands of dollars was nothing compared to the luxury of the Campbell family.

"Dominic. She called him softly.

"Huh?"

"It's better to change your clothes. What a shame to wear this!

The corner of his mouth twitched, "My wife's choice of clothes, it's very good to wear them out!"

"But..."

"This dress is priceless to me." He said in a low voice with a smile, "You have to continue to buy me in the future. I still lack a pair of leather shoes."

She raised her face, "Mr. Dominic. I can't afford it!"

Dominic approached her, his big hand quietly rubbing against her waist.

"You said you wanted to support me for the rest of your life."

"It's too expensive to support you." Jane whispered, "I don't want to support you anymore."

Dominic became anxious, "No way! I don't spend much money, and I don't eat much! You have to support me!"

"Can you eat less in the future?"

He nodded seriously, "Yes! Absolutely!"

Jane laughed out loud as two red clouds appeared on his face.

Dominic looked at her in a daze. After a while, he came back to his senses and laughed lightly. The temperature in the air was rising steadily, and the distance between the two of them was unknowingly narrowed...

"Jane!" Kassie's voice suddenly came from outside, "Did you prepare dinner for Dominic?"

Jane was stunned for a moment, and then she hurriedly pushed Dominic away, his heart pounding. She turned around and went out, explained a few sentences to her mom, then came back and met Dominic's deep gaze.

"Are you busy with work recently?" He took the initiative to change the subject.

"Fortunately." She sat down at the table again. "I did a few small interviews. I have a lot of manuscripts to write. Then..."

"There's an independent interview next week."

Dominic saw her turn on the computer, and the man's photo and information appeared on the screen.

This time, it seemed that it was the best actor, Tom Cruise,

Dominic's face darkened again, and the Jealousy in his heart reached his throat.

"You interview him?" He tried his best to calm himself down.

Tom Cruise was a well-known handsome guy in the industry, and he was notorious for his popularity. He usually had a humble and courteous image in front of the public.

When Jane went to interview him, she had to do her homework in advance, just like the last time she had memorized Hector's information by heart....

The two of them would then have a face-to-face conversation. As an excellent reporter, Jane would definitely not be cold-hearted.

Dominic took a deep breath and stood silently behind her.

Jane felt that the atmosphere was not right. When she turned around, she was almost frightened by his black face!

"Why are you staring at me like that?"

Dominic did not say anything.

Jane looked at the computer and then looked at him, and instantly understood.

She didn't know whether to laugh or cry. "This is my job! Besides, he's an actor and I'm just an ordinary reporter. I'm afraid I won't be able to make an appointment!"

He was stunned for a moment. "Then why did your boss assign this task to you?"

"To make things difficult for me!" Jane smiled lightly.

Previously, she had interviewed a few small internet celebrities and did a few interviews with them. Because of the unique perspective, and surprisingly good broadcast effect, the company leaders were particularly satisfied.

However, Jane had already been ostracized, which made her a thorn in the side of some veteran reporters. This interview with Tom Cruise was deliberately proposed by this group of people to the leader.

"If I can make an appointment with Tom Cruise, then they will steal the credit and say that this interview must be done by a senior reporter. If I don't make an appointment, it will fall into their favor and say that I have a problem with my work ability."

Jane understood clearly, "Anyway, no matter what I did, it was wrong."

"

Dominic curled up, and he supported her shoulder with one hand, "Then why do it?"

"Doing it is better than not doing it well!" She smiled open-mindedly, "What if there is a chance to succeed?"

"Mmm."

"Dominic." She turned around and looked at him with her bright eyes. "Will you help me?"

Chapter 176

Dominic was stunned. "What did you say?"

"Will you help me?"

Of course! He screamed in his heart.

However, his face remained calm. He coughed twice and said in a deep voice, "Why do you suddenly want me to help you?"

"Because..." Jane paused, "To accomplish something, apart from one's own efforts, one needs to utilize all the resources available around them, right?"

Dominic was a little surprised.

In the first class at the business school, the professor said the same thing. A person's success requires the right place and the right person.

Jane rolled his eyes and smiled, "The person I want to interview is the king of actors! At my level, I'm afraid even the assistants around the actor can't look at me. This is a mission that is simply impossible to accomplish, and everyone is waiting to see me make a fool of myself."

"However, there is an omnipotent Superman by my side..."

She reached out and pinched his face, smiling charmingly.

"If Superman lends me a little superpower to help me do this job, I'll be grateful!"

"How grateful?"

"Aren't you short of leather shoes?" She blinked, "I'll take you to buy the best pair!"

"Is that so?"

"And..." Her eyes drooped slightly, and she pursed her lips and smiled. "I'll support you for the rest of my life."

Dominic's heart melted. As soon as he grasped her small hand, his eyes were gentle and doting, and he gently spat out two words in her ear:

"As ordered."

He was about to take out his phone.

Jane immediately stopped him, smiled and said, "You don't have to contact him right away!"

Let me try it myself. If all the methods don't work, I can only use Mr. Dominic's face!"

Dominic smiled and embraced her.

He remembered what the old fortune-teller had said, saying that Jane was destined to be the queen. and destined to become rich.

In fact, based on her intelligence and thoroughness, no matter who she married, she was capable of making herself happy. No matter who she married, she was the queen who controlled her own destiny.

Dominic held her tightly, not wanting to let go for a moment.

At night, the Campbell Family Villa was brilliantly lit, like a bright pearl inlaid in the mountains.

Linda had just pulled out of the crowd of entertainment and finally caught her breath when she saw Dominic slowly walking towards her with a glass of champagne.

Chapter 15

"Just in time!" She snatched the champagne and took a gulp. "Ah... I'm dying of thirst!"

Dominic frowned, thinking it was funny. "What happened just now?"

"Bro," Linda lowered her voice, "Why haven't I seen any of these weird relatives?"

Dominic took a look inside. There were many people from the same clan today. Although they were all surnamed Campbell, it was normal that they had never seen each other.

Some people couldn't even understand the relationships and generations among them, let alone

Linda.

"I don't know many of them." He whispered, "Some of them have only met a few times in the company."

"This kind of family banquet is really boring!" Linda complained, "I have been smiling all night!"

"Just be patient, it'll be over in a while."

"Bro, I'm hungry. I want to eat the chicken rice made by Sister Jane!"

Dominic pursed his lips. He wanted to eat too, but as an older brother, he still had to maintain his authority.

"What are you eating? Always thinking about food!" He glared at her, "I warn you, although Jane is in the capital now, you're not allowed to go to her house for a free meal. Do you hear me?" "Ah.

you..."

"What are you?" He glared again, "Your sister, Jane, cooked that meal for me, why are you joining in the fun!"

Linda's cheeks were puffed up and she rolled her eye at him.

Mr. Sebastian walked over from not far away and said with a smile, "Young Master, Miss, it's time to sit at the table!"

Linda carried her skirt and walked forward, suddenly knocking him away, turning around and making a face.

Dominic smiled helplessly. Just as he was about to fight back, Linda suddenly turned around and whispered to him,

"Don't get excited when you get to the table."

"What's wrong?"

"Anyway..." She smiled wickedly, "You might not be able to eat!"

Dominic was stunned and walked to the main table.

Linda was right.

Benedict's smile revealed a bit of sternness. His cold gaze swept across the crowd as he sat on the throne.

And the second seat that belonged to him, there was actually Miranda next to him!

"Dominic, why are you still standing there?" Benedict greeted him, "Hurry up and sit down."

Dominic's expression darkened as he clenched his fists and walked to Miranda's side.

The servant pulled out his chair and respectfully invited Dominic to take a seat.

Everyone's eyes were fixed on Dominic.

The matter between him and Jane had spread throughout the Campbell family. Everyone knew that he had met a confidante while recuperating in Cardiff.

Everyone knew that he had clashed with old master Campbell several times over that woman. However, today, Old Mr. Campbell actually called Miranda over at the banquet...

Wasn't this announcing publicly that he only recognized Miranda as his granddaughter-in-law? "It won't hurt to marry the Yeager family." Someone whispered, "Why can't our Mr Campbell turn this corner..."

"Oh, he's used to calling for wind and rain since he was a child. How could he know how to sacrifice for the family's interests!"

"Look at what he's wearing? This suit is too poor!"

Miranda couldn't help but look at him.

His clothes had always been made by high-end designers from the major fashion weeks, but the clothes he wore... looked like they were bargains from the store.

"Knowing and doing," Miranda began to express his virtue and virtue. "The style of this suit seems to be a bit old, why don't you change it?"

Dominic paused, and then turned to look at her, his eyes deep and cold.

Miranda did not dare to speak any more as he quietly drank the soup before dinner.

The others did not dare to discuss it.

As long as Dominic was there, an invisible low pressure enveloped him.

"Grandfather," Dominic suddenly said with a smile on his face, "Is it our family dinner today?" Benedict was startled and nodded.

"Since it's a family dinner, is it appropriate to invite outsiders?"

This was obviously meant for Miranda.

Benedict's face darkened as he whispered, "What kind of outsider is Miss Yeager? Since it's a family banquet, then it's natural for Miss Yeager to come."

"Yeah!" Edward smiled in agreement. "Just based on our relationship with the Yeager family, how can Miranda be considered an outsider? No, no!"

"Really?" Dominic looked at him again, "she doesn't count as an outsider to Second Uncle? Edward's heart thumped.

"Miss Yeager is not an outsider to Second Uncle. Could it be that Second Uncle has already chosen Miss Yeager as his daughter in law?"

"What did you say?" Edward almost didn't mention it.

Miranda's expression changed as she threw down her chopsticks and looked at Dominic quietly. Dominic calmly ate the food in front of him, then suddenly raised his eyes.

"Today is the Campbell family banquet. Everyone here is surnamed Campbell, so I really don't understand why Miss Yeager is here?"

"The family dinner list was arranged by Second Uncle, right?"

"Oh, is Second Uncle so old that he can't even tell Campbell from Yeager? Or... Second Uncle has received too much favor from the Yeager Family and already regards himself as a member of the Yeager Family?"

14:16

Chapter 177

The atmosphere immediately became awkward.

Everyone stared at the dish in front of them, but no one touched their chopsticks. Everyone was scheming, waiting to see what would happen next.

As expected, Benedict's expression darkened as he looked at Edward like a blade.

Dominic smiled coldly.

In terms of understanding of his grandfather, he ranked second in the entire Campbell family, but no one dared to claim the first spot. Benedict hated the fact that people in his family were close to the outsiders, and Edward had used this to say that he was closer to his grandfather's family from the outside world, which caused Benedict to be dissatisfied.

Dominic looked up at him with a smile.

Doing this today was simply returning the favor.

"Dom...Dom.. Dominic! Edward stuttered angrily. "Why are you talking nonsense in front of so many people?"

"Dad, don't believe him. This child...he, he's probably not happy in his heart, and he's taking anger at me!"

"Second Uncle are you angry at me for saying this?." Dominic took it easy. "Grandfather taught me to respect my elders since I was a child, and I have always followed Grandfather's teachings." "Second Uncle you said that I'm taking anger on you. Do you mean that Grandfather did not teach me well? He taught me to be a person without respect?"

"You!"

Edward's eyes were red and his neck was thick.

Some people in the room could not help but burst into laughter.

Benedict's expression darkened as he dropped a pair of white jade chopsticks with a bang.

Miranda stood up and looked at Dominic apologetically.

"Oh," Dominic nodded, "Then now Miss Yeager knows this is a family dinner?"

"Dominic, you..."

"Heh, Mr Campbell is young and arrogant, and it's too rude to say anything!" Edward drank a glass of water and said, "Miss Yeager is a guest after all, is this how you treat guests?"

"Speaking of entertaining guests, of course I don't have to entertain them." Dominic smiled, wiped his mouth with a napkin, and stood up calmly.

"Let Second Uncle entertain Miss Yeager. Anyway, Second Uncle is in the Yeager family, and no longer an 'outside'r!"

"Everyone, I've finished eating," he calmly glanced at everyone, his gaze and eyebrows carrying an imposing aura, "enjoy your meal, I bid you farewell!"

Miranda was startled and hurriedly ran after him.

Dominic just walked into the yard and answered a call. Hailey's voice was aggrieved and told him, "Brother-in-law, I officially received a notice from the school today... They said that they would cancel my admission qualifications!"

"What?" He frowned. "How could this be?"

Bailey whimpered and did not say anything for a while.

Dominic could not help but quicken his steps.

At this moment, he was most worried about Jane. If Bailey was disqualified from school and wanted to return to Cardiff, Jane would definitely not be relieved. Maybe she would go back with him!

Then all his hard work was in vain!

"Bailey," he asked in a deep voice, "Where's your sister?"

"Sister is taking care of mother."

"Wait for me, I'll be right here!"

Dominic hung up and immediately asked Henry to prepare the car.

However, at this time, Miranda followed and asked with concern, "Dominic, what happened? Dominic paused and turned around.

Those deep and sharp eyes made Miranda shiver.

"Dominic... Dominic what happen," Miranda laughed dryly. "I'm just concerned, you seem to be in a hurry..."

"It's a small matter," Dominic said coldly, "You don't need to bother about it."

"Do you have to be so annoyed with me?" Miranda bit her lip. "In the future, the Yeager Corporation and the Campbell Corporation will still have a lot of business dealings. We...

"Don't worry, I'll be clear about public and private matters."

Miranda thought that he had softened his attitude towards her, so she happily replied,
"Mmm!"

Henry drove over. Dominic was about to get into the car, but he found that Miranda was also following.

He frowned and looked at her expressionlessly, "Miss Yeager, as I said before, I'm a person who distinguishes between public and private.

Miranda was stunned.

"Now, I'm going to do some personal matters!"

After he finished speaking, he got into the car and walked away.

Miranda was left on the spot by him. She looked at the car that had quickly disappeared from sight. She clenched her fists and showed anger in her eyes.

You don't have to think about it to know that the call just now must have been from that slut Jane!

She was silent for a while, then took out her phone and dialed a number.

"Uncle, it's me... Yes, how's that Bailey's business going?" Miranda tried his best to lower his voice, "...What? Oh, he's really disqualified from school? Alright, great!"

"Yes, really." The other end of the phone laughed. "Then you can come forward and I'll let you restore his student status. In this way, Dominic will thank you!"

Miranda's lips curled into a smile, and her pride was beyond words.

Dominic rushed to Jane's house overnight.

Bailey was packing his bags, and his expression was lonely. When he was packing his books, an acceptance letter fell out. He lowered his head and looked at it for a long time, his eyes turning red

My Husband Is A Secret Billionaire

"Bailey didn't say it clearly on the phone." Dominic looked at Jane, "What exactly happened? Jane saw his sweat profusely, and his heart moved. He pulled him into the room and sat down. First, he poured him a glass of water.

"Actually, he has been going to school for more than a month." Jane softly said, "But today, for some reason, the school suddenly notified him that he would be canceled."

"The school said that there is a strict age limit for medical students. Bailey was admitted by skipping grades.

Jane paused and continued, "They still suspect that Bailey's grades are fake!"

Dominic was stunned, his eyebrows furrowed.

London University is a century-old prestigious university and it also has a good reputation internationally. Students are admitted based on their grades and character. They have never limited the age of students!

"I didn't cheat!" Bailey was a little excited. "I have taken the exam several times, and every time the invigilator is watching, it is impossible to cheat!"

"Okay, calm down first." Jane hurriedly went over to comfort. "This matter is indeed very strange. but there is always a way to solve it, don't worry!"

Dominic narrowed his eyes as several possibilities quickly flashed through his mind.

Bailey was admitted on the basis of his true talents and knowledge, but suddenly he wanted to cancel his student registration.

And this person was aimed at Jane, that is, at him....

He thought for a while, then asked softly, "Who notified you?"

Bailey said, "The school called to inform me that I still have a phone number on my phone!"

"Mmm, give me your number."

Chapter 178

Dominic saw that the number was from London University, but it started with 02. If he remembered. correctly, it should be the special line of the school board.

One third of the board members of London University were affiliated with the Yeager family.

The corner of his mouth twitched, and he quickly understood.

"What's wrong?" Jane looked at him worriedly. "There shouldn't be any problem with this number, right?"

"It's alright, just wait for me."

Dominic turned around and went to the balcony.

Jane stood in the living room and looked at his back. He made several calls in a row.

This was the style of a king....

Her heart moved slightly, her eyes lowered, and her cheeks became hot.

"Sister," Bailey asked her in a low voice, "Do you think that brother-in-law can really help?"

"Yes, it should be." Her voice was inaudible.

"

"Oh..." Bailey nodded and suddenly sighed, "Sister, fortunately, my brother-in-law is Dominic, not Dan! Sigh, it's better to have a powerful brother-in-law!"

"Jane looked at him and remained silent.

Dominic walked back from the balcony with a relaxed smile on his face.

"I've basically figured it out. I'll go to the school board in two days." He looked at Bailey and patted his shoulder, "If you stay at home these two days, treat it as a short vacation."

"Mm, good!" Bailey smiled, his heart finally at ease.

Jane was a little surprised. He could solve such a big thing in a while? If he used his identity to put pressure on the school, it wouldn't be a good thing for Bailey.

After all, a gun was a winner, and her expectation of Bailey was that he could quietly concentrate on his studies.

In this case, how could he still do research?

Dominic seemed to see her thoughts and whispered in her ear, "I was afraid that you would be unhappy, so I didn't reveal my relationship with you to anyone, unless someday...you give me a name!TM

Jane was stunned and could not help but laugh.

Dominic held her small hand. Her smile broke into his heart and knocked all his hardness away.

At this moment, the doorbell rang and Jane opened the door. Outside, Henry was anxious.

"Young Master, I have urged you to hurry back several times!"

"Yes, I understand." Dominic said Indifferently.

However, just as he was about to leave, he suddenly realized something and suddenly turned around and pulled Jane back.

"I'm leaving."

Jarię nodded, "Mm, good."

He was a little disappointed. "You won't send me off?"

+

Jane was stunned for a moment. She covered her mouth and smiled. She quickly changed her shoes and walked downstairs with Dominic.

Henry was sweating and ran away without a trace.

He didn't want to be this light bulb!

Jane and Dominic walked slowly in the community.

But no matter how many times he went around, Dominic was reluctant to let Jane go upstairs. Therefore, when Jane passed by his unit for the eighth time, he suddenly stopped.

"Dominic!" "Huh?"

"I really want to go home!"

Dominic held her little hand, and the tall man of 1.9 meters lowered his head in front of her.

He' looked at her and chuckled, "Jane, it's already so late now

"Oh, so what?"

"So can I not leave?" He discussed with her. "It's so dark and the road is not safe. Don't you worry, that I will go back alone?"

Jane let out a thud, her stomach aching from laughing.

She kept pushing him towards the gate of the community, but Dominic was tall and big, And because she used too much force, she suddenly lost her balance and fell into his embrace... Dominic took advantage of the situation and tightly wrapped his arms around her waist. His other hand touched the back of her neck and gently clasped the back of her head.

Jane had to look at him and see the two balls of desire in his eyes.

Her heart was pounding, her face was red, and she looked away

"Don't...don't be like this." She pushed his chest with her little hand, feeling the heat.

Although her blood rushed excitedly towards a certain part of her body, she still tried her best to restrain herself. Dominic tried his best to restrain his charming thoughts.

"Jane," he said hoarsely, helping her stand firm, "If you don't want to, I won't force it. But can you give me some encouragement on time? At least let me feel that you care about me. Jane pursed his lips and lowered her eyelids.

Dominic took a deep breath, smiled at her, and stroked her hair.

"Don't worry," he said again about Bailey. "Bailey, it's not a big deal. After I find out, I will give him justice."

Jane raised his eyes. Her eyes were a little complicated.

After a long time, she slowly said, "This is the first time I've encountered this kind of thing. I'm a little panicked... But the only way I can think of is to use the convenience of my current job to make everyone aware of this,"

"But then I thought about it. If I really did this, it might be self-defeating."

"Yes." Dominic nodded, he knew that she was smart.

However, he still asked out of curiosity, "Why is it self-defeating?"

"After all, London University is a prestigious university with a century of history. It's not good for Bailey if this matter is too big. Maybe no one will believe us, but instead, they will pour dirty water on us!"

1610

"You're right." Dominic smiled, "In the case of a huge disparity in strength, it's best not to act rashly."

"But if you put this matter on you, you can solve it in a few words." Jane smiled bitterly, "So I still have to rely on you in the end..."

Dominic held her hand and gently pulled her into his embrace. She pressed her face against his firm chest and heard the familiar sound of her heartbeat. She felt a complete sense of security.

The man patted her hair with his hands. His voice was low and gentle. "You're already great. You don't need to rely on me to live a good life."

"As for this matter..." he said, "Bailey is also my brother. I can't watch him be wronged. Of course, I will do everything possible to help him."

Jane smiled and leaned closer to his embrace.

She knew that her fragile self esteem was at work again. In front of him, she would always feel an inferiority complex from time to time.

And she knew that this was not good.

This man had always doted on her, protected her, and loved her, but she was a little petty.

Jane stretched out his small hand and took the initiative to wrap it around his waist. He said softly. "Thank you."

Dominic smiled contentedly.

Just by holding her like this, he felt like he had the whole world.

Suddenly, two beams of lights came on, and then there was a sound of brakes. The two of them were startled at the same time, only to see a red Porsche parked in front of them.

Dominic's expression darkened as he subconsciously protected Jane from behind.

The car door opened, and a pair of stilettos studded with diamonds caught his eye. Jane looked up and saw a delicate and beautiful face, walking towards them with a smile.

000

Chapter 179

When Miranda saw Jane, her eyes turned gloomy for a moment.

But soon she looked natural again, smiled and walked over to greet him generously. "Third Master!" Jane's heart tightened and he subconsciously looked at Dominic.

A woman's sixth sense is always sharp.

"Oh, Third Master!" Miranda stood in front of the two of them and looked at Jane. "This is Miss Jane, right?"

Jane nodded politely.

Dominic looked unhappy, his brows tightened slightly, and asked in a cold voice, "What are you doing here?"

"Grandfather wants you to come back!" Miranda deliberately emphasized. "The old man knows that Henry can't persuade you, so he can only let me come!"

Jane's eyes darkened.

Henry was Dominic's friend and the most reliable person beside Dominic.

Even Henry couldn't persuade him. How could this woman be persuaded?

And why did the Campbell family have to send her over?

Oh, wasn't the implication of these words that she held an extraordinary position in the Campbell family and even in Dominic's heart?

Jane smiled lightly. In fact, from the time Miranda got out of the car, she felt that this woman was -not a good person. Now she knew it.

"Dominic," Miranda leaned towards Dominic, "Let's hurry back, don't make Grandfather wait!"

"Oh, yes." She looked at Jane again, smiled and said, "Did Miss Jane encounter some trouble? Otherwise, how could Dominic be in such a hurry? He didn't attend the family dinner and ran out in a hurry!"

"Really?" Jane glanced at Dominic, then secretly tugged on his sleeve and dragged him to his side.

"I'm really sorry, but hurry up and go back!"

"Oh, Miss Jane." Miranda glanced at her. "If you have any trouble, you don't need to let Dominic come all the way here. You could tell me, and I'll do my best to help.

Jane replied indifferently, "Mmm, thank you."

"You're welcome! Dominic and I have been friends since we were young. Of course, his friend is also my friend!"

Dominic frowned and his face suddenly darkened. Just as he was about to say something, he was pulled by Jane.

She gently pulled his arm, with a gentle smile on her face, Little Bird leaned beside Dominic.

"This lady is wrong." Jane was neither humble nor arrogant. "I'm not his friend."

"What?" Miranda was puzzled. "Then Miss Jane.."

"Dominic and I exchanged rings," Jane smiled and said clearly, "What do you think we are?"

Miranda's face was pale and he could not say a word.

Chapter 179

Dominic was quite surprised. His heart seemed to be blooming, and he took advantage of the trend to embrace Jane in his embrace.

"Okay, hurry up and go back. Don't worry too much about me." Jane turned around and adjusted his tie, her big eyes shining like stars.

"Okay." He smiled at her.

"By the way, I've set my eyes on a pair of shoes. I have time in the next two days to bring you to try them. Next time, there will be a family dinner or something, so I'll just match it with your suit!"

Dominic nodded. At this time, Henry had already driven his car to the intersection outside the residential area.

Dominic told Jane to go upstairs first and watched her enter the house before slowly walking out.

Even as he passed Miranda's shoulders, he did not even look at her directly, treating her like air.

Miranda froze in place, neither advancing nor retreating.

On the way back, the corner of Dominic's smile never left his face.

Henry's scalp went numb for a while. Looking at him in the rearview mirror, Dominic was smiling and smiling brightly. His fingers were rhythmically knocking on the car door.

It seemed like... humming a song?

Henry

shook his head. Anyway, he couldn't figure out what song it was.

As he approached the Campbell Family Manor, Henry tried to keep Dominic in a better mood and forced a smile, "Young Master, is there... something happy going on?"

"Mmm." Dominic straightened his body and composed himself.

"Huh, what's the matter?"

"I'll have new shoes soon."

"Ah?" Henry was shocked. "Young Master, don't you have any shoes to wear now?"

Dominic frowned and said solemnly, "Those shoes are too small!"

"Oh, okay... okay!"

Henry was in a cold sweat.

Let's just pretend that this young master is still growing, alas!

Two days later, Doininic Invited Stefan, the director of London University, to meet at the private club at the foot of Minghuang Mountain.

Before the appointment, he asked Henry to investigate all of Stefan's information.

"He is Miranda's uncle and has a certain say in the Yeager family." Henry reported truthfully, "But he is not a businessman. He prefers to play with power, so he stayed on the board of directors of London University."

"Mmm." The man's eyes were deep and his face was calm.

*Based on my investigation..." Henry paused. "Stefan Yeager is an old fox. Even if Miranda is his niece, he will still do things well."

In other words, if Stefan Yeager had the opportunity, he wanted to make a contribution in front of him, instead of leaving all these benefits to Miranda.

CHILTH

Dominic pursed his lips. From an outsider's point of view, they was most afraid that the family would be united and invincible.

But the Yeager family was at odds with each other, so this was a lot casier!

"Young Master," Henry looked outside and chuckled, "The old fox is here!"

Dominic adjusted his collar and sat at the table with his long legs crossed. "Let him in."

Henry led Stefan Yeager into the room, bowed his head respectfully, and then gently backed out.

Stefan looked at Dominic. In terms of age, he was an elder, but in front of Dominic, he still held his breath.

This man's aura was too strong, and the pair of cloudy eyes alone were like two sharp knives, which could cut a person's skin to shreds at any time.

Stefan smiled and looked around. He softly praised, "Mr Campbell really has good taste. This private club looks low-key, but in fact, an antique ornament is worth a lot!"

"Director Yeager has already won an award." Dominic said calmly, "I won't go around the corner. I'm looking for Mr. Yeager today. I really need your help."

Stefan rolled his eyes and pursed his lips. He could guess what it was for.

"Oh, Mr Campbell, don't be so polite. If you have something to do, just tell me."

Dominic squinted his eyes and looked at him. His deep voice was a little casual: "Mr. Yeager knows what it is?"

This..."

"To be honest," he chuckled, "It's for a student named Bailey,"

"I heard that the school board unanimously decided to cancel Bailey's admission on the grounds that he did not match his age?" Dominic stared at him with cold eyes, "This is the first time in the history of London University.?"

010)

(0)

Chapter 180

Stefan had already prepared for it.

"The Mr Campbell doesn't know something. Not only does that child not match his age, but his grades are fake. Hehe, canceling his student status on the grounds of his age is also considering his face. After all, it's worse to say that his grades are fake!

"Didn't the invigilator be present when he took the exam?"

"Yes, yes, but...'

"It's just that you want to add a crime," Dominic said, "so no matter what he does, it's wrong!

This kind of reaction was exactly what Stefan wanted.

He smiled lightly, hoping that Dominic's reaction would be more serious, so that he could take the opportunity to offer to help Bailey restore his student status, and by the way, mention the marriage between Campbell and Yeager.

Although he didn't know what Bailey had to do with Dominic, since Dominic had come here, it meant that he was someone very important to him.

Stefan straightened up, his face showing a little pride.

"Mr. Yeager," Dominic's eyes were cold, and he said, "I really need your help to solve Bailey's problem today. After all, this is a very good student and will become a pillar in the future."

"Yes," Stefan said with a smile

"So Mr. Yeager is willing to help with this?"

"It's not that there is no other way, but..." Stefan rolled his eyes, "I wonder who this Bailey is from Mr Campbell?"

Dominic slapped his hand with the lighter and tickled the corner of his mouth. The smile did not reach his eyes.

He knew that Stefan would ask such a question and was waiting for Old Fox's words!

Stefan would definitely inquire about his relationship with Bailey, and then make a decision that was most beneficial to him.

"Bailey has nothing to do with me." Dominic's expression was indifferent, but there was a deep meaning in his eyes.

Stefan was stunned.

"In short, I'm also entrusted by others." Dominic pretended to be mysterious. "This Mr Davis's family background is not trivial. It's just that he is usually a low-key person, and his family is not allowed to show his identity everywhere.

"Because he doesn't say anything, doesn't mean he's easy to bully!"

Stefan started to play the snare drum in his heart, and his mind turned around.

"Mr. Yeager, think about it." Dominic chuckled, "If he really has something to do with me, then why do i need to come forward? There are many people who work for me!"

Stefan was shocked, and then he reacted.

Dominic was right, who was he! Who could invite him in the entire central city?

Could it be that Bailey had a military background...?

Chapter 180

Dominic smiled, then got up at the right moment and patted him on the shoulder.

"Mr. Yeager, you have experienced this kind of thing a lot, and you should know the various stakes better than me....I hope you don't make a big mistake! Oh, if this Young Master Davis' family is investigated, I'm afraid that even our the Campbell family will be implicated!"

"Mr Campbell..." Stefan looked at him in a daze, "What you said is true?"

Dominic did not say yes or no, and only left him a meaningful smile.

Stefan wiped his sweat. He could not believe Dominic's words, but he could not believe them either. Miranda just asked him to find an excuse to cancel Bailey's student status, and then forced Dominic to beg her and let Dominic read her favor...

But other than that, he didn't know anything else!

Now, he can't call Miranda to confront him....

If what Dominic said was true, then Miranda would have messed with him!

"Mr. Yeager," Dominic asked in a deep voice, "Have you figured it out?"

Stefan calmed down for a moment. Although he was suspicious, he still felt that it was important to keep his seat on the school board!

Besides, he really didn't need to offend Dominic for his niece.

If that Bailey really had a military background, then he would really cause a catastrophe!

So he took a deep breath and nodded, "Don't worry, Mr Campbell, I will definitely get things done!" "Yes, I believe that Mr. Yeager is someone who understands current affairs. Then..."

Dominic sat back in his chair, his eyes sharp, and he said, "Do it now!"

"What? Now!"

"Yes," he half-smiled, "Call in front of me and arrange for your person to do it. If you can't finish it today, please ask Mr. Yeager to apologize and live in my club!"

Bailey returned to London University to continue his studies.

After Jane tried every means to get an interview with Tom Cruise, she appeared in front of Dominic in a dejected manner.

Dominic took her to the playground.

The place had been cleared in advance. There were only the two of them, and all the facilities were open to her alone.

Dominic led

By the hand to sit on the merry-go-round.

The man surrounded her from behind, his hot breath around her ears.

"Not going well with your work?"

"Mmm" Jane nodded truthfully.

Dominic smiled and said, "Tell me something."

Jane leaned his head on the wooden horse and looked at the Ferris wheel with his big bright eyes. He was silent for a moment and smiled bitterly.

Stayed up all night to make the interview outline, and waited for three consecutive nights on his set, I asked the industry seniors to recommend me... I used all the methods that could be used, but..."

My Husband la A.

Chapter 180

"Tom Cruise still refuses to see you?"

To be honest, Dominic was a little happy.

It was just that he felt sorry for Jane's efforts, which made his impression of Tom Cruise even worse.

"No." Jane lowered his head. "Did you know that yesterday I was guarding his house and almost got beaten up by those stalkers!"

"What?" Dominic frowned suddenly, "Are you injured?"

"No, I'm ran out fast."

He instantly became stern and commanded her: "Don't do this job, and you won't be allowed to do such a dangerous thing in the future!"

"You..." Jane looked at him for a while, then pouted pitifully, "What are you doing? You're so fierce...just as fierce as his assistant!"

Dominic raised his eyebrows, "Is his assistant fierce?"

"Yeah, she didn't even listen to me and hung up. If I call again, she'll just start scolding me!"

Dominic laughed.

The Campbell Corporation also had some shares in the entertainment company, but because Dominic was not interested in that circle, he never took care of it.

But if Jane needed it...

His eyes were dotting, and he gently pushed her hair behind her ear.

"How fierce is his assistant? Take me to see!"

In the afternoon, Jane brought Dominic to Tom Cruise's studio.

The assistant at the front desk did not recognize Dominic, but she recognized Jane at a glance.

Jane didn't mind. He chuckled and asked, "Is Actor Tom still free?"

"You're so interesting!" The assistant rolled her eyes one by one.

"Besides, with someone like Tom Cruise, are you worthy of interviewing him? Why don't you look in the mirror and see what you are!"

OM