Chapter 2

Jane's mind went blank.

She felt a hot chest pressing against her back, and she could hear a burning heartbeat. His masculine aura wrapped around her tightly. She took a deep breath, but her arms and legs were too still.

The man's hand suddenly stopped moving.

"Do you know who I am?"

Jane was stunned.

He meant that he was her husband, and they should have s*x on their wedding night.

However, Jane answered, "I do... You're Dan Murphy."

He narrowed his eyes, and the corners of his lips curled up slightly.

He didn't expect her to know his name.

Unfortunately, he was not Dan.

She wasn't Jane either.

In fact, from the moment she entered the door, he could tell that she was just a substitute. Although he did not know the reason, according to Miss Fallon's temper, she would never marry a farmer.

But it didn't matter. She wasn't the bride, but he wasn't the groom either. So they were even.

"Dan..."

He came to his senses and lowered his head to look into her beautiful watery eyes. Her shy and soft expression was like an invisible hand that suddenly grabbed an unknown place at the bottom of his heart.

"I'm sorry, I'm too nervous." She bit her lip and tentatively put her little hand around his neck. "You're my husband, so you can do anything to me... Then, let's get started."

Beads of sweat appeared on the tip of her delicate nose. She clumsily moved closer to him, but her entire body was shaking violently.

Dan's heart skipped a beat. Just as she was at a loss and wanted to kiss his lips, he suddenly grabbed her little hand and pushed her away.

Jane was stunned. Her face was still red, and her big eyes were full of confusion.

"Forget it." He looked at her. "You're tired today. Go to bed early."

"Dan, L."

"I think you need some time to get used to it. Before you get used to having a husband, I won't make things difficult for you."

As he spoke, he turned over.

Jane looked at his naked back in a daze. After a while, she heard the man snoring slightly.

She looked him up and down.

He looked very handsome when he was asleep. His profile was angular, and his sharp eyebrows were particularly masculine. His strong arms were resting under his head, and his muscles made her blush

Jane's heart skipped a beat, and she hurriedly turned her face away.

She was sleepy, and her mind was in a mess. She kept thinking about how her stepmother and Fiona used to mock her. They told her that the Murphy family had been friends with them for generations and that they had an engagement planned with them, but after the incident, the Murphy family had been hiding out in a small village. The poor son of the Murphy family was disappointing. It was said that he was often caught by the cops.

"How could I marry a hoodlum?" Fiona asked arrogantly. "You're a good match for him.

Anyway, your mother has dated countless men. Your brother and sister are all bastards!

"A ruffian is a perfect choice for you!"

"Jane, think about it carefully." Her father's attitude was also very cold. "As long as you are willing to marry Dan in place of Fiona, I will give you some money and you can use it to get treatment for your mother."

Her stepmother poked her head up and scolded, "It's already a great honor for you to get married as the second daughter of the Fallon family! Don't be ungrateful!"

Jane woke up and found that it was already dawn, and the man beside her was gone.
