Chapter 211

Jane raised her face, a little embarrassed: "I'm afraid it won't work next week...I'm going to work at Pursuit Media tomorrow."

"That soon?"

"Yes." She smiled.

Since the handover at the newspaper office, Deinic McLore called her three times to ask her to come to work as soon as possible.

Although she would like to take a few more days off, she still focuses on her career. After all, she really wants to be a successful woman like her aunt.

"This...it doesn't matter." Dominic thought for a while, "I'll go and tell my mother to her to give you a day off."

Jane frowned and immediately insisted. "That's not good!"

"There's nothing to worry." He chuckled and touched her little head, and spoke to her slowly in a low voice, "This banquet is very important, you must attend it."

Jane obviously didn't understand the meaning of "very important".

She didn't know that she was the behind-the-scenes boss of the western suburbs plot, but she thought that what Dominic said was important because Miranda Yeager would also participate, and he didn't want to appear in front of everyone with her.

Jane laughed, her two deep dimples filled with sweet happiness.

A few days later, the office of the president of Pursuit Media.

Deinie sat upright, with her arms folded on her chest, staring at the man in front of her with a forceful gaze.

A faint smile appeared on the man's sharp-edged, cold and handsome face.

Deinie just glanced at him then ignore him to continue to stare at the computer.

Dominic only bowed his head to two women in his life, one is his wife and the other is his mother.

“Mom, my request is not too much, why don’t you agree?”

“No way, no way!” Her mother’s tone was firm.

Dominic was surprised.

In the past, his mother often scolded and make her subordinates cry, yet now, is she bewitched?

“Jane,” Deinie asked again, “Do you want to go to the signing ceremony?”

Jane really wants to go.

Because she knew that Miranda would also participate. And once Miranda appear, she would definitely pester Dominic again!

She bit her lips, unable to open her mouth.

Unexpectedly. Deinic seemed to see through her mind, and looked at her as if looking at her adorable and cute baby daughter.

The baby girl wants to take a break from the busy schedule to relax, and more importantly, she is still shouldering the heavy responsibility of tearing bi tch with her hands. How can she not let her go?

“When is that ceremony?” she asked with a smile.

Jane was taken aback, “It’s... It will be on Thursday...”

“You don’t have anything to do on Thursday, you can go!”

Jane stared at her with wide eyes.

Deinie patted her little head lightly, smiling brightly.

“Go, go, have fun! Besides, Campbell’s signing ceremony is usually very grand, so it’s good for you to go and see the world!”

“Okay!” Jane laughed.

Dominic was a little dumbfounded.

Who said just now that she won’t even let her go, not even half an hour off?

Why did Jane just have to stand there and do nothing yet it was more effective than his full blown effort?

“Hey? I should have remembered to turn off the air conditioner. The wind is so strong.” Deinie looked at the ceiling and said to herself.

And Dominic stood under the air conditioner, his head disheveled by the cold wind.

“Take good care of Jane, do you hear me?” Deinle always used an orderly tone when facing him, “Don’t get so close to that Miranda!TM

Dominic knew that it was useless to refute, so he nodded, and looked up to see Jane’s crooked smiling eyes.

He laughed too.

Anyway, just accept that I am not my mother’s own child!

My Husband Is A Secret Billionaire By Wiuu Chapter 212

Chapter 212

The scale of the signing ceremony was small, but the people who came were those who had dealings with Dominic in the industry, and their identities were valuable.

The western suburbs project involves various interests, and this signing mainly involves several subcontracted construction companies and design companies.

And these contracts must have Jane’s signature to take effect.

Jane is in the lounge, and the chief designers of several international first-line makeup brands are doing her makeup. On the hangers pushed by the assistant, several sets of high end dresses are shining, like fairy dresses, all tailor-made for her, one of which is the only one.

The stylists were discussing what kind of clothes should go with this makeup, and at this moment, Jane waved her signature pen and solemnly wrote her name on some documents.

Dominic knocked on the door and came in. Seeing the serious look of the little girl, he couldn't help feeling sorry for her. He walked over to sit next to her, waved to a few stylists, and they all backed out.

It was just the two of them facing each other in the room.

"It's all signed." Jane handed him the contract.

"Alright," Dominic took it over and put it away, and looked at her gently, "Do you know what these are?"

"I know, I have read every clause, no problem!"

Dominic laughed.

In fact, he had read these contracts a long time ago and asked her to sign them after making sure they were safe.

But this careful little woman actually read it again.

Also read it so fast.

It seemed that she was far smarter than he had imagined.

"By the way, you can get some cheap ones. Maybe they haven't seen cheap ones, but they all regard them as treasures? It's like Dominic has never seen a woman like you, so he holds it in his hand. This is the reason why he is fascinated at you!"

Jane took a deep breath.

The room was very quiet, as if falling into a soundless space.

She raised her eyes and met Miranda's mocking gaze. Her big obsidian eyes were full of fearlessness and indifference.

"Miss Yeager has said so much, are you thirsty?" She chuckled.

Miranda frowned lightly.

"Well, Miss Yeager is right!" Jane took it easy, "But you don't have to worry about my dowry. Dominic has prepared everything for me."

Miranda's expression changed.

“Have you heard of ‘Golden Wind and Jade Dew? It’s a bracelet.” Jane smiled. “There is also ‘Golden Jade Love’, which is an emerald ring. It is said that it was given by the emperor when someone in his family’s ancestor became a noble concubine.”

“What?” Miranda opened her eyes wide.

“Why, you never heard of it?” Jane pretended to be suddenly enlightened, “Oh, that’s right! Before Dominic gave me these things, he kept them himself. How could you have seen them!”

Miranda looked at her, biting her back molars vigorously.

“But Miss Yeager, you are right, I really should improve myself... Heh, after all, the mistress of the Campbell family in the future should not be ignorant of everything!”

“You...” Miranda choked, “You’re too brazen, you’re calling yourself the wife!”

“That’s right!” Jane rolled her eyes, “Now all the cards on Dominic’s possession belong to me, and his money also belongs to me. If I’m not the wife, then are you?”

My Husband Is A Secret Billionaire By Wiuu Chapter 213

Chapter 213

Miranda froze in place, her lips quivered, but she couldn’t say a word.

Jane smiled and walked out of the lounge gracefully.

Originally, she didn’t want to fight for anything, but someone insisted on fighting with her, and she didn’t mind fighting the battle to the end.

Since she had already blatantly said that she was the hostess of the Campbell family, she had to act like a hostess at this moment.

She walked into the banquet hall gracefully, stood beside Dominic and gently took his arm, calmly and gracefully.

“Well, you chose the right dress.” Dominic chuckled, “Everyone is looking at you.”

“Is there anything wrong with what you chose for me?” She leaned against him in a docile manner.

Henry walked in with a few French merchants.

Dominic nodded slightly, smiled politely, and exchanged a few words of greeting. Just as he was about to introduce Jane to them, Miranda suddenly walked out from the side.

“Dominic!”

As soon as she appeared, she immediately attracted a lot of attention.

Some people present knew more or less the relationship between the Campbell and Yeager family. In their impression, the marriage between Dominic and Miranda was a certainty.

Unexpectedly, when Mr. Campbell came back, he brought back another woman.

The outside world has a lot of speculation about this woman, but none of them knew the relationship between the two and her origins. It is only today that they can take a look at it from a distance.

However, at this juncture, Miranda also came...

Everyone waited and watched with an attitude of watching a good show.

Miranda walked up to Dominic within a few steps, with a charming and enchanting appearance, and deliberately glanced at Jane who was beside him.

“Dominic, these French businessmen are invited by me! Also, I brought the translator.”

The wind at night was very cool, blowing away Jane's bad mood when she saw Miranda just now.

The both of them walked slowly, the moonlight spread their figures on the ground, her little head rested on his shoulder, enjoying this rare quiet moment.

"What are you thinking?" Dominic's voice was hoarse, and he smiled slightly as he looked at her.

Jane shook her head and laughed too. "After so many days, I finally have a free time to relax. I don't want to spend this precious time thinking about things!"

“Tired at my mother’s place?”

“It’s tiring, but I like it!”

She knew that the busier she was, the happier she is. If the work was not challenging, she would be listless.

He learned from Deinie that in addition to being her senior assistant, Jane also took care of being the manager of the stars, helping them receive notifications, arrange their schedules, and even be responsible for the training of new debut artists.

He also found out that the trainees newly signed by Pursuit Media are all fresh meat types...

Thinking of this, Dominic’s face slowly darkened.

The entertainment and media section of the McLore’s is popular in the UK with all the tough guy actors, but here, they are actually signing little fresh meats?

He really doesn’t know what his mother thinks!

“Dominic, what do you think?” Jane’s sweet voice suddenly came from next to his ear.

“Huh?” Dominic temporarily suppressed his complaints to his mother, and turned to look at her.

“I was talking to you, but you’re actually not listening?” Jane pouted.

“What did you say?”

“I said...” She smiled helplessly, “I want to meet Tom tomorrow!”

“What?” Dominic stared at her.

Ever since Tom was defeated by him last time, he almost forgot about him.

If Aaron hadn’t tried three hundred lipsticks, he wouldn’t have wanted to have any contact with this person.

Unexpectedly, when he was trying to find a way to sign Tom under Abby Entertainment Productions, Jane ran out to get him, and now, Tom became his competitor.

“Why are you staring at me like that?” Jane was dumbfounded by his expression.

“Jane, you....

He was halfway through the conversation, but he didn't know how to continue. Is the tone light or heavy? Should the attitude be tough or discuss with her?

When persuading her, how should he be tactful, how should he choose his words...

Dominic pursed his lips, his already stern face became more and more gloomy.

“Okay, I know what you want to say.” Jane smiled, stretched out her little hand to clasp his fingers lightly, and looked at him innocently.

“This is what your mother meant. No matter what, we must sign Tom Cruise to our company. No matter how harsh the conditions are, we must promise him.”

“Why?” Dominic suddenly raised his voice.

Jane was startled, and stared at him blankly.

Dominic coughed lightly, “I mean... there isn't only one actor in the entertainment industry, so why must he be the one?”

If possible, he would really like to drive Tom Cruise out of the showbiz industry!

“That's right, there are quite a few movie kings, but he's the only one with acting skills, topics, enthusiasm, and a huge fan base!”

Dominic really wanted to roll his eyes.

“The predecessor of Pursuit Media has always been tepid. Although it is backed by Campbell, it has not been operated.” Jane said softly, “Now Pursuit Media has just started, but it can’t compete with the entertainment companies of the same generation...”

“So, we really need a heavyweight to prop up the company’s reputation!”

Dominic remained silent.

Jane knew that he was angry like this, but she couldn’t bear it.

“Really?” Miranda gritted her teeth, “Then how was she doing during the exam?”

“This is the strange part!” Fiona looked at her, “This little b itch, who is usually not very good, gets excited when the exam comes, and can do everything!”

“You...”

Miranda almost exploded with anger.

No wonder Mr. Fallon, even her biological father looked down on her!

With this mind, the Fallon family may not last long if it falls into her hands!

“Miss Yeager,” Fiona finally came back to her senses, “Today... it didn’t work?”

Miranda let out a long breath, “Success? Huh,” she sneered, “What happened is, I just lose face in the public!”

She walked slowly to the sofa, sat on it tiredly, and put her feet up on the footstool.

She wanted to drink, but she was too lazy to take it by herself, so she asked Fiona to do it.

Fiona curled her lips, she can’t hold grudges in her heart, she still had to be friendly with her on the surface, after all, she had to use Miranda’s hand to get rid of Jane in the future!

“Miss Miranda, you... don’t be in a hurry!” Fiona failed to make a plan, so she tried another plan, “It’s very easy to punish that little b itch, Young Master Kevin Campbell still has a weakness in his hand!”

“What?”

“Dan Murphy!”

Miranda paused, this might be a good way..

But she was also worried that getting Dan Murphy would anger Dominic, and the whole Campbell family would not want to see her anymore.

“Let Dan Murphy destroy Jane, it should be alright.” Miranda smiled coldly.

She looked up and saw Fiona. She was standing in front of her tremblingly, she motioned for her to squat down.

“Where is Dan Murphy?”

“At my house.” Fiona smiled, “Second Master and Eldest Young Master ordered Dan Murphy to find a safe place, so that he can use him in the future!”

“Yeah.” Miranda sneered, “Isn’t he going to come in handy so soon?”

My Husband Is A Secret Billionaire By Wiuu Chapter 215

Chapter 215

Fiona was taken aback for a moment, secretly delighted.

During this period of time, Dan has been staying at Fallon’s house, eating too much and being lazy, with bad habits all over his body, his father has long been disgusted with him.

However, because he was arranged by Kevin, it was difficult to drive him away.

She turned a blind eye to his usual sneaky behavior.

Looking at what Miranda meant now, she wanted to release Dan again... At that time, he would not only send away the God of Plague, but also punish Jane on the way!

Fiona smiled, and beat her legs more attentively.

“Miss Yeager, in fact, you can really think about what I said last time!”

“What?” Miranda picked up the soda water in front of her and cast a casual glance at her.

“That’s... just to spread the word about the little bit ch’s marriage to Dan Murphy!”

Miranda narrowed her eyes and thought about it.

When she met Kevin last time, he seemed to mention a few words, but he didn't say the whole thing.

The main thing is to get Dan to stand up and make a fuss. Everyone knows that he should be Jane's husband, but Dominic married her and became his wife....

It doesn't matter if the marriage certificate is real or not, netizens won't check it out, they just want to eat melons.

They will just want to talk about this kind of thing of a wealthy family, they just want to see how President Campbell, who was born with a golden spoon in his mouth, hooked up with a married woman...

When things get serious, Jane's reputation will definitely be ruined, and she can't explain clearly even if she had a hundred mouths to talk.

And Dominic will also be affected and fall into that matter

"This task of slapping is entrusted to you!"

There was a buzzing in Fiona's ears, and her eyes widened instantly.

In fact, when she came up with this idea just now, she had a bit of revenge mentality. Who asked the bloody slut to slap her as soon as she walked in?

Half of her face is still in hot pain!

However, unexpectedly, Miranda was quite shrewd and refused to accept the suggestion of slapping herself!

"Miss Yeager!" Fiona tried her best to explain, "You have to do it yourself... I, huh, what can I do? Jane has nothing to do against me. I'm not the one who has a grudge against Jane!"

"You have nothing against Jane?" Miranda stared at her with all-seeing eyes, "If there is nothing, and you have no enmity against her, why are you calling her all names all the time, but not me?"

"This..."

"Fiona, anyway, what we want is the final result!" Miranda smiled and patted her on the shoulder, "I think your method is very good, as long as the goal is achieved, no one cares about the process!"

"Let everyone misunderstand that Jane is a wolf-hearted dog, and even beat her own sister. Doesn't it prove that she is an unreasonable and hateful person?"

Fiona's face turned pale, and she clenched her fists tightly.

"Don't worry, just hit hard!" Miranda was even more proud, "I will bring everyone over to watch! By the way, then you have to pretend to be weak and miserable. You should hit yourself harder so everyone can see! Got it?"

Fiona was so angry that she couldn't speak.

She didn't dare not listen to Miranda's words, let alone refute them. On the day of the birthday party, she could only do what Miranda said.

But she was being used as a gunman for nothing, and she couldn't swallow this thing for a long time!

She really dug a hole and buried herself!

"Fiona, work hard." Miranda looked at her coldly and said with a smile, "I will continue to invest more in your studio, Also, don't you want to be the young mistress of the Campbell family?"

"I'll help you talk more to Kevin."

"As long as you help me do things well." Miranda's eyes were cold, and she gritted her teeth, "I will definitely not treat you badly!"

My Husband Is A Secret Billionaire.

It was Jane's turn to take a vacation today.

But even on days off, she's always on the go. Project reports and proposals flew into her mailbox like snowflakes. Since early in the morning, her mobile phone and computer have never been idle.

Aunt warmed up her breakfast for the third time and brought it up.

eat quickly!" Aunt Cen was anxious, "It's already nine o'clock, if you eat a little more longer, might as well just have lunch!"

Jane stared at the screen, and said: "Well.. I know, you put it here first, there are still a few words to be changed in this contract..."

"That's what you said the last time I served it!"

Aunt Cen insisted, stood in front of her, and handed her the eight treasure porridge.

“This time, the young master personally told me, I must watch you drink it!”

“Huh?” Jane reacted after a while before turning her eyes away from the computer screen, “Dominic... is he at home?”

“Not here!” Aunt Cen laughed, “Miss, I told you earlier that he left because he has something urgent to deal with in the company today!”

“Oh, I forgot...”

“You didn’t forget, you were too busy to hear me at all!”

Jane smiled embarrassedly. Sometimes when she got busy, her ears were indeed shielded.

She took the eight-treasure porridge from Aunt Cen. It was just hot and sweet, with the fragrance of red dates and grains.

She was really hungry, so she started to eat.

Aunt Cen handed her an egg pancake again, but she wiped it all out in a few strokes.

Aunt Cen kept looking at her and smiled, “You have a good appetite... Could it be good news?”

Jane choked on these words and coughed violently.

“Aunt Cen, what are you thinking!” She couldn’t laugh or cry, “My aunt just left, there will be no such kind of thing anytime soon!”

Chapter 216

Eric nodded slightly, although he smiled, but the smile didn't reach his eyes.

Aunt Cen frowned, feeling unspeakably awkward.

The Koller family has worked for the Campbell family for generations, and she had met several members of the Koller family because of Uncle Cen's relationship.

But it was the first time she saw a pale and cold young man like Eric.

Aunt Cen already had a bad feeling in her heart, but this was the boss' business, she couldn't intervene, so she smiled bitterly and turned to the kitchen to prepare lunch.

Jane dragged Linda upstairs.

Said it was to visit the room, but actually found a quiet place to talk to her, Jane asked her in a low voice, "Why did you bring Eric with you?"

"Eric is not an outsider!"

"Linda..."

"Okay, okay! Let's stop talking about this, okay?" Linda interrupted her, smiling like a star, "Sis, show me your room! By the way, my brother said that he has reserved a guest room for me, is it all furnished? Where is it?"

Jane shook her head, a little helpless.

She walked through several rooms holding Linda's hand, when she heard Aunt Cen's voice downstairs.

"Hey, what are you doing?"

Jane's heart skipped a beat, and like an instinctive reaction, she quickly leaned out of the stair railing and looked down.

She saw Eric holding up his mobile phone to take pictures around, and hearing Aunt Cen's words, still didn't change his face, and smiled slightly:

"I just took a photo here and saw some beautiful paintings."

"Miss Fallon," he looked up, "do you mind if I take pictures at your house?"

My Husband Is A Secret Billionaire By Wiuu Chapter 217

Jane was stunned.

She never thought that Erie would make such a request.

But she didn't know how to answer him, after all, to Linda, this man is her whole world.

She couldn't bear to let Linda lose face.

"Mr. Koller." Jane paused, and chuckled, "I don't know which paintings you like? I might as well give them to you. You can take them back and enjoy them slowly, so you don't have to take pictures everywhere in other people's homes, right?"

A haze flashed across Eric's eyes.

The corners of his lips curled up slightly, with a slightly complicated expression on his face, he looked Jane up and down.

The few words she said just now seemed to be friendly and polite, but her tone focused on the words "other people's home". As long as he has a little brain, he can understand what it means.

Eric raised his eyes and met her eyes.

This woman was not as weak as he had imagined, her big ink-like eyes revealed firmness and majesty, and her aura was exactly the same as that of Dominic Campbell.

He thought for a while, put away his phone, and smiled, "No need, thank you Miss Fallon. These paintings should be liked by the young master. I'm a servant, so I'm not qualified to take things from the master's house."

"Eric..." Linda walked to his side and gently held his hand.

Jane could tell that Linda's heart was on him now.

She couldn't help worrying.

Girls in love are usually see people they love in rose tinted glasses.

"Oh, Mr. Koller, you are too serious." Jane said softly. "In fact, Linda is a very enlightened person. Besides, what age is it now, the Campbell family and your family have an employee and employer relationship. You do the work, and the Campbell pays, that's all. How can there be words such as servant and masters! We're not in a feudal society"

"I just said that our family is lucky to meet an employer like the Campbell family!" Eric smiled, then looked at Linda and gently straightened the messy bangs on her forehead.

The girl's face showed a bit of shyness, the corners of her mouth were slightly raised, and her eyes were full of happiness.

But Jane still had a knot in her heart.

The atmosphere froze suddenly, and it was extremely quiet.

With her heart pounding, Jane exchanged glances with Aunt Cen. She could see that Evie was angry. but he still tried his best to suppress his anger and adjusted a fairly natural expression,

“Oh. I’m so sorry!” Aunt Cen continued, “Look at me, old woman. I’m useless! I can’t even hold your phone steady, like this...”

“It’s okay, Aunt Cen. Linda tried to smooth things over, “Armally, Erie’s phone is really not very easy to use. I’m planning to buy him a new one...”

“No need!” Eric suddenly spat out these three words with a cold face. His face doesn’t look that good.

Jane was startled, but saw Linda looking at him with an aggrieved face, those big eyes which were normally shining with stars blinking were full of horror.

Eric looked at the discarded mobile phone and stood up expressionlessly.

“I suddenly remembered that there are still work to be done that I have neglected, and I have to go back now.” He said in a deep voice, “I won’t eat this meal, and try Aunt Cen’s cooking next time.”

“Eric.” Aunt Cen said with an apologetic smile. “Are you blaming me? How about this, how much is your mobile phone. I will pay you...”

Eric didn’t wait for her to finish speaking, he took out the phone from the hot soup and rushed out the door, no longer looking back.

Linda said goodbye to Jane in a panic, and hurriedly ran out after him.

It wasn’t until they both left that Jane heaved a sigh of relief. After being silent for a while, she looked at the pot of soup and said softly to Aunt Cen, “Clean this up.”

“Alright.”

After a while, Aunt Cen asked her in a low voice, “Miss Fallon, what I did just now... was it too much?”

“No, you did a good job.” Jane’s voice was very soft, “Actually, I was also thinking about how to get Eric’s phone and let him delete those photos. But there is no valid reason.”

“Yeah.” Aunt Cen nodded, “Miss Fallon, your concerns are right. No matter what, you can’t take pictures at other people’s homes the first time you visit, it’s against the rules!”

“Precaution is better,” Jane sighed, “I hope I’m thinking too much.”

“Miss Fallon, what else are you thinking about?”

Jane looked up at her, hesitated for a while before asking: “I don’t know if you can see it... Anyway, I think Linda’s way of getting along with this Eric is very strange.”

“I feel... Jane expressed her doubts, “Linda is very afraid of him!”

Linda was alone, wandering aimlessly in the street.

Walking to the bustling market, there are many couples in pairs.

The whole world is sweet and sweet, but she is the only person looking dejected.

As she walked, she came to DI., and suddenly wanted to go shopping. She couldn't remember the last time she entered DI..

Because Eric said she was spending too much money, she put away all her bank cards. Not only did she not buy new clothes, but she also didn't even wear the old clothes. Instead, she followed Eric to some cheap hypermarkets and bought a bunch of them for tens of dollars so she could save money and fit the mold Eric had put her in.

When she walked around the school, no one could even tell that she was the daughter of the Campbell family. Even classmates from ordinary families dressed better than her.

Today was going to her sister-in-law so Eric specially “allowed” her to dress better.

Linda was sore for a while, and the circles of her eyes were red again.

She wiped her tears and strode into DI.. Usually when she walks in, those luxury store managers will rush to serve her.

And at this moment, maybe they didn't recognize her....

Linda lowered her head, and accidentally saw her bare face in the mirror,

She froze, thinking of her former self who loved beauty and makeup. At that time, she was radiant, blooming proudly like a bright flower.

However, Eric said to her, "I don't like you being seen by others with makeup on. Your heart can only be with me, I want you to belong to me alone!"

"Linda, I am the only one who loves you in this world. You can't live without me!"

"What else do you have besides being the daughter of the Campbell family? You are ignorant and incapable of doing anything. If I were you, I would have died a long time ago!"

"Linda, look into my eyes... You can only cling to me in this world!"

"Ah-" Linda suddenly felt a splitting headache, and a huge sense of fear hit her like a raging sea wave.

She hugged her head tightly and ran out staggering all the way. Suddenly, her foot slipped and she stepped on the air, and she fell heavily down the spiral staircase...

When Jane rushed to the hospital, he saw Dominic and Sarah waiting at the door of the emergency room.

"How's the situation?" she asked worriedly.

Dominic pulled her aside and said in a low voice: "I'm not very clear about the specific situation. I received a call from the manager of DI. Building, saying that Linda fainted in their shopping mall and rolled down the stairs."

Jane's heart was broken.

"How did she end up going to the mall?" she asked.

Dominic was startled, and didn't think too much about it, "Isn't it normal for a little girl to go shopping in shopping malls? Besides, Linda is a customer of DI.'s black gold card, so she often goes there."

"I mean..." Jane hesitated to speak, frowning slightly.

She wasn't quite sure if Eric had anything to do with Linda's fainting, but it did happen after they went out of her place.

"Jane, what's wrong?"

"I have something to tell you." Jane pursed her lips, her eyes complicated, "Let's find a place where there are no people, and don't let Aunt Sarah to hear it..."

However, before the words were finished, Sarah hurried over, shouting as she ran, "Wake up! Dominic, your sister..."

"Jane, you're here too?"

"Yeah." Jane nodded slightly.

"Aunt Sarah, is Linda okay?"

"She's okay." Sarah's eyes were red, "She fell and hit her head, and got three stitches."

Jane bit her lips tightly, feeling sad for a while.

"Can I go in and see her now?"

"Not yet, the doctor said we have to wait for a while." Sarah shook her head, showing a forced smile, "This child doesn't have long eyes when walking. I didn't say much about her. Look, she really fell a big somersault today! It doesn't matter if she falls, let her have a better memory!"

“Third Young Master,” he walked up to Dominic, bowed, and looked humble, “Please let me go in and take care of Miss Linda, please?”

“No need.” Dominic coldly rebuffed, “Eric, three generations of your Koller family have worked as long term workers in the Campbell family, and you have always been loyal and ab ide by your duty.” “I hope you can continue to maintain this advantage.” His voice was low and his expression was dignified. “After all, the Campbell family have not treated you badly, right?”

“What the third young master said is true.” Eric said with a trembling voice, “but I... I am really worried about Miss. I have a temporary job today, so I didn't accompany her, and she fell down unexpectedly. It's all my fault, my fault!"

Dominic remained expressionless and unmoved.

Linda and this person are so different, it is impossible to be together, he should have given up on this person long ago.

But Jane was sensitively aware that this person seemed to have two faces.

Maybe not just two pictures, but many faces... In front of Dominic, he is a long-term worker who sticks to his duty, but in the house earlier, he plays a passionate young man who is willing to be wronged for love.

But in front of Linda, what would he look like?

Jane didn't dare to think.

When she accidentally met Eric's gaze, she subconsciously took two steps back.

Eric seemed to have noticed something, and gently held Jane's little hand. The warmth of his palm reassured her.

"Third Young Master, Miss Fallen..." Eric was still pleading. "I just want to see her, even if I take a look outside!"

"You go back first." Jane said softly, "The doctor said that Linda needs to rest now, even we have to stand outside."

"But..."

"Don't you understand? Dominic's voice became heavier, and Eric had no choice but to give in because of his aura of authority without anger.

"Okay." He nodded, "If Miss Linda wakes up, please tell me!"

After speaking, he turned around and strode away.

Jane looked at his back with doubts in her big eyes.

"What did you see?" Dominic asked her in a low voice, "Just now I thought something was wrong with you."

“Dominic,” Jane took a deep breath, “If I was injured and you wanted to see me but were blocked, what would you do?”

Dominic was stunned for a moment.

“I will stay here no matter what.” He replied without any hesitation.

Jane smiled.

She had expected this answer a long time ago.

So this is the expression of a person’s deep love for another person. If Dominic had been injured, she would have stayed outside the ward desperately.

But after Eric’s affectionate confession, he strode away.

It seemed that everything just now was just a play.

Dominic's heart tightened, and the moment he looked at Jaur, he understood something.

"I knew that Eric was unreliable!" He said angrily. "If Linda goes so deep, he will suffer a lot in the future!"

"Don't worry." Jane softly comforted. "It seems that Aunt Sarah still doesn't know the relationship between the two of them?"

"Even if Aunt Sarah found out, she wouldn't ask too much." Dominic said with a sullen face, "She has always advocated free love, and she hates her child being treated as a victim of family interests."

"But the gap between Eric and Linda is too big, they can't have any results."

"Dominic," Jane bit her lips, "What I'm most worried about is... Eric is not sincere about Linda at all, but wants to use her."

Dominic nodded.

"I also hope that I'm overthinking it," Jane said, "but I'm not afraid of 10,000, just in case! In order to avoid losses, we'd better be careful."

Dominic thought about what happened before.

Since Dan Murphy escaped, he investigated the surveillance video at various intersections, and the black car without a license plate seemed to have disappeared in the end.

He once suspected that the blurry driver on the surveillance camera was wearing a black peaked cap, showing half of his face, pale and thin, if Eric's part above his nose was blocked, it would match that half of his face very well.

But he didn't dare to make a conclusion easily, and later sent people to investigate, but there was no

“Don't think of such thoughts,” Jane pulled her shoulders. “You are an excellent girl, even if you were not born in Campbell's family, your brilliance cannot be concealed.”

“Linda,” Jane said anxiously. “You are very strange, is it because of Eric...

“It's not because of him!” Linda reacted strongly. “It has nothing to do with him, it's my own fault!”*

“Linda...”

“You go out, I don’t want to hear anything!”

Linda tightly covered her ears, feeling agitated.

Jane was stunned to the side, she was no stranger to this kind of situation...

When her mother was sick, she was also emotional and resisted everything.

Jane’s heart seemed to be grabbed by an invisible hand.

She wanted to comfort her, but she understood that people need quiet more at this time.

She gathered herself together, and said softly to Linda before she walked out of the ward, “Linda, don’t put too much pressure on yourself...you have to remember that no matter what happens, your family will always be your strongest backing.”

Linda sat on the bed, still maintaining the posture of covering her ears tightly.

Jane sighed and walked out.

On the way she was worried.

It is now confirmed that Eric is not a kind person, but it may take time for Linda to separate from him.

She wanted to make a call to Huo Dominic but just as she took out her phone, she saw an unread message.

There is neither a number nor a name displayed on the message, and there are only a few words. when it is opened:

“Still remember me?”

Jane was taken aback, this kind of incomprehensible message might have been sent by mistake.
