

My Husband Is A Secret Billionaire By Wiuu

Chapter 22

Chapter 22

Kate couldn't bear to see Jane being bullied by Ava in the company, so she took her out to do business and introduced all her clients to her.

She also taught her a lot of skills.

"You have to remember that business is not done at one time. You may need to negotiate ten or eight times for an order. It's normal."

Jane nodded slightly.

"You have to maintain a good relationship with the client. You are more likely to get the orders only when you are familiar with them."

"Yes, I understand."

"Of course, the most important thing is," Kate said with a smile, 'you must be shameless about sales! Lay down your pride first, and then you can fill your stomach! Do you understand?"

Jane's beautiful big eyes were smiling like crescent moons. At this time, their order numbers were displayed on the screen in front of her, and she hurried to the front desk to get them.

The lunch was simple fast food. Kate found that Jane took some cheapest vegetables only. She couldn't help asking. "Do you eat only this?"

"Yea, it's okay." Jane said with a smile. "I don't eat much anyway."

"No way! Negotiating with clients requires a lot of energy. Look at your small body, this-" Halfway through her sentence, Kate came to her senses. "Did your husband ask you for money?"

When Jane was about to explain. Dan sent her a message.

After reading it, she was silent. When she didn't look well, Kate took the phone and almost angrily jumped up.

"What the hell?" Kate was angry. "He went shopping and wants to buy a belt that cost 500 dollars?"

"Kate, keep your voice down!" Jane hurriedly pulled her back.

Speaking of this, Dan had indeed become weird recently. He had been spending money.

One day he called Jane while she was at work and said, "I'm having afternoon tea."

Jane asked where he was.

He sent a photo, and it turned out he was at the Crowne Hotel again.

Jane almost fainted. After a while, she received a text message from the bank.

She felt pain looking at the bill.

But since she had to maintain her image as a "rich lady," she could only force a smile and let him enjoy the afternoon tea...

There were still many similar happening, and the balance on her card was decreasing.

However, he would look at her with a faint smile whenever she asked Dan. "Tiona, aren't you the daughter of the Fallon family? Is that a lot of money for you?"

She hit her lip and stared at him. Ultimately, she could only turn around and return to her room to continue writing the sales plan like a deflated balloon.

Chapter 22

She didn't see how happily the man behind her was laughing.

Just like a boy who had succeeded in his prank, there was only one step left in the game.

Jane checked her phone. She had only 500 dollars in her bank account.

If Dan was in front of her now, she really wanted to kill him. Did he have a calculator in his head as well?

"Hey!" Kate hurriedly held her hand. "Are you going to give him the money?"

Jane paused for a moment and smiled foolishly. "It's rare for him to take a fancy to something, so just let him buy it. Anyway, I still have a few hundred dollars in cash on me. If we don't buy anything these days, making ends meet shouldn't be a problem."

"Are you stupid?" Kate shouted, "What's so good about him? Why do you spoil him so much?"

"I'm not spoiling him. It's..." Jane stopped talking and lowered her head slightly.

She didn't spoil him but felt sorry for him somehow.

He thought of how Dan used to live alone in poverty. She thought of how he had been in prison many times. She thought of how the gangsters in the village had mocked and ridiculed him....

Her heart softened.

She didn't know where this feeling came from. Had she really fallen in love with him?
