

My Husband Is A Secret Billionaire By Wiuu

Chapter 23

Chapter 23

"Kate, you know." Jane smiled gently. "He is nice to me..."

"Okay?" Kate raised her eyebrows, not believing it.

On the second day of their marriage, Jane was humiliated at the wedding dress store. Dan bought the most expensive wedding dress to avenge her and asked the shop assistant to kneel down and take her measurements. Kate had heard about this story.

At that time, she felt that this man was unreliable. He was vain and easily angered.

Most importantly, he was spending Jane's money for fun.

"Jane, if you think he's being nice to you by helping you stand out in the wedding dress shop and giving you all his ancestral treasures, then you're too innocent and naive about marriage.

"To preserve your marriage, both of you should work hard. But now, you are working so hard, but he is indulging himself."

Kate poked her head angrily.

Jane was a good girl but too kind.

If others treated her a little well, she would remember it for the rest of her life and try her best to repay them.

She had no way to deal with Dan, who had even been imprisoned.

"He doesn't work, and he uses your money. Is he a man?" Kate added.

Jane's little face instantly darkened. She looked at Kate seriously and said, "Don't say that about my husband."

Kate was stunned for a long time without saying anything.

"Yes, I'm just protecting him. I'm just spoiling him!" Jane's small mouth showed no mercy.

"He's my husband. Shouldn't I protect him? Shouldn't I spoil him? I know he has many problems which are fatal in your eyes.

"But I'm the one who lives with him. I know best what kind of person he is!

"Even if he used to fight and go to jail, I just feel that he is not a bad person at all! He is very upright! Besides, I lied to him in this marriage. He still doesn't know my identity. If I hadn't married him, the Fallon family wouldn't have been willing to pay for my mother's treatment.

Speaking of which, I have to thank him!

"So..." Jane swallowed and blushed slightly. "Don't say anything bad about my husband in front of me. I don't like it!"

Kate's eyes widened as she glared at her.

After knowing each other for many years, she had always thought Jane was demure. She didn't expect that she was so eloquent. Her stubborn look was cute.

Kate came to her senses, laughed at herself, sighed, and raised her hands to surrender.

"Okay, okay, I won't dare to blame your husband in front of you anymore! Alas, after all, you two are husband and wife. How can I..."

However, when Jane heard this, her face turned even redder.

Chapter 33

Kate misunderstood. She looked at Jane with a smirk. "Speaking of sleeping in the same bed... Did your husband conquer you? Otherwise, why would you protect him and spend so much money on him?"

"Kate, you..." Jane was ashamed and embarrassed. "What are you talking about?"

"Well, don't be shy." Kate smiled even more happily. "It doesn't matter. From another perspective, it's worth it to raise a toy boy who is