

My Husband Is A Secret Billionaire By Wiuu

Chapter 26

Chapter 26

Hector's heart was stuck in his throat.

Even through the phone, he could feel Dan's anger.

"Did I ruin his plan?" he wondered.

Hector looked at his watch and slapped his head. Damn it! If he had been interrupted while having fun, he would have torn that person into pieces!

"Dominic..." He explained with a flattering smile. "If it weren't for the emergency, I wouldn't have called you now. I thought you didn't go to bed so early..."

"Say what you want to say!"

Mike growled angrily, turned around, walked to the balcony, and closed the door behind him.

"I'm afraid you'll have to make a trip back to Central City." Hector lowered his voice. "Now that the news that you're still alive has spread, your father is very excited. And your uncles and aunts, they're all..."

"Okay, I got it." Dan frowned. "I'll contact them privately, but I can't return to Central City for now."

Hector was confused and could only reply with an "Oh."

"By the way, I've checked the client your wife met today. Ava couldn't get his order after pestering him for three months! Ha... I've used a little trick and helped your wife get the order. There's a lot of commission. She can get 15,000 dollars..."

Dan held back his anger and hung up before Hector could finish his sentence.

Hector was confused again. He poured a glass of wine for Tristan next to him and asked in horror, "What did I say wrong again?"

Tristan almost fainted from laughter.

"You ruined his plan. How could he be nice to you?"

Hector was full of regret and kept slapping him.

"Also, Jane has signed the order. Why did you talk so much?"

"This..." Hector widened his eyes. "Did I speak too much again?"

Tristan rolled his eyes at him and said, "Ava has been with the client for three months, but now a newcomer has taken her down. What do you think people will say about Jane?"

Hector was speechless.

"Besides, I've read Jane's sales plan." Tristan sighed softly. "It's flawless. Even if you don't say anything, Mr. Shaw will sign this order!"

"So it's not your credit, understand?"

Hector's face distorted. He wanted to cry but had no tears.

"Think more in the future!" Tristan patted him on the shoulder. "Alas, I really should have studied medicine back then to treat your brain!"

08.20

Chapter 24

Dan leaned against the balcony railing, and his deep eyes seemed to merge with the night without any ups and downs in his emotions.

The evening wind blew with a trace of coolness, and he sobered up a lot. After a while, he turned back to the room, Jane was no longer in the bedroom. He looked around and heard a slight sound from the washing machine in the bathroom.

Jane also saw him. She smiled.

She was a little shy. She lowered her head, separated the washing clothes one by one, and said softly, "Go to sleep. I'll wash the clothes

Dan sighed softly and walled internally.

It was painful to be interrupted suddenly.

Now, he had to hold it back.

It was as if tens of millions of bugs were slowly corroding his body, itchy and empty.

But he couldn't act like a lecher in front of her. He couldn't force her to sleep with him again.

So he forced a smile, returned to the living room, and threw himself on the sofa like a heavy hammer.

The news that Jane had signed the order quickly spread throughout the company, and even some seniors in the sales department looked at her differently.

She had taken no orders in the past two months, but signing a big order at once shocked her colleagues.

At the weekly meeting of the sales department, the director praised her and said that she had great potential and gave her a bonus to encourage her,

Jane silently observed everyone's gazes.

Some congratulations came from the bottom of their hearts, while some applause was hypocritical.

Some showed their jealousy, like Ava openly.

However, Jane didn't care about that. She only cared about the number on her bank card,

"Ha, she's good at acting!" When she passed by the pantry, she heard someone talking inside. "When the director praises her, she looks calm as if she is very experienced.

"Maybe she is!" Another shrill voice laughed, "The purer she pretends to be, the more interesting she becomes!

"What have you heard?"

"Shh... The person lowered her voice. I heard that someone helped Jane get this order!"

"Who is it? Is it Mr. Frank? I heard that he had chased after Jane in college, but Jane rejected him."

"It shouldn't be him. If there is such a good thing, why did he give it to Jane instead of his girlfriend? Besides, Ava hasn't signed the order for three months. Adam wouldn't be able to sign it either!"

"You mean... there's a bigger shot above Jane?"

They whispered in each other's ears and then burst into laughter.

Jane felt bored and turned to leave. He didn't expect to meet Ava's murderous eyes when she turned around.

She was shocked. Her heart was beating fast, but she still looked calm.

"How are you, Ms. Zeller?"

Ava crossed her arms in front of her chest and looked at her with a sneer. "Ha, how can I be good with you around me all day long?"

Chapter 27

Jane pursed her lips and had no intention of arguing with her.

Ava suddenly stepped in front of her just as he was about to walk around her.

"Don't think I don't know what you've done behind my back!" Ava said arrogantly, "Jane, you know how you got this order!"

Jane turned to stare at her, her big bright eyes shining angrily.

She usually had a gentle smile on her face and treated people kindly. It was rare for her to have such a cold and severe expression.

But at this time, Jane seemed to have changed into another person, and Ava couldn't help but take two steps back

"How did I get it?" She said word by word. "I got it with my own ability! I stayed up all night for a week and modified the sales plan countless times. Mr. Shaw was delighted, so he signed it! You have been working for three months but failed. It's your problem. Instead of finding the reason for yourself, do you blame others for working harder than you?"

bed,
"You're working hard?" Ava glared at her even harder. "You're working hard to get into a man's right? Do you think you can do whatever you want just because the director supports you?"

"Ava, don't denigrate me! What does this have to do with the director? Before signing this order, I didn't say much to him!"

"Who knows if you did? Humph, you didn't say it in the company. I'm afraid you've communicated with him in private countless times!"

"You..."

Jane was so furious that her face turned red. Their quarrel attracted a lot of attention.

Some peacemakers wanted to separate them, but Ava didn't give in. Jane didn't want to be humiliated, so she insisted on going to the director to confront her.

While they were in a standoff, Adam rushed over.

"What are you two doing!" Adam scolded them harshly. "If you want to fight, just squabble on the street. Since you're in the company, get back to work!"

Ava glared at him and turned to leave.

Jane stood where he was, with her lips tightly pursed and her cheeks slightly red. Adam asked the crowd to disperse and pulled Jane aside.

"Don't take it personally" His voice softened. "She has a bad temper. You did better than her, and she must be mad,"

"But she shouldn't insult others at will."

"Yes, yes, it's all her fault!" Adam narrowed his eyes and showed a sinister smile. "Jane, I apologize to you on her behalf."

He raised his hand and patted her on the shoulder as he spoke. Jane came to her senses and quickly dodged.

Chapter 77

Looking up at Adam's eyes, she couldn't help but feel a chill down her spine.

"There's no need..." She said in a low voice, "I know she was unhappy because she lost the order. I won't take it to heart. But please tell her that if she dares to insult me like this again, I won't let her go!"

"Of course!"

Adam rolled his triangular eyes and fixed his eyes on Jane.

Usually, she looked quiet, soft, and easily bullied, but when she argued with Ava just now, she resembled a thorny rose.

This impact made Adam feel fresh, and his heart itched even more.

"It's almost noon." He smiled. "Jane, I'll treat you to lunch as an apology. Don't refuse!"

"No need." Jane looked at him indifferently. "I brought food. I don't want to go out to eat."

"The leftovers from the night before yesterday?" Adam curled his lips and deliberately lowered his voice. "Jane, you're such a beautiful girl. You shouldn't eat leftovers..."

"I only eat my own food," Jane looked straight at him. "Mr. Frank, if there's nothing else, I'll go and do my work first. You should go back to the office early so that Ava won't make any trouble if she sees us talking alone."

"Jane, why are you so reluctant to talk to me?"

Adam insisted on pestering Jane. Seeing that being soft didn't work, he came up with another idea. He chuckled and said to her, "In fact, it's not that I'm treating you alone at noon, but that I have a client!"

Jane stopped with hesitation.

"It's a foreigner. I checked and found the language in college."

Jane's eyes moved slightly.

you were the only one in our company who minored in his

"Originally, this client was supposed to visit tomorrow, but he changed the flight at the last minute. The interpreter I made an appointment with has no schedule today, so... Jane, can you do me a favor?"

Jane wanted to refuse, but the company's foreign customers were limited. What Adam took a fancy to had to be high-quality resources.

If she didn't go this time, they might lose a client.

Moreover, Adam was a narrow-minded person. If she didn't go, she would disobey his orders. Maybe he would make things difficult for her in the future.

Anyway, they were going to a restaurant. Adam probably wouldn't dare to do anything in public.

"Jann." Adam saw that she was wavering, so he added in time, "If this deal can be reached, the commission will not be reduced. What do you think?"

Chapter 28

Jane pursed his lips and nodded in agreement. Not long after, she followed Adam to the Favon Hotel near the company.

As expected, two foreigners were waiting there..

Jane greeted them fluently and tried her best to translate. The clients praised her ability very much. After the meal, the two of them already intended to cooperate.

Jane smiled in relief. She raised her glass and wished they would have a pleasant cooperation.

Hector, who happened to pass by, saw this scene.

Hector stopped and was stunned. At this moment, he looked at Jane seriously.

He had thought he had seen beautiful women's cars before, but her heart melted when he saw Jane's smile just now.

He understood why Dan refused to go back to Central City now...

Hector smiled and took out his mobile phone to call Dan.

"Dominic, I saw your wife in the Favon Hotel."

Dan remained silent as usual.

"It turns out that she knows French. She's really humble... These two foreigners are quite polite, but the man sitting next to her looks really obscene. His hand has been on the back of her chair, tsk tsk..."

'Address.

"Yes?"

The voice on the other end of the line suddenly turned cold. "I don't want to repeat myself!"

Hector came to his senses, immediately sent a location to Dan, and breathed a sigh of relief.

Jane sent the two foreign businessmen to the door of the hotel and politely waved goodbye. Adam suddenly grabbed her wrist when she was about to turn around to get his bag.

"Didn't you have enough?" Adam was a little drunk, and his eyes became increasingly ambiguous. "Come on, let's go back and eat some more..."

"No need."

Jane tried to get rid of him, but Adam held her tighter. His shifty eyes were fixed on her, especially on her collar.

"Jane, do you never know how beautiful you are?"

"Mr. Frank, you're drunk!"

Jane struggled and panicked. She put one of her hands in her pocket.

"I'm not drunk!" Adam suddenly held her in his arms and gasped. "Jane, I've never forgotten you.. You're much better than that bitch, Ava! If it weren't for her uncle being a shareholder, I wouldn't have talked to her..."

*Jane, as long as you're willing to be my girlfriend, I can give you anything! I can introduce more clients to you and get you more orders... If you make me happy, I'll give you whatever you want, including the stars!"

"Ah!" Adam screamed before he could finish his words.

Jane was stunned, and then she was blocked by a tall figure. With a few dull thuds, Adam was thrown out like a dog, falling to the ground and shouting in pain.

"Now, can you see the stars?"

The cold and deep voice made Jane's tense nerves suddenly relax.

She threw herself into the familiar warm embrace and wrapped her arms tightly around his waist. Her face was pressed against his chest, and his strong heartbeat gave her an infinite sense of security.

She suddenly felt like crying

"Did he see it just now? Did he think that I cheated on him?" she thought.

"Dan, I..."

"It's okay." He gently stroked her back. 'I'm here.'

Ow Chapter 29

Dan's eyes were firm, and he smiled gently at Jane..

Then he turned to look at Adam with a fierce and murderous expression, and his eyes were like a blade cutting his throat.

Just as the security guard at the entrance of the hotel was about to step forward, he was forced back by Dan's cold and sharp eyes,

Adam was also shocked by his powerful aura and trembled all over. "Who... who are you?"

He struggled to get up from the ground and couldn't stand steadily.

"Who the hell are you? How... how dare you hit me in broad daylight? ..."

Dan didn't talk nonsense with him. He went forward, picked him up by the collar, and dragged him to the hotel's backyard.

Worried that Dan would suffer, Jane hurriedly followed. However, before getting near, she heard the sounds of ghosts wailing and wolves begging for forgiveness from the backyard.

Adam covered his face and knelt on the ground. Dan flew up and kicked him in the chest.

He smashed his head again before he could straighten up and stepped on half of his face!

Adam cried at the top of his voice, "Sir! I am sorry! I won't do it again!"

"Stay away from her in the future. Dan's face was expressionless, and his voice was cold. "If I see you harassing my wife again, I won't let you go so easily!"

Adam opened his eyes wide and was extremely shocked. He wriggled on the ground like a worm, and his jawbone was almost dislocated.

Dan looked down and shifted his gaze to Adam's pants. A large amount of liquid was flowing out.

He snorted and suddenly raised his foot, only to feel disgusted.

"Get lost!"

Adam ran away regardless of the pain and almost bumped into Jane.

Jane was shocked by his embarrassed appearance. She thought that a fierce battle had happened, so he hurried to see if Dan was injured. However, Dan seemed to be okay. He brushed his sleeves and walked out of the backyard with an indifferent look.

Jane's eyes were moist. She smiled with relief and threw herself into his arms.

"Will... will I cause you trouble?" Dan asked in a low voice, "I laid hands on your boss."

Jane shook her head hard.

"Your husband only knows how to get into fights." Dan smiled gently and stroked her long hair. "You'll have to get used to it in the future."

Jane looked up at him. Their eyes met, and they laughed heartily in unison.

He touched her little head and said, "How about quitting this job? You don't have to work so hard to make more money. Now your boss must hate you. He may make things difficult for you in the future."

"No, I won't," Jane said with a brilliant smile.

My Husband Is A Secret Ba

9.0%

Dan was stunned. She took a small recording pen from her trouser pocket and pressed the switch. The conversation just now was clear and audible.

"You're much better than that bitch, Ava!"

"Jane, as long as you follow me, I'll give you everything but status!"

"Jane, I'll introduce more clients to you as long as you make me happy..."

Dan narrowed his eyes slightly and looked at Jane.

In such a critical situation, the little girl was calm and collected. She even kept the evidence of being harassed!

In this way, even if Adam deliberately made things difficult for her, he would not dare to act rashly. As long as the evidence was put on the table, not only would Adam's reputation be ruined, but he would also offend Ava. There would be no place for him in the whole industry.

"Oh, my wife is so smart!" Dan praised.

Jane was pleased. She raised her chin and chuckled, "Of course!"

"But who is Jane? Aren't you Fiona?"

Jane's face turned pale, and she almost fell to the ground. Dan put his arms around her waist with a meaningful smile on his angular face.

There was a sense of oppression in his aura, which made her feel incredibly guilty.

"Well..." She racked her brains and said, "My name is Fiona, and Jane is my nickname."

"How did that man know your nickname?"

Jane pursed her lips tightly. His ears were red.

"I... I don't know where he heard it from." She steeled herself and continued, "We used to be in the same university. Maybe he heard my friend call me that, so he called me that too..."

"Anyway, this person is a ps ycho, a per vert! Honey, you did a good job today!" Jane smiled at him timidly. "I'll make braised pork ribs for you tonight and add a fish with oil. I'll reward you!"

Dan smiled and did not ask any more questions. He held her in his arms and strode out of the hotel.

The next day, there were rumors everywhere in the company. When people saw Jane, they avoided her or whispered behind her in groups.

As soon as Jane entered the company, she felt their strange eyes. She guessed that it might be the news that Adam had been beaten. Anyway, it had something to do with her. She would not deny it, but when it came to a life-and-death struggle, she would not hesitate!

"Jane, come here!" Annie called out to her in a low voice.

Jane was stunned and followed Annie to the corner of the corridor.

Annie was a kind girl who was friendly to Jane. She was worried about Jane.

"Jane." Annie looked troubled. "Did you hear what everyone said about you?"

"I know, is it because Adam was beaten? Jane said bluntly, "But there is a reason. If the higher-ups want to investigate, then I..."

"That's not all!" Annie lowered her voice. "Jane, are you hiding something from us?"

Co (16)

Chapter 30

Stunned, Jane looked at her in confusion.

Annie sighed and whispered in her ear, "Okay, so everyone in the company is saying that you're married to a criminal who has been to jail.

"People also said that the person who attacked Adam yesterday was your husband! They claimed that your husband has a bad reputation and only left the prison recently."

Jane was speechless.

Seeing that she was silent, Annie was even more surprised. "Jane, is that true? You married a criminal?"

"Yes, it's true." Jane was very frank. And my husband's family background is not without its black spots.

Annie took two steps back and looked at her in disbelief.

"But he treats me very well." Jane sounded gentle yet firm.

"I didn't intend to hide my marriage. No one asked me, so I didn't mention it. Besides, there is no rule about employee's relationship status in the company, right?"

Annie frowned. "That's true, but..."

"Anyway, my husband is a very good person." Jane looked calm. "He may have been in prison. because of fighting, but since he married me, he has never done those things again. The past is the past. What matters is the future and now.

Annie looked at her with a smile. She might not have the courage to do it if it were her. "To be honest, I admire you." Annie held her hand and suddenly found that her fingers were empty.

"But why don't you wear a wedding ring? You don't have anything on your finger. It's misleading!"

Jane was stunned and looked down at her hand. Her wedding was held in a hurry. She and Dan didn't swap rings, but she never cared about such details.

However, there seemed to be a ring in the sandalwood box that Dan had given her.

Suddenly, a sharp voice rang out. "Her husband wasted the first half of his life in the police station. How could he afford a ring?"

Jane turned around and saw Ava and a few others walking over. They looked at her as if they wanted to eat her alive.

"You should all learn from Jane! Her husband has been incarcerated, but he is still a good man in her eyes."

"Yes," someone echoed, "I heard that her husband doesn't even have a decent job and spends Jane's money every day."

"No wonder Jane has to work so hard. To sign the order, she sleeps with every man."

Ava gritted her teeth.

After hearing that Jane's husband had beaten Adam, she was shocked and then angry. She knew that if Adam hadn't done something out of line, he wouldn't have been beaten.

947

She knew that Adam had been deceiving her.

On the surface, he was devoted to her, but he was still thinking about Jane!

However, she could only swallow these words. On the surface, she had to protect Adam, but secretly, she wouldn't let go of Jane!

"Jane." Ava sneered. "Have you been working so hard recently to save money to buy a diamond ring? If your husband can't afford it, go to another man for it! Anyway, it's easy for you to get orders. You just need to open your legs."

"Aval"

Jane's roar made the people laughing just now quiet down instantly.

They all looked at her quietly. Jane's eyes were filled with killing intent, and her aura made them shudder.

It was the first time that they had seen Jane being so mad.

They looked at each other in dismay. At the same time, a sinister smile appeared on Ava's face. She raised her head and asked, "What do you want?"

Jane trembled all over and clenched her fists tightly.

She told herself that she must control herself in the company, and a surveillance camera was above her head. She couldn't mess around.

Ava's words were to provoke her. If she really fought, she would fall into her trap!

Jane took a few deep breaths, glared at her, and said word by word, "Ava, as a director, please mind your language and behavior. And as Adam's girlfriend, please take better care of your man. My husband said that if Adam tries to harass me again, he will regret it."

"Are you threatening me?"

"It's not a threat." Jane smiled slightly. "I suddenly feel that having such a husband is good. To protect me, Dan would do anything! Unlike some people, who seem to be devoted, he cares only about the shares her girlfriend's uncle holds."

"You..."

In fact, Ava knew why Adam dated her, but being exposed by Jane in front of so many people, she felt insulted.

014