

My Husband Is A Secret Billionaire By Wiuu

Chapter 51

Chapter 51

Jane was stunned.

As soon as she heard the voice of Adam Frank, she automatically adjusted herself to be ready and stared at him with vigilance.

Adam approached her. Seeing her like this, he couldn't help chuckling and turning to Annie to say, "You can leave work now. But Jane stays.

Annie had no choice but to leave. As she walked, she looked back at Jane worriedly.

Adam's thoughts about Jane were well known to everyone.

"Is there any conspiracy behind leaving her alone like this? Annie wondered.

Annie stopped at the entrance of the company.

According to the company's rules, the employees had to give an emergency contact to the company when they went on a business trip last time, just in case. She remembered that Jane had listed her husband Dan's telephone number.

Annie took out Dan's number from her contacts. After hesitating for a moment, she sent him a message.

In the office, Adam smiled maliciously at Jane.

"Jane, you're really worthy of being my junior sister's apprentice." He looked her up and down. "The workers in the company have been trying for years to convince the White family in Central City to work with the company, but you handed in the sales plan as soon as you took action!

Heh, you're really amazing!"

After hearing this, Jane said indifferently. "Mr. Frank asked me to stay just to talk about this?"

"Of course not." Adam cleared his throat and said, "There's a dinner party tonight. Come with me!"

Jane looked at him with disgust.

Meanwhile, Adam was grinning cheekily and didn't care about her reaction at all.

He knew that Jane hated this kind of occasion the most, but he insisted on using it to disgust her."

Since he couldn't have her, he would use her as a stepping stone to help him.

"Well, in fact, I didn't want to ask you, either." Adam smiled insidiously. "But you're the only beautiful woman in the company. Sometimes this woman is too beautiful, it's really troublesome!"

"Sorry, I can't go." Jane refused coldly. "My husband is still waiting for me at home. I want to..."

"Go back to cook for him?" Adam snorted, "I wanna know, your husband can't take care of himself or something?"

"Watch what you say, Adam Frank." Jane glared at him and said angrily, "It's none of your business whether my husband can take care of himself or not. But if you dare to provoke me again, he will beat you until you can't take care of yourself!"

After hearing this, Adam was expressionless and said no more.

"Anyway, it's Mr. Colt who specifically asked you to attend this dinner party. I'm just here to deliver his message! If you don't go and offend the clients, there will be no place for you in the company in the future!" he said.

After that, he waved his hand and left. Jane stared at his back in anger.

After all, it was related to her work. No matter how reluctant she was, she could only compromise for the time being.

So Jane sent a message to Dan, and then reluctantly walked over to the Favon Hotel.

As soon as she entered the private room there, she saw a man who was as handsome as a famous male star sitting in the main seat.

Jane was stunned slightly.

That day, she didn't take a closer look at this man underneath the White Group building. But now that she was looking at him face to face and up close, she was really living up to Annie's words that he was more handsome in person than in the photo.

Hector White did not expect Jane to show up here.

As soon as he saw her coming over, he was stunned. After a short moment of shock, he began to feel a chill run down his spine.

Before he entered the door. Ben and Adam were eager to curry favor with him and mysteriously told him that there would be a beautiful woman accompanying him tonight.

But if Mr. Dominic found out about this....

Hector gasped, suddenly stood up, and stared straight at Jane.

"You are Mr. White, aren't you?" Jane nodded slightly. "My name is Jane Fallon, an employee of the sales department."

"Oh, oh" Hector nodded numbly.

Seeing this, Ben and Adam smiled secretly.

It seemed that even no man could resist s*xploitation. If Jane took action, Hector would definitely be defeated!

"Jane, what are you waiting for!" Ben winked at Jane and said. "Quick, you should pour wine for Mr.

White now."

Jane helplessly walked up to Hector. When she was about to pour the wine, Hector looked flustered and stopped her. "No, no, no! Don't... don't be so polite..."

They were all stunned at the same time.

Hector smiled awkwardly, and beads of sweat appeared on his forehead. He was so nervous that he didn't know where to put his hands.

Adam looked at Jane again and said loudly, "You should drink a toast to Mr. White!"

Jane had no choice but to pour a glass of wine and drink it first.

Hector was disappointed. He didn't dare to ask Jane to propose a toast to him, so he filled his glass. and drank three glasses of wine in a row.

"Don't just drink!" Ben said again, "Ah, Jane, go and get Mr. White some food!"

But before Jane could pick up her knife and fork, Hector hurriedly shouted, "I can do it myself I don't dare to trouble Ms. Jane!"

Ben frowned and felt that something was wrong, but he couldn't tell what exactly it was.

It was said that Mr. White was dissolute and had seen many women. Even if he really fell in love with Jane, he shouldn't be so nervous.

But at this time, he narrowed his eyes and observed Hector. He didn't know why Mr. White acted like a mouse seeing a cat in front of Jane.

12:5

Ben and Adam looked at each other, then they left the private room with the excuse of going out for a smoke.

Jane was already a poor drinker, and now she felt dizzy when the strength of the wine hit her, so she looked apologetically at Hector and said, "Mr. White, excuse me for a moment." "Sure, as you wish," he replied.

Then Jane smiled and walked out unsteadily.

She wanted to go to the entrance of the hotel to get some fresh air, but as soon as she passed by the lobby corridor, she heard Ben and Adam whispering.

(0)

Chapter 52

"Don't you think Hector is acting strange?" Ben asked.

"Hmm, what's so strange about it?" Adam said disapprovingly, "All men are like that when they see beautiful women!"

"That's true... but Hector doesn't look like he's even seen a beautiful woman before. Instead, he looks like he's seeing an ancestor!"

After hearing this, Adam almost laughed out loud.

Adam covered his mouth and looked around with shifty eyes, lowered his voice, and said to Ben, "Mr. Colt, I've arranged everything. The room is..."

Although Jane was both nervous and scared, she quietly leaned in close and pricked up her ears to listen to what they said.

The hotel was some distance away from here, and it was located in the suburbs. There was not even a ghost in the middle of the night.

Jane suddenly clenched her fists, and a surge of anger pressed against her chest.

Adam smiled sinisterly. "That place is remote. Even if Jane yells at herself h o a r s e l y, it will be useless! Heh, heh, when Mr. White has had enough fun, he will sign everything!"

"By the way. Mr. Colt, I have also installed cameras in that room in advance... If Hector dares to deny it, we'll release the video!" Adam added.

"You guys!" Ben pointed at him and said with a smile, "You're really good at handling things. It's just that Jane will be wronged."

"What else can a beautiful woman do? She just plays a role in bed!" Adam said.

"Well, when it's done, I'll find an opportunity to transfer the director of the sales department, and you'll replace him!" Ben said.

Hearing this, Adam immediately nodded and bowed to him.

Jane hid behind a pillar and gasped. She was very angry after hearing these words.

She endured the discomfort brought about by the alcohol and tried her best to stay awake.

However, Adam and Ben were despicable and always flashed in front of her. As she clenched her fists and dug her nails deep into her flesh, her body kept trembling.

She thought that the wicked could be dealt with slowly. The most important thing now was to get out of this predicament as soon as possible.

She calmed down, turned on the tracking function of her mobile phone, and then sent a message to Dan, telling him that he had to track her mobile phone location at all times and come to pick her up as soon as possible.

But there was no response after the message was sent out. She was a little anxious and was about to make a phone call when Adam found her.

Jane had no choice but to follow Adam back into the private room.

Over the next few hours, Ben and Adam advised her to drink more frequently. Jane tried her best to refuse them, but she still drank a lot.

Hector had been blocking her wine glass for her, but he couldn't do it too openly. Finally, he could only watch her drink the wine, glass after glass. He thought to himself that it would be safer to send her home later.

When the party was finally over, Jane followed behind the men, feeling dizzy.

"We really had a good drink tonight!" Ben changed his expression, raised the corner of his mouth, looked at Hector, and said in a low voice, "Mr. White, there's a special program later. You can't miss Hearing this, Hector was confused.

Adam suddenly pulled Jane over and pushed her to Hector.

Hector was shocked!

Jane blushed, and her legs felt like they were stepping on cotton because she couldn't walk steadily.

As soon as Hector put his hand on her shoulders and helped her stand still, he immediately bounced back as if he had been electrocuted. Then he looked at Ben and Adam and asked, "What... what do you mean by this?"

"Mr. White," Adam grinned and said, "Jane's drunk. Could you please send her back?"

"Oh." Hector calmed down, "In fact, even if you didn't tell me, I would've thought the same.

Adam and Ben looked at each other. These words were exactly what they had wanted to convey.

They quickly opened the door, told the driver the address, and watched Hector leave with Jane.

"Where are we going? In the car, Jane struggled to straighten up.

She felt as if tens of thousands of bees had flown into her head. The alcohol was stuck in her throat, and her stomach was churning. She felt extremely uncomfortable.

However, when she took a closer look, she saw that Hector was sitting next to her!

Then she felt her heart pounding. She immediately leaned to the side and looked at Hector warily with her big eyes.

"Where are you taking me?" she asked.

As she asked this question, she touched her backpack with her small hands and quietly unfastened the strap.

Chapter 53

"Don't be nervous, Ms. Fallon." Hector kept a distance from her, "I'm sending you home."

Jane turned to look outside. This was not the way home!

In fact, Hector was very clear about Ben and Adam's conspiracy. The car had just left the hotel, so he had to pretend. He couldn't directly send Jane home, so he took a detour.

However, Jane didn't know that!

She looked more alert, and her body trembled slightly.

The strap on her backpack had been untied, and she held it tightly in her hand.

At this time, what appeared in her mind were the pictures of women's self defense techniques she had seen before. She calmed down and thought about it carefully. There were three people including the driver in this narrow space. In addition to her, the other two were both strong men.

She couldn't fight against them directly.

But she happened to be sitting right behind the driver...

She pursed her lips and stared at Hector with her big eyes.

Meanwhile, Dan walked out of the clubhouse and turned on his mobile phone.

Henry whispered in his car, "In order not to let Mr. Edward Campbell notice, I must go back to Central City tonight. Mr. Murphy, you..."

"Go and do your work." Dan narrowed his eyes slightly and said. Just pretend that nothing happened."

Henry nodded, looked around vigilantly, and then disappeared into the night

Then Dan took out the information that Henry had just shown him, tore it up, and threw it into a nearby trash can.

These were the accounts of the problems that Edward Campbell had had in the Campbell Group. over the years,

However, this type of thing had to be destroyed and couldn't be left behind.

Dan took a deep breath. Just as he was about to rush home, he suddenly noticed that the phone in his pocket had vibrated many times in a row. He took it out and saw that it was a message from an unfamiliar number. It was Train Annie.

Jane's colleague seemed to have the same name.

He continued to scroll down. Then he saw there were several messages from Jane...

Seeing this, he suddenly felt angry, and a cold light flashed in his eyes. He quickly turned on the tracking system to search for Jane.

"You really don't have to be afraid, Ms. Fallon. I'm not a bad person!" Hector waved his hand vigorously, his face flushed with anxiety.

Only then did he realize what it meant to be like a cat on a hot tin roof.

He just wanted to send Jane home safely! But she looked at him as if looking at her enemy.

So she stared at him with vigilance and wariness written all over her face.

"Don't come over here!" Jane screamed.

Hector was scared by her and almost sobered up.

12410

He didn't want to get close to her at all. It was she who was leaning against the car door!

Fortunately, Mr. Dominic wasn't there. If Mr. Dominic had heard this, it would be unknown whether he could see the sun tomorrow.

"Please calm down, Ms. Fallon." Hector stammered and forced a smile, "How would I dare to come over to you? Could you please sit closer to me so that I can lean against the car door, okay? It's not safe for you to do this..."

As he spoke, he shouted at the driver, "Can you drive slower?"

The driver was stunned: Then he stepped on the accelerator nervously!

The car suddenly sped up, so Jane suddenly lost her balance and threw herself on Hector.

Hector was shocked and immediately raised his hands. "Ah! I didn't touch you, I didn't!

Don't talk nonsense when you see your husband!"

However, Jane was still in shock at this time. But she remembered the information about Hector she had studied before.

He was the son of a wealthy family, a flirt, and all his confidantes could line up from Central City to Paris...

He had had a lot of one-night stands

Therefore, he deliberately said that the driver should slow down just now. In fact, this was his secret signal to the driver, which was to have the driver speed up!

"Go away!" Jane pushed him away fiercely.

"If you dare to touch me again, Hector White, you'll die with me!"

That ruthlessness made Hector scared. So he shrank to the side and did not dare to make a sound. He tried his best to keep his distance from her, but he did not expect...

Just then, she suddenly stood up from her seat!

Her movements were fast and ruthless. She immediately wrapped her strap around the neck of the driver! Then the driver was shocked and tried his best to control the steering wheel as the car rocked back and forth along the road, the tires squealing against the tarmac.

"Jane Fallon, let go of him! Do you want to die?" Hector was about to pull her back when she kicked him hard on the knee.

The driver's face turned purple, and the car shook violently.

Jane tried her best to hold back her dizziness, but her hands kept trembling. Finally, she touched the door switch next to the driver's seat.

"Aaah!" Hector screamed and hurriedly grabbed the steering wheel.

Just as the car was about to hit a big tree on the side of the road, Jane opened the door and jumped....

With a loud bang, the front of the car smashed into the tree heavily.

After an unknown period of time, Hector and the driver helped each other out of the car. Both of them were in an extremely terrible mess, but they were not hurt too badly due to the protection of the airbags.

But Jane was not so lucky.

The moment Hector saw her lying upright on the side of the road, he was completely at a loss as to what to do.

"Quick... call an ambulance! Call the police!" he shouted at the driver..

12:16

My Husband Is A Secret Jellionaire

Then Hector took out his phone. The man, who was more than six feet tall, cried bitterly and couldn't speak clearly.

"Hello, Tristan, I'm in trouble... It was a car accident. Jane died. I killed Jane.." he stammered.

"Dominic will kill me. He will definitely kill me!"

Om

(0)

(0)

My Hus

Chapter 54

Jane tried her best to open her eyes, and she felt that all the bones in her body seemed to have been torn apart again. The pain was unbearable.

She looked at the white walls around her. She could smell a pungent odor, and her face was wrapped in gauze.

What was even more crazy was that one of her legs was hanging up high in the air.

She was stunned for a moment, and then she felt a big hand holding hers, and the warmth from that palm seeped into her heart.

Then she turned around and met Dan's eyes.

He just looked at her quietly, with complicated emotions surging in his eyes.

Worry, anger, concern, pity....

And self-blame.

He forced a smile, gently rubbed her hair, and said in a hoarse voice, "You're finally awake."

At the over.

same time, Jane moved her body. But her brain was buzzing, and she felt nothing but pain all

"What happened to me?" she asked.

"Don't you remember what happened to you? Dan held her small hand in his palm and gently stroked it.

Jane felt her lips go dry, and her throat felt like it was burning.

Her consciousness drifted back, and she remembered everything that had happened that night.

Ben and Adam persuaded her to drink and pushed her to Hector, who then took her into his car. Then she was unwilling to be bullied by him, so she untied the strap of her bag, strangled the driver, and then...

She suddenly became excited and clenched her fists.

"It's all right." Dan comforted her softly. "It's all over. It's good that you're fine."

"Hubby." She looked at him and called out to him, asking him to hug her.

Dan smiled and sat down beside her. He gently helped her up and carefully held her in his arms. Jane leaned against his warm and thick chest again. When she heard the familiar heartbeat, the grievance and fear that she had been holding back for a long time finally flowed out along with her tears.

Seeing this, Dan was heartbroken for her and touched her little head.

"Sorry I was late," he said in a low voice. "In fact, your colleague, Annie, sent me a message as soon as she got off work and told me about your situation. Later, you sent me several more messages, but I didn't see them."

"It's not your fault." Jane pursed her lips slightly and said, "I should have been prepared in advance." "But it's hard to guard against schemes in the workplace."

She was silent for a moment and felt a dull pain in her calf. She gritted her teeth and looked at her leg, which was dangling up above.

"It's a slight fracture." Dan said to her, "Aside from this, the rest of the body is just scratched. It's already a blessing."

Chapter 54

"So, I won't be able to get out of bed for a while?" Jane was stunned after hearing that.

"That's right." Dan chuckled. "So I'll take care of you during this period of time."

Jane was stunned for a moment and wondered if he was about to take care of her. She had experienced his cooking before. If he took care of her, she would have to eat boiled vegetables every day.

She smiled helplessly and wrapped her arms around his waist even tighter.

Dan looked down at her, and his expression gradually became serious.

After a long silence, he asked her in a low voice, "Why did you do it?"

"What?" Jane was puzzled.

"Why did you jump out of the car?" Dan asked again.

After hearing this, Jane took a deep breath and told him the whole story.

"At that time, I drank a lot. If I hadn't overheard the conversation between Ben and Adam in advance, maybe I would've..."

She bit her lip, and tears welled up in her big eyes.

"Under the circumstances, jumping out of the car was my only choice. I couldn't just sit still and let Hector take me to a hotel, could I?"

"But do you know how dangerous it is for you to strangle the driver's neck from behind and jump out of the car so rashly? What if you really fell to your death?" Dan retorted her.

Jane was shocked. Then she looked up at him. The man was serious, and there was a hint of coldness in his eyes.

Although he usually kept a straight face, it was rare for him to be so strict.

Jane felt that she had been wronged.

Could it be that she had done something wrong?

She looked at him and pouted. "Do you really want me to be taken to a hotel by another man?"

Dan said in a low voice, "I just hope you can live well!"

Jane fell silent, and her heart beat wildly.

No matter what happened, he only hoped that she could live well.

Feeling a surge of warmth in her heart, she held him gently with her small hands.

"You silly." There was still a hint of blame in his tone as he asked, "Is innocence more important than your life?"

She nodded firmly without hesitation.

"You...." Dan was speechless.

He glared at her, but she gave him a simple and innocent smile.

So he couldn't do anything to her. After a long time, he sighed heavily and then said to her word by word seriously, "Remember, your life is the most important thing at any time.

"The feudal era ended a long time ago. It doesn't matter whether a woman is innocent or not. I'm not a person who cares about these things.'

He held her little hands and looked at her. His voice was not loud, but every word hit Jane in the heart.

"You're the only one I care about. I want you to live well Don't fight head-on when you're in danger. As long as you can keep your life, you can exchange anything. Do you understand?" he said.

Although Jane didn't agree, she still nodded with a smile in order to reassure him.

"Luckily nothing happened this time," Dan looked at her meaningfully, "but are you going to let those two go so easily?"

"Of course not!" Jane hated them as soon as Dan mentioned it.

But after a long while, she just vented her anger on her own.

Ben was one of the shareholders of the company, and Adam was the boyfriend of Ben's niece. But she was just an employee. What could she do to them?

Chapter 55

Seeing that she was a little depressed, Dan smiled and lifted her long hair.

"What's wrong?" he asked.

Jane sighed faintly and smiled bitterly.

"There's nothing I can do to take revenge on them for the time being," she said in a low voice. "I don't want to make it public. After all, it's disgraceful... After doing evil deeds, people like them can still live as if nothing had happened, but I can't do anything about it. I can't hurt them at all.

"I can only pretend that nothing happened and endure it for now. But when I'm strong enough to compete with them, I'll get even!"

Dan looked at her and smiled gently.

Jane was not a weak and easily bullied woman.

Not only was she not weak, but she also had a clear distinction between love and hate. She was tenacious and tolerant. She would take revenge on those who had done something bad to her.

At the critical moment, she could still stay calm and protect herself. She even had the determination and courage to perish with the bad guys.

On this point, Jane's character was very much like his own.

He smiled, and the more he thought about it, the prouder he became. Because he thought that his wife, Jane, should be like this!

After the assassination attempt, he had also been holding back and even changed his name to live in Cardiff in order to catch Edward Campbell and his men one day.

He could endure it, but he didn't want Jane to suffer more.

"Honey, let me ask you something," he chuckled, "if you had superpowers now, how would you want to treat the people who hurt you?"

"What?" Jane looked at him with surprise.

"In any case, since we're chatting, let's just have a casual chat." He looked at her and said, "Think about it. How would you punish them?"

Jane rolled her big eyes and smiled foolishly. "It's not punishment. I just hope that they will get what's coming to them for being evil! They will suffer all the hardships I have suffered and never appear in front of me again!"

Dan nodded and whispered in her ear with a smile, "Yes, my honey."

"What did you just say?" Jane was puzzled.

"Nothing." Dan helped her lie back down. "Are you tired? Have a good sleep. I'll buy you some millet porridge."

When she fell asleep, Dan quietly walked out of the ward.

Hector stood outside with an apologetic and ingratiating expression.

He had also injured his leg and was limping on crutches. His head was wrapped up like a rice dumpling. Tristan Brown helped him on the side. They had been waiting at the door of the ward for a long time.

Dan glared at Hector with anger.

"Tin really sorry, Dominic." Hector was annoyed as he said, "But I swear, if I had been interested in Jane that night, I would've been killed by a car when I went out!"

"You've already been hurt by a car." Dan said coldly, "You're so lucky that you didn't die!"

Hector was stunned for a moment and then chuckled.

"Dominic. I wanted to send Jane home that night, but I had to put on an act in front of those two ba stards, right? What if..."

"There's no need to explain. I understand." Dan interrupted him.

Dan was extremely angry.

Edward Campbell might send someone to assassinate him at any time. Now that he lived in Cardiff, it was no longer safe. If someone with ulterior motives targeted Jane, he would be in a very passive position.

Therefore, Dan had to be careful about everything. The fewer people that knew about his relationship with Jane, the better the situation.

"Did you hear what Jane said to me just now?" Dan asked.

Hector was stunned. Tristan reacted faster and immediately asked, "You mean about how Ben and Adam would be punished?"

Dan nodded.

Tristan felt helpless, "Will you really do what Jane said, Dominic?"

"Or what?" Dan looked stern and raised his voice. "If you won't do it, should I do it myself?"

"Yes, I will!" Hector was eager to have an opportunity to redeem himself. "The person Jane doesn't want to see will never appear in front of her again!"

Dan answered with a grunt, then he put his hands behind his back and swaggered off to buy millet porridge.

Tristan glanced at Hector speechlessly.

"Do you think Dominic can go back to Central City?" he asked Hector.

"That's not what I'm worried about." Hector smiled. "What I'm worried about is that Jane is so stubborn. What if one day she finds out that Dominic is not Dan... What will happen to her?"

Chapter 56

Jane needed to recuperate, so Dan took her home to take care of her.

At first, Jane was very worried. Because Dan was not good at housework and even he couldn't cook. Once she got injured, the family would be in a mess.

However, the moment Dan carried her into the door, she felt very surprised.

The house was clean and tidy, and everything was in order. It was no different from before she was injured.

"It's okay, isn't it?" Dan chuckled,

Dan looked at Jane as if he were a little boy waiting for his teacher's approval.

Jane smiled sweetly.

She had always felt that Dan was unfathomable, but she had only seen him browse the financial news in many languages.

She didn't expect him to be so good at housework!

After a while, Dan served two dishes to Jane.

Jane tasted it and found that it tasted good, but there was too much salt in it.

However, she was already very surprised that Dan was able to do this.

"As I said, my hubby is the most capable and powerful!" Jane looked up at Dan with a smile,

"It seems that it's a good thing to be injured. I can be a hands off boss and do nothing, just waiting for you to serve me!"

"Okay." Dan smiled faintly. With a meaningful look in his eyes, he said in a slightly hoarse voice, "I'll serve you well tonight. What do you think?"

Jane blushed in an instant, and her heart was beating restlessly.

Dan looked at her with a smile and gobbled down the food.

For Jane, everything else could be barely dealt with, but taking a shower became her problem.

Dan proposed to help her, but she refused.

Dan chuckled and said. "We're both married, what do you care about that? It's inconvenient for you. to walk now. It's my duty to help you take a shower."

Jane lowered her head and didn't say a word. Her small hands clutched the corner of her clothes tightly

Seeing that Jane was really nervous, Dan did not force her.

However, the way Jane lowered her eyelids and bit her cherry lips, the immaturity, shyness, and panic in the affairs between a man and a woman, then the way she whispered shyly in front of him. as if she wanted to refuse but welcome him.. made him lose his mind and it was difficult for him to control himself.

Dan narrowed his eyes and took a deep breath.

"Okay, go ahead." Dan handed her a clean bath towel and said, "I'm at the door. Call me if you need anything."

Jane nodded and hurried into the bathroom.

After entering for half a day, Dan was still worried and kept pacing back and forth at the door.

12:10

"Are you done?" Dan knocked on the door, and the sound of running water stopped. "How about I go in and help you." Dan said.

"No need!" Jane hurriedly shouted. I can do it myself!"

Dan was stunned, and the corners of his mouth curled into a faint smile.

The sound of running water made his heart itch.

Thinking that Jane was still in a cast and had to struggle alone in the slippery bathtub and be careful of the tiles...

Dan frowned.

Dan thought he had better push the door and go in.

He really didn't want to take advantage of her, but just to prevent her from falling.

Thinking of this, Dan pushed the door, but when he looked up, he saw Jane crawling out of the bathtub....

Her delicate skin, as well as the beauty who had just taken a bath, were all naked...

Dan's Adam's apple bobbed in his throat with s*xual desire, In an instant, he felt all the blood in his body rushing to his head!

Jane was also shocked.

Because her leg couldn't get wet, her leg had been stretched out of the bathtub. Now she had to crawl out of the bathtub with her legs apart. This posture was really a little strange.

"Ah!" Jane screamed and her face turned red with embarrassment. She was so nervous that she slipped and fell directly to the floor.

However, before she fell to the ground, she fell into the warm embrace.

Dan pulled over the bath towel and was about to cover her with it when his hand stopped in mid-air. The lust in front of him really made his heart skip a beat.

What should have happened on the wedding night had been postponed for nearly half a year now! At that time, he didn't have s*x with her because they were almost strangers under the same roof. Of course, it would take some time for them to adapt.

But now..

"You don't look it!" Jane turned her face away shyly and covered her private parts with her hands in a panic.

"Well, I won't look at it anymore." Dan chuckled, and his low and hoarse voice was filled with strong s*xual desire. Then he bent down and picked her up.

"What's the point of just watching?" He blew hot air into Jane's ear, "There are some things we have to do!"

Hearing this, Jane's mind went blank.

By the time she came to her senses, Dan had carefully placed her on the bed in the bedroom. The man leaned over her, and there seemed to be two flames burning in his deep eyes.

Jane was short of breath. She only felt that his kisses were extremely gentle and precious to her. "We have a s*x tonight."

He was not asking for her opinion, but with the unique masculinity and aggressiveness of a man. He whispered in her ear, "I want to have a s*x with you!"

12:15

My Island Is A Secret Billionaire

Chapter 56

Jane moved uneasily, and her big watery eyes were shy and confused.

Dan curled his lips and avoided her injured left leg.

"Don't be afraid." Dan smiled and continued, "Leave yourself to me!"

(5)

12:10

Chapter 57

Jane was absent-minded and didn't know how to answer him, so she could only respond shyly.

She gently closed her eyes and heard the clear sound of the rain hitting the window. She felt Dan's tossing kisses and fiery passion. She slowly opened herself up, like a delicate flower blooming beneath him.

Early in the morning. Dan slowly woke up.

In the past, when Dan was at the Campbell family's place, he would get up at four o'clock in the morning to deal with official business. He had always woken up early, which was a habit that had not changed for many years.

However, because of her last night, for the first time in his life, he had an impulse to stay in bed.

He turned his face and stared at her quietly. She was sleeping soundly and looked cute. He couldn't help kissing her lips, and the sweet fragrance made his heart beat faster.

He tried his best to restrain himself. Thinking of their lovemaking last night, he saw several shallow scratches on his body.

He thought that she must be in so much pain and so tired.

He got up and suddenly saw his phone light up. His expression changed slightly. He put on his T-shirt, got out of bed, and quietly walked to the balcony.

"Dominic, I hope I didn't disturb you so early in the morning." Tristan said in a low voice.

"What is it? Dan asked.

Tristan chuckled. "Your grandpa has made a move recently and taken back one of the branches under Edward Campbell. Now everyone in the Campbell family is saying that you set Edward up."

After hearing this, Dan pursed his lips slightly.

It was really a trap set by him.

Fortunately, his grandfather doted on him. No matter how comprehensive Edward's accounts were, he could find flaws in them. Moreover, there were so many people in the Campbell family who were more arrogant than Edward. His grandfather was old, but not senile.

Therefore, his grandfather punished Edward in order to warn those with ulterior motives.

"What did Edward do then?" Dan asked in a low voice.

"It's said that he's convinced by your grandpa." Tristan smiled and said, "Don't you know Mr. Edward? Not only did he cry and admit his mistake in front of your grandpa, but he also took the initiative to kneel in the ancestral hall of the Campbell family and repent for several nights!"

Dan sneered, He could already imagine how the media in Central City would report on Edward.

They must have praised Edward in the same way, saying that he could correct his mistakes and was kind-hearted and devoted to the family.

This was the trick that Edward often used. Under this kind of a big mistake, he could cover it up.

-sided praise, even if Edward made

Therefore, how could outsiders believe that such a loyal and kind Mr. Edward would try to assassinate his nephew, Dan, on the plane?

Dan looked gloomy, and his grip on the balcony railing suddenly tightened.

"I'm not going back to Central City for the time being," Dan said.

Tristan was stunned and asked, "Will we miss this opportunity if we don't go back now?"

"Edward's acting is so good that it's useless even if I were to go back. It's better to wait and see, and find out his fatal weakness so that I can catch him and all of his men!"

Tristan nodded in agreement.

However, at this moment, a soft voice came over the phone. "Dan? Hubby, where are you?"

The sound of Jane's "hubby" was so lazy and delicate that even through the microphone, Tristan Brown felt his heart skip a beat.

Not to mention Dan, who faced her every day.

Tristan smiled. It turned out that Dan wasn't returning to Central City for the time being.

There was another reason for that...

Dan hung up the phone in a hurry and walked into the bedroom quickly.

Jane wrapped herself in the blanket and was trying hard to reach for the clothes on the ground. However, her left leg was injured, so her face turned red but she still couldn't reach them.

Dan walked in, bent down to pick up the clothes on the ground, and carefully put them on her. Jane glanced at him and lowered her head shyly.

The way she looked at him was different from before.

Now, she had completely become a sweet wife who was attached to him.

Dan gently stroked her hot cheeks and asked in a low voice, "Does your body still hurt?"

Jane was stunned and nodded slightly. Then she smiled and leaned against his chest shyly.

I'm sorry

if I hurt you last night." Dan rubbed her hair and whispered in her ear, "But I know what to do in the future."

Hearing this, she hit him and said reproachfully, "All right, stop it!"

He hugged her and smiled happily.

"Then you should sleep a little longer. I'll go make breakfast." He volunteered. "What would you like to eat?"

"Anything?" Jane rolled her big eyes and said, "Well.. I don't have much of an appetite. Just cook me a bowl of noodles."

"Okay, I'll add in some shredded meat. I'll cook noodles for you," Dan said.

"I don't eat meat early in the morning," she said.

"You worked hard last night." He smirked and said, "I'll give you more nutritious food. Keep up the good work tonight!"

Jane blushed and punched him hard with her little fist. "I told you not to say anything, but you still said it!"

In the next few days, Jane found that what Dan said was really not a joke.

It was inconvenient for her to walk because of her injured leg, so he used this as an excuse to hold her every day. She could have walked with a crutch, but he didn't allow it. He would hold her from the time she got up in the morning until he carried her to bed at night, and then...

Jane couldn't handle it and scolded him gently.

"My leg injury hasn't healed yet. I can't do any strenuous exercise!"

But he said confidently, "You should move your legs more often so that you can recover faster!"

"You took advantage of my injured leg to bully me on purpose!" Jane retorted.

"Honey," he said with a naughty smile, "if your leg is injured, just lie down and don't move. I'll do everything."

C

CHAPTER

☒(0)

Chapter 58

After Jane rested for a while, her leg injury finally healed. So she couldn't wait to go to the hospital for a check-up, after which she went to work in a hurry.

Annie was overjoyed to see her. "You're finally back! I've been so listless without you sitting next to me!"

Jane smiled and said, "I haven't seen you in a while. You're getting sweeter and sweeter!"

"Alas, I really feel guilty about you! If I insisted on going to that dinner party with you before, you wouldn't have been plotted against by those villains."

After hearing that, Jane suddenly changed her expression and hurriedly pulled Annie to the corridor, where there were not many people.

"Does everyone know about this matter?" she asked Annie.

Annie looked around and told her quietly, "No. No one in the company knows why you suddenly asked for sick leave. The director said that you accidentally broke your leg. At that time, everyone wanted to go to the hospital to visit you, but they were stopped by the director."

Hearing what Annie said, Jane nodded silently.

The director was not a bad person, but he knew how to protect himself. So he was sloppy in many things and would not stand out easily.

"So even if someone suspects you, they won't say it out loud." Annie looked at her and went on, "Don't worry. It's all in the past. You can just insist that you accidentally hurt your leg!"

"Okay!" Jane replied.

It seemed that the director was right to deal with it in this way. As a woman, Jane's reputation was important to her. After all, it was not good for such a thing to be spread out.

"By the way, Jane, there's something great that I must tell you!" Annie said.

Jane was stunned. Seeing Annie so happy, she couldn't help chuckling and asking. "What makes you so happy?"

"Ben and Adam, the two scourges, are no longer in the company!" she answered with joy.

"What?" Jane was shocked. "Then they..."

"I don't know why, but the day after you were hospitalized, I saw Adam leave with a cardboard box in his arms. When he left, he was sad and looked very embarrassed!"

"As for that Mr. Colt," Annie lowered her voice and said, "the board of directors seems to have taken away his shares and sent him to the branch office in Cang City as a manager of a small department. Heh... That makes him feel worse than if he was driven out of the company! How many goods could he sell in that small city? Isn't it torture? Haha, it's really gratifying!"

"Jane, what's wrong?" She looked at Jane and asked, "Why are you in a daze?"

Jane came back to her senses and forced a smile.

The more she listened to Annie, the more incredulous she felt.

She suddenly remembered what Dan had asked her in the hospital room. At that time, she had casually said that she hoped that these people would never appear in front of her.

Dan gently replied, "Yes, my honey." It seemed that his words still echoed in her ears... Jane took a deep breath and shook her head.

She thought, "How is this possible? How can Dan have such an ability? It must be a coincidence." "Oh, Jane, you're here!" Another colleague hurried over with an anxious look on her face.

"I finally found you. Why didn't you two come out and have a private conversation without bringing your mobile phones with you?"

Jane was stunned and asked, "What happened?"

"Someone's looking for you!" The colleague pointed downstairs. "In the lobby on the first floor. The handsome boy there said that he was your younger brother. He called you many times but you didn't answer! He looks very anxious. Go and have a look!"

Jane was anxious, so she felt her heart skip a beat.

Bailey was a sensible child. No matter how much he suffered, he would not come to her workplace to look for her.

There was only one possible reason for him to rush over now...

"Bailey!" Jane rushed downstairs and asked anxiously, "What's wrong? Is mom's condition serious?"

C Chapter 59

Bailey was sweating profusely. His face was flushed and his eyes were slightly red.

As soon as he saw Jane running over, he couldn't hold back his tears anymore and hurried forward to grab her.

"Jane, something happened at home!" Bailey said.

"What's wrong?" Jane asked.

"Your elder sister..." he paused, out of breath, "Fiona brought a lot of people to our house and said that she would drive us out!"

Jane heard a buzz in her ears, and her mind went blank.

"She brought a lot of workers and said that she wanted to take back the house and redecorate it for her use! Jane, isn't that the house that your father gave to our mother? Why should she take it back?" Bailey added.

Jane felt her heart skip a beat. For a moment, she panicked and did not understand why Fiona was doing this.

"Let's go back and have a look first!" She comforted Bailey. "We've been living in that house for so many years. It's impossible to take it back so easily. There may be some misunderstanding!"

"What misunderstanding? It must be Fiona doing it on purpose!" Bailey was indignant. "She brought so many people to our house today and directly drove me out... Humph, there are so many of them. I can't defeat them, but Dan can!"

"What did you say?" Jane suddenly stopped, and her face turned pale.

"Does Dan already know about this?" she asked.

"That's right!" Bailey nodded. "It's such a big deal. Of course, Dan has to make the decision!"

"You!" Jane was speechless.

She glared at him, anxious and angry.

Only then did Bailey realize what was going on.

If Dan met Fiona, then Jane wouldn't be able to conceal anything!

"Jane, I..." Bailey knew that he was in the wrong, so he said, "I didn't do it on purpose. At that time, I was anxious and scared, so I called Dan!"

Jane frowned and asked, "What did you tell him?"

"I didn't say much, I just said that someone came to make trouble at home and sent him the address!" Jane was silent for a moment. Then she took out her mobile phone and sent a message to Dan. She did not mention anything about the house. She only said that she suddenly wanted to eat chestnut cake from a baking shop on Western Street and wanted him to buy it and bring it to her work. During this period of time, she had been very close to Dan, and he listened to everything she said. She guessed that he would definitely put her first.

In order to buy the chestnut cake in that shop, he would have to queue up for a while. This bought her some time. She could rush home first, settle her matter with Fiona, and then deal with Dan later.

"Hey, can't you move your hands and feet quicker? It took you so long to move a few pieces-of-broken furniture!" Fiona shouted.

Chapter 59

She stood in the residential building with an impatient and arrogant expression on her face. The neighbors around were all talking about this beautiful girl.

She was good-looking, but she was also like a poisonous snake, her eyes full of schemes.

They guessed that she might be a daughter of the Fallon family and Jane's elder sister.

However, the two sisters were so different in their approach to life.

"What are you looking at!" Fiona glared at them. "Only a group of poor people would be worthy of living in this shabby pigeon cage!"

"Heh. you are so rich, right? Since you think this is a pigeon cage, why do you want to take back the house? At least it's a place to shelter them from the wind and rain. The Fallon family is rich and powerful. Why do you need this small house?" one person said angrily.

"Who do you think you are? It's none of your business! Get lost!" she shouted in response. She was overbearing, and the neighbors could do nothing but clench their fists silently and hold back their anger.

"Hurry up!" She vented her anger on the workers again. "These things are not so precious! So what if you break them? And what's in that broken box? Throw it away!"

At this time, Jane and Bailey rushed downstairs.

Although Jane didn't know what was in the box, she had seen her mother cherish it. Even though she was in the hospital and unconscious, she would occasionally wake up and had told her to take good care of the box.

Jane rushed over, desperately knocked the workers to the side, and protected the box with her body.

"Don't throw it away!" she shouted.

Seeing that it was Jane, Fiona was stunned for a moment before a sinister and mocking expression immediately appeared on her face.

"Why can't I throw it away? If this house is freed up, it will be my place in the future! How can there be someone else's dirty things in my territory?"

"Nonsense!" Bailey stepped forward and pointed at Fiona and said. "This is our home. What you're doing is tre spas sing! I'll call the police to arrest you!"

Jane looked at the mess on the ground. There was not much furniture in the house, and now it was even more messy.

Her mother's clothes were also taken out and stepped on by those people and were now covered with mud.

Jane wanted to cry at the sight of this, her anger and aggression surging together.

She slowly stood up, stared at Fiona, and asked word by word, "Why did you do this? This is my home!"

"Your home?" Fiona laughed and told her proudly, "That won't be the case in the future! I need a studio that's not too close to the city center. Otherwise, it will be too noisy, but it can't be too remote either. Otherwise, life will be inconvenient. Heh, after so many choices, the location and size of this house are just right, so Daddy has promised to give it to me!"

Jane clenched her fists tightly and tried her best not to tremble after hearing what Fiona said.

Heh, what a joke!

If Fiona wanted a studio, David could rent an entire floor of an office building for her in minutes.

וּחְרִי

Ye Husband Is A Secret Millionair

Why did she have to make such a big scene in this middle-class community?

Fiona had done this with the intention of forcing her and her mother into a dead end!

"Jane, I'm going to get someone to renovate it next. Everything in this house will have to be demoed. and renovated!" Fiona looked at her coldly. "See if there's anything you can't bear to part with.

and take it out! Heh, I won't let you down. Consider this a little token of my appreciation Hurry up for you!"

Chapter 60

Jane froze on the spot, her body trembling slightly.

After a long time, she spat out, "Impossible!"

Fiona was stunned after hearing this.

Jane stared at Fiona with anger and said, "This is our house. Dad gave it to my Mom! We've been living here for many years. This is our home!"

"How dare you mention that!" Fiona sneered and shouted, "What kind of person is your Mom? Is she qualified to ask my dad to give her a house?"

"Dad lets you settle here for the time being because he felt sorry for you! To say the least, your Mom served Dad once and gave birth to you, you litt le b*tch, but who does he think he is?"

Then she pointed at Bailey and cursed. "You're just an illegitimate child. What right do you have to live in the Fallon family house?"

Bailey already had a strong sense of self-esteem. But this kind of abnormal family relationship often made him unable to be confident among his classmates.

At this moment, Fiona just had to poke Bailey in the most painful place, and all the emotions he'd accumulated erupted at this moment.

"What nonsense are you spouting!" Bailey retorted loudly.

He glared at Fiona with clenched fists. Veins bulged on his arms as he raised up his hand to hit her.

But Jane was afraid that Bailey would cause trouble and hurriedly stepped forward to stop him. Fiona was first shocked and took a few steps back. When she saw that Jane and Bailey would not really hit her, she became even more arrogant.

"What I said is true. None of the people in this house are any good! You are all cheap!" she shouted.

"Don't go too far, Fiona," Jane said angrily.

"I said it all already, and what about it? Fiona's brother and get out of the Fallon family house!",

Jane stood in front of Fiona while protecting Bailey.

However, Fiona was extremely shrewish, and she didn't hold back at all. She fiercely scratched Jane on the arms a few times, causing numerous bloody marks to appear on her fair skin.

Jane stepped back in pain and accidentally stepped on air, causing her to fall down the stairs!

At this critical moment, a force suddenly wrapped around her from behind. She was stunned and then fell steadily into those strong arms.

"Are you all right?" Dan looked at her with concern.

Jane twitched the corner of her mouth. She felt wronged, angry, and a little panicked. All kinds of emotions surged in her eyes. She bit her lip lightly and did not know what to say. She hooked her arms around Dan's neck like grabbing a life-saving straw and called out in a slightly trembling voice, "Hubby..."

Dan patted her on her shoulder and smiled at her. Then, he changed his expression and glanced at everyone present coldly.

"What happened here?" he angrily asked.

This was the first time Fiona had seen Dan in person.

Luckily, she didn't marry this gangster!

However, at this time, Fiona looked him up and down. This man was tall and handsome. His whole body exuded a powerful aura and masculinity. He was dignified without being angry, like an ancient noble emperor.

Fiona paused for a moment, and then she laughed with contempt.

She wondered what the point of being good-looking was. He would end up in jail for fighting and being poor!

"Oh, so you're Dan Murphy." She looked at him with a piercing gaze. "Jane's useless hubby?"

Dan looked grave.

"It's useless for you to come here." She continued, "This is a family affair of the Fallon family. My Dad wants to take back this house. He asked me to order them to move out today!"

"Move out?" Dan sneered, "Why?"

"Because I'm my Dad's daughter." She squinted at Dan and said, "I'm the daughter of the Fallon family."

Jane was shocked and hurried to pull Dan away.

Dan turned his head to look at her. His expression was gentle, and his gaze was firm. And the corners of his lips curled up into a faint smile.

Jane was stunned and so nervous that all the hair on her body stood on end.

Fiona was keenly aware of this.

"Oh, what's wrong?" Fiona deliberately pinched her throat, "Look at how stupid you are, Dan Murphy. You probably don't know who you're married to, do you?"

"Fiona..." Jane couldn't help but glare at her.

"What? You don't want me to tell him? My good litter sister, Jane, you've been pretending to be me for half a year. Why don't you let your hubby know the truth?"

"Shut up!" Jane shouted.

"Jane is the illegitimate daughter of the Fallon family." Fiona was complacent. "Her mother is a shameless and bad woman! She seduced my dad and gave birth to Jane, and then she seduced another man and gave birth to Bailey! Now she has a mental illness and is lying unconscious in the hospital!"

Jane was desperate. She covered her ears tightly and said, "Don't say anything more!"

"Do you know why she wants to marry you? It's for the dowry, to ask my Dad for money to treat her mother!"

"Fiona Fallon, you total bitch!" Jane screamed uncontrollably.

Her eyes were red, and her pale face was full of despair. At that moment, she seemed to have been stripped naked standing in front of everyone, and the secret she had carefully guarded was exposed by Fiona in a few words.

She was both embarrassed and angry. She rushed forward and pushed Fiona hard.

Fiona staggered and almost fell. She was so angry that she grabbed a vase and threw it at Jane. "How dare you hit me!"

However, before the vase could fall, someone grabbed Fiona's wrist tightly.

Fiona felt as if her wrist was about to be crushed.

12:16

My Husband Is A Secret Billionaire

Chapter 60

"What are you doing? Let go of me!" she said angrily.

Dan had a murderous look in his cold eyes, as if he wanted to cut this bitch into pieces.

(3)