The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1201

Chapter 1201

The more Rosalynn found out about Liam's family situation, the angrier she got.

How could relatives do such horrible things!

"Alright, alright, I admit it, I was wrong, I really messed up! Ma'am, you're a mother too. My in-laws are too old to take care of the kid, so please give me another chance. I promise I'll turn over a new leaf!" Abby got on her knees, trying to reach Rosalynn.

Mike reacted quickly, grabbing her by the collar to stop her.

"Don't you dare touch her!" Mike interrogated sternly.

"No, I wasn't trying to hurt her!" Abby quickly denied.

Rosalynn stood up and walked over to her, looking down at her. "I didn't want to be so ruthless, but Liam is our family's savior, I have to think of him." Abby trembled all over as she looked at Rosalynn.

"I promise I'll never bother Liam again!" Abby cried, "Once I leave here, I'll take my kid back to my hometown, I won't ever come to H City again!"

'Remember, these are your words, Rosalynn slightly bent down, "I'll have my eyes on you, if you dare to bother Liam, or show up in H City or even the cities around H City, you'll be in for more than just jail time."

"A

Abby shivered violently.

“I got it! I got it!” She nodded repeatedly.

Her biggest regret now was listening to that woman and ambushing Rosalynn at the school gate that morning.

If she hadn't, they'd still be living in the house in the city center, with a lot of savings to use.

“How much money did you scam from Liam's mom?” Rosalynn asked again.

Abby was stunned, clearly not expecting this rich woman to care about such a small sum.

“N-not... not much...”

“Don't you understand your situation yet? Why would I ask if I didn't know?” Rosalynn's voice suddenly turned severe.

“Twenty-eight...”

Rosalynn's eyes were filled with contempt.

“Adding what you've spent, you owe Liam a total of 120,000 dollars from his parents' legacy.”

“Oh my god, where would I get that much money, madam, all that money's been spent!” Abby yelled.

“When you forced Liam to pay you back, did you think about where he, as a kid, would get that much money?” Rosalynn asked with a cold laugh.

Abby was on the verge of breaking down crying.

Rosalynn looked at her indifferently.

This woman couldn't possibly cough up 120,000 dollars, but she might have one or two hundred thousand.

However...

Rosalynn knew, pushing someone too hard might result in the opposite of what you want.

What she wanted was for these people to never dare to approach Liam again.

“According to your rules, write an IOU.” Rosalynn signaled Ableson, who took out a notebook and pen from his pocket and handed them to Abby.

Abby’s hand was shaking badly.

She didn’t want to write an IOU initially, having such a paper around felt like someone could demand money from her anytime!

But...

She looked at Rosalynn.

She had no other choice now.

She wrote down the IOU with trembling hands.

Ableson even carried a seal with him, he had her put her fingerprint on the spot.

Rosalynn took it and glanced at it.

Chapter 1202

Rosalynn looked again at Mathew lying on the ground.

“You can leave, but your husband is a killer. He’s not getting away with it.” Rosalynn said.

Suddenly, the man on the ground started to shiver.

He quickly got up, imitating his wife’s kneeling position: “Ma’am, please let me off this time. My sister loved me so much, if she were still alive, she would never let you treat me like this! I’ve got a family to support, if I get locked up, how will they survive?”

“Gross!”

Abby spat vigorously on the man's face.

From the day he was caught, his selfishness had made her see through this man

"I can support my sons and daughter, I don't need your help!!"

Without him, how much easier her life would be!

And!

Who would want to live with a murderer!

Who knows when he might have a murderous urge again, and kill her in the middle of the night!

The thought of it made her very scared.

"Ms. Tesdal, I've agreed to your terms and written the IOU, can I leave now? My two boys haven't seen me for days, they must be scared to death, they're such scaredy-cats....." Abby started crying.

"Look at this guy next to you, worse than a dog." Rosalynn said, "If you don't want your sons to end up like him, be a good mom, or they'll end up following his lead!" Abby heard Rosalynn's words.

She suddenly thought of her two boys, who were already starting to be disobedient. She was very scared.

"I'll teach them well! I promise I will!"

Rosalynn signaled Mike with her eyes.

Mike immediately ordered his men to drag Abby, who was unable to stand steady, away.

"Ms. Tesdal, I have money to pay your debts.....I can pay Liam's, you can let me go, we have no grudge, let me go!"

"It was painful!" Mathew quickly started to wail, rolling up his sleeves to show Rosalynn the wounds, "They did this to me!"

Rosalynn looked at him coldly.

"You're already in your forties, and you can't handle just a few days of this lifestyle. How long was Liam beaten by you guys? He was just a kid, his ribs were broken by you guys, and you still didn't feed him, if it wasn't for the neighbors' help, he would have starved to death!"

The man became even more panicked: "I was wrong, I sinned, I can apologize to him, just let me go!"

"Murderers must pay with their lives, that's basic." Rosalynn said, "The person who can forgive you is waiting for you in hell, you don't need to tell me this."

Hearing the word hell.

The man's expression quickly collapsed.

He started to tremble with fear.

Rosalynn looked at him with disgust.

She didn't even want to give him a second glance.

She ignored his pleas and left.

That afternoon.

Abby couldn't find her daughter, and was afraid to stay here and bring trouble. So, she took her two sons and ran back to her hometown.

After they left, Rosalynn went to find Liam.

Liam was very surprised when he saw Rosalynn.

Then he thought about Rosalynn's status. It was normal that the not-so-bright couple couldn't find him. But with Ivy's mom's abilities, finding him should be easy right?

He stepped forward and said: "Miss."

Winter came early this year. By evening, the cold wind was already making people uncomfortable.

However, the smile on Ivy's mom's face felt incredibly warm.

Chapter 1203

"How've you been lately?" Rosalynn asked gently.

Liam nodded, "I've been fine."

"Those guys got what they deserved." Rosalynn pulled out an IOU note, "This is for you."

Liam hesitated for a moment, then accepted it.

The weather had turned cold, and his hands were chapped, looking red and swollen.

Rosalynn felt a pang of pity.

“Thanks.” Liam looked at the content of the note, whispering a low “Thanks“.

He was too young at that time.

He had no idea how much money his parents had borrowed.

Was it really the amount that Abby told him?

“You should go back to school tomorrow, nobody will bother or bully you anymore. Rosa lynn paused, then said again, “Liam, I like you a lot, would you like to live with me?”

Liam was slightly taken aback.

He looked up at Rosalynn, his brows slightly furrowed, showing surprise, confusion, and ... a bit of panic.

“I have another son, Ivy’s twin, who’s into physics, chemistry, math and the like just like you. You guys would definitely hit it of f.” Rosalynn continued.

“Cory Jared?” Liam asked.

“Yes, have you met him?” Rosalynn asked.

Liam shook his head, “He just arrived at school and solved a math problem I couldn’t.

Rosalynn didn’t downplay it, “Yep, his math skills are definitely something. You guys should hang out and learn from each other.”

A gentle new mom.

A well-off new home.

Everything seemed so tempting.

But...

“Thanks for the offer. I saved Ivy, you helped me out, we’re square now.” Liam said, “Yo u should go.”

This outcome was within Rosalynn’s expectations.

Liam was very strong.

How could he possibly be willing to rely on others?

“I won’t force you.” Rosalynn still spoke gently, “You have my number, if you change your mind or need any help, feel free to call me.”

Liam nodded.

Rosalynn glanced at a nearby shop.

Several burly men inside were keeping an eye on her.

Liam seemed to sense her concern.

“I’ll go back to my place.”

“Alright.” Rosalynn replied, “I should go now.”

Liam nodded again.

Rosalynn didn’t stick around, she left straight away.

“Are you nuts?” A burly man dashed out as soon as Rosalynn left, “She’s filthy rich! Loads of people would kill for a connection like that. She obviously wanted to adopt you, why did you turn her down?”

Liam was still so young.

Even if his greedy aunt and uncle left, a life alone can’t compare to one in a big house with someone to look after him.

Liam lowered his gaze, not saying a word.

He started to pack his backpack in a leisurely manner.

He thought a lot more than adults did.

She had her own kids, she just wanted to take me home out of pity.

Just like when people see a poor homeless dog on the street, they feel like taking them home. It was the same thing.

But even if he was alone, he didn’t want to be a rescued pet.

Or merely a tool to accompany Ivy and Cory as they grew up.

Whether it's a kitten or a puppy or a tool, they could easily be discarded once the owner lost interest.

He hated being abandoned.

So he decided not to go down that path from the beginning.

Late at night, Liam returned to his empty home.

He switched on the light.

The guys from the shop had cleaned the house very well.

The broken windows had been fixed.

And there was a new set of bedding in the bedroom.

Chapter 1204

This old house isn't exactly a mansion, just two bedrooms and a living room. Before, Liam always thought it felt a bit crowded, but now, it felt so empty

Liam pulled out a picture of his parents from his bag.

"Dad, Mom, I'm home," Liam said softly, standing in front of the photo. The echo of his words was the only response in the empty house. He stood there for a while before heading back to his room.

The next morning, he grabbed his bag and headed for school.

Ivy had been resting at home for a few days.

Wayne didn't want her to go back to school, but under Ivy's insistence, he reluctantly gave in and dropped her off

Instead of going to work, he stayed in his car the whole day, waiting for Ivy to finish school

Paige couldn't help but joke, "Does your hubby have separation anxiety or what?"

Rosalynn laughed. "Not really, Ivy thinks her dad is a bit fragile now, so she's looking out for him."

"There's something I think Wayne didn't tell you."

“What’s that?” Rosalynn’s smile faded slightly, she probably knew what Paige was about to say, “Somebody bailed Olivia out, and it was kept under wraps. No one outside knows yet,” Paige said, relaying what Baillie had told her.

How Baillie found out was beyond Paige.

“If everyone found out, wouldn’t that cause a big mess?”

“Right after she got out, she went straight for a paternity test, Paige lowered her voice, just as you predicted, she’s very concerned about the baby in her belly, if it’s really what you said.”

Rosalynn shrugged, not surprised at all. She knew about it too. The person who bailed Olivia out was a mystery. But given the circumstances, it wasn’t hard to guess the power and influence of the person behind it.

“I bet she’s got the results by now” Paige murmured to herself.

Paige was spot on. Half an hour ago, Olivia received the DNA test results. She had been full of hope. After all, she had been carrying this life inside her for so long. How could it not be her child?

But when the results came, Olivia’s last shred of hope was shattered. The baby in her belly had no biological link to her! In the half an hour since she got the news, Olivia completely fell apart.

Olivia made a decision without hesitation, “Find a doctor, find a hospital, I want an abortion!”

Before, she had affection for the baby, since it was supposed to be hers and Wayne’s. But now, she just felt like the baby was a disgusting monster. She wanted it out of her body as soon as possible, like tossing a piece of unwanted meat down the drain.

She had endured so much for this child, faced so much ridicule!

Even if it wasn’t Wayne’s child.

Even if it was just hers, she could have accepted it!

“Ma’am, Mr. Simon will arrive in H Country the day after tomorrow. It would be best to discuss this matter with him,” said the man facing Olivia, his expression showing his discomfort

Chapter 1205

That’s right.

In the end, it was Simon who bailed out Olivia, not Wayne

Now she's been abandoned by everyone, except Simon. Who else would care about her?

Even this person Simon sent.

After learning about Olivia's actions, they also feel disgusted with her.

Without hesitation, Olivia dialed Simon's number.

She made several calls, but Simon didn't answer any of them.

Olivia was about to lose her temper again.

The man across from her helplessly messaged Simon: "Sir, Ms. Walley wants to have an abortion."

After receiving that message, Simon proactively called Olivia.

She quickly answered, tears streaming down her face.

At this point, she finally understood that in this world, only Simon was the person who would never abandon her, no matter what she did or what kind of person she was. "Simon" she choked out, "I was wrong. Wayne confused me, and I've done so many wrong things, but you still didn't give up on me..."

On the other end, Simon let out a deep sigh

"You want to have an abortion?"

"Yes! I want to have an abortion!" Olivia immediately became excited.

*Just because Wayne doesn't want this child? Olivia, this is still your child Simon said solemnly.

Due to certain reasons, he no longer had a chance to have his own child

He had already prepared himself to be the father of Olivia's child.

"No!"

Olivia shouted excitedly.

What's wrong?" Simon asked seriously.

He realized that Olivia's mental state was deteriorating.

So he had already found a psychologist and planned to accompany Olivia to see the doctor once she returned home.

“This child is not mine! Simon, I was deceived so badly by the Silverman family!” Olivia felt wronged and ashamed, crying out loud. “Maddie Fuller lied to me, saying that they used my eggs to cultivate an embryo with Wayne’s sperm, but Wayne changed the sperm, and Maddie didn’t use my eggs to cultivate the embryo! I’m just a tool to conceive this child!!!”

Simon was extremely shocked

He originally thought that the previous paternity test with Wayne was manipulated by Wayne and his wife.

He never expected the hidden story to be like this.

It was simply unbelievable.

“So, I have to get rid of this child. I can’t stand being with it, I feel disgusted, I feel so disgusted I only hate that I let Maddie die too easily back then!! I want to dig up her grave and scatter her ashes!!”

“Olivia, calm down. Wait for me, I’ll arrange a doctor for you, and I’ll accompany you for the procedure!” Simon comforted her

“No, I can’t take it anymore. Hurry up and arrange a doctor for me. I want to get this child out of my body right away!! Olivia didn’t listen to anything Simon said, determined not to wait even a single second

Simon was at a loss for what to do with her.

At the same time, he also felt that the existence of that child was too humiliating.

He reluctantly agreed.

That night, Olivia was taken to the operating room.

Before the surgery, the doctor carefully reviewed all the medical images and then said to Olivia, “This is a very healthy boy. Are you really sure about this?”

“Please begin!” Olivia didn’t hesitate in the slightest.

As the anesthesia started, the surgery began as well.

In fact, Olivia had seen her child multiple times in her dreams.

Indeed it was a little boy.

He was incredibly adorable, with soft hair, always smiling at her and calling her “mommy” she entered a white world.

Chapter 1206

She saw the child again.

This time, he wasn’t smiling. He cried with great sadness, and his face turned pale

“Why doesn’t Mommy want me?”

Olivia exclaimed excitedly. “I’m not your mommy, you’re a monster! You’ve caused me so much pain”

“I’m a good kid, I didn’t hurt you, Mommy! The child cried loudly

Olivia’s heart felt a sharp pain.

And at that moment.

The tiny body was suddenly cut open by countless invisible threads

Amidst the screams, blood gushed out, turning into many pieces.

“Mommy, save me! It hurts so much!”

A white space.

As the small body was torn apart, darkness surged like a tide

Olivia screamed in shock, sitting up abruptly.

Instinctively, she touched her stomach

It felt empty, and she could sense it clearly.

“Olma”

Simon’s voice sounded in her ear.

She looked around and saw her phone on the bedside table, engaged in a video call Olivia’s face turned pale as a corpse.

She thought of the child in her dream, desperately crying for help

Her heart was filled with immense pain.

Why did those people treat her like this?

Why make her endure such great suffering?

“Olivia!” Simon called out again..

Olivia answered the phone, crying.

“Simon, I can’t accept this! Olivia sobbed, “It’s unfair for me and that child Why should we be treated this way while they enjoy a happy life?”

“Do you still want to get back to Gabriella Jared?” Simon’s face immediately darkened.

“No, I’ve seen through Wayne. He doesn’t love me... He’s too cruel to someone he doesn’t love Olivia gritted her teeth. “They need to pay the price. Someone has to be held responsible for this child’s death!”

Olivia was completely unaware

She was the one who killed this child

She only blamed Maddie, Wayne, and Rosalynn Tesdal.

If Rosalynn and Wayne had been a little more merciful and hadn’t revealed the truth so early, this child might not have died...

Thinking this way, Olivia felt a chill.

No

Why couldn’t this child die?

He had to die because if he was born, it would be a lifelong shame she couldn’t escape from

No matter what

Wayne’s family had to pay for it.

Olivia, you can’t fight against them.” Simon said, “Listen to me. Let’s go back home and never come to the H Country again. Let’s peacefully live our future lives, okay?”

Olivia lifted her head

She looked at Simon

You're afraid of them, aren't you?"

Simon's family was powerful

But his position within the family was uncertain.

She knew that Simon had always been wary of the present Wayne

But she never expected him to be this afraid,

To the point where he had to endure being bullied by Wayne and his wife.

"It's not because of that. I just don't want you to live in hatred all the time. I want you to be happy!" Simon said earnestly. "Have these past ten years been truly peaceful for you since you found out about Wayne's placement? Have you been genuinely happy, Olivia? Enough is enough! You've already taken away Gabriella's rightful life, and now that she's back, you should return to your own life, live as Olivia

Chapter 1207

"You think I stole Rosalynn's life?" Olivia said, "This is Wayne's fault, he came to me first.

Olivia looked at Simon

Her eyes were full of disappointment.

"I thought you would stand by me no matter what, but turns out you're also on her side:

"Olivia" Simon was a bit anxious.

He was feeling regret

He should have waited for her to come back and then discuss these issues.

After all, she just had an abortion..

Before Simon could finish

Olivia hung up the video and deleted Simon from her contact list.

She gripped her phone tightly

Her abdomen was in constant pain

Making her feel extremely uncomfortable.

She thought for a moment

Then found some homifying pictures of baby corpses online, and sent them to Rosalynn

“This is your fault, I don’t know who the father is, I’ve aborted it, you are the murderer, it will haunt you like a ghost!”

Olivia thought

This should scare Rosalynn.

But she didn’t expect the text message was sent, but the pictures were blocked by the service provider because they were too bloody

Olivia, like a madwoman, sent them over and over again

Until ten minutes later.

She received a reply from Rosalynn.

I’ve screenshot it and blown the whistle,”

Olivia was taken aback.

She wanted to recall the message, but it was too late.

“Rosalynn, how could you be so cold-hearted! You will pay for it, no, no, the retribution will not fall on you, but on your child

However

The message was sent for a long time.

it showed failed to send

Rosalynn had blocked her number.

Olivia was furious. She couldn’t hurt Rosalynn, she only ended up hurting herself

Just as she was out of control and didn’t know what to do.

Her phone vibrated twice.

She thought it was Rosalynn replying to her message.

So she picked up the phone again.

Turns out, it was a strange number that sent a message.

“Sis, miss me?”

Olivia was stunned

She threw her phone away.

Only one person in this world would call her sis, Jeffery Whaley!

But he was dead!

“Dead is dead, there are no ghosts in this world? Only liars?”

Olivia realized something, grabbed her phone and looked at the number that sent the message.

It showed unknown

And he sent a few more messages.

The front door of her hospital, the ward, and her floor.

Olivia's halts stood on end.

“Don't play tricks! I'm not afraid!”

She replied.

Then the other party sent a picture

Olivia screamed in fright

Lecture wat of her

nother's corpse

How could you be so cruel? Killing your own brother killing your own mom! Aren't you afraid of karma

He kept sending messages.

Diivia simply shut down her phone.

She struggled to get out of bed and pulled the curtains

Then tried to lock the ward door.

Simon's guy heard the noise and came in

Olivia was suddenly startled.

She retreated back to the bed in fear.

“Ms. Whaley

She looked at the person coming in after confirming it wasn't Jeffery, she sighed in relief.

“What are you doing? Don't you know to knock before entering?”

Chapter 1208

The man remained silent for a moment.

“I knocked on the door, but you didn't respond, so I got worried and came in,” he explained.

If it weren't for Mr. Simon giving him a large sum of money to protect Olivia, he wouldn't have endured this trouble

Olivia regained some composure.

Now this man was the only person who could protect her.

“Somebody has been sending me threatening text messages, I suspect they're here in the hospital. Please stay by the door and don't leave the trembled as she spoke

“Threatening text messages?” the man frowned: “Let me see”

But she didn't dare show him the messages.

already deleted them Olivia replied.

The man fell silent for a moment

For some reason, he felt she was lying

There were no messages at all

She just wanted to use him to gain sympathy from Duke Simon.

“I understand. I'll guard the door. You'll be safe,” he said, then left the hospital room

As soon as he closed the door, a stooped and masked janitor with wrinkled skin passed by pushing a cleaning cart

He was just a hospital staff member, nothing noteworthy

The man stood by the door and replied to Mr. Simon's message, assuring him that Ms. Whaley was safe and he didn't need to worry

He conveniently omitted the part about the threatening messages.

Simon had sent many people to protect Olivia

They were all hidden in unnoticed corners of the hospital.

Their mission was to prevent any harm from coming to Olivia from the Silverman couple

Originally, Simon planned to release her after he returned to the H Country himself.

But upon hearing that Olivia's condition was deteriorating, he couldn't bear it and decided to bring her out earlier.

The night grew darker.

On the other side of Moonlit Lake.

After the cold weather, Rosalynn became somewhat drowsy.

As she half-slept, she reached out and felt the empty space beside her

She removed her eye mask and looked around until she saw Wayne standing by the floor-to-ceiling window.

"Wayne Rosalynn called out.

Wayne snapped out of his thoughts and walked towards her

"Couldn't sleep? Did you have a nightmare? Wayne touched Rosalynn's forehead

Rosalynn shook her head. "Why aren't you sleeping?"

They had just laid down to rest together.

was thinking about some things, Wayne said, lifting a corner of the blanket and slipping into bed. "Go back to sleep, I'll stay with you"

"Did Olivia send you a message, threatening by and Cory?" Rosalynn asked him gently, embracing him.

Wayne's gaze grew deep. "Yeah"

'Don't worry about it. Ivy and Cory are fine,'" Rosalynn closed her eyes. "Our ancestors will protect them?"

Wayne chuckled softly

He kissed Rosalynn. I know Sleep now.

What Wayne didn't say aloud was that he wasn't worried about their children being threatened by someone like Olivia.

The reason he couldn't sleep was because he was waiting

Waiting for Olivia's outcome

The person responsible for guarding Olivia began to feel tired and called for a cup of coffee

However, Instead of feeling refreshed after drinking the coffee, he became even sleepier

Before long, he fell asleep on the bench

Later on, the janitor who had previously been stooped and masked entered through the fire exit, still pushing the garbage cart.

He parked the cart outside Olivia's room and straightened his hunched back.

With his scar-covered hand, he gently turned the doorknob and pushed the door open.

Olivia had just finished her surgery

She had been overly excited and had also been startled.

Now she was asleep.

Chapter 1209

The next morning, Wayne dropped Cory and Ivy off at school, while Rosalynn headed to the studio in her car.

The FreshBite case was hearing its end.

Lola and the others had landed several solid collaborations in the past few months.

Rosalynn was here today to brainstorm solutions for these collaborations with her team.

However, halfway through the meeting Paige Owens rushed in

"What's the rush, Paige? Rosalynn paused the meeting and retreated to her office.

Paige knew better than to interrupt Rosalynn at work unless it was urgent

Paige closed the door, looked at Rosalynn, and said with a furrowed brow, "Olivia Whaley is dead"

Rosalynn was taken aback. "She's dead? How'd you find out?"

"Not just me, soon everyone will know!" Paige whispered

"Start from the beginning" Rosalynn poured her a glass of water

Paige initially planned to call Rosalynn, but no one picked up. Not knowing the studio's front desk number, she came straight to the studio

She was parched from her hurried trip.

After gulping down the water, she showed Rosalynn some gruesome pictures on her phone.

In a dim room, blood was everywhere. Olivia's head was in a corner. A man was crouching on the ground, hacking at her body with an ax

"Where did these pictures come from? Rosalynn asked.

"A classmate sent them to me Paige whispered. "He said the man live-streamed the whole process of killing Olivia on the dark web last night!

Rosalynn frowned.

Did Wayne have something to do with this?" Paige asked quietly

Even though she also wished for Olivia to get what's coming to her, the suddenness of the incident made her uneasy

Moreover with such a big commotion, it would be hard to ensure that Cory and hy never find out

If they found out their dad could be so cruel...

Paige's mind was in turmoil on her way over.

Rosalynn suddenly remembered Wayne standing by the window that morning seemingly deep in thought.

After a moment's consideration, she dismissed Paige's speculation

"He didn't mention anything" Rosalynn said, "If he did it and didn't want me to know, there wouldn't be a live-stream"

“Alright” Paige slumped on the sofa. “Delete the pictures after you’ve seen them. They’re really horrifying!”

Rosalynn took another look indeed feeling nauseous, so she deleted the pictures

Just as Paige had predicted, by evening the news of Olivia’s murder had spread across all platforms

Clear pictures of Olivia’s face were circulating, despite being banned, to no avail,

As Olivia had recently had a big argument with Wayne, almost leading to the death of his daughter, the public opinion immediately pointed at Wayne and Rosalynn

But mostly Wayne.

Everyone knew that Wayne didn’t have a great reputation.

To put it nicely, he was resolute and decisive.

To put it bluntly, he was cold-hearted, a madman.

Chapter 1210

That pic totally killed my appetite. I gotta say, as annoying as Olivia was, Wayne didn’t have to off her like that, right?”

“Wasn’t Olivia pregnant? No matter how much Wayne hated her, he can’t hit a pregnant lady, even the law is lenient toward pregnant death row inmates!”

“Yeah, the unbom kid did nothing wrong. Wayne is just too brutal

“Wayne used to be sweet on Olivia, he’s gone cold as ice!”

“I’m starting to worry for Secretary Tendal. Wayne is definitely a loose cannon!”

Bane Corporation’s PR department issued a speedy response denying any connection between Wayne and Olivia’s murder, Regardless, netizens weren’t buying it.

“Words won’t cut it anymore. I hope the authorities investigate this thoroughly. Don’t let a murderer walk free!

“If Wayne gets off scot-free this time, I’ll lose all faith in the law!”

“Starting today, we boycott all products under Bane Corporation, the Silverman Group, and the Jared Group. Say no to violence

“Some of you guys are hilarious, boycotting products from Bane Corporation, the Silverman Group, and the Jared Group, what will you use then?”

Of course, there were also those defending Wayne and Rosalynn.

“Honestly, Olivia pissed off a ton of people. The last time her true colors were exposed, she got death threats online! Plus, if Wayne really wanted to kill her wouldn't he wait until everyone had forgotten about it? If he killed Olivia now, he'd be the prime suspect. Don't make Wayne out to be an idiot!

“Yeah, don't paint him as some sort of monster. Besides, he could have made Olivia disappear without a trace, right? If he can pull that off, why would he go through the trouble of live streaming a murder?”

As the debate raged on mainstream media outlets in H City received a message

“In half an hour, the murderer of Olivia will turn himself into the police.”

Everyone was too caught up in the drama to question the veracity of the message

They all headed out to stake out the police station

Simultaneously, someone uploaded a video of Olivia's murder on an underground video site overseas, which charged for viewing

It didn't take long for people to notice that the audio was much more detailed than during the live stream, and it even showed the killer's face. The entire dialogue between the killer and Olivia was also included

“I paid to watch it, guess who the murderer is “Stop beating around the bush, spill it!!

“The killer is actually Olivia's missing brother Jeffery Whaley!!!

A horde of reporters gathered outside the police station, scanning their surroundings.

They were all hoping to catch the first glimpse of the murderer.

The alleged half-hour was almost up, and there was still no sign of the murderer, so many were getting disappointed and some were about to leave.

Just then, a man rode up on a shared bike.

After parking his bike, he walked towards the entrance of the police station

Suddenly it clicked, “Yeah, that's him! He's the guy with the scarred face from the pay per view video Someone yelled, and all cameras were aimed at the man.

The man stood there, slowly removing his cap, revealing a face full of scars

“I’m Jeffery, Olivia’s brother, I admit I killed her and I’m here to turn myself in ”

After saying that, Jeffery patted the basketball bag in his hands.

He suddenly smiled and said, “I even brought her head, want me to open it up for you?”

How could the media miss such a scoop? Those close by immediately agreed to film
Their cameras were all aimed at the basketball bag
