

The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1261

The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1261

Chapter 1261

Hearing this, Molly found it quite amusing and even burst into laughter.

The royal fam's got their knickers in a twist big time right now

After all, it was Simon who started the beef, Rosalynn just hit back.

But no one would've thought, right under their royal noses, Simon would get snuffed out, and in a way that the whole world knows about

The royals' ties with both Bane Corporation and the Jared Group isn't a biggie.

The shares in these collaborations aren't much, but the collab with the Scott family, now that's a whole different ball game.

If their relationship with the Scott family goes sour cause of Simon, how they gonna play nice in the future?

Mrs. Scott of the Scott family straight up added a bounty of 30 million on the dark web and became one of Simon's hunters.

She's making her stance crystal clear.

Simon's mom, looking at her son's headless corpse, was crying her eyes out.

Her cousin is the queen, she knelt before her and said, "Your Majesty, that Jared girl has brought shame to the royal house and murdered Simon, we can't let this slide!"

The queen, sitting on her throne with a sour face, replied, "Do you think today's H Country entrepreneurs are still the same as those 40 years ago?"

40 years ago, those H Country folks would bend over backwards to give them money and collaborate with them just to make a buck.

But now, people from H Country have their own advanced tech and elite teams.

They no longer need to suck up to them.

On the flip side, they've been left in the dust, unable to keep up with H Country's development and progress over the years

Now, they're the ones who need people from H Country.

They've become the ones being chosen.

"So we just let Simon die such a humiliating death? Let him remain headless?" Simon's mother, shocked, stared at her cousin.

I've already reached out to Hilaria Jared to persuade her granddaughter to return Simon's head. You know what kind of person Hilaria is. She's been threatened and is definitely pissed off. She won't even save my face!" the queen said solemnly

Born a princess, she has enjoyed a life of glory and honor, but now she has to bow down for a useless man

Thinking of this made the queen furrow her brows deeply.

"But in the end, my son was the one who got killed! What does she have to be mad about!!"

Among the bounty for killing Simon, Hilaria added an extra 50 million

"This situation, ultimately, it was Simon who made the first offensive move. Others just retaliated, and the one who ended him was someone close to him. It was his own negligence!" The queen was losing her patience, "Do you really want me to betray the entire royal family's interests for him? Did he ever consider the royal family's interests in his actions? Now I have to sacrifice the royal family's interests for him?"

"Your Majesty!" Simon's mother cried out in despair

"Enough, I can only promise to do my best to recover Simon's head. Don't say anymore!"

The queen directed a warning gaze at her cousin, emphasizing, "Take a lesson from what happened to Simon. If you're set on seeking revenge, target the one who killed him, but don't involve innocent families."

Simon's mother's eyes filled with intense hatred, revealing her desire for retribution

Observing her mother's reaction, the queen spoke firmly, "If you provoke those families again, the royal family will publicly sever all ties with your family. This naturally includes Leo

Leo, Simon's brother, held a prominent position within the royal family.

Simon's mother was taken aback, then she swallowed her grief and lowered her head saying, "Your Majesty, you have my word. Both Leo and I will prioritize the interests of the royal family. I implore you, as a helpless mother, to aid me in recovering Simon's remains as soon as possible."

"Mm-hmm." The queen nodded.

Simon's mother left the hall with her head down, biting her lip as she walked away quickly.

She would never let the girl who killed Simon off the hook

Chapter 1262

The Queen explicitly forbid their public actions, but Simon's mother was secretly pulling the strings.

Two days have passed, and Simon's head has been found.

However, this requires a substantial amount of money.

The funeral took place quietly, without anyone noticing.

Similar to Heatherway, Simon was also prohibited from being buried in the royal cemetery.

During this period, the royal family and Simon's mother have expended a considerable amount of money in search of the killer

Little did they know that the killer herself was busy tutored at another household.

If progress continued swiftly, she would become an elementary school student by the next spring semester.

Aside from her studies, there was something she greatly enjoys-suddenly engaging with the bodyguards.

She didn't seek out those guards she clearly surpassed in strength but specifically targeted individuals like Ableson and Mike

Of course, even though Ableson and Mike were no match for Felix, they could still hold their own against her

They bore no resentment and were even willing to be challenged by her, finding it rather enjoyable.

Every time they bested her, they'd comfort her, "You're still young but already so strong Eat more meat grow tall and big, and soon we won't stand a chance against you!"

She's cool with that

After a match, she'd retreat to her room and get back to her studies

But ever since her first sparring session with Calvin, she stopped challenging him, mainly because she realized the gap between their abilities was way too wide But also... because that day he cried over the incident with the seed, it really shook her

She's kind of scared of him now.

Moonlit Lake is a big place.

She lived in a remote area, her long-term life on the run had kept her from venturing out of her territory, she spent her days within her living area.

In the blink of an eye, winter break arrived.

The busy and beautiful woman suddenly called her over

"How are you adjusting to everything here? Rosalynn greeted her, removing her gold-rimmed glasses and smiling.

She nodded. "The meals here are delicious. I've gained three pounds, and my father is very pleased?"

Rosalynn observed significant changes in her, most notably the absence of the aura of violence she once exuded

She appeared to be increasingly resembling a normal child.

“And you’ve grown a bit taller, Rosalynn gestured.

Molly felt as if she had been praised and couldn’t help but feel delighted

“Your teachers say you learn very quickly. Your test scores are consistently excellent. After their comprehensive evaluation, they believe you can skip to third grade.

Chapter 1263

The decision is yours”

Until now, Molly regarded everything she had done as a challenge.

She had put great effort into finding a solution for her father’s retirement dilemma.

“Later, I’ll take you to school, Rosalynn said

“School?” Molly was puzzled.

“Are you afraid?” Rosalynn sensed her unease.

“There are many strangers, and it’s not safe Molly candidly expressed. Strangers were a threat to her because they could approach her without disguises, making it dangerous.

“Til take you to have a look, and then you can decide if you want to go.

“Alright,” Molly nodded.

She adored this beautiful and affluent woman. Unlike others, the woman would never force her to do anything.

“Let’s go then.”

“What about my father?”

“He will join you later. For now, he cannot appear in public.”

“Okay.” Molly was very cooperative.

Soon, she was in the car to school.

The school was having its final exam. Rosalynn took Molly to the principal’s office

Coincidentally, Liam, whom they hadn’t seen in a while, was also in the office

“Why won’t you go for the exchange student spot I worked so hard to get for you!” The principal asked angrily, “Boy, I’ve noticed you’re getting more and more rebellious

Liam was still wearing his faded jacket, appearing slightly taller, with neatly groomed hair. He stood before the principal, silent and sporting a disinterested” expression.

Rosalynn knocked on the door. The principal looked up and immediately smiled upon seeing Rosalynn.

“Ms. Jared, you’re here. Is this the child from your relative’s family?” the principal asked.

As soon as Liam heard Ivy’s mother mentioned, his ears turned red, and his eyebrows furrowed.

“What’s the matter?” Rosalynn placed her hand on Molly’s back and gently urged her to enter. “Is Liam going to be an exchange student?”

“No!” Liam responded impatiently.

“Don’t you dare talk back!” the principal exclaimed, visibly frustrated,

“Sir, let’s calm down and take it slowly,” Rosalynn intervened, feeling somewhat exasperated but still attempting to mediate

“This is a remarkable opportunity. With Liam’s exceptional physics abilities, he will undoubtedly gain tremendous benefits from spending a year abroad,” the principal confidently stated.

“You guys continue, I’ve finished my exam, I’m going home.”

Liam finished speaking and was about to leave.

But Molly quickly walked to the door and stared at him; “She didn’t say you could go.”

Liam’s face looked even worse.

“Molly, let him go.” Rosalynn didn’t expect Molly to be like this.

Molly was very obedient and stepped aside.

Liam looked helpless.

He just heard the principal say that Ivy’s sister was also coming to this school

Seems like she’ll be in the same class as ivy

This girl doesn't seem like a normal person.

Ivy will be bullied by her, right?

Liam's brows furrowed even more, but he didn't say anything and just left.

The principal looked a bit puzzled, then smiled and said. "Let me see the report card first."

"She's been homeschooling. I'll show you her latest test paper." Rosalynn took out Molly's test paper, The principal looked at the test paper and was speechless for a moment.

"Um

"She's still practicing, shell definitely be better by the time she officially starts school Rosalynn said gently.