

The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1284

The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1284

Chapter 1284

He was still willing to give the exchange student opportunity to someone else.

Rosalynn found out that apart from him, there was another girl in the school who was qualified for the overseas exchange as well, but there was only one spot. The headmaster managed to persuade him with theory and his awards from competitions. So, the school gave the spot to him.

The girl, who came from an average family, had worked hard for a really long time to get this chance.

He gave up the opportunity, which then smoothly landed on the girl.

After a few more words with the headmaster, Rosalynn and Wayne, with Ivy, left.

On the way, Wayne looked at the report card and said to Rosalynn, "Babe, Ivy has good grades, right? Does the headmaster really need to be that harsh?" Rosalynn was speechless.

"As long as she's happy, I can spoil her for a lifetime," Wayne said determinedly. "Are you really going to let Liam tutor Ivy?"

"That's what your daughter asked for. What can I do?" Rosalynn linked arms with Wayne, "Daddy, you're not jealous of Liam, are you?"

Wayne had noticed Ivy really liked Liam.

She called him with such sweetness.

"I think Liam's just a kid too, and he's not as smart as my son," Wayne said.

His gaze fell on Ivy, who was bouncing ahead.

She was a bit disappointed when she first got the report card, but now she was overjoyed because Liam was coming to tutor her....

Rosalynn chuckled, her shoulders shaking lightly.

Wayne looked at her helplessly.

“Didn’t I tell you that your daughter likes handsome guys? When she was three years old, she followed the neighbor’s beautiful aunt home because she thought she was pretty” Rosalynn said.

“Is Liam handsome?” Wayne frowned.

He was just a little kid who hadn’t grown up yet.

“Of course, he’s handsome!” Rosalynn answered without hesitation.

Wayne’s expression became somewhat displeased. “Is he really that handsome?”

Rosalynn laughed until her cheeks hurt. “Of course, President Silverman is the most handsome!”

Finally, a smile appeared on Wayne’s face.

Cory was waiting in the nanny car for his sister and parents.

After Mom received Ivy’s report card, she showed it to him.

He shared the same view as his dad: his sister’s happiness was the most important thing, and her talent in painting was unmatched by others in their lifetime. As long as she wasn’t illiterate, it was fine.

“Cory, you got first place in your grade! You’re amazing!” Ivy got into the car and immediately praised Cory.

Cory wanted to say a few words of comfort.

But...

“Oh, by the way, Mom invited Liam over just now. He’ll help me with my lessons during the winter break!” Ivy said enthusiastically.

“Alright, Liam just said he’ll see if he has time,” Rosalynn fastened Ivy’s seatbelt.

But Ivy was confident. “If he said he’ll see if he has time, it means he agreed to help me with my lessons! Mom, we should prepare a room for Liam. And, oh! Liam doesn’t have any family left, and Christmas is coming soon. Mom, can we invite Liam to spend Christmas with us?”

Chapter 1285

“If he’s game, that’d be awesome. Can you ask him later?” Rosalynn replied softly.

Ivy nodded, “What about Molly? Uncle Calvin said Molly lives in the same building as Mike, but Uncle Calvin won’t let me go play with her. He said she’s busy prepping for school exams.”

“Molly will be celebrating Christmas with us too. Once she’s done with her exams, you can go and play with her.”

1

Wayne furrowed his eyebrows slightly but remained silent.

Ivy, on the other hand, was ecstatic. Throughout the entire trip back home, she chattered incessantly, like a happy little bird.

Once they arrived home, she wasted no time and immediately started selecting a room for Liam.

She chose a guest room with abundant sunlight, offering a beautiful view of green mountains, a forest, and a man-made lake in the distance.

The view was truly breathtaking.

However, Ivy wasn’t pleased with the desk in the guest room, so she used her own savings to purchase a study desk and chair that matched hers.

In the midst of all this, everyone was celebrating Liam’s achievement of once again ranking at the top of his class.

The boss was absolutely delighted, appearing as if his own child had accomplished this feat. Some people who were unaware of the situation actually believed that Liam was the boss's own son. In reality....

"My two little troublemakers, barely getting by and not at the bottom of the class, dreaming of reaching the top?" Liam grabbed a stool and sat by the door, relishing a brief moment of tranquility.

He had obtained Ivy's test papers from the director, revealing that her foundation was quite weak. Given this, her current scores were actually quite impressive.

After reviewing the papers, Liam bid the boss goodbye and left.

Once home, he printed out all of Ivy's incorrect answers and meticulously wrote the solution and thought process on the back, even explaining the basic knowledge involved.

By the time he finished with all the subjects, the sky was starting to lighten.

He then ordered a set of textbooks Ivy would need for next semester online.

Afterwards, he texted Rosalynn the times he could tutor.)

Rosalynn replied quickly.

"Alright, my place is a bit out of the way. I'll arrange for someone to pick you up when it's time."

Liam replied with a simple 'okay'.

He then turned off his phone and went to sleep.

Rosalynn had to accompany her daughter to her exams early in the morning.

Chapter 1286

"Here's your test paper." Liam handed the papers to Ivy.

"Today's study material is these test papers, Liam continued, "Where shall we study?"

Ivy came to her senses and led Liam to the study.

She intended to make some small talk, but Liam promptly pulled out the collection of mistakes he prepared earlier and started explaining them seriously.

At first, Ivy found it a bit boring, but gradually, she was drawn into Liam's teaching.

Halfway through, her brother Cory came to take a peek. Seeing her studying so intently, he left and sent a message to Wayne: "Liam is doing a great job teaching, and Ivy is really buckling down."

Wayne was in a meeting and felt a bit down upon receiving this message.

He had a subordinate before, who suddenly burst into tears when his daughter was getting married.

At that time, Wayne thought it was a bit over-the-top.

But now that he was a father himself, he suddenly understood how that guy felt.

His little girl already had a boy she liked, and as a father, he couldn't help but feel a bit upset.

Over at Rosalynn's, her daughter had a lot of study material.

She had her work laptop with her. When her daughter was taking the test, she would be handling work in her office.

Near the end of the exam, she received a call from an unknown number.

She answered the call and asked, "Who's this?"

"Gabriella, it's Annie." Annie's voice came from the other end, "I'm getting discharged in a couple of days. When can we make good on that dinner plan?"

"Sure thing." After exchanging pleasantries, Annie naturally transitioned to work, "Christmas is in half a month. I was thinking we could gather the project team and take a trip to the project site before then. What do you think?"

Rosalynn responded, "That could work. But most of the workers on the project are about to go on holiday, maybe we should wait a bit?"

Annie was silent for a moment on the other end.

"Right, in that case, I'll have the team refine the plan during this period."

"Will you be staying here?" Rosalynn asked.

"Yes." Annie's tone was a bit bitter.

Just then, Molly walked in.

Upon seeing Rosalynn on the phone, Molly remembered something. She stepped out, closed the door, and then knocked before entering again.

Molly's action amused Rosalynn and made her chuckle.

Annie heard the voice from the other end of the call and asked, "Are you busy with something?"

"Well, there are a few things now."

"Then

go

ahead and take care of them. We'll chat when you're discharged from the hospital."

The call ended.

Rosalynn looked at Molly with a smile on her face. "How did your exams go?"

"They should be fine," Molly nodded. "Sorry, I forgot to knock earlier."

She rarely knocked before entering.

Knocking meant potentially attracting unnecessary attention.

"Remember for next time," Rosalynn took out a piece of chocolate from her bag. "Here, it's for you."

Molly hesitated for a moment.

But she still reached out and accepted the chocolate. After unwrapping it, she glanced at Rosalynn, took a gentle bite to taste it, and then quickly finished the entire piece of chocolate.

The test results were already out on the same day.

Chapter 1287

Molly passed the entrance exam with flying colors, which was not a surprise to anyone.

The teacher was thrilled and saw her and Rosalynn Tesdal off. "She's a smart cookie. She should look up to Cory Jared and aim to be at the top of the class. And she should also help Ivy Jared improve!"

Molly nodded in agreement.

“You’ll receive a notification in a few days; just be sure to show up on time for the next term!”

“Thank you, teacher.” Rosalynn replied politely.

“That’s my job. Liam was tutoring Ivy today, wasn’t he?”

“Yes.” Rosalynn nodded, “Cory just told me that Liam’s teaching was really good and Ivy was studying seriously.”

“That’s great! The kids in the class all like asking Liam for help. They say it’s even better than asking the teacher!”

“Hearing you say that, I can’t wait even more. My Ivy is determined to be in the top 100 next term.”

“Good for her, that’s the spirit!” The teacher praised her immediately upon hearing this.

There were more than a few rich kids in the school.

But some kids, just because they came from well-to-do families, acted like they were above the law.

Ivy once made cry was a case in point.

So when the teacher met a wealthy kid who was ambitious, she was really pleased.

After leaving the school, they returned to Moonlit Lake.

Molly couldn’t wait to dash back and tell Felix she had passed the entrance exam.

Upon hearing that Molly had been accepted, everyone in the room cheered instantly.

“I knew you could do it!” Felix exclaimed excitedly.

He took out a box and handed it to Molly. “This is your entrance gift!”

Molly shook the parcel, her eyes lighting up instantly. In front of everyone’s surprised gaze, she ripped open the box.

She pulled out something that looked like a dagger with elaborate designs.

“My knife!” Molly was over the moon.

She immediately strapped it to her wrist.

Seeing her so happy, Mike also took out his gift for her. His gift was a pair of white noise –canceling headphones.

“I noticed your old headphones are pretty outdated. Use these, so you won’t be disturbed by us while studying! Mike handed the headphones to Molly, who took them and said sincerely, “Thanks, Mike.”

“Ableson also has a gift!” Ableson announced while handing Molly an iPad. “I heard students nowadays use technology to study instead of books. Our Molly needs to keep up with the trend, right?”

“Thanks, Ableson.” Molly said as she took it.”

Others also gave her gifts they had prepared.

Though none of them were expensive, everyone believed the gifts could help Molly with her studies.

Molly accepted all the gifts and then everyone got busy with their own stuff.

Only Molly and Felix were left in the room, “This is the first time I’ve received gifts from anyone other than my father.” Molly said, deeply moved.

Seeing this, Felix’s eyes moistened.

His daughter was just a normal little girl who should react like this after receiving gifts.

“Molly, you’re smart, pretty, and everyone likes you!” Felix said gently.

Molly pondered, “But I won’t hold back during competitions!”

“Dad.” Molly looked at Felix, raised her arm, and flashed a smile. She patted her wrist, “I like the gift you gave me the best!”

Chapter 1288

This item was almost identical to the one that had been with her since childhood and losing it had really bummed her out.

Felix looked at Molly and felt that his gratitude towards Rosalynn was beyond words.

He originally came to kill her child, but in the end, not only did she not punish him, but she also helped him save Molly from danger.

From now on, Molly will lead a normal schoolgirl’s life.

Her smart little brain would be filled with thoughts about how to solve the day's problems, how to spell that word, and how to interpret that sentence.

He wouldn't have to worry about where to hide today, afraid that passersby were the organization's spies, or how to escape faster.

"Molly, sweetheart, Daddy will work hard from now on. Once we've saved enough money, we'll buy the house you like, and we'll have our own home!" Felix stroked Molly's head, choking back his words.

Molly looked at him, "You want to buy a house?"

She still had a lot of money, which she didn't need to pay back to Rosalynn. And she also didn't need it.

"Houses can be bought, but I still like living here." Molly continued.

Felix was taken aback, "You like this kind of mansion?"

"Mansion?" Molly shook her head, "If I don't live here, how can I protect—Rosalynn's child at all times?"

Felix was stunned again, "Don't you know, those two kids are very fragile. Ivy seems a bit it slow. The first time we met, she had already decided I was her friend."

Molly was a bit serious, "Father, you said it yourself that people who easily trust others are more likely to fall into danger."

Felix said, "Molly, they have a lot of people protecting them. They don't need you. You just study hard; Daddy will protect them!"

"I can too." Molly was very firm.

She knew she had to have her own value here. If she were just a normal student, her existence would be worthless.

Besides, she really liked Ivy. Ivy looked like a delicate porcelain doll that needed to be protected.

"Alrighty Felix didn't force her.

As they were talking, there was a knock at the door."

Felix went to open the door and saw Calvin, who rarely visited, standing outside.

"Did Rosalynn send for me?" asked Felix.

“A gift.” Calvin handed a box with Disney princesses printed on it to Felix and looked at Molly, “Congratulations on your enrollment.”

Molly and Felix were both surprised. After all, Calvin had been rather aloof towards them since the accident..

“Thanks, Calvin.” Molly said.

Calvin nodded and prepared to leave.

After taking a few steps, he turned back to Molly, “Want to have a match?”

Molly’s eyes brightened instantly. She had been thinking about this for a long time.

After all, they had only crossed hands a few times that day, but she could tell that Calvin was really tough.

Without saying much, she rushed up to fight.

This time, Calvin was not only defensive but also offensive.

In the end, Calvin caught Molly by the neck and pushed her against the wall. Molly lost again.

Chapter 1289

Even though they were sparring, every single one of Molly’s strikes was aimed at Calvin’s weak spots. Calvin let go, and Molly fell to the ground, coughing violently. Felix watched from the sidelines, and even though he felt sorry for Molly, he didn’t scold Calvin.

“Attacks aren’t just for killing” Calvin said, looking at Molly. “When you constantly aim for my weak spots, it makes it easy for me to see your own. Even someone weaker than you can defeat you once they see through you.”

After a couple of coughs, Molly asked, “Then how should I attack?”

“Do you want to go again?” asked Calvin.

Without any hesitation, Molly agreed.

This time, Calvin sent her flying several meters, making her land on the grass. Despite it being grass, it still hurt a lot and made Molly grit her teeth. However, it seemed like she learned something from this exchange.

“Again!” Molly got up, seemingly unfazed by the pain, and charged at Calvin again.

After a while, Molly was sent flying again. She got up and looked at Calvin, “I want to continue.”

Calvin waved his hand, "I need to go water the vegetables; let's stop for now."

Molly fell silent.

"If you're so strong, why are you just a gardener?" Molly asked.

Calvin pointed at himself, "I'm retired."

Molly was confused.

Calvin suddenly remembered something, "You can play with us like this, but not with Cory and Ivy."

"I'm not an idiot." Molly replied.

"Good, congrats on your enrollment." Calvin said, pointing at the corner of Molly's mouth, "You're bleeding; wipe it off." He walked off towards the greenhouse.

Molly was stunned, "Dad, I met someone even stronger than you, and he's already retired!" Felix had retired at 40.

"Keep it down, Calvin got injured on a mission and hurt his eye." Felix whispered.

Calvin, not far off, tripped over a rock and fell. Molly's heartbeat quickened, and then she lowered her head to think about what she had learned from her fight with Calvin.

Just as Rosalynn got home, she saw Liam ready to leave with his bag.

Ivy was trailing behind him; he was still going over her homework for tomorrow.

Liam looked up and saw Rosalynn.

"Liam, are you leaving?" Rosalynn asked.

Liam blushed a bit, "Yeah."

"How did Ivy do today?" Rosalynn asked again.

Ivy immediately raised her hand, "Mommy, I was very good." Liam also spoke up, "She's very bright, and she learns fast. She will do very well next term."

"It's all thanks to Liam; he explained the questions I didn't understand so well!"

Liam's ears turned even redder, "I have to go now; you can transfer the tutoring fee to me."

With that, Liam walked out.

Liam left quickly, as the driver was already outside.

“Mom, why didn’t you let Liam stay? He’s coming back tomorrow; it’ll be tiring for him to go back and forth!” Ivy looked at Rosalynn, puzzled.

“Did you ask him?” Rosalynn countered.

Chapter 1290

Ivy nodded and said, “I’ve already told him, but he just won’t listen; he won’t even join us for dinner!”

Rosalynn gently patted her head and said, “If he doesn’t want to listen, let it be. You can’t always be so hot-headed. You need to learn patience.”

“Oh...”

Ivy’s mood swings were notoriously rapid. She dragged Rosalynn to the study to show her the set of incorrect questions that Liam had compiled for her.

“Is this your final exam paper?” Rosalynn was a bit taken aback.

“Yep, Liam and the teacher insisted!”

Rosalynn picked up the set of questions and started to peruse them carefully.

She found that Liam had not only written the correct steps to solve the problems but also taught Ivy how to extrapolate from one problem to another. On the back, he had written a lot of basic knowledge, all in great detail.

“No wonder everyone loves his explanations.” Rosalynn muttered to herself.

“By the way! Did Molly pass her entrance exam?”

“Of course, she’s a whiz.” Rosalynn replied with a smile.

“Awesome, so I can go to school with her, right?”

“Right!” Rosalynn nodded.

Ivy cheered.

“Alright, review what Liam taught you before dinner and do as much of the homework he left you as you can. I’m going to check on your brother.”

“Okay!”

Ivy nodded vigorously, then carefully put away the set of questions Liam had given her. She pulled out a brand new notebook and started on the homework Liam gave her.

Rosalynn approached Cory's study.

The door was slightly ajar. She nudged it open to see Cory on a video call with his class mates.

Coincidentally, he was also explaining some problems.

However, she found it very confusing just listening to him, so she didn't disturb Cory:

She quietly closed the door and went downstairs.

Not long after, Wayne Silverman came home from work.

Once home, Wayne went straight to his wife. Upon hearing that his kids were studying, he decided not to bother them and took his wife to their room instead.

"Hilaria will be back next week. It's so cold. How about we take a family vacation to a tropical island?" Wayne asked Rosalynn.

Rosalynn nodded, "Sure, has the resort we built in Y City opened?"

Wayne tensed up a bit and reflexively responded, "Let's not go to Y City. Let's go somewhere else."

That place was a bit of a sore spot for him.

"Alright, whatever you say." Rosalynn probably had an idea why Wayne was so averse to Y City. "By the way, I got a call from Annie today. She says she wants to inspect the finished project site."

Wayne frowned slightly, "The holidays are coming up; who would want to go to such a remote place? Tell her to wait until after the holidays."

This coming from the once-workaholic Wayne was a bit shocking.

"I already told her." Rosalynn patted his head.

Wayne immediately relaxed and continued to cuddle with his wife, discussing which tropical island to go to for their vacation.

As they were talking, Wayne's phone started to vibrate.

He frowned and picked it up. His mood lightened a bit when he saw that it was Sean Huddy.

“What’s up?”

On the other end of the line, Sean’s voice was trembling.

“President Silverman, I just got word that Orson and Atticus and their entire families have been murdered.”

Wayne immediately stood up when he heard this.

He gestured to Rosalynn and then walked out.

Orson and Atticus were his undercover informants who were responsible for gathering and investigating information. They had never appeared in public.

However, they suddenly disappeared last week.

He had a bad feeling about it, but he never thought that they would be brutally murdered along with their families.