The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1576

Chapter 1576

Alison was already perched on the edge of the railing, like she was about to jump over it, as she spoke.

“Stop!” Ivy shouted.

“If you end your life like this, you won’t get another shot at being human!”

Calvin arrived in a hurry, just in time to catch Ivy’s words.

“Why?” Alison turned around, fear in her eyes.

“Didn’t you ever read the Bible?” Ivy asked.

Alison was isolated by her mother, forbidden to play with other kids, which made her an introvert and clueless about the Bible.

“The Bible says that life is a gift from God, sacred and precious. We can’t just throw it away” Ivy explained solemnly.

Ivy was frantic.

Once Ivy finished, Alison’s legs gave way. She fell to the ground, burying her head in her knees, crying out, “I didn’t want to do this, but what am I supposed to do? If I don’t do as my mom says, she’ll hit me when I get home!”

“Does she hit you often?” Ivy slowly approached Alison.

Seeing that Alison seemed to have given up on the idea of jumping, Ivy sat down next to her.

Alison didn’t answer, but rolled up her sleeves.

Ivy had heard other kids mocking Alison before, for wearing long sleeves in such hot weather. It was odd.

Now, she finally understood why Alison wore long sleeves: Her slender arms were covered in scars.

Calvin took one look.

He instantly recognized that some of the old injuries were from being hit with a stick. There were also fresh pinch marks on her arms, seemingly made that day.

“Did your mom do all these?” Calvin asked angrily.

He already had a fierce look.

Now, with his anger, his expression was even more ferocious.

Alison lowered her head in fear, then nodded.

“Your mom’s such a heartless bitch!”

*Calvin, you can only cuss once. You can’t swear too much in front of a child,” Ivy said sternly.

Calvin was fuming.

“Your mom’s like that, you don’t have to consider her as your mother! Ditch her, I’ve got money, I can support your studies. I won’t demand for good grades, being happy is most important! Isn’t that right, kiddo?”

Alison looked at Calvin.

Then she lowered her head again, beginning with a soft whimper, then her shoulders started shaking violently, and her crying got louder

No one cared about her, her family didn’t love her, and her classmates thought she was a loner.

She was always worried that people were laughing at her,

This was the first time someone had said these words to her.

After a while, several teachers and the principal rushed to the rooftop

“Alison!”

The principal’s voice had gotten shrill

“Sir, we were just chatting, nothing else happened, Ivy said worriedly, afraid that Alison’s actions would get her expelled.

The principal had run so fast that his wig was askew

Chapter 1577

The principal instantly loosened up.

“Really? The sun here is too strong, you guys shouldn’t be chatting here. Why don’t you come chat in my office? Alison, you haven’t had lunch yet, have you? My wife made some delicious food, do you want to have some? It’s super yummy!”

Delicious food?

Yummy?

Ivy was suddenly hungry.

Not long after

The principal took Alison away.

The teachers didn’t say anything, but as they left, they all threw admiring glances at Ivy

“Miss, you’re really something! You even know how to use quotes from the Bible to comfort others After everyone else had left, Calvin also gave Ivy an admiring look.

Ivy looked at him: “Calvin, you’re wrong!”

“Am I? Didn’t you just quote the Bible?”

Ivy thought for a while: “Yes...”

She vaguely felt something was off.

But she couldn't put her finger on it, she always felt that Uncle Calvin made sense.

"If I keep following Alison like this, my dad and Granny Hilaria will definitely worry!"

After Ivy finished speaking, she got up, took Calvin's hand, and rushed downstairs

On the way, she ran into Hilaria and Wayne.

"I'm sorry!" Ivy immediately apologized.

"Little bunny, you sure run fast!" Hilaria laughed, "Where's your classmate?"

Ivy instantly replied: "She went to have delicious food with the principle."

Hearing this, Hilaria burst into laughter, turned to Wayne and said: "Your daughter seems to be really hungry!"

The serious look on Wayne's face eased, he reached out his hand to Ivy.

Ivy happily hopped forward and took Wayne's hand.

"If you're hungry, I'll have the cook prepare something for you later"

"OK" Ivy nodded vigorously

Looking at his daughter who had just experienced such a terrible thing but was still lively and cheerful, Wayne felt a complex mix of emotions.

"Ivy's great" Wayne squeezed her little hand, "Tell your mom when you get home, she'll be proud of you too!"

"I don't want to" Ivy shook her head, "If mom knew there were such bad moms in the world, she'd be very upset"

The smile on Hilaria's face disappeared instantly

She had thought that Ivy would need a long time to break out of the protective shell they had built for her

But she didn't expect that Ivy had already seen the bad side of human society at such a young age.

After the rest, Ivy went to class

Wayne stayed to handle the remaining issues, and Hilaria decided to go back and deal with her matters first.

“Don’t be too harsh, but don’t let her off easily” As she got into the

Hilana sajt to Wayne

Wayne nodded gently understand Granny

Hilaria got into the car instead of rushing home she had the driver take her tothe supermarket

Ivy wanted delicious food and she had to prepare immediately

Wayne wat

“The husband of the crazy woman is here” Caton got

Wayne’s face instantly turned cold

Looking at him, Calvin thought he had a mom

Buren He felt

“What happened on the rooftop just now

Then, Wayne asked in a caim tore

Calvin sighed inwardly

This gentle and polite demeanor was nothing

Calvin briefly explained what had just happened

old Wayne

Wayne was shocked.

ty had actually used the Bible to persuade Alison who was about to jump off...

“Haha, our missy is really smart! After finishing, Calvin proudly looked at Wayne.

Wayne shot him a smile.

Chapter 1578

Alison’s mom, Pauline, was holed up in an abandoned activity room.

Her husband Curtis Hammer was brought in as soon as he rushed over.

Initially, Curtis was pretty ticked off when he heard his wife was causing a scene at school and he didn't even want to come.

But the moment he heard over the phone that the people his wife offended were Hilaria and Wayne from the Jared Group, he hightailed it over there. The bodyguard was instantly fuming when he heard this.

He had a major beef with Pauline and thought this guy was no good.

"Your wife was aggressive today, so we've got to keep her here," the bodyguard said with a stone-cold face, but he still reached out to remove the rag from Pauline's mouth.

"Honey! Call the cops and get these people arrested. That guy shoved me, she even slapped me, honey, you must call..."

The bodyguard didn't let her finish, shoving the rag back in her mouth.

For some people, you just can't show mercy to.

"Who pushed her? Who slapped her?" Curtis demanded in a low voice.

"She was the one creating a scene in front of my young miss and the old lady. We had no choice!" the bodyguard replied. Curtis was taken aback. "President Silverman's daughter and... Mrs. Jared?"

"Yep."

Curtis was instantly scared out of his wits.

He had been dating Pauline since their freshman year in college.

At first, it was no big deal, but the further along they got, the crazier Pauline seemed to become.

She wouldn't let him talk to other women and was always trying to make plans for his exams and PhD studies and all that.

Every time he thought about breaking up, Pauline would try everything to get pregnant and demand they get married. Having no other choice, he had to ask his mom to handle these issues, and his mom didn't seem to mind him marrying Pauline. Pauline was all alone in her family, and she had some demolition compensation in her hands.

But his mom had one non-negotiable demand – she wanted to have a son,

Sure, they could get married, but she had to get pregnant with a son first.

So, after two abortions, he still didn't break up with Pauline, and they got married the year they graduated

After their marriage, he used Pauline's compensation to start a business, only to lose a ton of money.

Not long after, their daughter was born.

The atmosphere in the house was super tense.

His mom said that a daughter was bad luck, and if Pauline had given birth to a son, his business wouldn't have tanked

His mom then started to give Pauline a hard time.

To make matters worse, when Pauline was giving birth, his mom insisted on not allowing a C-section.

This resulted in a long labor for Pauline, which eventually weakened her physically and damaged her womb. Couple that with her previous two miscarriages, and Pauline couldn't have children anymore.

Things at home started to go haywire.

Over the past couple of years, he barely went home and he even had a mistress on the side

Everyone in his family, except for Pauline, knew about his mistress, and they were all hoping that she could bear him a son

He was worried about how he could divorce Pauline and let her leave with their daughter

Then she started causing trouble for herself!

"My mom was right, you really are a jine" Curtis was so mad he gave her a slap, "We need to get a divorce!"

Pauline was shocked, her pupils shaking violently

She then tried to break free from her restraints

The bodyguard thought for a moment, "If you disrespect my young miss and the old lady again, I'll make sure you taste the rag

Pauline nodded repeatedly

The bodyguard took the rag out of Pauline's mouth

"I won't get a divorce!" It was the first thing she said

Chapter 1579

The bodyguard just couldn't stand this couple anymore: "You don't agree on divorcing? What's so great about this guy?"

"What do you know? We've been together for ten years!!" Pauline tried to yell as loud as she could.

"You got me into such a big mess, and you want me to stay with you? Dream on! Let's get a divorce tomorrow!"

"No, I won't divorce! Honey, I beg you, I won't do it again!!" Pauline struggled to kneel in front of the man.

The bodyguard was flabbergasted.

He was Hilaria's bodyguard.

All the women he dealt with were strong and decisive.

Anyone who dared to hurt them would pay the price on the spot!

"There's nothing left for us to talk about. The small apartment you had before our marriage is still yours. Take the kid and move there ASAP. I'll take care of the losses from the business after our marriage. Just sign the papers quickly! Otherwise, I'll take these debts to court, and you'll have to bear them 100.

In fact, he had no debts.

All these debts were fabricated in collaboration with relatives and friends under the guise of business, just to prepare for the divorce.

The house they live in now was bought with Pauline's money after the marriage, and after six or seven years, the house has appreciated quite a bit, nearly doubling in value.

But Curtis didn't want to give Pauline a dime!

Calvin and Wayne heard everything clearly outside.

Calvin frowned, looking at Wayne.

"Bring him out." Wayne said calmly.

A moment later, Curtis was standing in front of Wayne.

There was a huge banyan tree outside the activity room.

Wayne was tall, leaning on his black cane, facing Curtis who was hanging his head and shoulders.

“Mr. Silverman, I’m really sorry. I really didn’t know she would do this. Pauline has brought trouble to you and your daughter, and I’m really sorry! However you want to deal with her, I’ll fully cooperate with you!”

Wayne looked at him coldly.

That woman was trouble, but this guy was no better.

“She seems to have mental issues. She should be treated in a mental hospital” Wayne’s tone was cold.

Hearing this, Curtis’s eyes lit up instantly.

“Okay, I can sign her in. I can sign right away!” Curtis hurriedly said.

Wayne frowned in displeasure.

“Someone will come to process the related procedures later.”

“Okay!!”

Wayne was about to leave.

After walking a few steps, Wayne seemed to think of something, so he looked at the man who was typing quickly, with a smile on his face.

Calvin had someone roughly investigate about Alison’s parents.

Finding out that Curtis had another woman wasn’t hard, plus what he just heard outside the door.

“I have a question Wayne started

Curtis looked at him, his face full of flattery “Please go ahead, President Silverman!”

“You’re proposing a divorce What about Alison? if her mom goes to the mental hospital, what are your plans for her?”

Curtis was somewhat surprised.

He didn’t expect such a big shot like Wayne would care about a little girl like Alison

“She’ll live with me? Curtis quickly responded. Rest assured. I’ll take good care of her

Wayne just gave him a cold glance

Curtis got a bit nervous under his gaze

He thought Wayne would say something

But Wayne quickly shifted his gaze took his cane, and left without a word.

Chapter 1580

Curtis watched Wayne's retreating back.

He was a cocktail of joy and unease. The joy came from the fact that Pauline finally got what she deserved, taught a lesson by the rich folks, freeing him from her grasp.

On the other hand, the look in Wayne's eyes when he left stirred up unease.

He couldn't understand why Wayne would mention Alison.

In the activity room, Pauline cried out in fear and helplessness.

She was hoping Curtis would come back.

But, no one ever came to the door.

The bodyguard assigned to watch her just shook his head helplessly.

He figured, if someone lost themselves over a love interest or anyone else, what's the point of being alive or dead?

Curtis smoked a few cigarettes by the door, then called his mistress to report the good news.

About twenty minutes later, a stranger walked over, a file bag in his hand.

"You're from Mr. Silverman, aren't you?" Curtis put out his cigarette, grinning from ear to ear as he went up to him.

The stranger nodded, handing Curtis a file with a friendly demeanor, "This is your wife's admission form for the mental hospital, all you need to do is sign where it says.

Having said that, the man glanced at the time.

Seeing this, Curtis quickly took the pen and scribbled his signature where needed.

"Is this okay?" Curtis handed the file back.

The man nodded, "It's fine. We'll take your wife to the hospital. Mr. Silverman hopes that you can take good care of Alison,"

"Rest assured. She's my biological daughter. I'll take good care of her" Curtis responded without hesitation,

The man nodded, picked up the file, and left.

Curtis glanced at the activity room. He had grown tired of Pauline and couldn't even bear the thought of going in to see her. "Spend the rest of your life in the mental hospital" Curtis dusted off his pants and left, satisfied.

Usually, Wayne would pick up Cory first, then go for Ivy

But today Wayne was at Ivy's school, so he waited for her to finish school, then went to pick up Cory.

"Dad, Alison didn't come to class this afternoon...." Ivy looked worried in the car, "Do you think her mom will hit her again?"

Wayne looked at Ivy, gently patting her head, "I don't know."

Ivy sighed, looking out the window, seeming a bit down.

After picking up Cory, Ivy quickly told him about what happened today. She was very worried about Alison's situation.

After hearing this, Cory also frowned.

He looked at Wayne, his eyes seemingly asking, since someone was bullying his sister, they wouldn't just let it slide, right?

Wayne gave him a reassuring look, only then did Cory relax and look away.

On the road, Rosalynn called.

Wayne answered the call, his face instantly softening.

"Off work yet?"

*Just finished a meeting, heading to the parking lot, are you guys home yet?"

"Almost there" Wayne replied.

The kids squeezed over
