The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1741

Chapter 1741

On one hand, there's Erica's bad rep.

On the other hand, Erica sometimes acts without thinking, which affects Rosalynn.

The lobby.

"Luna, repeat what you just said Rosalynn just arrived to see Jordon slamming the table.

This scene was familiar.

Rosalynn glanced at Erica.

"No matter how many times I say it, it's the same. I have no obligation to you or your children. If you can't afford food or medical care, then sue me. Whatever the court orders me to pay, I'll pay. Don't think about anything else!"

Luna replied coldly

"Luna, your dad and I fell in love freely after your mom passed away, you..."

"Regina, can you stop kidding around? Since you ignored my previous warning and have no shame, I don't care anymore!" Luna stared at Regina, "I just want to know, that person who said that my mom and I would bring my father bad luck, you knew him before, didn't you??"

Regina's face froze, saying, "How could I possibly know him?"

"Really?" Luna lowered her eyelids, 'Bring that person in!"

After a while, a skinny, white-haired man with one blind eye was brought in.

As soon as Regina saw this man, her mind was blown.

“Ms. Terence!” The old man shouted as soon as he saw Regina, then turned to Luna and said, “It’s her! It’s her! She gave me a sum of money to say t were bad luck!”

“What a scoundrell Randal suddenly got angry and kicked the old man.

Kate was sitting in the main seat.

Without a word, her bodyguard from last night stepped forward, grabbed Randal’s arm and threw him on the ground.

Randal screamed in pain.

Regina and Jordon were shocked “What are you doing! Why are you hitting my son!”

Kate was drinking water and suddenly put the cup on the table.

The hall was quiet

Everyone’s eyes were on Kate, including the members of the Baldie family.

that you

and your mother

“You guys are funny. What do you think this place is? Do you think you can kick whoever you want in this house?” Kate looked at Randal with contempt, “Such an uncultured boy

Randal was very angry at being scolded by Kate, but he didn’t dare to talk back and could only grit his teeth in anger.

“Since you guys brought your problems to my house, I guess I have to step in, right?” Kate continued, “Mr. Baldie, I have no power to interfere with your life, but let’s be honest, this old man’s words are not accurate at all. Think about it, if you treated Luna and her mother well, now that Luna is married into my family, would I treat the Baldie family badly? Even if your son is a fool, our family would still take care of him.”

Jordon’s face turned very livid.

He recognized the skinny old man.

At the same time, he was somewhat convinced by the old man’s words.

“That’s not right either Kate shook her head. “If my Luna grew up by your side, she might lose her lock because of you and wouldn’t have the chance to become part of my family So, according to this theory, it should be said that you, Mr. Baldie, are the one who brings bad luck, right? Luna and her mother were really unlucky to meet you!” Enca was surprised and even started clapping for Kate silently.

“Kase don’t go too far Jordon roared, “I just don’t understand, do the men in your family have a problem with their taste, and they only like women who are not worth it? Both Luna and Paige are!

Before Jordon finished

Mike A sold voice rang out

derden subconsciously looked over, but didn’t see who it was gap landed on his face.

The offer prone force was so strong that Jordon felt like he was about to be killed gerunt in place tell dizzy to the ground and saw fus own teeth knocked out by the slap

Chapter 1742

Everything happened so fast.

Jordon couldn’t even react in time, staring at his own teeth, the taste of blood filling his mouth.

“Holy crap!” Regina was the first to react. She shouted and rushed towards Jordon.

Randal looked up, his gaze coldly landed on the man who hit his son, Mike.

Mike usually seemed friendly and nice when he was with the kids.

But now, he seemed fierce and intimidating. He lowered his eyelids and stared at Randal, who was short and small compared to him.

“What are you looking at?”

“So, the Scott family is all about bullying the weak, huh?” Randal stood his ground, not daring to step forward, but pointing his finger at the Scott family. At this moment, Rosalynn strolled over leisurely.

“With so many witnesses, there’s no need to accuse people right off the bat. I’m the one who hit him, what does this have to do with the Scott family?”

“Mrs. Silverman, this is our family matter, how could you hit someone so casually?” Regina’s eyes were full of tears, as if she had suffered a great injustice.

Rosalynn snorted, looking at the still dazed Jordon, “I don’t meddle in the Baldie family’s affairs, but if someone disrespects my family this slap is respect for Kate. Or do you think a slap is all you get?”

Regina turned pale. Jordon did mention Paige Owens just now.

“Did I say something wrong?” Jordon finally snapped back to reality, pushing away Regina who tried to stop him, and loudly questioning Rosalynn, ‘Everyone knows about Paige, Baillie’s wife’s scandal! If she’s not a slut, then who is?!’

Jordon was the youngest child of the Baldie family. He was always doted on by his parents. Even though he didn’t get much advantage in the inheritance dispute, he’s been living comfortably thanks to the family’s legacy.

It’s safe to say that Jordon’s life has always been smooth sailing.

Now, to be slapped so hard in public, and by Rosalynn, a younger generation, his pride was severely hurt.

Regardless of who the opponent was, Jordon started yelling.

“You’re so funny.” Kate suddenly laughed, “Paige and that man were in a consensual relationship, not related by blood. What’s wrong with that? Do you know what a ‘slut’ is? You, who’s having affairs and cheating, you’re the real ‘slut’.”

Jordon was rendered speechless, then he turned to the silent Luna, shouting, "Luna, you're just gonna stand there and let them bully me? Do you really want me to reveal your secrets too?"

Luna seemed to be lost in thought, but Jordon's yell seemed to make her determined. She looked up, no longer angry, no longer contemptuous, no longer excited, just calmly looking at Jordon with a swollen face.

Jordon met Luna's gaze and had a sudden bad feeling.

"You don't have to worry." Luna said calmly.

It seemed as if she was suddenly filled with an invincible strength.

"Let's all go about our own business." Kate seemed to sense something, raising her hand to signal everyone to leave.

But...

"It's fine." Luna said with a determined look in her eyes.

Jordon seemed to sense something, quickly saying, 'Forget it, as your father, I don't want to hurt you, since you don't want to help Randal, then...

"When I was young, I was raped by one of Jordon's card buddies." Luna calmly revealed a shocking secret.

Chapter 1743

Jordon looked at Luna in surprise, "Are you out of your mind?! Guys, Luna's lying here, don't take her words seriously!"

In Jordon's world, if a woman is violated, she's seen as tainted, like some outcast for everybody to spit on.

Of course, Jordon wasn't trying to clear things up in such a hurry for Luna, his daughter's sake.

But...

"Do you not have the pictures?" Luna fired back fiercely, "How many years have you been blackmailing me with those disgraceful pictures? How much money have you squeezed out of me? Are you afraid you can't milk me for more now?"

"You shameless bitch!" Jordon pointed at Luna, raising his voice in anger, and then perhaps realizing his cash cow was about to dry up, he turned to Kate and said, "It wasn't rape! Luna seduced someone for a measly ten bucks! Don't let this shameless woman pull tricks on you"

Jordon finished with a smug smile, throwing a provocative look at Luna.

As if his words would tarnish Luna's reputation once and for all, and send her down the drain.

Just then, the sound of another crisp slap echoed.

Newell Scott, who showed up out of nowhere, stormed up to Jordon, slapped him and knocked him to the ground

"Are you even human? Bastard! Luna is your daughter, instead of protecting her, you set her up! Threatening her with pictures! You're not human! Trash! You're trash!" Newell, usually a mild-mannered man, was now like a beast provoked, pummeling Jordon with one punch after another.

"Newell!"

Luna snapped out of it and quickly tried to pull Newell away.

But Newell was too furious to stop.

He always knew Luna, his wife, had her own unspoken pain.

When he was dating her, she told him that she had suffered a lot, both physically and emotionally. She didn't trust love, and didn't want to put her future in the hands of a man.

But he loved her so much that he kept pursuing her, gradually weaving himself into her life.

After a long time, Newell finally won Luna over!

Over the years, he's been taking care of her, watching her transform from the woman he first met.

Luna was happier more often.

Newell thought that the painful past Luna didn't want to talk about had been healed under his care.

But he never expected that while he was trying to heal Luna's pain, Jordon, that bastard, kept reopening her wounds!

"What are you waiting for, pull Newell off him." Kate signaled Baillie and Luke to step in after watching the fight for a while.

They stepped forward and pulled Newell away.

“Bastard, wait for it, I will make your whole family wish you were dead!” Newell’s eyes were bloodshot, his expression more ferocious than ever.

“That’s enough.” Luna stepped forward and gently hugged Newell, “I stopped caring a long time ago.”

Newell’s rage dissipated in Luna’s embrace.

He held Luna tightly.

Regina, who was standing dumbfounded, watched with her eyes rolling under her eyelids. Even the usually gentle Newell was provoked by Jordon, the fool. It seemed like the relationship between the Baldie family and the Scott family was headed for a complete breakdown this time.

Chapter 1744

Regina fell to her knees, crying out in pain, “Honey, are you okay?”

Regina cried out loud, then glared at the Scott family. “Newell, you hit your father-in-law. How could you be so heartless? If this gets out, people will look down on you!!”

“Exactly!” Randal chimed in, “Newell, we should sort out family matters internally. How about this, you help me with my job, and I promise Luna’s issue and what happened today won’t get out!”

Randal and his mom Regina were on the same page.

Seeing Randal say what she wanted to say, Regina shut up and just cried silently, as if they were hard done by.

“Do whatever you want!” Luna, hugging Newell, coldly told Randal, “I wouldn’t have brought this up here if I planned to keep it a secret. I’m not the one to blame. Jordon didn’t protect me, it’s that man who’s a lowlife. Why should I feel ashamed?”

“You!” Randal turned pale, “What about Newell? He hit somebody!”

“So what if he did?” Kate said impatiently, “The Scott family has never cared about what others think. If you want to make a fuss, I can just expose all the dirty laundry of the Baldie family!”

“Kate, my family has media resources all over the world. If needed, I can help you spread the word, ensuring everyone who should see the Baldie family’s dirty laundry will see it.” Rosalynn gently said.

Kate looked at Rosalynn with a smile, “Alright, thank you in advance.”

“You’re welcome.”

The two seemed to have agreed on exposing Jordon and Regina’s dirty laundry.

In fact, almost no one knew about Regina’s involvement in Jordon’s marriage. Everyone thought Jordon’s first wife died before he started his current family.

“Kate!” The silent Jennifer exclaimed anxiously, “You can’t do this. What about my reputation?!”

If her enemies found out she was the daughter of a mistress, she would be looked down forever!

“When I visited your house as a child, you were very kind to me, buying me pretty dresses, gifts, complimenting my looks...” Jennifer’s voice trailed off in self-pity. Since Kate didn’t have a daughter, she always had a fondness for little girls. She showered compliments and gifts on the pretty ones who visited her home every year. Kate didn’t think much of it, but Jennifer did.

Jennifer believed that Kate treated her this way because she really liked and cared for her!

“Why are you crying?” Kate asked with a frown, “Did I do something wrong? These people disrespected me and hurt Luna, even to the point I can’t tolerate anymore! Am I supposed to let them push me around without fighting back?”

“It’s not like that!” Jennifer, flushed with anxiety, suddenly turned to Luna, “Say something! Do you really want the Baldie family to go bankrupt?”

“Enough!” Newell, slightly calmer now, was fed up with the Baldie family, “Luna will have nothing to do with the Baldie family from now on. Someone, kick these annoying people out. If they come again, kick them out without asking me!”

After saying this, Newell held Luna’s hand tightly, “Let’s go home, darling.”

Luna instinctively looked at Kate.

Kate gently nodded, indicating she could leave.

Chapter 1745

Following Newell, Luna walked away

“Luna” Regina shouted loudly, calling Luna’s name

Luna halted her steps and turned to look at Regina. She had a question about the past

Regina seemed to sense something, her eyes flickering uncertainly

“That night, I clearly locked the door. How did that person get in? Besides you, who else has spare keys to the house” Luna asked calmly

“I don’t know what you’re talking about. You must be mistaken, Regina’s face turned pale, but her guilt had already been laid bare

“How could you do something like this? Even animals wouldn’t do such a thing!”

Erica, who had almost gone through something similar due to her own sister, Kelly, couldn’t contain her emotions. She pointed at Regina and berated “Do you have evidence? Don’t talk nonsense without evidence!” Regina retorted

“If there was evidence, you would’ve been in jail long ago!” Erica pointed at Regina with even more intensity

Regina sneered, “I don’t have time to argue with you!”

Then she lifted her head and saw Luna’s eyes that seemed to be finding the situation amusing. Regina’s pride was instantly pricked.

“My grandmother, the Pie Lady, told me to maintain moral integrity, not to be driven by hatred, not to fall into corruption with people like you when she picked me up.” Luna said.

Regina furrowed her brows. She had only met that old lady twice.

The Pie Lady was a landlord’s daughter who had been criticized during political parades when she was young. Now she was an old lady selling pies always carrying herself with an air of superiority.

The Pie Lady looked down on Regina and Jordon.

So Regina had always disliked Luna’s grandmother, the Pie Lady.

Now, hearing Luna quote the Pie Lady’s words, Regina felt even more unpleasant.

“Now it seems these words were right,” Luna continued, “I didn’t become corrupted like you. That’s why I have a loving family and husband now, you...

Luna sized up Regina and gave a slight smile.

“You became the other woman, worked hard to climb the ladder, and ended up with two disappointing children. You didn’t live the glamorous life of a mansion wife you dreamed of, but instead had to seek help from me.”

“I didn’t!” Regina denied instinctively.

How could she possibly have sought help from Luna? Taking care of the family was Luna's duty as an older sister!

"Whether you sought help from me or not, everyone can see it," Luna didn't want to dwell further, ending with, "Clearly, this is just the beginning of your miserable life, and in the future, Jordon, Jennifer, and Randal will be your lifelong nightmares."

With that said, Luna didn't give them time to react. She grabbed Newell's hand and left the foyer directly. Meanwhile, the security guards called by Newell also started moving towards the Baldie family members.

Chapter 1746

"What the hell are you guys up to Randal stepped back with caution.

Regina appeared a bit nervous as well, lending a hand to Jordon

Luna's words, "Jordon, Jennifer, and Randal will be your lifelong nightmares, echoed in Regina's ears like a curse.

She looked at Jordon with disgust in her eyes.

Jordon was over a decade older than her and was showing signs of aging now. Plus, after Randal's multiple failures recently, Jordon's mental state had visibly deteriorated, making him look more like an old man.

Regina felt a wave of nausea as she suddenly realized the old age setting in on Jordon.

"You guys don't need to kick us out! We're just down on our luck now, we'll stop hanging around. God will punish those who are unfilial" Regina shouted at Randal, "Let's go!"

Randal had been itching to get away. The tall man who had slapped Jordon earlier was enough to send shivers down his spine

The bodyguards of the Scott family seemed to be quite skilled in fighting.

If they started beating him up, what would he do?

Randal was ready to bolt.

However, before he could make a move, Jennifer threw a fit.

"I'm not leaving!"

Just now, Newell had said that they would never allow members of the Baldie family into the Scott family. So how would she get close to Baillie in the future?

Seeing Baillie and Paige together had already made Jennifer restless!

She had subconsciously grabbed Paige's hand when she saw Baillie returning to her side.

If jealousy could kill, Jennifer would have died a thousand times over in that moment!

Before Baillie got married, Jennifer had never given a second glance to any other man. The only thing on her mind was to become Baillie's wife!

And now, she couldn't enter the Scott family anymore?

Those who were ready to leave stopped in their tracks, turning their attention to the commotion.

*Jennifer!" Regina was at her wits end, her daughter was such an idiot.

Regina let go of Jordon, who lost his balance and fell to the ground, crying out in pain. He yelled at Regina, "Regina, are you trying to kill me?!" Ignoring Jordon, Regina tried to pull Jennifer, "Come with me, we can talk about this at home!"

Baillie was indeed Jennifer's target, but she needed to have a strategy!

"I must clear things up today!" Jennifer shook off Regina's hand and took a few steps towards Kate, her eyes filled with resentment. She glanced at Paige and then tearfully asked Kate, who was frowning, "Kate, didn't we agree that when Baillie and I grow up, I would marry Baillie? Paige is not loyal, she's not worthy of Baillie! Why is she stealing him from me?"

Finishing her speech, Jennifer pointed at Paige and shouted, "You're a home wrecker!"

Paige was beyond speechless.

Does this woman have a screw loose?

Paige looked at Baillie, "Didn't you say you were not engaged?"

"No, I'm sure I have no engagement with her." Baillie looked at Jennifer with some impatience, "Ms. Baldie, your behavior is really getting on my nerves. If you have any issues, seek help from a mental institution, don't create a mess in my house."

"Baillie, I'm telling the truth!" Jennifer started sobbing loudly, "Ever since Luna and Newell got married, I've fallen in love to you. My mom also said that we would get married as soon as you graduate!"

Chapter 1747

Jennifer pondered, then asked, "Didn't Luna tell you guys?"

“Never” Kate answered icily. “The Scott family has advocated for free love since the feudal era. We never had any arranged marriages!”

Kate paused for a moment, then chuckled, “Ms. Baldie, you gotta know your place. Look at you, then look at Paige. The gap between you two isn’t just a little. Do you think Baillie, who used to be as cold as a rock, would fall head over heels for Paige, propose, and marry her that quickly?”

Jennifer turned pale, her eyes vacant for a moment before she became extremely agitated, “She’s so much older than Baillie, and she had that scandal! Kate, you’ve been fooled! You’ve all been fooled!”

Kate turned to Regina.

Regina looked like she desperately wanted to find a hole and crawl in it.

“Your plot is so underhanded. How old was Baillie when Luna and Newell got married? You were already eyeing him then?” Kate looked at Paige, “Paige, you really are Baillie’s lucky star. Without you, wouldn’t Baillie have been targeted by these greedy people after his graduation?”

Baillie remained silent.

If not for Paige, he might have died last summer. How would he have been targeted by such people?

“Kate, don’t be so harsh. You can’t blame Jennifer just because she likes Baillie. Didn’t you ever have a crush when you were young?”

“Of course!” Kate answered candidly, “But no matter how much I liked someone, if they were married, I’d let go. Not like Ms. Baldie, losing all self-respect and becoming the third wheel in front of Baillie’s wife, Paige! It’s shameful!”

Kate paused again, like she had a revelation, “Well, I get it now, birds of a feather flock together. Looking at your character, it’s not surprising you raised a daughter like Ms. Baldie.”

Regina was so angry, she could grind her teeth to dust.

Randal was so embarrassed he wished he could find a hole to hide in.

“Are you leaving or not?” Randal asked, “I’m leaving if you’re not!”

Without waiting for a response, he turned and ran off.

Jennifer was still crying.

Seeing that there was no hope with Kate, she turned to Baillie, "Baillie, can you give me a chance? Let me compete with her fairly? I'll be obedient, I'll be better than her! I still haven't had a boyfriend..."

"Disgusting." Baillie cut her off before she could finish.

The always amiable and polite Baillie showed a rare expression of disgust.

"Mom, I'm leaving the bodyguards here and taking Paige home." Having said that, Baillie prepared to leave.

"Okay." Kate replied, then comforted Paige, "Sweetie, I'll be right there. Don't let this upset you. I'll take you to buy some diamonds this afternoon to cheer you up!"

"Thank you." Paige replied and got ready to leave.

However...

"Bitch, you cannot leave!!"

Jennifer seemed to have lost her mind. Before anyone could react, she suddenly took off one of her high heels and threw it at Paige.

Just as the heel was about to hit Paige's head, something flew through the air and hit the high heel.

The airborne high heel immediately changed direction and hit Regina in the head.

"Paige!"

Then, a frantic voice came from the doorway. It was Ivy.

Chapter 1748

When Jennifer had Mike pinned down on the ground, a small figure darted out from the crowd. She threw her arms open, standing protectively in front of Paige.

Ivy glared at Jennifer as she accused, "Why are you so bad? Paige's pregnant!"

All of this happened in a matter of seconds.

"You shameless wretch, you actually dared to hurt Paige! Kate shot up from her seat.

"Are you okay?" Rosalynn quickly rushed over to Paige, checking her for injuries.

Paige shook her head, saying, "I'm fine!"

“What the heck are you guys doing? Baillie demanded angrily, glaring at the bodyguards in the hall.

The atmosphere seemed to instantly become icy.

“Baillie, I’m okay, really!” Paige quickly reassured Baillie.

Baillie’s face was as white as a sheet, with traces of panic still visible in his eyes.

“Paige ruined my life, she’s gonna get what’s coming to her!” Jennifer shrieked.

Baillie shot her a cold glance.

He helped Paige up, gave Jennifer one last look, then turned and gently said to Paige, “Let’s go.”

“Okay,” Paige nodded, then to Ivy who was both alert and angry in front of her, she said, “Ivy, let’s go.”

Paige tenderly ruffled Ivy’s hair.

Ivy had been taken by Liam to study right after breakfast, her hair was still uncombed, looking fluffy on top.

Paige was deeply touched, realizing that Ivy had grown up and was now able to protect her.

“Mike, you need to catch that woman!” Ivy still felt uneasy, she held Paige’s hand and instructed Mike.

“Don’t you worry!” Mike immediately responded loudly.

As Paige left, the hall instantly emptied.

“I’ve been giving you a break because you’re young and a girl!” Kate fumed, “I can’t believe your whole family is so shameless! Let me tell you, this little girl here just saved your life. If that high heel had so much as touched a single hair on Paige’s head, you would’ve paid the price!”

“Kate...” Jennifer tried to interject.

Kate coldly interrupted, “Are you really that indifferent to your own dignity? Want everyone to know the Baldie family’s dirty laundry?”

Jennifer’s pupils trembled violently.

“Wait and see!” Kate then coldly ordered, “Throw all members of the Baldie family out!”

Having said that, Kate hurried off to check on Paige.

Back when Kate was heavily pregnant, she was scared by her family, causing her to give birth prematurely and she almost lost her life. Now, her main concern was Paige's condition.

Randal had already run out, oblivious to the events that transpired afterward.

He waited at the door for a moment, only to see several brawny men carrying his family members out like sacks of potatoes, and tossing them down the stairs

"Ouch!!" Jordon landed on the ground, wailing in pain.

Chapter 1749

Regina's earrings fell to the ground, and so did her shoes. She bore the pain and got up, feeling embarrassed

Jennifer was also trying to get up, using both hands and feet.

Regina knew that if Jennifer kept this up, their family could get stuck in Norhaven.

Baillie looked at Jennifer with a gaze that clearly couldn't tolerate anymore

Enough! Are you looking for trouble?" Regina lowered her voice. "Didn't I tell you to cool it? You just have to piss off Baillie and make Kate totally give up on you Are you out of your mind?"

"It's all your fault!" Jennifer suddenly punched Regina in the face, which knocked Regina out, "If you had taken things more seriously and settled the mamage with Kate earlier, none of this would have happened! Have you seen how smug Paige is? It's all that kid's fault, if it wasn't for her, that high heel would have hit Paige in the head! If we were lucky, the high heel would have pierced her brain and killed her!"

Jennifer's eyes were filled with spite

"How could you turn into this?" Regina was utterly shocked.

She had always known Jennifer to be a little mischievous, but that's just part of being a girl, she had never thought it was a big deal "What?" Jennifer, besides hating Paige and Luna, now hated Regina the most, "I leamed it from you! Didn't you also kill Luna's mom?" Regina slapped Jennifer across the face, shouting. "You ungrateful gir! I raised you with great difficulty, and this is how you talk about me?"

"What's wrong with what she said?"

At this point, Jordon got up. His face was swollen, bruises were visible all over, his eyes were bloodshot, and he was glaring at Regina

“What did you say?” Regina was dumbfounded.

The next second, Jordon suddenly stepped forward and slapped Regina hard, “Was it you who brought that old man to deceive me?”

“No, it was Luna who set me up...

Jordon didn't listen to Regina's explanation, he grabbed her hair and yanked it hard...

“I think you're the unlucky one! Luna, whom I had with her mother, managed to get into a prestigious school and marry into a wealthy family, and her business is booming! And these two that I had with you, what the hell are they? They are like you, bad seeds!!”

The more Jordon talked, the more he felt it was true.

If it weren't for Regina always being mean to Luna, Luna wouldn't have ended up living with the pie lady, nor would she hate him so much!

After Luna married into a wealthy family, he could have enjoyed the benefits, but now he ended up like this, beaten by his son-in-law Newell, and kicked out by the Scott family!!

Jordon felt that all the humiliations in his life were given by Regina! Ever since he got together with Regina, his luck has been getting worse year by year! “Damn you, you unlucky woman!!” Jordon got angrier the more he thought about it, grabbed Regina's hair, and began to beat her mercilessly “Randal, stop him!” Regina called out in a hurry.

Randal hesitated for a moment, then said impatiently, “Dad, if you want to fight, take it elsewhere. It's not good to fight in public, is it?”

Regina looked at Randal in shock.

When she gave birth to Randal, she went through a lot of difficulties, so she always spoiled Randal afterwards, giving him whatever he wanted.

Regina always thought that Randal was smart, just unlucky, not meeting the right people or opportunities, so she did her best to find investment for Randal, introduce him to people.

But at this moment, Regina was being abused, and her son Randal only cared about whether it was embarrassing or not, he had no intention of protecting Regina “Randal, is this how you treat me?” Regina's world seemed to be falling apart.

Luna's words "Jordon, Jennifer, and Randal will be your lifelong nightmares surfaced in Regina's mind, each word cutting like a knife.

Randal often laid his hands on his girlfriend

Chapter 1750

He was totally oblivious to how inappropriate it was to use violence against women.

And Most of the family fortune was in Jordon's name Regina's wealth has been sucked dry by Randal over the years. After weighing the pros and cons, Randal knew whose side he should be on. Otherwise, what if Jordon didn't leave him the property after his death?

"I'm a reasonable guy, but you being the mistress and causing the death of the original wife, that's not cool. I've always wondered why I'm so unlucky Now I get it, it's all because you've done so much crap, the karma is coming back to me! That's why everything I do goes south!" Randal said

His words were like a bolt from the blue, hitting Regina, Jennifer, and Jordon.

Regina was shocked at his heartlessness, while Jennifer and Jordon were struck with realization.

In Jennifer's view, she and Baillie were all set to get married, but before Baillie graduated, he married Paige, this slutty woman! This was all Regina's shit coming back to bite her

As for Jordon, he had been living off his capital all these years, not even winning any money from gambling.

"Let's go home! Jordon said to Regina with murderous eyes.

Regina tried to run away, but Jordon grabbed her hair, dragged her to the parking lot while ranting, shoved her into the car, and left

Mike stood still, watching the Baldie family arguing and leaving.

He texted Rosalynn, "They're gone."

"Okay"

Rosalynn replied, then she put down her phone and looked in Paige's direction.

Jennifer attacked Paige with her high heel, but Paige was fine, Baillie and Ivy were the ones most affected.

It had been a while, but Ivy was still clinging to Paige, repeatedly asking her if she was okay, if she was frightened

Paige patiently reassured Ivy that she was fine, nothing happened.

“Ivy, come here,” Rosalynn said gently.

Ivy turned to look at Rosalynn and then left Paige’s embrace, walking a bit nervously to Rosalynn, Rosalynn held Ivy in her lap, “Weren’t you studying with Liam? Why are you here?”

“I just felt that the baby in Paige’s belly missed me,” Ivy replied pitifully.

Rosalynn looked at Liam standing in the corner, holding a slingshot in silence.

The marble that hit the high heel earlier was shot by Liam.

“Liam!” Paige called out to Liam.

Liam immediately seemed a bit uncomfortable.

“No thanks, L... I’m not used to it!” Liam quickly said.

“I’m not saying thank you, I want to compliment you. How are you so good with a slingshot?” Paige’s eyes sparkled, “Bullseye every time!”

Liam shyly replied, “The more you play, the more accurate you get.”

“That’s awesome!” Paige gave him a thumbs up.

“Liam, can you teach me?” Erica raised her hand, looking hopeful.

Liam looked at her with surprise.

“I’ll buy you a new slingshot! Will you teach me?” Erica asked again.

“Sorry, Erica, that might not work,” Ivy spoke up to help Liam refuse, “Liam still needs to tutor me!”

“You’re already top of the grade, do you still need tutoring?” Erica asked.

“Ivy is studying for next semester’s courses, Liam replied.

“Alright,” Erica looked disappointed

Rosalynn hesitated for a moment, then asked with a curious and helpless expression, “Do you really want to learn?”

“Yes, slingshotting is too cool!” Erica nodded seriously
