The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 1871

Chapter 1871

Erica decided to take her nail polish brand national.

Paige and Rosalynn were all for it. They talked over this for a good while Rosalynn and Erica had lunch at Paige's place.

After lunch, Paige went to take a nap. When Paige was napping, Rosalynn and Erica went out

The elevator hit the third floor.

Just as they stepped out of the elevator, the morning shift bouncer downstairs came up to greet them.

"Mrs. Silverman, we got the guy over here."

"Thanks."

Rosalynn gave a small nod and headed towards the room with a slightly ajar door.

"We didn't break any rules, we were outside the rehab center, yet you brought us in here, this ain't fair! I could sue you for false imprisonment

As soon as she reached the door, Rosalynn heard the paparazzi's angry complaints

"We invited you guys over, how can you disrespect me and say we nabbed you?" said Rosalynn.

The three paparazzi on the sofa inside the room immediately turned their heads towards the door.

When they saw Rosalynn and Erica, their expressions went from confused, to doubtful, then shocked, and back to confused.

“Mrs. Silverman?” The guy who was shouting about false imprisonment suddenly clammed up.

“Hi all, I’m Rosalynn.”

“And I’m Erica”

Rosalynn and Erica introduced themselves.

The trio was even more shocked.

They even tried to stand up, but under the watchful eyes of the bouncers, they sat back down.

“We know your names very well!!”

Rosalynn chuckled, then took a seat across from them, calmly looking at them.

Normally, with her beauty and calm demeanor, she wouldn’t give off a bad vibe.

But the three guys across from her, started feeling a bit jittery after Rosalynn sat down. For some reason, Rosalynn’s aura was so powerful, and they dared not speak out of turn.

“How long have you guys been hanging around here?” Rosalynn asked.

“Not... not long

“Yeah, we just got here and got caught. We were planning to leave but...”

“I don’t like being lied to” Rosalynn’s voice was firm.

The trio exchanged glances, then nudged each other.

Finally, under Rosalynn’s pressure, they changed their tune.

“About ten days but your security is pretty tight. It was hard enough for us to speak in, not to mention now we are caught.”

They all looked pretty wronged

They're kinda big shots in their industry

They've outed people dating, exposed affairs. It was their snaps that caused a stir online, lasting for days!

But this time, they faced a major career setback!

In these ten days, have you seen this person?" Rosalynn handed her phone to a bouncer, who then handed it to the guys

They glanced at it and shook their heads, replying, "No."

"Think Jard" Rosalynats tone was very gentle

The three looked carefully at the photo on the phone again. This very good looking and has a great figure if we had really seen her, we would have definitely taken some photos based on her figure alone. But we really haven't seen her '

Rosalynn cried and nodded slightly

Then the bouncer took the phone back and handed it to Rosalynne.

Chapter 1872

Those paparazzi, seeing the phone being taken back, immediately asked, "Who's that person?"

The fact that Mrs. Silverman personally interrogated them about whether this person had been spotted near Mrs. Scott's rehab center had those paparazzi, who were usually busy snapping shots of illicit affairs, sniffing a big story.

Could it be some big-shot celeb cheating on his wife?

Or some actress messing with a married man's marriage?

An affair during marriage, that's even a hotter scandal than anything else.

Rosalynn looked across the room.

The paparazzi were practically salivating for information, a sight that made Rosalynn uncomfortable.

“About what’s been going on in Norhaven with the rich folk, don’t you guys know?” Erica asked in surprise.

The paparazzi turned to Erica, saying. “You’re joking, right? How’d we know about the gossips of the rich? Spill the beans, we promise we won’t tell anyone else!”

“Her name is Jennifer Baldie, and she’s got some ties to the Scott family. Her folks have some money, but their kids have only been spending but not earning. Jennifer, trying to make a quick buck, claimed she had a line on luxury goods and was helping her classmates, friends and even strangers buy stuff. Turns out, all the luxury goods she brought back for her friends and classmates were knock-offs!”

“How much are we talking about?” one paparazzo asked in shock.

“As far as I know, the most expensive watch was hundreds of thousands of dollars, Erica quickly said.

The paparazzi were surprised.

But being the pros they are, they quickly followed up. Then why did Mrs. Silverman ask us if we’d seen her around here?”

“I’m livid just thinking about it!” Erica said, clearly frustrated. “Like I said, Jennifer has ties to the Scott family. Seeing how loaded they are, she decided to ask them for help. But the elder Scotts turned her down. She heard Paige was nice and very kind, so she thought she’d sneak into the rehab center, ask her for a couple hundred grand to pay back the money she stole!”

“She’s got some nerve, asking someone else for that much money!” The paparazzi were shocked. “Is this woman nuts?”

“That’s what we think too. Rosalynn just wants Paige to recover in peace, without being disturbed by irrelevant people. Knowing her intentions, Rosalynn got really pissed off. So we want to give Jennifer a piece of our mind!” Erica continued.

“Mrs. Silverman, rest assured, we’ll stake out the rehab center. The moment we spot her, we’ll let you know!”

Rosalynn gave them a warm smile, saying, “I hate to trouble you. She hasn’t been around for a few days, probably realizing she can’t get to Paige. You’d better head home. Mr. Scott has beefed up security since he caught you guys snooping around. You won’t be able to capture anything”

Rosalynn paused, "Of course, not getting any shots is one thing, just a waste of time. But if you get caught by Mr. Scott again..."

Rosalynn patiently explained the consequences.

The three paparazzi across from her were visibly scared

"Alright, please escort these three gentlemen out," Rosalynn told the security.

The security immediately nodded and began escorting them out.

"Mrs. Silverman, I've always been a big fan of your family. When people online were trash-talking you, I even created a dozen accounts to argue with them!" a shy paparazzo said.

Suddenly, someone made a big heart with their hands and said, "I hope Wayne recovers soon and that you and your brilliant family stay healthy and happy"

The moment he finished, he was so shy he couldn't even look at Rosalynn.

Before Rosalynn could respond, he covered his face and ran off.

Erica fell onto the couch laughing.

Chapter 1873

Erica slowly sat up, lightly touching her stiff cheeks, "Why bring up Jennifer all of a sudden?"

Rosalynn looked at her, not speaking.

Erica stared back at her for a few seconds, then she suddenly widened her eyes, "Did Jennifer kill Frederic?"

I have my suspicions, Rosalynn lowered her gaze, "Not just Frederic, but also two accomplices. About the same time, they were murdered too. A figure was caught on camera near the scene, her face concealed, but her height and build...they're strikingly similar to Jennifer's."

"Two more people?" Erica gasped, hand over mouth.

Images of Jennifer flashed in her mind, one after another.

Like most people, Erica's first thought was, could she really do it?

Did she not only kill Frederic but also two other people?

“Frederic was drugged first, then dumped in the lotus pond. The other two, young men, were part of the Scott family’s security team. They died of cyanide poisoning, Rosalynn clarified, “Actually, it wouldn’t take much strength. All she had to do was tricking them into taking the poison.” “What the hell was she thinking? Has she lost her mind?” Erica was astounded,

“She disappeared, and I’ve been worried sick she’d risk it all for revenge against Paige... Rosalynn said, “But those paparazzi said she hadn’t been hanging around the rehab center recently. Instead, she infiltrated the Scott family and killed a butler who had nothing to do with her.”

Rosalynn frowned, baffled by the logic.

“Could she have been targeting Luna?” Erica spoke in a hushed tone, “Besides, saying Frederic and Jennifer were not related is not entirely accurate. I heard when her family visited, Frederic was particularly upset and disrespectful.

Rosalynn pursed her lips, not uttering a word.

“Whoever she was after, her actions have raised the alarm. She can’t retaliate against anyone now,” Erica continued, “She can only wait to be arrested.” Rosalynn nodded, glancing at the time.

Let’s head back for now. We’ll swing by later with Cory and Ivy and see Paige

“Okay”

A heavy rain had passed.

The weather was gloomy today, but refreshingly cool.

Perfect weather for a nap. On her way home, Erica yawned continuously.

From the car, she could see the riverbank where the kid’s usually played.

“Look at this, overnight rain flooded the riverbank,” Erica mumbled to herself.

Rosalynn glanced over, “if it rained this hard a few days ago, those kids wouldn’t have a place to play”

“They’d still find somewhere to play if they wanted to.”

Erica yawned again, pointing out a few small figures in the distance, “Aren’t those kids playing with a dog?”

“Kids?” On hearing Erica’s words, Rosalynn immediately looked towards the riverbank.

Due to the distance, all she could see were tiny silhouettes and a golden dog.

“One, two, three, four, five... Erica started counting the little figures.

“Take a left towards the riverbank!” Rosalynn suddenly ordered the driver in a steady tone.

Chapter 1874

The driver froze for a moment, then he quickly adjusted the direction, heading straight to the place Rosalynn mentioned.

“What’s going on?” Erica asked Rosalynn, gripping her seatbelt tightly.

“Don’t you think this combination looks familiar?” Rosalynn said, dialing Felix on her phone.

Felix picked up immediately, saying, “Mrs. Silverman.”

“Where are Cory and Ivy?” Rosalynn asked.

“Cory, Mr. Silverman, and Mr. Carter are playing chess. The other kids are all sleeping in Ivy’s room,” Felix replied.

“Who are the others besides Cory?” Rosalynn asked again.

“We have five kids here, the second child from the Scott family is also here”

That would be Carney Scott, Cain Scott’s younger brother.

After the turn, Rosalynn lost sight of the kids on the riverbank.

“Check it now!” Rosalynn ordered sternly

Felix quickly sensed the urgency of the situation and rushed inside. He didn’t knock on the door-he just pushed it open.

The room was empty. The kids and the dog were gone.

Felix was dumbstruck.

“Mrs. Silverman... they... they’re not in the room!”

“Get to the riverbank immediately!” Rosalynn hung up the phone after delivering the order.

Then she urged the driver, “Speed up, please!”

“Is it them?” Erica asked in shock, “Are these kid’s nuts? It just rained heavily, why would they go play by the river?” Rosalynn’s face turned gloomy.

At the riverbank.

The kids who successfully left home, including Max, were at a loss facing the deserted riverbank and the rapid current.

“Let’s go back.” Liam suggested, glancing at the others. The river is too violent. It’s too dangerous.”

“Cain, it seems like I can’t keep my promise to you for now. Let’s do it next year. My mom said as long as I want, we can come here for vacation every year!” Ivy Jared said with regret, “I’ll definitely bring you to catch crabs again next year!”

“You’ve already done enough. You brought me out and didn’t mind that I brought my little brother. I’m really grateful. You don’t need to apologize!” Cain sighed, then looked at Carney, who was still happy despite the flood, “Since we can’t catch crabs, let’s go back for cupcakes!”

“Okay!”

The kids quickly reached a consensus.

They all cheerfully turned around, ready to leave.

But then, a cry for help came from the other end of the bridge.

Ivy was the first one to hear it. She quickly turned her head to look.

“Look over there, there’s someone!” Cain pointed to the other end of the bridge. He saw a pregnant woman who looked in pain, struggling to climb up.

She was soaking wet, and her hair covered her face.

“What’s wrong?” Ivy, who had cared for a pregnant woman for a few months, was particularly concerned about pregnant women. Seeing this, she immediately wanted to go help

But Molly stopped her.

“Molly, that pregnant woman looks like she needs help!” Ivy said anxiously Till go check it out first “Molly signaled to Ivy to stay put

But before Molly could get there, the pregnant woman suddenly collapsed in the middle of the bridge, writhing in pain.

Seeing this, the kids immediately ran towards her, and Max followed them

Molly had no choice but to follow

“Are you okay? Ivy quickly reached the pregnant woman She squatted down and asked her

The woman was lying on the ground, covering her belly. “I accidentally fell into the water and was washed here Can you get someone to help me.”

“Okay! Don’t be scared, I will “Ivy instinctively wanted to use her phone watch

Just then, Max suddenly yelled out

Chapter 1875

Ivy was scared stiff, landing her butt on the ground.

The next second.

Tvy!!!”

The voice of Ivy’s mom came from across the street.

“Mom.” Ivy’s face filled with terror, then she quickly turned to the pregnant woman, “Don’t worry, my mom is here. She’ll get you to a hospital. You and your baby will be safe?”

Rosalynn’s appearance quickly shifted the kids’ attention,

When Ivy’s gaze shifted back from her mom to the pregnant woman, she was met with a pair of eyes filled with hatred.

The next second, the pregnant woman who was struggling just a moment ago suddenly lunged at Ivy, wrapping her limbs around her as they both plunged into the raging river.

Tvy

As Ivy was shoved into the water, she heard the frantic cries of many

Then, the icy water filled her ears.

She knew how to swim, Once she snapped back to reality, she started to struggle.

But the pregnant woman was holding onto her like a madwoman, refusing to let go.

Right at that moment, through the blur, Ivy saw Max being carried by the current, spinning around before desperately swimming towards her.

In the chaos, Max bit into the woman's waist, tugging furiously.

The woman screamed in pain, her grip loosening a bit.

Seizing the opportunity, Ivy bit into her arm,

The woman finally let go due to the pain, but then she kicked Ivy

The rapid current carried Ivy away

Max immediately let go of the woman and swam after Ivy

The current was too strong, Ivy quickly lost her strength, letting the water carry her away.

Max was desperate. He paddled as hard as he could, chasing after her

At last, Max managed to grab onto Ivy's clothes with his mouth, then he tried to swim upwards.

But the current was too strong, and Max was quickly pulled under again.

Just as Rosalynn and Erica got out of the car, they saw Ivy being pushed into the river.

Rosalynn was so scared she almost fainted.

She immediately chased after the direction Ivy was swept away to

In that moment, her mind went blank...

She couldn't think straight, and she was filled with regret.

Why did she leave the house today? Why didn't she stay by her kids' side? She could meet with Paige anytime.

How could she leave her kids alone without finding the murderer?

If Ivy

The thought barely crossed her mind before Rosalynn felt like she was going insane!

Suddenly, Max, who was holding onto Ivy and barely staying afloat, disappeared in the rapid water.

Rosalynn screamed out in anguish, "Ivy!"

On the opposite shore, at a similar position

Jennifer, who was pretending to be pregnant, struggled to a sandbar.

She heard Rosalynn's cry

She collapsed there, laughing manically "Fantastich I told you. I won't let you live easy lives! I'm so happy! Trading Ivy's life for my priceless one! Totally worth tr
