

The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 681

The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 681

Chapter 681

Even the sun seemed to favor shining on the face of his beloved, making her look even more dazzling than the diamond in her hand.

Baillie's gaze finally swept past Paige's lips.

Then, he silently withdrew his eyes, but his fingertips unconsciously tapped on the steering wheel.

They had agreed last night that they could kiss today, but before Baillie could make a move, Paige spoke first.

"You look a bit nervous, Paige glanced at Baillie with a teasing tone, tucking the diamond brooch into its velvet box and putting it in her pocket.

"Yeah, I'm afraid your grandma won't like me," Baillie pretended to be worried.

"Don't worry" Paige reassured, "Didn't you introduce yourself to her last time? I think she was quite pleased with you."

"But I'm younger than you," Baillie continued to fake insecurity.

"My grandma used to be a teacher, she's very open-minded. It doesn't matter that you're younger than me, even if you were a girl, she wouldn't mind," Paige said, sticking her fingertips into Baillie's hair and giving it a rough rub. "Don't worry, I've got your back."

Baillie's smile instantly became even brighter.

Paige thought to herself, if only he were a golden retriever, petting him on the head would make him show that sunny smile.

So adorable.

Paige and Baillie left the house, avoiding the morning rush hour

In no time, they arrived at the hospital where Granny Owens was staying.

She had recovered quite well and would be discharged in a few days

Granny Owens originally didn't want Paige to visit. She knew Paige had just returned to the country and would be busy, so she didn't want to hold her up.

As for her birthday, they could always celebrate it later.

But Paige insisted on celebrating it on the actual day, otherwise it wouldn't be meaningful.

Unable to dissuade Paige, Granny Owens wanted to be discharged early.

But Paige managed to convince her not to do so.

When Paige and Baillie arrived at the hospital, Granny Owens had been waiting for them.

She asked Baillie to wait outside the door while she went in with the flowers and cake.

"Happy birthday, Granny!"

Granny Owens couldn't help but grin, though she still said, "You didn't need to spend money on all these, just coming to see me would have been enough!"

Young Granny Owens was actually quite romantic and loved flowers. Her joy was evident when she saw them.

“I have gifts for you,” Paige said, putting the flowers down, glancing out the door, then sitting next to Granny Owens. “But mine isn’t flowers or cake, Granny. I want to introduce you to someone.”

As soon as Granny Owens heard this and saw Paige’s blushing face, she knew something was up.

She immediately guessed a bit and excitedly said, “Alright, where is this person? Has he arrived?”

“Wait a moment.”

Paige got up, rushed out, saw Baillie leaning against the wall, and immediately broke into a bright smile. Baillie also understood why she suddenly looked so happy and smiled back, then softly asked, “What’s up?” Paige reached out and held Baillie’s hand, intertwining their fingers tightly.

Baillie naturally held her hand back.

“Gift time, I’m taking you to meet my grandma,” Paige said, leading him towards the room.

salataly focused on Baillie. She didn’t notice that at the end of the hallway by the elevator, Logan was standing in a neat suit, holding a bouquet of flowers. He witnessed the whole thing: Paige coming out of the room, walking ove to Baillie. She looked up at him with a beautiful, beaming smile, and then she took the initiative to intertwine her fingers with Baillie’s, leading him into the room together.

Chapter 682

Logan stood there, feeling the blood in his body gradually turning cold.

Thinking of it... she never showed him that kind of smile before

A smile which was completely relaxed, without any other emotion, She was just smiling confidently and generously, without any burden

In the hospital room.

Granny Owens looked at the tall, handsome, and gentle Baillie standing next to Paige.

“Oh, it’s you, Mr Scott, right?”

Baillie suddenly came to the ward that day, giving a detailed self-introduction, even explaining his family situation very clearly.

Granny Owens had a very deep impression of him,

At that time, she knew this young man must had plans for her granddaughter, but Paige didn’t seem interested at all then.

Who would’ve thought, not long after that, the two of them got together!

“Yeah, Granny, you can just call me Baillie.” Baillie replied generously, gently, and politely

Granny Owens smiled and then looked at Paige, “I remember you’re a few years older than him, right?”

“Yeah.” Paige nodded, “But Baillie thinks and acts very maturely, and we don’t have a generation gap between us!”

Granny Owens’ eyes narrowed with a smile, “Although he is mature, he’s indeed younger than you, so you need to treat him well, don’t take advantage of him.”

“Granny, it’s only your second meeting with him, and you’re already taking on his side?” Paige grumbled discontentedly. “But we’re not just dating, you know.”

“Huh?” Granny Owens asked in surprise.

Paige smiled, took the marriage certificate out of her bag, and handed it to Granny Owens: “We’re already a legally married couple.

Granny Owens was shocked, and she hurriedly took the paper and looked it over.

Checking the information written on it, she looked back and forth between the texts and the two people standing in front of her, trying to confirm several times.

“So it’s a whirlwind marriage, huh?” She concluded.

“Although it was, please be assured, Granny. I truly treasure your granddaughter.”
Baillie answered solemnly.

Granny Owens glanced at Baillie and then at Paige.

Her face became serious and said, “You weren’t this impulsive before, what happened?”

“It’s fate.” Paige said seriously, “I wanted to settle down at that moment, and Baillie appeared with sincerity, so I chose him.”

Granny Owens felt a pang of sadness in her heart.

The date of their marriage wasn’t it exactly the time when she and Peyton had a falling out?

She lowered her head, trying to hold back the tears.

“Granny...”

Seeing this, Paige quickly came forward.

She thought that given her grandmother’s open-mindedness, she wouldn’t care much about things like whirlwind marriages.

After all, Baillie was an outstanding man.

However...

“I’m

sorry

for causing you trouble. I should have let you live with me after your mother’s remarriage, so you wouldn’t suffer from so much mistreatment for so many years.”
Granny Owens held Paige’s hand tightly, tears in her eyes.

Paige hugged her grandmother tightly, gently patting her back.

Then she whispered in Granny Owen’s ear, “Granny, don’t be sad. Baillie treats me really well. From now on... I won’t have to put up with those grievances anymore.”

1/2

Granny Owens raised her eyes and looked at Baillie standing thard.

Baillie gave her a gentle smile and Granny Owens nodded with a smile in response. Then she held Paige tightly and replied to Paige's previous statement. Even if there are grievances, don't be afraid Paige. You can always come back to Granny's."

Chapter 683

Granny Owens checked out Baillie and saw that he was indeed a well-behaved and decent guy.

But... how to put it?

After experiencing this incident, Granny Owens felt that it was better to trust herself than to trust others.

As long as she was alive, she would do everything in her power to help her granddaughter and protect her from the elements.

After a moment of sadness, Granny Owens and Baillie started chatting.

Granny Owens didn't expect Baillie to be so knowledgeable.

The more they talked, the more they hit it off, and Paige became increasingly baffled. She just sat on the side and ate half a plate of fruit

Finally, Paige received a work call from the company.

"You guys keep chatting. I'm going to take this call. Paige put down her fruit fork and quickly left the sleepy scene.

Finding a quiet place, Paige took the call and spoke for about ten minutes. After solving the problem, she hung up the phone and headed back.

It was almost lunchtime.

Baillie had already arranged lunch outside, and Paige had told the hospital that she would be taking her grandma out for lunch.

Looking at the time, it was time to put a stop to their academic exchange.

She didn't expect her grandma to like Baillie so much, praising him countless times all morning.

Paige felt both proud and happy, her face beaming with smiles.

But as soon as she turned around, her smile froze, and her excitement was replaced by a sudden fear.

“What are you doing here?” Paige backed away and glanced around. There are many people here. If I shout, there will be people coming over Logan, don’t mess around.”

Logan’s complexion still looked bad.

He looked at Paige and saw the fear in her eyes when she saw him. He felt a heart-wrenching pain in his chest.

An incredible but impossible thought appeared in his mind. She didn’t love him anymore.

Immediately, he denied this thought.

It’s impossible!

She had loved him for so many years. It hadn’t been long since they broke up, how could she have stopped loving him?

“Don’t be afraid of me.” Logan spoke, his voice filled with a plea that Paige found unfamiliar. “I was drunk last time. Believe was in more pain than you that night. I love you so much...”

“Logan, what do you want?” Paige frowned. Suddenly she seemed to think of something, her expression turning angry and said “You wouldn’t be here because of Kelsey’s grandma, trying to harass my grandma, would you?”

Logan quickly denied, “No, I just remembered that it’s her birthday today, so...”

“I already told you, stay away from my grandma!” Paige lowered her voice, gritting her teeth with anger.

Logan looked at her, his face full of hurt and confusion, “Paige, I really don’t love Kelsey.”

Disgust filled Paige’s eyes.

“If I break off my engagement with her, will you forgive your mother?” Logan asked.

Paige was taken aback.

Seeing her attitude seem to soften, Logan quickly added, “I’ve finally realized now that nothing is more important than you. If you agree, we can go register for marriage right away!”

Paige looked at Logan.

She had been thinking about getting married to Logan for many years.

That long-awaited moment was right in front of her now, but there wasn't even a ripple in her heart.

And just then.

Paige was 100% sure of one thing.

Chapter 684

She really didn't love Logan at all anymore.

"Logan, after we broke up, we seem to have been arguing over various things and never really had a proper conversation." Paige looked at him, her anger and viciousness gone, "So let's take this opportunity to have a heart-to-heart chat with you."

"Mhm." Logan choked and nodded.

"It was me who took the initiative to be with you, and maybe that's why I've always been the one putting efforts in our relationship." Paige looked down, "There are so many grievances I never told you about."

"It won't happen again" Tears fell from Logan's eyes.

Lately, he seemed to have a sickness that just wouldn't recover. As time went by, he once thought he could forget about Paige, however she was deeply rooted in his heart.

The pain was in the moments when he missed her, and in every breath of his, constant pain tortured Logan.

"Won't happen again?" Paige finally looked at Logan and said helplessly. "But I don't love you anymore."

"Impossible!" Logan denied instinctively.

"I used to think it was impossible too. Even when we first broke up, I thought I loved you so deeply that I might never get over it this lifetime." Paige spoke and suddenly laughed, thinking of someone, "But, it seems God didn't want me to waste my whole life on a scumbag like you, so he sent Baillie to save me."

Upon hearing Baillie's name, Logan froze.

"Only after I married Baillie did I realize what it feels like to be respected. He supports all my goods and bads and doesn't mind my past relationship with you."

“It’s just the beginning...”

“Yeah, I know it’s just the beginning, but... the beginning of my relationship with you doesn’t even compare with the beginning with him. Paige ruthlessly retorted, “Besides, even if he changes eventually, the respect and love Baillie has given me all this time will always be cherished.”

Only after experiencing something good could she understand what was bad.

Even if things didn’t end well with Baillie, she still thought it was worth it.

“You really don’t want me anymore?” Logan looked at her, tears streaming down his face even more.

“Mhm.” Paige nodded seriously.

“So please, don’t bother me or my family anymore. As for your engagement with Miss Kelsey, that has nothing to do with me. Whatever decision you make has nothing to do with me.” Said Paige

“Mrs. Scott?” At this point, Baillie’s voice came from not far away.

“Coming” Paige responded.

Then she looked at Logan one last time, “Take care.”

With that, she walked around Logan and ran towards Baillie.

Logan stood there.

Experiencing an unprecedented pain in his heart, he clutched his chest and slowly squatted down, trying to suppress his crying.

Baillie stood in the hallway, watching Paige run over, and reached out his hand to her.

Paige held his hand, “Did you finish talking to grandma?”

“Just now the nurse came to check her blood sugar and blood pressure and all that.” Baillie replied, “I saw you hadn’t come back for a while, so I came to check on you.”

“Logan showed up.” Paige replied.

Baillie wasn’t too surprised.

“This time I made it clear to him, he shouldn’t bother me anymore. Paige felt much more eased.

Baillie looked at her, “What did you say?”

Paige looked at him.

Some words, when spoken to Logan, didn't seem to mean anything at all, but when spoken to Baillie...

"I influenced him with emotions to make him understand my standpoint, you know." Said Paige.

Chapter 685

Baillie looked at her with a big grin in his eyes..

What Paige didn't know was that Baillie had actually overheard most of her conversation with Logan.

Secretly, he found a reliable person to locate the surveillance video, cut out the entire process, and saved it.

He'd take it out and watch it from time to time the first time his wife confessed her love for him

Ha-ha.

Baillie and Paige celebrated a very pleasant birthday with Granny

At dinner, Paige even had a bit of booze with Granny

After sending Granny back to the hospital, Paige, for no reason, really wanted to go stargazing.

Luckily, the weather had been great these past days.

Baillie took her to a scenic hill on the outskirts

He parked the car and took two camping chairs out of the trunk, placing them at the front of the car.

It was a bit cold on top of the hill.

Before long, Paige was snuggling up to Baillie.

Her eyes were dreamy as she looked at the stars.

"I told Granny about helping Dad move, and she shed a few tears, feeling guilty," Paige mumbled.

Granny Owens said if she had known earlier, she wouldn't have given the money for Peyton to her later husband instead of buying her son a decent grave, so he would not rest in such a far and crowded place.

"Everything will be good from now on," Baillie comforted her softly.

"I know," Paige nodded and then, as if to be more serious, turned to look at Baillie. "I know."

Baillie looked down at her, a bit puzzled. "Hmm?"

"I know," Paige repeated, tears welling up in her eyes. "Because I have you now, everything will get better. I know,"

Baillie's heart felt like it was being stepped on by a kitten.

Their eyes locked for a moment.

Paige suddenly leaned in and kissed Baillie. Unlike Baillie yesterday, she didn't just kiss him slightly before going deeper. She kissed him tenderly for a while before Baillie took control and went all in.

The stars twinkled above them.

The two stargazers passionately kissed each other.

After a while.

Wayne once again went to visit his children late at night.

"Ivy's gone home," Rosalynn informed him in advance, "She said she has a painting to finish, so she probably won't come over again before Cory's discharged."

Wayne was visibly disappointed.

After visiting Cory, Rosalynn still didn't give Wayne any friendly looks, so he didn't stay too long before leaving.

-At the garage, Wayne bumped into Jaime.

"Oh, isn't it my new brother-in-law?" Jaime teased.

Wayne looked at him coldly: "What are you doing here so late? Shouldn't you be at home with Ivy?"

"I'm bringing my sister some late-night snacks!" Jaime replied, "What about you? Are you here to annoy people?"

Wayne knew Jaime was trying to pick on him.

But after all, he's Jaime's brother-in-law! He decided to ignore him and just keep walking.

Suddenly, Jaime's voice rang out behind him, "Wayne, you're really letting Olivia go just like that?"

Wayne stopped.

Jaime continued, "Do you know why Cory suddenly fell ill?"

Wayne turned to look at him, "Why?"

Jaime sneered, "Cory was so furious about the time when you and my sister were almost blown up in that accident. He was determined to find the culprit and spent day and night searching for clues on his computer. The phone signal found at your mother's house was precisely what Cory discovered."

Wayne's brows furrowed.

Chapter 686

"But since that day. Cory started having a high fever, and the illness came fast and furious. I think it's all because of those days and nights spent looking for the murderer, which exhausted my poor Cory! The culprit is that Olivia who hired the hitman Jaime grew more and more agitated as he spoke. "But her own father actually shielded that vicious woman!"

After saying all this, Jaime thought that if the late-night snack wouldn't taste good if it got cold, so he left with a huff

Wayne didn't know about these things behind Cory's illness.

He got in the car.

The driver could feel the tense atmosphere and didn't dare to say a word, not even breathing heavily

When they returned to the hospital, Wayne seemed determined, took out his cell phone, and made a call, "Help me with something"

After giving the order, Wayne returned to the hospital room.

Just after he had finished washing up and lay down, the call he had just made called him back.

“President Silverman, Olivia isn’t at home, the other person reported.

After letting Olivia go, Wayne had been a little worried, so he arranged for someone to keep an eye on her.

Olivia hadn’t left at all for the past two days

I’ve searched the surrounding area, and she’s definitely not here.”

Wayne ordered to continue searching.

It wasn’t until the next morning that he received the investigation results.

Olivia had probably fled the night before.

At that time, several large trucks suddenly drove into the community, marked with the words “Moving Company”.

The person following her asked the property management, who said that the house next to Olivia’s had been rented out, and the tenants were moving their furniture over, but they were delayed on the road and arrived late.

Since it was late at night, their movements were light.

But the moving of large furniture still made some noise.

Before long, the neighbors came over and a commotion started.

During the chaos, Olivia sneakily hid in one of the moving company’s trucks and escaped.

That night, the streetlight in front of Olivia’s house was also broken.

Moreover, perhaps because of the obstruction, it took the person following her quite some effort to find this video footage.

“My wife’s bodyguards have been guarding Olivia for so many days, and she hasn’t run away” Wayne rubbed his brow, “But when she fell into your hands, she ran away in just one day”

Cold sweat covered the bodyguard’s face.

His complexion was somewhat pale. “President Silverman, it’s indeed our negligence. Rest assured, I will find her as soon as possible and bring her back!”

Before Wayne could speak, his cell phone suddenly vibrated several times.

Wayne took the phone expressionlessly, glanced at it, and then frowned.

It was a message from Olivia.

He clicked it open to look.

There was a blond-haired, blue-eyed man on the screen.

He was holding Olivia's phone, shirtless, and had taken several provocative photos. In two of the photos, the screen also captured Olivia, who was sleeping on the bed. Finally, he sent a message: [You, fxxk off!]

A scornful smile appeared at the corner of Wayne's mouth.

The man in the picture was Olivia's ex-husband, Prince Simon.

So that was how it went. Considering Olivia's current bad image in the country, who else would rescue her so conspicuously?

So...

She sought help from her ex-husband?

"No need to search anymore." Wayne's face was cold, and he casually sent the two pictures of Olivia to the person in charge of the PR department, "Release the news of Olivia and Prince Simon getting back together."

Chapter 687

The PR department quickly replied to the message: [Got it]

Wayne tossed his phone aside.

Since she had once again returned to Simon's, he would naturally respect and bless her, and he hoped that Olivia could always be with Simon in the future.

Simon's hatred for Wayne probably started when he once gave Olivia some aphrodisiacs to boost her mood, and after Olivia lost consciousness, she hugged him and called him Wayne.

Coincidentally, it was around the time when Wayne's Bane Corporation was making a name for itself in the investment world.

No matter where he went, people were talking about this rising star in the world of business.

Simon investigated Olivia and Wayne's past.

Upon learning that Olivia had abandoned Wayne, who was comatose at the time, in order to marry him, Simon felt that he had a chance and was glad.

But his mistreatment of Olivia only intensified.

Simon had always believed that he deeply loved Olivia, but her heart was filled with another man. Therefore, torturing her as a punishment when they were doing something intimate was a reward for his own grievances.

As for the young man named Wayne, Simon didn't take him seriously

But nobody expected that over time, the young man would become increasingly powerful, so powerful that people couldn't ignore him.

Simon even once hired an assassin to deal with Wayne.

But every attempt ended in failure. On the last occasion, Wayne went on a business trip with a secretary who looked very similar to Olivia, and the assassination almost succeeded.

But the secretary discovered it and tried to block it with her own body.

Her actions alerted the bodyguards, and in the end, the secretary didn't die but was slightly injured, while W was pissed off.

He quickly found the assassin organization

After wiping out the organization, he also found out that this organization was serving Simon's royal family

Simon thought that Wayne could only swallow the bitterness himself in silence, but he completely underestimated his ability.

The next day, Simon's royal family was exposed to a series of scandals, all of which were solidly documented with videos

This situation lasted for more than two years.

Videos of Simon cheating on Olivia with other women also came to light.

Apart from that, the Silverman Group, together with Bane Corporation, and a company from H Country, jointly struck at some of the royal family's businesses.

Simon suffered massive losses.

It was since then that he didn't dare to touch Wayne again.

Even six months later, when he learned that Wayne had been alone with his queen for several days, he had to suppress his burning anger.

He thought the matter would end there.

But after some time, Olivia insisted on divorcing him, saying that she had missed Wayne for too long, and could no longer delay divorcing to pursue her true love.

Simon was furious, but Olivia, aware of his fear of Wayne, threatened him, "Simon, do you really want to wait for Wayne's patience to run out, so that he'll directly fight you and even harm the interests of the royal family?"

Two days later, Simon agreed to the divorce.

In the following few years, Simon indulged himself in life, basking in the arms of various women, trying to forget Olivia's existence.

A phone call from Olivia crying for help made his efforts over the past five years to overcome this emotion in vain.

He was helpless.

Simon was indeed deeply in love with this cunning woman.

Chapter 688

He had enough.

This time, when Olivia came back to Simon's, even though she wouldn't let him touch her for the time being, Simon was still very happy and proud.

So, Simon took a selfie with Olivia's phone and stupidly sent the photo to Wayne.

Initially, Simon imagined that Wayne would be so angry that he would fall ill.

But who knew...

That afternoon, the news of Simon and Olivia's remarriage spread like wildfire both domestically and internationally, topping the global trending topics on Twitter.

On TikTok, the discussion continued to surge.

On the H Country side, when #Who is Prince Simon# was still trending, people in Prince Simon's country had already exposed the scandal of him cheating with three women at once, causing his royal wife to drink and cry on the streets late at night.

Olivia relied on publishing articles to establish a good image for herself, and it was not something only existed when being around Wayne.

Netizens also dug up that when she first married into the royal family, she claimed to be a mysterious beauty, and talked a lot about her romantic encounters and love affairs with the handsome Prince Simon.

Once these things spread on the domestic internet, combined with Olivia's previous brief account of how she married into the royal family during her quarrels with her mother and brother, Olivia was utterly ashamed.

"Wow, Olivia is really something. She just left her wealthy ex and showed her true colors, and now she's back to her prince ex-husband's!"

"How did this woman run so fast? Are the investigations into her previous actions clear? What's the deal with her mom? Has her brother been found? Is there any connection between her and Secretary Tesdal's plane crash? Is she involved in the explosion attack on Wayne's wife? Can anyone tell me the truth?"

Soon, someone commented, "You're thinking too much. It's probably because they couldn't find any evidence. Otherwise, how could she get away?"

Another comment said, "After learning about Prince Simon, I suddenly feel better. I hope this woman and this guy stay together forever."

On the internet, there was always constant complaining.

Some entertainment media managed to get through to Bane Corporation's PR department.

"Hi, I'd like to ask if Wayne knows that Olivia has reconciled with her ex-husband? What are his thoughts on this?"

In fact, they didn't expect to get an answer to these questions when they called.

Who would have thought....

"Mr. Silverman is aware of this and doesn't have any thoughts on it. He wishes them well,"

The phrase "wishes them well" quickly became a hot topic.

“Respect and wish them well? What a joke!”

“I feel like there’s jealousy and heartache in his words. Wayne still cares about his first love, right?” This comment was made by one of his fans.

Someone replied below.

“Ha-ha, Wayne would roll his eyes if he saw your comment. Wake up!”

As this hot topic was in full swing, a marketing account suddenly released several photos.

They were pictures of Wayne and Rosalynn walking together in the hospital garden in the evening, as well as a few seconds of video.

In the few seconds of the video, Wayne walked a few steps and then pulled his wife to him, embracing her shoulder. Wayne leaned down and kissed her.

As soon as the video came out.

The hot topic became even more lively.

Wayne is so romantic? The look in his eyes before the kiss and after the kiss is just too adorable!”

“Apart from the kiss, I like the other photos more. Wayne is so cute; he always wants to hug and kiss! Keep up the good work, paparazzi, and take more pictures of Wayne in suits acting cute! I adore it!”

Chapter 689

Olivia was pacing around the room in her silk bathrobe, barefoot.

Simon was sitting on a small sofa in the room.

“Did you take the photo? Who did you send it to? Why was it posted online?” Olivia couldn’t stand it anymore and angrily questioned Simon, “Now I’m being slammed online both domestic and international. Are you happy?”

There was nothing but hurt on Simon’s chiseled face.

Of course, he wouldn’t tell Olivia that he had sent the photo to Wayne using her WhatsApp.

Simon never expected Wayne to be so devious as to do such a low-down thing.

“No one. My phone was hacked” Simon replied in a muffled voice, “Im looking into it. Babe, don’t worry, when I find the person, I won’t let them off easy!”

“A hacker?” Olivia suddenly thought of Gabriella, who seemed to always have a skilled hacker around her.

“It’s her! It must be her!” Olivia clenched her fists tightly

Simon was taken aback and asked, “Who?”

“Gabriella!” Olivia gritted her teeth, “She never intended to let me go!”

Simon breathed a sigh of relief

“This woman is too much! She’s already gotten what she wanted by marrying Wayne, but she still won’t let you go!” he said angrily. “Babe, how do you want me to deal with her?”

Olivia glanced at him.

He was just a powerless prince. Let alone Gabriella, even a slightly famous tycoon could crush him. But even so, Simon was the only reliable shelter she could find now.

She turned around and gently placed her hand on her belly.

“Forget it, I don’t want you to take risks for me.” Olivia said in a melancholy tone, “Wayne and Hilaria are both tough to deal with. I can only endure it for now.”

“Babe...

Simon immediately got up, walked to her side, and tried to comfort her.

Olivia was incredibly annoyed so she quickly found an excuse to get rid of Simon and kicked him out of the room.

As soon as she closed the door, Olivia clenched the jeweled doorknob tightly. The hatred in her eyes grew even stronger.

She had to endure and wait until the baby in her belly was stable, then she would make a fatal blow to Gabriella.

Until then...

She would take a good rest with Simon.

“Gabriella, I’ll let you live peacefully for a while longer!” she said viciously.

Cory immediately looked up from the book, “Mommy, do you have a cold?”

Rosalynn sneezed, "No, my nose was just itchy"

Cory nodded and continued reading.

Rosalynn glanced at the book's cover, her expression went blank for a moment.

It was about physics. Just seeing the name of the book made her feel lost.

Could her son really understand it?

She smiled at the thought, shifting her focus back to her phone. The screen showed the gossip she hadn't finished reading yet.

Chapter 690

quit the app and tilted her head to look at Cory saying, 'Son, In a limited way you'll be discharged from the hospital. Dad asks you and your sister to buy some stuff you guys like and move to this townhouse' ly necessary?" Cory closed his book, "If he takes us, what about you?"

oked a bit apologetic, "You know, mommy just finished a very important project, and now it's about to start; I can't be is early stage."

id but then looked at Rosalynn's expression and showed helplessness, "you should kick ivy if she agrees, I'll go with her"

nited and patted Cory's head.

ened to come by and saw Rosalynn laughing heartily as she pushed the door open 10 on?" Hilaria asked.

ched her cheek and waved her hand, "No...nothing."

ght a few books that Cory had requested.

b Cory's reading, let's go out."

ticed Hilaria's smile fading a bit.

pter, on the public terrace.

saying? Rosalynn looked at Hilaria incredulously, "Noah quit?"

sady vended over all his work yesterday and submitted his resignation report this morning. Hiarias tonic cut out Noah's

Tite from her bag and handed it to Rosalynn, "It was mailed the day you and Wayne got married,bed wener was a standard template.

www

the red the resignation letter, and after a long time, she said: "That's fine."

with net with a complex expression.

obec one town just to please her granddaughter, but Noah's excellent ability was beyond Hilar indicat mastery in sry had always been barely surviving. She even considered closing it down and ved under Patroars hands in just a few years.

ted Noah Noah

ans ability heb house crave a great future even if he leaves the Jared Group, Rosalynn said softly, com a moment, then said se oud seriously to Rosalynn, The medical business of the Jared Group was built by No is people behind, without without Noah, the Jared Group won't be able to find a better person to run the medical stions

turned home, it had already ultimacy planned to sell this part of the business. Now it's worth dozens of times more o sell it at the peak of its contar convnercial value " mentioned, Hilona had other interpocre important factors.

riorating.

amily was huge, the internal relation tupat wnships were very complicated.

ome assets and set up a trust fund for Glory for tory and Ivy, respectively.

leave some flexible funds for her granddz sprekkeghter to use in case of an emergency.

r a while.

Ik to Noah first; after all, he founded the company Moony. Maybe...]

haven't thought it through? Hilana fooked holes, Ive niready tried talking to Noah before. I wanted to give ess, but he refused. Before I came to see you Ice ved Natio Noah, telling him about my plan to sell the medical kid still refused." d Group, asking if he was interested. We could ne cousin ihopate the price, but th

"He..."

Rosalynn lowered her eyes to the resignation letter, seeing Noah's elegant handwriting in the signature section.

"He probably just doesn't want anything to do with our family anymore."