Chapter 81

Early the next morning.

Noah had changed into a black suit, his hair combed impeccably, and even had a pair of gold rimmed glasses on his nose bridge, making him look even more refined and suave.

Feeling a bit spaced out, he spotted Rosalynn from a distance, running towards him in her black down jacket.

The morning fog was thick.

Her cheeks and nose appeared cherry-red from the run, and her eyes were clear and watery.

As the passenger door opened, she hurriedly got in and rubbed her reddened hands together.

“It suddenly got so cold!”

With the car heater on, Rosalynn gradually warmed up.

‘Here’s breakfast.’

Noah handed her the breakfast.

Expecting a store-bought sandwich or something similar, Rosalynn was surprised to see what he’d prepared,

“Did you make this?” she asked, incredulous.

Noah nodded. “Eat it before it’s getting cold.”

“Noah, you used to be a kitchen disaster, and now you can cook?” Rosalynn was astonished

“I wasn’t used to foreign food, so I’ve slowly learned how to cook over time,” Noah replied as he started the car.

They headed towards Hillside Memorial Park.

It was quite a distance from the city to Hillside Memorial Park, nearly two hours by car.

Having eaten her fill, Rosalynn started to feel drowsy again in the warm and cozy atmosphere.

During a red light, Noah handed her a small pillow.

Rosalynn hugged it and immediately fell into a comfortable sleep.

Within the car, country-jazz played at a low volume, creating a serene ambiance

Noah couldn't help but glance over at Rosalynn from time to time.

In retrospect, proposing marriage yesterday may have been a bit impulsive.

But after thinking it over all night, Noah didn't regret his spontaneity at all.

Now it was all about how to get her to agree.

Upon arriving at the cemetery, the fog had mostly dissipated, and the sun emerged, making it feel a bit warmer. The usual caregiver was off today, replaced by a woman Rosalynn didn't recognize.

Seeing Rosalynn, the lady pulled out her phone to verify something, and her eyes lit up immediately.

As Rosalynn walked away, the worker quickly dialed a number labeled "God of Wealth" on her phone.

Tall and lush pine and cypress trees adorned the cemetery

Noah placed flowers by the gravestones and carefully wiped them.

Facing the tombstones, Rosalynn said, "Mom, do you remember Noah? You used to like him so much when I was little!"

14:58

Noah was there listening, Noah recalled a teasing remark from Rosalynn's mother back then.

"Noah, when she struggles with her homework, you won't even let me discipline her. If she grows up to be a silly girl who can't do anything, will you marry her, then?"

At that time, Noah was a bit shy. Although surrounded by teasing, he still blushed and replied, "Til marry her! Just don't hit her!"

Noah put his palms together to pay his respect to Addy Tesdal, saying, "Auntie, I'm here to fulfill my promise. Please bless me so I can marry Rosalynn!"

Afterward, he bowed to the elder couple of the Tesdal family, earnestly praying, "Grandpa and Grandma, I will treat Rosalynn very well and never let her suffer alone again. Please bless me as well and make my wishes come true."

Seeing Noah silent, Rosalynn turned to look at him.

She saw him standing as upright as a pine tree, palms together and eyes closed with a devout expression.

She thought to herself, was he talking nonsense to my grandparents?

Rosalynn quickly chanted in her mind "Mom, Grandma, and Grandpa, please don't listen to Noah! I don't want to be a burden on anyone!"

After she finished, she got up and interrupted Noah's prayer.

"Noah, do you want some ice cream?"

Chapter 82

Noah appeared gloomy, holding an ice cream cone.

Rosalynn, for a pregnant woman, had the sense to refuse something icy

"Every time I came here before, I'd always buy ice cream. It's so strange, the ice creams sold here always taste sweeter."

Noah glanced at her, tore open the wrapper, took a bite, and shivered from the cold.

Seeing his reaction, Rosalynn burst out laughing.

Seeing her laugh, Noah's expression softened as well.

"Your smile is so beautiful, so smile more!" Noah said as he gently picked a corn kernel off her hair.

Rosalynn's smile faded a little.

"I miss being a child."

Everyone was still around.

She would never be afraid that with one turn, someone would leave her.

"It'll be better in the future." Noah patted her head. "Let's go. I'll take you out for something yummy"

Rosalynn opened her mouth, wanting to say something.

She looked back.

Behind her, a beautiful halo of light illuminated the tombstones of her mother, grandmother and grandfather...

Rosalynn thought it would be better to wait until she got back and talk to Noah.

As she retracted her gaze, she again saw the elderly woman holding up her cell phone, wondering what she was doing

Seeing Rosalynn, the caretaker smiled awkwardly and quickly moved to the other side.

Rosalynn thought the woman was taking a picture of the light effects and didn't take it to heart. She left with Noah from the other side, taking their time.

All the way, Noah talked many stories from when Rosalynn was a child.

Rosalynn laughed the whole time.

Her cheeks even started to sore from laughing so much.

Who knew the young Rosalynn was such a mischievous and cute kid?

Before leaving. Noah paid the management fee at the entrance.

When he turned around, he saw Rosalynn's coat zipper wide open.

He gently zipped it up for her.

"Be careful not to catch a cold."

“Am I that weak?” Rosalynn muttered.

“I asked the doctor who examined you, and she said you’re not strong. If you don’t take good care of yourself, you’ll regret it later in your pregnancy.”

“Fine, got it”

Rosalynn helplessly nodded her head, feeling exhausted.

From a distance, it looked like she was pouting.

14-59

As Wayne got out of the car, he saw this scene.

It felt like his blood froze in an instant.

That day he came over, just in case, he not only sought out that sir, but also bribed two other people on the spot.

And today, one of them contacted him.

Wayne was originally on his way to the airport. He canceled his work and quickly rushed here.

But who would’ve thought...

With a lurid chill all over his body, he strides towards Rosalynn.

Noah was facing the road and saw Wayne first.

Rosalynn saw him look behind him, so she turned her head to look over as well, then she was stunned.

“What’s wrong?” Noah asked in panic.

“Rosalynn!”

Wayne called out.

Noah protectively moved Rosalynn behind him.

“Sir, you are...”

“Stay away!”

Wayne grabbed Noah’s collar and brutally pushed him aside.

Noah didn’t have time to react and lost his balance, falling to the ground.

‘Noah!’

Fearing that he had hurt his hands, Rosalynn immediately tried to go to him.

But Wayne grabbed her by the back of the neck, yanked her back, and gritted his teeth, “If you take one step closer to him, I’ll make sure he doesn’t have a proper burial.”

Chapter 83

“Rosalynn!”

Noah stood up, looking worried, and wanted to rush forward.

Wayne’s bodyguards also hurried over. Without saying a word, they blocked Noah.

Wayne looked at him coldly.

Just in the car, he had received several videos.

Rosalynn was by his side, laughing heartily.

She even bought him ice cream...

Wayne’s hand was placed on Rosalynn’s waist, tightly hugging her in his arms.

He bent down slightly, close to Rosalynn’s ear.

It looked like he was kissing Rosalynn’s hair.

But in a voice that only he and Rosalynn could hear, he whispered, “Ms. Tesdal, do you want him dead?”

A chill ran from the soles of her feet to her spine.

“Noah, I’m fine. This is my... my boss, you go back first.”

When Rosalynn said boss, the hand on her waist got tighter.

Noah's gaze swept over Wayne's hand.

That look was clearly filled with worry and anger, but it still hurt Rosalynn.

Which decent boss would publicly hold a female employee's waist like this?

The humiliation she had never felt around Wayne overwhelmed her at once.

"Is it him?" Noah's voice tightened.

The child's father!

From the look of it, Rosalynn didn't love him at all; it was only fear and humiliation.

So, the origin of the child....

Something exploded in Noah's head in an instant.

He thought of the very happy Rosalynn from many years ago on Gravel Lane.

Anger and self-blame almost drowned him.

He cursed and swung his fist at Wayne.

Of course, he couldn't succeed with the bodyguards there.

All Wayne's bodyguards were former mercenaries.

Even if Noah could fight, he was no match for four mercenaries.

"Wayne, I've been by your side for so long without betraying you. Noah is my brother; don't hurt him! Don't mak me hate you!"

Rosalynn knew the bodyguards wouldn't listen to her.

She immediately looked at Wayne and said through gritted teeth.

Wayne glanced at her.

Tears of anxiety filled her eyes.

Wayne's eyes became even more gloomy, but....

"Stop."

The bodyguards stopped.

But Noah still wanted to pounce and was held back by two bodyguards.

“Let me go, I’ll talk to him for a bit, and then I leave with you.” Rosalynn knew too well what Wayne wanted to do.

She didn’t want to.

But she couldn’t drag Noah down either.

Wayne looked at her and let go of her.

Rosalynn hurriedly ran towards Noah, She was so anxious that she almost fell.

Wayne’s face darkened.

“Let him go!”

When she reached the bodyguard, Rosalynn gave an angry scolding.

These guys were old employees of Wayne, and they had also benefited from Rosalynn’s kindness.

They let Noah go reluctantly.

“Rosalynn...”

Noah held Rosalynn’s hand tightly.

“Don’t worry, he won’t hurt me.” Rosalynn didn’t dare to look into Noah’s eyes.

Noah’s eyes were red.

“Go back, I can handle this. Rosalynn whispered

Noah’s face was full of pain.

Rosalynn didn’t have more to say.

She broke free from Noah’s hand.

Silently getting up, she walked towards Wayne.

Strangely, the weather, which had been warm and sunny, had turned cloudy without anyone noticing.

Rosalynn didn't return to Wayne's side.

Chapter 84

Ignoring him with a cold face, Rosalynn headed straight for Wayne's car.

Wayne was extremely annoyed at her silent resistance.

Looking back at Noah, he thought of how inseparable they were.

Suddenly, another person came to his mind.

Joseph.

Back then, wasn't Joseph ready to fight him when he found Rosalynn?

What about later?

Wayne's eyes filled with sarcasm, and he smiled faintly.

"So, it's Noah, huh?"

Rosalynn's footsteps suddenly came to a halt.

"Do you think I forced her?" Wayne asked.

Rosalynn's body tensed up in an instant.

Wayne took a glance at her.

Then, he smiled lightly. "You're wrong. I bought her with money. Strictly speaking. I'm not her boss, but her sugar daddy."

In an instant, it seemed like something had been pierced through Rosalynn's heart.

"It's impossible! You forced her!" Noah yelled infuriatedly. "Rosalynn..."

Rosalynn didn't look back.

No explanation.

The image of Noah in her heart was always of him pampering her.

She didn't want to remember a disgusting and fierce side of Noah in her memories.

Thinking about it this way....

The little crush she had on Joseph back then also seemed to stem from the fact that he was quite similar in temperament to Noah.

The driver was standing by the car door.

"Secretary Tesdal."

He greeted her respectfully and opened the door.

Rosalynn bent down to get in the car.

Inside, the atmosphere was filled with Wayne's presence.

Her stomach began to churn again.

A moment later.

Wayne also got into the car with a cold demeanor.

As the car started.

Wayne reached out, took her left hand, and pulled it to his face.

The wound had already had its stitches removed, but an ugly scar remained.

14.59

"Where did you get hurt in Q City?" Wayne asked gently.

It was as if he hadn't just trampled on Rosalynn's feelings.

Finally, Rosalynn looked up at him.

Those beautiful eyes that used to always look at him with a smile were now cold and devoid of any emotion.

"Are you happy now?" she asked.

Wayne was very dissatisfied with her attitude.

He gripped her chin, no longer holding back his anger.

“Rosallynn, first it was Evan, now a brother pops up. My patience for you has reached its limit. What are you still acting willful for?” Wayne asked in a low voice.

“Me, willful?” Rosallynn seemed to have heard a big joke, lowering her gaze and laughing wordlessly.

Wayne watched, inexplicably flustered.

Then, Rosallynn continued, “Oh, right. It was too chaotic just now. I forgot to congratulate President Silverman.”

Wayne’s heart skipped a beat.

Rosallynn then looked at him and said provocatively, “Congratulations on your engagement, President

Silverman.”

“Are you mad?” Wayne asked.

It seemed as if he was looking forward to Rosallynn being mad because of his engagement.

Being mad meant she still cared about him!

Who knew...

Rosallynn shook her head, “I’m just disgusted.”

Wayne’s hand stiffened.

“So, I disgust you?” he asked through gritted teeth.

“Yes!” Rosallynn answered without hesitation, “You said your patience has reached its limit? The past few years, my tolerance for you has reached its limit too! Wayne, you’re an absolute piece of trash. No wonder Olivia didn’t want you back then...”

She was fed up.

Completely fed up.

Not wanting to even be a little compliant to Wayne’s wishes anymore.

He didn’t even... treat her like a human being!

Wayne's anger grew so intense that he became emotionless.

He looked at Rosalynn, tearing away his disguise, and revealed his true, vicious claws and fangs.

He kissed her.

14-50

Wayne didn't pay much attention to Rosalynn.

Chapter 85

'Cause there was really nothing worth paying attention to.

But after being together for so long, he knew some of her preferences.

For example, Rosalynn loved kissing.

When he was in a good mood, he would reward her with a long kiss before and after sex.

Each time, she would be much happier than usual.

But now...

Every time he kissed her recently, it ended with a mouthful of a bloody taste.

Wayne had no choice.

He could only forcefully hold her chin.

She was forced to open her mouth, unable to bite down.

Only after he had kissed enough and vented his frustrations, did he coldly say, "Bear with the disgust, I'm not done yet. You can only stay by my side!"

Rosalynn choked.

He really didn't bother hiding his bad behavior at all.

After that, Wayne gently rubbed away the blood on Rosalynn's lips.

Her bloodless lips looked a bit more rosy.

He let go of his hand.

Since he used too much force, her fair cheeks were red and it looked so eye-catching.

Wayne subconsciously frowned.

And then he remembered that she was very afraid of pain.

His anger dissipated, and he was engulfed by an overwhelming sense of helplessness.

He raised his hand and stroked Rosalynn's head.

"Be good, and you'll suffer less."

Rosalynn looked at him, "Be good? How? Like Olivia?"

Wayne's anger instantly flared up again.

"Why are you bringing her up?"

"Am I not her substitute? Why can't I mention her?" Rosalynn asked coldly. "Wayne, did I do too well in the past? Wasn't Ashley good to you? If that's the case, I'll go back and teach Ashley right now. If you want, I will teach her at your bedside!!"

She paused for a moment.

Ignoring Wayne's murderous expression, she laughed, "Of course, one woman may not be enough to satisfy you. I can also teach Ms. Rosso. She's so beautiful, with a great figure, full of charm... except for not being like Olivia..."

"I haven't touched Ashley, and I won't touch Rosso," Wayne interrupted Rosalynn, somewhat defeated.

He never thought that one day he would be unable to handle Rosalynn.

14:59

Rosalynn was stunned and then laughed silently.

He still hadn't seen her true nature, huh?

Did he think she was the simple little girl who would believe whatever he said with admiration?

“Rosa, stop messing around...”

Wayne wrapped his arms around Rosalynn’s waist and buried his head in her neck.

Rosalynn’s heart ached as she scolded herself for having no backbone.

Whenever Wayne was tired in the past, he always liked doing this.

“I’ve made it clear to Rosso. Our relationship will only be a business alliance, and we will divorce as soon as we have achieved our goals. She doesn’t love me, and I don’t love her...”

There were still words left unsaid.

He wanted to say: I don’t want anyone else now, I just want you.

Rosalynn closed her eyes.

“Wayne, do you know where we just were?”

Wayne unconsciously clenched his fist.

“It’s my family’s burial ground.”

Rosalynn coldly pushed Wayne away.

Chapter 86

“I guess you already know that my grandma passed away, huh?”

“Why didn’t you...” Wayne’s “why didn’t you tell me didn’t come out.

That text message had become his nightmare during this time.

In his dreams, he always wanted to reply to her, even wanted to buy a plane ticket to L. City.

But when it was time to reply, the keyboard could never be pressed, and the voice message could never be sent.

In his dreams, he could never get to the airport either.

“My mom hates mistresses, my grandpa has always been a man of principle, and my grandma....my grandma never knew that I sold myself for the surgery fee...”

“Stop talking, just stop!” Wayne hugged Rosalynn again.

“But what about you?” Rosalynn’s voice was shaking badly, and her tears were dripping onto Wayne’s hand. “You were there, sneering and mocking, saying I was bought by you with money! They heard it! They all know now! How will the deceased accept this? My relatives won’t rest in peace because of this! Wayne! Do you even have a heart?!”

Just now, Wayne had not thought that far. He just wanted to scare off Noah.

He just wanted Rosalynn to see what sort of reactions those men would have after knowing this.

“Rosa, I didn’t mean to...”

“Don’t call me that!” Rosalynn interrupted fiercely.

“Since you’ve already know that my grandma died, I want to ask you...” Rosalynn clenched her teeth and calmed herself. “At that time, what were you doing in R Country?”

Wayne stiffened, his face rapidly paling

Rosalynn lowered her eyes and smiled, her shoulders trembling slightly.

Wayne didn’t know that she was also following the whereabouts of Miss Olivia.

So she also knew that when Wayne rushed to R Country, Miss Olivia’s marriage was in crisis.

Her husband was caught with several blonde, blue-eyed hot girls on the beach.

Wayne went to R Country that night.

The excuse for the outside world was to investigate the project.

But when did Wayne ever investigate a project without Rosalynn?

Perhaps it was fate.

As soon as Wayne left, Rosalynn's grandma had an accident.

Two days later, she passed away.

When Rosalynn was scared and frightened, Wayne was probably with Olivia.

"If you had told me your grandma passed away, I would have come back," Wayne said solemnly.

"No." Rosalynn shook her head and smiled with tears falling down her cheeks. "You wouldn't have come back. I can even imagine what you would say and do after I told you."

She lightly licked her dry lips.

"You would give me a check and let Sean help me deal with it. If Miss Olivia wasn't feeling well at that time, you would even feel annoyed that I was talking about it to you."

14.59

"No, I wouldn't!" Wayne immediately argued.

Rosalynn looked at him, "Wayne, how much do you think you cared about me before I left?"

Wayne's back stiffened.

"Since you went to R Country, I've been waiting every day for you to bring back your real girlfriend and get rid of me, the stand-in," Rosalynn continued. "I don't understand. You are obviously tired of me, and with divine help, her husband cheated on her. Since you love her so much, why don't you fight to get her back?"

The dark cloud in Wayne's heart grew heavier.

So, she wanted to leave him since then!

"Don't you love me at all?" Wayne asked.

Rosalynn looked at him, her heart feeling like it had been torn to pieces by sharp claws.

Then she heard herself, emotionlessly answering: "No."

She thought Wayne would choke her the next second.

But unexpectedly...

The elegant man gently gathered her messy hair behind her back.

"It's okay," he said. "There's plenty of time. I have time to wait for you to fall in love with me."

14:59

Rosalynn's heart skipped a beat.

She had completely lost her patience.

What the hell was Wayne talking about?

Wasn't he the proudest person ever?

Chapter 87

"Don't look at me like that, Wayne said, kissing her lips.

Rosalynn disgustingly turned her head away.

And he wasn't even angry.

"Secretary Tesdal, you aren't all alone," Wayne said slowly. "Your friend Paige..."

"Wayne!" Rosalynn exclaimed.

Wayne laughed. "Seems like I got it wrong, she's your best friend, Paige."

"Don't you dare hurt her!" Rosalynn pushed Wayne hard, her voice full of urgency and tears.

"You behave, and I won't hurt anyone." Wayne grabbed her wrist and pulled her into his arms, his voice surprisingly gentle.

But to Rosalynn's ears, it was like thousands of poisonous snakes crawling all over her body. She was covered in chills.

“And there’s that Noah…”

“That little programmer friend…”

“Your grandma’s caregiver… This lady’s the most interesting, so many problems were found from her. If I count seriously, she could be stuck behind bars forever.”

“Oh yeah, the Silverman family is investing in Rose Gold Delight soon. I’ll be the major shareholder of Rose Gold Delight.” Wayne’s eyes twinkled with amusement. “Did you know Evan has an illegitimate elder brother? If I help him, do you think he can take Rose Gold Delight from that useless Evan?”

“Wayne, you’re a monster!” Rosalynn cursed.

“Is that all it takes to be a monster? There’s more.”

Although Wayne hadn’t found Rosalynn these past few days, it wasn’t like he was empty-handed.

He had discovered a lot of things about Rosalynn.

“Your charitable project for blind children’s smartwatches…”

Rosalynn instantly felt chills all over her body.

During her college days, she had volunteered for a while and accidentally got involved with the group of blind children.

Later on, she found out about a smartwatch research team that wanted to help blind children live more independently and more conveniently.

At that time, her grandma didn’t need much money, Wayne’s enthusiasm for her was also at its highest and he gave her a lot of money.

Rosalynn practically donated it all to the project and even pulled in more investments privately.

By now, many blind kids had been using the smartwatches.

“Wayne, these children are already so pitiful, you…”

14.59

“As long as you’re good, I’ll invest even more, and let a more professional team help them develop” Wayne said seriously. “Sweetie, all you need to do is be by my side, just like before... no, you don't even have to pretend to be anyone. Everyone around you will be just fine."

Rosalynn looked at Wayne.

A massive wave of despair hit her like a tsunami.

What could she fight back with against absolute power?

"How can you be like this?" Rosalynn cried, her tears falling down her cheeks.

She had actually fallen for this kind of person before.

Rosalynn felt extremely disgusted just thinking about it.

Her hand covered her mouth, her stomach churning.

"Pull over!"

Wayne sensed that something was wrong with Rosalynn and ordered the car to pull over.

Rosalynn opened the car door, stumbled out of the car, and vomited her guts out.

Wayne stiffly watched, never imagining that Rosalynn would be so repulsed by him. But what could he do?

After these days without her, Wayne was more certain than ever that he couldn't be without her.

Whether he was used to it or for some other reason, he needed her back by his side.

He would do whatever it took for that to happen!

Rosalynn was completely drained from vomiting.

The driver crouched by her side, handing her some water.

Rosalynn glanced at him.

The driver hesitated for a moment before saying, "Secretary Tesdal, the CEO hasn't been eating or drinking well recently, always looking for you... don't be mad at him anymore."

Rosalynn rinsed her mouth.

Her hand pressed on her lower abdomen.

How could she go back to Wayne?

The baby would grow bigger each day, and he'd find out sooner or later.

14

Rosalynn thought to herself...

Stay calm, gotta stay calm.

There's gotta be a way out!

There must be.

Rosalynn evened her breathing.

Slowly stood up.

Chapter 88

The driver saw her looking all shaky, worried she might faint, and tried to help.

Rosalynn dodged him.

She turned around, Wayne sat in the car, watching her intently.

Seemed like he was waiting for her to make a choice. That one and only choice:

Bow her head, return to his side, and continue being his obedient little canary.

Rosalynn, like a soulless body, slowly walked back and sat down next to Wayne.

Wayne finally revealed a satisfied smile.

"First, come with me to B City for a business trip, then back to H City Wayne said, "then live in my Meadowview Manor..."

Meadowview Manor was Wayne's residence.

"No!" Rosalynn rejected it without thinking.

Wayne's eyes darkened.

"Then move back to your residence."

"I have a place to stay now!" Rosalynn said sternly.

"Paige's shabby house?"

Rosalynn frowned at him.

"You only have two options, either live with me or move back to your original residence!" Wayne declared.

Rosalynn desperately reminded herself that murder was illegal. And she couldn't beat Wayne anyway.

She looked away, gritted her teeth, and compromised.

"The latter."

Wayne thought for a moment: "Fine."

There were more memories of theirs in that place.

Living there from now on, eventually, she'd remember the good times they once had.

Afterwards, Rosalynn stopped talking.

It wasn't long before Noah called her.

Ignoring Wayne's gloomy gaze, she picked up.

"Rosalynn..."

"Noah, it's just as he said, I have nothing to explain." Rosalynn spoke coldly. "Sorry for letting you down."

Wayne frowned

What did she have to apologize for?

Silence fell for a moment on the other side.

"My words always count," Noah said, word by word.

Rosalynn was stiff.

What words?

“I got it.”

She responded calmly, afraid Wayne would notice something.

“My boss will pay for the medical expenses; I’m sorry about today”

After that, Rosalynn hung up the phone.

“You heard it?” She looked at Wayne, “Medical expenses, lost wages, give that to him.”

Wayne scoffed.

“Fine, you’re the boss.”

Rosalynn lowered her eyelids, blocking the raging exhaustion deep in her eyes.

Soon, Rosalynn arrived in B City with Wayne.

“President Silverman, congratulations, congratulations!”

The representative of their partner, upon seeing Wayne, immediately stepped forward to congratulate him on the engagement.

Wayne subconsciously glanced at Rosalynn.

Rosalynn changed back into her professional attire, standing expressionless behind him.

The negotiation began.

She walked straight to Wayne’s secretary’s seat and sat down.

Opened the laptop, ready to record the meeting.

The uneasiness in Wayne’s heart these past few days finally settled back into place.

Chapter 89

Rosalynn had it all figured out along the way.

Might as well stay if she has to stay.

But there's no way she's continuing to play the role of the delicate secretary.

So...

Not long after the meeting started, the other party began to set traps and deception.

Rosalynn looked up and coldly interrupted and exposed their deception.

"Mr. Duran, don't use the financial report you use to fool others. Without sincerity, it's hard to cooperate."

The meeting room suddenly went dead silent.

Mr. Duran, the first one to show his displeasure, asked, "Secretary Tesdal, what do you mean by that?"

Mr. Duran had met Rosalynn a few times before.

Previously, she had always followed Wayne around, distributing materials and taking meeting notes, never speaking up at meetings.

Everyone knew about Rosalynn's relationship with Wayne.

Privately, Mr. Duran never passed up an opportunity to make fun of Rosalynn.

Kinds like Rosalynn was like a water flask, wherever Wayne went, she would follow, just to quench his thirst whenever he needed it.

He also sneered at how easy it was for a pretty woman like Rosalynn to make money - by just lying down, moaning a few times, and earning big wads of cash.

Right now, the meeting room was filled with executives. Being challenged by a woman like this, Mr. Duran got really embarrassed..

"Let me put it bluntly," Rosalynn pushed the materials in her hand, "If we're talking about cooperation, not bringing out the real financial report is just wasting each other's time."

Mr. Duran's face turned ashen.

Whispers arose from the room.

The people from the Bane Corporation found the whole scenario amusing. Some gave Rosalynn reproachful looks too, as they wanted this collaboration to happen.

Mr. Duran's side, however, was pissed off.

"President Silverman, your secretary's words are quite offensive!" someone said to Wayne.

Rosalynn didn't even look at Wayne.

It'd be best if he dropped dead from anger right now. That way, she wouldn't have to find a way to disgust him and make him repulse her.

"What did she say wrong?" Wayne leaned back in his chair, his tone icy. "She just stated the facts. Which part was offensive?"

Rosalynn was startled, and she couldn't help but look at Wayne.

In fact, fake financial reports are quite common.

Usually, everyone wouldn't point it out in public. There are millions of ways to negotiate cooperation and press down the price

14:59

How could Rosalynn not know that?

First of all, the financial report in her hand was too poorly done, so fake that it hurt her eyes

Secondly, Mr. Duran had been gossiping about her all over the place, and Rosalynn had heard plenty So, she made it clear.

To maintain her "pure" image in Wayne's heart, she had endured enough already.

Now, to hell with it. Whoever wanted to endure these dirty words could do it. She wouldn't anymore!

If they didn't change the financial report, she could put Mr. Duran through endless shame on the spot. But... she didn't expect Wayne to actually defend her openly.

That had never happened before.

"President Silverman..."

“What’s the use of calling for President Silverman?” Rosalynn looked at Mr. Duran. “This kind of financial report can’t even pass with me, let alone reaching President Silverman.”

Rosalynn spoke, her gaze sweeping over the heads of the subsidiaries involved in the project.

“You’re all senior employees of the Silverman family. Can’t you see the problems with such a stupid report? And yet you actually brought it to the meeting?”

“Secretary Tesdal! I am afraid you might don’t understand this. We’ve all seen the financial report, and there’s no problem. President Silverman...” The executives couldn’t stand being talked down to.

A mere secretary dared to hold sway over them?

“Is there really no problem?” Wayne asked. There wasn’t much emotion in his voice.

However, to the executives, it sounded like a ticking time bomb.

“Uh... well... President Silverman, why don’t you take a break first, and we’ll discuss it further?”

Wayne ignored the man and looked at Rosalynn’s cold face instead.

Chapter 90

She looked pretty when she was obedient and gentle

But she looked even prettier with this cold and gorgeous appearance

“Secretary Tesdal, what do you think?’ he asked.

Rosalynn thought Wayne might have lost his mind.

The rest of the crowd felt the same way.

“Let President Silverman decide,” Rosalynn replied.

“Okay, let’s delay it for one day.” Unexpectedly, Wayne agreed easily. “If you guys can’t provide a satisfactory financial report for Secretary Tesdal tomorrow, we’ll find someone else for the collaboration”

Satisfy who?

Everyone was shocked.

After Wayne and Rosalynn left.

Mr. Duran laughed speechlessly, looking at the senior executives: "Did Secretary Tesdal piss off when President Silverman get married? Is he using our project to make her happy?"

"President Silverman isn't like that!"

"Didn't you see his lips are broken? She must have bitten him!"

"Isn't Secretary Tesdal always gentle? She dared to bite President Silverman?"

"Haha, she failed to get the upper hand and got anxious."

"But, no offense, Mr. Duran, your financial report is outrageous!! More than 3 billion in investment, can you guys be a bit more cautious?"

"Yeah..."

Mr. Duran's face turned livid.

Their company's financial report for the last quarter was bad, so they had to fake it.

Otherwise, even if Wayne accepted the collaboration, the price would have been pushed down a lot.

Wayne and Rosalynn returned to the hotel.

As soon as the door closed, Wayne wrapped his arms around her, holding her against the wall.

"You dare to lose your temper at the meeting?"

Rosalynn frowned, fearing he would press on her stomach: "Relying on President Silverman, what don't I dare?"

She intended to provoke Wayne.

However, Wayne was very pleased with this statement

He leaned in and kissed her a couple of times.

"Yeah, from now on, just rely on me, and do whatever you want," Wayne said passionately.

He hadn't made love with her since the last time in the secretarial office.

Now he gently kissed Rosalynn's ear and fair neck.

Rosalynn got nervous immediately.

"Really?" She hurriedly tried to shift Wayne's attention, "Can I bully your wife, too?"

14:50

Wayne paused.

Then he looked up, his expression already unhappy.

"What wife? It's just a marriage alliance, she's not my wife, don't overthink this."

"Can I bully her?" Rosalynn asked.

Of course, she wouldn't bully Heatherway.

Such a beautiful person, she couldn't like it enough. How could she bully her?

"No," Wayne pinched her cheek, "You two don't bother each other, and when the time comes, she'll leave."

Rosalynn pretended to be angry, avoiding Wayne's kiss.

"Yeah, what right do I have to bully your wife?"

Wayne: "..."

Rosalynn pushed Wayne away.

"I don't want to... I'm tired."

Wayne was silent at first.

In the past, he wouldn't have cared about her opinion.

He let out a helpless sigh, then hugged Rosalynn.

"Okay..."

Rosalynn was a bit surprised.

He actually gave in just like that?

“I want to sleep while hugging you, I haven’t slept well without you,” Wayne’s tone was a bit... wronged?

Rosalynn thought he must’ve been out of his mind.
