The Secret Heir Return To Wealth And Love Chapter 826

Chapter 826

Cory, with his head drooping, closed his eyes and asked, "Everything went smoothly?"

"Yeah, super smooth, all sorted out, Rosalynn replied while walking towards the room. " Wait 'til tomorrow when you wake up, and I'll tell you everything okay? Now go to sleep. "

"Alright."

Cory mumbled, sinking back into his dreams.

Rosalynn put Cory back to bed, kissed his forehead, and went back to the living room to put the other child to bed.

Ivy leaned against Wayne's arm, not daring to move.

Rosalynn came out, quickly picked up Ivy, and walked into the room.

Wayne hurriedly got up and followed her like a little puppy.

Just as Rosalynn was about to put Ivy back to bed, Ivy woke up.

"Mommy?" Ivy made sure it was Rosalynn who had come back.

She was about to fall back to bed but clung to Rosalynn like a koala, crying.

"What's wrong?"

Rosalynn held her, gently patting her back.

Ivy buried her face in Rosalynn's neck and cried but didn't say what was wrong.

Wayne stood there, feeling a bit helpless.

After he returned, Ivy seemed normal. She even fed him dinner and voluntarily studied for two hours. So why did she suddenly?

'Still scared?' Rosalynn asked.

Ivy nodded, and hugged even tighter.

Rosalynn looked at Wayne, who was clearly clueless

"Don't worry. Mommy and Daddy are here. We'll protect Ivy. You're safe, no need to be scared." Rosalynn kissed Ivy's ear. "Mommy's already locked up the bad guy.

Ivy didn't know if she had heard, but she still held Rosalynn, sobbing softly. Eventually, she fell asleep because of her exhaustion.

Rosalynn carefully put her down, got a warm towel, wiped her face again, and as usual, kissed her forehead: 'Sweet dreams.'

After taking care of the kids, she gestured to Wayne to go outside and walked out.

Before Wayne left, he also kissed the kids' foreheads. He was so nervous that he pulled on his wound, gritting his teeth in pain but not daring to make a sound. He endured it and went to the living room.

Seeing his pale face, Rosalynn frowned and asked. 'What's wrong?'

"Stole a kiss and pulled on my wound. It hurts so bad" Wayne looked like he was in extreme pain.

Rosalynn was speechless. "Come here, let me check your wound."

Wayne hurried over, sitting next to her, looking extremely wronged.

Rosalynn checked the gauze, no blood seeped out, so it was not a big issue.

"Why did you steal a kiss? Rosalynn asked, exasperated

"If I don't steal one, they won't let me," Wayne muttered, finally sighing.

“Have you asked?” Rosalynn questioned.

Wayne was stunned “No I haven’t..

“How can you know if the kids won’t let you if you don’t ask?” Rosalynn was still speechless and decided not to continue this topic. Your people have reported the situation over there, right?”

“Yeah‘ Wayne’s expression became more solemn. “I’ve heard from Granny Silverman that Ollie is a bit shady He’s been tolerated a lot because he’s a cousin. But I never thought.”

“He’s dead,” Rosalynn said “Not long after I left, he was killed by Drew”

“He deserved it” Wayne said solemnly “And Drew

Leave it to the judge Rosalynn lowered her eyelids “We also need to re–investigate the chemical pollution compensation case. Ollie couldn’t have done it alone”

Chapter 827

After she finished talking, he nodded and replied, “I’ve already instructed someone to handle it It should be that person in close contact with Ollie during that time”

Rosalynn thought momentarily, then looked at Wayne and said seriously, “Wayne, this incident has sounded like a wake–up call for us From now on, you and I can make less money, but we can’t touch things like chemical plant pollution that harm people. If anyone under our control does something like this, we absolutely can’t let it slide

She paused for a moment, looking into Wayne’s eyes, and added, “I know you’re a materialist, but now we’re Cory and Ivy’s parents. Even if there’s only a one–in–a–million chance of karma, we can’t let it fall on their heads”

After getting married, this was the first time Rosalynn had a calm and rational conversation with Wayne face–to–face.

As Wayne looked into her eyes, he felt as if he was seeing countless versions of Secretary Tesdal from the past

He was a vengeful person, and knowing his own background, coupled with almost dying at the hands of his mother, Wayne's personality became uncontrollable and extreme

He would stop at nothing to achieve absolute dominance over the Silverman Group and Bane Corporation.

Why did you take almost all the money I gave you and use it for charity when you were with me?" Wayne asked with a dry throat.

It wasn't until after the plane crash that Wayne learned that Rosalynn's account had very little money.

Rosalynn was taken aback, suddenly remembering that before her grandmother completely lost consciousness, she had taken care of her high medical bills and found her an excellent nursing home.

Although she explained it perfectly, showing her grandmother her Bane Corporation work ID and proof of borrowing money from the company, she later told her that she had completed some small projects in the company and received a generous bonus

Despite the reasonable explanations, her grandmother remained worried.

One weekend when she went back to visit, the news covered negative stories about Bane Corporation

After watching it, her grandmother anxiously told Rosalynn, "Lynn, remember what your grandparents taught you from a young age it's okay to be poor, but never do anything illegal or immoral. Bad deeds will bring bad karma!"

Karma? The word weighed on Rosalynn like a mountain

At that stage, her grandmother's health was stable, and whenever Wayne was happy, he liked to give her checks. He didn't buy her gifts, but on various holidays, even Arbor Day, Wayne would give her a check. The money gradually accumulated into a substantial amount.

When she was in school, Rosalynn would use her pocket money to help students in poorer areas.

She didn't remember what happened that day, but after finishing what Wayne had instructed her to do, she overheard the bodyguard mentioning that Wayne had sent another failed enemy to the bottom of the ocean to feed the sharks

The word "karma" her grandmother had mentioned rang loudly in her ears once more

At that time she truly loved Wayne deeply

She donated all the money he gave her to lighten Wayne's sins,

Chapter 828

She hoped that helping others could also accumulate some good karma for Wayne.

She never mentioned this to anyone.

The hotel room was filled with a faint fruity scent.

Rosalynn asked Wayne, "Don't you know how much I hate that past? Why do you always bring it up?"

"I want to know why you did it!" Wayne's lips were bloodless, his face pale, and the corners of his eyes red.

"What do you want to prove with this answer?" Rosalynn laughed helplessly. "If you want to hear me say it's because I loved you, you're ridiculous" Wayne's eyes reddened even more.

"The more I loved you back then, the more you hated me." Rosalynn raised her hand and gently brushed Wayne's pale cheek. Wayne looked at her tearfully. "If you want to live well, stop thinking about the past. The past is long gone, destroyed by you, and there's no going back."

"I've really changed." Wayne's voice sounded choked, with a humble plea that shouldn't belong to him.

Rosalynn was silent for a moment.

She thought of Olivia for some reason.

She remembered the way Olivia looked at her that day in Fuller Manor.

And years ago, when

Wayne had screamed at her more than once, "Know your place, don't dream of things you shouldn't, you can never replace Olivia." Forever

"Check on the chemical plant as soon as possible. Rosalynn withdrew her hand, got up, and returned to Cory and Ivy's room.

In the empty living room, Wayne sat alone on the big sofa.

He had never been so frustrated in his life.

He was constantly trying to please her and continually being rejected.

He slowly leaned back on the sofa, his arm had been hurting after the anesthesia wore off, and now it hurt even more.

He wished he could spend a fortune inventing the time machine, go back ten years, and tell Wayne back then Rosalynn will be more important to you than life itself.

Be sure to control your temper, love her, protect her, and never treat her as anyone's replacement.

The following day, Rosalynn called Wayne's family doctor, who had come temporarily yesterday, to reapply for his medicine.

She didn't sleep well the night before and was still dozing in bed. Cory and Ivy came out to check if Wayne was okay and then relaxed when they saw he wasn't dead.

Then they went back to their room, hand in hand, to sleep with their mommy.

Paige and Baillie got up even earlier. They went to a nearby lookout to watch the sunrise and ate a famous local breakfast together.

When they returned, they saw Ivy checking if her dad was alive and well.

They were amused.

"Our kid has this advantage: she's seen a lot and knows that as long as you're not dead, everything will be fine, Paige said, leaning on Baillie's arm, laughing

After that,

She yawned and then seemed to think of something, "I haven't slept with my baby for a long time. The hotel bed is big. I want to sleep with them!"

After saying that,

Paige ignored Wayne's gloomy face and happily caught up with the kids.

Picking up Ivy, she kissed her as they walked.

Wayne could still hear his daughter's helpless voice in the distance, "Auntie, be careful you're kissing Ivy's face out of shape"

Chapter 829

Baillie looked at it, laughing uncontrollably

Since the Scott and Silverman families had always been in touch, Wayne had witnessed Baillie's growth at different stages.

Baillie was silent and rarely smiled, a ruthless study machine who can be seen immersed in happiness with the naked eye, has no intersection

"Did you guys have a flash marriage? Wayne asked.

Baillie looked away and nodded, "Yes"

"What about you now?" Wayne was different than the type person who can chat, especially regarding matters of the heart.

But Baillie was good at it

After all, back at school, the professor casually mentioned, "Your wife looks adorable"

The reticent Baillie could sit down with the professor and give examples of how adorable his wife was

We're in love, Baillie replied

Wayne turned speechless

With nowhere to vent his jealousy, he turned to the male nurse tending to his wound, "Why are you shaking?"

Nurse was confused.

"Did I hurt you?*

Wayne's attention was not on this at all.

"Don't dawdle get it done, and get out of here, Wayne said impatiently

The nurse quickly finished, wrapped the wound in gauze, and left

"Is Rosalynn still mad? Baillie asked.

It wasn't hard to tell

From the moment he and Paige walked into when Paige went to find Rosalynn, Wayne's gaze at the couple was filled with displeasure Wayne

paused for a moment, then looked at Baillie, "You were going to marry Paige, so you must have investigated her thoroughly

You mean Logan Sutton?" Baillie said casually. "That's all in the past. She really likes me now"

They were so loving that they kissed each other many times every day

"She did a lot for Logan, was deeply devoted to him. How did you get her to fall in love with you and be in love with you in such a short time?"

Wayne wanted to be in love with Rosalynn too.

Baillie smiled, "First of all, it's all thanks to Logan for being a total jerk. Mrs. Scott is smart and savvy, once she sees what kind of person he is, she gives up on him As for being in love"

Baillie looked at Wayne, "There's no trick to it, just a sincere heart."

Baillie never played games with Paige

Whatever she wanted, he gave her. He never thought about getting something in return.

After listening, Wayne felt like Baillie was showing off. Sincerely.

Wayne fell into deep thought

Was it because he wasn't sincere enough that she couldn't forgive him?

If you're really at a loss, you can ask the kids for help." Baillie interrupted Wayne's thoughts.

"Cory and Ivy are both very smart If they fully accept you, they'll definitely be your helpful assistants in pursuing your wife"

In the room these helpful assistants, one was lying in their mother's arms, fast asleep.

The other was holding a phone, doing something

"Cory, what are you looking at? Paige, who was half asleep, opened her eyes and asked with concern

Tim deleting the post, Cory replied

Paige's sleepiness disappeared in an instant, and she immediately sat up, "What posts are you deleting?" "Pictures of my sister's face"

Even today, the internet was still abuzz with discussions about Wayne's children

Chapter 830

“Your parents will take care of it. They won’t let you and your sister get the raw end of the deal.”

Paige grumbled, falling asleep before Cory could even respond.

Cory’s fingers paused slightly. They won’t let us get the raw end of the deal, huh?

He pondered in his heart, but it was just a thought with no answers to be found.

After Natalie’s grave was desecrated, Rosalynn woke up to take care of the matter. After lunch, they headed back to H City When they left. Wayne was acting a bit off.

Instead of riding with Rosalynn, Cory, and Ivy, he took his car.

Rosalynn assumed he had his own business and didn’t question it. But when they arrived at H City, he went straight home.

“Didn’t you have something to do?” Paige was talking to Rosalynn when she saw Wayne come back, looking stunned. Rosalynn was surprised too.

“Who said that?” Wayne changed his shoes at the entrance, “Ivy has a test to take soon how could I plan something else?” After a glance at the clock, he called Ivy, “Ivy, your test is in ten minutes are you ready?”

‘Ready!’

Ivy’s voice echoed from upstairs. Then she came bouncing down in her outfit.

“What’s your goal? Wayne asked her.

Ivy answered without hesitation, “A perfect score!”

Her cute face was filled with determination.

“Good!” Wayne nodded “Let’s go!”

“Okay!”

Rosalynn and Paige watched them head to the study.

“What just happened?” Paige was confused, “Did they make up?”

“Apparently.” Rosalynn chuckled, sitting on the couch “I gotta admit, having an extra dad around makes my life easier.”

Well, that's because Wayne is responsible. Plenty of dads in this world don't care about their kids." Paige snuggled up next to Rosalynn on the couch "Next month, Baillie is taking me to his home."

These days, Paige and Baillie were head over heels for each other.

'Nervous? Didn't you already start preparing gifts for the elders?" Rosalynn asked with a smile

"This is my first time meeting the parents. You know how big the Scott family is. If it weren't for the fact that I had a breakup and cut ties with my mom, totally falling apart, I wouldn't dare to Paige rambled, then happily leaned on Rosalynn's shoulder, "Baillie said his family is really nice, everyone's looking forward to meeting me"

After a pause, Paige added, "I didn't realize how important a healthy relationship is until after marrying Baillie"

Rosalynn was taken aback. A healthy relationship.

Well, over the past decade She and Wayne's relationship was anything but healthy, and that hadn't changed!

"Since marrying Baillie, you've really transformed You're visibly prettier, happier, and your eyes are brighter Rosalynn thought momentarily, "Back when you were with Logan, you were getting wasted every night. I haven't seen you touch a drink in a while, have 17"

"Right?" Paige beamed, "Honestly, I feel prettier lately. My skins gotten so good. I don't even need foundation"

Rosalynn laughed

Paige instantly got bashful and cuddled up to Rosalynn
