

Chapter 886

Wasions NO

love letters, and he really didnt plan

at Paige

must be you

sing around behind the

The som

as she finished speaking nd charged at Prwige with a

But the datet

He uned

Uted his font

(kicked her straight in the chest

fying several muti

otecting the immediately stepped forward and re

the commation

love for a new one I won't let her go! I'll never let her icole seemed to have gone completely insane, or maybe she just wi

wanted t

milate Page

her” Baille turned the dumbfounded Paige around his tall figure blocking her body his large hands covering her ears. “Go!

i retreating figure before him

the chaotic some and take it anymore

for this gathering wat

iscuss an overseas e-commerce project with Baille

sed many high quality

tories in port cities, which could provide him with stable and high-quality supplies uld be better to just invite Baillie to dinner by himself!

gone completely mad Leaton cursed in a low voice “Who the hell invited her to the alumni gathering?”

cho was behind all ng Paige a third wheel, didn’t she really have history with Baille and then get dumped?”

A man who was jealous of (

Why don’t you dare say that in front of him?”

d reasonably Keaton why are you so anxious? Hes just a human too, playing with women is normal?”

suppress he anger at the words out loud when someone suddenly exclaimed, “Oh my God, his wife is the founder of Summit Capital Investment y”

as not a huge company it was very famous among the overseas student circles

| sarcastically said

start their own businesses, they couldn't cussing it at dinner tables. It's said they were locations to build the Summit Capital company is planning to implement and he thought

because he likes to power

connections if could just rely on her

Chapter 887

Hopped in the car Baile buckled up Paige's seatbelt

Paige was still a bit dazed

The fire in his heart was still rising, and seeing her like this, he leaned down and kissed her passionately twice.

"What are you doing?"

Paige covered her mouth, her eyes twinkling as she looked at him

Then she said helplessly. You wanna make my lips swell up like a sausage?"

Baile

gently kissed Paige's eyes

Don't listen to that lunatic's nonsense. I really don't know her," Baile explained with a bit of hurt feeling. "Before you, I never dated anyone"

"Am I your first love? Paige asked with a grin

Baillie started to feel a bit smug. He nodded and hugged Paige, burying his head in her neck. "I take care of today's mess and won't let it affect you." "Mr Scott, don't be so uptight," Paige patted his head. "I trust you and won't doubt you just because of some random rumors."

Even though Paige said that,

Baillie was still a bit unhappy

Mrs. Scott had been looking forward to today's alumni gathering.

She bought a new dress, a new bag, and shoes to match

She had been busy with work, taking care of Cory and Ivy, and still came with him

"No need to attend that boring gathering Let's go on a date and buy some yummy food!" Paige's voice pulled him out of his negative mood. "Alright, let's go on a date!"

When Rosalynn heard that Paige had become her precious son's mother, she couldn't help but laugh.

What's going on these days? People keep trying to give my son and daughter a new mom?" She complained. "So, did you settle things?"

She asked Jaime, who was quite proud

"Yup, I scolded those so-called silver spoon brats. Those greenhouse-grown chicks, I could swallow one in a single bite."

Rosalynn laughed after hearing that, "So, did you find the rumor spreader?"

"Of course!" Jaime sent the information he found to Rosalynn's phone. "It was posted by a person named Nicole. Although the forum account wasn't registered with her info, I found out that the account was bought by her. And the IP address was indeed her location."

Rosalynn nodded

She looked at the information unhurriedly

Nicole's family was in the funeral business, a three-generation family business

Although she wasn't as prestigious as those aristocratic families, she was very wealthy since she monopolized the local funeral market.

However, Nicole wasn't valued at home

Her mother died of a difficult childbirth when she was born.

The Lanz family believed that Nicole was a disaster

Many people who had dealings with the Lanz family knew that Nicole's name wasn't always this.

Later, her father remarried, and her stepmother gave birth to four younger brothers in a few years

When the fourth brother was born, the stepmother died from amniotic fluid embolism.

Some said the stepmother was killed by Nicole, and her father grew to dislike her even more

Although she was a local, her father insisted on sending her to a boarding school in another city and never brought her home during holidays.

Luckily, Nicole was very self-disciplined

Chapter 888

She had been doing great, smooth sailing all the way, studying at a top ten university worldwide.

When I was looking her up, I suddenly had an idea. There's no love or hatred in this world without a reason Sol checked out Baillie's academic path. Jaime squatted on the couch, playing video games while chatting with Rosalynn, "This gifs academic path is basically a fan-chasing journey. Wherever Baillie goes, she goes!"

Rosalynn read on

Nicole's situation was indeed pitiful, but one's own pain shouldn't be an excuse to hurt others

"However Rosalynn glanced at the photos and videos of Cory, "Nicole doesn't live in this community. Where did these photos and videos come from?"

In my opinion, her behavior has gone a bit too far. I guess she stalked Baillie, found out where he lived, and sneaked into the community to take these photos," Jaime analyzed word by word

Rosalynn looked at the photos and fell into a deep thought

She bought this villa for temporary residence when she came back for projects, so many issues weren't considered thoroughly.

The small standalone villa, although there was some distance between neighbors, still had each household in close proximity, making it easy for one's actions to be observed by others. Now she and Wayne were under public scrutiny, and people were also extremely curious about Cory and Ivy.

Since there were open roads inside the community at both ends, strictly speaking, the security couldn't be very rigorous.

She called Mike.

"I'm sending you a photo and a video. Ask the bodyguards at home to find the shooting angle of the photo and video."

"Understood!"

Rosalynn paused for a moment: "No news from Calvin these days?"

"No." "Mike's mood dropped a bit."

"Alright. Get some rest."

Rosalynn hung up the phone and took a deep breath.

When grandma woke up, she would not only have to face Jason's death but also Calvin's disappearance and unknown fate.

Wayne was in the study, having a meeting with the executives of Bane Corporation.

Ever since she returned, Wayne, for some reason, was thinking about dating every day. He was no longer the workaholic he used to be.

To be honest, Bane Corporation currently had a professional management team, but Wayne hadn't been running it well lately.

"Tell him I'm going to the hospital," Rosalynn stood up and was about to leave.

"What are you going to do about Nicole?" Jaime asked.

Rosalynn laughed.

"Are you dumb? Is it up to us to think about this? Can't Baillie handle?"

Jaime muttered, "Men at his age are mostly unreliable."

“Hes your age” Rosalynn reminded him while changing her shoes

Exactly, that’s why I know men our age arent reliable. I don’t know what Paige saw in hi m...”

“Why is it that you guys are the same age, and Baie could marry your Paige, but you’re still single?” She looked at Jaime, accurately finding his weakness.

Jame was smart in other aspects, but he was indeed clumsy when it came to dating.

If he didn’t want to date would be understandable

The point was that Jaime had recently shown a desire for love

Jaime didn’t respond because he knew Rosalynn had a point.

Rosalynn drove to the hospital

As usual, she asked about Hilaria’s condition and learned that her vital signs were still st able.

After the doctor left

Rosalynn sat beside Hilara and told her about what happened with Paige