Chapter 91

Rosalynn was seriously exhausted, feeling wiped out both mentally and physically.

She knew that there was no use in arguing with Wayne any further.

She was already grateful that he agreed not to have sex with her.

So, she just let him be.

The hotel bed was so soft and comfortable.

Held in Wayne's arms, it didn't take long for Rosalynn to fall asleep.

Half-awake, she felt Wayne's gentle kisses fall upon her cheeks and ears.

In a daze, it seemed like he was saying...

"I shouldn't have been mad and said those things in the cemetery. Can you forgive me?"

"I haven't been good to you before, and that's my fault, Rosa. I promise I'll treat you better from now on..."

Hearing this, Rosalynn's heart started pounding.

She thought, could this be a dream?

"How could Wayne actually apologize to her, and how could he be afraid that she would feel hurt?"

And how could he promise her a future together?

Rosalynn would never forget the blunt words Wayne had said to her before.

"You have no future with me. You are just a stand-in for Olivia. Once I'm tired of you and want to change to another girlfriend, I'll let you go."

Those hurtful words.

But back then, Wayne seemed to be granting her a favor.

That night, Rosalynn didn't sleep well.

In her dreams, she returned to Gravel Lane.

Pushing open the heavy wooden door, her grandparents and mother immediately turned around upon seeing her.

“How did you guys come back?”

Rosalynn asked with tears in her eyes.

However, without saying anything else, her mother suddenly slapped her hard across the face.

“I went through hell to give birth to you, and this is how you repay me? Selling yourself? He’s already getting married, but you still cling to him. You’re being a homewrecker! Have you forgotten why you don’t have a father? Have you forgotten how I died?”

The beautiful woman in front of her had none of her former ease.

Her face distorted with hatred and anger.

“Had I known you’d become like this, I would have never given birth to you!”

“Mom...”

Rosalynn hurriedly tried to explain.

But suddenly, a walking stick swung her way..

Her kind grandparents came to her mother’s side, protecting her mother

“Grandpa... Grandma

“Get lost! We don’t need a shameless granddaughter like you!” her grandpa scolded.

*If I had known the money for my treatment had come from you selling yourself, I would have rather died than accept it!” her grandma sobbed -heartbrokenly.

“Mom... Grandpa... Grandma... Please don’t abandon me. I was wrong, I know I made a mistake...”

“Leave!”

The three monster-like faces leaped at Rosalynn all at once.

“No!”

Rosalynn woke up, startled.

“What’s wrong?” Wayne’s voice pulled Rosalynn back to reality.

He sat up and gently patted Rosalynn’s back.

“Bad dream?”

Rosalynn broke out in cold sweat and glanced at him.

The images from her nightmare were so clear that Rosalynn even suspected if they had actually happened.

She had indeed disappointed them.

And all of it was because of Wayne.

“Yeah...”

Rosalynn lowered her eyes, responding coldly.

She lay down again, turning her back to Wayne. “Let’s just go back to sleep.”

Wayne’s hand froze in mid-air for a moment.

It seemed like he had just vaguely heard her admitting her mistake.

Wayne could probably guess what she had dreamt.

Feeling remorse and guilt, he lay back down and scooted closer to Rosalynn, holding her from behind.

He gently stroked her delicate back.

Chapter 92

‘Sorry...’

Wayne said in a low voice.

Rosalynn’s slender body trembled slightly.

Her face buried deep in the soft pillow, she didn't respond.

After that, they had a dreamless night.

Rosalynn woke up feeling too hot.

Wayne had almost wrapped her entire body in his embrace.

As she moved a little, Wayne woke up immediately,

"Let go of me, it's so hot," Rosalynn whispered.

Hearing that, Wayne held her even tighter, kissing her cheeks and nibbling her neck.

Being so close for five years, he knew all too well how to tease her.

"President Silverman, we have a meeting at 8 o'clock," Rosalynn said, her head tilted back, breathing like a fish out of the water.

"Wayne replied with a hoarse voice, then lifted his head and kissed her lips.

"Rosa, what are you up to?" he asked.

Rosalynn's face flushed red.

*President Silverman, if you really need it, you can look for someone else..."

Wayne bit her lips.

Not too hard, but it still hurt

"Wayne, are you a dog?" Rosalynn went to kick Wayne with her knee

But he caught her leg.

He had big hands and Rosalynn was skinny; he held her easily.

"Who else?" Wayne asked sternly. "If you keep talking nonsense, I won't care if you're willing or not."

Rosalynn: "..."

See, the previous show of weakness was all a sham.

How could Wayne possibly change?

Some things never change.

Rosalynn gritted her teeth.

“Fine,” she replied “Let me go, and I’ll pick out your clothes.”

Endure for now, and it’ll all blow over!

“Good girl,” Wayne kissed her again. “Once we’re done with all this, I’ll take you on a vacation, just the two of us.”

Rosalynn was slightly shocked.

A vacation?

Over the past five years, she and Wayne had been to many countries around the world.

But those were work-related trips.

When it came to vacations, Wayne mostly went with his family.

“We’ll see when the time comes”

Rosalynn knew she and Wayne would never wait for that day.

She would run away before showing any signs of pregnancy.

After talking and reasoning, she finally escaped Wayne’s tight embrace.

Distracted, she hung up the clothes Wayne would wear today and carefully matched his tie.

As she picked up the cufflinks, Rosalynn looked at the pair far more expensive than the one she had given Wayne. Her eyes dimmed a little.

He probably wouldn’t even notice if he lost the cufflinks, right?

Just then, the tall figure behind her enveloped her, and Wayne hugged her again.

“What are you looking at so intently?” Wayne glanced at the cufflinks.

“Nothing,” Rosalynn handed him the shirt. “President Silverman, go change.”

Wayne frowned, catching Rosalynn as she tried to leave.

“What’s gotten into you so early in the morning?” He knitted his brows

"I'm not!" Rosalynn replied. "President Silverman, you'd better get used to it. I have a terrible temper."

"You!"

A hint of anger flashed in Wayne's eyes.

When had he ever humbled himself like this to please others?

He had done so much already; why was she still dissatisfied? Why wasn't she happy?

"Don't go, help me put it on!"

Wayne closed the door of the walk-in closet.

The hotel's walk-in closet wasn't spacious.

Add to that Wayne's suitcase and the clothes and jewelry he had sent from luxury stores for Rosalynn yesterday.

The closet became even more cramped.

Chapter 93

Rosalynn was speechless.

Well, what could she say when someone had dirt on her?

Wayne was shirtless.

He had always maintained a good diet and exercised regularly, so his body was in great shape.

Rosalynn had been obsessed with him for a long time...

Alright, not just once, but until she found out Wayne was getting married.

Two years ago.

Jacob had a female friend, a veteran of the nightlife scene.

She liked inviting Rosalynn to join her.

Once, she mysteriously told Rosalynn she had something good to show her and opened her secret photo album on her phone.

“This is a new club that just opened,” she said mysteriously to Rosalynn, “Wayne’s out of town on business, why don’t we go have some fun?” Rosalynn checked out the men in the pictures “Completely uninterested.

Not because she was a prude, but because none of them could compare to Wayne’s looks or physique.

Wayne, the scumbag, was just too good-looking compared to the others!

Later on, that woman didn’t give up and even sent Rosalynn an even more private album.

But Wayne found out

Ever since then, the odd woman vanished from her life.

At first, Rosalynn thought Wayne had killed her and worried for a long time.

Later on, she found out she was the illegitimate daughter of a wealthy family

Although she was illegitimate, she was her father’s beloved late-in-life daughter.

So she definitely wasn’t dead.

At most, she had suffered a bit.

“What are you smiling about?”

Rosalynn helped Wayne button up his shirt one by one.

Probably because she was reminded of that woman, she unconsciously smiled.

And Wayne caught her.

Rosalynn coughed lightly and tried to make Wayne upset again.

“President Silverman, there are guys at the club who have worse bodies and looks than you, and they can charge a hundred grand a night. What a pity!” Rosalynn shook her head.

With a regretful expression on her face.

Wayne was the toast of the town.

By comparing him to those men, Rosalynn thought, he's going to be mad, right?

It's best if he's really upset and tells her to get lost!

Wayne pinched her chin lightly

His finger caressed her skin.

"What do you have to feel sorry about? You're not spending a dime, and I'm even paying you," he said with a deep gaze and a seductive tone.

Rosalynn instinctively felt her legs go weak for a moment.

True to his reputation, business prodigy President Silverman.

It actually made her feel a bit like... he had a point.

"Do you think I have a good figure?" Wayne asked.

Rosalynn couldn't reply.

"Do you find me handsome?" Wayne continued.

"The meeting is starting soon, and I have to eat breakfast... Rosalynn avoided his seemingly all-seeing, burning gaze

1/2

Wayne sighed dramatically in her ear.

As he held her waist, he bit the tip of her ear and said, "I'd rather eat something else than breakfast."

Rosalynn was speechless.

At that moment, the doorbell rang.

"I'll get the door!" She darted away, pushing open the wardrobe door and making her escape.

Wayne stood still, laughing out loud.

He was even caught off guard by how happy he was laughing.

On mornings like these, even if he couldn't eat what he wanted, his mood was better than ever.

Rosalynn...

Had been his cure since five years ago.

Wayne emerged after getting dressed.

His shirt buttons weren't all fastened, and he was carrying a tie in his hand,

The Underworld's Queen* is a Fantasy novel written by the author RJ Kane. Full story to read online for free now. Description: Adrik and I took over one of Sephie, named for the Queen of the Underworld, Persephone, she's quickly finding out how she's destined to fulfill her namesake's role.

This is an awesome book! Sephie has had a traumatic past as she was growing up. She doesn't wallow in it though and her light hearted, silliness, and no nonsense approach to life endears her to not only her few friends, but also to the King of the Underworld, and to those closest to him. Great character development. Great storyline. Plenty of wit and sarcasm in every chapter that will literally have you laughing out loud. RJ Kane is a great author that knows how to describe characters and scenes that draw you into her books. This is a definite must read! I can't put it down!

Chapter 94

This guy seemed to lose some of his posh businessman vibe and gained a bit of a lazy rascal charm.

Rosalynn had never seen him like this before.

He was always so meticulous, and she would always be the first to help him tie his tie.

“Breakfast...”

Rosalynn pushed his plate over to him.

“Do you like it?” Wayne sat down, lazily draping his arm over the chair back.

“I’m not picky,” Rosalynn replied.

Wayne raised his eyebrows and knocked on the table, “You gotta tell me, like or dislike? I need to know your preferences, so I don’t give you something you don’t like in the future.”

“I like freedom,” Rosalynn responded.

Wayne smirked, “Being with me, you can do whatever you want, isn’t that freedom?”

Rosalynn rolled her eyes.

Seeing her reaction, Wayne didn’t get angry, instead, he just laughed.

He leaned forward a bit, watching Rosalynn leisurely sip her milk.

“You’re kinda cute like this.”

Rosalynn almost choked on her milk, glaring at Wayne.

Wayne tapped her nose with his finger, “As I recall, you kinda like some soft dessert.”

Rosalynn paused and then looked away.

“Just so-so.”

She lied.

She had loved soft dessert since she was a child.

Her grandma always said that it was good, so when she grew up, she would also become a sweet and soft girl.

Unfortunately, her personality and looks gradually drifted away from sweetness as she grew up.

She was more stubborn than anyone else, and her appearance was far from sweet.

After breakfast.

Rosalynn changed into a classic Chanel suit.

She applied a light layer of makeup, and to annoy Wayne, she even curled her long hair.

Suddenly, she looked a lot more bright and charming

“Your hair. “Wayne stared at her long curly hair as if he had something to say.

Rosalynn interrupted, “I’ve always had naturally curly hair, but since Ms. Walley has straight hair, I straightened it before...”

Before she could finish her sentence.

She heard Wayne saying, “It looks good.”

Rosalynn paused.

“But now, I don’t look like Ms. Walley,” Rosalynn felt that not making Wayne upset made her feel uncomfortable.

Wayne scooped her up and sat her on his lap.

“You don’t have to be like her anymore.”

Rosalynn didn’t understand.

If she didn’t have to be like her, why would he keep her around?

Rosalynn wore a pair of pearl earrings today

They complemented her fair skin and looked fantastic.

Wayne saw Rosalynn wearing pearl earrings at the cruise party that day and thought they suited her well.

Yesterday, he had someone buy a pair for her.

The more Wayne looked, the more he liked her.

Before leaving, he picked her up again, pushed her against the door, and kissed her so hard that messed up her lipstick

Just like that, the meeting was delayed by another hour.

At nine o'clock.

Wayne and Rosalynn entered the conference room one after the other. Although everyone was dressed neatly, they all had dark circles under their eyes, and their spirits were low.

In contrast, Wayne looked like he just won the lottery, feeling refreshed and lively.

"President Silverman..." Mr. Duran stood up.

Wayne sat down, not even looking at him, "For this case, Secretary Tesdal have full authority, talk to her."

Rosalynn: "..."

He dilly-dallied all morning, couldn't he have said that earlier?

"Alright..." Mr. Duran suppressed his frustration and smiled at Rosalynn, "Secretary Tesdal truly has a discerning eye, a worthy assistant of President Silverman. We carefully checked last night, and indeed, there was something wrong with that report!"

Rosalynn had cooled off from yesterday's anger.

Chapter 95

She had previously helped Wayne sort out the information for this project.

Wayne was very interested in it. There was no doubt about the project's profitability; it was just a matter of how much profit.

"Let's get straight to the point," Rosalynn said casually, "I have a rough idea of your financial reports for the past six months. Simply put, you guys are losing money."

"Secretary Tesdal, this has nothing to do with our company's overall strength. It was because another department took on a crappy project last year, which caused us to lose a large amount of money at the beginning of this year. That's what affected our financial reports!" Mr. Duran quickly explained.

The others chimed in.

“Yeah, Secretary Tesdal, you can see that our other projects are all doing very well!”

“Exactly! Otherwise, President Silverman wouldn’t even consider partnering with us!”

Everyone was babbling and trying to persuade her

Wayne didn’t say a word.

“He just looked at Rosalynn, waiting for her to speak.

“Things change quickly in the industry. Many big companies have gone under in the past couple of years, let alone a company your size. Bane Corporation has always been cautious, and this is a multi-billion dollar contract, so we can’t just look at the current data. It’s a true that you lost money, whether it’s due to one project or several. It’s all mismanagement, right?”

Mr. Duran was speechless and didn’t know how to respond.

“President Silverman’s aunt has some personal ties with your company’s chairman. Honestly, if it weren’t for that connection, I would advise President Silverman to choose a more reliable company to work with,” Rosalynn continued.

Hearing this, Mr. Duran and the others became anxious.

“No, no, come on, we’ve already come this far in our discussions!”

“Yeah, Secretary Tesdal, other companies might seem reliable, but who knows what their real situation is behind the scenes? At least with us, you know everything inside and out!”

Rosalynn didn’t respond but signaled her assistant instead.

The assistant immediately turned on the projector

“I have here a draft contract based on our business assessment of your company. In addition to the terms that bind both parties, the most important thing is the cooperation budget. Please take a look, and if there are no issues, we can continue our discussion.”

As Mr. Duran and the others finished reading, they all looked shocked.

This woman was ruthless!

It’s just one quarter of bad financial reports, and she slashed a third of the budget?!

Who could stand that?

Would Wayne even be this harsh?

*Secretary Tesdal, this... this budget is way too low!" Mr. Duran said in a deep voice, "We're cooperating, after all. You can't leave us with no profit, right?"

"Of course not. Bane Corporation isn't a bandit. This budget does leave you some profit margin, just not as much as you might've hoped."

Rosalynn's grandmother once said that the opening price is made to be bargained.

Both sides were willing to cooperate, and now it was all about the budget.

Mr. Duran's side argued fiercely

Rosalynn remained unmoved.

The other party kept making phone calls to their executives who were overseas and couldn't return.

They kept proposing new prices only to be shot down by Rosalynn repeatedly.

After countless rounds of negotiation, Mr. Duran, exhausted, finally gave in to Rosalynn's ideal budget price.

"Deal."

Mr. Duran's face was red, and he had lost all composure.

He stared at Rosalynn, thinking that he had misheard her.

"To avoid further dispute and to maintain the harmony of our cooperation, Bane Corporation will compromise. Deal." Rosalynn continued.

Mr. Duran was on the verge of passing out.

The process of signing the contract was painstakingly meticulous.

At last, the contract was signed before nightfall.

Everyone left.

Rosalynn let out a sigh of relief, her tense nerves finally relaxing.

Soon after, a large hand touched her back, gently caressing her.

"Secretary Tesdal, you've saved the company a lot of money"

Chapter 96

“Is there a bonus?” Rosalynn asked.

Wayne chuckled, “There is-”

“Well, thank you, President Silverman,” Rosalynn started to get up, but Wayne suddenly pulled her onto his lap.

Rosalynn was startled

“Wayne, this is a branch office, and there are cameras!” Rosalynn whispered, reminding him.

But Wayne held her waist, making it impossible for her to move.

“I should’ve known earlier that you’re so amazing.” Wayne fondled her waist.

“President Silverman!” Rosalynn held his hand, “No intimacy in public places, that’s your rule.”

Wayne frowned a bit.

“Screw the rule!”

“Wayne, I just took down those guys’ arrogance. If they see this, what will they say?” Rosalynn spoke seriously. “No one will acknowledge my abilities, they will only say that my success is all because of you!”

Wayne choked

He finally let go.

Rosalynn quickly adjusted her clothes and looked at Wayne with some disdain before walking to the door, waiting for him.

Wayne always felt looked down upon by Rosalynn.

At first, it made him angry, but now he’s just full of grievances,

Why can’t he even hold her?

He picked up his phone and sent a message to Sean.

Asking him to delete that bit of surveillance footage from the meeting room. Then he got up and walked to the door.

Rosalynn opened the door for him and followed him out.

By now, quite a few people in the company knew about Rosalynn's heroic exploits.

Most men looked at her with subtlety

As for the women, some were disdainful, while others looked up to her

Following the usual routine, Wayne would leave the branch office first while Rosalynn stayed to handle some minor matters. Today was no exception.

Rosalynn stood by the elevator, watching Wayne enter

He didn't look at her but kept his head down, playing with his phone.

Yesterday at the airport, Wayne had forced Rosalynn to unblock him from her contacts.

As the elevator doors closed, Wayne put away his phone and looked at Rosalynn

Rosalynn's phone buzzed twice

She glanced at it.

President Silverman. Just fool them for a bit.

President Silverman: I'm waiting for you to have dinner.

Looking at the message, Rosalynn suddenly felt a little dazed.

It seemed like an everyday conversation between a secretly dating office couple, just before they got off work.

As soon as the thought crossed her mind, Rosalynn shivered in fear.

She quickly pinched her palm to wake herself up.

There wasn't much to deal with at the branch office, so Rosalynn simply patrolled the place with the general manager in charge. Suddenly, a sneering voice came from behind.

"Well, isn't this Secretary Tesdal?"

That voice...

Rosalynn turned around.

She saw a fashionable woman in her mid-twenties, swaying her hips as she walked over.

“Ms. Fuller”

The general manager quickly greeted her.

Claire Fuller-the daughter of Maddie Fuller’s sister.

Rosalynn had met her once before.

Claire crossed her arms, sizing up Rosalynn with a more contemptuous look, T’ve heard my cousin is quite willing to spend money on you, looks like it’s true, huh? But... Olivia would never dress so extravagantly and seductively. You, as her substitute, are not up to par, are you?”

Chapter 97

There are still quite a few employees of Bane Corporation around.

Everyone knows who Claire’s cousin is.

Her sarcastic remark conveyed so much information!

“Substitute? What substitute?”

“Secretary Tesdal’s outfit is indeed expensive, just those pearl earrings alone are worth hundreds of thousands!”

Tsk ts, a professional woman? Still relying on a man!”

“Exactly, if it weren’t for President Silverman, could she be so arrogant?”

“President Silverman is already engaged, and she’s still clinging to him...shameless!”

Rosalynn glanced at the people behind her.

Many of them were just complimenting her a moment ago.

The gossip-mongers immediately lowered their heads and pretended to be busy.

“Secretary Tesdal, you’re so full of yourself, Claire sneered.

“Ms. Fuller, with President Silverman’s marriage approaching, you’d better watch your mouth and stop spreading rumors. If Ms. Rosso hears and it affects the marriage alliance between the Rosso family and the Silverman family. Beware of Mrs. Fuller peeling your skin.”

Rosalynn, unlike her usual submissive self, confronted her directly.

Claire’s expression stiffened.

“You know my cousin is getting married and you’re still clinging to him? You’re shameless too” She continued with her verbal onslaught.

Rosalynn laughed and took out her phone, handing it to Claire: “Why not call President Silverman and talk to him, let him fire me as soon as possible?”

“Stinking bitch!”

“Ms. Fuller, instead of saying all this, why not focus on the branch company’s business? As a secretary, the partnerships I’ve helped forge for the company in the past two years are almost more than what you’ve accomplished as an entire company”

Rosalynn looked down on her with utter contempt.

She could humiliate Claire with all her dirty secrets non-stop for three hours at the company.

But she disdained such low and dirty means.

“What are you so smug about? It’s just because of my cousin!”

“Which Bane Corporation employee isn’t relying on President Silverman?” Rosalynn bypassed Claire and pressed the elevator button.

“Rosalynn, don’t get too cocky too soon. Do you think Heatherway will let you off? Do you think my aunt will sit idly by? Just wait!”

Before the elevator door closed, Claire pressed the open button, smug and vicious

“Stop worrying about my business Rosalynn’s fingertip pressed against Claire’s forehead, pushing her away

As the elevator door closed, she heard Claire’s scream

Rosalynn shrugged.

The elevator arrived at the basement floor.

Rosalynn lowered her head and almost bumped into someone as she walked out.

“Watch your step

A big hand placed on her head.

Rosalynn looked up

Wayne frowned, looking displeased.

“Were you waiting for me here?” Rosalynn asked.

“Did Claire cause trouble for you?” Wayne asked.

“We just exchanged a few words “Rosalynn removed Wayne’s hand, “But thanks to her making a fuss, the rumor of me being your stand-in lover will probably spread”

Wayne frowned.

“I’ll deal with her.”

“This is your family business, you don’t need to tell me Rosalynn didn’t care, as long as Wayne doesn’t use her name to do anything.

“Why are you mad at me when she’s the one who provoked you?” Wayne frowned.

The branch manager called him just now, saying Claire was causing trouble for Rosalynn.

He turned around and came back immediately without thinking.

Rosalynn felt somewhat helpless and powerless

1/2

She looked at Wayne, “President Silverman, have you ever thought that if it weren’t for you asking me to come back, I wouldn’t have to endure all this humiliation and accusations?”

Wayne remained silent.

Rosalynn didn’t say anything else and headed towards the garage.

Wayne followed shortly after.

“What do you feel like eating?” Wayne got in the car and gently asked Rosalynn.

Chapter 98

Rosalynn thought for a moment and said, “Let’s head back to H City.”

“It’s time for dinner. Wayne’s voice became a bit heavier.

He was clearly getting impatient and unhappy.

“President Silverman, where can I go to have dinner with you? Just a few days ago, everyone knew about your engagement to Miss Heatherway. Are you in such a hurry to let the media see me?”

“These news, without my permission, cannot be released” Wayne said.

Rosalynn lowered her head and laughed self-deprecatingly: President Silverman, the internet is everywhere, and besides, there are so many people who hope for the Silverman family and Rosso family’s marriage to fail... who knows how many people are secretly messing things up. You want to gamble with me, but I don’t want to be a sacrificial pawn.”

“Rosalynn, you know that’s not what I think!” Wayne said solemnly.

“I don’t know.” Rosalynn replied.

“You...”

Wayne’s breathing became a little heavier.

Staring at Rosalynn for a moment, he felt that he had no other choice.

“He quickly admitted defeat.

He reached out, hugged Rosalynn’s neck, leaned in, and rested his forehead on hers.

“Don’t be afraid, I’ll protect you.”

Rosalynn kept her eyes down.

Her eyes were getting tearful.

Protect?

But Wayne was the one who hurt her the most in this world.

In the end, they didn't have dinner in B City

However, Rosalynn still got what she wanted – KFC at the airport.

In the waiting room.

Watching Rosalynn devour the food, Wayne asked, "Is this cheap stuff really that good?"

Rosalynn cleaned a spicy chicken wing

"It's cheap for you, but when I was a kid, I only got to eat KFC when I was sick."

Hearing the word 'sick, Wayne thought of something.

"I take you for a check-up tomorrow"

Rosalynn was shocked and quickly hid the panic in her eyes.

"I just had a check-up, it's not necessary."

"Just had a check-up? Was there a problem? That's why Sean and the others saw you taking medicine that day?" Wayne asked seriously.

Rosalynn replied casually: "I'm a little anemic, it's not medicine, it's just vitamins."

"You're still too thin, Wayne remarked.

Rosalynn looked at him as if she had seen a ghost.

"President Silverman, wasn't it you who told me to maintain my figure?"

Although she couldn't gain weight naturally

"Forget everything I've said in the past, those demands don't count anymore." Wayne was annoyed when he heard about the past.

"All right," Rosalynn responded and continued to focus on eating her chicken wings.

At 10:30 pm.

The plane landed in H City

Rosalynn had eaten half a bucket of fried chicken and fell asleep satisfied on the plane.

When getting off the plane,

Wayne whispered in her ear, "Eat and sleep, you're just like a little pig."

Gentle, affectionate, and indulgent.

Rosalynn couldn't bear it

Fortunately, when it comes to Wayne, before she falls deeply into this relationship, there will always be someone pouring a bucket of cold water on her head at the right time

At the arrival gate.

Just as Wayne and Rosalynn had stepped out,

They heard a beautiful and excited voice calling out to him, "Wayne! Over here!"

Rosalynn stiffened.

Looking in the direction of the voice.

The beautiful and stunning Heatherway, in the crowd, was waving her arms vigorously, her smile pure and charming.

Winter came extra early this year.

Chapter 99

Standing at the crowded exit of the station, she felt a chill all over her body.

Heatherway was beautiful and elegant, attracting many gazes just by standing there.

Some people recognized her.

"Isn't that the heiress who was on the trending page before? The one who's marrying the Silverman family heir!"

"It's her! She's even more stunning in person!"

"I wonder what she's doing at the airport so late

"What else could it be? Picking up her fiance, look over there..."

Wayne's face didn't look too good.

His eyes subconsciously searched for Rosalynn, seeing her pale face, anxious and upset.

"I didn't know she was coming." Wayne whispered.

"Picking up her fiancé is pretty normal, right?" Rosalynn replied indifferently, "President Silverman, you should hurry up. People are starting to recognize you. You don't want paparazzi to capture any bad photos and create a scandal."

With a stoic expression, Wayne walked towards Heatherway.

Rosalynn, with her head down, followed him.

It was unbearably awkward.

"What are you doing here?" Wayne asked coldly as he approached Heatherway.

Heatherway grinned, "My mom and I went shopping in Harbor City We just landed a while ago. When she found out you were also coming back, she asked me to pick you up."

Heatherway then turned to Rosalynn, her smile still warm and gracious, "Secretary Tesdal, has your hand healed?"

Rosalynn looked up, her eyes clear and bright, "It's fine now, thank you for your concern, my lady"

Wayne glared at Rosalynn as if he wanted to eat her alive.

"President Silverman, I'll send the meeting details to your email after I sort them out, Rosalynn nodded slightly. "I'm going home now."

"*Secretary Tesdal, it's late and unsafe for a girl to be alone. Why don't we all leave together?" Heatherway quickly offered.

Rosalynn gave a slight smile, "No need."

After decisively rejecting the offer, Rosalynn didn't want to linger any longer

The inquisitive glances from the crowd made her feel extremely uncomfortable.

She walked straight towards the taxi stand.

"I didn't expect, Wayne, that you'd be into ice queens like her, Heatherway glanced at Rosalynn's retreating figure and looked at Wayne.

Wayne didn't respond, his face cold.

He was extremely unhappy, barely concealing his displeasure.

"What do you mean by this?" Wayne asked.

"There's a big celebrity on the flight behind yours, and besides the fans, there are also lots of reporters around, Heatherway explained with a smile, though her tone was somewhat helpless, "My mom knows that you and Secretary Tesdal are together, and she's worried that you'll be caught in some bad photos. That's why she asked me to wait for you"

In the corner of Wayne's eye, he did see several people taking pictures.

"Let's go, my mom's waiting in the garage"

She affectionately hooked her arm around Wayne's.

Wayne didn't like physical contact, especially.

"Play along. I don't like it either, Heather way whispered.

Wayne

Moments later, Wayne got into a Mercedes.

The elegant Maddie, Mrs. Wayne, glared at him discontentedly.

"Didn't she resign? Why is she still by your side?" Maddie Fuller yelled angrily. "Poor Heatherway had to put up an act with you in this cold weather!" "Mom.. "Heatherway gently touched Maddie's hand.

"Don't speak up for him. Ever since the engagement, he hasn't been back to H City, and you've gone through so much!"

Heatherway remained silent.

Wayne, however, was somewhat distracted

He wasn't too worried that Rosalynn would run away.

Those she cared about were still within his grasp.

What he was afraid of was that she'd overthink and become upset.

He was also angry that in front of him, she purposefully addressed Heatherway as "my lady" – fully aware that their marriage was just an agreement.

Chapter 100

Maddie saw this and felt even angrier.

Wayne had been acting weird lately, and even she could feel it.

Before, her son's whole heart was focused on the Silverman family's future, and he'd never put anything before the company.

But now, there's a great marriage alliance

Just because of one Rosalynn, his attitude was so perfunctory!

It seemed...

It was time for her to meet this foxy lady!

On the other side, Rosalynn had already taken a taxi.

Heading straight for Paige's old house

Upon learning of her sudden return, Paige rushed over and waited for her in the restaurant downstairs.

After Rosalynn arrived, she still went upstairs to change out of her expensive Chanel suit.

So Paige wouldn't see it and ask questions

"You said you wouldn't be able to come back for a while, right?" Paige asked.

Rosalynn thought for a moment. "There are still some things at work that haven't been handed over properly, so I was called back." 'Well, that's true

Being by Wayne's side was already part of her job.

"Does Bane Corporation exploit its workers like this? Paige complained, "But it's okay, I'm moving in these days, so we can live together!" Rosalynn slowly ate her salad,

And after she finished, she looked apologetically at her friend "Babe, I have to move out."

"What?" Paige frowned, "Why?"

"Til explain later. Rosalynn lowered her head.

"You've got a boyfriend?" Paige's eyes lit up. "You're moving in together, huh?"

"No..."

"That's good, you scared me! Paige patted her chest, "I've got a bunch of guys saved up for you to choose from!"

Paige has always had a lot of ideas.

But, Rosalynn never thought she could be so outrageous

At the Moonlight Bar in the late night,

It was so lively that the roof was about to be blown off.

Rosalynn sat in the booth,

Looking at the row of boys in front of her, all kinds of styles were available.

For some reason, she thought of those club men whose faces and bodies were not as good as Wayne's

"They're all people I met when I studied abroad, all rich second generations, and quite a few of them are top students, and their character isn't bad either! Pick whichever one you like! Paige whispered into Rosalynn's ear

Rosalynn went speechless

"What are you all doing just standing there?! This is my beautiful best friend I've been telling you about! Paige said, full of pride.

Rosalynn's beauty didn't need her to brag too much.

Seeing the silly look in these boys eyes, Paige knew that Lynn was steadily performing well and getting those boys' attention.

"Hi, I'm Rosalynn, and don't listen to Paige's nonsense..."

Rosalynn didn't finish her sentence

Someone arrived late

"Paige, sorry, I had a last-minute meeting 1

The one who arrived looked up, and his eyes fell on Rosalynn, his expression stiffening for a moment

"Joseph, what are you spacing out for? Don't recognize her?" Paige said, putting her arm around Rosalynn's waist, leaning against her shoulder, both her tone and expression very intimate Rosalynn withdrew her gaze.

At that time, Paige was already abroad.

She didn't get along well with her stepbrother and stepsister

Rosalynn didn't tell her about her grandma

Nor did she mention Joseph

By the time she got out of that mess, Rosalynn had been with Wayne for half a year already

Paige had also asked her about Joseph.

Rosalynn just said they lost touch.
