

Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover Chapter 1490

Chapter 1490 Dig Up Her Grave

Solomon finally saw Sebastian when he woke up.

He was stunned to see him and gripped the bedsheets tightly. His whole body was tense.

Haruto saw Solomon's reaction and did not know what to say. He could only look at Sebastian expectantly, hoping that the latter would say something.

On the other hand, Sebastian did not show any emotions. He raised his eyebrows and asked, "How long will it take for him to recover?"

"What?" Solomon immediately looked at Sebastian in shock.

Even Haruto looked to Sebastian in confusion.

Why did he say that Solomon would recover? I never said something like that.

"Mr. Hayes, what are you..." Haruto said uncertainly.

"Do make sure that he doesn't take too much time to recover. I'm a busy man, and I can't wait for too long. Furthermore, you know how his wife's world revolves around him. Dr. Shoki, perhaps you can do it this way. Since you have to research the medicine, you should let him go home first," Sebastian said calmly.

What Sebastian said was so unbelievable that Haruto stood stunned on the spot.

On the other hand, Solomon's expression brightened upon hearing Sebastian. He sat up on the bed immediately and asked, "Have you found the cause? Can you cure my condition?"

Sebastian frowned and said in an annoyed tone, "Why can't it be cured? Your condition is just chemical poisoning. Have you forgotten how serious Sasha's condition was back then? That's enough. I have to go back. I finally found time to come to Jetroina. Yet, I have to deal with your problem here."

He did not give Haruto a chance to say anything. What he said caused the latter to be stunned again.

Meanwhile, Solomon's face turned scarlet instantly.

Sebastian did not come to Jetroina for me. He just happened to have some matter here. Then, Sasha found out about my condition and informed him. That must be why he is here.

Solomon felt emotionally conflicted.

However, he became much more relaxed after Sebastian left and asked Haruto about his condition.

Haruto did not know what to tell him.

He looked at him blankly for a moment before saying something perfunctory.

Then, he left the room and called Sebastian on the phone.

"Mr. Hayes, how could you say that just now? I never said that he would recover," Haruto said.

"In that case, you should find a way to cure him!" Sebastian replied.

"But..." Haruto was rendered speechless.

What way is there? Solomon is my friend. If I knew a way, I would have cured him by now.

"Mr. Hayes, I-I..." Haruto stuttered.

"I'll ask Xayden to see you. He is more experienced than you in chemical matters. Both of you can work together to find a cure," Sebastian answered suddenly.

Xayden? Isn't he a genius in chemistry?

Haruto's eyes brightened upon remembering this. "You're right. It slipped my mind. There's hope for Solomon. But if Xayden is coming to meet me, I need to find the substance that Akiyama used on Solomon."

"You should look for it then," Sebastian replied.

"That's impossible. Solomon had been taking it since he was eight years old. How are we to find it after so many years?" Haruto began to feel troubled again.

At this moment, Sebastian was driving his car to rush to the airport. His expression darkened upon hearing Haruto.

However, he was an intelligent man. After thinking for a moment, he found a solution. "It must be a kind of drug. That b*tch must have poisoned Solomon with it. You should dig up her grave and see if you can find anything from her remains."

"Huh?" Haruto was rendered speechless again.

He wants me to dig up someone's grave? What the heck? What does it have to do with Solomon's condition?

"Mr. Hayes, your suggestion is unrealistic. They cremated his mother before burying her. Even if you dig up her remains, what can you find? Furthermore, even if she gave Solomon the drug, she wouldn't try the drug on herself. Although she poisoned Solomon, she was careful not to get the drug on her. Even if you do chemical tests on her remains, you can't find anything," Haruto reminded Sebastian.

However, Sebastian sneered, "I'm not asking you to conduct tests on her ashes. I'm asking you to dig up her remains and put them on the black market with a description of Solomon's condition, saying that there is a reward for anyone who can provide this drug. Forget it. You don't have to do this. I'll handle it. Just do your part."

Then, Sebastian hung up.

Haruto was at a loss for words. He could not wrap his head around what Sebastian had said just now.

Sebastian is truly cold and ruthless. How did he come up with something like this?

Haruto finally understood how Sebastian caused such a stir in the country. Even a seasoned elder with decades of planning could not stand against Sebastian, a man only in his early thirties.

After that, Haruto stopped worrying about the matter.

That night, someone asked for him at the hospital. He requested Solomon's detailed medical report.

Haruto was surprised by his request and quickly prepared the medical report. Then, all it took was one night, and he received the name of the drug in his email.

This is terrifying!

Haruto quickly gathered his things and hid in the lab.

Meanwhile, the Tsurka family was in an uproar over someone digging up a few graves in their cemetery overnight. They were outraged.

Chapter 1491 Will You Resent Me

Haruto felt his eyelids twitching.

He had wanted to ask Sebastian yesterday because he couldn't understand why Sebastian insisted on digging up that woman's grave since the ashes were only for show.

Later, he finally understood why.

Sebastian did it because he would not let her escape unpunished, even in death.

It did not matter that she was dead.

He would still dig her up. Since she was evil during her life, he would not let her rest in peace in death. She deserved to have her ashes defiled.

A day later, Xayden arrived at the lab too. Then, he and Haruto began to carry out intense research. Meanwhile, Solomon was unaware of any of these.

He thought that he only needed to wait for his medicine.

Three days later, he was well enough to be discharged. Thus, he returned home happily.

Solomon: Darling, I'm coming home.

Ichika: Oh my goodness! Darling, you're coming home!

He even called me Darling! Ichika thought to herself.

She was picking pears with Sasha and Sabrina in the Hayes residence. After receiving Solomon's message, she immediately threw her basket aside and ran.

"Ichika, where are you going?" Sasha asked.

"Ichika, we are not done yet. Why are you running away? If you don't finish your task, you will have to make dinner," Sabrina said.

Sasha and Sabrina teased Ichika when they saw her running.

The three of them enjoyed spending time together. After Sasha and Sabrina attended that grand wedding in Jetroina and witnessed Ichika's character, they treated her kindly.

Both of them also liked to tease her, making their interactions playful.

Ichika blushed under their teasing. "Sasha, Sabrina, i-it isn't like that. I wasn't trying to escape. It's because Solomon is back."

"Oh..." Sasha and Sabrina finally understood what was going on.

It turned out that Ichika was rushing to meet Solomon.

Therefore, Sasha and Sabrina decided to let Ichika go this time.

They stopped teasing her and helped her carry a basketful of freshly plucked pears to her car.

"Go ahead. We can handle it here," Sasha said.

"Yes, thank you," Ichika replied happily.

After bidding farewell to Sasha and Sabrina, she drove her car to rush back home.

As expected, she came home to find the garden lively again after being quiet for days. She noticed that someone had opened the cat enclosure and heard a Samoyed is barking excitedly.

Solomon is back.

Ichika rushed into the house happily. "Darling, where are you?"

There was no response.

Thus, she rushed toward the door. However, before she could look up, she bumped into a tall and sturdy figure.

"Ah..." Ichika called out in surprise.

"Why are you running? Does it hurt?"

A familiar and gentle voice came from above her. It was Solomon. He held her shoulders to stabilize her and looked at her with concern.

Ichika was stunned and felt indignant for a moment.

In the end, she flung herself at him and hugged him tightly. "Darling, you've finally returned..."

Meanwhile, Sebastian had returned to Oceanic Estate in Jadeborough and told Sasha about what happened to Solomon.

Sasha went through a roller coaster of emotions as she listened to Sebastian. She was furious and indignant on Solomon's behalf, as well as feeling worried and anxious for him.

In the end, when Sebastian told her what he had done, she felt relieved.

"Sebby, you're brilliant!" She praised him from the bottom of her heart. Her lovely almond-shaped eyes were full of admiration as she gazed at him.

Why is she praising me directly today?

Sebastian turned to her and saw her looking at him with such reverence in her gaze. She reminded him of Ichika for a moment. "Who do you learn that expression from?"

"What?" Sasha asked.

"You seem close to Ichika recently." Sebastian sounded a little unhappy.

Sasha was rendered speechless.

How did he figure it out?

She blushed for a while before recovering her composure. "No... That's not true. I heard people say that men like ladies who fawn over them. It made me realize that I have never done this before. Sebby, you are a brilliant man. Will you get tired of me in the future?"

She looked up at him with a worried expression.

Sebastian was stunned for a moment.

However, he recovered quickly and laughed. "I can show you with my actions that I won't get tired of you."

"What?" replied Sasha in confusion.

Before she could figure it out, she yelped when Sebastian suddenly carried her in his arms and rushed upstairs.

That night, the moon seemed sultry, and the light never went out on the third floor of Oceanic Estate as Sasha and Sebastian had a passionate night.

The following morning, Sasha woke up in bed alone.

When a housemaid saw that Sasha was awake, she approached the latter and said, "Mrs. Jadeson, Mr. Jadeson had left. He asked me to inform you that Vivian called this morning. He wanted you to call her once you're awake."

Vivi? I wonder what the matter is.

Sasha realized that she had turned off her phone and did not know whether to laugh or be angry with herself.

She got out of bed quickly and made a phone call before doing anything else.
