

Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover Chapter 1146

I need to get him his pills immediately! Where's the bottle of pills he needs?

As soon as she returned to the suite and recalled the things he told her before passing out, she started searching high and low in the man's room.

When she found the things he needed in the man's drawer, she paused and muttered to herself, "What the heck is this?"

It turned out there was a miniature temperature regulating device next to the bottle of odd-looking pills. As soon as she tried opening it, smoke gushed out of the device.

What sort of pill are we talking about? What's with this weird-looking device next to it?

As confused as she might be, she knew she couldn't afford to waste her time anymore. She returned to the living room and stuffed the pill into the man's mouth.

Ten minutes later, she felt a sense of relief once he regained consciousness. Subsequently, she collapsed to the ground and took a seat next to the barely conscious man.

Alright, I'll figure out these mysterious-looking things once I'm done sorting things out with this unconscious man!

Sabrina returned with a pail of lukewarm water and cleaned the man before tucking him in on the couch.

Once she had everything sorted out, she took a seat next to the window and drafted a text.

Sabrina: Sasha, where are you? I need you to answer my queries!

The message took Sasha, who was at Oceanic Estate in Jadeborough, by surprise since she was about to feed Jaena.

She put everything aside and reached for her phone since it was the first time Sabrina tried getting in touch with her after running away from home.

Instead of greeting her and inquiring about the condition of her daughter, Sabrina attached two photos.

Sabrina: You're a doctor, aren't you? Have you seen any of these pills?

Sasha: Huh?

Sasha's eyes widened when she caught a glimpse of the formula printed on the bottle once she zoomed in on the photos.

Caution: Handle  $\text{CuSO}_4$  with care!

What the heck are these?  $\text{CuSO}_4$ ? Isn't that freaking copper sulfate? What is she trying to do with these?

Sasha was afraid the woman on the other end was up to something silly again. Thus, she rushed out of the room with her phone and yelled, "Sebby, where are you?"

"Mrs. Jadeson, are you looking for Mr. Hayes? He's currently in the study for a discussion with Mr. Old Mr. Jadeson."

Olivia thought something was wrong and showed Sasha the way to Jonathan's study immediately.

As soon as Sasha handed Jaena to Olivia, she barged into the study. "Sebby!"

"What's wrong? I'm here!"

Sebastian was equally anxious ever since he heard Sasha searching for him a few minutes ago. He brought his session with Jonathan to a halt and returned to the side of his wife.

Sasha showed him her phone and yelled, "See! Sabrina has just gotten in touch with me and sent me these! She asked me if I have seen this as a doctor!"

She could barely catch her breath after running all the way into the study from her room upstairs, but she wasn't the one making a fuss out of something trivial.

After all, Sabrina's life might be at stake if she were to mistake copper sulfate as some sort of pill for health complications.

The inorganic compound was often involved in the agricultural setting as an herbicide. In other words, it was never meant for consumption unless under the supervision of a doctor.

Sasha couldn't even remain calm as she felt a strong urge to make a trip abroad to Sabrina's whereabouts to stop her from trying whatever she was up to.

To her surprise, the man in front of her wasn't particularly shocked when he glanced at the photos she showed him.

She thought she had been seeing things as the man seemed to feel a sense of relief when he saw the photos Sabrina sent her.

Am I seeing things or imagining things again?

"Sebby?"

"I'll get in touch with Edmund to figure out the things going on at once. You need to calm down since I've sent Karl to escort her home. She's going to join us soon."

Sebastian finally answered her queries and assured her to take it easy since it wasn't a big deal.

Sasha looked at him in the eyes and thought something was wrong, but she couldn't figure out the things going on behind the scenes due to the man's flawless act.

When she was about to mention something else, Jonathan broke the silence and asked, "Sasha, is everything fine?"

"Y-Yes, Grandpa!"

She knew she had to leave the rest to her husband as it wouldn't be wise to confront him in front of her grandfather-in-law.

Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover Chapter 1147

"Sasha, just allow Sebastian to deal with Sasha and get yourself ready for the banquet tomorrow. You're going to join Sebastian for the celebration of the newly appointed cabinet, aren't you?"

“H-Huh?”

The things Jonathan brought up had successfully diverted Sasha’s attention since she wasn’t made aware of her upcoming agenda with Sebastian beforehand.

She was nervous since she had never attended a banquet with the ones leading the nation as guests of the banquet.

It’s nothing if we’re talking about a banquet for the members of the upper echelon! As nasty as the guests might be, they’re merely a piece of cake as compared to politicians!

Sasha stammered in return, “I-Is it necessary for me to show up? I-Isn’t this too much?”

Sebastian broke the silence ahead of his grandfather and remarked in a sarcastic tone, “What do you mean it’s too much when they need to consider themselves lucky to make your acquaintance? They’re just a bunch of selfish men with their respective hidden agendas!”

It was evident he despised the politicians the most as it was written all over his face. Startled by the man’s harsh remarks, Sasha started perspiring again.

In the end, Sasha made up her mind to join him for the banquet held by the members of the White House.

Olivia was thrilled when she heard of the news. She remarked, “Mrs. Jadeson, it’s wonderful! You’re the first to join the banquet as the house hold member of the Jadesons! In other words, you’re officially there as Mrs. Jadeson!”

“She’s right, Mrs. Jadeson! It’s finally time to let others know you’re the almighty Mrs. Jadeson of the successor of the family! I’ll go get you a dress for the banquet at once!”

“Indeed, make sure you have the accessories to go along with the dress ready as well! We need to make sure you’re in your best fit since you’re there on behalf of the family! There’s no way we’re allowing others to outshine you!”

As soon as the housemaids figured out Sasha would join Sebastian for the banquet, they started getting everything she needed ready.

Sasha found them hilarious and thought it wouldn't be necessary to make a fuss out of a mere banquet.

On top of that, she merely had to get herself ready for the banquet because Sebastian would get everything else she needed for her.

Well, I guess I'll head out and get the guests some gifts since we're meeting in person for the first time. I can't possibly embarrass the family.

"Wendy, can you join me for a trip to the shopping mall?"

"Sure, Mrs. Hayes!"

Wendy made sure Jaena was in great hands with Olivia prior to leaving with Sasha.

As compared to Avenport, Jadeborough was considered a well-developed city with various infrastructures. Therefore, the buying power of the residents was different from those of the residents from Avenport.

Aware of the things the city had to offer, Sasha headed out to the most luxurious shopping mall from Oceanic Estate once she was ready.

"Wendy, what am I supposed to get the guests?"

Seated next to Sasha, Wendy suggested, "What about jewelry?"

Sasha wasn't sure if that was the great idea and lost herself in a process of thought with her lips pursed.

Jewelry sounds fine, but I'm not sure if the guests are going to appreciate something coming from someone they're barely acquainted with. Mrs. Croll is a huge fan of things made out of baniere, isn't she?

She thought of getting the guests something else, but the moment she showed up in the boutique store of the mall, she noticed there were many middle-aged women there to get themselves different kinds of accessories.

Wendy leaned over and asked in a hushed voice, "Mrs. Hayes, you're not going to doubt me, are you?"

Sasha thought Wendy was right since she was a few decades older than her.

When she was about to enter the store to avoid running into others in the store, one of the women noticed her presence and asked, "Isn't that Mrs. Jadeson?"

"Where?"

As a result of the woman's question, the rest of the guests in the boutique store turned around with their eyes glued to Sasha.

Sasha was speechless because she couldn't run away from them anymore. In the end, she joined the rest of them in the store.

"Mrs. Jadeson, are you here to get yourself an accessory for the banquet as well? Why don't you check these out over here? The store attendant told me they've just acquired these a few hours ago!"

"She's right, Mrs. Jadeson! Go ahead and give those a try!"

Those around Sasha, including the wife of Minister of Transportation and Chief Superintendent, were the ones at the place of Helma quite a while ago.

They were pretty enthusiastic around Sasha since Helma hadn't asked them to join the rest. On top of that, the clothes Sasha put on took them by surprise.

Sasha joined them and asked, "Are these accessories made out of jades?"

"Yes, this bracelet over here is of the most premium quality amongst the rest with the latest design."

The store attendant retrieved the turquoise bracelet and showed those in front of her.

As a result, those around Sasha, especially the wife of the Minister of Transportation, couldn't suppress their urge to get their hands on the unique bracelet anymore.
