

Returning from the Dead: His Secret Lover Chapter 547

You idiot. You wouldn't be getting out of that bed for a long time if I didn't need to worry about your condition. To think you actually doubted me! Didn't you know that I, your husband, only react to you alone and that I only recognized your scent?

Sebastian pressed his lips onto Sasha's, feeling a little enraged as he pried her lips open. He was forceful yet sensual as the kiss almost made Sasha go out of breath.

"Are you going to doubt me again?"

"N-No," Sasha shook her head and denied.

She was shuddering so hard that her knees almost gave in.

With that, Sebastian finally let her off the hook.

After two hours, their private jet took off and left Jetroina.

On the other hand, Yancy was going crazy from the loss she suffered at the press conference and the situation regarding her son. On top of that, the police listed her as a suspect.

"That b*tch! Where is she? Does she think she could just disappear after all the problems she caused?"

She was referring to none other than the fake Sasha.

Her assistant immediately waved her hand, gesturing for the woman, who tried to run away at the conference, to be brought over.

"M-Madam... "

Thud!

With a maniacal expression, Yancy kicked the woman right in the gut.

The woman instantly cried out and fell to the ground because of the pain she felt from the sharp tip of Yancy's high heels.

Yancy looked closely at the woman; she was unused to seeing that type of expression.

"A b*tch will always be a b*tch." She pulled the woman's hair up, disregarded her cries, and forced their eyes to meet. "You'll never beat her, even with a different face!"

"Please, Mrs. Tsurka. Have mercy. Spare me, just this once!"

"Spare you? Who's going to spare me then? Who was the one who told me that she would take care of everything for me as long as I turned her into Sasha Wand? That she would be able to handle that man!"

Yancy's eyes were bloodshot at that point as she swung a slap across the woman's face.

The moment the slap sounded, blood started trickling out of the woman's nose.

However, she dared not struggle.

She dared not make the slightest of movement as she was in Yancy's hand.

"I heard that you stole a lot of things from her; Her clothes, her accessories, and even her drafts. I also heard that you lied to your parents that the Wand family treated you really poorly."

"I... I'm sorry."

"Do you think saying sorry is enough? I thought you got smarter after dying once, Xenia. Who knew you're still trying to bite off more than you can chew, and I was actually foolish enough to trust trash like you!" Yancy slapped her again out of extreme frustration.

That's right. The fake Sasha was none other than Xenia Blackwood, who died in front of Jackson and his wife.

No one would have thought that she would still be alive. Her death had caused so much pain for Sasha since the Blackwoods condemned Sasha for an entire year.

She even caused Sasha to experience the hellish breakup with Sebastian.

It was the first time Sebastian was forced into having split personalities. Sasha had to hide at Moranta's Wall Street for an entire year because of that.

But what ended up happening was that Xenia appeared out of nowhere with Sasha's face and tried to take over everything Sasha had.

"Xenia Blackwood. Do you know why his men didn't take you away?"

Xenia was silent.

"Well, that's because he knew you were surely going to fall into my hands and that once you do, things are going to be much worse. Do you understand?" Yancy held Xenia's swollen face up, and Xenia started struggling after hearing what the former said.

"No, that can't be true! He just forgot about me! There's no way!" Xenia finally started fighting back, her eyes a hint of madness.

Yancy burst out into a laugh after hearing that.

"Forgot about you? What a joke! Do you know what he did? He went to Jetroina! He already found the real Sasha Wand. His men already infiltrated my Jade Garden and found her during the press conference!"

"No!"

Xenia started shrieking once again.

But in reality, she knew better than anyone else that Yancy was telling the truth.

She had overheard Sebastian picking up the phone and saw the smile he had when he left the day before.

She was the only person he would ever be gentle to. So, he knew I was a fake from the start? Did he put up an act just so he could do what he did at the press conference?

Right then, Xenia recalled how cold Sebastian was the day she left.