Secretly The Billionaire Boss by Debbie chocolate Chapter 41-A bar in the office Grey solled and relaxed He doesn't believe it A bar in the office?

'Hey Who are you? And how did you get here?' A deep voice spoke behind him Grey turlled around to look at the guy that was having sex with a lady when he first walked in. He couldn't see the lady now "Please, who are you?" Grey asked, politely The man smirked 'Are you for real? Are you asking me that kind of question?' Yes.' Grey nodded and pulled off an innocent expression "Because I don't know who you are And why is there a bar in the company or is this company changing names?" He teased softly A man moved closer and pulled Grey by his collar You don't dare speak to Marvin like that!" He snarled *The head of secretaries is Marvin Grey asked, disturbed A rumble of laughter came from the background and spread like wildfire among the others. The man holding Grey released him and laughed as well "Don't tell me he's a new worker? A lady laughed.

Grey raised skeptical brows Why is everyone asking me if I'm a new worker or not?

"Yes, he's one of our fish," a man said and took a bottle of champagne. He sat and took a cup "I'm having the last drink "Sure, we should." another added quickly "I'm taking this wine!" A guy spoke, took the wine, and dropped it intentionally "Oh damn it slipped!" He laughed Everyone joined in quickly Grey was shocked and confused "What the luck is happening here and who is Marvin?" He questioned again "You want to know?" A soft voice said suddenly and Grey looked down at a woman in her early twenties. She was in Nike wear and a frown was on her face She was the one that Marvin was having sex with when Grey came in Grey didn't talk He didn't even know what to tell her. How could she stoop so low to have sex amidst so many people?

"Well, he's Marvin and he holds an important position in Protos Pubblicita. You better do what he wants or you might end up losing a hand or two Grey scoffed Seriously? Is that why you agreed to have sex with him? Or you are just so stupid or confused? That you have no dignity?' The lady's head went low in shame "You are in no position to blame me." 'Ox, fun over!' Marvin clapped his hands to draw attention to himself. The new worker will be the one to lidy up this place Then we can go for another party!

Everyone yelled in excitement except for the lady who Grey was watching. Somehow, it looked like she was threatened to do what she did. "Ok," he nodded and looked at Marvin. "Are you guys going to stay in the office while I tidy up?" No, a guy replied quickly. "We have another party to go to!" He laughed and took a bottle of champagne. Grey nodded briefly. "Then give me a few minutes, there's something by the door," he hurried towards the door as everyone got involved with chatting.

Marvin was suddenly beside the other girl and trying to feel her off. Grey locked the door and pulled out the key. Then, he turned to look at the people again. It was actually his turn to clap. "Now, fun is over. We are going for a little exercise," he smiled.

"What the fuck are you saying?" A lady asked.

Grey looked over at Marvin and realized he was still feeling the other lady off. He was not even bothered by his statement. Grey moved closer to him quickly and pulled his hand away from the lady. "Learn to respect ladies," he muttered and twisted his hand. "What the fuck are you doing!" Marvin yelled in pain and tried to look at the men. "What the fuck are you doing? Stop this bastard!" He ordered.

The men rushed forward quickly. Grey hit Marvin by the neck and let him fall to the floor. Marvin struggled to breathe.

The lady moved backward as the men in the room attacked Grey. Grey kicked one away and pulled one closer to himself by his hand, he twisted it and kicked him by the leg so that he would fall. Two gone!

Secretly The Billionaire Boss by Debbie chocolate Chapter 42-The new manager Grey couldn't stop laughing. He knew something was off the moment he stepped inside the lobby. He took the water from the woman and took a sip.

"I'm going to leave this place because I have somewhere else to be but," Grey whirled around to look at Marvin that was already up with the help of others. "Who are you really?" There was a shocked expression on his face as he watched Grey curiously. Grey smiled slyly. "Your worst nightmare. Anyways, you and the rest would clean this whole place up now. I need to get to the head of the secretaries office," he explained.

The men groaned in complaint.

Grey's gaze searched around him." You don't want to clean?" "We will," Marvin replied quickly. "Is there anything else you want?" "Everything that happened in this room remains in this room And you are not allowed to tell anyone Just let them know you've dealt with me as well," his smile widened." Like you do with others Do you get it?" Marvin nodded quickly "We will do just that" "I will excuse myself then," Grey took a short bow before he walked out of the office.

He went down the elevator and located another one by the night. The building was so spacious that Grey almost got lost in it.

Finally, he arrived at the office he had been looking for. He knocked on it slightly.

"Yes, come in a soft voice invited Grey opened the door and stepped in. The room was even spacious and the settings were very unique "Yes, how may I help you?" A lady was by the desk and looking up at Grey Grey remembered her. She was the one that met with Giovanni the other day, "Well, I'm Grey Funnel. I got transferred here from Alfred's company. I'm supposed to be a secretary," he explained The lady regarded him for a moment, then dialed a line on her telephone. "Hello Jude, get in right now." she dropped the call and looked at Grey again. "The guy that's going to take you to the company is almost here." Grey didn't hear her the first time until something in his ears interpreted it for him. "Wait, what? I'm supposed to work here as the secretary." "Oh no," she shook her head dramatically. I'm sorry to shut your illusion but we have enough secretaries, Meanwhile, there's a branch company that needs a manager urgently. You could fill up the spaces," she revealed Grey stared at her with shock. He didn't even understand what was happening. Alfred said he would have to be a secretary to spy on her but she was going to transfer him to another branch company.

A soft knock sounded on the door and a guy walked in.

"Hey. Jude. Please, take Grey to SU world," she said politely and resumed what she was doing on the laptop Grey hesitated She looked up again if you don't want to go, you may as well go to your house. You should consider yourself lucky because you will be the manager of SU world." Grey nodded 'I will accept it," he sighed, 'I'm glad I got the job anyways," he smiled and walked out with Jude Grey and Jude arrived at the office. It was a small company compared to what Grey had in mind.

There were approximately fifty employees and it was rather too small. The workers lined up the moment Jude and Grey walked in. It was like they had been alerted to his arrival "So, we have a new manager," Jude started. "Here's Grey Funnel,' he introduced and gestured towards Grey. All work will be transferred back to him and he will decide on anything business related, understood?" "Yes, sir," they all chorused.

Thank you, everyone. Well, I expect that we should work even harder to make this company a better one. Grey gave a short speech, and claps of applause exploded.

"Alright," Jude said quickly. Someone can show Mr. Grey to his office then," there was a smile on his face as he turned to Grey "I will leave you to it then I have to go back to Pubblicita." Grey nodded and they shook hands before Jude walked out of the company "May I show you to your office?" A soft voice cut through Grey's thoughts He looked at a lady and through her lag, he was able to discover her name as Linda "Sure, let's go," he told her.

The workers have settled down now as Grey moved towards his office. It was a relatively small room but it was beautifully decorated His phone rang immediately he stepped in It was Aphrodite So, he waited for Linda to walk out before he picked it up "Hi, Novia" Aphrodite laughed. "I actually love it when you call me Novia. I wanted to see if you will be available this evening. We can see and have some chat," she suggested Grey thought about it quickly." Sure, that's fine Where and when?" "I will text you all that,' she concluded and the line went off.

Secretly The Billionaire Boss by Debbie chocolate Chapter 43-Meeting the couple

Grey had been going through the reports and files for over hours. He realized that the figures were messed up There was nothing in the company account and few stocks of surveillance cameras were left. The materials were also little in quantity. It was only for a few more weeks before the SU world would crash

Grey made a call to the accountant's office. "Hello, see me in the office right away?" He ordered and hung up without waiting for a response.

A soft knock sounded on the door almost immediately.

Grey sat up. "Yes, come in."

Maria walked inside. "Hi, boss. It's closing time. I'm leaving but I decided to see you before I do so Have you concluded?"

Before Grey could say something, another knock sounded on the door John stepped inside the room in a tailored suit. He was almost like Grey except for his stubbles and the fact that Grey was the tallest.

"You wanted to see me?"

Grey nodded briefly and picked a file. He stretched it out to him "Goods of 5 million dollars were used but only one million dollars came back into the company account How is that so? Does a form of magic work here?"

John suppressed a shock as he took the file and did as if he was looking through it Grey watched his movement for a moment "Don't bother! You are fired, John."

Maria's eyes went wide in shock.

* Please, don't sack me," John pleaded.

"Get out of my office now or I will bundle you out," Grey muttered thickly. He was getting annoyed already How could they mess his company up?

John sighed and placed the file on the table,

"What did you just do? Grey asked quickly, startling John for a moment. Please, take the file with you. I have no use for it John took the file reluctantly and walked out of the office.

Maria looked back at Grey. "What are we supposed to do now?"

Grey regarded her for a moment. "Nothing. I will need a secretary obviously. So, an interview should commence. The post of the accountant and the secretary is vacant," he explained and stood up. He was getting late for the cinema already.

"But what about the loans?" Maria said quickly before Grey would open the door. " We need money to make a lot of surveillance cameras. We will be damned if we lose this client," she complained.

Grey turned to look at her again." There will be no loans, I will handle it. Just make an estimation of the amount we will need by tomorrow and let's talk then,” he finished in a voice that left no room for more words Maria was shocked. How would he handle it?

Grey got inside his car and headed in the direction of the address that Aphrodite sent to him.

Grey eventually pulled up in the parking lot.

Stepping out of his car and the first person he saw was Nora. Actually, she was looking right at him as well, with some kind of surprised expression maybe because of the car that he came out of. Well, the car has a way of hiding its potential.

Grey ignored her and walked towards the entrance of the cinema.

“Look at who this is.” Seth laughed suddenly, behind him.

Grey ignored his remark and entered the big building and Seth with Nora came right behind him,

The security was checking people in with their tickets and since Grey had none, he decided to inform Aphrodite that he was around.

“The boy is running away.” Seth laughed again.

“He grew up real well,” Nora added quickly

They were close now and Grey knew that they would meet up with him soon since he was still going to wait for Aphrodite

Aphrodite didn’t pick up. So, he decided to text her.

“Longest time Grey,” Nora teased as she stood in front of Grey, her hand entwined with Seth’s arm.

Grey looked up at her. “Yeah, long time, Nora.”

“You have changed. You seemed to be enjoying your life with Robinson. Seth told me you got married to Avery.” Nora narrated.

“Yes,” Seth blurted quickly. “Avery does everything for him. i bet she was the one that got this suit for him.”

Grey looked at Seth." I got this suit with my money," he protested "Sure, the money Avery gave you," Seth laughed even harder Nora seemed annoyed by Seth's explanation." I seriously didn't know you were this desperate! How could you feed off your wife? I'm sure she got you the ride you came with" She accused.

"Who's more desperate here?" Grey was looking at Nora now. You left me for Seth remember?"

Nora shook her head slowly." You are missing something. Girls aren't supposed to be with a guy like you, But we can be with guys like Seth," she explained and clutched even closer to Seth.

Grey didn't frown or laugh. So, his face did something between the two. "That's the explanation?"

*Alfred won't always help you. Don't rely on him and oh! I remember you got sacked already!" He revealed. He sadly shook his head. "Life is bad for you."

Shock took over Nora's face for a moment. " Alfred fired you?" She couldn't believe it and for some reason unknown to Grey, she seemed happy about it. "Guess your life is still messed up. what are you doing here by the way?"

A message popped up on his phone and it was from Aphrodite. She was almost at the cinema.

Suddenly, the door of the cinema opened and people walked out of the hall.

Nora looked back at the people. 'Is something wrong?"

"No, the round must be over. Grey must be here for the second movie." He regarded Grey's expression for a moment I'm going to buy the full hall space. You should go home, you won't be able to enter the cinema hall today," he acknowledged * You will regret it. Seth and you." Greg pointed at Nora. "You will regret ever leaving me for Seth."

meeting the last Elder "Sir, this man is Grey and the most useless man in life. He used to work as a delivery man and he was worth nothing.' Seth explained Luciano groaned, apparently not pleased with his explanation. He was still looking at Grey, though with curious eyes that Grey wasn't familiar with "Did you say your name is Grey Fox?" He repeated Grey nodded briefly " I'm supposed to meet someone here and she's on her way here," he tried his best to be polite Mr Luciano.’ Seth interrupted before Luciano would say anything else “You shouldn’t be speaking with someone like this. He’s not worth your struggles The security men can explain what he did anyways.” Luciano turned to look at Seth “Sorry, who are you?” There were raised brows at him Seth smiled “I’m Seth I just rented the whole space for the cinema and” “You can’t do that someone else already rented it. Luciano cut in quickly Seth’s expression was a vivid description of horror as he watched Luciano “I’m willing to pay twice the price And if you aren’t busy. I would like for us to discuss something about business” Luciano turned towards Grey. ignoring Seth’s remark which felt like a stab in his neck ‘is Novia who you are waiting for?” Grey eyes went wide with shock Lots of questions went through his mind quickly Novia was the name that only Grey could call Aphrodite And unless this man really knew her, he wouldn’t be referring to her in such a way “Novia?” Nora asked, skeptical Well, it looked like Aphrodite was the name everyone knew Novia as it was just as what Hercules was to Grey Grey nodded slowly “She said I could wait here and she’s on her way,” he added quickly Luciano’s lips seemed to curve into a smile but soon closed up again for a mouth that wasn’t used to laughing, it was the least he could do “If you don’t mind, you could wait for her in the hall We could prepare a movie in advance before she arrives,” Luciano explained to Grey softly. The harsh tone disappeared and it looked like Luciano was trying to impress Grey.

“Wait, it looks like you are missing something.” Seth indicated, confused. This man is a delivery man. Ok. he got employed recently but he has been sacked.

Luciano looked over at Seth ‘What did you say your name was the other time?

Seth smiled. I’m Seth,’ and he stretched out his hand for a handshake Luciano stared down at his hand for a moment, then up to his face. “Will you keep shut or do you want my men to walk you out of this place? He responded, Seth swallowed harder, unable to believe what was happening.

Luciano smiled at Grey again, this time it lasted longer. “Let’s go then I will specifically make sure you are very comfortable,” he indicated * Wall’ Seth said quickly just before Luciano would turn around. “I’m willing to pay three times the amount to rent the hall,” he offered quickly Luciano shook his head. I’m sorry but I have to decline,’ and 10 Grey “Let’s go” Luciano started walking away, without giving Seth a chance to say more “Grey, how? You are unemployed. You have been sacked!” Nora said quickly She was so angry That Grey was taking her space with Seth.

Grey looked at them and smiled 'Who told you that?' And he went after Luciano, leaving Nora and Seth in shock. Seth was more than angry. He had never been so humiliated. And to think it was the second time that Grey was doing it. "Wait," Grey said quickly as he and Luciano stepped inside the empty hall. His word pulled Luciano to a stop and he turned around to look at Grey. Grey knew that Novia was capable of renting the hall for years but it didn't explain how Luciano knew her. He wondered if Novia had told him who he really was because that might be a disaster. "How did you know Aphrodite is Novia?" Grey questioned. Luciano regarded him for a moment and slowly bowed his head. "I can't face you. I don't even know how I'm supposed to start," he looked up again, meeting Grey's blue eyes for a minute of silent communication. "Hercules Grey's heart almost stopped beating. How did he know? Did Aphrodite tell him?"

"I don't know how I'm supposed to do this but I guess I can't hide from it," he muttered in a sad voice. His tone wasn't as strong as it used to be. And he slowly went down on his knees. Grey's eyes went wide and dark with shock. 'It was my fault that your father died. If he hadn't agreed to follow me to the party, he would still be alive.' Grey raised skeptical brows at him. "You know my father?" Luciano looked up at him again and slowly nodded. 'Have you forgotten me so quickly, Grey? I used to be your uncle. Like a flash, Grey saw himself in the car. He was in the second car with Luciano while his father took the third car. They were prominent people in society and they never ceased to show it. Though Rio had tried his best to hide his son's identity because he wouldn't let him die like his mother. He preferred it if Grey would school in the countryside and come visit during vacation. No one was supposed to know Grey was Rio's son until it was the right time.'

"The accident wouldn't have happened if I wasn't so adamant." Luciano sobbed quietly. Grey saw the car trip off, knocking into a tree and Luciano went unconscious immediately. He was bleeding but the only thing Grey could think of was his father. "Do you remember me now?" Luciano asked again, jerking Grey out of his thoughts. Grey took a deep breath and slowly nodded. "Yes, I remember you now. You used to be uncle Lucy to me and you were the man that killed my father." He announced, angrily.
