

Secretly The Billionaire Boss

Secretly The Billionaire Boss by Debbie chocolate Chapter 51-Assault It was already five in the evening when Charles dropped Grey off at SU World He took the box and the files and proceeded towards his car, He hesitated for a moment as he contemplated whether to enter the office or not. Deciding against it, he placed the box in the back seat and maneuvered around the car to enter the driver's seat He drove straight away to his former house. He might need to buy the house in the meantime so that it could be a secured place for his documents, He got down quickly, with the box and the documents files containing his credit cards, and hurried inside Three men came from a car packed a few miles away. It seemed like they had been tailing Grey but he didn't notice because he was in a hurry to get home They spent a lot of time, all morning searching for him until Seth called to inform them of where Grey worked And they had been waiting all day until he got down from Charles Car They even traced him to his house because they were looking for the right time to attack Unknown to them that the car cam was actually on It caught them automatically the first time they went near the car and it was recording them as they were waiting for Grey beside the car The front door opened suddenly and the men rushed into the darkness again Just as Grey moved to open the door, they hit him on the head with a plank It was so fast that he didn't see it coming. He slumped to the floor and lost consciousness Meanwhile, the cam captured all this.

They took him inside their car and drove off Grey felt something liquid come down on him, front his head down to his body He opened his eyes suddenly, jerking out of the darkness He was so wet that his clothes were sticking to his body like second clothes Grey stared up at a man in dirty Jean and a gray shirt "Who are you and what am I doing here?"

The surroundings were shabby and unfamiliar.

"Don't ask any questions if you love yourself!" The man snarled.

Grey-sat up and realized that there were three more men in the background. They walked out to the light Grey regarded them for a moment. "Do you know about the punishment for kidnapping?" " Philip, get the logs of the woods!" The leading man screamed out.

A man ran from the darkness and handed out the logs to the four men Grey chuckled. "What are you about to do?"

“Actually, this will teach you to stay as humble as you can be. Never meddle with Seth ever again! He yelled the instructions, his face getting dark.

Oh,” Grey muttered. You must be from Seth, right?” They didn’t reply to him Grey stood nonetheless, though his body hurt. A serious headache had suddenly set in His head also hurt so much. The men must have done something to him before he woke up “I report you, you will be charged with assault, kidnapping, and infringement of human rights. Are you guys ready to go through the troubles?” The men exchanged glances, then they looked back at Grey.

“Beat him up. By the time we are done, he won’t even remember his name!” One of the men yelled.

They moved closer at the same time “Wait!” Grey screamed suddenly, pulling them to a sudden stop. He looked up at the man close to him Should we make a deal?” Grey made a quick calculation as he took a step closer to the guy he perceived as the leader “You will leave now and I will forgive you. How about that?” Grey gave him a teasing smile Boys! Get him!

You must be stupid for thinking in such a way! The man fired back, obviously angry now He yelled Grey lurched towards him quickly and caught his raised hand, twisted it, and took the log from him. He pushed him away and turned around almost immediately to kick one of the men by the chest The others hesitated “Damn, he’s good. We have to leave!” Grey swung the log at them again and they ran off. He turned around but realized he was alone now A serious headache hit in and he felt dizziness taking over him His lips tasted of blood. He took his phone and dialed Alfred’s line. He was the closest person around him and he didn’t even know where he was Alfred came thirty minutes later, after tracking his phone. Grey was even dizzy Saint helped him into the car. “Damn, what happened to you, Grey?” Alfred was very worried. “I got kidnapped but I will be fine,” he opined and tried to close his eyes. His head was banging seriously “I’m taking you to the hospital, Alfred revealed suddenly Grey shook his head, ” That won’t be necessary. I just need to get home. Take a turn over there” He said quickly, gesturing towards the street ahead “Are you sure? You are bleeding.” “I’m fine,” he insisted, with a smile. He only needed to go home. Saint pulled up beside Grey’s car. Alfred turned to look at Grey. “I will catch you tomorrow. If you don’t get better tonight, I will be forced to take you to the hospital.” Grey nodded briefly. He got down from the car with a groan. More of his blood dropped on his lips He forced himself into his car. Within minutes, Grey arrived at Robinson’s house and released a sigh. He was actually feeling a bit better, he would only need to sleep 10 get even better Just as he opened the door, a rumble of laughter filled the air around him. "Seriously, you should come here often," Emma laughed Grey stepped into the living room and looked up at Emma, Benjamin, Avery, and Chris having dinner together Grey felt skeptical. Having dinner at such a late hour? He felt a stab of jealousy anyways at the closeness between Chris and Avery They were even sitting so close together.

Secretly The Billionaire Boss by Debbie chocolate Chapter 52-A tum Chris laughed "Well, I would love to come here often but I'm bothered about your daughter's husband," he hinted as if he was really concerned "Well, fortunately for you! They will be getting a divorce soon." Emma expressed with a wide smile.

Avery tried to smile "Wow, that's nice, Chris looked over at Avery, his gaze flickering around her for a moment in an enigmatic way "Can I take you out tomorrow?" Avery looked up to him and tried to reject but her mother was already speaking "That would be tantastic! She encouraged her Grey took several steps closer to them before they could notice him "Greetings," he mumbled Gazes turned towards him Emma hissed "He finally rose in the incompetent husband just arrived," she complained Emma Benjamin scolded softly Then looked up at Grey "Grey, why are you late?"

"Yes, Dad! He came home yesterday too!" Avery added quickly, then turned up to look at Grey again She saw a trace of blood from Grey's hair as he had already wiped off the blood on his face before stepping inside "Work," he mumbled, and looked at Chris, with clenched teeth. "I'm always seeing you here" "Nice to meet you too, Chris smiled softly Then, he looked at Emma "I would like to take leave now" Emma smiled at him "Thats ok We can always see later I'm glad you honored my invitation Grey's head sparked So, it was Emiria that invited him Gladly, maam It's my pleasure, Chris had this smirk on his face that Grey wished he could punch Emma and Avery led Chris towards the door "Do you know that Avery's birthday is next week?" Emma said suddenly Avery looked at his mother Mom, stop It's embarrassing" Chris smiled "I'm aware actually but thanks for reminding me Emma squealed "Look at that He knows already This is a great gentleman"" Grey shook his head, he could no longer listen to their conversation He needed to sleep anyway, so he hurried inside the room.

He managed to take a shower He was asleep when Avery walked in or she might have asked him about the blood she saw earlier Just before she stood up, the blood streamed down again She then knew for sure that something must have happened to him She knew that Grey was always causing trouble but she didn't want him to die anyways So, she got the first aid box and bandaged his wounded head He didn't stir throughout the process Grey opened his eyes suddenly Actually, he felt better "You will tell me the reason why you are always causing trouble I don't even know how I met you, do you remember? Avery blabbed in front of him Grey looked up at her She was in Nike wear, a short down that clung to her body like a second skin and showed all her shapes in place She looked so hot that Grey had to swallow hard "Are you listening to me? Do you even have an answer?" She yelled, very much frustrated Grey smiled and tried to concentrate "Not really I'm fine and trust me, I didn't cause any trouble "Trust you? Avery laughed "I would rather trust my dogs" she snickered Grey sighed He felt hurt at her remark but he pushed it aside and got off the bed instead "Good morning, " he mumbled and went inside the bathroom There was a bandage on his head and he wondered who had placed it there his mind went to Avery and he smiled Seemed like Avery has a gold heart after all When he walked out again, Avery was gone. He got dressed quickly so that he would meet the breakfast hour When he walked out. Everyone was already having breakfast and having small talks as usual Avery should come to LX corporation by Monday We have a little celebration ongoing." Lucy revealed suddenly "You got the contract, right? From Protos Publicita? Emma asked anxiously Lucy nodded, obviously happy "This contract will turn tables for LX We will be entering new limelight." he explained "Did Avery get it? Or was it Smith?" Emma asked anxiously, then looked at Avery whose head was bent towards the food and was acting as if she didn't even care about the contract "Avery" She called at once, jerking Avery up Avery looked up at her "What, mom? Smith got it!" She murmured Grey's head whipped in her direction He couldn't believe his ears He clearly ordered Jane to call the deal off Why didn't she listen to him?

Grey felt a stab of annoyance and knew that he had to call Jane after breakfast "Avery tried her best, so she's invited to share the celebration" Lucy declared Avery sulked it was clear that she might never get another opportunity to get back her heir night Lucy's phone rang suddenly, disrupting the silence that was about to ensue "Hello, Smith," he said into the receiver, then his eyes narrowed and his face went blank What do you mean by you losing the contract? I thought you signed it yesterday?" At the statement, every gaze turned towards him "How could that have happened? I thought you were competent! What have you done to make him rethink?" He yelled He looked angry now as he slammed the phone on the table Dad, what's it?

Lucy stared into the space. "We lost the contract" "What? Why? What happened?" Everyone was skeptical and shocked except for Grey "Hercules cut the deal off I wonder what could have happened We need this more than anything.” Lucy boomed “Could there be something in the contract clause that Hercules doesn’t like?

Benjamin wondered aloud Grey leaned closer to Avery. “It’s your chance to win this,” he whispered Avery looked at him.” Don’t be silly. If Hercules doesn’t want to sign a contract with LX, there’s nothing! can do about it.” Grey shrugged. “We never may know.” “I’m going to the company,” Lucy announced immediately Grey looked at Avery again expecting her to say something “I will follow you, Grandpa,” Avery said quickly “Alright, let’s finish up so we can leave” There was a wide smile on Grey’s face as he continued to eat Smith wouldn’t know what had hit him.

Secretly The Billionaire Boss by Debbie chocolate Chapter 53-borrowed After breakfast, Avery and Lucy went to LX corporation, Emma and Benjamin also went out, not after informing Grey to do the dishes.

They had maids and he doesn’t know why he had to go through the stress. He did it anyway His phone rang suddenly as he stepped inside the living room. The maids walked past the phone but didn’t even bother helping him.

They walked past him and didn’t greet him but he shuddered it off.

It was Alfred that was calling. He picked it up immediately.

“Hi, Alfred,” he smiled and whirled around to go back to the bedroom.

“Good morning, Hercules. How are you feeling today?” “Fine. I told you I would be better, didn’t I?” He laughed.

He barely took two steps forward when the doorbell sounded. He stopped in his tracks and turned around, towards the door again.

“I’m glad you are getting better. You should rest very well. Nothing must happen to you,” he declared.

Grey nodded.” I will be fine.” “Alright but I’m going to tell the elders this we will take action soon. What if Giovanni knows about you? How come you got attacked the day you visited your father’s estate? He must have been spying on Aphrodite,” he vented out his frustration Grey sighed.” Calm down. You don’t need to tell the elders anything because this doesn’t concern them And it’s not Giovanni.” Alfred went silent for a minute.” Then, who is it? Who dared lay his hands on you!" "Don't bother yourself, Alfred, I will handle it. And if I discover that I can't, then I will inform you," he assured and opened the door.

"Alright, if you say so," Alfred accepted.

"Can we talk later then?" He opined, still holding out the door "Sure, Alfred said and the line went off.

Grey's gaze roamed around Caramel for a moment and lingered more on her short skirt that was revealing her long flawless legs. Then, he slowly looked up at her. "Hi." "Hi," she smiled, revealing a dimple that Grey hadn't noticed, "Can I come in?" Grey got conscious of himself "Sure, I'm sorry," he stepped aside for her to enter. Then, he closed the door. "But Avery is not at home," he announced as he turned around to look at her Caramel nodded briefly. "I'm aware. You said you would take me out today.

Grey raised skeptical brows at her "i did?" Caramel nodded and laughed, "Don't tell me you forgot that. We were supposed to go to the gym Grey thought about it quickly, then nodded slightly. Sure, just give me a few minutes to get ready" "You sincerely don't need that," Cara said quickly just as Grey was about to leave "We could go to my regular spot and we could get some nice gym wear How about that?" She was smiling as she made the suggestion Grey nodded slowly He didn't even know what he was supposed to say Caramel seemed adamant about whatever she was planning He regarded her for a moment, at her makeup and the fact that she was overdressed. Were they really going to the gym? 'is everything alright?' Caramel looked away and fidgeted with her jacket "Actually, I got invited to the opening of gymnastics It's a small gathering but Liam would be coming." she confessed Grey sighed 'Liam again?

"No!" She said quickly, I just don't want him to see through our lies None of the friends that recognize you will be around," she assured Grey nodded briefly, then looked down at himself "Am I good to go now?" "Yes, you are," she expressed happily Grey was only in a casual Jean and shirt but Caramel found it good He wondered why Avery had never thought in that direction "Alright, then. Let's go," he announced Caramel's smile even went wider as she hurried outside before Grey Grey smiled watching her Maybe he could use that to start putting abs in place He needed it So, he would be using a stone to kill two birds 'My car or your car?' Grey wondered aloud as he stepped out beside Caramel Caramel shrugged slightly "I didn't bring my car.

So, it's definitely going to be your car Grey smiled and spread his arms out. "Alright, I will gladly be your driver," he moved to the driver's side. But did you tell Avery that you will be borrowing her husband?" Caramel laughed. I did that already. She was so glad that you would be useful" "Damn! That hurt" He laughed Caramel laughed the more." You and I know that Avery doesn't love you She's always glad to get rid of you" Grey nodded briefly as he drove out of the compound "This car is comfortable, will you take me out for a picnic in it?' Avery asked suddenly as Grey took a turn.

"Fine, I'm sure even Avery wouldn't mind," he jibed with a leasing smile * That" Caramel gestured at a building by her right. "That's where we are going.

We are finally here!" She announced excitedly Grey wondered what she was so happy about but he realized it wouldn't hurt if he had fun as well He pulled off in the parking lot and turned to look at Caramel. Stay right where you are," he ordered and got down Caramel wondered what he was up to but she complied.

Grey turned over to her side and opened the door for her. "Remember, I'm supposed to be your boyfriend for today Caramel nodded happily " You are getting the real gist, Grey Your acting skill is top-notch" Grey moved his hand over his chest repeatedly while taking a short bow. Thank you." .

Just as they both turned around, a car drove past them and pulled off as well.

But Caramel couldn't avert her gaze from the car Actually, the reason why she was suddenly interested in the car was because the car looks exactly like Grey's car Grey followed the path of Caramel's gaze and he felt like she was close to finding what his secrets were The car is worth millions. If Caramel discovered that, she might even be more suspicious.

Secretly The Billionaire Boss by Debbie chocolate Chapter 54-Strange Caramel looked up at Grey and he feared what she was going to ask him Caramel was someone Grey should avoid because she was 100 inquisitive, But what could he do after his wife had given her permission to take him anywhere "Let's go," she announced suddenly, startling Grey for another moment Though, he wondered how someone with his kind of car could be at the event Grey hadn't seen a car like his since he brought it Well, only three were produced as he had heard from the girls, They stepped inside the spacious hall, with marble floors and gym machines scattered abroad.

A lot of people were around already and checking out the new machines What can you do here? Which one will you like to try first? Caramel asked to clear the air around them Grey's gaze searched around slowly, as he gave each machine deep scrutiny He loved to go to the gym when he was so young that it wasn't even surprising that he had four sets of abs when he was fourteen It was what his father wanted since he was always training him so hard That day, he gifted him a car key, which he was supposed to start using when he clocked 18. Well, Grey never knew what the car looked like "Maybe the Treadmill. It helps to relax and prepare the body for the next course of training," he explained Caramel looked up at him and smiled. You sounded like an instructor He laughed as they both joined the rest in checking the machine *Caramel!" A voice boomed from behind them They both whiled towards the direction from where the voice came from but it was Caramel that spoke "Alex" She yelled happily and moved to embrace him She pulled back after a while "How have you been?

"Fine," he smiled 'I thought you wouldn't show up. I'm so happy you came," he expressed Alex, you've got a nice place And!" She turned to look at Grey, then she mouthed for him to move closer. So, this is Grey. He loves to go to the gym and would frequent this place" Wow! Alex was pleased." My first customer," he extended his hand for a handshake * Alex "Grey," he muttered and took his hand "Grey?" A surprising look flickered across his face. "Grey Fox?" "How did you know that?" It was Caramel's turn to be surprised No, Grey was more than shocked. Alex's hand wasn't at all as soft as he had expected. He had a strong hand which might not have been achieved by a frequent visit to the gym. Who could he be?

Alex smiled again "Is that his name? I didn't know," he held Grey's hand even harder, squeezing it slowly I just guessed that since they looked so good together," he laughed Grey stared down at their entwined hands but he wasn't at all affected by the pressure that Alex was giving him "Caramell" Another voice joined and the two men linally let go of their hands There was something about Alex bul Grey couldn't place it. As far as he was concerned, he had never seen him So, he wondered how he knew what his full name was.

"Oh, you are here,' Caramel remarked and clung to Grey suddenly Grey looked up at Liam advancing towards them "Oh, I see that you came with your boyfriend,' he showed his indignation, "Yes, as you can see that we are inseparable," Caramel boasted.

Grey wrapped his arms around her, pulling her closer as well "Any problem with that?" Liam looked over at Grey and saw the frown on his face. He remembered how he had twisted his hand and nearly removed it from the socket.

He suppressed a shudder and looked over at Alex instead. "It's time to officially open your gymnastics, he announced Alex nodded, " Thank you," he turned to give Grey a last look before walking away with Liam Caramel waited for Liam to be out of sight before she pulled away from Grey 'Do you know Alex? He's giving out a vibe that looks like he knows you" Seriously?* Grey was looking at him as he walked to the middle of the room He took the microphone *1 got the feeling as well. But I don't know him and I don't think he does as well. He might have guessed the name, as he had explained," Grey informed, though it looked as though he was merely trying to convince himself, instead of Caramel "So, for the opening I would like some volunteers to try out my machines and see how it goes I sincerely hope that these volunteers patronize me after today, Alex said and laughed We are volunteering, night?" Caramel whispered to Grey Grey nodded quickly. That's why we are here, to have fun Isn't it?" Caramel laughed "Sure! And to work out!" She added with a touch of sarcasm Four men walked out, along with three women "We need five men and five women," Alex insisted Grey and Caramel walked out as well and applause filled the air "Thank you so much for coming out You guys will move to the dressing room and change your attire. Nice workout wear is awaiting you in the locker. The guys are supposed to take their left, while the ladies should take their right," he explained as everyone complied.

A piece of soft music filled the air as Alex eventually placed the microphone on the table and moved to speak with the man that just entered the hall. Actually, it was the man that has a car that looks like Grey's car "Let's play our little game," Caramel said suddenly, jerking Grey out of his scrutiny. "What are you looking at?" She made to turn around but Grey cupped her face in his hands quickly because he didn't want her to see the man "What game are you talking about?" He asked to distract her.

"Whoever comes out last will buy lunch! She rushed the words, then hurried towards the right exit Grey looked behind her for a moment. "That's called cheating! Then he laughed and decided to hurry up If he seriously wanted 10 WIN Three men walked past Grey, already in their workout wear Grey entered the dressing room that looked more like a combination of the dressing room and toilets and bathroom. There were different small rooms around Grey saw the lockers and moved nearer. There was an indication on it Three of the lockers were opened, which means the workout wear would be in the remaining two lockers Just as he proceeded to open the locker, it looked like someone was behind him Someone was sneaking up on him The person was so quiet but Grey could hear.

Secretly The Billionaire Boss by Debbie chocolate Chapter 55- Misunderstanding When Grey turned around, there was no one behind him and there seemed to be a silent retreat of steps When he walked out, Liam rushed out of the building. He found it weird but he didn't want to worry Caramel about it. So, he didn't say anything, The party rumbled on and Grey finally tried on most of the machines Grey opened his eyes to look at Avery. "Good morning," he mumbled.

Avery was applying a final touch on her makeup. "Tell me, Grey, where do you work? And what position do you hold?" Grey blinked once, at her questions. "SU world and I'm the manager," he got out of bed "So," she turned to look at him. "You influenced Mr Alfred to make you a manager? Nice one, Grey It seems like you are really desperatel* Grey sighed "I don't know what you are talking about I'm only anxious to get to work." and he walked inside the bathroom When he walked out, Avery wasn't in anymore He got dressed and hurried out. The family was just having breakfast when he worked out Though, it looked like he had missed the conversation part "Well, it's not over grandpa I'm going to Protos Publicita today If any clause is not favorable to them, we could amend it. Avery explained.

"Yes, Emma nodded, supporting Avery." Who knows. Avery could get the contract for you Lucy finally nodded, "I will be glad if that happens," he said sincerely He seemed desperate Grey didn't get involved in their conversation and only ate his food in silence On the drive to work, Grey placed a call to Jane She picked it up immediately "Good morning, Mr. Grey" "Morning. Avery Robinson will come to Protos Publicita this morning to talk us into signing the contract She might even want to change any clause to our satisfaction Sign the contract on one condilion," he acknowledged What condition sir?" He went silent for a moment. "If Avery will be in charge We are signing the contract because of her So. she should be the one that will be in acharge of the company We can't afford to get a third party in between us. The contract term will last for five years So," he smiled as he made the suggestion – Avery Robinson should be in charge for five years." * Alright, Sir We will do that,' she responded.

Grey nodded severally and hung up He pulled up in the parking lot.

Two big trucks were in front of the company and dispatching some boxes Maria rushed to Grey "Good morning, boss. The materials are here" Grey nodded, "What about the interview?" He started inside the company while Maria followed "Done boss, I found the perfect secretary and accountant for you You could test them if you like Grey waved a hand, it's not necessary. I trust that you will do a great job.

Maria followed him to the office. She dipped into her pocket for Grey's card.

"Here sir. I forgot to return this to you." Grey took it from her, just as a soft knock sounded on the door "Yes, come in," he invited and turned to look at Maria again. "The engineers should proceed. I will come over to their department soon Maria nodded. We will do that immediately." "When are we delivering?" Maria looked over at the lady that just walked in. "When are we going for the installation?"

The lady flipped through the file in her hand." Wednesday." Maria nodded and looked back at Grey. "She's your new secretary Grey nodded briefly "You are dismissed. You should supervise the boxes." Maria nodded briefly and stepped out Grey looked down at her tag Her name was Tina "let's go to the engineering department," he instructed and walked out while Tina tagged along He entered the big building and found that everyone was busy already More of the boxes were being stored. It looked as though Maria ordered them in excess Well, it would be very useful later on The team supervisor looked up, saw Grey, and hurried forward "Good morning Boss "Morning. I can see that you guys are working hard already How many are you making?" "Maria said it's 100 Hundred? Can you finish that up before Wednesday?" The man shrugged "We will try our best" Grey nodded slightly. "If you can do that, you will all get something from me You should all work out to make this a success!" The man smiled." Thank you, sir." Grey's phone rang suddenly as he was still moving around and checking the effectiveness of his workers "Hello, Avery." "Grey get inside this office at this moment!" Her Voice was hard and there was a hint of anger in them.

Grey feared what Jane had done. "Didn't you get the contract?" "I got it but that's not even the issue. Are you coming to LX corporation or should I come to SU world?" Her tone was something Grey had not heard her use in a while.

Ok, I will come to LX," he barely finished when she hung up.

Grey wondered what was making her so upset She got the contract and she should be happy about it.

He drove out of the company immediately. He soon arrives at Lx corporation He tried to think of what the issue was as she made his way to the secretary "Hi, I'm here to see Avery Robinson Tell her it's Grey Fox." "Grey Fox?" She repeated. She's waiting for you already. That's her office,' she gestured ahead to the door by her left Grey nodded briefly and walked towards the door. He knocked on the door slightly 'It's Grey.' The door opened suddenly. "I thought you changed your mind. I was already on my way to your company." she revealed and turned back.

Grey gathered his brows. He didn't just understand what was happening ') rushed here as fast as I could What happened?

She dipped his hand into her bag and stretched the phone to him "What the fuck is this? Why is Caramel holding you so close and you also had your arm around her?"

Secretly The Billionaire Boss by Debbie chocolate Chapter 56-Hercules membership card Grey stared down at the picture on Avery's phone It was the image of when he was speaking to her and had his hand on her shoulders And there were more pictures. It looks like whoever had sent the images really did a great job taking every shot Grey looked up at Avery and raised skeptical brows. "Is there more to the picture?" His voice was calm and he didn't seem bothered by it Avery scoffed, "No. you tell me, Grey Why is Caramel your girlfriend for the party?"

Grey sighed I have no idea what you are talking about because as far as I'm concerned, you gave Caramel the permission to take me out, even without discussing it with me," he took a step closer and placed the phone in her hands.

"I don't really have time for this. I need to get to work as fast as possible Avery felt a quick rush of adrenaline and a stab of annoyance "You are not going anywhere, Grey We are not done talking." she complained with an expression as hard as a rock i said Caramel could take you out because she said you knew about it and you had something to help her with Why was no one telling me you had to be her boyfriend 1007 Grey regarded her for a moment "Why does this upset you so much?" Avery released an exasperated sigh "I am angry because you are misbehaving You are married, yet you go around chasing girls? Are you having a crush on my friend? Are you trying to have her as well?" Avery ascertained that she felt totally annoyed at what was really happening Grey sighed again “When do you start getting worked up about my love life?

The last time I checked, you cared less You even told me we aren’t married Why should you be concerned now?” He complained * Seriously? Does that give you the audacity to mess with my friend? She snarled “If you try any bullshit with her?” Grey hit his forehead slightly in frustration. He took in a deep breath and turned to look at Avery again – Did she tell you I did bullshit with you? Why are you so concerned?” You are my husband! That’s why! She yelled, startling Grey for a moment Grey blinked once, then twice. “What?” “Yes! She affirmed “You are my husband You belong to me and no one else you are not supposed to cheat because we are in this marriage. If you are so desperate to cheat. You can assist by finalizing the divorce,’ she opined Grey couldn’t believe his ears. “I’m not supposed to cheat?” There was a teasing smile on his face ‘Going out also amounts to cheating right? Then why did you go out with Chris? You can share his bed but I’m not allowed to do that?’ He was equally as angry, his anger matching Avery’s.

“Nor Avery yelled back, unwilling to succumb. “I didn’t share his bed and I definitely didn’t go out with him I returned home yesterday after I left the company with Grandpa,” she explained in an angry tone. Her voice was raised above normal and her face was almost as red as fury, Grey blinked once. He didn’t even know why she was explaining to him.

Though, he felt good that nothing was going on between her and Chris But she clearly spelled it out when they were at home There was no need for her to twist every word. She simply told him that she didn’t want him and that they were not married “Really?” Grey gave her a round of applause, with a smile. “Congrats. You lied to me and you won the award,” he became sober again. “I just don’t know why you had to make such a lie. What were you hoping to get?” Avery huffed. “But that doesn’t give you the audacity to have a girlfriend while we are married. What if my mother hears about this?” Grey scoffed, unbelievably. He watched her for a moment. “Are you kidding?

What will your mother obviously say? Wasn’t she the one match-making you with Chris? Why would she think differently about what I’ve just done? Isn’t she so incorrigible?’ He uttered in a thick voice “What?” She exclaimed softly “How dare you speak of my mother in such a way?” She roared Thanks to the fact that the room was soundproof or everyone would have found out what they were really discussing in the office, a complicated topic at that.

“And so?” He raised skeptical brows. “What did you do when she insulted me for being a useless orphan?”

Avery sighed and pulled off her suit jacket tiredly ‘I sincerely don’t believe I’m having this conversation with you Are you trying to say that you are in a relationship with my best friend?” Grey kept quiet There was no use talking since she seemed convinced already “I don’t care what you think, and I’m telling you exactly what you told me. I have to go now. I’m in the middle of a serious business,” he excused himself quickly Avery got even agitated.” Come back here, Grey! Don’t you dare leave!” She ordered but Grey was already walking out of the office. The door went shut before she could say more She didn’t want to follow him because it would look weird as she held an important position in the company but she couldn’t stop feeling so annoyed She yelled several times to calm down Grey rushed out of the company angrily. He wondered, however, who could have taken the pictures As he got inside the car, he placed a call to Caramel and she picked it up immediately.

“Hi, Grey, her lively voice boomed “Hi, Caramel Have you gotten through with your friend? Someone gave us off and sent some pictures of us to her. Now, she thinks I’m in a relationship with you,” he explained Caramelsighed. “I will speak with her immediately,” she assured and the line went off The time flew so fast that Grey hated it. He didn’t want to go home yet. He didn’t even want to enter another argument with Avery Instead, he drove straight to his house This time, he made sure he wasn’t followed. He got down, locked his door and his gaze searched around again before he went inside the house He decided to use the opportunity to check what was in the files He look one and realized that it consists of different cards, which Charles told him held a significant amount of money. It looked like his father was busy making his future life easier.

The second file actually contained his father’s card. He rubbed on the card and wished his father could still be alive He missed him so much.

The last file held just two cards. It held two black membership cards of Hercules One had an inscription of ‘Hercules’ on it while the other held his name in bold letters. ‘GREY FOX MICHAEL .

Secretly The Billionaire Boss by Debbie chocolate Chapter 57-Sack the boss?

Grey actually thought only Alfred had membership cards. He didn’t know that Hercules had his.

Well, he heard from Charles that his father had a lot of businesses. With the card, he could get anything for free. A smile appeared on his face when he remembered that Avery's birthday was near and he didn't even have any clothes to wear. He might have to visit any of Hercules' stores later on. Not that he doesn't have the money obviously, it was something that he wanted to enjoy. Even though he doesn't know if the relationship between him and Avery will get better by then. Her birthday was just in a week.

Grey pulled the small iron box to himself. Since he wasn't really busy, he might use the opportunity to go through his father's assets. The files on top were arranged differently. When he perused them, he realized that it was about his father's shares in other companies. He couldn't believe his eyes. His father owns a lot of companies but he still has shares in other companies. He decided to read through perhaps he might see companies that he recognized. His eyes went wide at the name on number ten. It was none other than Seth's company, the KK corporation where Nora worked at. And his father had 70% shares. He had never imagined that the proud Smith had Hercules as his godfather.

Imagine him trampling on the Grey Fox but using Hercules's wealth behind him. Seth has no courtesy. Grey shook his head in pity. Seth doesn't know that he could hurt him and well, he would. Since it was Seth that sent the men to deal with him, he would also deal with him. Grey placed a call to Charles immediately. Charles picked it up after the second ring, "Hi Grey. His voice was thick and cool. He sounded as if he was initially sleeping.

"I'm very sorry for disturbing you but I need an answer real quick, I saw that my father has shares in some companies. How can I get across 10 someone from these companies?" * Well, that will be through me. I've been running the errands on behalf of you all these years," he explained and yawned. "And well, don't ask me. I was the one that signed in your stead but it was mainly because of business," he added quickly.

Grey smiled as a bulb went off in his head. "Then, I have an assignment for you.

"There's a company here that I would like to have my shares withdrawn from." * Really?" Charles' voice sounded clearer now. "What company is that? And may I get the details sent to me through email?"

'Sure, I will do that now It's KK corporation," Grey revealed Alright, I will be in the city as early as possible." Good," Grey bided him and hung up Grey woke up to his ringing phone. It stopped almost immediately.

He took the phone and checked through. He had missed calls from Avery, Caramel, and even Maria What time was it? 8:00 am Grey mentally yelled as he rushed into the bathroom. How did he wake up so late?

He had to take one of his old suits as his expensive suits were at Robinson's house He rushed out of the house with his black membership card and his debit card It was 9:00 am when he drove out of his apartment. At around 10 am, he got to work However, as he stepped inside the company, he started to hear some whispers and they seemed to be about him.

"He's coming this way! One of the workers muttered as Grey walked closer to the elevator The workers would stiff and greet him whenever he walked past them while others would pretend as if they were talking about something else.

He didn't hear them clearly and he couldn't even make out anything from what they were saying Though. he knew it could be because of his lateness He entered the elevator and his phone rang again. It was Maria this time "I am in the office already, why is she calling me?" He complained and ignored the call Just as Grey stepped out of the elevator, his phone rang again He sighed and decided to pick it up. However, it stopped ringing again.

"Good morning sir," Maria said suddenly, startling him for a moment Grey looked up at her and smiled. "Good morning Why have you been disturbing me with your calls?" Maria sighed. You came late and Jane has been waiting for you," she stated Grey raised skeptical brows at her "Why?" Maria regarded him for a moment, "You are about to get fired," she revealed with a roll of her eyes Grey was still not getting it." What do you mean by that?" Just as Maria opened her mouth to say something else, her phone rang She picked it up and turned away "Alright, we will be there soon,' she hung up and whirled towards Grey again. "Jane is in the lobby It was at this moment that he realized what was really happening. Jane wanted to disgrace him in front of the workers and then sack him but he wondered who had put her to the job.

Could it be Seth?

In the elevator, Grey typed some messages to Jane but left them hanging The message would get delivered to her whenever he pressed the 'send' button but he wanted to know the steel that Jane was made of "Wonderfull Jane clasped her palms together as Grey walked into the lobby Jane was slowly walking closer “You came late and you dared to walk so calmly?” She pointed out and stopped walking. Her shoulders were raised proudly and a smirk across her face The workers moved closer slowly, each wanting to know what Jane’s decision would be “Good morning I’m sorry but I slept off,” Grey opined.

Jane scoffed.” As if I’m concerned about your cock and bull story? I don’t believe you resumed work in less than a week and you are acting like the boss,’ she snarled. The lone of her voice made the other workers shudder in fear Well, everyone has always feared Jane Her voice was like the law whenever Hercules’ company was concerned.

“Why haven’t you sack him?” A rich baritone voice came out suddenly and everyone gasped. Seth walked closer to them.

What are you waiting for now? You should let him go home now,” he added.

Grey wasn’t surprised, he just wasn’t expecting that Seth would pursue him to the end of the world The good news was that he was ahead of him already. If only he knew_ Secretly The Billionaire Boss by Debbie chocolate Chapter 58-hatched plan Seth was really angry at the embarrassment that Grey gave him at the cinema building. That day, he had to hurry home in anger, he even left Nora behind and told her to get home on her own.

He started to think of a way to deal with Grey. Well, he knew that Grey was only trying to disgrace him for taking Nora from him.

Anyways, he knew that he had to deal with Grey. So, he paid some street thugs to kidnap Grey and punish him. They were supposed to beat him and make him miss work so that he would be punished at work as well.

It would have worked perfectly fine if the idiots’ men hadn’t come back fearfully.

They told him that Grey was skilled martially and they couldn’t handle him.

So, he decided to look for another way He got to find out from the men where Grey worked Fortunately for him, he was familiar with Jane So, he met with Jane as well as some workers in SÜ world. He told them some nasly things about Grey and made a deal with Jane The deal was easy Jane was supposed to sack Grey and let him return to the mud “What is happening here?” Grey asked, feigning surprise. He smiled within himself. Well, he suspected that Seth was the man behind the attack and also behind Jane’s new behavior Jane’s face went red all of a sudden, and a wry line formed on her lips “What did you just say? Who is that question directed at? Me or Mr. Seth?” * He’s obviously referring to you,” Seth informed “I told you that he lacks manners. Well, why won’t he? He’s just a useless orphan,” he added, with a pleasing smile “Well, that’s being said,” Jane turned towards Seth with a bright smile on her face ‘Thank you, Mr. Seth, for informing us about this. I really appreciate you,” she turned towards Grey again. And you are hereby fired! She announced in a voice louder than her normal one.

Everyone started murmuring immediately There was a smirk on Seth’s face as he regarded Grey He seemed pleased with the outcome if only he knew what was coming toward him.

Seth wanted to say something but the ringing of his phone pulled a stop to it. He retrieved his phone and looked up at Jane “I need to take this, it’s very important,” he said quickly and took some steps away from them Grey used the distraction to send the message he had typed “So, your work here is done, she announced again.

Grey nodded briefly.” But I can get my things from the office, right?” Sure,’ Jane shrugged briefly “Maria should go with him and make sure he doesn’t steal anything from the office,’ she declared and turned to leave Grey scotled and turned around as well.

Just before Jane entered her car, the message popped up on her phone. It was a message from Hercules Jane Fidgetted as she read through the message Charles hinted to her who Grey really was Thal aside, she knew about the mafia group which Hercules headed And she was scared he might sack her considering the fact that he even heard the conversation she made with Charles But she wondered how Hercules knew about Grey Fox “I need to use the toilet please unless you want to come with me,” Grey told Maria so that he could have some privacy to himself Mana sighed with defeat ‘It’s ok I’m going to leave the office for you. You can have the space to yourself Just make sure you are ready in twenty minutes,’ she declared and left Grey entered the toilet nonetheless It doesn’t take anything to be careful. He placed a call to Jane and she picked it up immediately “Hello, Boss,” her voice shook with tremor Grey scoffed I heard you just fired Grey is that right?” Jane went silent for a moment as if she was trying to think of what to say “Yes, I did but he was_ “Withdraw your order!” Grey said quickly, interrupting her *8_but,” she stutered “Grey isn’t the kind of man you think He’s not competent to be your manager He_.” * And are you competent?” He asked in a thick voice, cutting her off again Jane let out another sigh It was vivid that she was scared of Hercules “Listen to my word because I won’t repeat it, Grey stated and Jane went silent See Grey as your life, Jane 11 he loses his job, you will lose your job as well Whatever happens to Grey in that company, will happen to you as well,” he explained, calmly Boss?” Yes, Jane i sent him to that company privately He’s representing me there So, if you love yourself, make sure he stays,” he finished and hung up before Jane would even think of saying anything, Grey smiled, satisfied by his action Then, he walked out of the toilet and picked up his suitcase He met Maria outside his office There was a pitying look on her face “I’m sorry Grey” Grey nodded briefly and proceeded into the elevator He acted as if he was pained Well, he was and Jane would have to apologize in front of SU world workers or he wouldn’t concur A message came in from Jane It read, ‘On it, Boss’ Good’ And Grey smiled again, feeling victorious Just as he stepped into the lobby, the first person he saw was Jane She was looking strangely timid and anxious He ignored her and took a long strde past her “Grey! Jane called him suddenly He pulled to a stop and turned to look at her “I didn’t steal anything, Maria can testify to it,” he defended innocently Jane sighed, and her facial expression was suddenly hard to read. “I want to tell you to stay,’ she whispered as if she didn’t want anyone to hear her Grey regarded her for a moment ‘Why should I do that? You sacked me a few minutes ago, didn’t you?” Jane let out another sigh as she contemplated how to go about it. She felt awful that she had to do something like this but she leared losing her job She has gained a high reputation from working with Protos Pubblicita and she didn’t want to lose it. “I know, I did but something happened and now, you are staying,’ she jibed, still trying to maintain her bossy position Grey watched her for another moment and realized that she wasn’t at all regretful of her action. I’m not interested! If you won’t sack me, then I will resign!” He said with determination Jane’s head made a bang. “What did you just say?” “Exactly what you’ve heard,” he finished and whirled around quickly to leave.

1 “Grey!” Jane called after him quickly but Grey continued to walk He was going to frustrate her as she had frustrated him “I will apologize!” She screamed suddenly desperately. She couldn’t let Grey walk out of the company Her voice pulled Grey to a stop. That aside, the workers were already attracted by her voice and wondered what was happening.

“Well, the mighty Jane doesn’t apologize! What was making her rethink?’ Everyone murmured and even Maria couldn’t help but think about it as well.

Secretly The Billionaire Boss by Debbie chocolate Chapter 59-Payback
Meanwhile, Seth couldn’t stay at SU world any longer.

He got a call from his secretary that Charles was around and that it was really important because he had some information to deliver from Hercules Seth felt even more important at the fact that Hercules could communicate with him. He actually wanted to get close to Hercules so that he could get the Hercules membership card.

Aside from the fact that there were discounts whenever he shopped at Hercules’ stores, there was also this great importance attached to the card. It was like holding a rare gem Seth couldn’t really bid Jane goodbye as he was in a hurry He decided to give her a call whenever he was less busy Well, Jane would have sacked Grey by then, that he was sure about Maybe at that, Grey would eventually know where his stance was.

“Did Miss Jane just say that? A lady whispered in shock “I heard that too or I might have said something is wrong with your ears,’ another lady added quickly The workers were no longer focusing on work and some of them were even finding a reason to work inside the lobby They desperately wanted to hear what was happening Grey stopped walking but he didn’t turn around When Jane saw that he was being hesitant, she walked to him She stepped in front of him with an unclear expression.

“I received an order from the Boss that you are permitted to stay,” she started and swallowed harder as if the words were being forced out of her mouth “And I want to apologize to you Grey sighed. “You should get your facts straight before you accuse anyone How did you know Seth was telling the truth?

Jane’s eyes went wide in shock” I didn’t know it was Hercules that gave you the assignment.” she whispered, then looked around to be sure no one was listening to them.

The workers turned around and tried to act as if they were not listening to them Jane cleared her throat. “Anyways, I’m so sorry. Please, don’t let us argue in the future And you can tell me if you need my assistance,” she rushed anxiously She still felt angry at herself that she was apologizing to someone so low than her but she had to do it “Can you go back to work now?” She asked, softly Grey took in several breaths “Fine, no problem” Jane managed a smile. She was surprised about who Grey was. If it was someone else, he might act bossy over her because he was closer to Hercules "Just set your facts straight, before you accuse anyone again," he advised and stretched out his briefcase "Where's my secretary?" He asked, in a loud voice, "Boss! Tina rushed forward immediately and took the briefcase from him Jane took in another deep breath as she felt another surge of anger. "I will leave them. You can continue managing the company but just don't mess with my business, she pointed out and whirled around without another word She walked majestically out of the company.

A round of applause filled the air.

"Wow! The boss took the big Jane down! Immediately One of the men jubilated, with a wide smile on his face Everyone was happy and shocked. At least, their boss was someone of high importance.

Seth rushed inside the KK corporation. Charles was in his office, waiting patiently.

"Good morning, Mr. Charles." Seth stretched out his hand for a handshake Charles took it with a smile. Good morning." "Please, sit," Seth offered and indicated at the seat in front of him.

He sat and watched Charles do the same "So, why are you here exactly?" He was excited 11 Charles regarded him for a moment and slowly nodded "Actually, Hercules sent you a gift," he revealed and unzipped the briefcase At the news, Seth felt elated. Hercules has been supporting his company for two years. It was only normal if he invited him to join his membership. What if Hercules had sent him the membership card? Well, he deserved it.

'Should i get you something? Coffee or tea?" He blurted out anxiously The day was really the best of his day 'No, I will pass. I don't want to spend any more minutes here than I have spent," Charles responded as he flipped through the documents in his briefcase He finally picked a file and pulled it out Seth's expression changed immediately after Charles stretched the paper to him. He didn't know what the paper was about but it was obviously not a membership card. And it made him feel bad.

He took it nevertheless and read through.

His eyes went wide and dark with shock "W_what is this?" He stuttered and it felt like his heart seized for a moment.

Charles smiled. "Well, Hercules is withdrawing his shares." "What!" Seth yeeed all of a sudden. He couldn't believe his ears or his eyes.

Perhaps they were playing tricks on him. He read through the words on the file again and it felt like his heart would stop beating any moment from that time.

"Why? Why would he do that?" He looked up at Charles, with an expression gone rugged. "We've been in this contract for two years. Why will he withdraw now?"

"He sent you something else," Charles announced and pulled out his phone. He strolled through the messages until he was at Hercules's recent messages.

Seth stared down at the phone and read it aloud. "Look beyond what you see." Seth looked up at Charles again, with skeptical brows. "What's all this about?" Charles pulled back his phone. The shares were bought from you. Hercules is offering to sell it back to you, he acknowledged. "What?" Seth was still very shocked. "Why would he do that? We had an agreement. I was supposed to buy my shares when I have the capability to do so," he uttered, fearful.

Charles smiled. "This is absolutely nothing to bother yourself about. It's your company, Seth, and you've just received the opportunity to make it entirely yours," he got up at once and his expression transformed into a dark frown.

"Buy the 70% share in two weeks or face the consequences!" He muttered and walked out of the office without another word. Seth felt the world crumble down on him. How was he supposed to do something like that?

Secretly The Billionaire Boss by Debbie chocolate Chapter 60-Prioritize It was lunch break and Grey decided to eat at one of Hercules' restaurants. It was time to start using his membership card. A soft knock sounded on the door as Grey was putting the files together. He hesitated and looked up, yes, come in. Maria walked inside with a document. "Here's the total materials on the ground," she declared and placed the documents on the table in front of him. It also includes the materials we brought on Monday. That aside, the engineers were able to gather 20 surveillance cameras yesterday," she announced. "Wow!" Grey felt impressed. That's great. If they could come up with 20 more today or perhaps double their hustle and come up with 30. We will be able to deliver tomorrow," he observed. "Yes," Maria nodded briefly. "Though, we could deliver by 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. So, even if they didn't finish it today. They could round it off tomorrow before we leave for delivery Grey thought about it briefly and gave a short nod of his head. "Nice, I'm glad that you are really doing your job as a supervisor It's lunchtime, I'm on my way out So, let's talk after I'm back," he informed and grabbed his phone Maria nodded again. "You are going to the restaurant, can I tag along?" She wondered aloud Grey stared at her for a moment. You want us to go together?" Maria smiled and nodded quickly "I will really appreciate it Maria realized that Grey was someone very important. Somehow, she could see it without even investigating it. It was the only reason behind Jane's change of mind, Grey shrugged, surrendering to her request. "It's alright. Let's go." Maria got inside the car and marveled at the inner decorations She couldn't help but think the car was worth a lot of money, At first, when Grey first came to work, she had thought he was one useless man but her thoughts concerning him were slowly changing "So, where are we going?" She asked suddenly as the car took a left turn '5stars Restaurant,' he responded and pulled to a stop in front of the restaurant.

He looked over to Maria and noted the surprised look on her face "Are you coming?" Maria couldn't talk and instead nodded 5 stars is one of the most popular and great restaurants in the city Its foods are top-notch and very expensive. Whoever can afford the food is very rich, unless it's the membership card the person is using Well, getting the membership card wasn't an easy thing Maria and Grey walked inside the enormous building and marveled at the lobby Does the restaurant have a lobby? 11 seemed like 5stars was designed to be one of the best. Also, seats were always booked according to how early or how rich someone is.

"Look at who we have here, Cindy proclaimed suddenly Grey craned his neck to look at who the speaker was "Grey?" Philip called with a smile "Do you know that Grey was fired? Cindy stated amazingly and pulled Kevin closer to herself. She seemed to be having a huge crush on him, maybe that was why she was always lying to him *Seriously? So, he's back as a delivery man?" There was a teasing smile on Kevin's face and a funny tone in his voice Mana looked back at Grey, with confusion. "What is happening?" "Nothing, just let's focus on why we are here. We have a lot of things to do in the office, remember? Grey whispered to Maria But why is Grey in this type of restaurant? Can you afford it? Or is it going to be from Avery's money?" Philip bombarded Grey.

Grey turned to him." How I will afford it shouldn't be of your concern." Cindy laughed. *The boy is trying to talk I guess he found his voice back recently,' she sneered The waiter moved closer to Kevin. Welcome, sir. I received a call that someone important was coming over I guess it's you. Please, follow me."

Cindy looked at Grey and pulled out her tongue at him. She felt satisfied and happy. "I think you have it all wrong. Grey said suddenly just as they were about to turn and walk away. "The person you are expecting isn't Kevin, it's What the fuck are you saying?" Philip barked up. Greg brought out his phone. "Here, you should check my number, and then, you can confirm." The waiter regarded Grey for a moment, then he moved closer to him. She took the phone and gave it to the receptionist. The receptionist took a while, then looked up again. "Yes, he's right. Mr Grey made a reservation here some hours ago," she confirmed. Grey smiled and took his phone. "So, I should be attended to."

"No, it doesn't matter. We got here before him," Cindy insisted, with a flicker of annoyance. Kevin looked at her. "Calm down, alright," then he looked up at the waiter. "We will be getting a VIP table. We have a Hercules membership card." The waiter's eyes went wide and dark with shock. "You do?" Kevin nodded and brought out the gold membership card. "Here." Cindy smiled, pleased. Then, she looked at Grey. "The boy is trying to spend his wife's money but he doesn't know how things work here." The waiter turned to look at Grey. "I'm sorry Mr. Grey but we will have to attend to Mr. Kevin before we come back to you," she explained softly. Philip laughed. "The useless fool is trying to compete with Kevin. He doesn't dare." Maria looked at Grey again, skeptical of what was really happening.

"I have a card too." Grey said suddenly, shocking everyone again. Maria looked at Grey. "Did you say that you have a membership card?" She asked, surprised. She heard about the card but she has not been able to see it. Grey nodded at her, then he got his black card out of his pocket. "Here's my membership card." "A black membership card? It was the receptionist that noticed. There was a shock in her eyes as she stared. "I'm sure he stole the card from somewhere," Cindy hinted.

"Yes. Even though he did. I'm sure the gold card is way higher than the black card," Philip added quickly, with pride. The waiter rushed forward and took the card from Grey. Then, she read the name on it. "The name on it was Grey Fox." "I'm sorry but the black card surpasses the gold one," the Receptionist declared, shocking everyone again.

"What? Is it a real card? I mean I have never seen a black Hercules membership card," Kevin articulated. The waiter shrugged. "It's a limited card and only the best members are offered this card. And, it had his name on it. So, you will have to excuse me," he looked at Grey, with a nice smile on his lips. "I'm sorry sir, can we go sir? I will show you to your table." Kevin was shocked. His card was passed down to him by his father. So, how come the black card has an inscription of Grey's name on it? Philip was more than shocked while Cindy felt a sudden stab of annoyance.
