Seduced by My Childhood Sweetheart's Brother

After Jasmine finished her sentence, tears welled up in her eyes, making her look extra vulnerable. Who could resist her charm?

However, her sweet words did not work on me. Friends did not meet up at night half-naked. For the acting she had done today, she deserved to win the Best Actress Award.

How dare she still claim to be innocent? She bared her shoulders, and her chest was barely covered. And her legs were wide open, ready to ensnare whichever man that approached her. I did not imagine all that.

She had no guts to own up to what she had done. Coward!

The anger I had been suppressing finally burst out like a volcano.

"I'm accusing you of something you didn't do? Explain to me then, Jasmine. Why was your bathrobe half undone? Don't tell me that the belt wasn't working. What about your exposed shoulders? What about your bare legs?

"If you can convince me, I'll apologize to you. Then, I'll ask Colin to keep you company every night. Deal?"

Jasmine's face turned ashen, and she no longer withheld the contempt in her. "Who the fuck do you think you are? Why should I justify my actions to you? I invited Colin here. It has nothing to do with you. Get lost. GET LOST! You're not welcome here."

The well-mannered, elegant Jasmine finally showed her true colors when her seduction trap failed miserably. She couldn't win the argument against me, so she tried to kick me out. Gone was her class.

I was still mad and ready to retaliate. However, Colin came to me and pulled me by my shoulder. He shook his head disapprovingly, asking me to stop talking.

"Why not? Am I in the wrong?" I tried to swat Colin's hand away, but I failed. He trapped me with all his strength so that I couldn't break free. "Let go of me! Are you defending her now?"

I hollered.

Why was Colin defending a hypocrite like Jasmine?

This was the first argument I had with Colin throughout 23 years of my life. I shouted at him and got mad for the first time.

I knew every relationship had a rocky start, but I hated this. I took out my mental note and erased all the flowers I gave him. Then, I revoked his status as my probational boyfriend.

He went to see a half-naked woman late at night. That was not boyfriend material.

I was upset and angry. I crossed my arms indignantly, but I swallowed all my tears. I could cry later but definitely not in front of Jasmine.

Colin tightened his arms and pulled me toward his chest. "Jasmine, I'm very disappointed in you today. Let me reiterate. I have a girlfriend, and I'll only marry Luna in my life. I will never ever fall for anyone else.

"I told you that many years ago, and I'm telling you the same thing now. I hope you'll remember this and never make the same mistake again. Otherwise, I won't forgive you."

Jasmine stared at Colin in shock for a while before breaking down in tears. She sobbed and uttered resentfully, "Colin, I love you so much. I'm willing to die for you. Why won't you notice me? Why? What's so good about Luna? Why are you so loyal to her?"

Sheesh.

Didn't she tell me that they were friends? Suddenly, she confessed that she was in love with him. Women sure changed their minds like they changed their clothes. What were truths and lies anymore?
