

Part Twelve

Serena's POV

I wake up, once again, in daddy's arms. I quickly realize that I woke up before him again. I feel guilty because the day before yesterday, he spent most of his day working. Then yesterday, we spent the whole day together. I just didn't want to get in the way of his normal routine and stu .

But I somehow manage to shu le my way out of his arms and I walk into my bathroom to do my morning routine.

When I look in the mirror, I notice that Roman put my bonnet on for me last night. We were up late last night watching Netflix, I forced him to rewatch Vampire Diaries with me. I smile when I think about how thoughtful he is, I love him so much.

đ

A er I was my face and brush my teeth, I take o my bonnet and put my curls into a messy, low bun and leave some curls to frame my face.

I walk out of my bathroom to see he's still sleep, so I go downstairs into the kitchen to see my mom.

" Buenos Días, mi amor"
[Good morning, my love]

"Good morning, mama."

" ¿Quieres ayudarme a hacer el desayuno?
[do you want to help me make breakfast?]

I nod in response and make my way over to her. I notice that she's making revoltillo/revoltillo de huevos.

I see the freshly baked uncut bread and I make my way to cut it. While we're making breakfast, we're talking and lowkey being chismosas. [slang for gossipers]

Then, Farrah walks down the steps, tightly holding Roman's hand, leading him to the kitchen.

I smile at the sight of the two of them.

Roman smiled when he sees me, but then greets my mom, " Buenos días, señora!

My mom greets him back but then looks at me with wide eyes. I'm shocked, too.

" Estoy intentando aprender español!#He explains also in Spanish. [Im trying to learn Spanish]

đ

" Él es tan dulce' My mom smiles.
[he's so sweet]

My mom and I quickly finish making the food, now we're eating at the table and talking.

"I didn't know you were learning Spanish." I said to Roman, who was sitting next to me.

"When I met your mom, I noticed that she understood more English than she could speak it. So, I wanted to break that language barrier." đ

My eyes water a bit at his statement. I kiss his cheek and say, "You're so sweet. Now I feel bad because I haven't thought about learning Russian. But to be fair, you don't speak in your native language that much to me." I pout in realization.

Daddy grabs my thigh and says, "Don't be a brat, malys'h" I stop pouting.
[baby]

"I only ever speak Russian when I'm at work or when I'm with my family. But, if you want me to speak more Russian around you, then I will." Then he leaned closer and gripped my thigh harder and spoke in a husky voice, " No ne rasstraivaysya, kogda ya govoryu tebe, kak sil'no ya khochu tebya trakhnut', poka ty ne perestanesh' khodit' . I ty ne ponimayesh'

[but, dont get upset when I tell you how much I want to fuck you until you can't walk anymore. And you don't understand]

đ

I didn't understand what he said in Russian, but it was probably something inappropriate. I look over to see Farrah and my mom having an animated conversation.

I got flustered at daddy's words, even though I didn't understand them. Just his voice alone, was enough to make me clench my thighs and get shy.

I am at Karina's house, in her room, and we're watching a random movie.

Daddy had to work today and I had plans with the girls today, too. So, he dropped me o at his house, and he went to work. But, he didn't leave without a small make out session.

Now, we were both waiting for Aisha and Jade to come over so we can figure what we want to do today.

But then, Karina got an unexpected jolt of excitement.

"Omg! I forgot you and my brother were dating! How is that going so far? Give me all the details!" She said, excited.

I smiled at the thought of Roman, "He treats me so well and I'm so happy." I go into detail and tell her everything that's been going on, minus the things that happened in his car, in front of a certain apartment building.

I want to tell her that I already fell in love with him, but I'm afraid she'll judge me because it's so soon. This thought makes me think about how fast we're moving.

Have I let him in too easy? thought. We already did some stu together, what if he thinks I'm a.l.try to get the irrational thought out of my head as Karina and I continue to talk.

But maybe I should tell Roman I think we're moving too fast.
