

Shadow 1121

Chapter 1121 - Internal Problem Of The Republic

At the same time, that the World Government had received the news of Death Monarch sudden departure from Earth, Boris who was at Moscow also receive the news

It has now been an hour since Death Monarch had leave the world. And in the span of only one hour, the world seems to boiling over.

The world power all received the news. And moves are being made. Things that one did not dare to do when that dark figure sit on his throne in Pandemonium is being employed right now.

Those who looks at the sky with trepidation could now breathe a little bit easier.

The rats and the cockroaches hiding in the dark went out to feel the sun.

And while they are people who is overjoyed with this figure who gave them so much pressure departing from Earth, there are also as many people that are worried about what will happen now that he is gone.

No one knows how long he would be gone and whether he would even come back. But everyone knows "that person" would surely leave some kind of countermeasures to protect the people he loves.

The pressure then fell to the other great powers.

Boris after receiving the news was in a daze for a second. He closes his eyes and he thought of his sister.

In this world, there is not many people that he could say confidently that he loves.

But if he loves someone in this world, it is his sister.

He had protected her all of this time.

And knowing that she is getting stronger and braver, it only adds his trepidation.

Because he could no longer protects her.

He used to be able to take the beating of their father.

That is how he had protected her. He protected her innocence when his father tries to do dirty things.

He had grown big and strong because he wanted to protect his little sister. And he is merciless when it is against people who would try to harm his sister half of his life is dedicated in protecting her, the only light in his life, his only family. There is scars on his back, the lashes of a belt, the proof of his protection.

He sighed.

But those scars slowly fade.

And in this new world, this world of gods and deities, of demons and devils, of immortal beings and mystical creature, it is his sister that had protected her.

It seems purity, innocence had some value.

What takes others years to understand, she only needed one third of that time. That is her sister.

The strongest woman in the world

It is very easy for his sister to thrive in this world. Boris doesn't know how to feel about this change of role.

They have each other back. But that was before her sister met that damn Death Monarch. He doesn't know what kind of spell Death Monarch uses to make his sister so hopelessly in love with that man.

She uses her life to protect that man. And he doesn't like that

Boris shake his head.

'I told her.... I told her not to get close with that man'

Personally before Death Monarch is entangled with his sister, he had nothing against the man. He admires people who are strong.

Because he himself is strong.

He admires people who overcame their adversity because he is also like that.

And he always like the enemy of his enemy.

When he read the report of Lord Shadow messing up World Government plan, he was very happy. However, that feeling change when Death Monarch is entangled with his sister.

Maybe, all brothers are like this.

They would never like the man that their younger sister likes.

Or maybe it is just him. he would not mind Death Monarch getting together with his sister if he was any other man.

Maybe he would still object, the obligatory hazing of his younger sister boyfriend and then he would approve.

But the man that his sister seems to love so much is the strongest person in the world. Boris could not even try to haze such a man.

That is a man whose every moves shakes the world. If one day, Death Monarch mistreated his sister, how could he seek justice?

And his sister is the strongest woman in the world.

That sound like an invincible combo.

But to Boris it sounds like an advertisement for attracting danger. If there is one thing Boris wanted for his sister, it is that his sister would live a happy and peaceful life.

And not only Death Monarch is the farthest person from the definition of safe and peaceful, he even rejected his sister.

So, he is now filled with complicated feeling that he had to rely a man that he now personally dislikes to save his sister.

He rubs his forehead with his finger, massaging his temple.

'I hope my sister trust in you is deserved' he thought to himself.

Then he reads another report.

This report also detailed possible explanation of why Death Monarch suddenly changes the schedule of his departure.

Most of the world leaders knew that Death Monarch would depart on the sixth day. That is the consensus and that is the understanding of all the great powers.

To the world, Death Monarch was in seclusion for four days before breaking out of seclusion.

Some people said that Death Monarch had break through to Essence Creation.

Some said, he did not.

But since there is only two other people in the world that could discern the state of Death Monarch true prowess and these two people did not speak a word about it, no one really knows whether Death Monarch break through to Essence Creation or he had failed in his breakthrough.

Nobody even knows whether Death Monarch went into seclusion to breakthrough to the next realm or if he just wanted to familiarize his body with his new realm.

He frowned as he reads the report. Some of the possible reason for Death Monarch sudden departure is not really something that is positive.

'This is making me worried' Right now, what Death Monarch desire is the same as Boris. They wanted Katarina to be safe.

If there is one thing that connects these two men, it is their love for Katarina

Boris is even more anxious than the other world leaders when he heard Death Monarch sudden departure

Death Monarch did not even tell him anything. He does not understand why Death Monarch did not tell him anything and suddenly goes to the Seresian world

Of course, from his perspective it is good that he is going earlier than expected. Yet, at the same time he could not help but feels that something is wrong about all of this.

Jean also did not say anything. Jean had returned and only tell him that Death Monarch had gone to the Seresian world.

But after that, he suddenly disappeared. Jean did not explain it to him why Death Monarch suddenly break his own schedule.

And it is not like he could stop Jean. Even before Jean become a Divine Comprehension leveler, Boris could not order around that man.

Jean once nearly ruled all of Europe by his lonesome. He was as illustrious as Napoleon in the heart of the Frenchman.

You would be surprised that those French who spoke about freedom and revolution all the time, how easy it was for them to bend their knees and kowtowed their head.

Jean gave them power. Gave them security and peace. And there is this sense of nostalgia where the French holds great power over Europe.

Even when he changes sides from the World Government to the Republic and hold position in the Senate, the love of the Frenchman for him is still strong. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

In the Senate, those European Senators look toward him as their leader.

But that did not mean that Boris had no other way. He knows he could not force Jean to do something. But he could persuade that man.

He called someone from his office. Almost five minutes later, his subordinates are in front of him. he is sitting on his chair looking at them.

On top of the table is stack of documents.

He has been having more headache by the minute

Information has been flooding in since the news of Death Monarch departure is now common knowledge all over the world.

Many regional power in Europe has started moving.

Boris knows that there is a chance of a few states and countries under the banner of the Republic that would want to secede.

'This is all of that Archmage fault' he exclaimed.

The subordinate in the room only look down to the ground, looking at the marble-like surface of the office of the Right Chancellor like there is something very interesting carved on the tile.

It is clear that Boris is quite angry right now. he had a thousand worries but no assurance.

The internal matter of the Republic might not be that bad if not for Hikigaya action. At least if Hikigaya did not do what he did, it would not give some ideas to those people

Chapter 1122 - A New And Dangerous Idea

Hikigaya action of breaking off all of his relationship with the World Government had emboldened certain thought of the leaders of many factions.

That is because right now, Empire of Japan is free from the world power. It is like a beacon of a new era.

A few people likened the world powers expansion and rule as the colonial rule during the Age of Discovery.

It is Death Monarch that draws the border of the world, enthroned seven Emperors of the world

Even though each of the great powers never claimed to be Emperors, to the people of the world the leaders of the seven great powers are emperors of the world

Regardless of what slogan these organizations shouted, whether it be freedom, a unified world government, or a republican haven, it did not change the fact that there is a person at the top that rules over those below them.

When Death Monarch gives Lotus Order the legitimacy to control Asia, how many small nations and kingdoms that have to follow the orders of the Lotus Order.

Like those colonial years, the legitimate faction that have been approved by Death Monarch exercise controls over those small nations and kingdoms and take over their resources.

It is the same for the other world powers.

As for the Republic and the World Government, they have been doing it far earlier than those other world powers.

And since then a new idea had sprouted

Some had proposed the idea of a Federation of free cities and states.

They would ally with each other, maintain the stance of neutrality and would not meddle and provoke the world power.

But if the world power meddles with their matters, each alliance member is required to help each other to maintain their freedom to not participate in the wars between the world power.

This thought is now a new thought of ideas.

Most of the people under the great power is always under great pressure. Sometime, they are dragged into a war they did not want to fight.

The secret wars between the great powers usually had the small states and kingdom as their pawns and it is them that suffer.

This discontent had been growing. There are only a few world powers in the world that is not plagued with this problem.

Pandemonium for example did not have this problem. They rarely waged war. But when they do, they always win.

So most people of Pandemonium look at the world with their head held up high, their pride etched into their bones.

Then there is order of Thinkers. the reason that they did not have such problems is merely because they are not qualified to play with the adults in the room.

They have powerful weapons but they lack people like Death Monarch, Raymond or Jean.

And they themselves rarely meddles with the other six great powers affair, content on studying and researching stuff.

As for the other four world power, they are plagued with internal problems. In other words, all of these problems that have been put aside, are now all broken out

The reason why people had been following the rules is because there is a world sheriff. Even though Pandemonium did not intend to become one, but because they were the ones that drafted the Article of Distribution they had to enforces its rule.

Even when Death Monarch is not there, his people would make sure that no one could shake the reputation of Pandemonium.

And during Loki regency, this tendency to interfere in the conflict of the world which he deems violating the articles had made the world think of Pandemonium as the world arbiter.

It is not all bad. After all, with the supervision of Pandemonium, the world had been at peace for six years.

Even though there were some flare ups of war and there is even a few times provocation of war between the great powers it is usually just a farce.

But Death Monarch is not here and the world is now no longer could be seen by the great power.

The world power no longer has the ability to monitor all of their regions and territory.

And with Hikigaya and Oreki exit from the World Government it started a fire that is getting bigger and it is only a matter of time before it is out of control.

He looks at his subordinate that is waiting an order from him. Even with all of this problem, he still has to settle thing about Jean first.

Boris need to know his attitude and he also needs to know about why Death Monarch suddenly went to the Seresian world without informing him

'Go and meet with Time Monarch. Try to get information why Death Monarch suddenly went to the Seresian world'

Then he paused for a second before saying

'Be polite and respectful. Time Monarch is not your average person. With other people he is quite affable and easy to talk to. But with me, with my people, he would play a bit. He would try to provoke you. Whatever you do, don't fall for his bait. Don't give him and excuse to attack you'

His subordinate nodded and then a second later, they all disappeared from his sight. Boris sighed

The World Government and the Republic both make some moves after the departure of Death Monarch and they are not the only one

In Asia, Lotus Order began mobilizing their army the moment they heard that Death Monarch is no longer on Earth

Of course, this army is not to attack Pandemonium. But to prepare for the chaos. Unlike the separated continent of Pandemonium, Asia is full of powerhouses all over.

Lotus Order only has some nominal power in certain region and do not have that much authority on some other areas

Right now the array protection of the Lotus Palace had some discrepancies.

The Arrayist Sage is repairing it right now. Because of Death Monarch many people do things in low profile way. No one wanted to provoke him.

But all around the Lotus Order headquarters, all of warlords in Asia is looking at that Lotus Palace with the eyes of predator.

As for League of Freedom, while other world power makes a move, the League of Freedom seems to do nothing.

Other than reinforcing certain cities and continue with their search and rescue program, they did not seem to do anything out of the ordinary

But the World Government still is quite cautious. The League of Freedom got a lot of information regarding the secret weapon of World Government

South America continent has become so large that it took Narleod a few days to find the people that was scattered during the Multiversal Convergence and bring them back even with the help of all kinds of technology

League of Freedom seems to be silent and did not do anything that might make people become suspicious of them

Storm Tide did not seem to move. Quiet and peaceful, that is the image that South America continent seems to give to the world

Meanwhile on a new continent that is teeming with life and green grass and tall trees, lies a new large city. This city is one of the few large cities around the area.

The sound of construction is never-ending

It is very futuristic and there are many robots that is building it.

In Pandemonium the city of Adern felt like a city of living beings. But this city while beautiful from afar, seems lifeless.

It is filled with robots but there is lack of people

This is the Capital of the Order of Thinker.

In the past the Order of Thinkers did not have such a large city. Unlike some of the other world power, they are the world power with the smallest population

As such, construction of megacities are unnecessary and a waste of resources. At least that was how it is in the past.

The Grand Researcher stands on the balcony of the new research laboratory. She looks at the vast land in front of her and she frowned.

This is Antarctica.

It is hard to believe that the place where she could see the crystal trees is now a vast land of green.

There is still a region of crystal tree but there are even more plants that had never existed on Earth before.

A new mystery to uncover. To the Order of Thinkers this is a godsend.

If there is one regret it was that she never did manage to uncover all the mysteries of Antarctica.

It is hard to plot the land of Antarctica before the expansion. So, most of the places of interest that the Order of Thinkers had researched before seems to have disappeared this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

It is not like they did not do anything to mark these places. But after the expansion, Antarctica changes the most

How many of historical artifacts and secrets is buried under the ice of Antarctica that they would never have been able to know because of the expansion of the world?

That is what made her regret the most.

Even before the Fall, Antarctica is a land of mystery. Most other world power is not interested in the land.

Some fought for Europe. Some fought for Asia and so on and so forth. She did not want those places. She did not want to fight. What she wanted was the knowledge of this new world of magic and mystic.

Some people are just weird like that. Most people want knowledge to achieve something whether it be ultimate power or methods of immortality.

Most human desire knowledge to achieve something. That is what most people felt. A tool to reach their true desire.

Knowledge of weapons so that they could conquer people and nations. Knowledge of medicine so that they could prolonged their life, rid themselves of diseases and death

But she.....she only wanted knowledge for knowledge itself.

Chapter 1123 - Order Of Thinkers Dilemma I

That is the Grand Researcher.

Someone who has a pure intention toward knowledge and truth. It is like someone who read simply because they like the act of reading itself and not for the content of the book.

There are not many people like this in the world.

But they do exist.

People like her. People like Void. People like Rosulka that did not do things according to accepted norm of logical behavior.

'How the world has changed' she said to herself as she sighed. She closes her eyes and think of what had happened years ago

Her people traded very important thing to Pandemonium to get a spot during the World Distribution event thus propelling a small organization of like-minded researchers into one of the global power.

In the past it is a secret organization, a secret society that could only be joined by invitation.

Nowadays, it is not like that anymore.

But most of those who sat on the top is still her compatriot in seeking the knowledge of this world.

She had also received the news of Death Monarch sudden departure.

But unlike the other world power that had to raise their level of alertness because of Death Monarch departure, the Order of Thinkers did not do much other than the usual.

Order of Thinkers did not have many enemies. And they also did not have many internal enemies.

Antarctica after all is not a place that is teeming with native in the first place.

She did not have to fight the established forces in the area because there are no established forces in the area.

Those scientists that was stationed in Antarctica for research purposes before the Fall, most of them die as monsters and beast that appeared during the Fall kills them

So, when she and her people came here, they occupied an empty land. And she did not have to worry about external attack from forces like the Crime Alliance.

Because she still maintains contact with some of her acquaintances in the Crime Alliance. Of course, such thing could not be said openly.

She headed a legitimate world power and not some small faction in the dark. If she acts too openly and being too welcoming to the Crime Alliance, she would attract the attention of those great powers.

She herself is forced by circumstances.

She would like to live a life of simply researching all kinds of knowledge. But research requires resources
Resources that she doesn't have

And there were many things she could not do as one of the world powers. There were many treaties that she had signed. One of them is related to human experimentation.

While the article in the treaty is a bit vague, one thing is very clear about human experimentation.

It is frowned upon.

And while voluntary testing could be conducted, such thing must be presented to the World Council. This is to prevent the world power from abusing the people of the world

There is also restriction in creating artificial intelligence.

While certain level of artificial intelligence in the design of a technology is allowed, there are certain parameter of an AI that is not allowed.

Any attempt of trying to go past that approved parameter of an AI ability must be approved by the entire World Council.

This is to prevent the uprising of machinery lifeforms. Humanity is already plagued by invaders from the stars.

They need not fight another war with their own machine.

It might look like some kind of paranoid thinking influenced by movies like Terminator, but it is actually a relevant and reasonable fear.

Order of Thinkers and the World Government had gain many knowledge from the Orvanians expedition when they stay at Earth

There was a world that was overtaken by their own creation.

AI technology reaches to the peak that it controls and treated those living beings as battery and inspiration as these robots didn't seem to have that kind of spark in their brain the way certain intelligent living beings has

This AI civilization finally was destroyed by the Orvanians because this AI civilization began wanting to conquer other star system to force those living beings become their battery

If that is the only thing they wanted to do, maybe the Orvanians would close one eye to the behavior of those AI.

After all, wars between intergalactic empire is common, at least it was not something that deserves the Orvanian attention

It wasn't until the AI Civilization created a weapon that could shoot people through time and space, tore upon multiversal barrier and could even cut space and affected time in a scale that has never been seen after the demise of the Savi'krian race.

And when it affected the Multiverse, that is when Orvanians become involved.

Of course this is the simplification of the struggle of that universe. It did not change however that artificial intelligence could be a threat for humanity

The Grand Researcher could only accept all of those restriction with smiling face. She had never wanted to compete with those great powers.

But because she did not compete, she did not have any say. If the things she wanted to do is something that Pandemonium did, she wonders whether the other world powers would burden Pandemonium with all kinds of restriction and treaties?

They would not. She found out that her thoughts were too simple. But the moment she realized this, it was already too late

By the time of the rise of the Great Powers, even if the Order of Thinkers wanted to compete, they no longer are qualified to compete.

The Order of Thinkers already had the problem of dwindling population and they also been restricted by many of the world power treaties.

The Grand Researcher knew that for a small power with lack of population, lack of rare resources, the hope of her organization was technology and knowledge.

But, it is not like her thought is something secret to the other world powers. As such, there is all of those treaties to restrict her.

They were afraid that she would create things that is dangerous to the world. Azief brought them to the center stage so that everyone could look at them and restrict them.

It took her some time to realize the sinister intention of Death Monarch. And they even happily jump into that trap. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

No one knows how cunning that person who sat on that black throne in Pandemonium more than her.

IT is no wonder then that she had to make the difficult choice of sometimes cooperating with the Crime Alliance.

She sighed thinking all of this matter of the past as she opens back her eyes and look at the land in front of her.

Everything look so small and tiny when she looks at it from her height.

Standing on the balcony she could see hundreds of houses being built with terrifying efficiency.

But there is no people in it. Tens of thousands of houses yet there is no people

The lack of population. That is the problem of the Order of thinkers.

While she could supply the security forces of the order of Thinkers with robotic soldiers, she began to see the limitation of such superficial means.

Antarctica before the expansion of the world was not that big

Most of it is hard to travel but it is not a size of continent that is hard to monitor.

Its distance and the lack of reputation of the Order of Thinkers makes Antarctica an unappealing place for normal people

Most people would rather serve under the banner of a powerful world power.

As such, most people would rather sail toward Europe to join the Republic, to North America to join the World Government or sails the stormy seas of the pandemonium Seas to reach Pandemonium

And those who did not agree with the ideological or types of government of those three great world powers could always choose the other four world powers.

But even then, the Order of Thinkers ranks the last in attractiveness of persuading people to come to Antarctica to become the citizen of the world power of the Order of Thinkers.

The high standard of the Order of Thinkers that emphasizes knowledge and the general misunderstanding that the common people have of the Order of Thinkers created the situation where Order of Thinkers having many high technology devices yet lack the human capital.

If this is the world before the Fall, the lack of people compared to the industrialization of advanced technology is something that would not be a minus for the Order of Thinkers.

But as the order of Thinkers had realized, there is a reason why the Three Great powers remains the three great power.

Order of Thinkers technology sometimes even surpasses Pandemonium level of technology.

But why is it that Pandemonium is the number one world power? Why is it after almost a decade, no one had been able to shake Pandemonium position?

It is simply because in Pandemonium, they had a lot of people who are on Disk Formation leveler.

Death Monarch would not even have to move his ass from his throne to destroy Order of Thinker.

Chapter 1124 - Order Of Thinkers Dilemma II

He could send any of his Three Armies and one of them is enough to bring down the Order of Thinkers.

The Grand Researcher now realize what she lacks is people with individual power.

Yes, she had countless of robotic soldiers.

But these robotic soldiers no matter how powerful they were created, there is a limit to their power.

Most of her robotic soldier could not yet utilize the energy of the world. They also could not control the laws of the world and they could not perform magical spell.

Magic could not be used by mechanical creation like her robotic soldiers. It requires something mystical.

And this mystical thing is the soul.

At least that is what she had found out.

The Order of Thinkers might seem like they are only researching new advanced technology in the veins of mechanical technology but actually there is a lot of types of technology that they are researching magic technology is one of them.

She found that magic particles response to some unknown force that binds people with magic particles.

She posited the theory that the unseen, intangible thing called souls existed and the soul connect any living beings with soul to some source of magical energy that is present in all of the Multiverses.

The Grand Researcher however understood the limitation of her knowledge.

Magic is unlike mechanical technology.

For most of human technology there is a whole orderly system to it, operating by certain laws that exist on Earth.

Physics, mathematics all of these principles of science could be used to derive a system where technology could advance and ultimately go

Magic.....magic however had myriads of paths. Some of them are orderly and could be make senses of.

Like some magic that utilizes the elements. There is a certain logic to it that could be applied to the creation and improvement of her robotic soldiers

Some even could be imitated by the robotic soldiers

But there was some magic that she has come into contact with that did not make sense at all. Most of these illogical magi seems to deal with the intangible.

'What should I do? Death Monarch is gone. the World Council would be delayed. Hirate would not propose any drastic measures right now. he himself has a lot of trouble with Hikigaya'

She said to herself. Then she heard footsteps from behind her. She looks back. There is tall lanky man approaching her. This man wears a monocle on his right eye

And he wears a white uniform

The uniform of a high echelon member of the Order of Thinkers is white. It resembles a bit of a lab coat. But there is badges on the shoulders

Across his eyes there is long line of scars. The scars used to be huge but the width of the scars had shrink and instead it is long now.

Eric' she said.

Eric Strauss is one of the early members of the Order of Thinkers and one of the confidant of the Grand Researcher.

'Grand Researcher'

He walks to the balcony and stand beside her.

There is silence for a few second.

They both look at the rising city in front of them. And they both have their thoughts. They let the sound of the construction and the air around them blows pass them

Then the Grand Researcher ask him

'How is the preliminary result of the scan?'

Eric then said

'The scan could only scan about thirty percent of the whole landmass. Beyond that, some invisible force mess with our detection system'

Grand Researcher face hardened a bit

'Which means we must increase the capability of our detection system.'

Eric nodded and added

'Don't worry. I have assigned some of the researcher to this'

'We must be fast. There is benefit to be made' Eric is silent for a second before he asks

'You want to sell it?'

Grand Researcher nodded. Eric frowned. He seems to hesitate to say something before he shakes his head and said

'Please reconsider' the Grand Researcher look at her old friend.

'It is better not to talk with the Crime Alliance for a while. I suggest you limit the contact not only with the Crime Alliance but also with the Dark Syndicate. The White Owl also could not be trusted.' The Grand Researcher raised her eyebrows.

Eric added

'We don't know the intention of the White Owl. The only reason they turned to us is because they could not move those Three Great Powers. Doubt their intention, old friend' he said.

The Grand Researcher close her eyes and sighed. In that brief moment, she seems to get older. Eric is not burdened with her knowledge.

He is not burdened by the responsibility that she has so he could not understand fully why she did the things she did.

Then she said this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

'Death Monarch is not here'

Eric shakes his head

'That is not a good enough reason. He might not be here. But Pandemonium is still there. Pandemonium never needed Death Monarch to deal with us'

She then said

'As for the World Government, don't tell me you didn't know that they also use the Crime Alliance a few times. the Republic might have Katarina that hated those people in the Crime Alliance but those Senators of the Senate, which one of them did not have some deals with the criminals in the Crime Alliance? '

'Why do you think they deal with the Crime Alliance even if they wave the banner of eradicating those evil people? Other than Death Monarch and Katarina, the others wave that banner simply because the strongest man and woman in the world waves that banner'

The Grand Researcher added

'If we did not trade with the Crime Alliance, using their information and teleportation channel, how could we have survived the Multiversal Convergence with so little casualties?'

Eric was not convinced at all

'Are we the Republic? Are we the World Government?' he asks and for a while there is silence between these two people.

The question is simple and the meaning is strong.

The only reason that those two world power did those thing is precisely because they are strong enough to tide the waves that would come if it is exposed.

They might even have a few trump card if somehow the conflict would affect their relationship with Pandemonium

But the Order of Thinkers is not the World Government and it is not the Republic.

Eric stares at the Grand Researcher eyes. They look at each other stubbornly. Eric then sighed.

'We are still not able to verify the news. It is better not to be rash. Not to be the sore thumb in the eyes of Pandemonium' Eric said.

Eric had dealt with Death Monarch before.

That is a terrifying man. And a domineering one. He could see the consequences of ignoring the will of such a willful man.

And the Order of Thinkers is not a match against Pandemonium. And he also knew his friend. She is also stubborn.

But he fears that her stubbornness would lead the Order of Thinkers to a path of war against Pandemonium.

There is no problem to fight against any force that try to destroy them. The Order of Thinkers is not some world power bend on world domination.

Quite frankly it is quite pacifistic as the Order of Thinkers rarely wage war against any force in the world.

But that does not mean that the Order of Thinkers is afraid to fight or unable to fight. It is that they never have to fight since their interest rarely clashed with others interest.

Of course, this is referring to the other forces of the world. When compared to the other world power, usually the order of Thinkers had to laid down their head

Most of the core members of the Order of Thinkers are not people who wanted to fight wars.

They only wanted more power so that they could have more resources so that they could research and pursue the things that is important to them which is the knowledge of the world

If they were to fight, there is many weapons that they have developed that they could use that would shock the world.

But Pandemonium?

That is not a force that the Order of Thinkers could take on right now.

Maybe if they have some kind of leap in technological advancement far surpassing the current magical technology on Earth, there is a chance to at least defend themselves against Pandemonium.

But as of right now, as of this moment, Pandemonium is a force that could send only one of its armies and that is enough to level the entire ruling area of the Order of Thinkers.

The Grand Researcher thought for a moment and then said with a sigh

'It is a pity that we have to do this kind of thing. Eric, you know when we started this.... this is not what I wanted. But circumstances changes.'

Eric then smiles and said.

'maybe we don't have to'

Chapter 1125 - A Raven At The Starting Of A New Era I

Eric is smiling as he said that. Does he have some ideas?

She thought to herself

The Grand Researcher did not immediately ask him what he means by that.

Instead she looks at Eric and frowned. She could not understand what Eric was insinuating.

'What do you mean?'

Eric then said

'Even though our detection system could only scan thirty percent of the landmass of the new Antarctica, and the range and depth of the scan is not that impressive, we found that there are many new resources and even some new elements and minerals that we have never seen before.'

'Verilion is already something that we exported to the other world power. It is something that we have the most abundance of'

The Grand Researcher nodded and then Eric continue.

'Our scan found a deposits mine of Verilion on land. It is a lot more than what we have before. At least on the side of supply of Verilion to the other great powers, there would be no shock to the market. Instead, if my calculation is right, we could even have the power to flood the market with Verilion and causes the price to bottom out'

Verilion is one of the minerals that the Order of Thinkers found in their expedition on the seabed

Most of the Verilion they got, they mined it from the bottom of the ocean.

Out of the other six great power, Antarctica is the only continent in the world that have this mineral in large amount

As such it is one of the Order of Thinkers exports to the world. Verilion is used in many of the new phones that is created in the market right now

As it is able to conduct energy of the world, all of the phones in the world needed Verilion for it to be able to conduct energy and do the functions that is now common to the people of the world

Some of the function of the phone in this brave new world is like downloading information to one mind, personal holographic projection, accurate physical scans, detection system for time dilation, atmospheric changes, space disturbance and so on and so forth

Yes, the phone that is created after the Fall is not simply a phone.

If this was before the Fall, such phone is probably something that the military would create. If they toss this phone to a world like their before the Fall, those people might have thought of it as some kind of powerful advanced technology when it is actually one of the many basic stuff in the world after the Fall

Hence, Verilion is very important and in the market of the world, its price is also quite volatile like Eluvian stone

While it is not as scarce as some other new magical mineral, it is not that in abundance either.

It is like cobalt before the Fall.

what they lack is other kinds of minerals like Eluvian stones, and many other new minerals and resources after the Fall

Antarctica had many treasures.

But it also lacks certain stuff.

The Amazons for example is not only blessed by a lot of huge mineral deposit, they also possess a lot of magical plants and herbs and one of the active partner of the Order of Thinker is the League of Freedom.

They traded Verilion for the plants, leaves and herbs that exist in the Amazons.

Then there is Pandemonium who had all kinds of biomes, animals, trees, plants, energy mines, and a whole lot of other mysterious places which is full in abundance with energy

The reason for such fertile and mystical land is because other than the former China, Pandemonium or as it was formerly known, Australia was one of the countries that was attacked and occupied by titanic monsters.

China was lucky that many of those behemoth monsters after killing almost a billion people in China flew away and hibernated in the forbidden zones.

Australia however became a haven for beast and monsters.

While this is not good for humans there, it was very good for the environment there.

And when Death Monarch kills tens of thousands of beast in that land, the surge of energy that is present there after that act of killing bring about a change to the whole land

And most of the other world powers had other kinds of minerals and resources that far outstripped the Order of Thinkers resources.

It is fortunate that they sat on the largest underwater deposit of Verilion. If not, they probably could not compete with the other world power in terms of resources.

The only reason that the other world power did not attack the order of thinkers to get that deposit is because they are not that desperate.

After all it is not like the order of Thinkers close the door to trade with them.

And to some people, Antarctica is simply not a land that they are interested in having even if there is a large mine deposit of Verilion in the bottom of the ocean around the Antarctica seas.

And as their research requires new mineral and resources it forces the Order of Thinkers to trade with even unsavory characters.

Eric then added

'And then there is others'

'Others?'

'Yes. Our research teams found new minerals some of them are minerals that have never been seen or recorded in any of the mineral records after the Fall. New elements and new minerals. And because of the fertile land there is also herbs and magical plant. As for where the ice goes, that is a very interesting thing'

'Interesting?'

Smiling Eric said this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

'The ice did not disappear. It seems that the new Antarctica is separated by three regions by some kind of invisible magic barrier. Fortunately, we have tested it and this magic barrier simply isolate the different climate. It is hard to explain it logically. I saw the pictures but I myself did not have the chance to go there yet' there is a trace of regret in his tone

Eric, while he is also quite good on the political side, he is after all, in his core, a researcher that loves this kind of new things

'But some of the researcher that go there describe it to be quite a magical experience'

Then he said

'Central region. this is the region we are at right now. the Central region which is full of plants, trees and if you travelled further you could see even tropical landscape and climate'

He is talking with excitement and Grand Researcher could not help but smile looking at her old friend being so passionate about it

Eric did not seem to notice as he went on saying

'Considering how large the area of Antarctica right now, it is not surprising. But if you go past this fertile land area, you would arrive at a land of snow and ice. This is the front part. If you walk toward the other direction then after passing from the fertile area, you would arrive at a place of heat and flames. Large volcanoes which spews magical lava'

Hearing all of this new changes made the eyes of the Grand Researcher to shine with excitement

After all, she and Eric is not that different. It is this similarity that drew them to grow the Order of Thinkers to the size it is today.

'I did not think that it changes so much.'

Eric added

'And we are not done. We do not yet fully explore all of this region. I use the mobile satellite on the Battlestar to get these images. But it is very exciting to explore all of these regions. Who knows what we will find and discover? Just thinking about it set my heart ablaze'

The Grand Researcher nodded

Even though there are certain things that they do not see eye to eye to, at least in this, they share the same feeling of excitement.

Then the Grand Researchers ask

'Is there any Eluvian Stone?' She might be excited. But she did not lose her calm. Her mind had already started calculating things.

'One hundred kilogram' Eric said

'That is a lot' she muttered.

Eluvian stone is very rare. The fact that they found one hundred kilograms in a landmass that could fit Earth is already a lot for her.

Grand Researcher mind begin thinking. Eric waited beside her. It seems that she might have to reconsider some of her plans.

To Eric there is nothing better. Eric had seen her slowly going deeper and deeper into all sorts of things.

He only fears that she could not extricate herself if she goes too deep.

But as she was thinking of how best to capitalize this new situation of finding all kinds of minerals, suddenly someone knock the door of this empty room.

'I'll take it' Eric said and she only nodded.

Eric goes to the door, leaving the Grand Researcher on the balcony. The creaking sound of the door echoes in the empty room as Eric look outside the room and saw another colleague of his

Chapter 1126 - A Raven At The Starting Of A New Era II

'Graham' Waiting outside the door is a middle age man with neatly trimmed grey beard. He is around five feet seven and his body is lean and there is no trace of any muscle on his body.

He is wearing his grey robe today.

His blonde hair is neatly tied on the back, reaching just below his neck. He wears a glass that look like an antique created during the Victorian era.

Eric frowned a bit. Graham would not come here unless he has something important to do. After all, Graham prefers to stay in his lab rather than going to meetings or participate in the program of the organization.

Graham also look at Eric and said

'It has been a long time

Eric chuckles and simply said

'I am always here. It is you that always get cooped up in your lab. It is not healthy. You should go out and meet people' Graham only scoffed at this.

'Uninteresting people. They are all sorts of uninteresting people in this world. If I have to meet every single one of them, it would only waste my time'

'Your disdain of humanity is showing' Eric said

'Most people are idiots' Graham said. Eric retorted and said

'And you are the smartest?'

'I know that I am not and that is why I seek knowledge. But outside.... they don't know that they are not and think that they smart'

Eric only smiles and said

'Seeing the world and the people living in it, the lifeforms in it might be the thing you need. It is without a doubt among our colleague you are the smartest. But you lack-'

Before Eric could finish his word, Graham simply cut him off and said

'Is it humanity again? I lack humanity?'

Eric only nodded.

Graham had something more to say but then he thought he wasted enough time. He would not try to defend himself. After all, it is not like he cares that much what people think of him

But Eric sometimes makes him feel competitive and causes him to get worked up. He shakes his head and then he brought something out from his sleeve.

It is an envelope.

Then he simply said

'Eric, give this to the Grand Researcher' Eric saw the envelope and he raised his eyebrows.

'Why are you so.... tense?' Eric asked Graham. Graham sighed and said

'Someone had given me this envelope. And that someone is not a person that the Order of Thinkers could handle'

Hearing this, there is alarm bells ringing in Eric's heart. Unlike the other organization, their high ranking members are quite loose in that they make alliances and connections with people they want to.

Regardless of the opposition from the other researchers

Most of the other organization however had a banned list like Pandemonium officials are not allowed to contact the Dark Syndicate, the Crime Alliance and so on and so forth

But for the people of the Order of Thinkers, those high level researchers could not be constrained by such things.

Knowing this, they don't even care to constrain. After all, most of the high level researchers need resources.

And it is not like the Order of Thinkers could supply all of the researchers with ample amounts of resources. So there is a weird system in the order of Thinkers

To some research that is deemed hard to materialize, the funding would be cut or even scrapped off by the budget department.

But if the researchers still wanted to research such things, they have to use their own resources. There is no restriction to this

Graham is one of the few researchers in the Order of Thinkers that have a big pocket, a ton of connections in the crime world, lots of researchers contact in the great powers, and countless channels of resources.

He is also studying many things that would have been called fringe science if this is before the Fall.

Because most of his research is funded by him privately, the order of thinkers mostly does not know what he researched on and could not interfere in the direction of his research

But every once in a while Graham would share some of his technology with the Order of Thinkers and as such he is one of the high ranking members of the Order of Thinkers.

It is because of this liberty that many researchers join the Order of Thinkers. But it is also because of this, that many could say that not all of the researchers here have a clean reputation.

Eric hearing that this came from someone that the organization could not handle of course he would feel wary.

Who knows what kind of people that Graham is in contact with.

'Who?' Erik ask

At this Graham scratch the back of his head and shakes his head

'I could not tell you that. I promise him that'

There is silence between them. And Eric could only sigh

It is not like he could force Graham to tell who it is

Graham then said

'I decrypted the letter and read what is inside. I fear that the letter meant harm. I saw the content. ' this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

If this happens in Pandemonium or any other world power where the subordinate dares to intercept letters for their rulers and leaders, there would be a huge punishment.

But this is the Order of Thinkers and Graham is not someone that the organization could punish at will

'Truth be told, I thought of just burning the letter. But I know it is not my place to decide'

Graham then look at Eric with a pitiful expression and he added

'I don't like scheming. That is why I followed this organization. But someone had reached to me and they sent me this letter so I could give it to her.'

Sighing he said

'Even though the person that makes contact with me is a person I admire, in the end, I am a member of the order of Thinkers. Regardless what you think of me and my research, I don't want such a sanctuary for us seeker of knowledge to be burned by those ignorant people that only seek to dominate and destroy'

Then he paused for a second and as he sighed he said

'Tell her....do not be too greedy' Then finished saying this, he pushed the envelope to Eric. Eric took it and Graham walk away, his grey robe seems to distort a bit before he disappears from the long straight hallway

Eric frowned.

'What does he means by that?' He looks at the envelope that is in his hand and then one thing caught his attention

There is a red wax sealed on the envelope. And there is a crest on the wax. His face immediately changed

'Is it...' but he did not finish his words. One thing that he is feeling right now is cold. It is like holding that envelope made him filled with a feeling of crisis.

But he slowly understood why his friend look so solemn

He hesitated a bit but then walk to the Grand Researcher. She is still there on the balcony looking at the construction of the city in the far distance.

She also seems to be thinking deeply.

Her eyes seem to be unfocused. He taps her on her shoulder and she went back to normal. Then without turning to look at Erick she asks

'Who is it?'

'It's Graham'

Hearing this she raised her eyebrows

'He went out of his lab. That is surprising'

'He brought you a letter. he said it is from one of his friend. It seems they wanted to make contact with you'

She nodded. Eric hesitated a bit but then he remembers what graham said.

It is not his decision to make. So, he held out his hand and give the envelope to her. She took the envelope but then she saw the red wax on the opening of the envelope.

And her expression turns hard.

It is a snake eating its own tail.

Ourobourus.

And she immediately knew who send her this envelope.

'It's him. I did not expect this' Eric did not say anything. He was also as shocked.

Even though the Order of Thinkers did not make any moves after hearing the news that Death Monarch had departed, they both knew that outside of Antarctica right now, there is probably many schemes and plots that is now put into motion the moment Death Monarch departed from Earth

She also wanted to make some moves. But she is a bit cautious. And she did not intend to make such big moves.

In other words, she did not want to get involved in those great powers games. But this letter, it is like an invitation to the big games.

That is why she is solemn in expression. She did not think that her organization would capture the eyes of that person.

Maybe that man also send such envelope to the other great power. No, he doesn't think so. This person doesn't have many allies right now.

There are only a few people that dare to be ally with this person

Chapter 1127 - A Raven At The Starting Of A New Era III

The moment she touches the envelope she could feel the magic that covers every inch of the envelope.

Sealing formation lights up from the red wax and become visible. Lines and bizarre symbol and shapes reveal itself on the envelope.

It is like the moment that envelope touches her finger, it unseals itself. Then the top of the envelope popped open.

Eric was shocked at what happen but once he regains his senses, he asks the Grand Researcher.

'You're going to read it?'

The Grand Researcher seems to be thinking of something again and then after a few second pause she nodded.

Eric face changes.

'Loki is not someone we should be allying with right now.' That letter, that serpent that eat its own tail, the theatrical of it all, dramatic reveals, it has all the signature of the Trickster.

Eric had heard the report that says the trickster had sought refuge with the Crime Alliance.

Loki is bad news.

If their cooperation with Crime Alliance is exposed, they could still find a way to salvage themselves from that situation.

But Loki? Loki right now is the enemy of the world

He shudders to think the consequences of cooperating with a person that nearly bring about the destruction of Earth

They are already preparing to defend themselves on the charge of human experimentation. If they were to have more accusation put on top of their head, they would be buried with sanction.

This is the hypocritical nature of the world power. They could easily destroy the Order of Thinkers but the Order brought them benefits and improvement in technology advancement

Destroying them would then bring them no benefits. And they also fear the vacuum that would be left in Antarctica.

It would also violate the very spirit of the Article of Distribution. There is still the attitude of the Three Great Powers that the world powers had to take into account

They fear that the order of Thinkers would go too far in their research so they impose sanctions and took away their resources.

Eric is thinking of the consequences that would; happen if the whole world finds out that they are consorting with the enemy of Earth. To be honest, it is not like Loki is the sole reason for the Multiversal Convergence to happen.

As one of the members of the Order of Thinkers he knows that the only reason the Multiversal Convergence had happened is because the barrier between worlds and dimension breaks.

While it does take a huge amount of energy to causes such tear in space time that it even affects dimension, it is undeniable that the continuous use of the World Gate by the World Government and the other method of the other world power who travels through other world unlimitedly is the cause of the Multiversal Convergence. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

But it is easier to scapegoat Loki as the one responsible for all the calamity.

Loki was the perfect patsy

The Order of Thinkers are not like Pandemonium that it could disregard the opinion of the people of the world.

Those great powers are actually waiting for the Order of Thinkers to make a mistake so that they could slap some more restriction on them

Then there are other new factions and forces that wanted to take over Order of Thinkers spots., There is too many problems that could popup right now.

Now the stakes are even higher.

Antarctica no longer lack any resources. The land itself now become even more tempting and the benefit now outweighs the risk

Eric had thought of a few plans to make sure that the Order of Thinkers could be independent from the interference of the other world power.

The plan of colonizing the planets in the solar system is also an ongoing project. But allying with Loki, one wrong move and they could be everyone enemy.

Eric forehead creased. The Grand Researcher notices it and she understood why Eric is worried.

But unlike Eric, the Grand Researcher knows more about what truly happen in the Multiversal Convergence.

Or at least she thinks she knows the cause and effect of it. She does not dare claim one hundred percent certainty but she is quite sure of her deduction of what truly happen and who is truly responsible for the Multiversal Convergence

How could she be the leaders of the Order of Thinkers if she could not see through the secret. Of course she did not have any evidence. By now, all evidence of her speculation might have been wiped out by the interested parties.

But she knows that Loki is probably not the one responsible for the Multiversal Convergence. But since nobody wanted to deviate from the official story, she too would not stir the already muddied water

And allying with Loki is not entirely all bad. After all, there is still one variable that Eric failed to see.

'Let see what the Trickster wanted to say first' Eric only frowned at this. the Grand Researcher brought out the letter.

The letter is empty. But the Grand Researcher did not panic. She knows some methods of identification for encrypted letters like this.

This kind of magical encryption technique is quite novel., she thought to herself

She thinks it is one of that method.

She cut one of her finger with her nails and one drop of her golden blood falls onto the letter.

She expected to see some words, an enticement or a proposal of some sorts to cooperate.

But when the golden blood drops onto that letter and dissolve onto the paper, a formula appears.

It is continuous equation and formula and every few seconds, there is more and more formula that appears as the previous one would dissipate.

The Grand Researcher had photographic memory so she could remember each of the formula and the more she reads, the more she frowned.

'This.... I don't believe this'

'What?' Eric could not see it from his vantage point so he walks closer to the Grand Research, standing close beside her as he also looks at the letter.

He could not make heads and tails of it because he did not see the earlier formula.

'A weapon' she said. But her eyes did not move away from the letter.

It is a weapon. A weapon of quantum destruction with ultimate precision.

A new kind of weapon that could replace a nuclear weapon and surpasses its power limits.

This kind of weapon is powerful enough to even kill Essence Creation leveler and probably even those above Essence Creation leveler.

At least that is her thought. After all, this is only her estimation of this weapon.

Then the formula stopped. A word appears.

[Euronium]

Then the word Euronium dissipated and a word appears on the letter.

'If you want to know more, meet me'

Then the letter suddenly burned up and the Grand Researcher toss the letter to the air before the letter turns into ash.

There is only silence in that room as the Grand Researcher and Eric look at the ash being blown by the wind that blows from the outside.

She is still filled with that feeling of seeing something wonderful that her heart beats wildly.

Those formulas, the equation that seems to open a new door of knowledge to her.....how could she not be excited?

Why did the trickster send this to her?

To her, this is a great temptation.

Such weapon not only contain great power, the very concept of constructing this weapon and creating this source of energy that is powerful enough to not only contend with the powerhouse of the world but also able to kill such powerhouses, shows that this technology would touch many principles of new advanced technology and new knowledge.

The fact that Loki had such thing is a testament of the Trickster resourcefulness. It seems the world still underestimated the Trickster.

It is then understandable that he did not need to rely on the protection of Pandemonium.

She had been thinking of rejecting Loki offer. Her act of opening the letter and reading it was simply as a courtesy.

After all, she knows maybe someday she had to deal with the Trickster.

She had all the intention to reject whatever the Trickster wanted to propose.

But that formula and the temptation of this weapon.... she is now slowly changing her mind.

Eric look at the Grand Researcher and he was surprised to her smiling. At that time, he knew that the Grand Researcher had made her decision.

The wind blows bringing the ash in the air away.

But there was something that she did understand.

And that is how should she contact the Trickster? There is no coordinate embedded in the secret letter.

Is it another puzzle? Or is there a riddle somewhere in the letter that she failed to see?

She had heard the Trickster penchant for riddles and puzzles.

But she did not think that Loki would make it that hard for her to find him.

The letter had also been destroyed so it is not like she could trace the origin of the letter and its energy signature.

Eric did not know what she is thinking and was about to say something. But then he stops in his track.

He narrowed his eyes as he come closer to the balcony. The Grand Researcher also notices Eric sudden movement.

She looks at the direction that Erick is looking and in the distance she could see a bird flying toward the balcony.

At first she thought it is a normal bird. But then her eyes narrowed

It could not be a normal bird.

This place is already high enough. Not to mention there is still the squalls of wind that would suddenly formed in random moments.

The only birds that could fly in such conditions are the evolved birds and large birds like Griffins and other large or mystical birds

There are even all kinds of formation around this area.

While it is not strange to see a bird as it is a living thing that is not really restricted by the formation, the fact that this bird looks like an ordinary bird, makes it all even more weird.

These height is not somewhere where normal bird could fly toward. Around the balcony there is clouds.

That is how high the new headquarters of the Order of Thinkers.

'What is that?' she said as she narrowed her eyes looking at the bird. Then her eyes widened for a second and there is a smile on her face

Eric expression however hardened. The bird fly toward the balcony and landed. And there, perched on the edge of the balcony railing, a raven.

She looks at the raven and she laughed

The echoes of her laugh reverberates around the empty room.

Chapter 1128 - The Number One World Power I

Pandemonium

Half an Hour Before Death Monarch Goes to The Seresian World

Azief lean back on his chair and close his eyes for a few second.

He is right now in his office.

There is an empty cup of coffee on the side table on the corner of the room. It is a new office that the keeper of palace had constructed for him.

the old office had crumbled down from one of the towers when the expansion of the world was happening.

Azief is quite satisfied with the new office.

Not only it is larger, it is also equipped with state of the art magical and technological advancement built into it.

He had been busy for the day. he has met with his officials and approve some of the development project and halted some others.

Azief had been thinking a lot about how to redraw the border of the world. Right now, he knows that the other six great powers are waiting for him.

They wanted him to once again distribute the world territory. the reason is simply because it is only then that the world power would be stable

The four great powers might not like Pandemonium influence getting even stronger, but they must admit in this current changing world, Pandemonium coming out and once again sorting out the order would bring stability

And regardless of the rivalry or antagonistic relationship between the world powers, they all need stability if they don't want to be crushed.

Azief had read the report of what happens for the past four days. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Fortunately, enough, with the current technological advances of Earth, he no longer has to read it one by one thus wasting his time.

Instead all he needs to do is touch any of the folders on the related issues and the information is streamed inside his mind which did not even take a second for him to understand the issue.

One of the issues plaguing the world right now is that the lack of surveillance. Primarily on their enemies.

The Three Great Powers which is Pandemonium, World Government and Republic is in a way in a transcendent position compared to the other four great powers.

The four great powers had to pacify a lot of rebellious forces in their continent.

And not all of those rebellious forces was truly eradicated. For example, the Lotus Order.

The Lotus Order itself does not have too much power over some parts of Asia.

They were more like the representatives of Asia and not the common voice of Asia itself.

After the expansion of the world and the discovery that new continents are popping up left and right all over the world, some of these rebellious forces that could not live alongside the current order of ruling in their continent, quickly brought their people away.

And Azief himself knows that some of these places is hard to monitor even using Divine Senses. The distance is also millions of miles away.

They could develop in peace, creating their own government and probably in a few decades could threaten the supremacy of the great powers

Not to mention the League of Freedom and African Alliance.

The way they maintain their power is not exactly something that could be spoken in good company

As for the order of Thinkers, their position is a bit different considering that when they first went to the Antarctica there is no one there

Regardless, all of these enemy forces for the great powers had migrated in just a couple of days. The development of transportation technology had enables people to quickly migrate large amount of human population.

A Battlestar could even fit an entire small country population into it.

For example, the Battlestar Genesis that Hirate had launched to outer space in hopes of searching a planet capable of housing human life, to find another Earth so that human could have a second planet, that Battlestar was built to be not only large but also to be able to sustain life with organize matter embedded into the ship itself.

That alone could fit a few countries population inside.

It is apparent that to migrate a large amount of population these days is very easy.

But right now, the biggest problem of the world is not immigration.

Instead, right now, the world powers needed legitimacy. And the legitimacy of their own power came from the Articles of the World Distribution Event which is authored by him.

He had some ideas on how to tackle this matter. It is novel idea but it is very possible. It is something he could not do before, but he could do now.

It is to prepare for that possibility that he is approving some construction and not approving the others.

And that is not the only problem. There is still the Otherworlders problem. Azief had some ideas about some of these matters.

He knew that the Order of Thinkers had been taking these people to Antarctica. No doubt this is to solve the problem of population in the Order of Thinkers.

And they are not the only ones that are thinking like this. but they are very brave. If the whole world did not agree at this matter, there is a chance for Order of Thinkers would be condemned by the great powers.

Azief did not have time to scold the Order of Thinkers right now. And it is also one of his plan to integrate these Otherworlders into Earth

Most of these Otherworlders also come from Earth even though some of their world events happened differently from this world

Humans is on the verge of extinction. If another such event happens again, it is without a doubt that humanity would spiral into extinction.

He details some of these in his own documents. But he knew he had to call the World Council to express his thoughts.

And the idea that he has could not be done by his power alone.

Right now, however, he wanted to settle a few things first. In case he could not come back, he had to leave a few measures of security for Pandemonium and his people.

Pandemonium would not be easily shaken even he is not here.

Pandemonium had grown that far. He is also thinking of the few people right now that have power to truly pose a threat to Pandemonium, specifically Jean and Hikigaya

Jean is not a warmongering person and he would not be interested in fighting a war with Pandemonium.

There is still Loki after all. In the event that he died, Azief is quite confident that Loki would step up and protect Pandemonium

And he also has Will.

As for Hikigaya, he is a bit like him. their personality has some differences but there were some traits of him that is quite similar to Death Monarch

One thing he does know about Hikigaya was that he did not like doing things that would trouble him.

He is not interested in world domination. If he is, he would truly fight for power in the World Government instead of cutting contact between the Empire of Japan and the World Government.

Something must have happened.

Knowing Hirate, he must have put some offer and it is more advantageous for the Empire of Japan, even if it is a facade to remain an ally to the World Government.

Of course, Azief also did not discount the fact that Hikigaya might be thinking of being a neutral force.

In the past, any wars that the World Government participated in, whether Hikigaya likes it or not, he still has to enter that war as an ally and one of the founding countries of the World Government

Or Hikigaya might be thinking to stabilize the world as he could easily enter an alliance with the Republic or even Pandemonium and tilt the balance of the Three Great Powers.

Whatever Hikigaya plan is this is very dangerous. Yet, at the same time it provided quite the advantage for him.

He sighed

He doesn't know if he has enough time before tomorrow.

He realizes he had already been standing and pacing the room.

He chuckles a bit

'It has been a long time that I have been this anxious. It is not very good to be this anxious. My mind state might be disturbed' he thought to himself

He found himself having too many things to protect. He could let it all go but if he let go of all of that, then he knows he is going to lose something that he did not want to lose.

So, it is fine even if he had to do more work than usual

He sat down on his chair. The desk that has been created by the architect is an exquisite desk. It is built from a magical oak timber.

Beneath the smooth surface is hundreds of runes combined in an overlapping matrixes.

One could not see it but once anyone uses Divine Sense they could see what is underneath the surface.

The matrixes are a concealing formation that is strengthened by tens of thousands of times. This is the design of the array formation department research.

Even a Divine Comprehension leveler could not see past through the drawers of this desk. Well, that is not entirely correct.

The fact is they could but they have to expend a lot of their Divine Sense energy which would then alert the formation and would blow that person to kingdom come.

Not only that this formation made his desk so sturdy that even if the roof of this place falls down toward this table, this table would not break.

Azief even thought that the related department had not created a desk but instead created some kind of indestructible artifact

Chapter 1129 - The Number One World Power II

The desk is a double pedestal, partner desk, giving it that ancient and a unique feeling. The desk is also decorated with carved moldings and carved floral swag designs.

Then there is sets of drawers behind the cabinets doors on each side of the desk pedestals and the desktop is covered with marron leather

The desk breaks down into constituents parts, the tabletop and the two pedestals. Azief could recognize it with one glance.

It is remarkable that in only five days, such work of art could be created. And then there is the design of the office itself that brings some weird feeling for Azief

The office itself is oval.

Azief when he heard of it, he seeks the architect. Turns out he is an American before the Fall.

It is clear then that his office is an advanced imitation of the Oval office. Even the desk is a magical imitation of the Resolute desk

The offices feature three large south facing windows behind his desk. Of course unlike the Oval Office, Azief office is not on the ground.

Instead if you looked at the Centre palace, nothing about it seems like any palace that has ever been created in this world.

It is a place of magic with teleportation portals, space optimization rooms and hyperbaric chambers and all kinds of magical and mystical elements in the construction of the palace.

This palace is also probably the largest Palace in the whole world. More than a hundred acres, it has around more than ten thousand rooms.

Most of which is empty but would slowly be filled in. It could be said that a hundred-acre land is almost like a small country size.

That is how large the palace is. It is hard to imagine such a large size area. From afar, it looks like a titanic palace. It does not have walls around it, as it does not need it.

There are other ways of keeping intruders away other than walls in this world. Still, there is some of the Keepers of the Palace that still wanted to enclose the four corners of the palace with a wall. Of course their suggestion of a wall is not a normal wall.

Its height one thousand five hundred meters give and take. There are hundreds of towers all along the main Palace.

There is even castles on the four corners of the main palace which stands on the center of the structure.

Looking from above there is one large rectangle shape in the middle and diamond shaped castle on the four corner of the Palace.

Of course looking at it from another angle it would look like a square.

And the office of Death Monarch is in the middle area of the Palace.

As such when one looks at the three large south facing windows behind his desk what they would see is not trees or grass but instead they would see clouds.

The window itself is reinforced magical quartz.

The durability of such material is said to even be able to withstand nuclear blast before the Fall and it has the unique ability of absorbing energy attack.

To truly break the window one need to either attack the window with a powerful blast that exceeded the mineral ability to absorb energy or attack it continually until the mineral could not take it in and exploded

There is also a fireplace at the north end. The fireplace while it could provide warmth the function is not as simple as that.

It is an attacking fire. It is a spell contained in a device.

The device is the fireplace. The weapon is the fire.

Azief did not yet read the guide but knowing the Head Keeper of the palace requirement for his office, he bet it is full of functions.

Sometimes Azief thinks that his subordinates worry about him too much. Of course he would not complain about more security but he is already the strongest person in the world

Is there such a need for such an exaggerated protection

The office itself follow the same architecture like that of the Oval Office. Azief had been to the White House.

Of course the White House had gone to is not the White House of Earth Prime. He never been to United States before the Fall.

And after the Fall, most of the large cities in the United States was destroyed either by monsters or the factions that fought for power afterwards

The White House is one of those structure that has been destroyed.

It is not a surprise.

For example, in Malaysia, the Istana Negara, the palace of the country was also destroyed. Azief had the idea of wanting to go there and sit on the throne of those kings.

He never liked Kings very much.

And what he dislikes more is that Kings that have no power. Even though his position in Pandemonium is like that of a King, he at least serves more than just some kind of figurehead of an old tradition

He is the protector of Pandemonium, the guardian and shield of this land and those who live in this land obey his word because of his deeds

Azief chuckles a bit as he leans his back on it as the chair adjust the leaning position according to where he is most comfortable.

It is similar.... very similar to the White House' he once again thought to himself. As for the White House had gone to it was the White House on Earth Two and on Earth 39.

On Earth 39 he himself was the one that gives the Presidency to President Harrison one of the generals under his Evolver Army.

The White House of that world each has their own differences but there is not too many. And seeing his office like the Oval office revived back, he thinks that the architect and designer of this place had some ideas and intention for this

The Throne Room of Pandemonium has always been for the discussion between him and his officials.

Even though he himself rarely administrate the matters in Pandemonium, this did not mean he did not do anything.

On some days when he summons the officials, most of them would gather around the door of the Throne Room and then they would stand and report to him the development, problems or achievement that Pandemonium has made.

As for his personal office, that is where he meets the officials of other faction and other world powers.

But because pandemonium rarely interacts with the other world powers during Death Monarch reigns, the office is usually empty and even Death Monarch himself rarely went to his office

But in the past six years, things had changed under the Regency of Loki.

Loki had meddled a lot with international politics and Pandemonium become heavily involved and slowly began stretching its influence all over the world

Maybe because of that the Palace seems to design a large and more beautiful office to entertain foreign guest and leaders.

It is also to reflect the power of Pandemonium over the other organization and force. With Loki effort many had recognize Pandemonium as the leading power of the world.

Of course, Azief did not feel that different.

It is the same as before. The only difference is that he began to feel how that influence is affecting the world this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Pandemonium under him and Pandemonium under Loki is different. The only reason why Pandemonium had never become that aggressive is because Death Monarch rarely move this behemoth force.

So many people equated the power of Death Monarch as the power of Pandemonium.

In other words, they underestimated Pandemonium and only thought the reason that pandemonium is strong is because it is being protected by Death Monarch.

If there is no Death Monarch, Pandemonium would easily cave in under the other world power. Loki however shows to the world, that Pandemonium foundation itself is very strong and position Pandemonium as the top power of the world.

In terms of politics, administrating, governance, Loki is clearly superior than Azief. Azief did not mind it since it had never been his passion

He had never care that much about the matter of Pandemonium. But Loki had shown to the world what could happen if Pandemonium become serious.

And this office, is the manifestation of that invisible power and prestige of the leader of the strongest force in the world.

The last time he met a world leader, he brought Hirate back to his palace simply by kidnapping him

The architect of this office without a doubt seems to think that Pandemonium deserve that world number one world power.

Azief close his eyes for a few second, relaxing his mind for a few seconds.

A day is not enough for him to solve all of the problem.

If not for the fact that he had evolve to be stronger than normal humans, the workload of so many things would overwhelm him to the point of exhaustion

Then opening his eyes, he knows he need to set some things up.

'Haish' he suddenly complained

'If Loki is not that stubborn he could return. I still don't know what he is thinking allying with the Crime Alliance' he muttered to himself he has many things to say about that.

Chapter 1130 - The Number One World Power III

He of course doesn't believe that Loki is truly joining the Crime Alliance for protection.

Some people think that the reason Loki went to the Crime Alliance and joins the Crime Alliance is because Loki doesn't want to implicate Death Monarch and to resist the target of the world powers against him

Azief doesn't think that Loki's plan is that simple. With Loki, Azief had learned that nothing is like what it seems

Maybe Loki needed an excuse.

Azief knows that even before Loki became a Regent of Pandemonium, even before then, he pays quite the attention to the Crime Alliance.

His accepting the blame for the event of the Multiversal Convergence might be a way in for him to enter the Crime Alliance.

Loki must have a plan there.

Azief thinks it might be to infiltrate the Crime Alliance or to facilitate some kind of plots that he has

Of course, he could not say this with certainty. After all, he is missing many things. And he could not get all these answers in one day.

The World Powers, Loki, Sofia, Katarina, there are myriads of problems that he had to solve the moment he returns back to the world

As for Will, he seems to be missing. He was there at the hill for a few days before he suddenly went missing.

Azief had used his Divine Sense to try to find him but there is no result. But knowing Will, he might be entangled in some speedsters-related thing.

He does have the desire to put Will as the Regent. This content is from novelfullbook.com, if you are reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

After all, Will is someone he trusted. But, Will is not someone that the people of Pandemonium trusted.

And the forces of Pandemonium probably would not listen to him

And it is doubtful that Will would even accept such a thing for him. Will knows nothing about governing and politics.

This is the immediate problem that he needs to solve. Who would rule in his absence? Pandemonium is not like before.

The organization that is in Pandemonium could devolve into chaos without a clear chain of command.

The Three Armies are loyal to him but there is conflict between them and the Central Court. The Central Court did not like the army exercising political power in their sphere of control.

Then there is the Shadow Guards who are his personal eyes and ears.

While they do not possess an official power, they are without a doubt the most powerful organization in Pandemonium.

Azief thinks a few candidates for his position. Sina is one of the candidate. She is the leading figure of the Central Courts officials.

But Sina has her problems. She promotes people she likes and protect the people she knows. In a small microcosm of relationship that would work great

But in a large place and especially for an organization that would rule such large continent like this such trait is not desirable.

Saying it kindly, Sina is loyal to her friends. Saying it in another way, she practices nepotism

And the other thing is Sina herself is not that good in governing and balancing things.

There is also Wang Jian.

But Wang Jian is not someone he could put as a candidate. He could but he expects that if Wang Jian is the one to become his successor, then the Central Court might not listen to him

Azief did not have many friends and he did not have many true allies. He had Sofia, Loki and Sina.

He and Sofia had broken up and he did not know where she is right now.

he chose not to know where she is right now. As for Loki, he seems to have his own plans and he doesn't seem that interested in being under the watch of Pandemonium care.

In this whole wide world, Azief reckon he is the only one that knew that Loki come from the future and have future knowledge.

And that future knowledge had something to do with him. Azief had confirmed some of the things that Loki had said when he travels to the future with Will.

As such he knew that Loki was not lying and because of that Azief could not help but think that the reason why Loki did not return to Pandemonium is because he does not want his plans to be revealed to him

As for Sina, she is not suitable.

She is more inclined to spend time in her alchemical room and perfected her understanding of the Philosopher Stone.

From what he knows, Heaven Flute Lihua abilities is recovered by Sina Philosopher Stone. Wang Jian is loyal and dedicated to Pandemonium.

He is the typical loyal general.

Wang Jian background was a young boy born in poverty in Beijing. He is an orphan and live very hard. Yet, he does not lose his morals as he was rescued by a kind old man.

Knowing his life story, Azief even think that Wang Jian life is like a movie of the underdog finally reaching the peak of life.

He did not graduate to high prestigious university but only finish high school. He works as a hard laborer and have many friends

If the Fall did not happen, Wang Jian would probably be only a nameless person in the world. A poor young man that lives a poor life.

Though knowing Wang Jian personality, he might not live such a bad life. But the Fall happened and Wang Jian became one of the Three Great Generals of Pandemonium.

He is very loyal to Pandemonium. Even though it was Loki that recruited him, Wang Jian is loyal to the throne of Pandemonium.

The problem with him is that if he is given the regency, Azief fears that the power of the military would drastically oppresses the Central Court.

That is also not a development that Azief is willing to see.

There is no one he could trust. As for leaving Sasha as the leader, she did not have the trust of the major factions in Pandemonium.

He could not help but sigh thinking about all this. he then pushes the intercom on the right side of the desk

'Summon Sasha to the office' then he cut the contact.

This is the task for today.

After this, he decided to rest for a few hours before researching the diamond-like cube that he got when he went to that mystical place.

He understood how the diamond like cube works. To activate it, he could stick it in the ground before a structure of the Ethernas would appear.

Since this structure would be permanent, it is recommended that he pick the right place.

The way he knows about this is that when he sends his Divine Sense toward the diamond-like cube, the way to activate it enter his mind

He decided to hold it off.

Because he needs to personally pick a place for this structure. He thought of something when he got the information from the cube.

Isn't it like the Sun Stone in the Superman stories. Funny thing is, there is a Sun Stone in the Universe.

He once heard that there is an intergalactic, interdimensionary fleets of space merchants that sells all kind so things and one of the things that they could sell is a Sun Stone.

The Merchant of Sarens. That is what he remembers about Sun Stone and the fleet of merchants that sell it.

'If I survive this, this legacy of the Ethernal could probably show me the path forward. I might not walk their path but it is good to take references. And I might even have new comprehension about the step after the Essence Creation. Still.....I need to survive this first'

Azief himself did not know what is contained in the diamond-like cube.

But he had a guess that it might contain more legacies of the Ethernal, and there might even be all kinds of knowledge of the world.

Azief did not know this. But if Loki knows that Azief had such thing, he would probably be the one most shocked. And if Yewa Hafar know this, he would probably felt like he is going crazy.

If the event of the Multiversal Convergence shows that the script had changed a bit, this fortuitous serendipity of having the access to the Ethernal legacies is basically rewriting a whole new plot for the future

If the timeline was not erased by the Time God at that time during the End, right now, one could see that the timeline would actually diverge so much that the way forward is now filled with fog.

But right now, this is the true and the only timeline of the Earth Prime.

As such, unknowingly Azief is now standing on the verge of a different future, of a different him and of a different ending

Sometimes, the most impactful stuff happens when you did not even realize it. That was always the case.

In history there is always thing like this. When one battle was lost, some people would not attribute it to something big.

But sometime that one loss of a battle is actually the precursor to the fall of an empire.

A birth of a person sometime is regarded only as a common occurrence.

But then one would be surprised to find out that the person who was born to be so ordinary would grow to conquer the whole known world

They did not know that they were in that momentous moment.

That is the story of history.
