

Shadow 121

Chapter 121: Conspiracy

The wind of the plains is soothing. The girl thought to herself as her cheeks enjoy the breeze.

It was not cold like the winds of the Ice Region that could make you shiver all the time.

It is not hot like the winds of the Flame region making you sweat buckets. It was not suffocating like the winds of the desert, winds with sands.

The wind of the plains is unrestrained and gives a sense of serenity.

As the wind blows Sofia long silky hair as it waves around following the wind, she began her explanation about the Seven Fairy

Azief was still at the helm holding the reins, his face looking forward, his ears listening

'The Seven Fairy is the undisputed ruler of the Western Plain, living nearby the Red Mountain with the Mountain Clans. Even the World Government gives them respect.' Sofia said and Sina who was beside her nodded.

After all they did clash with the Seven Fairy. It was not a good memory to revisit.

'Hirate tried to recruit these seven but they do not want to be bogged down by the World Government rules and they have some irreconcilable grudge with Lord Oreki.'

Azief nodded as he keeps listening

'What are their names?' Azief asked.

'Their names are Kim Sohye the Alioth, Kim Doyeon the Mizar, Choi Yoojung the Alcor, Im Nayoung the Alkaid, Kim Chungha the Megrez, Kim Sejeong the Phecda and Jeon Somi the Merak. With Seven Fairy, with seven swords, they employed the Big Dipper Formation, entrapping powerful people and annihilating their enemies.'

They named themselves like the stars Azief mused.

But then as he thought about it again he smirked as he recognizes these names.

In Earth Two, there is a girl gr- and his thoughts were dashed by Sofia words as Azief shakes his head.

'Yeah, and that's about it.' Sofia said. Azief was still thinking to himself. Of course, how could there be such a coincidence.

But as he was about to listen again he caught Sofia words.

'What? That's the only thing you know about them?' Azief said shocked at how little Sofia knows her enemies

'Yes.' She replied uncaringly

'I thought you clashed with them'

'We did.'

'Didn't you observe them?'

'I did and that is the result of my observation.' Azief rolled his eyes at Sofia and Sofia become slightly angry

'It's not like we have time trading greetings when we are busy trying to save our lives don't you think?'

'Hmph.'

'What about other things? Anything.'

'They're young' Sina suddenly interject.

'The youngest of them is 15 years old.'

'That....is a kid' Azief incredulously stated.

'Yes, but she is the strongest. Her vicious strike could lop off hundreds of heads.' Sofia added as she remembers the last time she was running out of grounds to run.

Of course in stories it depicted her and Loki easily run away but that is not the real version of the story.

'And they are cute' Sina said again as she smiles a bit. Azief shakes his head and then he said

'It was my fault to think you have any considerable intel'

'That's why I ask you why you punish Loki. He would be useful here.'

'Ok, enough of that. I make a mistake, ok. It happens.'

Sofia giggles looking at Azief exasperated face.

Then Sofia and Sina began chatting again, while Azief like usual watch the sky as they continue their journey home.

MEANWHILE IN A HILL NOT FAR AWAY FROM EDEN

'Red Abalone Soup, Roasted cockatrice skewers, spicy meaty fish and many more. Buy, buy, buy'

The sound of merchants peddling their wares fill the hill as the people on the hills, warriors, assassin, scouts and soldiers from many factions also participate in this gathering.

And when there is this kind of gathering, merchants swarm in searching for profit.

Warp was sitting on a chair on a newly built tavern. His hair has grown longer and so is his height.

But he still retains his childish looking face and his smooth skin. A lot of people can be seen drinking and eating.

There is a beautiful woman seating not far away from Warp flirting with some warriors.

But Warp knows behind that flirty looks and enticing words, she is a spy for the Royal Family of Britain.

She was wearing beautiful armour and jewelry all over her.

But this does not make her looks gaudy instead because of her personal charm she looks elegant.

Must come in handy in wringing out poor bastard out of important information Warp thought to himself.

Emma. That is her name....or one of her names. Warp as one of the important people in the League of Freedom of course knows such information.

Not far away from her, sits Maximoff. A Sniper. His long brown hair reaches his neck. He was sturdy and tall, buff like a gym maniac.

Behind his back is a sniper made of obsidian black like crystal.

The weapons of the World Orb are always a little weird but still retain the shape of some of the Earth weapons.

Maximoff is known to keen minded and has a gathering of intelligence network in the Ice Region far away from the prying eyes of the Revolutionary Army.

His mentor is Paulette, Emperor Jean woman.

Then there is Takashi the Poison Master.

His motive is easily inferred. He must have come for the Genius Alchemist Sina to gain more understanding on his path.

Warp has heard the story that he battles with the Medicine Sage Liu Wenzhang in herb comprehension and pill making competition.

Everyone here has their own motives. They all recognize each other but they did not bother each other.

Now, that is a battle for another day.

Spies have their spying missions. A sniper has their sniping mission. And for people like Takashi who wanted to improve themselves he must have his own goals too.

Warp also has his mission and agendas. Then Warp heard others shouting.

'Buy swords from me! I guaranteed even encountering an Legendary type monster, my sword will not break.'

Then another man shouted with a loud voice and jovial tone.

'Don't listen to him. His Blacksmithing skill is worse than I, Romund. I dare say buying from me would be more beneficial for your quest then buying it from that stinky git.'

There is this kind of banter all over the crafts alley, an alley dedicated to sell crafts. Of course these alleys would disappear after the event ended.

The district would be torn down, the alleys would disappear and this festive hill also will return to be a lonely hill like before.

In this hill today, hundreds of character gathers together.

There are craftsmen selling their wares. There is also some butcher that sells exotic livestock gotten from all over the world.

Griffin's meat, hydra meat and even wyvern meat.

Hundreds and hundreds more kind of food all can be bought if you have the gold.

All of these could give warriors and combat related profession buffs and even give some people unique abilities though this depends on the person eating it.

Carpenters, builders, smiths, bakers, leather workers also come to the gathering to promote themselves selling their services to other people.

While it is true that the production class is not that favorable in battlefield but without them most of the things that the warrior wears will be not up to par.

With great blacksmiths you will have great weapons. With great armorer you will have great armour.

With good chef, you can enjoy great food that boost your regenerative capabilities and even increases your level.

Even builders also have their uses.

For someone who wanted their own home if not builders, who else can they turn to?

With their specialized skills, give them enough resources and they can build you anything. Of course their way of leveling up is different than normal people.

They still could try to raise their level by following warriors to battle but that will not help them much since their EXP gain will be higher if they follow their production path.

Not all is like Lord Shadow, Raymond, Lord Oreki or Katarina. Not all of them have unique classes and have their own preference and artifact that grows with them.

Take for example Lord Shadow.

His Six Saber is already a Celestial Weapons that once shakes the universe during the Deva and Shura Great War five thousand years ago.

His Ten Rings once belonged to a Demon King that killed thousands of Demon Dukes and thousands of Demon Count.

Then take a look at Raymond. His weapon is a huge hammer but that was before he found Sharur when he was exploring a ruin.

Sharur is an enchanted talking mace. It has the power to fly across vast distances without impediment and communicate with its wielder.

It provides crucial intelligence to the wielder.

Sharur may also take the form of a winged lion.

And while Katarina did not reveal any of her weapons, many speculates that when she defeated the Yeti, she might have been rewarded a great weapon.

But no one truly envy them for having these weapons?

Why?

Because they bet their life on the line to get those weapons.

Azief endure humiliations and had to swindle, lie, and cheat to survive in the Demonic Realm and finally manages to become the fisherman in troubled water and acquire the Ten Eternal Rings.

Raymond lost a lot of his loyal soldiers in his expedition to defeat the monster at the end of the cave.

The same could be said for Katarina.

She is even wounded and is still recuperating with many of the Revolutionary Army defenses is left to Jean.

Without risk, these great people would not have these weapons but how many really dare to risk their lives to gain strength when they could live peacefully and slowly rise up the ranks.

But what these people would never realize, that going slowly while it is a noble virtue, they also would be left behind.

Each day they laze around, these great people would leave them a thousand steps behind. Another days passes and their figures could no longer be seen.

The more days passes, these great people will left them so far behind that by the time the lazy reach these people, they could only bow and prostrate themselves like a subject in front of a might emperor.

The purpose of the World Orb is to strengthen humans but if the humans could not be brave and thrive though life and death trials, how could humanity become strong?

It is the people who manages to risk their lives and emerges alive will stand atop among the masses.

The mentality of the strong can be said to have these kind so thought. 'I rather die than being weak.' 'I'll survive.' 'I will enjoy these troubled times.'

These are the kinds of thoughts they have. Some are molded by the death of their loved ones.

Some are molded with the intuitive feelings of survival. Some are guided by righteous notions.

Some are guided by divine powers. While some....just loves the chaos and would add fire to it.

Then the sound of the shouting and bantering enters Warp ears again and he shakes his head.

All of these craftsmen promote themselves.

Some smith told the warriors sitting under a large tree nearby the hill, that he could forge a weapon that could cut a mountain though no one believes him.

When Warp first arrives here the blacksmith also told him the same thing and Warp almost laughs.

There are many craftsmen like that. The question remains?

How could these weak craftsmen without any strength to fight a large army could survive these chaotic era and even travel here unharmed and without delay?

Because they have the Merchant Association.

In terms of wealth, resources, talents there is no organization on earth right now that could rival the Merchant Association.

They dab their hands on a lot of pies. They sell information, weapons, rare items, transportation, artifacts and even people.

It is not surprising that not anyone would readily offend them or try to fight them directly.

And not to mention in all the scuffles between factions or organization, the Merchant Association is neutral, making no one really have any justification to attack them or unite people to attack them.

They just supplied whatever these factions wanted and that's it.

The taverns that are erected on the hills, the market that is thriving in the hills will be destroyed when this meet ends.

This is the power of production that the Merchant Association had.

And the Merchant Association also has their own reason for also coming here other than just profits.

They want to assess how much of a threat Lord Shadow really is.

Warp smiles a bit as he look outside the tavern. At least he could get out from the Lords of the Forest meeting.

The Demon Ape on the Western Forest is behaving strangely which even prompt the High Lord Lee Sangmin to orders the Council of Lords to quickly engage the Ape Mountain.

Not to mention, the fact that the atmosphere here is like a festival.

People flirting, laughing, eating, playing, it has been a long time since Warp feels like this.

Since the Fall, Warp has always been afraid.

Afraid to die.

So that is why even though the secret mission for unique class is dangerous he does not mind since he could teleport anywhere he wanted to if he succeeds.

He wanted to disappear.

Who would have thought even though he could teleport he still manages to put himself in danger time after time.

The things he does for brotherhood.

On the outside of the tavern is a large screen made of a monster hide that is connected into an Image Crystal and shows the aerial situation of both the camp of the Seven Fairy and the village of Eden.

On the Seven Fairy side, from the screen people could see that the Seven Fairy has started to move again to the village with large dust behind their trails.

Ten thousand people moving together with their family with caravans on the back rear and hundreds of stuff on tow surely creates a magnificent scene.

On the village two hundred cavalry can be seen outside the village, on the open field looking murderously at the sight of the dust.

'Bring me some wine' Warp ordered as he keeps looking at the screen. The main event is not yet started but the prologue sure is interesting

'Right away, Sir' one of the waiter of that tavern quickly takes Warp orders. This tavern belongs to the Merchant Association.

The merchant Association is headed by Patrician Enzo.

He is known to travel anywhere there is a demand.

Where there is a demand there is supply from the Merchant Association. After the White Explosion the World Shop could not be accessed anymore making that the only one who could access Shop is the Merchant Association.

They have dealings with all the major powers.

Enzo has dealings with the Revolutionary Army, the World Government, the Forest Region, the Fire Region and with the factions all around the world.

A merchant is different from other classes in that their EXP is gained when they make a profit.

Their attack strength is weak but the amount of weapons they have is enough to make some low level warrior to feel despair.

Now that the area around Eden is full with people wanting to see good show, how could the merchant association not use this chance to send rookie merchants to gain experience by selling assortment of goods.

Most of the people here in the Hill is coming here to gauge the strength of the Seven Fairy and Lord Shadow.

They are unstable elements. Lord Shadow rises to fame in just one leap.

By defeating Sasha the former number one figure of this generation, he has cemented himself as the strongest person in the world.

Not to mention his battle video has already been sold to the interested parties by the Merchant Association.

The Merchant Association has eyes and ears on everything and everyone.

Some say they work with the Eye, another organization that is as mysterious as the Forest Region Lords of the Forest.

In that video not many could see Lord Shadow full power since Lord Shadow overwhelm Sasha from beginning to end without using his full power.

If these organizations could not gauge true power of Lord Shadow, how could they plan to take him down in the future?

Know your enemy.

Any wise man would employ this tactic.

But not all that came here has these objectives. Some just like a show like the Twelve Pale Ghost of Tianshan.

The Twelve Pale Ghost of Tianshan is bunch of Orb Forming bandits in Yue. They occupied a mountain and name it Tianshan.

Because of their pale face and their eccentric demeanor people call them Pale Ghost of Tianshan.

During the Wei incursion to the land of Yue, the Pale Ghost help Feng Jing by showing a route hidden by the forest to mount a sneak attack on Yue defense.

At the time Wang Jian was the General in Chief of the entire army.

Because of the Tianshan Ghost help Wang Jian lost thousands of men, his brothers and comrade.

Incensed with anger, Wang Jian sent his army to burn the mountain and kill the other bandits hiding in that mountain.

Since then they wander the land. Today, they just came here to enjoy the show. Then they are also the Immortal Couple.

People only call them the Immortal Couple and does not know their name. They were both young.

The woman was beautiful and possesses this otherworldly beauty with white flawless skin and long silky hair that reach her waist, she was like a fairy, an unrestrained immortal playing in the mortal world.

The man was handsome with a boyish look, like a cute boy but possess the charisma of a man, his hair was wavy and his stature was imposing like a great general leading millions of men

The male uses a big brush that is full of runic design coiling around the brush tip.

The woman uses a flute that controls the beast around the hut and even controls vibration around her.

They were Energy Condensing Stage Middle Realm Expert who lives a life of seclusion from the outside world and rarely do they go out from their hut on the Forest Region.

But now they come out to see the battle.

They already spend lavishly in the tavern ordering all kinds of exotic food and drinks while drinking, laughing, flirting and kissing each other, not caring for other people gaze and looks.

Warp knows them.

He even met them a couple of times, as he tries to recruit them to enter the League of Freedom but he has never been successful.

This couple really not care about happens to the world and just keeps being lovey dovey all the time which disgust Narleod.

But Warp on the other hand admires this couple.

To remain in love and steadfast even after the world has gone to hell, to have each other, to have a hand to hold and someone to love, isn't this a blissful life?

Someday, Warp also wanted that kind of life.

After Narleod is finished with his revenge, Warp will ask him for him to be released from the League.

He wanted to live freely, to travel all over the world, to see all the regions and enjoy good food and fine company.

'Hmm' he sighed.

To be as leisurely as the Immortal Couple, travelling the lands with a lover, kissing and enjoying each day in a blissful manner, to laugh at the world and travel where the wind blows.

Warp is not as leisurely as the Immortal Couple as he was tasked here to find out the Seven Fairy strength.

Warp knows he has no chance of recruiting man as powerful as Lord Shadow.

Strong people have their pride. How would Lord Shadow let himself be subjected under others?

And reading the reports about Lord Shadow, probably the moment Lord Shadow meet Narleod, he would kill Narleod.

But the Seven Fairy is different.

They even have grudge with one of the Quorum members.

Warp has decided that if the battle between the Seven Fairy and Lord Shadow turns disadvantageous towards the Seven Fairy, he will save them using his Teleportation ability.

Right now, his teleportation ability has level up.

He now can teleport around 20 people as long as the weight did not exceed ten tons.

And Warp is not the only one who wanted to know about the Seven Fairy.

After all the Seven Fairy level of powers is as just as mysterious as Lord Shadow.

They rarely fight. And even if they fight they rarely employ their formations and unleash their whole strength.

So no one knew how powerful their formation really is.

Even though, Oracle Erika has proclaimed to the Revolutionary Army that the Seven Fairy when combined their powers would not lose out against a Seed Forming user, that still just talk.

Some come here to verify whether the Sword Formations of the Seven Fairy is really as formidable as it was told in rumors.

Not to mention all the Seven Fairy is at Energy Disperse Stage Middle Realm.

How would they fare against the Seed Forming High Realm that is Lord Shadow?

‘Here is your wine’ a waiter served a bottle and put it on the table. Warp just nodded and gesture him to leave

‘The glass, sir?’

‘Don’t need it’ he said.

The waiter nodded and understands.

The waiter knows how to serve a customer, but after the fall, rarely one could see people drinking or eating as gentlemanly as before.

Most warriors just drink like barbarians; eating food is also the same.

As long as they get meat, they will open a fire pit, roast the meats, seasoned it with some spice, gathered together in a large group and eat it while laughing and bragging about today hunt.

After the fall, etiquette is not that important but people become freer. Eat when you are hungry.

Get angry when you are angered. When people hit you, you hit back. When people stole your stuff, you stole it back.

You like her and she like you? Have sex on a bush somewhere if you could not find any house.

You could die tomorrow or the next hour. So people stop caring about how they would look and become braver.

Since every moment is precious, they live without regret, they love without pride, they seek great adventure, they enjoy each moment.

They climb the tall mountains, they run through the rivers, letting the water wash over them, they breathe deep of the clear air of a reborn earth, and contemplate the precious stillness.

They fight great monsters and even if they die, they die with a smile.

Why?

Because they live so vigorously, so diligently, so honestly, so that at the last moment, there is nothing to regret.

Even Death would envy their lives.

Humanity becomes more honest.

Only people who are at the top have the leisure to eat slowly, to drink slowly.

The people who schemed, who directed wars, who fought for land and amassed armies and weapons.

The people who will lead this chaotic era.

They eat slowly. They drink slowly. Because they scheme with each sip taken, with each piece of meat eaten.

And they have a lot of regrets.

Why?

Because their ambition is bigger. Some unachievable. When they take their last breath most of these men would feel dissatisfied.

They should have done more. They should have more. Too many things they desire that most of them forget what is in front of them.

But without these dreamers, humans will not move forward. If Earth is to survive the troubling times ahead, they need the dreamers.

And in the end, there is no right answer to life anyway.

Thinking of this, Warp uncorked the wine bottle and took a gulp, smiling all the while, thinking to himself, how happy he would be if he could smile at his last moment, without any regret on his heart?

Then as he put back the wine on the table soundly someone shouted.

'Look! Look! Eden cavalry has engaged the Seven Fairy.' Warp was shocked as he stands up on his seat.

Why would the cavalry of Eden suddenly attack the Seven Fairy? Shouldn't they wait for Lord Shadow to come first?

But the people in the tavern could all see as the two hundred cavalry broke through the encirclement of Seven Fairy armed guard and one of the officers of Eden decapitated the head of a woman.

And they started swinging their weapons left and right killing men, women, children and the elderly.

With a momentum of an unstoppable tornado, the cavalry swept through the defenses of Seven Fairy camp like a sharp blade that tore through a paper.

The Seven Fairy can be seen trying to stop the attack and is shouting

'We come in peace!' One of them even shouted

'We're seeking an alliance with your Lord' and suddenly Warp has a bad premonition.

Even on the screen the voice was clear and the resolution is even higher making some of the people gathered here to puke and vomit seeing such one sided battle.

Warp studied the screen and he realizes an important fact.

Seeing the composition of the Seven Fairy people, most of them are elderly, woman, children and disabled men.

Could they come to Eden seeking protection?

And then he remembers the weird behavior of the Demon Ape and how High Lord Lee Sangmin warned that the Forest Region might be attacked by a horde of monsters, that the tutorial is over and now the real game begins.

On the screen, the two hundred cavalry keep killing and trampling people with their cavalry.

One of the officers even kills a five year old kid.

The mother tries to stop the officer from killing his son but the mother got herself cut into two.

This kind of tragedy repeated itself in that field.

Some are crying, while some try to fight but in front of the cavalry and the organized army how could those ragtag bunch muster energy to halt their advance.

From the screens; one could see that one of the Seven Fairy was crying in sadness.

She was pretty and her face was innocent and soothing to look, charming everyone with each glance.

But seeing this scene, her tears that could render any heart man to waver could not stop flowing but then her sadness quickly turned into fury as she shouted

'Sisters. Let's employ the Seven Dragon Rampaging the Sky Formations. We come in peace but it was them that provoked us. We could not let our people to die meaninglessly.'

All Seven women who were trying to explain to the officers that they did not come with bad intention all change their stance and killing intent as sharp as a blade emanated from them.

The land beneath their feet sunk by 1 meter and sharp aura fill the open field, a sharp aura that seems to be able to cut through anything.

Then a dragon roar pierces the sky as an image of a white dragon appear on top of the field.

The Seven Fairy moves into their position and then they unleashed seven sword energy that gathered together to form a gigantic image of a 20 feet white dragon composed of sword energy that attacked the cavalry charge.

The dragon roars, and the clouds changed colors as pressure of a mountain could be feel to descend to the field

One of the officers in the front when he saw the dragon image coming towards him shouted as loud as possible

'Retreat! Retreat! Ret-' But even before he manages to retreat his body was shredded by the dragon which is composed of tyrannical sword energy.

Not even his bones were left as it was shred. It was the equivalent of putting a man inside a giant blender machine.

Warp on the other hand began to understand something. There is a great conspiracy here! This is because as he looks at the screen he recognized a person.

To be more accurate,, it is not a person he recognizes but a pendant. Ten pendants on ten officers.

Warp could not help but grit his teeth. Narleod, could you be this cruel? Warp thought angrily at himself.

Warp closes his eyes and he finally put the pieces together.

This is Narleod play.

And Lord Shadow and the Seven Fairy is the actor while he is the director. The pendants which Warp saw is the Thousand Face Pendant sold by the Merchant Associations. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

It is a top secret invention of Merchant Associations and is very rare. It is molded after the ability of the Trickster after his last stint on the World Government.

There are some rumors that the Merchant Association has someone capable of mimicking certain abilities and transferring that ability into accessory.

And that pendant, there are only 20 in production.

But Warp is not the only one who realizes it.

The group of people who knows the dark secrets of the organizations, like Emma, Lord Takeshi, Maximoff of course also recognizes the pendants but they could not do anything.

Since they too understand why Narleod would do such a thing.

An alliance of Lord Shadow, the strongest man in the world, with the formidable Seven Fairy of the Western Plain is not something any other organization would like to see.

But Warp knows the other reason why Narleod do this.

The reason why Warp is here. The supporting actor.

Narleod wanted this battle to happen because Narleod is confident that Lord Shadow will defeat the Seven Fairy and he is sure that Warp act of saving the Seven Fairy will surely wins the Seven Fairy allegiance.

But as Warp watches the battle that is happening in the open field, he ask to the wind

'How far have you fallen, Leonard?'

Chapter 122: One step forward, two step backwards

The owl hooted in the dark of night. The wind was calm and tranquil, bringing serenity to the heart.

Sina was sleeping under a comfy large comforter. Beside her was Sasha, still lying on the stretcher but her breathing has stabilized and is on the verge of sleeping.

They are now resting nearby a creek. A moderate sized tent is erected under a huge tree, with a fire pit outside the tent.

The fire is still burning. The chariot is already stored away in a mark on Sina hand. It was a peaceful night.

The wind of the Plains, like always, is soothing.

Sina sleep tight knowing that if anything dangerous happen Azief would handle it.

A Seed Forming High Realm with one seed is almost an invincible existence right now and that Seed Forming High Realm user is right now guarding the area, so Sina has nothing to fear.

But contrary to Sina expectation, Azief was not on the area. Instead he and Sofia is walking along the creek, enjoying each other company.

If Sina knows she might say Azief is slacking but even when he was walking along with Sofia, his divine sense is still active so Sina should have nothing to worry about Azief was walking slowly with Sofia matching his steps.

Tonight is beautiful.

The moon shines brightly and the atmosphere was nice and as Azief look at Sofia he could not help but notice how stunning she is now.

With a bow sling behind her back she looks charismatic. Her face now is free of blemishes, flawless like a polished jade.

She is taller and her posture radiated power and charisma.

But what caught his attention were her eyes. They were like stars, shining bright. And then Azief heart beat and skips and jump.

He gulped as he looks at her lips. Was it because of the moon? Or was it because of the atmosphere?

The scenery?

The beautiful night?

He doesn't know but for some reason he could not hold back....knowing he will make himself vulnerable.

And he said as he stops suddenly. Sofia also stops walking

'You know. I never understand why people built statue for the dead.' Sofia was shock at this random thought but she still reacted

'Uh...ok?'

But Azief continues his words.

'It's like people have this weird notion that the dead would be flattered if the living construct a statue for them. Like somehow, if we create a statue for the dead, they are immortalized. But they are not.'

Azief wanted her to understand. He wanted to confess. But the words could not come out easily. What comes out is this nonsense spiel

Then even under his nervous feelings and the puzzlement of Sofia eyes he keeps talking.

'All we have is now. All we have is this moment. Right here, right now. And that is all that matters. And because I believe this I was fearless. Because I know every moment could be my last, I was not afraid. The moment I embrace the certainty of death, I was no longer afraid. It's ironic really.'

Sofia could tell Azief wanted to tell her something but she is not sure what he wanted to talk about.

So, like always, like she has always done for him, she listens this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

'You changed, don't you?' Azief nodded with a bitter smile. Was it a smile of regret or resignation? Sofia could only guess.

'You're right. I changed. I am not like that anymore.'

'What changed?'

Azief sigh and he looks at the sky. He looks at the twinkling stars that riddle the sky, look at the shining moon and feel the wind on his cheeks and he said

'I've seen a lot of things in my journey. Meet hundreds of people. I've seen countless events repeating itself. I saw countless of worlds and universes. The more I see, the more I want. I hunger for more. I thought to myself what if I could live forever? Eternally? And as I desire more for life, my fear for death returns.'

'Why?' Sofia asked. Both of them looked at each other in the eyes and both hearts beats, skips and jump.

Sofia blush. Azief gulped. There was a palpable tension between them. With their eyes, they say the things that they do not dare say directly.

I miss you.

I want you.

I desire you. All of this could be seen in their gaze. But Azief broke his gaze and he continue saying

'The more I knew, the more I desire, the more I hesitated. I deliberated. I delay. Why do you think that is Sofia? Because if you accept that there is moment and moments leading to your future, if you accept that you're here and now will always be there, that your moments will last, then you start to be cautious. Because if you accept all that then that means, your actions have consequences in the future.'

And Azief come closer to her. Sofia did not budge.

Almost like she wanted him to come to her. Her embarrassment faded replaced by a certain determination.

Azief look at her deeply and all he could think about is how stunning she looks under the moonlight.

He then said

'It's easy when you accept that every moment could be your last but when you know, you know, that you could have all the time you want, then you take each step with caution. You plan and plan, because every step have consequences. You hide your feelings because you fear how it will turns out. You don't say certain things because you fear something good might change. What if it doesn't work out? What if even if you put in the effort it won't work? What if, it all could fall apart? And that is what I'm afraid of. That something good could fall apart with one wrong word, with one wrong decision. And I don't want that to happen. Not to us. Because I swear I could see our future as clear as day. And it is good. What we have between us....is good. But.....' and he looks into her eyes and her heart and his heart skips a beat.

There was ferocity in his eyes, a hunger, a certain thirst and fiery passion.

'Stars' he said looking at her eyes and he leaned in and he kissed her. She accepts him, embracing him like the sun embraces the moon.

It was hard. It was long.

It was passionate.

It was warm.

And sweet. Both of them lost themselves in that kiss.

It was like something erupted inside both of them, like all the unsaid words, the untold yearning, the longing all was melded and released in that kiss.

A kiss that confirms their feelings.

It was the kind of kiss that couldn't be forgotten. A kind of kiss that changes life. A kind of kiss that breaks open the sky.

The kind of kiss that steals your breath away.

The kind of kiss that shows both of them that every other kiss they had in their life had been wrong.

Her arms come around his neck and he pulled her against him. She kissed him as fiercely as he kisses her.

Azief clung to her tightly, knotting his hands in her hair and slowly his hand slid down to her waist.

They both wanted this.

They both waited for this.

His hunger that could never be sated, his thirst that could never be quenched.....both of that is being satisfied

And suddenly Azief broke the kiss.

They both are flushed. But dumbfounded. And puzzled.

'Why...did you do that?' Sofia ask, her face is still flushed red

'I don't know.' Azief said hesitantly

'You don't know what to do or you don't know how you feel?' Sofia ask again, as she glares at Azief, confused on what to feel.

'Maybe both.' He answered

'So, what now?' Sofia ask, looking at him, hoping for a news start between them.

'I don't know. I seriously don't know. But I don't want to ruin this.' Sofia face fell. It's not the answer she expected or want.

'So....you don't know.' And Sofia pushes Azief body slowly and she said with her eyes slowly filling with tears

'Then, you shouldn't have done that.'

And she moves away from Azief but Azief could not just let her go like that. He grabbed her hand and pulls her back close.

'I know!' He said his tone slightly rose. He forcefully grab her towards him and hug her.

'Release me!'

Bad man!' Sofia shouted as she keep pounding her hand on Azief chest.

For a minute Sofia keep pounding at Azief chest with eyes full of tears before she finally calmed down. Then slowly he releases her.

Azief was taller than her so Sofia had to look up to see his face. There is a bit of distance between them now.

But their heart beats as fierce as before. Their eyes locked at each other, with as many unsaid words as before.

Azief uses his left hand to slowly caress Sofia cheeks stained by her tears. Her tears have already flowed down her eyes, overwhelmed by her own emotions and confusion.

He sighed.

'It seems I hurt you again. I keep hurting the people I love. But I just couldn't help myself.'

'Sina was right about you.' Sofia suddenly said

'What did she say?'

'You are a player' Sofia said as she glares at Azief, looking at him with an expression of hurt and dissatisfaction. Azief chuckles a bit.

'She said that?'

Sofia nodded. And Azief couldn't help but realize how cute she is. Her eyes are full of tears but her cheeks are red.

'I don't know what we are' Azief suddenly said.

'But what we have....it's good.'

Sofia didn't say anything but she manages to push away Azief again. And she walks away but this time Azief did not grab a hold of her again.

Azief sighed not knowing what to do. Sofia on the other hand is confused with Azief behavior.

Did he like her.....or not? Not knowing what to think and feel Sofia went to her tents and trying to get a wink of sleep.

But she knows she will not be able to sleep tonight.

Even as she lays down on her makeshift bed made of comforters, her heart keep beating furiously, her cheeks remains red and her thoughts is in a mess.

Her mind keeps replaying the kiss. She slowly touched her lips and smiles sheepishly before shaking her head.

Then in a whisper she said

'He is certainly a player' she said as she couldn't help but keep smiling.

On the other hand Azief is still near the creek as he checks his status to calm his heart down.

Think of something else. He didn't want to think about the kiss. His cheeks were red as he thinks of how bold he was being towards Sina.

He shakes his head and then focus back on his status.

Many of his skills have been upgraded during his journey and all of his skill points have been used.

His Precision has turns to Expert Precision.

There is also Great Soul Perception, Pure Divine Sense, Grand Telekinesis, Expert Water Element Manipulation, and Large Grand Healing

He also possesses Wyrms Nerve after he eaten about ten Wyrms meats. And he also has the Clouds Dispersing Fist

But skill points are no longer present in Seed Forming. In Seed Forming there is another level of improvement.

In Seed Forming to level up a skill it no longer depends on the skill points since skill points will no longer be rewarded in Seed Forming but depends on two things.

The frequency of the skills used and the essence provided.

If you use the skill frequently then it will level up eventually.

That is how Azief was able to level up his Divine Sense even after it was maxed out during his Energy Disperse Stage.

That is because when you stepped into Seed Forming there is a qualitative change in your body and the same could be said for the user aura and energy.

Seed Forming could break the limits of the Energy Disperses Stage limitations of power in leveling up the skills.

The other way to level up a skill in Seed Forming is to sacrifice essence to immediately increase skill ability.

Essence is longevity, energy, and aura.

Imagine essence is like water in a glass bottle.

Imagine the glass bottle is now full. When it is sacrificed it is like pouring the content of that glass bottle into a cup.

It needs to be replenished again but this time by external help hence the term sacrifice.

It is different when a user infused essence in his or her attack.

Because it is not sacrificed, it will be replenished automatically.

Azief Shadow Lord Items has also level up in his four years of adventures. But their status window are a little bit different than in the past

Azief checks his Lord Shadow items.

Even though his Lord Shadow items is on a level of its own Azief knows that with his Six World Exterminating Sabers, there is not a lot of weapons that could contend with the Six Sabers.

‘Damn!’ He suddenly cursed.

It seems no matter how he tries to clear his mind he could not forget the kiss.

He kisses her because he could not help himself. He was curios. Confused and puzzled at his own attraction to Sofia.

He instinctively knew during that kiss.

It was not the first time he loved a woman before but it didn’t feel like this. He has kissed before, but it didn’t burn him alive.

Like a fire ignited inside him. Passion that burns dangerously.

And the fact that he could not feel time moves. Was it a minute, or was it an hour?

All he know is that kiss, and how soft her skin is when it brushes against his, and that even if he did not know it until now, he seems to have been waiting for this person forever

But he knew.

He knew he gave a part of his heart at that moment, knew he could sacrifice his life, if it's for her, knew that no matter how he tries to deny or find a rationale he fell in love with her.

And that scares him more than he could imagine.

He never felt more vulnerable, more powerless when faced with love. There is no measure of control.

And the fact he desires her that much, that he couldn't even help himself kissing her with all of his might scares him even more.

In all of his life, he always wished to feel an intense feeling of love.

It's true.

While Azief itself is not a romantic person, he always wished he could love a person so strong that he could gush with emotions.

Azief envy those people who love like there is no tomorrow. But that was because he never knew how that kind of love really felt.

He felt it with Na Eun. The moment he had to seal the path leading to Earth Two, he despaired.

He did not show it but one could only imagine the pain he felt.

And when he returned and saw Sofia feelings for him, the care she had for him, he shy away.

Because the pain that will follow such love will be heartbreaking.

And Azief knows it better.

Because he knew someone will get hurt at the end of this relationship. And that person isn't Sofia....but him.

The fact is...that no matter how Azief tries to get her of his mind, he could never do it. Since when he liked her?

How can he know the exact moment he questions himself in may occasion. He remembers all the moment he shared with her.

During high school.

The beach.

The stall near the school on a windy night.

The mall filled with stiffs.

The adventure at the river.

The forest where they fight the apes.

The battle with the Unique Class quest.

The battle at the temple.

He remembers all the moment he shared with her. He remembers all the things she did for him.

The way he cared for her.

The way she called his name.

The way she frowns when she is annoyed. The way she creased her eyebrows when she doesn't know what to do.

The way she smiles when she is happy.

Then he asks something to himself.

If somebody else did the same thing she did would he also like it?

And suddenly Azief scoffed as he realizes something.

'No.' And he smiles.

'I liked her from the start. From the start' he repeated, Azief only weakness it seems is his fear towards other people feelings for him.

Because he was not used to it.

Because he is afraid of how that person feeling will change him and how his feeling could control him.

He looked at the direction of Sofia tent and sigh.

Then he smiles in that mysterious way and he couldn't help but laugh.

'You move one step closer, I move two steps backward, you'll take three steps closer. It seems I could never escape.'

With a smile, he returned to his tent and waited for tomorrow.

The next morning the ride the chariot and fly to the sky again.

'It's not far now' Azief said to Sina. Sasha seems to have recuperated and can be seen to be conscious again.

But she is still weak and requires Sina care

Sina sometimes look at Sasha and take care of her while she also has the time to look at Azief and Sina and how awkward they were at each other in the morning.

It was awkward more than the usual awkwardness.

When she ask Sofia , Sofia would only grunt noncommittally. When he asked Azief, Azief would just pretend he couldn't hear it.

Something happen Sina thought as she nodded alone in understanding and a smile form on her face.

'Hmm...this is weird' she said.

Azief sometimes would look back and look at Sofia but if Sofia seems to look at him, he would look back to the front.

'No matter how I think about this, something happen last night' Sina said as she come closer to Sofia.

'What happened, Soph?'

'I already told you, it's nothing'

'Doesn't seem nothing to me' Sina said as she look at both Azief and Sofia.

'Ask him, why ask me?' Sofia said as she looks at other direction, clearly intending to cut the conversation short.

Sina moved to the front closer to Azief.

'Azief, what happened last night?'

'What did she say?' And Azief gestured with his chin towards Sofia.

'Soph said nothing.'

'Is that so?' Azief said with a hint of dissatisfaction. Then lokking at Sofia with a sour face, Azief also feel his mood fell and he reply

'She's right. Nothing happened.'

'No. no' Sina eagerly shakes her head,

'Something definitely happen last night. Come on guys. Don't keep secret from me.' She was about to pester Azief again when suddenly Azief, Sina and Sofia sees something unbelievable.

Well, first came the sound. And then came the shocking scenery in front of them

Azief was the first to notice as he approaches the Central Plains. When he approached the Central Plains, he could sense a killing intent so potent, so deadly it fills the entirety of the Central Plain eastern region.

Sofia and Sina did not sense the terrifying killing intent but they did see the white dragon. Seven white dragon crisscrossing in the clear blue sky.

The white clouds changed colors looking a bit purple as the seven dragon seems to be roaring in anger.

'What the hell is that!' said Sina as she takes a few step backwards in shock.

Sofia was also alarmed. Azief on the other hand realizes something is wrong the first moment he saw the seven dragons.

That's the direction of our village Azief suddenly said and alarm rang inside Sofia and Sina mind.

'Is it....the Seven Fairy?'

Then suddenly a warning notification appears in front of Azief

WARNING!

Azief immediately realized. And suddenly the chariot flew even faster as Azief injected his energy inside the control orb of the chariot.

Azief what happen Sofia asked as he realizes Azief manners seems to be rushed. Azief did not turn back but he replied with grim voice.

'The Seven Fairy has begun attacking. They have come.' Then Azief handed the reins of the chariot to Sofia and Sofia nodded.

Then Azief fly to the clouds, as he splits the clouds with his speed intent on reaching Eden as fast possible.

Chapter 123: Truth revealed

The fires still burn brightly on the battlements with bodies hanging in eerie position. Some were nail to the place they die.

The field has hundreds of cold dead corpse.

Blood flows on the field like tears from the sky. Pieces of meat stuck on the ground, like a weird plant sprouting from the ground.

The smokes still spilling out to the peaceful horizon.

The tragic battle has ended. But the war has just begun.

When the battle began the resident of Eden were about six hundred people give or take. By the end, only three hundred remains.

Jeon Somi was standing up, pacing back and forth inside the room. Then looking nervous she looks outside the window of the manor.

She could see soldiers of Eden being tied up. The weak and the people who have no combat abilities were detained.

Since the Seven Fairy has Energy Disperse Stage level, they act as deterrent for the people of Eden to attack the Seven fairy weak people.

Most of the Western Plains people that Seven Fairy leads is comprised of the young, old, infirm, weak and children. There are a few young and adults at the beginning but most of them decided to brave the dangerous plains and seek safety at the Forest Region, leaving most of the weak on the Western Plains.

If not for the Seven Fairy, the Western Plains would be conquered by the Mountain Clan.

Even though the Seven Fairy advises the young to stay, they keep arguing that the Forest Region is safer and keep migrating only to die halfway on the journey.

They get killed by other people, robbed by experts or eaten by powerful beast.

Reckless and brave, youth is wasted on the young.

The only reason why the Seven Fairy did not migrate and live an easy life on the Forest Region is because they could not abandon the people of the Western Plains and primarily because the situation of the Seven Fairy is unique.

All Seven of them still have their parents, alive and safe. Some of them even still have their grandmothers and grandfathers who survived the Fall.

How could they leave each other family and embark on an easygoing life alone?

Somi keep watching her people securing vital military positions, while the old, young and the woman enter the wooden house of the village and stake their claim.

‘They are too impatient’ Somi thought to herself.

She did not invade this village yet or to be more accurate the requirement to invade the village is not yet fulfilled.

But it’s not like she wanted to conquer this village, and even if she did conquer this village, Somi didn’t think she has the capability to keep it for long

After all that is not the reason why she flee the Western Plains.

Somi is now in a bind. While they managed to storm the village and emerges victorious, Somi knows she has just invited a calamity to their group.

Not to mention, the people responsible for this tragedy is still not caught. The officers that initiated the first attack are nowhere to be seen.

If not for that officers losing all sense of decorum, would she storm and attack this village?

The village has been completely under the control of the Seven Fairy and there is even a status window appears that ask her if she wanted to conquer and the prerequisite to invade a village.

Since not all of the villagers is surrendering or get captured and she didn't catch anyone who has the authority to surrender she couldn't fully gain control of the village.

None of them surrenders. Especially the soldiers. Their eyes are full of hope. And Somi understand.

Loki the Trickster, Wang Jian the White Tiger, Sofia the Divine Archer and Lord Shadow. Each and every one of them is formidable.

How could they be afraid when hope is alive?

'Hah' she sighed

But her ten thousand people, which is now around 800 people is enough to keep the resident of the village under suppression for a while.

She also spotted Nayoung unnie taking a few soldiers to the interrogation room. Nayoung designated one of the house as an interrogation room and began her interrogation

The leader of the Seven Fairy is Im Nayoung, the oldest and the calmest.

It was her that advises Jeon Somi not to take control of the village just yet. Simply because Lord Shadow is not here yet.

It would be a big blow if after escaping the monster horde they will now die facing Lord Shadow.

Leave a way out for yourselves Nayoung always said to her.

It is easy after the Seven Fairy combine their strength to take the village. After all, the village has no Energy Disperse Stage expert.

Not to mention Loki the Trickster, Sofia the Divine Archer, and Wang Jian the White Tiger is not here.

Each one of those three is an Energy Disperse Expert proficient in battle.

Lady Sofia is proficient in ranged attack. Loki the Trickster is proficient in stealth attack and scheming.

Wang Jian the White Tiger is a genius in leading men into battle.

If any one of those three is here, the Seven Fairy would not so easily dismantle the defense of this village.

Then a voice startled Somi.

'Somi-ya.'

'Um..Doyeon unnie.' Somi look behind her, looking at Kim Doyeon lying down on the bed of the manor. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

She forgets that Doyeon is inside the room with her.

Doyeon white dress had some drops of red blood stain on her but that only adds to the beauty and elegance of Doyeon white dress.

'What now?' Doyeon suddenly ask

'I...' she hesitated in answering instead she sulk and said 'ask Nayeon unnie. She's the leader.' Somi said with a slightly raised tone. She felt like she is being blamed for something

'Yeah, but you attack.'

'Because they attack us. And if I remember right you also follow me attacking them' Somi said slightly her face fell

'Fiercely' she added

'I was swept by the moment.' Doyeon said showing an innocent smile.

'Hmph' Somi sulk and turn her back. Then Doyeon get up from bed and hug her from behind.

'Don't sulk, Somi. I'm not angry at you. But, we couldn't afford a battle with Lord Shadow right now. I don't know much about Lord Shadow but what I know from the news I got from the Merchant Association, he is very powerful' and Doyeon look serious.

Somi weakly nodded as Doyeon release her hugs.

'You know, Somi, you might be strongest out of the seven of us but you are too rash'

Somi did not say anything and just pouted.

Seeing this Doyeon doesn't have the heart to keep berating her. After all she is just a child. A sixteen years old kid....who is insanely powerful.

She is the center of the formation and her sword essence is the densest among all the seven.

Without her support, most of the formation of the Seven Killing Star would crumble.

Many people called them the Seven Fairy but that is what people called them.

Their class is actually the Seven Killing Star. Stronger together. Weaker apart.

The requirement for this class is that it has to be seven people who trust each other and must work well together.

Most of the user who first saw the requirement would discard this kind of class.

Why?

Because most people like to believe in themselves and individual prowess.

Most people who have the opportunity to step into unique class will choose class that has certain personal ability and specialties like Lord Shadow, or Dark Knight.

Some because they don't have seven friends to choose this class since this class is dependent on backing, supporting, helping and saving each other and also the requirement of seven people choosing this class.

Not many people, after the Fall could trust people so easily with their back.

But Sohye, Doyeon, Yoojung, Nayoung, Chungha, Sejeong and Somi were overjoyed when the seven of them read the description of the unique class.

All seven of them were friends.

Jeon Somi was the youngest and was a popular girl in her school because of her beauty and is also the daughter of a famous actor.

Choi Yoojung and Kim Doyeon are friends and is a trainee at an entertainment company. Im Nayoung is an intern an advertising company.

Kim Sejeong was the girl that saves these girls from getting eaten by stiff in the beginning of the Fall.

Kim Sohye was rescued by Doyeon in a fiery building.

Because of the life and death experience they encounter together they became the best of friends as close as siblings.

So when they wanted to choose a class, they all decided unanimously to choose the class Seven Killing Star.

United they are strong. Apart they are weak. It doesn't matter if their levels are not on par with their enemy.

As they activated the formation and as long as their stance is not broken, their position unbreachable, they will not likely suffer defeats.

When the White Explosion happens, maybe because of their class, they were transported together.

They then scour the Plains and managed to reunite with their family on the Western Plains. After that they carve their own territories near the Red Mountain on the Western Plains.

They usually clash with the Mountain Clans that occupied the Red Mountain.

Even though Doyeon look serious, she also doesn't know how to solve the problem they had now.

They come here because they wanted an alliance.

They even sent a messenger bird to the village after they found out about the village but they were no respond.

But then the Seven Fairy hear about the battle between Sasha and Lord Shadow, so they all concluded it was because Lord Shadow is not in his village and he didn't get their letters.

They also heard that Lord Shadow then began surrounding the Forests Region border with Wang Jian leading the charge.

Im Nayoung, Somi and Doyeon once clashed with the Divine Archer and the Trickster so they wanted to resolve the misunderstanding first so they sent another messenger bird.

Since Somi manages to get a shred of Sina clothes last time, Somi uses her scent as the guide for the messenger bird.

But then the Mountain Clans come down the mountains and the Monster horde follows them down led by a Godly rank monster.

A Godly rank monster is equal to a Seed Forming user.

So, they had to leave immediately, leading the people in an exodus, to flee from the large monster horde.

The Mountain Clans that follow them was decimated by the Godly rank monster before the monster suddenly stop and sleep with ten thousands of monsters behind it, waiting.

But of course, she and her people couldn't wait. So, they decided to form alliance with Eden.

Forest Region is out of the question since Narleod is there.

When they reach just a few kilometers away from the village, they sent another messenger.

But as they were waiting in peace, suddenly the cavalry come attacking. Even as Kim Doyeon thinks of it, she felt weird.

'Oh, Nayoung unnie' Doyeon suddenly exclaimed.

Somi also look at the direction that Doyeon is looking. Nayoung look distressed when she come out of the interrogation room and she seems to be coming to the manor.

'She seems distraught' Somi observed. Doyeon nodded while she felt the feeling of something wrong is getting stronger.

'Let's meet her.' They both come down to the Hall where Nayoung was about to jump to the second floor.

That was the level of urgency the news Nayoung was about to tell them.

'Whoa, unnie. Hold your horses. What makes you so distraught?'

'This is bad, Somi.' Nayoung said, her face was pale like a white sheet of paper.

'What? What's the problem?' Somi ask as she too could feel something is wrong looking at the calm leader looking like that.

'Someone is plotting against us!' And as Nayoung said this, there is also a trace of anger in her tone.

'What do you mean?' Doyeon ask as she come closer to Nayoung and hold her hand.

'Our messenger is dead.' Nayoung said as she feel herself calm down, holding Doyeon hand.

'Yeah, I deducted that much' Doyeon said. Nayoung shakes her head.

'No, you don't understand why he died'

'Isn't it because Eden wanted to destroy us? Even after we repeatedly send them message of peace.'
Somi said, with a tone of dissatisfaction

'No. No. No, that not how it happens.' Nayoung said and she continued

'The soldiers that we interrogated all said that the messenger we sent to the village declares that the Seven Fairy demand Eden surrender or the village will be burn to the ground and every man, woman and child will be killed if they do not comply.'

'What! Impossible! We never send that kind of message. That soldier is lying.'

Somi said in anger as her sharp aura accidentally leaked and terrifying sharp essence filled the manor

'Calm down' Doyeon said as she looks at Somi. Somi take a breath and her aura was sucked back into her body.

Nayoung continue

'That's what I thought at first so I ask him how is he so confident. Did he see our messenger said those words, or did he hear our messenger saying it?'

'And?'

'Their captain is the one who accept the messenger to come inside the village. When the messenger was allowed in, he was then brought to the captain. The captain then talks a few minutes before suddenly a commotion happened. When the officer I interrogated enters the room of the captain, he saw the messenger head was rolling in the ground. When that recruit asked the captain why he killed the messengers, the captain said that the messenger was asking Eden to surrender and told the soldiers that we came to conquer and pillage the village of its resources.'

'This...I..'. Somi stuttered as she doesn't know what to make of this.

'But that's not all' Nayoung said as her face turned grim and anger could be seen in her expression.

'This captain is the same captain who incited the cavalry attack on our people. It wasn't until I check the belongings of the dead that I piece all the information. One of the first officers that died in our attack was wearing the Thousand Face Pendant.'

Doyeon face turned pale.

'League of Freedom!' Doyeon shouted in shock.

Nayoung face turned grim and nodded.

Even though League of Freedom thought that the Seven Fairy has never had any contact with them and is neutral towards them what Narleod doesn't know is that one of the Seven Fairy family once served under the banner of the League of Freedom and learn of the true nature of the leader of that organization.

Because of that the Seven Fairy has always been cautious of the League of Freedom.

'There is no doubt that Narleod is behind this. He would not let the Seven Fairy allied itself with Lord Shadow.' Nayoung said as she balled her fist in anger and frustration

'So what do we do now, unnie?' Somi ask. She doesn't like being other people chess piece and this feeling of being manipulated leave a bad taste in Somi mouth.

Nayoung nodded and immediately tell of her plans.

'We have to tell our people to vacate the city and wait outside the village. We have to resolve this misunderstanding. We wait for Lord Shadow to come and explain our side of the story. This scheme of Narleod is really good!' Nayoung smiles bitterly.

Nayoung thought to herself.

Even though they could resolve the misunderstanding Nayoung don't know what Lord Shadow reaction will be after learning that his 200 cavalry is now only 50 men strong cavalry.

But she at least has to resolve the misunderstanding first.

'Now, come on. First we have to inform our people. Then we need to retreat as fast as possible from this village before it is too lat-'

Just before Nayoung could finish her words, a shout of wrath pierces the sky of the Central Plains, even shaking the ground.

It was more than just a shout, it was a roar.

This sudden roar, which was accompanied by the sharp sound of wind being split, startled everyone present.

The clouds overhead the village roils and the wind scatter in disarray. A supersonic boom exploded in the clouds, making some of the soldiers closes their ears trying to dispel the noise.

'SEVEN FAIRY! YOU DARE TOUCH MY PEOPLE!

Then all the Seven Fairy inside the village could feel their hairs all stand up as they sense a deadly killing intent is approaching the village when suddenly an explosion happens in the center of the village, leaving a 10 foot deep crater in the middle of the village.

It shakes the village while the people of the Seven Fairy were startled and some of them even fall to the ground.

The troops of Eden which now only numbered about 50 men, cheers. The resident of the village also shouted in happiness.

They come to this village because they were persuaded by Loki, Sofia and Wang Jian of the protection of a Seed Forming User.

It is worth it to come to this village.

Even though they are captured if a Seed Forming User personally comes to save them, how could these people that capture them be able to restrain them?

Now, they can finally see the Village Head.

And in the epicenter of that crater, after the dust settles, Sohye and Yoojung who was near the crater could see a man clothed in black aura, with a red saber on his right hand, blazing like a red sun.

He was just standing there, but his body emitted an aura of a God, and his gaze was as sharp as a sword.

His face shows wrath and fury like an Asura that crawls out from the deep torture of Hell.

Sohye and Yoojung quickly understand who the man on the center of the crater is. Lord Shadow.

Lord Shadow has return.

He has come.

On the Eastern Plain a man clad in blue lightning was deliberating some big decision. He was sitting in a sophisticated design seat made of wood

He was in his office and his eyes keep looking at the documents sent to him.

It seems my old friend will face a very sinister plot.

‘Should I move?’ and the man clad in the blue lightning hesitated.

He remembers how his friend reminds s him to never let his cover in World Government to be discovered.

He is Will. And he is Azief spy, important to Azief in procuring information.

Even when Azief was searching Sina , Azief did not call upon him. And Will understand why. If Sina is considered like Azief sister, then Will is considered to be Azief brother.

How could he risk Will life to save Sina? And at the time Raymond was doing full investigate measure to flush out the mole and Will doesn’t have the leisure to let his guard down.

Even Hirate is cautious of him now.

But now, should he stay here while Azief might be plotted terribly? He stands up from his seat and then deciding, lightning flashed inside his eyes and then he disappears from his office.

(Ok, now remember ch 91 as I summaries the population of Eden. At first the population of Eden was 315. Loki, Sofia and Wang Jian manage to bring back four hundred people more or less when they were being called to the Forest Border Region.

So, now we have about seven hundred people more or less in Eden. Wang Jian travelled with 100 troops with him teleported by all the reserve Teleport Stone that Eden has.

Now, the people in the village are six hundred people give or take. 200 troops were not teleported and marched through the Plains while Wang Jian troops have already engaged with the forces of the Forest Region.

Now, the population present at Eden is about 400 people give or take. But then Azief stop the rescue operation and send a sound transmission to the 200 hundred people who are not yet far away from Eden to return home.

Now, bolstered by this cavalry, Eden has 600 people.

Keep in mind, that when the battle began, Wang Jian and his 100 troops are riding the plains to Eden as opposed to Azief, Sina, and Sofia who is flying through the clouds with the chariot.

So when the battle began the two hundred strong cavalry was Wang Jian 200 strong cavalry. And the population in Eden was around 600 people. I explained this so people would understand.)

Chapter 124: Prowess

The explosion is like the harbinger of death descending to give bad news to the Seven Fairy.

He is standing on a huge crater, the land scorched and burns, as the fire still eating the soils.

The dust slowly settles and he scans this area with his divine sense and finally identify the Seven Fairy position and he crack his knuckles as laws and principle of this world slightly moved.

He then heard the people cheering for him.

‘Lord Shadow!’

‘Lord Shadow!’

‘Lord Shadow!’ the people cheering was like a song, their voice is high and full of life and anger.

Their voice is full of life because their savior has arrived, full of anger because of their humiliating situation right now.

Azief hair blows calmly as the winds of the plains keep blowing on his direction.

‘MY LORD, HELP US!’ one of the Eden soldiers shouted.

He was near the center of the village square so everyone could hear. The Seven Fairy people panicked and slap that man and yell ‘Shut up!’ Azief was enraged.

‘HMPH’ he snorted and Azief focused his attention to that man who slapped his soldiers. The man was an Orb Condensing Stage High Realm but when he was being locked by Azief consciousness, his Orb cracked and then shattered as the man kneels to the ground screaming.

‘ARGHH!’ The other soldiers of the Seven Fairy back away from their prisoner in fear and full of trepidation.

The man was still screaming as he could feel his Orb dissipated and turns into Pillars.

And then the Pillars cracked and exploded. The man spurted blood from his mouth like a fountain.

The pressure that is being locked on him is like he was being crushed by a mountain.

The man could not endure such pain and fainted on the ground, wiggling in pain, mouth frothing and bones breaking.

The other soldiers of the Seven Fairy look on in terror as their hands slowly tremble. If at first they felt dread, this time they felt an instinctive fear and they wanted to run.

Sohye and Yoojung who looked at this happening felt their hairs stand up.

They immediately know that they could not defeat this man if they fight him individually.

'You Seven Fairy really have the audacity to provoke me.' Azief said calmly but in his tone even though it is calm, it was imposing, an imperial will.

Even though his voice was calm, everyone could feel the fury present in that voice, making them shiver in coldness.

'Sisters!'

Sohye communicated urgently with their telepathic link and every one of the Seven Fairy immediately fly out from their places and converge around the crater

(fly out here does not mean fly like Azief but more like jumping high and fast while covering a large distance)

Nayoung did not even have the chance to explain before Azief suddenly appears.

Meanwhile on the center of the village, seeing that most of the Seven Fairy forces is afraid to approach them, one of the soldiers, Meng Yuan utilizes all of his strength and break out from his chains.

One of the soldiers belonging to Seven Fairy was shocked and tries to stop him with his spear, thrusting out his spear to attack Meng Yuan before a voice like thunder pierces the wind and yell

'STAY YOUR HAND!!' And the man's spear exploded while the man himself fell to the ground with blood spurting out from his mouth.

'Lord Shadow!' Somi yelled in anger seeing Lord Shadow's domineering behavior.

Azief did not only warn but he also injured that man.

But what is more astonishing, is that from the beginning to end, he was still standing right on that crater.

He merely uses his Suppression of a Higher Being on them.

And with his Pure Divine Sense he can concentrate his consciousness at one point and uses soul attack which attacks the attainment of levels.

The attainment of levels refers to the Pillars, The Orb, the Strand of Energy in Energy Disperse and the Seed in Seed Forming.

'Stop this instant!' Doyeon warned.

'Or what?' Azief said his tone was unwelcoming and severe.

Nayoung however was pale. Her worst case scenario has happened. But as she is the calmer one, she quickly said.

'Lord Shadow, let us Seven Sisters give you an explanation' she said as gently as possible

But how could Azief in the mood to hear explanation.

When he landed down he could see his men corpse on the field, his village battlement burned and destroyed how could he has the mood to hear explanation?

He comes down to teach Seven Fairy a lesson and end their lives as repayment for the departed souls of his troops!

If they think that Energy Disperse Stage could match up with a Seed Forming Azief is here to prove them wrong

What formation? What artifacts? Azief learns in his journey, if you possess the ultimate strength, strategy, formation, artifact all of these holds no meaning.

Azief was still holding the hope that maybe the Seven Fairy wanted to meet him for some matter before he saw the condition of his village but after seeing it Azief think he once again miscalculated.

After all, Azief could not possibly think any reason why the Seven Fairy would provoke him without reason

That is why he was very confident that the Seven Fairy did not come to attack his village and urge his soldiers to continue the search and rescue effort before.

But now?

What could he say to himself? So, he no longer wanted to waste time hearing any excuses or explanation.

He is angry at the Seven Fairy and at himself.

Little did he know, that he was right at the mark. But how could Azief knows other people also plotted against him.

'Explanation? Hmph. Did you think I come down here to hear your explanation? My men corpse on the battlement is enough explanation!'

Then his aura surged up to the clouds as his body was shrouded with golden light.

The clouds on top of his head turn golden, like the scenery of the paradise of Gods, illuminating the whole Central Plains.

Goldenskin aura that covered the clouds and surged up to the sky, only Eternal Body could create such a magnificent scene.

His physical body began reinforcing itself as invisible barriers forms in his skin, making him almost invulnerable.

The crater sunk one meter down as the pressure around Azief increased, each steps of his foot is like the weight of a hill.

First it was his skin. Then his flesh. And one could even see a trace of lightning sparks circling his flesh momentarily.

Ascending the Lightning Tribulation by his lonesome, it is no wonder; lightning also appears inside Azief body.

Lightning Essence exist inside Azief body, though it is scarce but the trace remains.

The area around him suddenly experienced a surge of increased temperature.

The fire on the edge of the crater suddenly was fanned alive, as fire broke out in the edge of the crater.

The surrounding atmosphere around Azief come crumbling down replaced by increased heat, making the Orb Condensing and Pillar Forming user to back far away from the crater.

The pressure and the temperature rise up exponentially, burning the grass and choking the air around them.

Then a dark aura exploded around him making the Seven Fairy backed up and jumping to their positions.

It has just been two seconds after Azief rebuked Nayoung. All of this weird phenomena happened in the span of two seconds.

'Please wait!' Nayoung once again pleaded. Somi on the other hand with the telepathic link, explain to the other Seven Fairy what has really happened.

But just because Nayoung said wait, will Azief who was full of anger and guilt right now stop?

It is he that forces others to stop and not the other way around.

On the center of the village square however, not far from the crater, yet also not near, there is a fierce fight between the residents of Eden and the forces of Seven Fairy.

The Seven Fairy could not move to help their forces, else risking that Lord Shadow defeated them.

After all they know without their formation, they could not hold up a candle against his prowess.

Azief also did not help any further.

After all, when he defeated the Seven Fairy later, with one wave of his hand he could destroy this rabble forces.

Azief must thank Meng Yuan.

After all, he could not fight 8 thousand people while at the same time focusing his attention in fighting the Seven Fairy.

And Azief would also likely hold back in killing unrelated parties. While he was not softhearted, it does not mean he was heartless.

Meng Yuan was smart. He did not run and bring the resident out the village instead performing guerilla operation inside the village.

Why?

Because Meng Yuan knows if he runs out the village, while their safety is guaranteed, Lord Shadow will have to face the brunt attack of 8000 people plus the Seven Fairy.

Meng Yuan does not know how powerful Lord Shadow really is but even he would be expended after fighting that many people.

And if Lord Shadow falls, in the end they would still suffers if the Seven Fairy wanted to exact revenge.

The other reason is because Meng Yuan wanted to accumulate merit.

If Lord Shadow acknowledged his help today, maybe later he will be promoted to captain and become the Marshall considering Nie Feng died.

Nie Feng the previous Marshall died when the Seven Fairy stormed the village. He uses all of his strength to repel the invaders while taking fifty people with him to Hell.

Meanwhile, near the crater, Doyeon shouted

‘He is not letting us explain! Employ the Elephant Defensive Formation! We must defend ourselves first!’

The other Fairy nodded and quickly white aura strand surges from their body and intertwine with each other as they all glow white.

‘HUMPH’

Azief snorted as he jump out of the crater and his Golden Domain spreads all across the village, as some of the buildings cracked because of the pressure.

It was the pressure of a God. Azief was looking at the Seven Fairy when Azief suddenly shot a palm strike towards an approaching force of soldiers.

The Palm strike scatter the forces as each and every one of them was flying back and landed on the ground, all with injuries on their body.

But none of them were death.

It was not because they are strong but because Azief held back because he realizes something about that battalion.

They were old men, and children. How could Azief bears it in his heart to kill the elderly and children.

‘Stay out of this!’ He yelled. And his voice spreads through the Central Plains.

‘Stop the attack, Meng Yuan!’ Azief ordered. Meng Yuan stopped.

Nayoung seeing this unexpected concession also shouted her order

‘Stop the attack!’ Azief look at Nayoung and a flash of respect appears on his expression.

'This is between me and the Seven Fairy.' Nayoung nodded.

She knew that Lord Shadow while he might let her people go he will not let go any of her sisters go.

That is his bottom line.

To Lord Shadow, the force of Seven Fairy while not entirely innocent, but they could not be blamed solely.

If their leader does not order attack, will they attack and risking provoking a man of his strength?

And the other reason is because Azief is not so coldhearted that he will kill weak children and elderly without reason.

But he could not spare the Seven Fairy.

After all if they do not participate in the battle, how could his 200 cavalry could not drive these rabbles away and delay while waiting for him to come back?

'This is my only concession' Azief said looking at Nayoung and he cracks his knuckles. The wind around him went away as energy roils out around his body.

The wind gives way and dissipated crushed by the pressure around him. Soundless. That is the phenomenon that happen around five meter radius around his body.

Even though one could not see, his bones in his body are glowing with runic pattern. Then he shot out a punch towards the Elephant Formation

Somi who was on the center of the formation yell out

'You think it is easy to break the Formation of the Seven Fairy! You are too confident!' Shouting this she thrust her sword forward and an illusory image of a twenty feet purple elephant appears as it stand in front of the Seven Fairy, protecting the formation with its body.

Explosion sounds filled the village square and anywhere this image of elephant passed the land beneath it exploded.

On the hill, the spectator looking at the screen yelled out. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

'What thick essence!' Some shouted

'Sword essence' some people with swordsman class exclaimed in amazement.

'No wonder the Western Plains could hold back the Mountain Clans. With the Seven Fairy ability, not many could contend them one on one' said a man with wine gourd on his left hip.

'Pity, that the Seven Fairy is matched up against a being like Lord Shadow' a man on the second floor of a nearby tavern comment and the crowd looks and pay their respect

'Celestial Painter Xu Cong, you think the Seven Fairy will lose?' ask the man with the wine gourd.

The man on the second floor nodded.

Opposite him is a woman, wearing a white dress, an otherworldly beauty, the symbol of an Asian beauty.

Celestial Painter Xu Cong and Heaven Flute Lihua are known as the Immortal Couple.

‘Just watch and my words will be proven right.’ He nonchalantly said and the crowds nodded in agreement and they watch the battle again.

On the village, Azief punch emits a droning sound that with each second become louder until it breaks the sound barrier in almost a fraction of a second, resulting in an explosion like sound.

The punch was powered by the Celestial meridian as and the punch was punched out, energy covered the punch with the droning sound of air explosion.

And when it collided with the purple elephant a purple gigantic explosion happens that shakes the village and destroys any building around twenty meter radius of their battle.

The winds howled and crack, tempest of soil and wind were formed and holes covered the lands.

The elephant howled in pain as the land beneath its feet loses its vitality and withers but the image is still there.

Azief stepped back two steps back and his impassive face changed into amazement

‘Impressive!’ he exclaimed

‘Then try this one’ and Azief activated his Nine Forbidden Opening as he punched out another strike.

This time the strike was not only faster but also deadlier.

The punch aura rips apart the wind and collided almost immediately with the purple elephant before the image of the purple elephant shatters as Somi yelled

‘Seven Star Fortress Formation’

And the Seven Fairy changes their position and stance, as defensive aura shield formed around them, full of bold runic marking.

They then swiftly evaded that strike by hair breadth.

The strikes hit a house and the house exploded into bits and the explosion was like someone dropped a napalm bomb as the soil lost its vitality.

But Azief this time could not let the Seven Fairy reform a new formation again. So, he uses his Hyper Speed.

To the Seven Fairy, the only thing they could see was how suddenly Lord Shadow disappears from in front of their eyes in mysterious manner and then they heard the scream of Sohye.

Azief was there in the middle of the formation, choking the life out of Sohye, black aura shrouding the neckline of Sohye.

'Sohye!' The other yelled in alarm.

'Release her!'

one of the Seven Fairy shouted. Sejeong who was the closest waves her swords and struck towards Azief.

The waves of her sword was embedded with sword essence and when it was struck out the light around the village dim like it was being absorbed.

Azief move to his right with speed beyond human capabilities as the wave of energy passed him by and stuck a house and exploded.

The prowess of Lord Shadow is truly one to be admired. Not only he manages to evade, he manages to evade while still holding Sohye hostage and without even one sword essence touching his shirt.

The land shakes and the house destroyed into bits and pieces of wood.

Yoojung and Chungha moved into another position and then thrust their sword filled with momentum of a killing strike, wanting to attack together.

'Release her!' Yoojung yelled.

Azief was caught in the middle of the sword killing strike but Azief was still calm like in the beginning.

The people of this world underestimated him too much.

'Did you really think I am a toothless tiger!' Azief said. The sword essence strike landed on the side of his body and exploded and Azief hand loosens.

Sohye kick Azief chest and catapulted herself backwards away from Azief, hand mark visible on her neck.

Even though Azief accidentally loosens her hostage and accepted the attack of both Fairy he was still standing there, alone, unscathed.

Yoojung clicked her tongue.

Two Fairy attack with their deadly strike but Lord Shadow is not even injured.

The Seven Fairy was astonished and so are the people looking from the screens, all exclaiming amazement and shock.

Then the other Six Fairy unleashed their barrage of attack, each one was like a tiger released from the wilds and dragons prancing the Nine Heavens.

Each strikes capable of killing hundreds of Pillars Forming Stage and Orb Condensing Stage users but his face did not change and he ignored the attack.

Numerous crashing and explosion sounds can be heard when the strikes collide with his body.

But it was like the Seven Fairy was striking a sand bag with a weak palm.

When the explosion settles and the sound stops, they relaxed for a bit before they see the man is not harmed one bit

'Impossible!' Sohye shouted in shock

'I don't believe this man is invincible!' Doyeon could not believe what she is seeing

'How can a human be this powerful? Isn't he the same level as Sasha? Even Sasha wasn't this overbearing!' Nayoung asked herself

'Employ the Killing Dragon Formation!' Somi shouted as she was the first to regain her calm

Azief was standing there, with black aura and golden aura intertwined making him an unholy fusion of both holy and dark, had no intention of leaving and all intention to play with them till death.

Somi back off fear to near this bane and then yelled

'Take your position!' and then the sound of ringing can be heard as their sword trembles and emits a white killing aura.

The ringing produce a melodious sound like a beating of a war drum, the bugle of a marching men

The Seven Fairy glance at each other and shouted

'Killing Dragon Formation!' And their aura exploded piercing the clouds on top of them

Three of them aimed at Azief lower body, the other three aim to cut down Azief legs, while another one strike forward

When their strikes were released an illusory image of an ocean appears on the battlefield with a slash that could overwhelm the world.

The slash cleaves the whole ocean into two, making a path of desolation in the middle of the ocean and this strike was aimed at Azief lower body around his waist.

The one attacking his leg produce an illusory image of starry sky with a tempest of swords coming horizontally to cut of his legs.

The other Fairy who was flying towards him right now, thrusting her sword to stab him in his chest produce an illusory image of a mountain being dice into dust.

Each one were powerful and deadly strike, for all intent and purposes is to destroy and annihilate

Azief did not pay attention to these attacks and the image behind the sword strike but instead looked at the young girl who was flying towards him and thought

'Impudent! Arrogant! One who could not measure their own abilities!'

He moved his body with his Hyper Speed, his left palm strikes the illusory image of the starry sky and the illusory image shattered with the sound of a broken glass.

The three people aiming to cut of his legs were all thrown back by the force of his palm strike like a kite being cut off from its string.

While his palm strike the illusory image of the starry sky, he kick the image of the sword slash coming to him with his foot and the illusory image of the ocean dissipated like the clouds being blown by a fierce gale.

The other three was also thrown back because of the force of wind his kick generated, each one of them suffer internal injuries.

For the other one heading to him, he smirk as he moved his body, swiftly evading the strike, grabbed the Fairy sword handle and lightly pushed it back into its scabbard, stopping her stance and subsequent attacks, almost effortlessly.

Azief moves and attack was not only fast it was also overbearing.

With the Seed of Death inside his body, each of his moves were embedded with Death Essence without him activating it consciously making longevity withers, life decay, and rot the attack essence of each of the fairy.

He used the enemy moves to fight the enemy.

Even if there is a dozen Fairy, he could still use the enemy swords to attack the enemy sabers, the enemy spear against the enemy whip, utilizing the enemy to attack the enemy, one beating many.

Not to mention in this world, no one is his equal.

Azief could not understand these people.

He did not come making trouble, but they eagerly send themselves to death door.

Is this Earth not understand the concept of power of a Seed Forming?

If they based the capability of Seed Forming based on Sasha power level then they are sorely misinformed.

Sasha becomes a Seed Forming User by sacrificing the Body Refinement of Energy Disperse Stage.

If anything Sasha can be considered a Faux Seed Forming. How can he be on the same class as Sasha?

He possess an Undying Body, to compare the two, is like comparing the Heaven and Earth.

Even though, the Seven Fairy seems to fight a hopeless battle, there are still a lot of people in the hill nearby cheering for them.

And the Seven Fairy has not yet given up

Nayoung and Sohye then thrust again their swords this time making an arc of energy to be horizontally slashed out, making the air around them cracked and a tempest of wind shot toward the left and right.

But Azief once again uses his Hyper Speed and disappear from the trajectory of attack and flick Nayoung and Sohye wrist with his finger.

The flick of his fingers was like being slashed by an incomparably sharp sword, as sparks fly and Nayoung and Sohye gritted their teeth and fall back

Their wrist was numb with pain and starting to feel pain; they slanted their bodies and jumped away turning their bodies away from Azief as Azief appears in front of them again.

They stared at Azief, frightened but admiring him at the same time.

‘Reform the formation first!’ Somi shouted from afar.

Her forehead is already filled with sweats but as she was the most proficient with the formation she of course knows, that attacking Lord Shadow like this is pointless.

Without the formation Azief could just toy with them like a mouse trapped in a corner without a way out.

‘You think I would let you!’

Azief shouted and his shout create a sound wave that obliterated the square of the village with the low level one all scattering jumping and running as the shockwave crumpled the land and destroy the houses.

Somi who receive the brunt of this sound wave was thrown back ten meters as she coughed up black blood.

The soundwave was embedded with the essence of death, poisonous and lethal.

Doyeon and Yoojung who was nearby shouted to Nayoung and Sohye.

‘Unnie, fall back!’

After shouting this, both of them whistled out and their swords thrust out. Azief once again admired the Seven Fairy swordsmanship.

‘You sword skills are impressive and truly beautiful. But only you two are coming out to attack me? You seem to overestimate yourself!’

The swords create an illusory image of twin dragons of fire and ice, roaring as loud as possible, piercing the clouds and wake the Central Plains.

The people who were looking at the screen not far away exclaimed

‘What a powerful sword skill!’

‘Indeed! The Seven Fairy of the Western Palins truly lived up to their reputation as Fairy who mastered the sword skills!’

‘Pei!’ One of them spit to the ground.

‘What use of great sword skills? Don’t you see Lord Shadow is overpowering them? Anyone with eyes could see that Lord Shadow is playing with them.’

‘Lord Shadow underestimates the Seven Fairy to much’ another added.

‘Heh. Is that so? Did Lord Shadow underestimate the Seven Fairy or the Seven Fairy overestimate themselves!’ Another man offer his opinion while snickering

'More wine!' Another yelled.

'Table four also wants another bottle of wine!' Foods and drinks were ordered as everyone on the hill was enjoying the show.

Meanwhile on the village, the battle is still continuing.

The land was destroyed, the house turns into shredded wood, the building has crumbled into bits and pieces, the people of both forces has already made themselves scarce from the battlefield of the Seven fairy and Lord Shadow.

When the whales fight, the only thing the shrimps could do is make themselves scarce.

Chapter 125: Blue lightning

The fight is still continuing amidst the destruction, amidst the burning and destroyed village.

The people of the village already ran out from the village gate and shielded themselves around some hills with Meng Yuan leading them out.

The forces of the Seven Fairy are also doing the same thing led out by some of the younger ones in the Seven Fairy camp.

The sword which is thrust out towards Azief eyes was swiftly evaded with the most minimal movement, almost like Lord Shadow could see the trajectory of their sword perfectly.

The illusory images of the two dragons soar behind Azief and hit the hill behind Azief about five kilometers away and the hill instantly exploded as the soil shot out to the clouds.

Azief positioned himself in the center between the two swords and flick his finger to the tip of both of the swords.

His flick of a finger holds the weight of a mountain and when the flick collided with the sword Doyeon and Yoojung felt like their hand was almost ripped out as they tried not to release their swords.

Doyeon was on his left and so she was thrown to the left almost a mile away. Yoojung was on his right and so she was thrown to the right a mile away.

'The proud formation of the Seven Fairy has been broken!' The people looking at the screen shouted in shock.

'The formidable and mysterious formation of the Seven Fairy has been broken!' Another exclaimed in awe

'What use of formation and sword skill when meet with an indestructible force?'

'What did I say?' Xu Cong said while sipping his cup of wine.

And the crowd nodded while the man with the wine gourd just smiles bitterly

Yoojung and Doyeon which was separated a mile away look at the calm face of Lord Shadow and were frightened.

They never felt so much hopelessness before in their journey than right now.

They had known long ago that their opponent was superior to them but they didn't think the gap was this big.

Azief looked at the Five Fairy who is now around each other, each with a stance, ready to attack.

'Kneel and accept your judgment' Azief said.

Nayoung then said

'Lord Shadow, hear our explanation first before rashly deciding.'

'No explanation! Your judgment is death!'

He yelled and his yell was infused with his golden and black aura, death and holiness combined opening the clouds on top of his head and pierces the wind, his declaration could be heard all over the Central Plains.

The air around him ripples and the land beneath his feet cracked, invaded by a black miasma that seems to originate from Azief feet.

Nayoung bitterly smiles and know there is no other choice then a death match and her hesitation to fight disappeared.

'Five Dragon Biting the Immortals Formation!' she ordered and Somi nodded and immediately took her position in the center.

Nayoung and Sejeong took the left and right, Sohye and Chungha took the rear and illusory images of Five White Dragons in a vast starry sky appears, fighting with an Immortal shrouded in azure aura.

The illusory image was magical and mysterious, contained inside the illusory image is killing intent that could pressure the stars and the universe, as the five dragons bites the azure Immortal rendering him immobile and trapped.

Inside the illusory image is the crux of the Five Dragon Biting the Immortals Formation.

'HYARGH!' They shouted as their attributes are all wring out and condensed into their strike.

Then they released the strokes and the illusory image was absorbed in their stroke, the Five Dragons enter at the tip of the swords, while the image of the Azure Immortals exploded into tiny particles of light that covered the clouds of Eden unleashing energy that could rip apart worlds and dims the sky.

All existence below Energy Disperse Stage nearby all coughed blood and experience their Pillars and Orb shaken and cracked.

At the hill, some of the lower level user could also feel the fluctuation of energy and shudder to imagine if they were the one that has to accept that attack.

Even with its defensive shield up in the hill erected by the Merchant Association, the pressure still able to reach and frighten those spectators.

In the village, Azief just snorted in anger.

The strokes attacks are all aimed at Azief chest, sides and back as the sword strikes disappear and appears at weird position all around Azief surrounding.

Each stance they used was intended to kill and annihilate.

Azief could no longer hold back his anger and roars

'ARGHH!' the land beneath his feet cracked forming a web like patterns on the ground while the wind around him exploded into wind gales, the air around him cracked and dissipate.

Golden light filled the area and sound of explosion can be heard inside Azief body as his bones also shines with divine energy.

Azief shot out his right hand filled with the momentum of a descending heavenly mountain; his first and second fingers opened and held the sword stroke essence of the sword.

He twisted his wrist inwards, as Laws converge around his fingers, the Laws of Death, and then he pinched the sword essence and it exploded into shards of sword essence before being devoured by Azief black aura.

His experience surged up as he could feel his understanding towards sword essence increases.

Azief then opened his arms wide and then golden aura exploded from his body and nullifies all the sword stroke essence and the roar of a regretful dragon echoes in the Central Plains when the sword stroke essence was nullified.

'The sword essence was broken!' Somi shouted in shock. She could not hide her shock especially how easy it is for Lord Shadow to broke that formation

'This is not the end, Seven Fairy!' Azief said

Then Azief appears suddenly in front of Somi who was in the center of the position.

Somi was shocked at Lord Shadow incredible speed but quickly regain her calm and thrust out her sword, and once again his first and second fingers opened and held the sword.

He twisted his wrist inward, his elbows now facing Somi nose. Somi tries to use her strength to pull the sword free, but it wouldn't budge.

It was like the sword was stuck between mountains and could never be taken away.

'Hmph' Azief snorted

Then Azief moves his elbows to her face, and Somi knew that if she didn't die from it, she would be seriously hurt so she let go and jumped back, her feet glided on the ground, backing away like a feather being blown away by the wind.

Azief smiles maliciously and then said

'You think you can come and go as you please? I am not Lord Shadow if I don't teach you manners.'

Somi thought she has passed the danger zone after evading Azief elbows.

But how would she know that Azief elbows strike was like a gale of sharp wind and even after she let go, the elbow strikes turns into a gale of wind and shot straight to Somi face like a sharp sword.

Somi make a X defense stance with her arms shielding her face and then a scream could be heard as she was thrown back two miles away from her position.

Her arms were covered with deep gash of wounds, blood flowed without stop, dripping and pooling around Somi. All of this happened in just a mere ten seconds.

Azief level of power is at the level where he could do what he wanted. It didn't matter if he lifted his hand or raised his foot; the result would be the same.

Now on his fingers is the sword of one of the Seven Fairy. He moved the fingers of his right hand and the sword stood erect, the handle flicking upwards.

Nayoung who was on the left and the closest to Lord Shadow, with eyes full of determination, thrust out her sword aiming at his neck.

Azief grabbed Somi sword and lightly deflect Nayoung sword strike and after a clashing sound, Nayoung was forced to move ten steps backwards as she coughed up black blood from her mouth.

Nayoung sword was trembling, and her right arm is broken, her body was shaking in pain, even her breathing is labored and hard.

When the light strike of Azief clash with Nayoung full power strike, it was like Azief light strike hold the weight of the heavenly mountains, forcing Nayoung to suffer such grievous injury.

Nayoung look at Lord Shadow and she had an expression of unwillingness.

She is not willing to die here. She is not willing to become other people victim of machinations.

She is not willing to be wronged like this.

But even as she was thinking of this, her eyes grew heavy. Her body felt cold. Her hands relaxed. And she knew her time had come.

She remembers her family and her sisters. She looks left and right and saw the destruction resulted because of their battle.

She then said

'I'm not willing'

Then the sword from Nayoung hand loosens and falls from her hand.

She no longer had any energy to hold the sword erect and then collapsed to the ground, her internal organs is in a mess.

The Death aura that Azief has used since the beginning has begun to kill her nerve and organs and her body is slowly shutting down.

Death is approaching her.

Sejeong who was on the right shouted in anger

'NO! NAYOUNG UNNIE!' then she looked at Azief and shouted in anger. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

'YOU KILLER!' She shouted with a craze in her eyes. Sohye and Chungha also hurls insult and gritted their teeth in anger.

Sejeong, Sohye and Chungha extended theirs sword surrounding Azief.

'Hmph' Azief snorted, looking at this trivial three Energy Disperse Stage Realm user with contempt and disdain.

Sejeong performed a move with an illusory Red Dragon image behind her enforcing her every move.

Her body is shrouded with red aura that seems to symbolize madness and war. With each steps taken, the land around her burns and exploded.

And the momentum of her sword is like a raging tsunami.

This sword is heading straight for Azief chest. Azief chuckled and thought to himself 'They are still overestimating themselves.

Could not think straight in anger, truly will not be anything great in the future.

Guided by emotions and running amok, if you were strong you are someone to be feared. If you are someone weak, that just shows your lack of judgment.

Even as he saw the tip of the sword coming towards him, he was calm like an undisturbed lake, as he held his second finger with his thumb and flicked out at the sword tip.

Then a noise rings out and Sejeong couldn't hold on to the sword any longer, as her finger and arms were broken almost instantly and the webbed skin on her fingers ripped apart flowing with blood.

The red aura devoured into nothingness, and the red dragon exploded. Azief black and golden aura now has a tinge of red aura.

Azief smiles at this unexpected benefit.

The sword was released in midair and falls down and stuck itself on the ground with the tip entering the ground first.

But when the sword was stuck on the ground, it was at the time another two screams rang out.

The people looking at the screen on the hill could not help but exclaimed

'How could Lord Shadow be that fast?'

'It is almost as fast like the Dark Speedster!'

The reason for their shock is because when the sword was in midair, Azief didn't wait for the sword to come down when two more flicks followed after his last attacks, followed by two ringing sound and the handles of the other two swords were up in the air, the sword blades white aura dimmed as it also landed on the ground.

It was a simple flick of the fingers, who would have thought it contained so much force that it could make the Seven Fairy to relinquish their swords.

The Seven Fairy without their swords is as weak as an Orb Condensing User.

The Three Fairy who was conscious could not help but be confused. They didn't understand how could their sword so easily be taken away and so easily like this?

The seven of them could not even use the Big Dipper Formation since the beginning.

The gap of power is too high.

To execute the Big Dipper Formation all seven of them is needed. Even if they had one less person, the whole formation would breakdown.

If not how would they have this humiliation today?

The reason why they fail is because of their gap of power and the gap of speed. Azief speed is one of the fastest in the world, second only to Will.

Combine that with his strength, the seven fairy never had a chance from the beginning.

This is the reason why Nayoung from the beginning exercise caution yet in the end the Seven Fairy still fall to other people plots.

The three girl look at Lord Shadow, their eyes is still full of determination. Instead of fear in their eyes, it was defiance.

'I will finish you three first' Azief said coldly.

And then he thrust his palm out to the sky as energy suddenly converge on his palm.

The clouds in the sky turns into mist of water, the land beneath his feet sunk four meters deeps as the grass in twenty meter radius wilted and dies, as life essence near him was exterminated and revolve into mist like dark miasma that converge on his palm.

The force generated was strong as the wind produce a sound like of a rotating blades of a helicopter.

Then the three of them suddenly feel a strong force pulling them closer to Lord Shadow.

They try to resist the wind pressure but to their amazement, they were like insect caught in a wild tempest.

Then after they reach five meter distance from Azief, Azief thrust out his palm and said

'This is your judgment!' And he thrust out his palm and the clouds in the sky turns dark and lightning covered the sky.

Death reigns supreme!

The three of them closes their eyes, resigning to their death but unwilling in their heart.

But it was at this time a blue lightning pierces sound and collided with the palm attack producing a gigantic explosion of lightning and dark essence.

The village exploded with hundreds of houses and almost all of the buildings in the village were blown into dust.

The manor of the village was also blown up with the bricks of the manor was blown a hundred kilometers away because of the impact.

The shockwave of the colliding force circle the world one time.

Azief was shock because he knew who this blue lightning belongs to. Speed Source. That word come into his mind.

There is only one person he knows that could produce this lightning bolt.

With the proximity of the explosions and the colliding force of blue lightning and the palm strike, the Seven Fairy should have exploded into bits of meat.

Even Sejeong thought so as she closes her eyes but when she opens her eyes she found herself hundreds of miles away from Lord Shadow.

On her left and right, were tranquil creek of river water, with green trees and chirping of birds.

It was like she was transported into a paradise compared to the hellish battle she was fighting a moment ago.

With all her unconscious sister beside her, some still unconscious while some is injured....but alive.

Then Sejeong looked the man just a feet away from her. The man was shrouded in blue lightning.

Crackling sound of electricity can be heard with every movement he makes. His feet were covered with the lightning and one could only make blurry figures of his feet since it was covered by the lightning.

He was tall and skinny with black leather suits that covered his body.

The man looks at her while looking at the direction of the destroyed and burning village and said.

'I will resolve the misunderstanding between your sisters and Lord Shadow. Wait for me. And take this' he tossed a pill to Seong and Sejeong receive it.

'It could heal your sister's injuries.' Then with a step of his foot, he turned into a bolt of blue lightning and disappears leaving a trail blaze of blue fire.

'Will the Dark Speedster' Sejeong said in a daze..

Chapter 126: The vast universe

The village was in ruins. Flames broke out everywhere and dust covered the clouds.

Then a blue lightning once again pierces the sound and wind and then with a supersonic boom, the man appeared in front of Azief looking slightly apologetic.

Azief look at Will looking incredulous.

Why did Will stop him at that crucial moment? He could not really ask him right now.

His village is almost destroyed and Will even stop him from killing the Seven Fairy. Azief just could not understand.

Azief was about to ask Will when Will suddenly Speedtalk with him.

Speedtalk is when Will talk so fast that only certain people could understand what he was saying and the only other person beside Will that could Speedtalk is Azief.

In simple words, it is the ability to speak to one another at a highly accelerated rate.

This is often done when both of them have to speak a private conversation in front of non-fast people.

Azief heard and slowly his expression morphed from shock to anger to regret and when Will finally finished Azief face darken.

But he did not say anything because from what Will has been saying his battle is being recorded and watched by the fly buzzing around the village.

An artificial fly. Azief was shocked when he heard this this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Who would have thought that the fly buzzing around the village was actually the invention of an inventor genius in the Merchant Association able to transmit images to the screen on the hill?

Yes, Azief just now know that the Hill nearby is screening his fight. What is more surprising that it could even hide from his Divine Sense.

This merchant association is really formidable!

The other reason why Azief is still feigning he does not recognize Will is because since he is being recorded then that means this moment, Will telling him about the plot and saving himself from getting caught in the plots of sinister person, Will might have cast suspicion onto himself.

Azief knows Raymond is trying to oust the mole in his organization and Azief shudder to think what will happen to Will if he got caught.

Will throws a blank parchment to Azief. Will was pretending that there is important information inside the parchment.

Azief opens the parchment and as he expected it was blank, yet he pretends like he was reading some big secret.

'So, that is how it is!' Azief acted like he found out what happened and with a flick of his fingers the blank parchment turns into dust.

Azief then nodded and say

'Thank you...umm....Mister-'

'I am Will. People called me Dark Speedster' Will also act alongside him.

Both of them are a little bit awkward at the moment though it is not surprising to say the least.

After all they are standing around a ruin of a destroyed village. Fire breaks out everywhere and the dust of war is not yet settled.

But they both couldn't do anything in this situation. It has already happened.

Will has decided to help Azief even though it might cast suspicion on him and Azief has already received his help.

Either way, Azief felt grateful to Will for what he has done.

Now, as he already knows what has transpired, he already from a plan to enact an alliance between Eden and the Seven Fairy though Azief does not know how to appease Wang Jian.

But he needs to solve this problem first.

He then said

'I owe you a favor Dark Speedster'

And he needs to discuss something with Will so he look around and yelled.

'People on the Hill! I will give you all five minutes to make yourselves scarce! Once five minutes are up, I will come to the Hill and whoever remains don't blame me for being merciless!'

Then he flick his finger and his essence turns into a needle like image that struck about two dozen fly about a mile away from Azief.

Now, that Azief knows the fly transmit the images and realizes that this fly does not possess any soul or essence of life Azief could easily know which of them is real and which is artificial.

In the Hill, the crowds were shocked hearing Lord Shadow sudden threats.

The Twelve Pale Ghost of Tianshan was the first to jump on their horses and rides away and shouting in merry tones.

'What are you all still waiting for? For your head to be beheaded? Spread the word! The world has a new number one expert!' the Screaming Ghost screaming with joy as he said those words.

'Lord Shadow defeating the Seven Fairy like an elder admonishing a child, shocking the world! HAHAAHA!' Laughing Ghost said laughing all the way, his voice echoes in the Hill

‘Those people in the World Government and Revolutionary Army, will you not come out! Raymond, Katarina, Boris, Jean, you no longer could sit on your throne that easily’ Said the Solemn Ghost as he also rides away.

The other Tianshan Ghost also yelled and shouted dreary warnings and mocked or praise the current situations as they jump out from the barriers with their Pale Horse, a combination of white and gray horse as they turns into a wisp of smoke and immediately left the Hill.

Celestial Painter Xu Cong and Heaven Flute Lihua get up from their seat and throw a pouch of gold coins to the waiters and together they jump down from the second floor of the tavern and bade farewell to other heroes.

‘Today, my eyes are open. Seed Forming user are really formidable existence. No, invincible. To defeat Lord Shadow, one must also be on Seed Forming. To compare Sasha who did not complete her Energy Disperse Stage with Lord Shadow, who must have gone beyond the Nine Openings, is like comparing Heaven and Earth.’

Celestial Painter Xu Cong said and the crowd nodded as they too understand.

The reason why the Seven Fairy manages to contend with Sasha is because Sasha was rash and break though to Seed Forming by ignoring the Energy Disperse Stage.

She was a Seed Forming but her foundation is not stable.

Compared that with Lord Shadow, it seems Lord Shadow has sturdy foundation.

Of course if they knew that Lord Shadow went beyond Eternal Spring and reached Undying Body, even if they were Seed Forming they will not dare to fight Lord Shadow.

Xu Cong after finished saying this words, brings out his brush and paint something with the energy around him as paint, and his energy as colors and the unreal become real as the painting of the clouds become lifelike and then from a painting it changed to become a real white cloud.

It was fluffy but solid and an array of runes was embedded into this mass of gas making it not only magical but mysterious.

‘I bade farewell to all the great heroes congregated today. If fate destined it to be, we all will meet again.’

With his right hand on Lihua waist, he jumped into the white clouds with Lihua looking at him lovingly and then the white clouds shoot out from the hill disappearing almost in an instant.

The merchant association has already open their Teleportation Array and will be automatically destroyed on the other sides after all of their people arrived at Merchant Association safe place.

The warriors that have no relation with the Merchant Association all used their abilities to make themselves scarce as fast as possible either by running, riding a horse or using their abilities.

No one wants to be caught by Lord Shadow, not after they see what Lord Shadow is capable of.

Emma eyes glistened with mischievousness as she also rides her horse and will be meeting her little birds to inform this matter.

Most importantly, the information about Will sudden appearance in the battle that stop Lord Shadow rampage.

Emma didn't understand Will actions.

Lord Shadow alliance with the Seven Fairy will only weaken World Government hold on the Eastern Plain.

The directive from the Quorum was clear. Not to interfere in the matter of the League of Freedom.

The World Government might have unresolved business with the League of Freedom for the matter of the Hyperdrive but they would certainly not interfere if League of Freedom wanted to mess with Lord Shadow.

It was even beneficial for the World Government since Lord Shadow will have to contend with the people of the Western Plains.

The Seven Fairy is after all heralded as protector of the Western Plains.

And Emma has always been suspicious of Lily disappearance. Will has always cherished Lily.

The fact he did not do much investigating, has always been weighing in Emma heart.

'Will is suspicious' she whispered as she rides down the hill.

Maximoff was walking down the hill, his long brown hair waving around blown by the winds of the plains.

In the foot of the hill, he unslings his sniper. He takes a bullet in his pouch and in the bullet hole he put some kind of small vials.

The memory card recording of the battle between Lord Shadow and the Seven Fairy in liquid form.

'The Merchant Associations does sell everything' Maximoff mused. He put the bullet inside his sniper.

He then aims his sniper at the sky.

And he shot the bullet to the sky.

His sniper made of obsidian black like crystal then emits the sound of blast that sounds like a supersonic boom and the impact of the shot sunken the ground where he stood by five meters.

'Transmission sent' he said and the leisurely he walk down the hill. His mission is accomplished.

Takashi was walking towards the village smiling and laughing. Now that the battle has ended he can meet Sina.

He does not care about those so called expert like Lord Shadow or Seven Fairy. His objective has always been a duel with Sina in the matter of pills and herbs.

After his battle with Medicine Sage Liu Wenzhang, Takashi knows he is still not good enough.

People have been saying that 'In the area of pills, there is Sina. In the area of Medicine, Liu Wenzhang.'

Even though Takashi is a Poison master, his poison pill can be neutralized by Medicine Sage Liu Wenzhang.

And if people wanted poisonous pill they can also come to Sina who can concoct not only miraculous pills but also poisonous pills with more variations and mutated effect than Takashi.

How could Takashi accept this?

The biggest blow is when Dragon of Echigo would rather plead Sina to concoct a pill for him instead of asking him to concoct a pill for him.

So, he is determined to compete with Sina and gain his confidence back in the path of poison making.

Meanwhile on the other side of the hill, a man with a gourd wine is drinking wine trying to be as drunk as possible but not being able to.

He then said in his sorrow.

'Life and death, the heavens treat humans like straw dog

When will this battle and war end?

When will rulers stop fighting?

When will the world gain peace?

Fighting and killing, grudges and vendetta formed

When will these end?'

He then looked towards Eden and sighed.

'The rise of such man is it a blessing or a catastrophe?' Then he drinks his wine again and began mumbling again.

Before the five minutes are up, the Hill becomes deserted and the news of the battle spread through all the regions.

Azief and Will waited five minutes before they both go to the Hill.

Azief brings out his saber and strike upon an unassuming hill which then broke the illusory barrier and protective barrier like it was a piece of paper being shredded and reveal the hill's true face.

When they arrive at the hill, Azief and Will could see that the people in the Hill rushed out from it in a rash manner.

The tavern and the shops are left lying around and even the screens are not torn down but no one is around.

Garbage, wine glasses, variety of items is also left behind. It seems his threats worked wonderfully.

Azief closes his eyes and activated his Divine Sense and after making sure no one and nothing is around he take a sit at an abandoned restaurant and sigh.

'Sit, Will. No one is here.' Will also sighed and sits opposite Azief.

You mess up big time this time, brother Will said with a little smirk on his face.

Rarely in their journey together, there was a time Azief fall into other people plot.

But come to think of it, while he rarely falls into a plot, it was not like this is the first time he falls into another person plots.

Azief smile bitterly hearing Will reprimand.

It was not a reprimand but Azief think so. Even if it not Azief will take it as a reprimand. Truly this time, he nearly destroys his own interest.

Because of too many problems happening in this week, he was rash.

With Sina kidnapping and after that the attack of his village, he was forced to make a rash decision which ultimately could have endangered his interest of strengthening his force.

Azief then ask Will

'How is the Seven Fairy?'

'Injured but alive.' Will replied

'Good.' Azief sighed in relief.

'I could not thank you enough, Little Brother. But Raymond will suspect you as a mole if you return. And I heard what he did to spies. It's not good'

'I have my ways.' Will replied nonchalantly

Azief nodded then he waves his hand and the wine in the nearby table flew towards him with a pair of wine glass and landed perfectly in front of Azief and Will.

Azief then pour the wine into both of their glass and then he sipped the wine.

Will also follow.

'Lily?' Azief suddenly asked.

'In the Grain Palace with Budiman.'

'She is safe then?' Azief asked again his face clearly shows he was concerned.

Lily is someone that matters for Will and since it matters for Will, then it matters to him.

'Safe as she could be in this new world' Will chuckles a bit. Azief found nothing is funny and he was serious and concerned about Lily

'When the time is right, we can bring her here. But....not now' Azief said, looking at the distance and with a trace of regret he sighed.

'Don't worry. I understand your concern.' Will said as he patted Azief back and Azief smiles helplessly.

He doesn't want to seem heartless but he had to be and both of them understood.

The reason why Will and Azief both could not reveal Budiman and Lily is because the other forces believe that Budiman colluded with League of Freedom to steal the Hyperdrive from the World Government and it is better if that misunderstanding stay that way.

After all, that is how Will manages to get himself elected in the Quorum.

It was because of his contribution in helping uncovering the 'plot' of league of Freedom against the World Government.

As for Lily, she was a citizen of the World Government before she is reported missing.

If someone that is important to Will, the Dark Speedsters, one of the Quorum council members, found in Azief territory, what would the World Government thinks?

Azief then turns to another subject.

'Have you gained more information?' Azief asked.

Even though the matter of the Seven Fairy is also important the reason why Azief send Will to the World Government is for other reason.

'A lot...but Hirate still does not trust me. He is wary of me. Raymond too. I managed to convince Lord Oreki though.'

'Heh' Azief snorted.

'Of course he could not trust you. Since he could not read your mind how could he trust you?'

Will nod in agreement.

One of Will ability is his thinking process is abnormally fast. It is because of that Hirate mind powers could not penetrate Will mind. But that doesn't mean he is a genius. It is just that his thinking process is fast.

'About the matter I ask you? Azief suddenly ask and Will nodded as he smiles bitterly

'It is confirmed.'

'Then it is really true.' Azief sighed

'Yes' Will reply.

'The levels concepts are taken from the Nervian Race that inhabits the Mtrainan system. Their world operates by different laws where everything has levels even inanimate objects. The cultivation like abilities is similar to the concept of the Dao of Jade Palace.'

'The Three Thousand Myriad Worlds with Nine Heavens and Nine Hells ruled by Yu Wang the Jade Emperor' Azief said as he remembers a very terrible memory.

'Then the runes?' Azief asked again as his eyes shines with enlightenment.

'Asgardian and the Eight Realms, like we have always hypothesizes' Will reply.

'Our previous hypothesis is confirmed.' Will said but even though it seems like something that should be celebrated they both looked solemn.

'Yes, there is no doubt about it.' Azief nodded as the puzzle in his mind began solving itself and unconsciously he smiles.

'The World Orb incorporates the abilities of these superpower race abilities and laws and bestows it upon Earth.'

Will added as he remembers that Lab in World Government that house that otherworldly creature.

'From our knowledge we know that the World Orb is originally into Seven Fragment and each of the great power in the Universe has one of these fragments. If our hypothesis is correct, then the World Orb is the combination of these seven fragment combined into one creating the World Orb.' Azief said with confidence.

Will nodded.

'And if that is true, then that means the news we heard on Nilfheim is also true. That Odin Allfather convenes the meeting of Quon and urges the Seven Great Intergalactic Rulers to merge this fragment to help Earth combat the Weronians.' Azief added.

Will then smiles as he said

'True, but I don't think that the Seven Great Intergalactic Rulers expect that we could learn all their greatest abilities. After all while Asgardian is famed for their rune magic, they do not possess the Eternal Armament Crafting of the Olympians nor do they possess the Dao of the Jade Palace. But we humans have transcended these limitations.'

Azief then look at the sky and then his face darkens.

'Then we must be ready. We must be prepared. One day, those great intergalactic powers will surely come down from the Heavens and come to Earth to take back the World Orb. We are entering a new dawn of war. A higher level of warfare.'

Will nodded and understands the severity of Azief words.

After all, they both seen and suffers many things during these four years together, traveling the universes, ending up many times in strange and dangerous places.

But the most important things they have learned in their journeys, is the mysteries of the world and the universe.

Both of them is seeing further than anyone else on Earth right now. And they need to hundred steps ahead to counter those colossal forces residing outside of Reality and Time.

Azief and Will discover that the Seven Intergalactic Power resided only in Universe Prime and not in any multiverse.

Azief and Will believes this is because they live outside the Reality and Time of this world, or any worlds, an eternally unchanging and immutable reality and time, making them unaffected with timeline changes or time paradox.

They will always exist but only in Universe Prime the only Universe that matters. The Universe that holds the World Orb.

Then Azief said to Will.

'Since you are already here, I need you to help me to bring all my troops back to the village so I could quickly organize back my force. Is that ok with you?'

Will nodded.

'Since I already did this much, it doesn't matter if I do more.'

'If this will make you harder to explain to the Quorum-'

'No, instead this will make it easier.'

'Really?' Azief smirked as he was also curious on how Will can convince the Quorum that he is not a spy after he returns.

'Ok, since you said it like that.' Azief nodded in agreement.

Since Will said it is fine, he must have his own plans.

Then Azief explains

'I can also use my hyper speed but you know since we got back, there is this suppression on my speed. I'm not like you who can tap into the Speed Source. I'm not a speedster. I was not as fast like on Earth Two. And it even uses my essence. And we both know you were always the fastest one-'

Will was smiling proudly before Azief suddenly added

'On land.' And Will smiles halted and he looked at Azief like he couldn't believe what he just heard

'You think I can't beat you in a race?' Will said puffing out his chest

'Let me remind you, I beat you once' Azief said smiling with a hint of pride.

'With style, I must add' Azief added.

'That was before the Speed Source.' Will retorted rolling his eyes at Azief inability to accept a loss.

'Still.' Azief reply smiling smugly

Will could not help but laugh and then said.

'Fine. One day you and I will have another race and I will run so fast you could only eat my dust' Azief chuckles

'Yeah, in your dreams.'

'You think I'm joking? Set a time and place!' Will said enthusiastically as they both look at each other like they could rip each other throats.

They are friends. They are brothers. But they are also rivals.

While Azief got him beat on the strength part, Will is proud of his speed. He could claim himself to be the fastest man alive.

Azief was not the only one developing a forceful and domineering personality in those four years.

Will was also like that. And his pride stems from his speed.

Will does not believe Azief was faster than him. Not by a long shot. Stronger than him? Undeniable!

Faster than him? Impossible!

They both look at each other with tension building up in the air, electricity crackling from Will body and dark aura surging up from Azief feet.

The wine is long forgotten.

Looking at each other with hostility they smirked at each other and then they suddenly laugh

'HAHAHAHA!' Azief laughed.

'Fine. One day, I will set the time and place. You must come or people would surely say you are a coward!' Azief said still laughing.

'You can bet on it!' Will said as he was also laughing.

They were old friends. More than that, they were brothers. They argue. They mocked each other.

They tease each other.

But they also bring each other up.

They could beat each other black and blue, but they surely as hell would not let others beat them black and blue.

They would bleed for each other; sacrifice their lives for each other. To find a bosom friend in this world is hard but Azief and Will is lucky.

Then Will got up and gives Azief a brotherly hug.

'After I delivered your troops at the village I will not stop by. I need to return immediately to the World Government or I really could not explain to the Quorum.'

Azief nodded and release the hug.

'I understand.' Then he gave a pill to Will and said

'This will be helpful for you.' Will look at the pill and was shocked because he recognize the pill.

He smiles and then he turns back from Azief and turns into a bolt of blue lightning crossing the Plains in a matter of seconds as Will searches for Azief troops.

Azief closes his eyes and calm himself down as he slowly floats to the clouds. He then opened his eyes and his eyes were as calm as an undisturbed lake.

'The Seven Fairy' he said as he looks at a faraway direction. His senses already determine where the Seven Fairy is.

'I need to apologize and handle this misunderstanding well. Thankfully none of the Seven Fairy is dead.'

'Will truly save me from making a big mistake.'

Then he broke supersonic speed in a second as he flew towards the Seven Fairy to invite them back into the village.

Chapter 127: New arrangements

THE CENTRAL PLAINS

The manor is beautiful after its reconstruction. It does not take many times as Azief only uses the Status window to build it.

By the interior design and the subsequent additions to the manor was the effort of the recently coming immigrants of builders.

The Hall is well ceiled with oak, on the western side is a worth bed, on the ground a stone chimney, a wardrobe and a certain other small chamber.

The interior design was not colorful but appropriate for the manor, not ostentatious but elegant.

There is certain solemnness for the manor. In the Hall, there is a certain meeting ongoing.

Eight people are sitting down on a wooden chair.

In the table behind the chairs is a brazier used to burn the Energy Giving Fragrance, a tribute from one of the new citizens.

The brazier itself was exquisite. It was covered in gold and has the carving of a coiling dragon with clouds under its feet.

Sofia took a liking for the brazier so Azief give the man who gave him the brazier a considerable amount of gold and even promise him a position after the ceremony.

The Energy Giving Fragrance however was a gift from a woman who came from the Southern Plains and it was checked by Li Yuan before being used today.

It has the effect of clearing one mind, stimulate one's energy and calm the heart.

In the Hall, the eight people are all sipping some tea while looking serene and tranquil, hiding the chaotic undercurrents of their emotions.

The tea itself is also another gift from one of the new citizens as tribute.

It was the Cleaning Marrow Tea.

It was made from a very unusual tea leaves.

The one giving Azief this tea was immediately give a position as a Tea Master in Azief territory and will be given a patch of land to plant this kind of tea.

The profession of that person is a Tea Sage.

It is a unique class but the effect of this class while not useful in battle, as support it is indispensable.

Cleaning Marrow Tea effect is self-explanatory.

But it was not only that. It purify the Essence making it more compact and dense and even more powerful.

It is a pity the man only has a meager one pocket of the tea. If not Azief would shamelessly brew the tea and give it to his friends.

Azief look at the Seven Ladies as he put his tea cup down and said looking calm and unaffected, his face shows no other expression other than immense appreciation towards the tea effects

'This is my own brewed tea. Over the years, after coffee, I also have an interest in tea. This tea is very unusual and possesses many benefits to the body. I hope you all like it. Treat it as my apology.'

One of the lady nodded and said

'It is good.'

The other nodded in agreement.

But not all the lady is appeased and happy. The youngest of them is clearly not one that is able to pretend cordiality when there isn't

The oldest of them recognize this behavior looking at Azief in an apologetic manner and then said

'Lord Shadow, thank you for sparing us seven sisters. We were misled thus creating such tragedy' the eight people sitting on the chair is Azief and the Seven Fairy.

Standing on Azief left is Loki and standing on Azief right is Wang Jian.

Loki just watched this meeting without any emotions but in his heart, the shock in his heart is like a wave of tsunami beating him again and again.

The Seven Fairy while they are famous in this timeline, in his previous timeline they were not famous and do not really play any major role in the big events of the future.

This development is certainly not in Loki calculation but his face clearly didn't show this.

This time he has changed his appearance to a tanned bulky man, with curly hair making him stand out like a sore thumb in the room.

Wang Jian on the other hand looks at the Seven fairy like his mortal enemy.

If not for the presence of Azief in the room, Wang Jian might have asked the Seven Fairy duel until the death.

After all, the people that died and suffer the most when the Seven Fairy invades are Wang Jian brothers.

To Azief those troops are his subject.

While he is saddened, he also needs to think for the greater good of the people under his rule and the harmonious relationship with so many experts would only benefit the people under his rule.

But for Wang Jian the people that died on that battle were his brothers. Clearly his perspectives and feeling on the matter is different.

They shed blood together with him. They went to battle with him. They break bread together.

And now only a few of them is left.

How could Wang Jian not be angry? How could he not mourn his brothers and strive to avenge them?

It has been a week after the attack. From the very first moment, Wang Jian wanted to cut the Seven Fairy into eight pieces and feed it to the dogs.

But Azief could not let Wang Jian feelings to jeopardize Azief chance to establish a stable foothold in the Plains. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

Azief has apologized to the Seven Fairy and reconstruct back the houses that were destroyed using the gold that Loki has accumulated.

A memorial stone was erected in the middle of the village listing the name of those people that died on both sides.

The soldiers that fought were all promoted posthumously as a sign of respect and gratitude, while their family members will be supported by Azief rule.

Azief promised both his people and the people coming with the Seven Fairy that the mastermind will be punished.

The League of Freedom plots has been uncovered and has already been spreads all over the world.

While in the surface many factions and powers express disgust on Narleod plots that sacrificed thousands of life, on the inside many is feeling discomfort and unease at the growing power of Lord Shadow.

Now that Azief even manages to get the Seven Fairy on his side, his rule in Central Plains could be considered firm as a mountain.

While in the surface they express congratulations towards Azief, Azief knows these people are actively plotting behind his back.

And many things are changing now. Settlement is everywhere around the village with people coming in droves.

Shack houses are built outside the gate after the houses in the village was no longer able to accommodate the people coming.

Even though Azief has built 2000 houses it still is not enough.

Azief could not really waste all the gold he has on constructing the houses from the City Status Windows so the builders that come begin displaying their usefulness.

They take construction business from people coming to join Eden.

Many builders are racking up experience points making their ability in constructing buildings not only faster but also more beautiful and artistic.

The higher level builders get many more gold than the novice builders.

Production level classes while they also level up and form their Seed and experiences all the stages, it is destined that their strength will not surpass those with combat specialized class but to underestimate them would be an idiotic moves.

For those who possess many wealth and many resources, they also wanted a house that reflect their wealth and status, so on the outside of the village there is even two storied houses and a dozen more big houses with beautiful artistic features.

Hunters who felt a competition in this matter hunts the monster nearby the village racking up gold as the builders are making a killing now.

They not only increasing their experience but also gaining gold.

The benefit for the village is the monster nearby the village is almost wiped out in every evening making the village extremely safe.

Before this influx of people, the villagers had to rely on the military which is not high in numbers making the villagers also feel some sense of dangers.

But with this many hunters, warriors, knights and Paladins hunting all the monster nearby the village to get gold, the villagers who most of them have production classes they felt safe and secure in establishing their business.

And when there is an exchange of currency and gold, how could merchants be left out from the equation?

The merchant that come to the village began opening stalls and then some of them also began peddling their wares outside the village.

Soon in almost just three days, a market has already formed outside the village gate.

Azief does not allow them inside the village yet, not before the Oath Taking Ceremony where he can expand and use more of the functions of the City Status.

But the development is clearly making Azief feel proud.

Today is the Oath Taking Ceremony by the Seven Fairy and the people waiting outside the village is already anticipating the ceremony in.

The Seven Fairy when they recovered immediately told Azief what they know with the mastermind identified and Azief quickly take action by announcing to the world of Narleod plots.

Azief would have rush and caught Narleod if not for the agreement between him and Lee Sangmin and his inability to maintain a long siege on the Forest Region with his troops.

But Azief vow that if Narleod dares to come out from the forest region he will hunt him down.

This has appeased a lot of the victims of Narleod plots.

Will has returned to the World Government and Azief don't know what he told the World Government that the World Government did not punish him for spoiling the plan of Narleod.

Azief knows that League of Freedom relationship with the World Government is not clear but Azief also knows that the World Government is wary of his force.

In this week, many more migrants from the Western Plains and the Southern Plains come to his village seeking protecting and shelter from the incoming monster horde.

But they did not yet kneel and take the oath so in Azief village status it still does not recognize these people as his citizens.

Even when some of them wanted to take the oath as fast as possible Azief wanted to reap the benefits of immediately breaking the village rank to a metropolis since he already expected a drove of people coming to Eden.

In a way, the screening of his fight actually increase the people trust on him that he could keep them safe.

In troubled times like these when strength rules all, to be ruled by a man who is honorable and strong is not that bad considering the alternative.

Many people have the impression that Azief is honorable since he was flying into such a rage after seeing his village trampled on by his enemies.

And his strength?

That is proven when he fights the Seven Fairy and defeating them almost effortlessly.

Truth be told, Azief was not as honorable as the people painted him to be.

But Azief of course does not have any reason to correct the people perception of him, especially when that perception will gain him many citizens and thus securing his force on the Plains.

Which is why the Oath Taking ceremony is important not only as the day he will break the rank village criteria but also shows his might to the entire world that even the World Government and the Revolutionary Army has to take him seriously.

Azief also wanted the Oath Taking Ceremony to be as grand as possible as he held a grand feast.

These past few nights Azief hunted around 100 griffins as the sky of the Central Plains was covered with sea of fire for almost four days before finally receded at dawn on the fifth day.

There is also many meats in the warehouse and was all brought out today to feed all the new citizens.

The new citizens also bring a lot of new talents to Azief force and Azief is more than happy to win their allegiance.

The hills and the land destroyed by Azief and the Seven Fairy battle have healed itself.

Azief realize that Earth now is more resilient.

The fertility of the soil is higher and even after the great battle the grass grows once again almost at an unbelievable speed.

The White Explosion did something to Earth that is for sure.

Azief at first wanted to strike an alliance, but the leader of the Seven Fairy said they would not mind being Azief officers and would be honored to serve someone like him.

So today when the Oath Taking Ceremony began, the Seven Fairy will also take a vow to serve him as their lords.

Azief while thinking of this many things could see that the Seven Fairy is not unanimous in this decision but he of course did not touch upon this and said to the Seven Fairy

‘After the ceremony, I will not treat you badly. I appreciate talents. We need each other if we are to repel the monster horde that will come.’

All the Seven Fairy nodded agreeing unanimously on this matter..

Azief population right now is about 40 thousand people more or less.

At first his population was only 400 people after the battle but combined with 8000 people of the Seven Fairy his population surged up to about 12 thousand people.

Then about 8 thousand people come after the battle when they heard that Azief will cooperate with the Seven Fairy.

Then many more came until it reached to this number.

This makes the Central Plains probably the safest place of all the other regions.

One Seed Forming High Realm user and countless of Energy Disperse Stage High Realm user.

Now in the world, there are no other forces stronger than Azief forces. Wang Jian, Loki, Sofia and the Seven Fairy are all Energy Disperse Stage and is very powerful.

And all this tigers and dragons are all in the Central Plains.

Of course people who knew the news and wanted a safe environment to grow all ran to the Central Plains.

After all while the forest region is safe, it is controlled by the Lords of the Forest and the position is fixed and will not change and does not have the possibility of growing there.

Villages built in the southern plains when they heard the news, their village head travels in drove to the Central Plains and many will come in the following days.

Some people also come individually as they used every methods accessible to them to come to the Central Plains.

Azief is eager to open the construction option of a city after this and he already got the rewards from the quest.

He also has already formed three seed.

The Seed of Life. Seed of Rebirth. Seed of Time.

Each seed is formed by gaining EXP equivalent to leveling one level.

For example, right now Azief level is 69.

To form his first seed, it requires the same amount of EXP when he leveled up from level 60 to level 61.

To form his second seed, it requires the same amount of EXP when he leveled up from level 61 to level 62 and so on and so forth.

Each time it becomes harder and longer but Azief has time. After all, even he takes four years to reach level 69.

Which means the people of earth is three years slower than him.

After his fervent hunting these past few nights, he managed to form four seed.

It will take him a lot of time to form his fifth seed.

It will become harder and harder because starting from the third seed the amount so of EXP he needs will double and triple each time.

For example, to form his fourth seed he requires double the amount of experience then when he level up from level 63 to 64.

To form his fifth seed would require triple the amount of experience when Azief level up from level 64 to 65.

Now, that he has form his fourth seed, a leaf appears in each seed.

It began when he form his third seed.

Three Seeds Creating Leaves of Origins, Six Seeds Creating Branches of Creations, Nine Seeds Creating the Tree Of Life, Ten Seeds Summoning the Purifying Fire.

This is what he knows from his abundant experience and since Azief already found his path he of course will walk the path of perfection.

He has Golden Orbs when he was in Orb Condensing. Undying Body when he is in Energy Disperse Stage summoning the lightning tribulation.

Now, that he is in Seed Forming, he will of course strive to form Ten Seeds defying the Heavens and summons the Purifying Fire from the Nine Hells and Nine Heavens of the Jade Palace.

Then suddenly as he was thinking of this, Nayoung voice brings him to the present.

‘We’ll be counting on you after this, my lord’ Nayoung said. Azief just nodded. Somi look at him still a bit wary.

Angry but not afraid.

Azief of course realize the tension in the room and did nothing to defuse it since the beginning but he knows he has to address this matter eventually so he look at Wang Jian and asked.

‘Wang Jian is there anything to add?’

Wang Jian look at the Seven Fairy his eyes was also full of anger but then reminding himself the importance of this matter, he closes his eyes and take a deep breath and answered.

‘Nothing, my lord.’ Azief look at Wang Jian and in whisper he said.

‘We will avenge your brothers, this I promise you.’ Wang Jian nodded. Azief put down his cup on the table on his left and got up.

‘Then let us go enjoy the ceremony.’

They were dismissed. Somi look at Azief and Wang Jian back as they walk out of the room and gritted her teeth.

The war on the battlefield might have ended but the battle on the court just begun.

Now that the Seven Fairy work under the same master, it is not hard to surmise that one day the matter between the Seven Fairy and Wang Jian will explode eventually and at that time, whoever Azief sides with will win.

Even as this was happening, in the Forest Region, the mastermind of the plots was trembling with anger at Dark Speedster interference and the failure of his plans, cursing Will.

The world has a new faction

IN EDEN

SOFIA MANOR

Azief enter her room and see her standing there, looking outside the window, her arms crossed.

The room was spacious and well lit, warm and comfortable with all the necessities she could ever need. Azief goes one step further as he showers Sofia with luxury.

The manor interior is probably the most intricately designed and luxuriously covered with famous paintings.

Sofia creased her eyebrows when she heard the creaking of the door. She did not flinch or startle.

It has been a week. Every night they are together.

Every night they kiss each other, devour each other, but they never talk to each other in the morning or acknowledges any kind of relationships.

So, like every night she was expecting him. But this time, she is expecting him with an answer. What are they?

What does this relationship means for him?

And how do they go forward? She has been asking. And he has been avoiding. And yesterday, she blows up and they got into a fight.

She turns her head back and looks at him and then looks back to the window. Azief sighed looking at Sofia stubbornness.

Azief moves closer and then he arrived in front of her.

'You're still angry at me?' He asks. She did not say anything. Azief moves one step closer and with two fingers he pushes Sofia face to look at him.

Sofia pushes his fingers and looks at him hatefully.

Azief in a bold move grabbed her waist and pull her to him and Sofia blushes and try to push him unsuccessfully.

Azief look at her face and smirk.

'You cried.'

There is crust on her eyes. Her beautiful face is puffy.

She looks at Azief and asks him, her voice is a bit strained, her cheeks are red, and her heart is beating like war drums.

Then feeling like she couldn't hold it in anymore she started barraging Azief with questions.

'What are we? We kiss and then never talk about it. We sleep together and never talk about it. It feels like I'm yours, but I'm not. It feels like we're lovers, but we're not. Whenever I ask you about it, you always act vague.'

'We're friends. Good friends.' Azief replies with a smile on his face. It is a very mischievous smile.

'I hate hearing that word. Friend.' She said glaring at Azief. She hates that she always feel like she has to guess what he is feeling.

Sofia is always the one that loves more.

'Don't make me confused and draw the line for me. Are we just friends or are we something more' she said.

'What? You're not satisfied with what we are now?' Azief ask knowing this will just make Sofia more incensed.

For some reason every time Sofia is flustered, she look cute in his eyes. It just makes him want to tease her more.

'Pretending that were just friends, acting like we are lovers, don't do that if you don't mean it. The more you're like this, the more I am curious about your true feelings.'

She said as she pushes herself away from Azief embrace.

'You didn't mention it when we started sleeping together' Azief said with a slight smile on his face.

She sheepishly blushed and with hesitation she said.

'I forgot about it every time I see your smile' And Azief chuckles.

'Don't laugh' Sofia said with her voice stuttering and her cheeks keeps reddening.

'Don't just laugh like that and pretend you don't know. Stop this game and be real with me' Azief then come to her and kiss her slowly in her forehead.

Sofia unconsciously closes her eyes.

'You're too cute' Azief said as he broke the kiss and Sofia opens her eyes.

Azief look at that starry eyes and he smiles.

Then he look at her, his face was full of smiles and he spoke his confession, a confession he has been practicing for a week since that night of their first kiss.

'Soph, I love all parts of you. The broken parts. The flawed parts.' Then he kisses her cheeks. Then he continued.

'Every kind of love, it seems, is the only one. It doesn't happen twice. And I never expected that I could have a broken heart and love with it too, so much that it doesn't seem broken at all.' And Azief was reminded of Na Eun and hope she is living okay.

'With you I felt magic.' Then he kissed her nose and Sofia covered her face with her hands, trying to hide how embarrassed she feels right now.

Sofia then looks right at his eyes and said

'With you I always feel insecure. I keep needing to confirm it. That you like me, that you're not tired of me.' She said and Azief finally see the timid girl he used to know.

He was so used to seeing the Divine Archer, that he forgets she is still that timid girl.

In love, she was always the weak one.

Because she cares more.

She loves more.

She sacrifices more.

She spent all her life lacking love, lacking a fatherly figure, a protector. In Azief she feels protected.

Azief was her protector. Then her friend. Then slowly that feeling accumulated and that feeling turns to love.

'You were like....'and Sofia was thinking of a word to describe Azief and then she blurted out

'Superman. You were like Superman' she said.

Azief smiles and then whispers to her ears, sending tingling sensation all over her body

'Then you are my kryptonite' and Azief kisses her lips. All of the kisses taste like a slice of heaven.

Azief then look at Sofia face and he smiles. She also smiles like the sun.

'Let's love as much as you've been in pain.' Azief said

'Un' Sofia nodded. Then Azief lift her up and carry her to the bed and they make love each other.

Not knowing that the sweet promises, the words they say is like a foreshadowing of their tragic future.

Loki has seen what has transpired and he could attest that if there is one weakness of the eventual God of Death Azief, it was Sofia the Divine Archer.

She is his kryptonite

Chapter 128: The events of the future

Loki is walking in circle inside his room feeling both anxious and excited. Sometimes he sighed, sometimes he shrieks.

The guards assign to protect Loki has been accustomed to this matter and no longer give Lord Loki any concern when he was acting like that.

He was given a large house a few minute walking distance from Sina laboratory. And both Loki and Sina was assigned guards to protect them

This is to prevent anything like Sina kidnaping ever happening again.

One could even asses the matter of importance they possess by measuring how well protected Azief friends really are.

Sina was well protected even than before. Guard posted around her in shifts for 24 hours with sealing and magic barriers erected inside and outside her laboratory.

Loki was just below Sina on how he was well guarded.

Maybe it is because Loki himself is as slippery as a loach that Azief does not worry about him that much.

After a while he lay down on his bed and sigh.

'It seems I have miscalculated certain things.' He said as he closes his eyes and he sees that sea of blood again.

Heard the screams again. Felt his heart rend apart again. Felt the pain. Felt the burn. See the future.

Felt the suffering.

The future he doesn't want. The suffering he doesn't want.

Bearing the burdens of all those lives on his shoulders.

The memory torment him....like always. And he sighed as he tries again to erase that memory.

Maybe when things change, maybe when the Heavens go crazy and overturned the fates, than his memory will also fades.

Loki has seen how his choice changes the future he knows.

For example, The Dark Speedster appearance.

Loki knows there is something between Azief and Will.

Maybe a secret partnership or something along that line.

It seems even Azief is holding some secrets from Sina, Sofia and him. There is another thing that surprise Loki.

Dark Speedster lightning. It was blue....not red. Which means Will has already tapped the Speed Source.

Loki remembers when he met Will in the original timeline. It was when he was in Disk Formation and Will was at Essence Creation.

It was then he managed to make his lightning blue. But Will has always been a half step to Sovereign all of his life even until his death.

And Loki knows from his memory that Will only met the Prince when the Prince seek his help regarding the Oracle prophecy initiating the Time Crisis.

He was the Dark Speedster for most of his life until the Final Battle.

In the final battle Will reached Sovereign level and turned into the Silver Speedster and gained the Speed and power to battle the Darkness.

If not for his sacrifice, Loki and Jean would not be able to survive.

Loki still remembers how Will punch the Darkness with double the speed of light incinerating everything in ten thousand miles radius of his battle.

But in the end he fall.

And that's when Loki and the others saw the Cosmic Speedster, the pale white lightning.

Most of the time when people on Earth dies, their souls go to the God of Death. But for speedsters like Will, they return to the Speed Source.

Before Will became Sovereign there are other speedsters that dies on Earth and each time their souls could not escaped Azief hands.

But when Will broke the barrier and become a sovereign in that final battle, he was too fast for Death to catch.

Will can be revived if he escaped Death grasp. As long as the soul is still there, some people have means to revive a person back.

But the Speed Source couldn't have that

So, from the Speed Source, the Pale Speedster appears descending from the Cosmic Source in the form of a white silvery lightning.

Loki even with his Sovereign magic could not see the true form of this Pale Speedster. The only reason he knows that the Speedster is Pale is because Will shouted it out.

The Pale Speedster was too fast even for Loki to see with his Eye of Truth

The Pale Speedster, the embodiment of death itself. And Will who just became a Sovereign.

If only Will has long become a sovereign and has acclimated himself with his newfound powers, he might have a chance to outrun the Pale Speedster.

These two gods race across the world and the stars but seeing that Will body instantly disintegrated after five minutes of the white lightning descend, Loki believes that Will lost the race.

Loki remembers all the big events where Will plays pivotal role. After all, Will was even famous that him before Loki became Sovereign.

He is most famously known for creating The Time Crisis.

Loki has makes sure all the players of that event is alive and well. The Oracle is alive. Sofia is alive...and she is the most important one.

After all, she did send him here. If she dies then Loki doesn't want to think about the consequences.

Loki knows that leaving the Oracle alive might put some his plans in jeopardy but Loki had no choice.

She needs to survive for the event to start. The reason why Loki fears Oracle....well, she is after all a woman who can see the future.

Who knows how that woman would think and do if she knows what he is planning?

After all she did give one of her eyes to be transplanted into Azief eyes just so that he could see the future

Which crazy person would rip out their eyeball and transplanted it to another other than Erika?

Sometimes, Loki even suspected that Erika wanted to screw Azief by giving him the ability to see the future.

In the end, Azief was led by the nose by his vision of the future. Then there is also the little girl Giselle.

Right now, she is still an insignificant character.

She is now being called the White Witch. She is weak, amateurish in using her abilities and magic, naïve and childish.

But in the Final Battle her magic and Arno Cursed Chain managed to tie down the Darkness for a few seconds making Will be able to break through to Sovereign.

After all, a second is long to a speedster like Will.

It was fortunate that he has thought to riddle the body of the White Witch with his mnemonic runic that could inscribe information in the forms of tattoo or symbols even words.

It is vague enough and reliable enough for someone to understand it.

The runes will guide her.

Guide her to her final destination.

To the destined battle she must fight. Because in the Final battle she perished painfully. But honorably.

Because of her sacrifice, because of her determination, Loki being here is possible. This is the weight of life Loki holds.

He met the White Witch and rescues her because it was necessary. He rescues her only to sacrifice her in later time.

What impressed Loki was the selflessness of the White Witch even after he shows her the future to come.

The suffering and the bleak future. She looks at it and accepts her fate because she knows it will be necessary.

And once one sees what the future have in store, like the White Witch, they would rather have their memories burned.

Because knowing what her fate ultimately leads to, she was afraid that she would not have the courage to do what is necessary, what is right.

So, she wipes her own memory.

She was young and yet she still possesses that bravery. She is braver than most men. She accepts her fate with stoic determination.

Loki just hopes that it will not come to that. That the Final battle could be averted. But Loki sighed and then shakes his head.

His eyes still closed he said

‘Nothing can stop the darkness. It hungers. It devours. It destroys. And it will come’ he said to himself.

He carves the mnemonic runic, a memory spell, to guide the White Witch to safety without even remembering it.

Now the White Witch is a great ally of the World Government.

Loki wishes her well and hoped by the time of the Final battle she would be strong enough to survive.

'She is Plan B' Loki said as he opens his eyes.

Truth be told he doesn't really like using the White Witch like that.

And he has no intention of dredging up that seal memory inside the head of the White Witch.

Because the future isn't good.

And she doesn't have to bear that burden.

Loki willingly hold up the burden of a destroyed tomorrow and come back here, to where it all begins and undertake a quest he did not know if it's going to succeed

But he got to try.

At least, he's got to try.

Then there is the marriage of Earthshaker and Divine Archer. Narleod must remain alive at least until that time.

Fire Arrow Frieda, Warp the Teleportation Master, Water Princess Erin all exist in this timeline and all are alive.

Though most of them are not that famous yet and Narleod has not recruited them yet.

The main players in that events is Raymond, Oreki, Narleod and of course the God of Death.

Loki who saw the event of that wedding with the aid of his staff still remembers.

At the time he was wandering in some pocket dimension when he heard the news and watches the scene by conjuring an Image Magic.

He remembers a man floating in a throne of bones looking down at the people during the attack on the wedding like they were ants.

He came with his black attire, his black hood covering his cold face, his presence sucks up the life and joy of that wedding place.

Laws shattered, and the world was turned into disarray with his descent. The Pillars of the world trembles and earthquake shakes the earth.

The sea become restless as waves and waves of seawater rises up and create a tsunami in most regions while the winds pulsate and create giant tornado.

Life withered, plants wilted and death pervades the world.

If not because he lower his Divine pressure, the Earth would crumble.

The First Sovereign, the God of Death, the Prince. When he arrived at the battle, everyone kneeled, afraid to match eyes with him.

Their hand trembled and all thought of resisting perished. He uses his swish of a hand to overturn an already made conclusion.

The guest that died that perished in that bloody wedding, were resurrected almost in a perfect form

Their souls returned back to their vessels and the League of Freedom was subjugated.

Giving his ultimatum, the matter ended, he himself disappeared in a black flame.

Sofia the Divine Archer then breaks her engagement and seeks the Oracle because of that matter.

Loki also remembers the New World War.

The huntress Delia the Armenian extremist. Akira the Mad Scientist. Poison King Takashi. But maybe this time the New World War will be different since the country no longer existed.

At that time Russia was accused of destroying the Island of Peace using euronium explosive.

But there is a sinister plot in the background.

And in this matter, the Prince appears again battling Sarohian Beast that was summoned.

The continent of Australia was turned to dust by the end of that battle, with millions of life as collateral damage.

Earth was almost destroyed if not for the barrier of the Illusion God that transported the battle between those two entities into other dimension.

The Illusion God had to retreat for one year in his realm to recuperate after using his powers to create such a powerful illusion.

Then there is the Attack of Yrinia.

Loki knows Fir Her Waz is coming. The strongest warrior of Yrinia. By now, Loki estimated that Fir Her Waz is in Interium, the gladiatorial stadium of the Universe.

The reason why Loki knows about this is because of what happens after the defeat of Fir Her Waz.

The Book of Mysteries.

It is where Loki learns most of his most sinister spells and magic.

'Fir Her Waz' Loki said with a whispering tone like remembering a sad story.

One day he will come here, coming down from the Heavens with his Battlestar. And the battle will once again commence.

To others this event did not happen yet.

But to Loki, he has already seen it before. Loki still remembers the unwillingness of Fir Her Waz when he was about to die.

He cried tears of blood and he keeps saying the name of his family until his last breath.

In that event, Lord Shadow once again plays as the main character.

After that the Annihilator came. That beast, that unthinking, savage beast, nearly kill humans to the points of extinction.

Thinking of it, all the Seven Sovereigns had to march into the battlefield at that time to battle this unworldly savage brutish force.

Oreki and Hikigaya were battling other problems because of the Annihilator descent while Katarina battled Rosulka in Russia making her unable to aid the God of Death.

That Rosulka that will battle Katarina at that time, she is still a child now. She is one disturbed individuals.

She only wanted to watch the world burns.

And then came the turning point that leads to the Ends of Days defeat.

The War of the Sovereigns.

Three Sovereign died that day. Katarina, Oreki and Hikigaya. And it all started because of that damn woman.

Paulette. Jean's woman. Because of her, a war was started. A civil war amongst the Sovereign.

The Sovereign were never people that easily agreed with each other but they never bear arms at each other and they never battle until their death.

Because of Paulette, Earth turns into a battleground for these Gods.

Even after the G7 convenes, the Seven Sovereign could never see eye to eye and thus the war of the Sovereigns started.

At first, Loki and Azief abstain from picking any side.

In an act of affection, the God of Death prophesied that if Katarina went to the war for his brother, she will die.

At the time, everyone knows The Prince has a little something something with Sofia the Divine Archer.

But everyone knows about the volatile on and off relationship between The Prince and the Ice Deity.

If Katarina has a counterpart in mythology, and Gods knows how Loki loves his mythology, then her counterpart is Hera.

Jealous and vindictive.

One such famous anecdote of their story was when one of the Devotees of God of Death truly falls in love with Azief.

His Temple in Everest was always full of his worshippers praying day and night even though he rarely answers.

Most of them asked for either their loved ones to return or to die a good death.

Most of the time those who worships Him feared and revered him. But a woman from Greece named Annika loves him with all of her heart.

She was a weak woman who was blessed by the God of Death on her birth because her father used to fight beside the God of Death as one of his generals before he became Sovereign.

Annika father sacrificed his life to protect Azief. And Azief was very touched by this act that he vowed he will settle this debt.

So, when his child grows to an adolescent year Azief who was now a Sovereign, capable of great magic blessed Annika with good health and decreed that as long as she stays in her mortal form, she is immortal.

His decree and his voice itself is magic, imbued within it the will of the Universe.

Katarina heard of how this Annika always prays that she only wanted to see the God of Death face so she could love him and take Him as her husband.

She would sing love songs on His temple, lavish luxurious sacrifice and many other acts of devotion.

Katarina was incensed with jealousy and rage. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

So, she descended from Her realm of tormentors Hell of Ice and sent divine punishment which is neutralized by Azief blessing.

No matter what She throws at Annika, she remains unharmed, immortal as long as she remains in her mortal form.

This makes people believed even more in the power of the God of Death, to grant life and death, control over the souls, rebirth and reincarnation.

Katarina knows she could not do anything to Annika while she is protected by His Blessing so she summon her champion and orders her champion to lure Annika away.

Her Champion tricked Annika telling that her mother has been kidnapped by the Devotees of Katarina.

Annika believing this story since the Ice Goddess has long told the world She hated her. So Annika follows Katarina champion to the Temple of Katarina and she was not afraid since she has the blessing of the God of Death.

But Annika forget one thing. You never underestimate a woman ability to plot...especially when that women in a Goddess.

The moment she arrived there, The God of Death blessing weakens.

Her Temple, Her rules. Now, that Blessing is weakened, Katarina could employ Her Divine magic.

Katarina cursed her to become a ten foot black bear, losing her mortal form and her mind.

She lost all of her senses and becomes a human killing bear with powers resembling of a half step sovereigns.

When Azief learns of this he was furious but the deeds have been done and he could no longer overturn this curse of Katarina.

Katarina was forcing Azief to deal with the problem. With so many casualties incurred by the beast, Azief could no longer sit tight in his throne.

So, Azief sent his champion with a quest.

To kill the ungodly bear.

Azief bestow his champion with his Scythe that could cut anything in the world, even fate and destiny.

Even though his champion was only at Disk Formation, using the scythe his champion killed the bear with one swipe at the bear head

Everyone thought it is tragic for the woman to attract the ire of a Goddess like Katarina but in the end it was Azief that have the last laugh.

The moment Annika died, Azief brought her souls into his realms and constructed a heavenly island for her.

Loki even knows that sometimes, Azief would visit that island when he is troubled with something.

Loki learns something from that and that lesson is don't be a jerk to the God of Death because he is better at being a jerk than anyone else.

That's the state of relationship between Azief and Katarina.

Unhealthy, toxic and crazy.

But Azief once commented 'Other things were not good. But the sex? It was crazy good'

Loki remembers there was this one time Katarina and Azief was having sex that alarmed all the other Sovereigns and the forces on Earth.

Their act of making love is disastrous to the people of Earth.

It created shockwaves that was so powerful that they made the Earth shakes; a plethora of volcano erupts with hot billowing lava and a hurricane that killed thousands.

If not for Raymond calming the Earth, many cities in the world would crumble.

Since then the G7 created a law that in the events of a sovereign-sovereign pairing, if you want to have sex, then do it in space.

The sex was good but their relationship is frustratingly toxic and unhealthy.

But they do have affection for each other. So, the Prince gives his prophecy, hoping she would abandon her intention to join the war.

But Katarina always one for defying Azief words, went into war anyway. In the end she couldn't abandon her family.

And she dies at the hand of the God of Thunder Oreki, in Azief arms when she breathed her last breath.

The God of Death roars in anger that shakes all the realms and finally enters the war. His bones chariot once again soars over the Earth, bringing the miasma of death.

Thousands of His Death Wraiths emerges from the Darkness, the gates of Hell opens and his Furies flies out with the Heaven overturned and the world becomes crazy.

The sea slowly evaporates turning into black mist killing all sea creatures, the river runs backwards and the land crack and crumples.

The sun was overshadowed with red and black clouds as thunders and lightning covered and strikes the earth.

All manners of terrifying creatures jump out from the Gates of Hell.

Nine Winged Bones Dragon, Twelve Headed Snakes, Ten Thousand Eyes Spiders, these great monster come out and heed the call of the Lord who rules over death and destruction.

He sided with Lord Jean and he slaughtered Lord Oreki and Lord Hikigaya in an earth shaking battle that scarred the Earth.

In the battle 1000 islands were sunk, 3000 mountains was turned into dust and a whopping 400 million lives were sacrificed.

And that was even after the seal of the world was activated.

By the end of the war only 4 Sovereign is left.

And then the End of Days happens which resulted in Earth defeat. With four Sovereigns, and what happened to Azief in the final battle, humanity lost hope.

Loki closes his eyes again and once again he said to himself like he has always been saying from the very first moment he woke up in his younger body.

‘Never lose hope’

IN A CERTAIN MANOR IN EDEN

The Seven Fairy returns to their manor after they meet Lord Shadow, each and every one of them feeling variety of emotions.

Not all of them agreed with Nayoung decision to serve under Lord Shadow.

And this faction is the Seven Fairy that does not agree with Nayoung decision is of course headed by Somi.

But they can't argue it out in front of Lord Shadow so they are all eager to go to their manor and discuss the matter among themselves.

A week ago, Doyeon commissioned the construction of manor on the inside of the village and yesterday it was finished.

Many people offered themselves to help the construction since they all know that the Seven Fairy is a famous personage in the Plains and to gain notice from such powerful expert will make their lives easier in the long run.

Protection barrier and formation to prevent people from hearing has also been put down by formation class user.

Today, they have moved in with all of their belongings transported inside the manor yesterday.

The moment Somi entered she sat down in one of the chairs in the Great Hall and sit down in dissatisfaction.

Somi look at Nayoung and her glares are piercing.

Nayoung might be the leader of their group, but the center pillar that holds up their formation is her.

When in peace, Nayoung words are the Law. When in battle, Somi words are the Law.

The other are all important since their battle style is in formation but these two have always been more outspoken and confident so the other relegated the task of leading them to these two people.

They are all like sisters so they argue but this matter is too big to think of it like some inconsequential squabble.

Sejeong and the other also notice Somi behavior and could only sigh.

The moment they entered the Great Hall, the hired help quickly come to them to ask what they wanted or is there is anything they would like them to do when they were suddenly being glared by an angry Somi.

The hired help inside the manor was very shocked.

It was fortunate that Somi did not pressure the hired help with her level pressure or that servant would have his pillars shattered.

Most of them are just Pillar Forming Stage and mostly young kids or cowards who don't want to or can't fight mutated beast.

Only these kinds of people will debase themselves and become servants to high level users.

Kids have potential to become levelers later when they grow up. But old people or young people who are afraid, it is destined they will never be strong.

After all not all humans are brave, resourceful and dare bear the risk of dying. But the work of a servant is not so bad.

For the kids, they could learn many tips from high levelers if one day they want to strike out on their own.

For the old and cowards, they were protected.

But in the Seven Fairy manor there are not so many servants.

Most of the people working here is production class users hired by the village for the Seven Fairy.

There are cooks, gardeners, builders and many others. Not only the pay is high, these production class users could increase their experience.

Who would turn down such an easy job?

Today, the kitchen steward wanted to ask the Seven Fairy what he should ask the cook to prepare but seeing the youngest and most terrifying Seven Fairy in bad mood, the steward is also sweating bullets.

Nayoung sit down on the recliners with Chungha quickly behind her and began massaging Nayoung shoulders.

Nayoung looking at the kitchen steward looking afraid, trembling in fear, gestured with her hands to send the kitchen steward away and the kitchen steward quickly dismissed himself from the Great Hall with a breathe of relief.

'You don't have to release your anger on someone innocent, Somi' Nayoung said and Somi scoffed.

Chungha who was massaging Nayoung said hatefully

'Wang Jian is still very much hostile to us. We have surrendered. We have already apologized. What more does he want?' Nayoung leaned back comfortably on the recliner.

Hearing Chungha remark, she smiled and said:

'It is understandable. We kill his brothers. It's not something he would forget. And the whole world knows that Wang Jian values brotherhood very much. If not why would his men did not hesitate to sacrifice their lives for him?'

'Is that why you ask us sisters to serve Lord Shadow? Because you think Wang Jian might plotted against us?' Chungha asked Nayoung nodded.

'Resting under a big tree, there is no disadvantage. It is obvious to me, that if we want to live, we have to serve Lord Shadow as his officers instead of striking of an alliance with him.'

'Why?' Somi said raising her voice, from where she was sitting.

Doyeon who was on the kitchen came in carrying with a goblet of date and honey tea. Hearing what Nayoung said, she laughed and said:

'Because if it's an alliance, the moment the alliance is broken, Wang Jian will hunt us down and maul us to death. And I doubt at that time, Lord Shadow will lift a finger to help us. If we were just in an alliance, the best relationship we have with Lord Shadow is someone who was united for a certain amount of time to achieve the same goal. When that goal is achieved, why does he has to care for us? He would certainly not side with us while slighting his own officers. It is different if we are his subordinates.'

Nayoung closes her eyes and nodded. Then she opened her eyes and sighed over those words:

'Narleod plans were very sinister. Not only we almost make Lord Shadow our enemy, we now have Wang Jian as our enemy. And from what I've seen many of the important people on Lord Shadow side has a deep relationship with Wang Jian.'

Nayoung coughed.

Nayoung could not help but clenched her fist every time she remembers about Narleod. It is because of him, her sisters and her need to bow their heads to someone else.

Wang Jian is a silent tiger. He will not move unless provoked. And killing his brother, if that is not provoking him then what?

If not for the constraint of Lord Shadow, Nayoung is confident, with his temper, he would swing his Ruyi Jingu Bang and engage in life and death battle with all of her sisters.

Chungha pulled a thin blanket over Nayoung and said

'But, unnie. What makes you think Lord Shadow will protect us?'

'Because we are his subordinates. People like Lord Shadow like to accumulate talented people. Prideful. He is the kind of people that scheme. And those people would always think of situation in terms of profit and loss. And cares very much about their reputation. He would not sacrifice us unless we gave him a reason to.'

'I'm not satisfied with an ending like this' Somi said, her voice has calmed a lot a far cry from the beginning.

Somi has always been willful and forceful in her conduct. Maybe because she is young or maybe because she is strong.

Nayoung then reply to her looking tired.

'Not many things in this world satisfied you, Somi. We just have to deal with the cards we have been given. Now, you'll get ready for the ceremony.'

The other Seven Fairy nodded and starts preparing.

Only Nayoung still sits on the recliner, pulling the blanket closer to her, thinking deeply on how to survive in the Central Plains.

She has to be strong....for her sisters. For her family.

THAT NIGHT

AFTER THE CEREMONY

Loki opens his eyes. It was late at night but someone knock his door. Five knocks. Not three not two but five knocks.

Creating a very weird rhythm.

Loki senses did not detect anyone outside his door and his wariness increase.

Because if his senses did not sense the person outside his room, that means his guards also did not notice.

Loki takes a breath and smirk.

Loki get up from his bed and was about to prepare himself, as his aura intentionally leaked out to warn the person outside when the voice says

‘Lord Trickster, God of Deceit, did you forget the Ten Swords Gorge? Do you still remember the yellow wine gourd?’ The question makes Loki speechless and shocked beyond belief.

‘It couldn’t be’ he said it to himself.

He did remember and he remembers that man he saw in the ceremony and shakes his own head at his own thoughts.

Because it was too absurd.

Loki still could not believe what he is hearing and then slowly he come to his bedroom door and with a slight pull he opens the door and he saw a man wearing ragged clothes with a yellow wine gourd sling on his left hip.

First Loki was shocked and then came his suspicions. His mind is thinking about that woman.

If this is really him, then the only one possible doing this is that woman. He mused to himself.

Loki then pulled the person inside the room and pushes him to the other side of the room while he produces a dagger.

‘That’s not a way to greet old friend.’ Loki looks at him with a very puzzled expression.

And wariness. Sofia did not mention this kind of scenario when she, Jean and Hirate concocted that plan.

‘Wine Beggar Louise.’

Loki said, his hand still tightly gripping his dagger. He knows this person in the future but not in this timeline.

At least not yet.

Loki shakes his head. But if that is truly so, why did Louise called him by the moniker God of Deceit unless this man....

Loki then instantly knows who he is seeing in front of him right now. Not the Wine Beggar Louise of this timeline.

But the Louise of the future.

Loki has seen him during the ceremony. Loki noted that Louise is still young unlike his future self during the ceremony.

'Who sent you?' That was his first question

Louise smiles and smirks.

'Come on. You know who.' Loki then immediately thinks of someone. That woman. Always in the black robe.

Always challenging him.

'Morgana!' Loki said. Louise nodded

'Hmph' Loki snorted and then he looked at the ceiling. He then sighed.

'This is why I fucking hate Time Magic.'

Louise chuckles.

'Jean and Hirate is not the only one capable of doing that kind of magic.'

'What price did she pay?' Loki asks.

'To conjure such magic, the price must be astronomical.' he added

'Love' Louise said and his face was very solemn. And understanding dawned on Loki face.

If there is one thing that Morgana love, that could only be Mika.

Her son.

Loki once met the little toddler. A cute, young child. And as understanding dawned on him, anger filled his heart.

'You mean she killed her own son? Using her son blood to create the Array Formation of Rebirth and Reincarnation? Did she use the Wheel?' Loki said gritting his teeth in anger.

The blood as ink, the organs as the tether, the soul as the millstone of time. To do this kind of magic, one must truly be crazy

'Dark magic. Dark emotions' Louise said but he too seems disgusted by the notions. Not to mention he was the one who saw what Morgana did.

She choked her own son on his cradle. Even through the child screams and crying she did not stop choking the life out of that child.

She needs a pure soul, untainted by mortal sin. What is more pure than a baby?

There were no tears on her eyes.

Only determination to do what she thinks is right. The determination that Louise believes the Divine Archer, The Time God, Mind Master is not capable of.

'And Loki...don't forget that we did live in dark times.' Loki just snorted but he could not help but agree with Louise.

'Fine.' He waved his hand upwards in a surrendering motion and then he said

'You're here. Is anyone else travels through time and space, broke every laws of rebirth and reincarnation is here? Let us set a meeting and meet with each other before the Laws of the Universe find a way to screw us all' He said sarcastically.

Louise did not pay Loki annoyance any heed. Instead he asks Loki.

'We need to talk.'

'About what?' Loki said dismissively and it is clear form his tone he did not like talking with Louise.

He already sheathes back his dagger and sits down on one of his chair in his room.

'God of Death.' Louise said.

'What about him?' Loki said as he produces a bottle of vodka and pours himself a drink

'Did The Divine Archer sent you back here to prop him up? To make him stronger?' Louise asked

'And what if she did?' Loki replies nonchalantly.

This time Louise face is flushed with anger.

'Loki! You know what he is. What he will become! And still, you wish to strengthen him. Ends of Days! You know who is responsible for that!'

Loki just ignores what Louise said and takes another shot of the vodka.

'And what did Morgana send you here for?' Louise face turned serious and answered

'To end the threat once and for all.'

'You want to kill him?' And Loki smiles. But this smile is terrifying. His eyes sharpened and his aura surged up.

He was like a waiting wolf. Waiting to devour. But before the time is up, he will wait. Patience.

But Louise is not one that is easily intimidated.

'Yes, and we have been planning it since the day he revealed himself. We just did not thought that he would grow this fast. And as you and I know we couldn't really hoard all the treasures lest risking that some destiny derailed.'

Loki then laughed. He knows the reason why Louise did not manage to kill Azief is because he didn't know where Azief is.

If Loki is right, Louise could only be here for a few moments of time. Morgana is powerful....but she is not that powerful.

Loki is here permanently. His mind is tethered to this timeline unlike Louise. If not Azief would be long dead.

There is also the fact that in the future not many really know the story of the Prince. Where he originated, who is his friends and so on and so forth.

That is why Louise did not know the whereabouts of Azief until he revealed himself to the world.

The moment Azief becomes Sovereign he cut his Karma Thread except one.

Loki has always said to the Prince that if he has one weakness, it is the Divine Archer.

Who would have thought that weakness is what makes Loki able to find Azief when he was just a Pillar Forming Stage?

Loki then said to Louise

'I disagree. The cause of that event is not him. You couldn't really blame him for what happened at the end. He was conquered with fear. Fear of the future. For a God that could see the future, Azief was led by destiny instead of controlling it. And you and I we know that making a decision based on fear rarely bode well.'

'Say what you want to defend him, Loki. He might not be the true problem but he is the executor. You know he is the v-'

'Don't say it' Loki said looking angry.

Loki doesn't like to be reminded of what happens in the Final Battle.

Because he could still hear the screams. He still smells that smell of burning flesh.

Sometimes when he woke in the morning and wash his face, sometimes he sees the seas of blood in front of him again.

Feeling the wet blood on his face again. When he bathes it was like he was drenched with the rain of blood.

The death of good men and women. The death of his friends and brothers and sisters in arms.

The final battle was not really a battle. It was a one sided slaughter. Loki didn't like to be reminded of that tragic day

'Fine. I don't like recalling that memory either. But you know, He will end us all if he is not stopped. If he reached Sovereign, then he could no longer be stopped. All of this has happens before, and if he reached Sovereign all of that will happen again. And looking at his current capabilities, he surely would reach Sovereign level sooner or later.'

Loki just sighed and said to Louise.

'Louise, sit down first.' Louise took a chair and sit down and then Loki began saying.

'What is Morgana plans actually? Kill him? You think destiny and fate is that easy to change? Why did you think any magic involving time, reality and life and death are hard? Why do you think its price is steep? Because destiny doesn't like being thwarted. It doesn't like being changed. It is the accumulation of the will of the universe.'

Louise did not like hearing Loki still defending Azief so he said.

‘And what will you do with a more upgraded version of the God of Death? You think the final battle will be easier? When you know, that the very reason we have to have a final battle is because of him? Or are you just afraid that if you change his destiny, your destiny will also change? Loki, the Seventh Sovereign. The runt among the giants. A clown in front of Gods and Divine Warrior. Morgana is better than you. She knows to do what is necessary! Regardless of the price!’

Loki face flushed red. This is his complex. When he was Sovereign, even though he was Sovereign, he was the weakest.

He did not possess domineering powers like God of Death, does not possess the charisma of the Earthshaker, and does not possess the adoration of the people like the Twin God of Japan.

He was not as brave as the Ice Deity. He did not possess a strong will like Jean. He was the odd one among the Seven

He was a runt among giants, a kid among heroes. But it is ironic that in the final battle, Loki and Jean, they were the only surviving Sovereign.

God of Death is dead.

Not literally. But figuratively.

Because the man he saw in that final battle is not the Azief he knows.

To him, it was at that last moment; Loki accepts that Azief is dead. He had the same face, had the same temperament, but Loki will never acknowledge that man as Azief.

But hearing his wound being opened by Louise, he could not just stay silent. He snorted derisively and said

‘Is that why I didn’t see her in the final battle? Because she knows what is necessary? Morgana like always, runs when the problem gets tough. That is why she will always remain in half step Sovereign. What did she do when the world went to war? What did she do when all the great heroes battle the End of Days? What did she do when millions die? What did she do when millions screams, bleed and suffers? Hiding in her rooms concocting this idiotic plan?’

Louise just shakes his head and he said

‘We will install a new sovereign, Loki. The Seven Sovereign will still exist. The New World War, the Yrinia Events all will happen again. I know we are not able to change all the events. Only two events that needs to change. The War of the Sovereign and the Ends of Days. Remove Lord Azief from the equation and we don’t have such a tragic ending for this two events. You know I’m right!’ Louise said as he stood up and glares at Loki.

Louise did not want to make enemy with the God of Deceit.

He might not have his Sovereign Presence yet but his formidability and the aura of a great ruler still exudes out from Loki.

In his timeline, Louise knows while Loki is the weakest among the Seven Sovereigns that still makes him one of the strongest people in the world.

Only Sovereign can defeat a Sovereign. This saying is popular in his timeline because it is the truth.

When Loki heard Louise plans he could not help but chuckle.

‘Hah? Install a sovereign? How would you do that?’

‘We will pour our resources to one person so that he could break through sovereign level’ and hearing this Loki laughs.

‘You think reaching Sovereign is a matter of resources? HAHHAHA. To reach Sovereign it could be simple or it could be hard. But one thing I know, it doesn’t involve resources. Morgana never step on that level itself how would she know?’

‘At least, it is better than the alternative. Reaching to Sovereign might not be achieved by pouring resources into one person. But to reach Half Step to Sovereign, with resources it is possible. We have to have faith that the person we install will find a way to pave the path to Sovereign’ Louise said.

Loki closes his eyes and sighs.

‘Saying all this to me, you must have other intentions. Since you could not remain here in this timeline for long, you will not waste your time just to tell me your story. Now, tell me the real reason why you want to meet me.’ Saying this Loki put down his vodka glass and looks straight at Louise eyes.

Louise then begins by saying

‘I know you accepting the mission of the Divine Archer is because you felt guilty of what happen in the Final Battle. I’m offering you an alternative. Lord Jean is the God of Time and his wisdom is unparalleled about the laws of time. But you know Morgana personally Loki. You know what she is capable of. Lord Jean is your colleague but.....’and he look at Loki and he knows Loki dreaded what Louise about to say.

‘Morgana is your Teacher....and wife. And she has the Investiture of the First Race’ Hearing this Loki face fell. And then he smiles bitterly.

Louise smiles and with the highest hope, he ask

‘Join us, God of Deceit. Let us save the world together’ Loki looks at Louise and then looking at the ceiling of his manor he sighed and said.

‘This is why I fucking hate Time Magic’

Chapter 129: The great ceremony \(1\)

The ceremony is beginning.

The fireworks lines the sky as the children’s look in awe and smiles fill their faces, tugging the sleeves of their parents to the site of the ceremony.

Stalls and temporary shops were opened nearby the hills, with all kind of snacks. There is new variety of food after the Fall.

Most of the snack consists of some meats of the monster that can be eaten, like the skewered meat of the Dhob, a lizard like monster.

Dhob meat tastes like chicken only ten times better. It is crunchy if stir fried with flour and sweet if dipped in sauce.

And Cockatrice meat grilled like bacon, with sweet maple syrup on top with hoagie bread full of cheese on the side seems to be popular among people who like grilled bacon.

There was a great fanfare in this ceremony.

When the people furnished the place of ceremony, they tried to go to the route of simple yet grand.

The ceremony is to be held at the Oath Keeping Hill. It was the name of the Hill nearby the Village.

Azief has named the hill Oath Keeping Hill for this particular ceremony.

Eden is not lacking in anything right now.

Combined the fact that the Seven Fairy give all their gold to Li Yuan The treasurer, Li Yuan manages to hires men to work creating this grand and luxurious ceremony.

Li Yuan was managing the Treasury in the beginning because he was the original resident of the village and one of Wang Jian people.

Li Yuan even thought that Azief would replace him with other people now that there is many people coming to the village but Azief has assured him that this position is his.

The reason Li Yuan thought like this is because many of Wang Jian people hold many important post in Azief administration and fear that Azief would grow suspicious that Wang Jian might attempt to usurp him.

What Li Yuan did not understand, is that Azief does not fear Wang Jian even if he wanted to rebel or usurp him.

After all with his level of strength, to kill him will prove to be very difficult.

Even if somehow Wang Jian might manage to usurp his position, Azief is confident that Wang Jian will not be able to kill him.

If that ever happens, he just have to bide his time and when his strength rises he can rise again.

And he has many contingencies plan and allies hiding in the dark.

That is why Azief is not afraid of such outcome. In the venue, many people have already gathered.

Lining up on the left and right side were the citizens of the village with variety of classes and profession.

After they swore the oath Azief will upgrade the village into a large city.

On the top of the hill is the high platform with two thrones.

It was requested specifically by Wang Jian to enhance Azief splendor and majesty, to enhance confidence in the hearts of the people and incite fear in the hearts of enemies.

Wang Jian and Loki were closest to the throne, Loki beside the Dragon Throne, Wang Jian beside the Phoenix throne, standing guard high on the platform while Azief and Sofia is holding hands as they walked to the high platform.

Wang Jian is still not satisfied with the conclusion of what happened with the Seven fairy but he did not voice this out.

Loki on the other hand was looking at the crowds and he saw a few people he knows.

Or to be more accurate the people he knows in the future. Most of them are still young. One man attract Loki gaze.

Loki smirk.

The Wine Beggar Louise. He is still young. He was six feet seven, with Caucasian features, brown eyes and hazel hair.

There is no beard on his chin or wrinkles on his face. Apparently the current Wine Beggar is a youth of 20.

For some reason, Loki felt that the Wine Beggar keep looking at his direction but Loki shrugged the weird feeling aside.

On the platform were the dragon chair and the phoenix chair; dragon on the left, phoenix on the right.

The chair was made of pure gold.

The smelters melt down thousands of gold coins to create the thrones, with enchantment and formation matrixes also embedded in the throne.

The throne itself was imbued with magical properties and serve to enhance and increase the majesty of anyone sitting on it.

When it was time to bring the throne to the high platform, it takes six Orb Condensing High Realm users to lift the throne to the top.

Then watching by tens of thousands of people, Azief and Sofia arrived in front of the throne.

Azief stand in front on the dragon chair and unleashed his Immortal Presence and Golden light covering the ceremony, making him look as majestic as an Immortal Emperor.

Today, he shows his face to the world, without the hood covering his face.

His face was beautiful and rugged at the same time, embodying the aspect of power and strength.

His face gives him a reliable feeling.

His current face has been transformed each time as he raises his levels.

By now, his face is flawless and possesses a certain divine quality that serves to aid him in persuading or scaring someone.

It possess a certain kind of magic, making those who think of him favorably enhance their perception of him, while those who wish ill on him will feel a certain aversive feeling on acting of the will intent.

Some cheer his name while some are cautious.

Most of the people that cheer his name were the original residents of the village while many of the immigrants take a cautious approach.

Meanwhile, Sofia stood in front of the phoenix chair, slightly raising her chin to look at the ten thousands of people under her.

She look towards Azief and gritted her teeth. It has been a week.

And tonight Sofia expects answers.

Azief ignores the deadly piercing glares Sofia is shooting at him right now and focused at the task at home.

Then Wang Jian kneels down towards Azief and bowed his head to the ground. Loki was shocked but he was quick as he also knelt.

This was not what Azief has requested and it was not something he expected either.

He just wanted people to remember the ceremony and forget the enmity between the Seven Fairy and the original inhabitants of the village and at the same time doled out rewards.

Then the residents seeing the officers of Lord Shadow knelt they also simultaneously knelt down towards Azief and Sofia.

What Azief didn't know is that Wang Jian thought this was natural.

He after all served the Yue dynasty which serve to emulate the imperial dynasty and also have their custom and traditions.

The people that migrate to Eden have different cultures and customs but when they saw one of the highest ranking officer of Eden kneel down, how would they be so brave to stand out in the sea of kneeling people?

Wang Jian performed the three bows and nine kowtows. The other awkwardly tries to follow him.

The people are perplexed on how to follow this custom even Loki was perplexed at this.

'Enough' Azief said, his words echoes through the Hill as he saw some people in the crowd clearly finding it hard to follow Wang Jian movements.

Azief didn't like the way Wang Jian kowtowed to him. First, it was because this is not his culture.

The three bows and nine kowtows is the culture of the Chinese. And it was not even the culture of the modern Chinese.

It was ancient China. Azief is not thrilled to send back the people of his dominion to ancient time etiquette.

Yue Xing might like people flattering to his ears, but Azief don't like it. He hates it.

Second, he doesn't believe in emperor worship. Third, he is not an emperor. Even after this he really would not take much concern on what happening to his city.

Azief knows the only guarantee that his life is secured is to raise his power.

Fourth, he was uncomfortable seeing so many people kneeling and kowtowing to him like he was some God.

He was uncomfortable then, he was uncomfortable now.

In Earth Two, he experienced this too.

He even has a cult in that Earth that worship him.

And there is even some fanatic amongst them. And needless to say, people do crazy things for their Gods.

You would be surprised what people do in the name of their Gods.

And lastly Azief did not like to be worshipped. If Loki knows what he is thinking he would certainly say 'It was ironic considering his future'

'Rise' Azief said and he gestured Loki to move this ceremony along

Loki then called

'Perform the music' then the music sounded out as the people also could relax themselves and then after the people finished and the music has ended Azief spoke.

'Today, we are at a new dawn!' And his voice was full of power resonating and echoing around the hill with golden hue around him, it was like he was proclaiming the will of heaven.

'The world right now is a deathtrap for the weak. I will not be as bold as the World government who proclaimed to unite the world to resist this otherworldly threat nor will I be as cynical as the Revolutionary Army that believes that this is our new world and all we can do is ride its waves. I will not be like the World Government who shelters the weak. I will not be like the Revolutionary Army that protects the strong.'

Hearing this, the people in the crowd does not understand what Azief means but they listen.

If you will not shelter the weak, and not protect the strong, then who will you shelter? Who you will protect?

These questions assaulted the mind of everyone present.

'My rule will make the weak strong, the people who wish to grow, grow, the people who wished freedom, will have freedom. I will not fill your head with promises of safety and security. I will not give you fairy tale stories. My city is not the city for the weak. It is not the city for the strong to be protected. It is a city for people who wished the world to be better. A better tomorrow.'

The people on the crowd unconsciously nodded their head.

After all, they all escaped their regions and places of other influence because they believed that they will live a better life here.

Some of them want security. Some of them wanted freedom.. Some of them wanted to grow.

Some of them wanted strength.

For people that come from the Forest Region, most of them wanted to grow.

In the Forest Region the position of power will not be changed.

The Lords of the Forest. All of them are Energy Disperse Stage High Realm user.

And if normal people wanted to grow, it will be better to wander the outside world.

Because that's the highest once could be in the forest region. Stuck always at Energy Disperse Stage.

Most people when they reached Energy Disperse Realm would journey out but the Lords did not making them having almost a complete control in all the newbie in the Forest Region.

Coming to Eden the people of Forest Region wanted to grow.

Some came to gain freedom, not to be constrained by the rules and Quorum decision of the World Government.

Some wanted to live in a society where each people do not want to kill each other. This is especially true from people who migrate from the desert and fire region.

Those regions are harsh and unforgiving.

There are no stable settlements and pillaging and battle against each other were numerous.

Eden seems to be a place that is ruled by order.

And considering Azief firm position in the Plains, there would be no one that would always contest his rule in the Central Plains.

It could even be said after his battle with the Seven Fairy, his position in the Plains is unshakable.

Wang Jian has already sent proposals to Azief to subjugate all the influence in the Central Plains after Azief level up the village rank.

On the high platform, standing proudly, Azief continues his speech.

'And as long as that drive exists, as long as that will burn, this city will stand forever. In each battle that we will surely face, I will be in the thick of battle with you. I will bleed with you. You are now my people.'

Then Azief gestures Loki to say the next words.

'Kneel and swears you allegiance to Lord Azief!' Loki announced and the sea of people all kneeled.

Then they spoke their oaths and then a sound sounded with status windows appearing in front of Azief eyes.

The population is forty thousand nine hundred and fifty hundred people.

You are now ranked as a large city

You can create guilds and give authority to commission the Guild Creation Token.

EXPLANATION:

Guild Token Guilds have many advantages in that each EXP gained when raiding will be not deducted like normal party compositions.

For each Token, the city could sell it to interested parties and the profit will go to the Treasury. Very useful to level up many people in a rush. Guilds are not obligated to help the city when in danger. Instead, they have to pay taxes like other users and have to pay a certain amount of gold for each successful hunt as dictated by the City Governor.

City Governor has the right to request a certain amount of gold for each successful raid. The City governor can impose a ten percent profit for each successful hunt or more.

Be reminded that if the rate is too high, there will not be many people that would not buy Guild Creation Token and will weaken your people in the long run.

The moment Azief read this information about Guild Creation Token was inputted inside his mind.

For the Guild Creation Token for example if you killed a mutated beast the EXP is 10.

In a party, the EXP will be divided with each one will get 5 EXP.

But in a guild when they hunt the same beast, both of them will get 10 EXP regardless of their contribution in the attack.

'Many will want to form guild after this' Azief mused.

BESTOWING TITLES

EXPLANATION:

As the City Governor, you have the ability to create titles be it nobility titles, administration titles, or titles without power. Titles can be sold to interested parties. Each title has hidden stats that could improve a person constitution and abilities. Each title also comes with a stipend and income except titles without power.

Position in administration or military is not counted as titles and is merely a post or position in the city with salary doled out by the Treasury. For now, since Eden has turned into a large city, the amount of salary is fixed by the Treasury.

Eden Treasurer can increase or decrease a person salary. Other than the Treasurer, the other person that can increase or decrease the salary of a person is the people approved by the City Governor.

New Construction Option Can Be Accessed

CLANS COULD BE CREATED

EXPLANATION:

Clans could only be created by the express permission of the city governor. Each clan will not receive any stipend or income from the city. Clans are exempted from any form of taxes except land tax. They are obligated to help the city when in danger different from guilds that have no other responsibility to help the city other than paying tax and giving a considerable amount of profits to the city when their raid ended.

Other than tax exemption, clan will possess the same privilege like guilds and will have their abilities strengthen in their clan territory.

ABILITY TO SET THE TAX

EXPLANATION:

Theoretically. Be reminded that if you tax the people too much, these people would move to other places and weaken your city.

Be wise in setting the tax rate and the things that is to be taxed. Don't be too greedy.

ABILITY TO SET LAWS

EXPLANATION:

A large city is full of people. As City Governor, you have the ability to set laws that will take effect and will be enforce. For anyone committing the crime, their stats in the first day of doing the crime, will be halved unless they run out of the city. Be reminded, that nobody like a stern punishment. But gentle punishment will not stop crime. Benevolent laws or stern punishments the choice is in your hands.

CHANGING CLASS

EXPLANATION:

As City Governor, you have the ability to change the class of your residents if they wished it. The class the city governor could change is only normal classes. Unique classes cannot be changed unless you become a King.

EXILING

EXPLANATION:

As the city governor, you can exile a person out of your city. The longer he stays without your permission, his body will grow weaker.

For your officials and people with titles, they can only be exiled after they break your laws. Exiling officials without reason can only be unlocked when you become a King.

REVOKING TITLES

EXPLANATION:

As the city governor, you can revoke any titles you give.

Looking at all these status windows, Azief smiles. He did not check the status windows of his city yet.

There are other things he needs to do.

Chapter 130: The great ceremony \(2\)

But he was satisfied with what he achieved. Very satisfied. Then he sat down on his throne feeling happy as his officials stand straight with pride.

Azief then waved his hand and blinding lights covered the village not far away from the Hill.

It was like the sky opens and lights spread out from the Heavens as the sound of something erupted from the earth could be heard.

The crowds in the Hill closed their eyes to shield their eyes from the shine of the blinding light and when they open their eyes, sound of shocked exclamation fill the Hill.

Hundreds of buildings erected out of nowhere and fill the once small village which now seems like an imposing metropolis.

Azief has dumped all his personal wealth into the Status Window which is why he manages to build so many buildings.

Azief didn't think it is a loss but an investment. With the taxes later he would be able to rake many more profits.

The people then look at Lord Shadow and know that this is the new city and the base of Lord Shadow forces from now on.

This is the place where Azief will extend his reach to all the Central Plains before grasping all the Plains region under him.

There is some circular district built out of nowhere on the cliff nearby the new city.

There is also an inner wall made of stones fifteen feet high on that cliff.

The Walls that covered the village disappeared as it now marks the borders of Eden with thirty feet height, imposing and sturdy.

Fortified towers are also constructed along these walls.

The main thoroughfare of the area around the cliffs is clean, with new buildings that appears out of nowhere giving the impression a sudden civilization exploded into existence like the Big Bang.

On the central of the new city, columns building resembling Romans building can be seen stretching out the new expanse.

It is a mighty city. The people seeing this miraculous scene could not help but be shocked and in awe.

They were participating in the ceremony at the Oath breaking hill and they never knew the reason why all residents must participate without absence.

So, this is the reason.

To make the construction easier.

It was shocking to the extreme. Most of the migrants has never seen the Civilization Seed in action before.

They heard stories that the Civilization Seed enables a Seed Forming Expert to build buildings resembling a city management game.

But hearing and seeing it is two different concepts.

They all still remembers the wooden house and the vast land of nothing other than the green grass and now to see all of that disappeared and turns into a large city, it is surreal.

With a wave of Azief hand, hundreds of buildings sprouted from the ground.

They could see the defensive wall with the soldiers that was on standby quickly guarded the gate towers taking their positions.

Wang Jian was informed on Azief decision on constructing buildings when the rank of the village is raised up so Wang Jian has already made preparations.

There was a Central park with a tree that was as high as ninety feet.

Under the tree, the winds blow softly and could be a place where families could relax and enjoy the cool under the shade when the day is hot

There are also castles. This one only Azief could see with his eyesight. There is a castle in each of the four corners of Eden borders.

There is also a castle for Azief people like Wang Jian, Loki, Sofia, Sina and the Seven Fairy.

And then there is the Palace in the center of the new city, grand and majestic. It was fifty feet high and cost Azief 100 million gold.

After the city gained profit Azief will be renovating the palace and filling it with items.

For now, that Palace is empty without a single painting inside it. Grand University is near the Palace.

This will be filled with any books that drooped from monsters.

Sometimes, monsters don't only drop skill books which are rare but sometimes they drop books that contain information.

But after the White Explosion, the monster doesn't drop anything anymore.

Instead, it will automatically enter any storage that the users have.

Azief think this is easier since he didn't have to loot monster one by one anymore.

Killing all the griffins last week has earned him a lot of gold. He got about thirty thousand gold.

The officials who are also admiring this view realize something else.

There is two gate entrances lead into this large city and the road is well paved.

That bricks on the road cost Azief millions of gold but Azief need the roads since it will decrease fatigue by 30 percent.

The streets are wide, easy for the people to moves and merchants to send their transport. In front of the Palace is the statue of Azief standing at the height of twenty feet.

It is like Azief portrait since it is provided by the World Orb.

Maybe someday, Azief will let sculptor to make a statue of himself, making it more grand and imposing.

There is also a war memorial, to commemorate the lost brothers of Wang Jian. Azief hopes this act will appease Wang Jian anger right now.

Azief on the southern side of Eden created an Arena for warriors and combat profession class to hone themselves.

The Assembly, a circular unwallled building is in the vicinity of the Grand University. This will be the place where Azief citizen can voice their complaints and opinions.

Azief also created a Bank. Azief has already planned to hire merchants to enlist into the government.

Before when he was in village rank he could not build bank and could not tax it. Now, with the banks constructed, he could tax it.

This is why Azief did not mind losing all of his personal wealth.

His personal gold reached about 800 million gold and almost all of it is almost drained after creating so many buildings and sparing no effort to make the city great.

After all, the horde will be coming. Azief is impatient for them to come so he could farm money.

Then Azief also did not forget to construct Libraries all over the district of his city.

The matter of districts or boroughs or which lands to be given to the people with title will be discuss by his officials later.

There is also a bridge crossing the rivers nearby Sina Alchemy Laboratory. Then there is the religious establishment far away from the Palace.

Even before Azief started to construct any of the building yesterday, the religious leaders have already found him and spoke of their proposals.

So, Azief built mosque, churches, synagogue and temples.

Azief find talking to these religious leaders to be tedious.

Azief had to think of ways to counter the monster horde and these religious leaders each blow their tops off in thinking how many of their religious place need to constructed not to be outdone by each other.

Azief did not understand their logic.

In Azief opinion, religion is about faith.

At least that's what they keep preaching about. So, what does it matter how many churches, or mosque or temples you constructed if you have faith in your heart?

And isn't the people is more important instead of buildings?

Azief don't mind constructing these places for them as it does not inconvenient Azief pockets.

But, to argue about it incessantly towards him make Azief really almost lost his cool yesterday.

It was then Azief decided to distance himself from these people and minimize their influence in his administration.

Azief also created a courthouse and jail.

Hospital is provided in many parts of the city. Herbalist and healing class users would be in high demands in this kind of era where injuries are common.

Azief only created the vital buildings. The other the builders and the landowners will figure it out themselves.

After all, Azief don't intend to put all the land under himself.

He will rent the land in exchange of gold to the city and their loyalty. Only the people he bestowed with land does not have to pay taxes.

Other than this buildings, Azief also created a military academy, museum for artist, an observatory, orphanage for the many orphaned children of this new generation, sewers system which to Azief one of the most important thing and time consuming things to be built if he relied on builders, trading post for the merchants of his city, fisheries around the river for fisherman, and the quarry for the miners.

People were still looking at Azief in awe when Loki announced.

'Now, is the reward ceremony to honor those who have helped built and protect this city' And the officials eyes gleamed with brightness while the people with plans all look at this ceremony with anticipation.

Azief smiles and he nodded.

'Politics remains the same even after the Fall' he said it to himself without anyone hearing.

A DARK CAVE

SOMEWHERE IN THE FLAME REGION

The Flame Region is the hottest region even more so compared to the desert region. It is hot all day, except night where the heat is bearable.

But the people living in the flame region developed a slight immunity to heat like the people in the ice region developed a slight immunity to cold.

Somewhere under the many volcanoes of the flame region, near the border between the flame region and the Cloud Lake Region there is a cave.

The cave was nondescript.

It had a hidden entrance blocked by a lava wall after the Fire Dragon rampaged through the Flame Region spewing its fire killing thousands.

The cave has a lot of stalactites and is full of strange color fungus growing on the walls and in the corner.

On the walls of the cave are metal rings holding thick candles that lights the dark cave.

If someone explored the cave further they would see a sunless river on the lower part of this cave.

But the river is not beautiful like the rivers of the Plains but a river of bubbling lava that light up the lower part of the cave like a crimson glow from the pits of Hell.

The walls of the cave are smooth like it was enchanted by magic.

Someone clearly live here inside the cave for a long time making this cave his or her base of operation.

Not far away from the cave, there are a lot of human bodies splayed about.

Some were skinned leaving only their carcass.

Limbs could be seen trailing about farther away from the cave.

Clearly there has been a tragic fight here. All of the people killed in that battle were tortured extensively before they die.

The culprit wanted to give a warning to not come near the cave.

Inside the hidden cave there are two people. Sitting on a fire pit roasting a fire horse meat was a man with a stocky build.

A man was looking at a girl with wariness.

The man was bald and was five feet seven. His hand was hairy and his body was a bit on the plump side.

But it does not make him look fat.

Instead it made him look big. His nose was pierced and the man himself when he speaks produces a booming voice.

The man then asked the other person

‘Rosulka, you want some of the meat?’ the man asked the girl. The girl was sitting on a rock as her chair and was counting her loot.

The girl did not say anything only nodding as a sign of agreement.

The girl has bob haircut and was four feet high.

She is a runt. Her face is cute and there is a scar on her left cheek, something that seems to be made by a knife.

But her eyes were cold like winter.

Her short black hair only serves to makes her more terrifying. She was like a silent predator.

Emotionless.

The man name is Yuri. He was saved by the girl when he was being attacked by a bandit group nearby the cave.

Living in the Flame Region requires one to be ruthless.

Yuri knows this better than anyone else. But he did not really know the meaning of cruel until he met her.

Yuri was there on the front row set when this cute little girl of twelve tortures the poor saps.

She skinned the man alive like she was always been doing it. Another was cut alive. Their organs were cut one by one. this content of novelfullbook.com, if you reading this content please go to website novelfullbook.com to continue reading, fastest update hourly

There is no purpose torturing the bandits. She did it because she found pleasure in doing it.

Yuri think there is something wrong with this girl.

Rosulka who felt herself being stared at glared at Yuri and Yuri quickly lowers his gaze as he kept roasting the Fire Horse meat.

Sometime Rosulka scratched the scars on her cheeks. Her eyes like always retains that coldness.

In her mind right now, she is thinking when to ditch Yuri.

She saved Yuri because she needed support if she is to accomplish her goal. Rosulka is only at Orb Condensing low Realms level.

And Yuri is also the same.

She knows she would not survive the journey if she did not have some form of support like a group or party.

But she has never been a people person.

Rosulka final destination is to the Ice Region.

She bought information from the Merchant Association a few months ago about the whereabouts of her father.

From the information she got, it is very likely her father has taken shelter under Emperor Jean as a soldier.

Rosulka smirked with malicious smile. Yuri who accidentally saw the smile felt a shiver on his back.

‘Hehehe’ she smiles as her mind is full of ideas to torture her father.

Yes, the reason why she is so insistent on finding her father is because she wanted to kill him.

Rosulka father is a serial killer.

He is known as the Limb Butcher. Her father earned that name because he leaves only body parts.

In December 2007 in the two thighs were found in a garbage can in the dumpster. The crime shocked the city Samara.

Rosulka remembers the woman name. Greta.

A German transfer student.

Her head, feet, and the remainder of her legs were later discovered by a dump truck worker a few miles from where they found the thigh

The first victim was a woman named Ivanova whose body was mutilated.

The second was a woman named Marsha who was decapitated.

Rosulka have seen all of them begging for mercy before they were turned into limbs of meat.

It wasn't until the third murder where her father tried to initiate her to kill the woman like him.

Rosulka couldn't stomach it and was nearly killed by her own father.

It was then that the light came and the Fall began.

Rosulka was given a dagger. Using that dagger, she stabs her father eyes and gouge his eyes from the sockets.

Months later, she was kidnapped by her father and was tortured as a comfort woman of her father gang and once again she was saved by the light.

This time the White Explosion happened teleporting her to the Flame Region.

The reason why she is tracking her father is to exact revenge.

She then ran away.

And when she found him, she will torture him in the most painful ways her mind could concoct.

'It's cooked' Yuri voice echoes in the small cave.

Rosulka who was smiling then awake from her desire and walk towards the fire pit and grab one of the skewers.

She takes a bite and nodded as she felt that this food will be enough to retain her until next week.

'Yuri' she suddenly said

'Yes?'

'You will accompany me until I reach the Ice Region.' She said and then she went back to her place and sit down as she bites the skewered meat.

Yuri scratched his head not knowing how to response.

But then remembering of how vicious this girl is and what she will do if he rejected, Yuri just responded by nodding his head.

In the Flame region an unlikely relationship is formed.
