

Shadow 1211

Chapter 1211: Age of Adventure III

He then breaks out of his own contemplation and saw how Aero right now is reorganizing the Empire.

He is now not only the Chancellor of the Empire, he also is a noble Grand Duke and he was given a vast area to reign over in Vanheim

He saw how Aero created a large prosperous city while at the same time spreading more of his influence all over the Empire.

He holds the Six Council in his hands

And Azief is not only looking at Aero.

Even though he is now beside Aero, his gaze is also looking at other people with unusual amount of fortune and luck.

Most of the people he looks at is all of the people that would also become a legend in Earth X like Dan, Zeus, Kyle and a few others

And it is not only the people from Earth Two that got fortune and luck from the Heavens.

The players got fortune and luck because they strengthen and give power to the rules of this world.

But at the same time, the Heaven Will could probably deduce that these people would one day leave this world.

Azief smirks at this. the reason why he knows this is because in his world, he had one third of the Heavenly Will.

As such, he knows that the Heavenly Will could deduce things.

The surprising thing was that this world actually developed a Will.

His Earth did not develop a Will for its entire existence until an external element is introduced which is the All Source.

If not, Earth Prime would probably never possess a Heavenly Will.

And if such a day come, then who would help the Heaven Will, help this world?

In the end, the native people, the so called NPCs that now turned real must be relied upon.

But the NPCs did not have the same starting point as the player. Each player could be said to be blessed by the Creators of this world.

Even though Azief could see that the Heavenly Will is forming, he knows that for now the Heavenly Will is following the trend

That is why the Heavenly Will seems to favor Aero.

'Heh' But it did not escape Azief eyes that the Heavenly Will also favors the native.

He saw a woman named Tatiana who disguise herself and wins the support of the Church of Light to explore the New World.

Azief could see that the fortune of this woman is blossoming. Luck seems to gather around her, and her life becomes easier.

She even found the rumored City of Gold in the New World which sets a frenzy in the Old World.

Aero life is also interesting but Tatiana life is also not that shabby. From an assassin to an explorer.

What a tumultuous and eventful life she leads!

Azief had long forgotten about the reason why the helmet brings him here to see this world.

Azief creates an avatar of himself and positioned himself beside Tatiana.

This put a strain in his mind but to him it is worth it to see the cause and effect of everything

He does not know what he would get in the end of this journey but his premonition seems to guide him with his heart and he believes that if he did not pay attention, he might miss some things

He looks at the life of Tatiana and he found out that the reason she was there in the world was not simply to explore the New World or to look for a city of gold but to seek for the fabled Elixir of Life.

The Church seems to pay a great deal of attention to it.

Who doesn't want an Elixir that could bring back the dead?

In his world there are also stories about elixir of life but in his world this is merely myths and legends and is not something real

However, in the world that Takashi had created the Elixir of Life is simply a Revival potion.

However, the system setting of Revival Elixir was changed when this world became real.

Azief believes this is the side effect of changing something that is unreal into real.

It mixes the laws and those elements which are incompatible with the laws is either erased or take another form like it follows some sort of laws of the conservation of energy.

Azief could also see that Tatiana has some relations with Aero. There is cause and effect between them.

Azief narrowed his eyes and he could see the strings.

The strings are merely the tangible representation of cause and effect between Aero and Tatiana.

It could have been waves, a rope or an arrow.

The reason why Azief sees string is because that is how his divine sense interpreted the connection between the two.

It changes if his understanding and comprehension about fate and destiny changes.

Azief is tempted to try to touch that string to see the past of Tatiana and how she is connected with Aero

'I don't have time' That is his answer to himself. Right now, he felt that years had passed. Of course, he also makes sure that the helmet would not let him see projection until years.

But in this world, he had been living for years only that it is speeded up.

Azief also notices something and he could not help think that fate and destiny does have a way of making fun of mortals.

There is Tatiana in Aero life. And in Earth X, Arial was also entangled with a woman named Tatiana.

This woman is very entangled in Arial fate. Aero could be considered someone that hurt Tatiana in this world. But in Earth X, Tatiana is one of the source of pain for Arial

Arial is the descendant of Aero.

Fate and destiny seems to have a way of connecting things.

Everything seems to come full circle.

But those who could not see this connection, how would they know that destiny and fate have a way of resolving debts that is not resolved?

'Would you look at that?' he mutters to himself and he chuckles a bit. The only thing he has done since he arrives in the projection is watch.

That is the only thing he did but just by watching he suddenly is inundated by comprehension of fate and destiny.

It is probably the most effortless deed he had ever done that benefits him greatly. Fate and Destiny this concept is not tangible and it is hard to use it to your advantage.

It lacks the real application like a flaming fist or an all-encompassing power that enables you to throw planets and star at each other but it is without doubts that fate and destiny is one of the most pervasive and forceful power that is embedded into the fabric of reality itself.

If not, why would Olympians themselves fear the Fates? Why would Odin consult the Norns?

The understanding and comprehension of fate and destiny that he is now sensing, it is not something that he could quantify but he could feel it.

That there is something opening in his mind and in his soul. He could not describe it and he could not explain it in words.

And for a moment, as he looks at all of the people in this world, he saw something more. He saw beyond the surface and he sees beyond the simple lives and the stories.

He sees connection.

He sees consequences.

He sees cause and he sees the effect.

But not all cause has an effect.

And not all things have consequences. But even that is an illusion of something greater.

Fate and Destiny always have a way.

The destiny and fate of this world is not yet developed but it is growing. With people interacting, connecting and collided with each other, it produces reaction

But there is more to it.

'There is more to it' he seems to mutter to himself

That is what his instinct seems to be screaming to him.

But the moment that Azief tries to grasp that understanding, it seems to slip away from his hand like a dust in the wind.

Even though there is nothing that has changed in him, the comprehension of fate and destiny that is now crystalizing in his soul is something that the system could not trace, could not understand and could not interfere with

It is an enlightenment of sorts.

Chapter 1212: Age of Adventure IV

Azief keep looking at the adventure of Tatiana in the city of Gold.

Because of her contribution and her discovery of the city of Gold, she was appointed to be a Viceroy of the Holy Zun Empire in the New World

She once again met Aero was also in the world for a quest to find the Elixir of Life from Athena

Athena, the Goddess of War and Wisdom also seems to be interested.

Azief himself was shocked when he first discovers that the divines in this world is more than just flavor text for the sake of the game

Takashi seems to modeled the religion of this world to the Olympians Gods of Earth Two.

And the Gods were actually administrator of the game, an AI that was responsible for some of the operation of the game.

At least it was true when it was just a game. But when this become a real world, these Gods seems to embedded with the fabric of reality of these world.

in Earth two, these Olympians is merely myths. However, in this new world, the Gods are very much alive and very much powerful.

Azief could guess that from the emanation of power that the Olympians in this world is around the level of Essence Creation leveler.

But even then they could not detect Azief because the technology of Orvanians. And even if they manage to detect Azief, they are restricted by the world that they lived in.

It is a world born from codes and ones and zeroes. Unbelievable but that is how this world was created

As for Aero and Tatiana, Aero finally came to the New World.

Aero was busy with the matter of the Empire during the rebellion and have never been able to check the matter in the New World.

It was then he once again met Tatiana

Tatiana was disguised but Aero quickly felt the weirdness of the Viceroy of the Church

Azief fast forwarded the scene again and now he saw Aero returning back to Vanheim

What he saw this time was the gathering of great heroes of the Vilajeri Continent in one place and they seem to be talking with each other.

Ariana, Zeus and Aero sign a treaty

Because three of the representative of the Warring Kingdoms sign a treaty of peace, the Warring Kingdoms period is finally and officially over

However, Azief could see that there is divine power that seems to be building up in the Heavens of this world

He could see that the Divines of this world began making moves.

Azief right now just look at these happenings and events like he would look at stories and movies.

At the same time, he sharpened his heart and strengthened his mind.

There is a training like effect on his mind and his heart as he keeps watching the lives of millions of people playing out.

He could not yet like see the fates and destiny of everyone in this world but he does see the fates and destiny of all people that is close with Aero.

He keeps looking and he saw the aftermath of the treaty. Because of the joyous occasion, there was a celebration that is being held to commemorate the peace treaty

A big celebration was held in the capital of the Holy Vanheim Empire.

Almost all of the nobility of the Empire on three sides was there.

At that time Paris also attend the celebration. This Paris is one of the friend of Zeus. Zeus which is also one of the influential figure in Earth X history.

However, as Azief look at what is now happening at the feast, Azief was reminded of a story in his own world.

The story of Helen of Troy

It was then that Azief realizes that Takashi probably created Helena using Helen as an inspiration.

A face that launched a thousand ships

Or was it simply a coincidence? But Azief shakes his head

From what he had experienced, there is rarely something that is called coincidence.

It was like the moment that Takashi chooses the Olympians Gods as the template for the administrator position for his game world and created Helena and Paris, the destiny and fate is set.

Especially when it became real.

Like the world itself is trying to follow a script, deriving the fates and destinies of everyone according to the flavor text of the NPCs before they became real.

Paris saw Helena dancing and Aphrodite the Goddess of Love begins doing her job

Azief could see where things are going. This is the trigger for the Trojan War in the myths of his world and Azief felt quite amused seeing it pay out in this world.

As for the reason why Aphrodite suddenly appeared and whispering sweet words toward Paris, Azief could see that the divine turbulence he felt before is now reaching to a new peak.

This day of celebration of peace is being schemed upon by the Divines in Olympus. The Gods are interfering

If Takashi modeled the Seven Celestial according to the Olympians Gods and right now there is Paris and Helena which is basically just Helen at this point, then there is no doubt that the past story that he didn't know must have something to do with the Apple of Discord.

It is then a prelude to the war of the Gods

Paris saw Helena and the moment he looked at her, he was enchanted and falls in love with her in a way that he had never fell in love before

And like Azief expected, Aphrodite helped Paris because Paris chose her as the fairest among the Three Goddess which is between Hera, Athena and Aphrodite with each Goddess promising something to him and Paris chooses Aphrodite who promised him the most beautiful woman in the world.

The Goddesses enchanted Helena, something that the Gods in this world must not do and by doing so creating a rift in the sky.

This is Heaven Changing act.

And such act has consequences

the difference between this world and the myths of Olympus is that the Gods of Olympus in this world is merely an administrator and while they could issue quest and give rewards, they must not interfere

There is a force older than them. And that force is probably a force that Takashi written into the code to prevent such thing happens.

So, the moment Aphrodite enchant Helena and makes her falls in love with Paris, against her will and against her feeling, Azief could see the fortune of Aphrodite, of Olympus, of Paris, decreasing.

And this did not only affect Paris, it also affects all those who have relations with him. From his friends to even the country he is born from.

The fortune of the country also decreased.

This kind of things is illusory but for someone who could see it with his own eyes, he could already predict the winner and loser of this conflict that would surely erupt.

But the people inside the tribulation itself does not realize that they are already in the tribulation.

Yes, what is happening now is like the tribulation of the heart. The Jade Empire termed this kind of phenomenon as the tribulation.

Most of the time, the people in the tribulation itself does not realize that they are inside the tribulation unless they possess great intuition and could recognize that they are in one

But clearly Aphrodite did not know that the moment he did what she did, the tribulation descends not only on her, but also on Olympus.

Helena tries to break through from the enchantment and fearing that Paris would know that Helena did not really falls in love with him, Aphrodite makes her lose her consciousness

No one knows that at that night of celebration Helena was kidnapped.

Not even a few days after that, people realized that Helena was kidnapped.

The reason is because Aphrodite send some of the Nymph to pretend to be Helena.

But the Chancellor could see through the nymph and cut her down with his sword in the throne room

When it was revealed that Aphrodite had been using nymphs to pretend to be Helena, the treaty between United Kingdom of Veva and the Holy Vanheim Empire is torn up and it is the beginning of a great war

Azief could see in that fast forward projection that it is not only the mortals that is at war. The Gods in Olympus also wage war against each other

It had a lot of similarity like the Trojan War. But there is also differences.

A lot of them. Azief could bet that if the players had their memories, they could guess who is the winning side

And also the war itself might not have happened if the players all had their memories after all, most people knows the story of the Trojan War.

The Vrandeus Oath, something that the warriors in the war keep saying is being upheld.

The Kings and Princes from every nation that shares the same faith marches to the North, with Aero leading the charge

Azief could see right now that the illusory fortune that he had seen before is now being condensed into Aero fate and destiny

'The fortune is being realized' he mutters to himself. But this kind of fortune is not comparable to the kind of fortune that Aero would get later.

For now, the amount of fortune he has is the same kind of fortune one would get when one is saving the country.

Considering that Aero is the top man of the Vanheim Empire, his act right now related to the rise and fall of the Empire

Azief find this matter to be interesting.

Thinking about it again, if not for the fact that he had a lot of fortune and fate, how could he be so lucky to survive the encounter with Gods and Goddesses during the time where Aero arrive at Earth X?

Maybe it is because he has the fortune of this world that when he arrives at Earth X, he managed to carve himself a place in that world and become the King of the First Generation.

Azief saw how Zeus take arms for Paris.

And Azief could tell that the battle is not only for the hand of the Empress but also for the hegemony of the world.

The world is split into three and this is the time to decide who would be the ruler of the continent

They engage in battle for years before Zeus was defeated with the help of Ariana. At the same time, the battle in Olympus also ended.

Though it is nothing like Azief thought would happen.

Azief don't know what kind of world Matsuo had created but damn, there was even an Archangel joining the war of Olympus.

One thing he does admire was that it was interesting. The religion of the Seven Celestial weakens

All of this is something that happens in years by in Azief eyes it passes by the second.

He saw that there is a Convention between the Holy Zun Empire and the Vanheim Empire. There are also some details about some princesses and kings and princes but Azief is not interested in that

There is a treaty signed by the Church governed territory and the Vanheim Empire. The world is now divided into two

Chapter 1213: The Benefit of Observing

Azief now has a few of his avatars like a guardian angel standing beside each of the main characters of this world.

He saw how after the Great War between United Kingdom of Veva and the Holy Vanheim Empire, the world is divided into two

Only the West Empire and the Eastern Empire now exist in the Vilajeri Continent. It is no longer divided between three.

As for Zeus, he did not die even though his kingdom was torn apart by the two Empires. Instead he was exiled into an Island.

Azief could see that Aero could not persuade the Kings to banish him a little bit further.

Aero also makes many more moves after that, like letting the church believed that one of his allies are the church allies and so on and so forth.

Aero is like a spider weaving his webs all over the continent. He put so many dark hands behind the scenes that Azief is amazed of how he could keep track all of it.

Some of them is not even used and was just put as precautions in case some kind of problems popped out.

One thing that Azief could see about Aero is that not only that he possesses great charisma, he is very cunning to the point of being almost divine in the art of politics.

He commands a great deal of authority in the court and in the Parliament.

Even though he came from the military line, the scholar line also respects him very much and it would not take m such for him to sway the opinion in the court if he wishes so

He is the dark hand behind the scene. That is the best way Azief could describe Aero. As he grew older, he instead become even more cunning

His scheming becomes even more harder to reads and his plotting ability to determine the rise and fall of kingdoms is even more divine

Truth be told, if Azief met Aero in real life, he might not like him very much. It is not like Azief did not know how to play the game of politics

Even though many memories of his time as the Emperor in one of Azul life is dissipating, he still had the ability to create deep schemes and plots.

But, he did not like playing it. And he is probably not as good as Aero is hiding his true feelings.

Maybe it is because they are different lifeforms. Even though Azief started as a human, by now, it is quite hard to categorize him as normal human

However, he did not look down on Aero. The fact that he could play to his strength according to circumstances is terrifying enough

He could even be a good rival to Loki and might surpass him in tricks and schemes. They do share the same penchant for complicated schemes and plots

Azief saw even more things as he speeds up the projection

He saw the rise of a new religion in Vilajeri Continent. He saw the end of the war. He saw rebellions, fire, blood.

He saw ideological conflict, religious conflict, cultural conflict and with the passing of years and seasons, things finally get better and the Age of Exploration in the Vilajeri Continent began

Explorer sails the sea to the New World.

He saw Tatiana was dispatched again under Ariana order to the New World to search other continents

Then there are many things that happens in between that and the end of this projection. Azief could tell that the projection is about to end

Because he saw that the memories of the players came back.

Takashi, Matsuo and Julia were divine beings of this world because they were the ones that managed to use the Void Instability Phenomena to create this world

Azief of course did not see the battle but it is clear that when one of them had won, he or she returns back the memories that was kept as a form of data back into the minds of every player in the continent.

The moment they got back their memories of their old home, they stopped fighting each other. Before they do not remember so they separated themselves according to country lines, loyalties divided and the religions they believed in the new world

But when the memories return they know that they are the lucky few that managed to survive an extinction event and were transported to this world

Still, they wanted an explanation. They wanted to know.

Were they now supposed to live here in this world?

Or is there a plan after that? Is it possible to return back to their homes? But the players did not know this answer.

But they know who might. They believed like so many other players believe that Takashi must have known about these answers to these questions

And the players began their quest for searching a way back home. After all, even though this new world is also interesting, not everyone wants to stay here.

Aero who also got his memories and the one player that got the most resources and power in the continent began gathering people towards him.

People that he knew and people that would be useful. He halted all of his plans and focused on getting answers to some of the question plaguing his mind.

At this point, the players did not yet know that Julia is one of the creators of this world. But Aero knows. Because he had seen her helped him when she was in his Divine Form in this world

But at that time, Aero did not have the memories he has now. So, he did not know that the divine beings that had helped him was his mother

But then new question arose

If his mother is one of the creators of this world, she might also know the answer to the many burning questions that the players have.

And Azief saw how Aero gather his friends. Most of his real friends in the real world also plays the game and he was delighted to see them all in this new world

The gang all come back together. Azief was even rooting for some of them

Even though to him, only a few second had passed, in the projection decades had passed.

Azief at first did not think that there would be such a benefit of just watching things.

But to his surprise, the more he watches and sees things, looking at the lives of these characters, seeing their struggles, seeing the cause and effect of their consequences, of their choice, it gave him this kind of enlightenment toward fate and destiny

He himself has his own thought.

The laws of fate and destiny is as illusory as fate and destiny itself.

Everyone have a different interpretation of it and the Laws in different hands exhibit different effects.

Like the Law of Fire in one hands could burn and destroy and in another could burn impurities and burns away sickness and pain.

It depends on how one understands that law.

And a certain understanding had dawned on Azief when he was looking at these people lives.

To him, this itself is a benefit that is hard to be calculated.

Illusory but a powerful force that is present in all of lives.

That is Destiny and Fate is. And because of his understanding he could briefly sense that his fate is also being divined upon.

And then he thought of the generosity of the Orvanians and a doubt arose in his heart. But it is not fair to suspect someone based on just a hint

He needs to have more. And even if this is the calculations of Orvanians, he had gain a lot of benefits here.

That didn't mean that it did not matter.

One thing that he is grateful for was that he found out that just observing things could deepen his understanding of certain Laws.

Maybe, that is why some powerful Supreme Beings just like to stare at something for hundreds and even tens of thousands of years.

Because in the process of watching the passing times of years and decades, Azief felt that he could read and see certain patterns of fates and destiny.

His understanding and comprehension of fate and destiny were already deepened before this but now, he just felt something more.

Chapter 1214: Understanding Cause and Effect

Azief knows that while he does cultivate a few laws that is related to fate and destiny, if he were to rely only on his comprehension, he would never see such patterns

And thinking of that he touches his left eye and he laughs bitterly

He believes that this has something to do with the eyes of the Oracle.

'Is this your doing?' he said as he is touching his left eye.

'A curse, huh?' there were times during the projection that something appeared in his mind. It is the vision of Erika.

Of her past.

Sometimes, he would see visions and hear words. He heard a voice saying it is a curse. Azief recognize the voice belonging to Erika.

Who knows what he would see later as his understanding of fate and destiny deepens? Could he see Erika past? Could he also see her present?

Could he also see her future?

And what about her? Could she do the same?

Because Azief felt the connection between this eye and Erika. And between him and Erika. There is a mystical bond that connected them.

That even if he were to go to another parallel Universe or a different dimension or a different timeline, he could feel that connection.

The only difference is the degree of the intensity of that connection.

This eye even though it has already become his eyes, there is something that is still felt unfamiliar about it

This is the Price he had to pay for looking into the future. He shakes his head and then keep watching the projection. It would not be long before it is over.

He saw Aero began searching his mother and when the Chancellor decides to seek someone the whole continent would seek it for him

From his research he found out that his mother seems to know something about this new world. It is also a revelation to him that his mother actually knew Matsuo and Takashi

Azief could guess some of the story but he kept watching as Aero also found Amy, someone that he seems to have complicated relations with.

At the same time, intrigue of political drama is happening. Helena and Aero had something between them and Azief did not pay attention to this too much.

Something happened between Aero and the Emperor and let's just say, that there is an altercation between the two.

Then there is also war between Vanheim and its neighbor the Orchish Kingdom. Azief skip past the war and the conflict in between.

There is also the resolution between Aero love interest which he also skipped.

And some relations between the people is revealed like the identity of Ariana in the real world and a few others.

And then finally, Azief stopped the fast forward function as Aero found his mother. Azief look at the fate of Helena and he smiles. He was happy that Helena got her happy ending.

It is surprising all the ups and downs of the people in the world. He had never felt like this before.

But when you see something as a whole, and not as one particular independent segment of other people lives, you began to see how connected people fates and destiny are

He saw all the choices that these people made and how each choices shapes their future. And he sees how free will is an illusion.

Mortals would always be constrained by the limitation of their senses and their body.

But he was not mortal.

The reason Azief resonate so much with this is because he wants to find a breakthrough on how to break his own fate and destiny

His destiny of destroying the Universe. Loki did not say much but what he said is clear enough. Then there is the vision of the future that he saw himself.

And is also the words of the Oracle.

It almost seems like him being the destroyer of the Universe is a fate that is inevitable, a destiny that he is and was and would fulfill.

'Ah, just looking at them makes me smile' Azief thought to himself. He saw that the people he had grown affection for get their happy ending.

It was not something that he had expected at all.

This world shows him a story like none other

It is a story full of heroic quest, of intrigue and politics, of colorful characters that is driven by all kinds of motivation and desires, of vengeful Gods, bloody battles and intense and passionate love stories

In the end, after all the hardship and the suffering, the struggles and the hard work, the world was at peace.

The Empire controlled by the Chancellor sign a treaty with the Church signaling an eternal alliance

Since the one in charge of the Empire and the one in charge of the Church are both players, they know that all the battle that would erupt afterwards is merely a distraction from finding a way to go back home to their world.

Before, when they did not yet get their memories, they have reason to fight against each other.

But, now that they have their memories, what use it decreasing their own numbers especially when they share the same desire and objectives?

Instead of trying to lengthen a war that brings nothing but death and destruction, it is time for the Vilajeri Continent to usher in an age of prosperity.

The two empires began focusing on the New World and colonizing it. They know by now that the New World is actually the expansion pack that the Brave World was about to roll out before the meteor news spread out all over the world

But they also know that now, everything in the world is real. That the people they killed are not NPCs but real people.

The two empire stop fighting and expands outwards from their own continent as adventures are abound in this new world that they live in

Of course, there is a lot that Azief had skipped. If not his mind would probably be too tired. Even now, it is being overwhelmed.

At the same time, Aero mother researched things on how to go back to Earth when she was missing
She was also a Goddess in this world so basically she could not be hurt at least not by mortal means.

But there is a story of hers that is also fantastical. She seems to tell the story to Aero and Azief who heard the story find the matter very interesting

But Azief did not want to rewind back to the beginning and seek her story

After all he is nearly at end now. Azief knows that this world story needs to come to an end before he could go to Earth X

At first, Azief did not think much of it but thinking of it, this might be the only way to find a trace to go to Earth X which could not be located in any other way.

Maybe by tracing the cause and effect, the Earth X entrance could be followed.

This is the deduction that Azief come up with on why he had to see the projection until the end.

When his mother reunites with Aero, there is a meeting between the people who are related to the matter of transmigrating all of the people of Earth into this game

And then there is a broadcast to inform all of the players all over the world. Since Aero mother is practically a goddess, doing such thing is easy for her

His mother told them that the act of sending them to this world is just a stopgap measure.

Yes, Aero have children in this new world.

Azief envy that a bit. He didn't have anything nice to say about his mother. So, he felt a bit envious for Aero who got a great mother that loves him.

His mother then researched on how to go out from the world.

There is something that happens in between but the gist of it was that the device is finally completed and they sent everyone back to what they believe is the location of Earth Two.

When Azief saw this, he could only shake his head. He knew better than most that the device would not send these people back to Earth Two.

Thinking about it again, it might be lucky that they were not sent back to Earth two.

Probably if they went back to Earth Two, what they see would be the destruction of Earth two under the Seresian demon.

'Wait!' Azief suddenly said and his mind opens up to another possibility that he never thought before

The fate of the Earth two was supposed to end in that meteor shower.

But clearly that is not what happens.

Takashi activated something and transported all the players that played Brave World into another world. This creates an instability in the dimensional barrier between Multiverses.

Coming out of the crack of that instability is him who uses the Universe Orb.

He became Hyperion, fought against criminals and villains and become Earth two first superhero.

But then the world is attacked by the Seresian demon and Azief had no choice than to send the inhabitants of Earth two to another parallel universe that is at the beginning of its formation.

In all of this, Azief miss one thing.

Maybe, it is fate and destiny fighting back.

Chapter 1215: A Great Story

'Could it really be like that? Fate and Destiny was fighting back against my interference. Or am I overthinking this?' he thought to himself.

Earth Two should have been destroyed but because of his interference the world survives.

So, the machinations of fate work against him and instead, Azief, the cause of the world being saved is because of him but because of fate and destiny fighting back he also become the cause of which the world ends.

'A circle' he thought to himself. He once had this thought when he was at Xi Feng world, a world of endless reincarnation.

Reincarnation is a circle. There is Heavens beyond the Heavens. A Circle. Then how to break oneself away from the circle? Is there no escape?

He shakes his head and tries to forget the thoughts that is about to branch in his mind.

When he thinks about it again, thinking about the event that he experienced, he felt like there was something that is perfect and orderly about those events, almost like it was a perfect circle.

Like he had returned back to beginning even if it is at the end.

Meeting and farewell, if you reverse it, it is still the same, a meeting and a farewell.

The fate of the world did not change.

Was it delayed because of his arrival?

Yes, but since he is the cause of that world survival, fate and destiny also marks him and made him become the reason why that world would fall.

There is some kind of poetic end to it. There is a beauty to it that only now he could appreciate. It was heart rendering, tragic and all kinds of bad stuff

If this was Azief in the past, he would not be able to see it.

But standing on a different height and seeing it from his vantage point, there is a beauty to the beginning and end of the story of him in Earth Two.

It is hard to describe the beauty of everything falling into place.

It did not mean he likes it or even cherishes it. He just understands that it was a beautiful turns of events that happens because of the interaction of cause and effect.

He sighed and then he focusses back in looking at the projection. And right now, Julia is about to get transported into another world.

he looks as Julia is sucked into a hole of light in the sky and disappeared from the world.

'They must be confused right now when they saw the world that they arrived in' Azief thought to himself.

After all, Julia would soon know that the world that they have been transported to is not Earth Two but Earth X.

Almost all of the people of Earth two chose to go back. there are of course some that decided to stay in this world

Some of them have grown accustomed to living in this world and they either have a family here or something that they could not let go or some of them just like it here more than their world

For those kind of people, their immortality and their system were taken away from them as it would interfere with the Heavenly operation.

Of course Julia called it differently

She called it the operation of the world but Azief called it Heavenly Operation. She did not believe in magic or the power of it that a world could have a will.

It is sometimes ironic how advanced knowledge makes some people arrogant and thought that they knew there is about everything.

Because everything could be explained by the science that she learned, she thought she knew the truth of how she, Matsuo and Takashi created this world

However, Azief did not blame them. They could not sense the birth of Wills and desires of the Heaven and the people under it converging.

It is because the people in here, the native people, the NPCs were given True Souls.

And souls are magical thing and could not be quantified but could be sensed by magical creatures of magic beings such as himself.

It is beyond the measurement of mechanical device as it depends on intuition and instinct.

'Still, now that they are going to Earth X, I believe Julia would soon change her mind' he thought to himself.

Azief could see that the moment Julia and the other player disappeared from this world, the fortune that they gathered disperse back to the world and Azief is quite sure that the Heavenly Will would bless the native people of this world with the fortune it had.

(Major spoilers for Age of Adventure after this so read at your own risk)

But while most of the people that had chosen to leave had already transported to the new world, Aero and Amy stayed for a while.

They tend to Helena that is on her deathbed. Her beauty is no longer there. She had aged and her son had grown up.

Her son which is also Aero son.

There is a reason why they tend to Helena. Helena is Aero wife.

At the last end of her breath, Aero who had never cry in front of her, cried

His tears fall and he kiss her on her forehead, the last kiss for her, expressing his love for one of the greatest love he had ever felt in his life, the one that ignites his passion.

Azief could not help but felt moved seeing the scene.

Especially knowing it is real and maybe he too found some similarities between him and Aero.

While their personalities and their way of looking at life is very different, there is some parts of them that is similar and that is their attitude toward love.

Or maybe he just felt happy that Aero got to spend his life with the person he loved. And that the person he loved, loved him back, loved him enough to say yes.

There is a lot that happens in between, there is betrayal but there was also forgiveness in that.

After all the intrigues, betrayal, wars and battles, finally peace is dawning in the continent

Then after that, Aero starts to tour the Empire to says his farewell to the person he knows, many of his subordinates now almost all of them are great military leader, and most of them are also old

He would come to them and relive old stories.

Aero did not grow old.

Neither did Amy.

Because they were not the natives of this world. They do not age and when they die, they did not exactly die for real

He went to meet the Sage of Danoba. He met the elves and tour the plains of the Orchish kingdom.

He also met Tatiana who is now a Grand Viceroy of New Vanheim in the new world

She never got married but have two adopted daughters. But, who knows? She seems to be opening up her heart.

Maybe someday, she would give that person the answer to his question, Azief could not help but smile looking at this.

Even though this is nearing the end of the story for Aero, there is new stories that are being born.

Azief could not help but wonder what would happen to the life of Tatiana after Aero leave? What would happen to the other characters?

As there are stories of vengeful gods and tragic battles, there is also stories of intense and poignant love

Azief even felt reluctant to see the end of this story.

As Aero tours the Empire, Azief also began to extinguishes his avatar that he put on the people that is connected to Aero

One by one, it was extinguished until the only one that is left is him who is always beside Aero

Then there is his sworn brother, the Son of the Hephaestus, Derrick who married with Princess Morgana and have many children and grandchildren.

And he met many other people that helps him and even met his enemies.

Not to gloat but to try to resolve old enmities.

And then finally, the end of the journey.

Aero stands on a beach, looking at the most beautiful sunset that he probably seen in his life at that moment

Because this is the last sunset he would see in this Vilajeri Continent. He smiles and he laughs and he cried.

Standing beside him is Amy.

Now, that.... that is also an epic love stories that is choke full of interference of gods and goddess, obstacles and conflict

But which epic love stories doesn't have this kind of difficulties?

They hold each other hands and they use the device. A bright light enveloped them and they disappeared from Vilajeri Continent.

And in that moment Azief saw Aero luck and fortune were transferred to his son.

And of course then it is Azief turn

'What a great story.' He thought to himself.

'An age filled with adventure' There was just something about it that makes Azief yearn to love like these people.

Seeing them, it reminded him something that he had gradually forgot. The difficulties of being humans and what it means in being humans and his initial intention.

He saw how flawed these people were but also saw their brightest and glorious moment. That a person is not always defined easily.

That as long as you live, there is a chance to be something else.

Chapter 1216: Earth X

The story of Aero is about to end. Azief saw the changing of an era, of an epic story. Aero is still at the beach, looking at the distant horizon, feeling the wind and he is taking it all in.

He then looks at Amy, grips her hand tight and smiles and then he uses that device

The moment Aero uses that device, there is notification popping out and Azief knows that this is the moment

Like before, the notification asked if he wanted to go to the next dimensional travel and of course, Azief choose yes.

Azief could return back later to Earth Two to see the fate of Na Eun. But he also wanted to know what is the connection between him and Earth X.

Before, this desire of his was fueled only by his curiosity.

However, as he saw glimpses in his mind, there is something that he needed to confirm.

Azief of course know that this might be a self-fulfilling prophecy the moment he decided to go to Earth X even after seeing the glimpse of the future.

He saw something in Earth X. But what he saw was the future of him seeing something in Earth X.

It was one of the few time she saw the future clearly. There was no blurriness. No mist or veil covering his eyes. No bouts of pain that rattles his soul

Juts one glimpse of an all-encompassing light that felt so warm and whole. It is hard to describe the feeling.

But, when the vision dissipates, he knew that if he wanted to break that future, he simply could choose not to go

But it was never that simple. He thought of the stories in myths. Fate and Destiny rarely gives choices. But even when they do, they usually had already narrow down the choices.

In the many stories of the Greek myths, many of the heroic figure of the Iliad of Odyssey always grapple with their own fate and destiny

Achilles, the Greek Hero wrestle with the choice laid upon him when he was about to go to the Trojan War.

He could not go and live an anonymous life or go and die in a blaze of glory.

Or what about Oedipus story?

Knowing his fate, he had done almost everything to avoid entering that fate. In the end he could not escape it and instead by trying to escape it, he fulfils the prophecy of the Moirai.

These myths might just be myths. But there is a lesson to be learn from here

It is that fate and destiny was not so simple. And so, a simple choice become not so simple.

Which means, if he goes to Earth X right now, chances are he would see the vision he was seeing before.

And that would be him fulfilling a prophecy. There is a reason why he is so cautious and tries to break any prophecies regarding him.

Because he was afraid that Loki conviction, Erika words are all true and that there is nothing he could do to change his fate

‘Still.....I have to make sure of this. I have to confirm this’ he laughed bitterly as he shakes his head

Then his eyes become determined

The vision he saw is just a glimpse and could not satisfy the curiosity of his.

‘And my instinct is telling me that this is related to me’ he thought to himself.

It was when his mind is made up that the Yes button finally lights up.

He pushes the button with his mind and he could feel that the space around him distorted.

In that distortions he could see that space bends to an extreme degree like it was devouring the space between world and then before he could even blink, he was on Earth X.

And unlike before, Azief could feel that there is a difference between this world and the world that he has been into before.

It felt like there was something that is unchained from him.

For a few seconds, he felt like something unshackle itself from him before coming back to shackle him once again

‘That is weird’ he thought to himself. Then like always, his Divine Sense spread out and then there is a smile on his face

‘This is really Earth X’ there should not be a mistake but Azief had always been cautious.

When he arrived here, even if he did not use his Divine Sense, this feeling that enveloped him, the energy of this world Azief could tell that this is Earth X with all of this

He is actually more familiar with this world than Earth Two and Aero world.

But there is a difference of energy in this world compared to when he was here.

Azief could see that the world is still in the early era.

‘This is the time of the reign of the Demon Lords in Arakath’ he said to himself.

He could guess it.

Even though he meets Arial a thousand years later, he could still recognize that this is the era of the Demon Lord.

This is the time where Arakath ruled two continents. Anvali which is the Dark Lands, the homeland for the Demonkind and Davarus which would one day be Human Continent

It is also the time of human rebellion when the Sky People landed on this world.

‘The energy is very thick and magic-’ he halted as he waves his hand around and he could the intensity of the energy around him.

But he also frowned.

‘This is too real, right?’ he thought to himself.

When he was waving his hand around to feel the wind and energy of this world, he of course felt the energy

But the feeling different compared to when he senses energy in Earth two and in Aero world. Those two times, he felt like even though he could feel and sense the energy of the world, there is some differences between that and the true worlds.

The energy felt like it was inversed.

Azief could understand that because the projection projects events in real time but to avoid time from being interfered with, there is a Mirror-like world that became a barrier between the two realities and time stream and whatever he did in the projection would not change what already happens, is happening and what will be happening.

But, in Earth X, he felt like the magic is not inversed.

Like he was really there and there is no barrier that separates time and space between the projection and the real time stream

'Is it just my imagination?' he thought to himself.

He then decided that it might be just his imagination.

He also notices that he is solid right now. That is also a point of weirdness. First time, could be said that he is mistaken. But now, there is two

'Maybe I am oversensitive' He then became translucent as he thinks about and he looks left and right. Then once again he uses his Divine Sense.

Before he was just using his Divine Sense to know the surrounding area and to find out whether he got the right world or not

But now, he needs to know what the true time period.

His Divine Sense expands from himself and goes further and further, passing the vast oceans and mountains

Then it envelops the continent in this world

all the while Azief is slowly floating to the sky as his mind is taking all of the sceneries. Unlike Aero world, his Divine Sense works just fine here.

And then his Divine Sense envelops Anvali and he could see the Demon Lords in the Darklands. It is the golden age for the Demonkind

They rule over the Eight Races in Anvali

His Divine Sense also sweeps the underground and he could see the Dwarves in their Taigns, their underground settlements.

On the Green Plains he saw the Orcs. Right now, the Orcs are still not as powerful as they would be in the next few thousand years.

But there is already the formation of their culture of warriors, of having a brave heart and valiant nature instilled on their children.

The Orcs live in the vast grassland, riding huge beasts and huge warhorses that could not be found in Davarus.

This must be just after they sign the Treaty of the Races where the grassland would always be the land of the Orcs.

He saw the statue of the Horned God in the few temples of stones that they left behind in some parts of the grasslands.

And then Azief eyes gaze toward a forest.

'It seems that this is truly during the beginning' Azief thought to himself. There is still a lot of forest where the Elves could live

The Dark Elves guarded the forest, the White Elves controls the administration and the High Elven sat on the highest throne of the elven society

And in the forest, it is not only elves that inhabits there. There is also the Faeries who live in the Eternal Forest and have four courts

Chapter 1217: Something Weird I

Azief when he was at Earth X had never seen a faerie. They usually only show themselves to the people they wanted.

Arial however had seen his fair shares of faeries and from what he said, faeries are an annoying bunch.

But right now, with his Divine Sense, any concealment magic could not hide from him

The only way that it could hide from him if the concealment magic uses some kind of other Laws system or is a superior magic of concealment that could distort his perception of energy and laws of the world

His gaze then went back to the seas and other than the sea monsters in the bottom of the sea slumbering, there is also the Merpeople.

They are basically Merman and Mermaids. Half human, half fish. However, that is not really accurate to describe the Merpeople of Earth X.

Merpeople itself is a term that humans and Demonkind use to refer to that race. They have a different name and a different culture from the Living Things On the Surface.

They're one of the more mysterious race that exist in Earth X. Azief did not have many interactions with them the last time he was at Earth X

But, it was reasonable.

At that time, the objective of him and Will was never to explore the world.

They did not have that kind of leisure.

Instead, they were trying to find a way out of this world. And there was also the fact that a quest was issued to them to save Arial and helps him defeat the Darkness.

They don't have time to seek all the knowledge of this world. And at that time, Azief and Will did not know how special this world would be

So, he did not know much about the Merpeople. What he did know was that there was some deal between them and the King of Arakath and because of that deal, they guarded the Dark Sea

What they guarded it from is anyone guess.

These kinds of races are usually only found in myths and fantasy stories

but Azief who had been to this world before, knows that these fantasy creatures are not just a fantasy but real races of living beings

Some of them fit the stereotypes that some people gave them but some of them also exceed expectations.

Then he looks elsewhere.

'If I am right the giants is still numerous right now' he thought to himself as his Divine Sense gaze upon the Land of the Giants

It would be later called the Titans Abode. But right now, the border lines between each races in Anvali is not yet drawn

Anvali is not yet the unified under one throne of Arakath. Some are rebellious and some did not even acknowledge the throne of Arakath.

But, most of the time they listened to the order of Arakath.

He saw the giants numerous in numbers. They were roaming around their vast land; each steps creates mini quakes all around

The Elves had created a barrier magic around the borders and the same could be said for the Dwarven who had created their own way and methods of dealing with the giant's aftershocks.

The Dwarves and the Elves neighbors the Land of the Giants. But for each of the races, they built wall around each other borders.

These walls are not that tall but it is inscribed with magic. It causes the giants after waves or force to be neutralized and did not affect the other lands.

There were some scholars that theorizes that each land in Arakath could actually be separated and still survive independently but as most things in Earth X, Azief did not have that much knowledge about the Darklands.

Azief don't know if this matter is true or not but if it's true, that is another secret of Earth X he didn't know about.

And right now it didn't matter. He just wanted to see the Giants before their Purge. And it was majestic. They were a bit smaller than the ones he had saw in Jotunheim.

But they are giants.

And they were a whole lot bigger than the giants that Azief saw during the Arial battle with the Darkness.

Giants in Aial time was almost in extinction. It was not as prosperous as this. and the lands of the Giant were not as it is now.

Azief could see that the lands of the giant are full of large trees that produce gigantic fruit and it could probably feed a whole lot of population with just one fruit.

But these fruit is the fruit of the giants and if the lore was to be believed, it is a blessing to the giants when they were first created.

It grows food for the against and one fruit could alleviate hunger for ten years. Two fruits for twenty years and so on and so forth

For it is this reason, one could rarely see giants eating.

He then looks at the sea and he saw a giant swimming around the sea creating large waves. Some were waddling through the sea like it was passing through a river.

That is how tall some of these giants are

It is a whole lot bigger and a whole lot more powerful than the giants he saw when he was here.

He saw a giant roar toward to the sky and the sky splits apart in that area before it sew itself back.

Giants in Earth X is not some mindless creatures.

They are not even simple minded.

Maybe in some other worlds, there is a race of giants like that but in Earth X, Giants are intelligent creatures with their own set of cultures and customs.

The intelligence varies according to the type of giant

Most giants in Earth X see themselves as superior to all other creatures at least but they feared the humans

But since the war between the Sky People and the Giants did not yet happen, the Giants at this time probably see humans as ants that they could step on.

It isn't until the beginning of the Age of the Gods that they truly fear the humans.

In that era, they were hunted by humans and many of them were captured to build monuments for humans and many of them killed especially hill giants

And the giants of this world live in tribes. But there is a difference between these giants and the giant Azief had saw during his time in Earth X

When Azief was here, it was already near the end of the new Age, which is the Age of Heroes.

Azief understand a bit about Aial world in which the time is sometimes divided by Ages.

There is a list of prophecy that tells the rise and falls of certain ages and at the end of each Ages, there would be trials and tribulation which the world would give the people of the world a chance to determine how the next Age begins and how theirs ended

When he was here the last time, he knows it was the end of the Age, an Age that is called the Age of Heroes and the protagonist of that Age is none other than Arial, the one that he helped to defeat the Darkness.

And at that times, giant was not as arrogant as they are right now and their numbers are limited because of their size, and they have difficulty of finding plentiful food.

Clearly at that time, they no longer have that tree.

Arakath find this tribe is very hard to regulate and so the Demon Lord made a pact with them instead of inviting them in the Treaty of Race.

Ancestry is important to giants.

Most giants can trace their lineage back to Barluke All-father, father of all the giants, and it is recited formally when introducing oneself to other giants.

Once a relationship has been established between giants, whether it is amiable or hostile, this will be continued further down the lineage.

Therefore, reciting one's lineage helps to dictate the relationship that will be established. They are also many types of giants.

They worship the deity of the Giant pantheon.

And all worship the Allfather. Azief felt a sense of incongruity between the myths of the giant and the things that he had saw in the Universe

Giants have a different sense of good and evil than most other creatures.

A "good" act for a giant is an act that honors a giant's deity or family, displays bravery, or honors another "good" giant, regardless of the consequences.

An "evil" act is one of cowardice, stealing, betraying a giant's deity, family or trust, or an act that forces a giant from its natural terrain type.

Giants inhabited Davarus before any of the other humanoid or demi human races.

The first of their kind and the source of the entire species were the sons of Barluke All-Father and his wife Gaia, who settled on the planet to form a kingdom known as Olympia for the name of the daughter of Barluke.

Each of his sons and daughters led to a different type of giant.

There are not that many giants left after the Purge and the hunting during the Age of Gods. It could even be called genocide of a race blessed by Earth.

There are even some stories in some of the Giant Saga that dragons and giant once warred with each other and lasted for millennium during the time before the Age of Gods.

Most that survived the Ages is the True Giants who can trace back their lineage to Allfather and Titans.

Chapter 1218: Something Weird II

There are still some Hill giants that survived but they live in seclusion just like most of the giants who no longer care too much about the affairs of human.

But that is a long time coming. At the time of the Age of Heroes, most of the Giants usually follows the orders of Arakath

He did not only look at the Giants but also at the Kobolds

The Kobolds unlike one would think of how they were described in fantasy.

The kobolds in Earth X resembles the samurais in ancient Japan

They live in a clan society with one of them is called Great Warrior as they have two rulers supervising two separate entities.

The other is the High King of the Kobold which reign supreme and theoretically hold more power than the Great Warrior and in charge with administration and ceremonious and religious ritual.

Great Warrior supervises the warrior or army. And that is not the only similarity

The warrior of Kobold follows a strict code.

Or as they termed it 'the way of the warrior'.

Some of its values are a combination of frugality, loyalty, martial arts mastery, and honor unto death.

Their violent existence with this code made the warrior clans of the Kobold tempered by wisdom and serenity.

It is said that the Code eulogizing such virtues as reckless bravery, fierce family pride, and selfless, at times senseless devotion of master and man and fiercely loyal made the Kobold strong and unified and the only races that could fight evenly in terms of courage and fierceness against the Orcs.

The way the Kobold society work resembles very closely to the Shogunate system of the ancient Japan with the Emperor in charge on the ceremonial things and the Shogunate in charge of military and the others

And in the sky, flying carefreely is the Dragon race.

They usually occupy mountain but they were times that they would fly around the sky just to bathe in the Sun.

Azief shake his head looking at all the fantasy creatures. By the time he was here, in the Age of Heroes, most of these races had dwindled in number.

Dragons is pitifully low. There were only four recorded dragons by then. As for giants none of them was as big as the giants he is seeing today

Azief did not only look at them because he was curious. It is also because he wanted to look at their fortune and luck.

This world is a magical world. And the Will of the World is very strong in this planet. He could see that Dragons and Elves are the most blessed races among the other races.

But he is also seeing that the fortune and luck of humans is slowly increasing. It would only take an impetus for that fortune to broke out

How many lifetimes of suffering and hardship for the fortune to accumulate that much?' he thought to himself as he looks at the fortune of humanity

The fortune is already overwhelming but it did not yet break out.

'The protagonist race of Heaven and Earth' Azief said.

Seeing this, he could see that the fortune and luck of humans is so overwhelming is because they will inherit the Earth and the Heavens of this world.

As such, the fortune and luck needed for such thing must be enormous.

'I could now even see the trend of the future?' Azief in Aero world could only see the fortune and luck of an individual person but suddenly now, he could see the trend of rise and decline of an entire race?

'Something changed' he said.

And he frowned the moment he realized this

Usually this kind of change is a good thing. After all, now he has one more abilities.

But Azief don't believe in sudden power ups like this.

Yes, that is what happening to him.

He was too engrossed in looking and observing that even while he was looking at the fortune of the races, he forgotten for a moment that he could not do that.

It was like in that brief moment; his mind was clouded for a while.

'My eye is not hurting. It's not Erika eye' He at first thought it is because of the eye of the Oracle

But if that is the case, and it is usually the case, he would feel a bit of discomfort with the eye

But he felt nothing.

And that scares him even more.

Azief is quite confused right now.

Of course, he felt that being able to see the trend of rise and decline is something very good but this just doesn't make sense.

His Divine Sense did not suddenly become powerful and his understanding of fate and destiny also did not deepen but suddenly he was able to see the fortune and luck of an entire race?

He notices it before when he looks at these races and he saw the entirety of their race fortune and luck, forgetting in that moment, that he could not do that before this

And so, he looks at the Elves, the Kobolds, the Orcs and the Dragons and only after sweeping them with his Divine Sense that he realized he had look at the trend of rise and decline of their race fortune and luck.

He looks at the sky and frowned,

‘Heavenly Will of this world is helping me?’ Then he shakes his head.

‘This is not possible. After all, this projection even though it is almost indistinguishable from the real world that it projected, in the end, there is layers and barriers of dimension between the true world of the projection and the projection itself. Unless I engage in it, the world will not do things that is out from their supposed trajectory.’

For a moment, Azief just stop doing anything, his mind is combing through all of his memories trying to make sense of this sudden power up.

The most possible explanation is the Heavenly Will is helping him but that explanation did not make sense because of the matter of the projection not being the real world.

After a few second of useless pondering, Azief could only shakes his head and retract back his gaze. There is nothing else he could do.

He did not understand why he could see the rise and decline of the fates of these races but for now, he just had to put that matter aside.

He looks aback at Aero and he smiles.

Even though Aero story in Vilajeri Continent had ended, his adventure in Earth X is just beginning.

‘What a life! What a man!’ Azief thought to himself.

Aero or Daniel has always been sure of himself, a man of great personal confidence with an irresistible charisma to lead.

Azief was not always sure of himself.

It was not until he fought death multiple times and survive each of those death tribulation that he became who he is today.

But even then, they were times when he questioned his choices, questioned his decision.

He did not show it to his people but in the beginning, most of the time, he did not know the fuck he is doing.

It took a long time before the Death Monarch image truly became him.

But Aero, while they were times that he hesitated, once he makes his decision, he truly does not look back and he is very sure of himself

That kind of confidence could infect people and leadership comes naturally to him.

Azief envies that he loves without restraint and hated people honestly.

His method might not be honest, but the way he is true to his feeling regardless of anything is something that Azief could learn from

But the reason why Azief so much admire a mortal, a mortal that if he wanted to he could kill with just a gaze is because, this mortal would one day, amidst these fantasy races of creatures lorded over all of them an establish a thousand-year Empire that would give humans the hegemony of the world.

The moment Aero arrives, Azief could see that the fortunes of humanity is in the verge of breaking out
'It would take a long time before it reached Arial times' Azief mutters to himself.

While Azief had been here before, he was not here during these period of time. When he was here, it was the era of the Edenian Empire.

Chapter 1219: The Story of the First Generation I

(spoilers for people who read Age of Heroes)

It is the name of the Empire that Azief himself took

When he returns back to his world and build a small kingdom (though it could be likened even more to a state instead of a kingdom) he took the name Eden as the name of the force that he had created in the Fake World

The stint was quite short since he had decided to return back to Earth Prime and destroy the Fake World and release the beast that is chained with the Fake World

However, even though he was not in this time when he appears in Earth X in the past, he knows what this period of time is called

This is what the later generation of this world would called the era of the Sky People.

And Aero, Zeus, Amanda, Kyle, Dan and many others that is from Earth two would leave an indelible mark in this world

'And of course, there are the Gods' Azief said to himself.

As he is floating in his translucent form, he could feel the energy of the world, vibrant and full of life all around him

And the pressure is even more than what Earth Prime possess during the Fall.

'It is remarkable indeed' he mutters to himself even as he is flying up into the sky.

Like before his existence could not be traced unless he broken the mirror-like dimension that separates the real time-space and the projection of that time-space.

He is there but also not there. They would be only a few beings in the universe that have the power to notice when someone is looking at their past or their time-space.

And these worlds have many beings like that. Azief could feel the pressure. Right now, Azief is no longer tethered to Aero.

Instead he is now free to look at this world. It is a different world than the ones he travelled to with Will. And then he saw a fertile continent

'The Lost Continent of Enoch' he said to himself.

Though it is not yet become a continent that would become the capital of the most splendid magical kingdom in ancient times.

'I've heard that Levitia lineage is of noble and holy one'

Then he looks toward another continent in the far west and he could see the Human Continent.

Most of the humans in the Human Continent is still primitive and many of them fought using stones and sticks.

To the Demon Lords, the humans in Davarus is no different from mindless beast

He looks at the west of that continent and he could see a huge land filled with mountains and hills, green forest and flourishing flora and fauna.

That place will one day become a desert. He laughs looking at all of this and then he looks at Aero below him.

At first Aero and Amy both thought that they are once again transported into a game but they realized quickly that this is not the case

When they first arrived, they did not see their friends and family.

It took them almost a week before they found their trace and after a few close calls with death, they finally reunited with the group

In that journey, Azief could see Aero once again gathering fortune and luck from the world and the speed at which he is gathering luck is remarkable.

As Aero is the son of Julia, he had a lot of speaking rights.

Not to mention that even though he appears to be in his middle twenties right now, he had that aura of a powerful figure like a veteran

After all, even though most of the people that is in Earth X right now is young people, most of them have lived a lifetime in Vilajeri Continent.

Their faces and their age is young but their eyes show their experience.

Some of them did not even fear death.

Of course this time, if they die, they die for real.

But their body remembers.

Even though they could no longer split the heaven and earth with their weapons, the movement and the skill that they learned is still in their muscle memory.

So, they could fight with swords and their weapons.

Aero quickly using his past relation and influence gathers a lot of people around him and quickly became one of the strongest voice among the many other people

In doing so, the fortune of the world gathers to him.

Azief could also see that the reason why Aero fortune rose so quickly is because as he kills beast and quickly establish a settlement, he seems to be absorbing the fate of humanity itself.

The fortune and luck of humanity seems to gather around him.

Aero does not know this but Azief who could see this knows that this is basically making Aero truly hard to kill.

Circumstances and events would conspire to always save him.

In a death and life situation, Aero because of the light of fortune around him, would either be saved by an inexplicable luck or events.

This is the power of fortune and luck.

Unless you walk the perfection path which could ignore at least part of fortune and luck or a Supreme Beings that have controls over these intangible things, it is truly hard to kill such a person who is blessed by Heaven and Earth

There are monsters in the forest.

But Aero relying on the knowledge of the modern world easily created swords even though the irons they used is a bit different from the one in their world.

At this time, other than the Demon Lords and the races in Anvali, humans did not yet discover the use of iron.

The one that was forging the iron is Aero and his friends with the help of his mother.

Azief looking at Aero mother could not help but feel like she is a cheat for Aero

Because of that, the fortune and luck gathers even more around Aero and Aero family.

It is basically a cloud of fortune and luck hovering the entire family of Aero.

Aero also fought against native tribal tribes.

These tribes even eat people, savage people.

These tribes are easily killed and wiped out.

The difference between their values and their lives is too different that if they try to assimilate with such an uneducated tribe it would only harms them

Fortunately, there were only few casualties and most of them are easily healed by the medicine that they brought

Before, Julia come to this world, she brought a large cache of weapons, potions and all kinds of stuff from the Vilajeri Continent to this world.

She wanted to do an experiment to see whether she could actually bring these stuff to another world without it changing its properties.

And it worked. Julia seems to keep it a secret and told her son only after the danger is truly without any other recourse.

To the surprise of Aero and Julia, the potions work wonderfully. It was then that they discovered that this world is full of magic

Julia then began her research on the magic. Azief then know this is the beginning of the rise of humanity

And Aero would be the instrument of fate and destiny to push humanity to the forefront of the stage a

Azief now could see that Aero began using his fortune

It is about to break out

He did not know it but as he manages to survive against impossible odds to keep the community safe, his fortune is being used up.

As the fortune falls, luck is also affected. It is the same when one had a lot of fortune on their side, the luck is good.

But Azief knew that Aero would survive and his fortune would recover. He only needs that fated encounter with the Lady of the Lake

Azief first act when he enters this world was to use his Divine Sense. And of course, other than making sure that this world is really Earth X, he also looks toward a lake

He knows that the myths in the future is true. But how much is it that is true and how many of it is false is something that even Azief did not know

So, he cast his gaze toward the lake.

A lake where there is Amara

For now, she is just a little deity

But in the future, she would Lady Amara, the Lady of the Lake, the protector of the Holy Blood, and the one who would choose Levitia as her champion and winning the War of the Gods

That small goddess who is now only have power over a small lake in a small forest, one day would have all the authority of the Gods and Goddess of this world, standing above everything else but shrouded with loneliness

Yet, such a lonely being could smile when the wind blows and the birds sings.

She smiles when she saw life and she laughs when she saw the happiness of mortals, even when she knew it is ethereal, ephemeral and the life of this mortal beings is nothing but a blip of time in the timeless existence of eternal beings like her.

A being of immense power that would trade it all away for love.

Chapter 1220 - The Story Of The First Generation II

For the power she has, she did not ask for it, neither did she wish for it and probably because of that she was the most suitable being to hold ultimate power of all the Laws of Heaven and Earth in Earth X

By the machinations of fate, by her decision to love, she was marked by destiny and fate to become the glorious of them all.

To defeat gods and goddesses who holds dominion far larger and far more powerful yet none of them could stand against the champion she had chosen.

What she did was an act of love.

What the gods and the Goddesses did was for power and in that rare instance, love defeat power.

What Azief knew about Amara is what Arial told him and what Mikael told him.

Some he got from ancient books and ancient ruins. Some are what her worshippers think she is.

He once saw her.

Though only briefly.

In the battle against the Darkness, near the End, Amara seems to also fought against the Darkness above the skies of this world

In that brief moment, Azief saw her, he had a thought.

In his life, he had never met anyone more beautiful and more enchanting than Katarina.

But Amara surpasses her. She is love personified. At times, she is tempestuous. At time she is kind and a healing force.

At certain times, it is a weapon that hurts and cuts the deepest. All of that seems to be embodied in every being of Amara. As such, nobody that sees her could break from her enchantment of love.

But everyone sees her differently.

But now, she looks like a cute nymphs of the water.

The Amara of the future is basically a Sovereign and a Supreme Being. Of course even Supreme beings and Sovereigns have their level too.

The power difference between Sovereign is a subtle one. Azief do not know what it means since he did not reach such level yet.,

But if his vision of the future is true, then someday, he would know. He saw himself in the future wielding unlimited power.

Azief could only explain that as him breaking through to the Sovereign level. As for Amara, she has restriction.

Amara is bounded by the rules of the world. While she could control it there is a limit to the power she could gain.

That is how Azief understand it. Because he knows for a fact that Amara was bounded by a chain before she was finally released by Arial

But it is without a doubt that in this world, this is her domain.

But that powerful Goddess is right now only a small goddess that likes playing around her lake, playing with her white hart and the deer that would come to drink the water of her lake

Azief was ready to fast forward the time

This time, his mind is powerful enough that he could probably fast forward all the history of the early Sky people era and went straight to when he arrives at this world.

But before that, he likes to see what Aero thinks of this new world. He looks at Aero one day after finishing creating a small settlement.

Azief thought to himself, this must be the beginning as the people of Earth two did not yet meet the Demon Lords.

And he could see the strings between humanity and Demon Lord that is tangling with each other.

This tangling of thread of destiny is illusory right now but when they meet, Azief is quite sure that the tangling of the thread of destiny would no longer be illusory and instead it would be tightly woven.

This is the way of the fortune and fate that is slowly pulling these two races together to determine the fate and luck of the world.

He floated down from the sky and stand beside Aero who is looking at the horizon of a distant cliff.

Aero like always could not sense that he was there. Instead, Azief would be really shocked to his core if Aero could sense him

He looks at Aero and there is a smile on his face. He did not know how to describe his feeling right now

It is a weird feeling to know you are standing right beside a man that would shape the history of this world for thousands of years later.

He looks at Aero who is looking at the distant horizon. Aero looks at the sun rising and he laughs joyously.

And then he smiles.

'A new adventure awaits me' he said to himself. Azief nodded

'A respectable man' Azief thought to himself.

Then he once again speeds up the projection. Even though the projection is speeded up at this time, Azief began feeling something wrong about it

'What is this feeling?' he thought to himself as he saw the projection speeding up, his mind capturing every details like he was watching it at normal speed

Aero had become the leader of the people from Earth Two. And there were thirty families that follows his lead.

Of course it did not make sense that with many of the population that choose to follow Julia just reduced to thirty families.

It is because when they came to this world, something had happened and the people separated and not everyone is in the same place.

Even Aero and Amy had been separated from the group of his mother before they were reunited.

'The Thirty Families' Azief mutters to himself.

Azief laughs

He did not think he could see this momentous moment in the history of Earth X

As for the place that they landed.

Even though the geography of this place differs from what it would be in the future, Azief is sure that this place is the Holy City of Aralam

It is where the First Family in the history of Earth X falls.

The Second family fall in Deriachalchis. At this time, the Darklands usually captures humans to become their slaves

The arrival of the Sky People marks a revolution.

Azief also noted that the Fay race lives in this large island. It would not be long before Aero and his family would find the city states of the Fay.

Azief could just guess it looking at the fortune and luck that is shrouding him becoming more and more dense

In the distance his gaze looks at one of the city states of the Fay and he could see that the fortune of that city is pulling in the fortune of Aero.

From what he remembers, it was the first recorded contacts in history of the Sky People with one of the magical race of this world

At the time, the city of Aralam and the other cities around it were ruled by the Fay, a race of similarity with the fairies and were organized in a series of city states.

At first, unaware that the First Generation is not normal humans they try to enslave them.

Of course they could not have predicted how resilient, how smart or how strong of an enemy this Sky People proved to be.

And how vengeful and protective they can be when one of their people was abducted to be sold as slave.

Many of the people of Earth Two were scattered all around the Human continent but the First Family fall here and in doing so, spark for the First Time a war between human and Demon race.

With their godly weapons and cunningness, the First Generation, one by one, they conquer every cities and in doing so, bring a race so rare, the Fay almost to the point of extinction.

The decisive battle according to myths and lore were fought in Deriachalchis, where the First family united with the Second family and the Fay was defeated at Harelwas and all the city states in this tiny island were then subject to the Unified Land.

It is from here where Aero supposedly systematically fills Davarus with his people and hearing seafaring Kingdom like Vorthy in the far north, they make contact and through them the First Generation establishes contact with other continent.

But it did not happen yet.

Azief then saw how Aero leads thirty families to explore this new world with Amy by his side.

And Azief knows that a new age is dawning in Earth X and he knew that what he had just witnessed is the story of how the First Generation, the story of the Sky People begins

Azief nodded and then he mutters

'Goodbye. I like watching your stories' Azief said to the wind.

For a moment, there was silence all around him and then he programmed the helmet to make the projection plays time in normal time.

The moment the system listens to him, he could take a few breaths and calms his mind

But his eyes are filled with wariness.

Then he slowly looks toward the sky.

'I don't think that I am wrong' he mutters to himself
